> about ten years ago.

That anonymous COWARD is ignorant of everything. "Woger Wussman" aka Twatty Campbell(Posts as Scott Campbell) should be familiar with the troll doll, since he was the initial model for them.

5008. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 13:20:15 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c23371e_1@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 28004

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message news:20011219200316.06877.00000543@mb-mj.aol.com...
>
> Even thought the majority of those who bother to voice an opinion disagree.

Excuse me ... the fact is that the large majority of those who "bother(ed) to voice an opinion" (in the "restructuring" proceeding, supported "the no code position" ... (or at least a maximum of 5 wpm until the ITU Radio Regs are changed).

> >
> >> > If you can't > >> >articulate a clear and compelling reason to retain code
> >> >now except for the treaty requirement, then on what basis > >> >would you argue for its retention?
> >>
> >> Clear and compelling reasons for code test retention were presented to the > >FCC
> >> in the comments associated with 98-143 (the recent restructuring). FCC > >decided > >> to ignore them.
> >
> >The FCC didn't ignore them...the FCC in issuing its ruling clearly found > >them to be anything but clear or compelling.

Not to mention that those comments were also a small minority ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- --
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL

- --
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCM2+5e+N6+q84HiEQIlNgCfd7fheXgkCGiqKge8Ot/n4eB2jD0AoPKX c34OXRTnbQaDlOLdEqIngtC0
=Inp9
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----

5009. Re: Gays harass Salvation Army during Christmas season

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 13:24:51 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9vvhpahkd8@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28010
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9vtp0f0qot@enews4.newsguy.com...
>
> "John Kimball" <johnkimb@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:9vsllo$5sm$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > On Wed, 19 Dec 2001 07:46:39 -0500, "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in > > Message id: <9vq6odhoe2@pita.alt.net>:
> >
> >
> > >No, but I hear you slurp nutsacks behind dumpsters and are too
> CHICKENSHIT
> > >to post under your real name, COWARD.
> >
> > So is 8L0J08 your first name, or last name?
>
> Forget it. The guy's too dumb to understand 'L33TI5M5.

Script kiddies.

5010. Re: Gays harass Salvation Army during Christmas season

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 13:35:01 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <9vvhpihkdb@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28011
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris

"Omniscient" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
news:9vu8nh$h8i$0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> Roger is the guy that has been slipping three dollar bills into the big ol' > kettle and he makes sure that his name, address and phone number are on each > bill. Yes, it is rather tacky but he gets better results with this method > than he did with the magic marker in the gay bar stalls. No COWARD, he!

Omniscent is the guy slipping his willing lips over any hard cock. Usually he likes to buttfuck little boys, but his terminal genital herpes prevents him from using that 2 inch midget. Omniscent is one of those convicted felons who has that fry cook job but he put his face in the hot fry oil and his facial features resemble that of a rotting corpse.

5011. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 13:50:18 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C233E1A.2EF7B7BB@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28005

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> Kim is concerned with only one radio amateur -- herself.

Larry, you are concerned with only one radio amateur -- yourself.
Kim's callsign makes you feel bad. That's why you don't like it.
If it made you feel good, you wouldn't be bitchin' about it.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5012. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 13:53:58 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C233EF6.47E675EC@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28006

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> I seriously doubt that Riley has any "prudish hangups."

Sorry Larry, Riley has proved he has prudish hangups and I have lost a lot of respect for him because of that. He offered his personal opinion while in an FCC position. That is exactly the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal opinion while in an ARRL position. You are a hypocrite.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5013. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 14:04:34 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C234172.573794D4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28007

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> I've got a better idea -- you find me someone at ARRL HQ that will > flatly deny that the ARS is viewed as a "family-oriented" activity -- > intended to be passed down from fathers, mothers, uncles, grand> parents to children, grandchildren, nephews, nieces, etc. etc.

No need for that, Larry. The great majority of "ham homes" contain only one ham. The great majority of children of hams do NOT become hams. The ARS is not "family-oriented" in the sense that little-league is "family-oriented". There is no mandate for the ARS to be
"family-oriented". You've just set up yet another strawman.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5014. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 14:32:08 UTC
From: WW - KB9TMP <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com>
Message-ID: <9vvh25$185$1@dagobah.blueriver.net>
Source record: 28016

"Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message news:9vtg5701orp@enews3.newsguy.com...
> I am so interested in finally getting my Technician's License that I have > studied and studied for weeks now. I have passed every sample test I can get > my hands on, and there is a real test in my area on January 17th, 2002.
>
> But, I'm reading these messages and I'm starting to get the feeling that the > priviledges afforded to a Tech No Code gives access to frequencies that are > really no better to occupy than a Citizen Band radio would access.
>
> I'm reading about jamming, and this jerk that, that jerk this, kids, lids, > space cadets...
>
> I wanted to get into Amateur Radio to get out of the 27Mhz Snake Pit and QSO > with some quality contacts.
>
> Am I really making a mistake? Is it too late for Ham Radio now?
>
>

I left the 'Snake Pit' and have never looked back. And I don't regret it either.
Just think about it this way, while the 'jerks' are posting their junk here, they aren't on the airwaves showing their stupidity there.

This NG here of late is starting to look like rec.radio.amateur.misc.
Did that toilet overflow and start flooding this NG or what?
If so let's call a plumber and get this 'crap' fixed!
--

'73' From KB9TMP

For every action,
there is an equal
and opposite criticism.
-Harrison's Postulate

Sent via the LATE Deja.com
A.K.A. Google Groups
http://groups.google.com

5015. Re: From a former Trucker

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 14:42:08 UTC
From: Norm Malick <henmel@worldnet.att.net> Message-ID: <3C234A35.45FFAF38@worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28008
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.scanner,rec.radio.shortwave

SD SpecialDelivery Jones wrote:
>
> Jim Weir <jim@rst-engr.com> wrote in message
news:<u2q22u85asi99rl8i9qi6p0on6ehvjb84c@4ax.com>...
> > SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com (SD SpecialDelivery Jones) > > shared these priceless pearls of wisdom:
> >
> > do you have the foggiest FREAKING idea what it means to snip?
> >
> > Jim
> >
> >
> > Jim Weir, VP Eng. RST Eng. WX6RST
> > A&P, CFI, and other good alphabet soup
>
> veep.....my ,my....i am impressed........really......also on the > letters by your name thing......may i suggest the letters 'DH' be > added....i feel it would be most appropriate.......

SD, give up with this Jim Weir clown. Remember the old adage about not mudwresting with pigs. You get filthy and the pig likes it.

Norm Melick

5016. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 14:46:27 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221094627.07219.00001632@mb-dh.aol.com>
Source record: 28012

Why did it take Carl the CBplusser over a year to upgrade, I thought it was the CW that stopped you not the Theory.

5017. Re: .

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 14:49:16 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221094916.10722.00001047@mb-fy.aol.com>
Source record: 28013

>Subject: Re: .
>From: yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
>Date: 12/21/2001 5:04 AM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <20011221060420.14755.00001221@mb-cg.aol.com>

>Point???

No point. Just an awareness check. You said some nice things but you seemed to have missed the point, so you only get a 75%.

Sorry.

73

Steve, K4YZ

5018. Re: .

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 14:50:48 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221095048.10722.00001048@mb-fy.aol.com>
Source record: 28014

>Subject: Re: .
>From: "K0HB" K0HB@bitbucket73.com
>Date: 12/20/2001 11:54 AM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <uubkA8XiBHA.1900@cpimsnntpa02>

>Your point?

Unlike Larry, you DIDN'T say anything nice, and completely missed all the points.

50% just for taking the time to answer. Sorry.

73

Steve, K4YZ

5019. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 14:52:04 UTC
From: OldBiker <vito@crosslink.net>
Message-ID: <3C234C94.1BA19D95@crosslink.net>
Source record: 28015
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"middlefiger4@home.comss" wrote:
>
> ... Hey fellas in the amateur NG... Meet the new breed of Ham ...
> ..He went from Illegal CB Keyclown to Extra Class all in about 6 months.

Great! If we could get the rest of them to do the same we'd have mucho more political power.

I invite anyone with a wide-band receive rig to listen on the freq's just above CB where the "Hi-banders" congregate. I did, and as far as I can tell, these are serious CB hobbiests - criminals only because they're operating in the wrong bands. So fight crime: convert them to hams!
My $.02
Merry Christmas to all
KA3DWW

5020. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:03:25 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c23502d_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28017

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C22381E.75092C56@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > > The fact is, Mr. Hollingsworth is "morally and intellectually" superior to > > > Kim, and, quite obviously, she knows this, or she wouldn't have solicited
> > > his opinion in the first place.
> >
> > The reason that Kim solicited Riley's opinion was that she expected a > > reasonable response. She didn't get a reasonable response which tells > > us something about Riley's prudish hangups.
>
> Funny that I don't see it that way at all. I don't think she liked the > reasonable response she got. In typical Kim fashion, she attempts to > rationalize her choice in the face of rejection. It tells us something > about Kim's "to hell with what anyone thinks of me--I'm doing what I > want" attitude.
>
> Dave K8MN

Dave: Would you please answer, for once, a question? I sent a note to Riley Hollingsworth, directly, mostly to prove to Larry and a couple of other creeps who were posting at the time, that the FCC would have nothing to do with changing my callsign. Riley responded, directly to me, and included his personal opinion of my callsign (at least according to Larry he did...I truly don't remember). At any rate, Riley's response in no way meant anything to me other than that he responded. In contrast to your belief, I do appreciate the response I got from Riley--and have absolutely no problem with it at all. I posted his response, in its entirety, here to the newsgroup--it was not secret and I obviously hid nothing of his response. His response proved that the FCC would have nothing to do with revoking my callsign, and he added his personal opinion of my callsign. Why are you trying to find magic where there is none?

Now, could you please tell what the HELL I am supposed to be rationalizing? And, in the face of WHAT rejection are you talking about? Your commentary is exasperating. You, and Larry, and anyone else who has this grandiose idea that I should hang my head in shame over my choice of callsigns, are crazy--nothing more and nothing less. I like my callsign. And, I am the only one who has to use it--so what the hell do you care? If I am such a smudge on your opinion of yourself as a ham radio operator, because I have an objectionable callsign, then let me suggest this: GET OUT OF HAM

RADIO. How's that?

I am not responsible for your idea and values of what is good an true in your life, the hobbies you choose, or the ideas you have. If you believe ham radio is worthy and good, IN SPITE of people like me, then shut the hell up. If you truly believe that your reputation is somehow affected by people like me--and it is obvious that I am not going to change (because I am not)--then it becomes YOUR responsibility to make personal decisions about it, Dave. And one of those decisions might be to get out if it is so awful. Good grief. You use these red-herring phrases like "liberal", etc., and make the idea of "it takes a village" such a nasty one--yet you choose to decide that this hobby is a little less because of people like me. It either takes a village or it doesn't, Dave. Have I said charlatan lately?

So, the questions are:

What, exactly, is it that I am rationalizing?

and:

What rejection am I facing? (If you are even going to dare answer that it is yours and Larry's, etc., don't even delude yourself, Dave).

Kim W5TIT

5021. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:05:12 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c235096$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28018

If you are going to allow things that you read to formulate your opinion of something before you have personally experienced it, then I would suggest you not bother.

--
73 de W5TIT - Kim

"Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message news:9vtg5701orp@enews3.newsguy.com...
> I am so interested in finally getting my Technician's License that I have > studied and studied for weeks now. I have passed every sample test I can get > my hands on, and there is a real test in my area on January 17th, 2002.
>
> But, I'm reading these messages and I'm starting to get the feeling that the > priviledges afforded to a Tech No Code gives access to frequencies that are > really no better to occupy than a Citizen Band radio would access.
>
> I'm reading about jamming, and this jerk that, that jerk this, kids, lids, > space cadets...
>
> I wanted to get into Amateur Radio to get out of the 27Mhz Snake Pit and QSO > with some quality contacts.
>
> Am I really making a mistake? Is it too late for Ham Radio now?
>
>

5022. Re: Gays harass Salvation Army during Christmas season

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:09:29 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c235198_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28019

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9vtp0f0qot@enews4.newsguy.com...
>
> "John Kimball" <johnkimb@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:9vsllo$5sm$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > On Wed, 19 Dec 2001 07:46:39 -0500, "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in > > Message id: <9vq6odhoe2@pita.alt.net>:
> >
> >
> > >No, but I hear you slurp nutsacks behind dumpsters and are too
> CHICKENSHIT
> > >to post under your real name, COWARD.
> >
> > So is 8L0J08 your first name, or last name?
>
> Forget it. The guy's too dumb to understand 'L33TI5M5.
>
>

Uh, Krell? Is this some kind of one of those Pagan Spells? ~:o

Kim W5TIT

5023. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:10:40 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2351df_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28020

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9vtpne0s0o@enews4.newsguy.com...
>
> "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message > news:3c21e983_2@newsa.ev1.net...
>
> > I heartell some employers regard an MCSE as equal to, I believe, and > > Engineering Degree (as in, what? four years of college?)
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
> This is probably true, but the opinion of some people is that Microsoft is > running one helluva scam with the way they teach and administer the tests.
>
>

heh heh heh. My point exactly. Go to, I think it is, troytech.com, or maybe troytec.com.

Kim W5TIT

5024. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:15:40 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c23530b_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28021

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C226BD5.FFD9B3D9@gte.net...
> > Here in Texas, a LEO can not search a car at all unless granted by the > > driver of the vehicle or a search warrant.
>
> Do you have anything that can verify that > statement? It does not fit with what we > are seeing most other states.
>
>
>

I sent an email to a Dispatcher friend of mine and here is his response:

"Let me preface my response with this: I am NOT certified any longer and it has been a while since I went through the academy, but for the most part the law should still be about the same.
An officer CAN search your vehicle or purse but only if he has permission to do so. Now, there are extenuating circumstances to every instance (if they see a weapon, drugs, etc.). But for the purposes of your query, without permission they cannot search your vehicle without a search warrant."

End of his response.

This is in the State of Texas.

Kim W5TIT

5025. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:21:41 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221102141.24724.00000465@mb-mr.aol.com>
Source record: 28022

In article <3c23371e_1@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011219200316.06877.00000543@mb-mj.aol.com...
>>
>> Even thought the majority of those who bother to voice an opinion >disagree.
>
>Excuse me ...

For what? Your mistake about what the comments actually were?

>the fact is that the large majority of those who >"bother(ed) to voice an opinion" (in the "restructuring" >proceeding, supported "the no code position" ... (or at >least a maximum of 5 wpm until the ITU Radio Regs are >changed).
>
Not according to an actual count of the comments. As I recall, only 43% of those who commented and expressed an opinion on code speed wanted 5 wpm or no code - the "nocodetest position". The rest wanted two or more codetest speeds.

The count and classification was done for NCI by Larry Klose and posted here. Are his numbers not reliable? 43% is not a majority, anyway.

I think you are confused, Carl. Or perhaps you want to lump all comments that supported 5 wpm or less into "the nocodetest position" but subdivide the other comments into "5 and 12 wpm", "5, 13 and 20 wpm", "5 and 20 wpm", etc., so that they will appear as minority opinions. You tried this sort of spin doctoring before, calling 5/12/12 "the ARRL proposal" (which got 20%) separating it from those who wanted 5/12/20 or the status quo (37%). You crowed about how "the NCI proposal beat the ARRL proposal 2 to 1" - a classic case of spindoctoring the favorable facts but ignoring the really important ones (57% OPPOSED a single 5 wpm test).

But the fact remains that the MAJORITY of comments that expressed an opinion supported TWO OR MORE code test speeds. Only a MINORITY supported the single code test speed of 5 wpm. FCC went with the minority opinion, though.

FCC also reduced the number and total question count of the WRITTEN tests, despite the fact that there was no clear mandate to do so. I would not be surprised if a US version of the UK "Foundation class" license was enacted here even though the majoritty of comments were against it.

Of course FCC is not mandated to follow majority opinion on anything. 98-143 proves that.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5026. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:25:02 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <9vvk5201g8i@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28031
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"Robert Frenchu" <robert_frenchu@ya-take_out-hoo.com> wrote in message news:op762u0n99g3enl1onfcag8b0laq0rjllu@4ax.com...
> You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to > the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.

I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600" that has been writing about the same subject for quite some time - keeping modern technology in the hands of private corporations and out of the hands of the public. If you want more, read the DMCA of 1998. It's basically made it illegal to take something apart to see how it works.

5027. Re: Airline travel with a rig?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:26:38 UTC
From: Dave Holford <holford@sympatico.ca>
Message-ID: <3C2354AE.4B25B332@sympatico.ca>
Source record: 28023
Cross-posted to: alt.ham-radio.vhf-uhf,rec.radio.amateur.equipment,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Julian Frost wrote:
>
> Simply tell them that it's a ham radio and if questioned further, tell > them that you are a Federally licensed ham radio operator. Have a copy of > your license available. You won't have any trouble whatsoever.
>
> Julian
> --

That makes as much sense as showing your 'Federal Pilot Licence' and expecting to ride the flight deck.

Dave

5028. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:28:01 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C235501.C7F2353D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28024

WW - KB9TMP wrote:
> This NG here of late is starting to look like rec.radio.amateur.misc.
> Did that toilet overflow and start flooding this NG or what?

This NG was created to offload the excrement from r.r.a.m.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5029. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:28:03 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2355fb_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28026

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C22A13A.36CDAB78@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > > The reason that Kim solicited Riley's opinion was that she expected
a > > > > reasonable response. She didn't get a reasonable response which tells > > > > us something about Riley's prudish hangups.
> > >
> > > Funny that I don't see it that way at all.
> >
> > Of course not! You are one of the busybody prudes who want to force > > your personal morals, hangups, and value system on everyone else.
>
> The fact remains, Kim set out to enlist Riley as one of her supporters.
> She didn't like his response, which was 180 degrees from her views and > promptly dismissed it. That is pretty hard to deny.
>
> Dave K8MN

Man, Dave. You are every bit as deluded as Larry thinking I was trying to "trick" Riley. ENLIST RILEY AS A SUPPORTER OF THE CALLSIGN W5TIT?????????? Just how stupid do you think I am? ANYONE who thinks for one moment that Riley would support a callsign like mine is lacking a brain. There is no way that Riley would ever do so, and no way I thought he would. For crying out loud. What I proved by writing to Riley was that the FCC would not take on or desire to take on revoking or changing a callsign.

I don't dismiss at all Riley's opinion. He has every right to it. Do I think it's more important that anyone else's? No. Do I think it carries more validity than anyone else's? No. And, I honestly think that Riley--even disagreeing with my choice of callsigns--is still far more logical than anyone like you. The BASIS (basis, Dave, not substance) of Riley's response to me was that the FCC was not "in the business" (paraphrased, I think) of judging callsigns.

It is not hard at all to deny your lie, Dave. Actually, it probably is not a lie--it is your illogical, elitist mind telling you things you want to hear.

Kim W5TIT

5030. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:29:51 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C23556F.A536A32A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28025

WA8ULX wrote:
> Why did it take Carl the CBplusser over a year to upgrade, I thought it was > the CW that stopped you not the Theory.

Carl obviously had other higher priorities. Some people have a life outside of ham radio, Bruce. You should try it sometime.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5031. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:29:51 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c23565e$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28027

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C22A25B.BCB4CB7F@earthlink.net...
> Krell wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C22381E.75092C56@earthlink.net...
> >
> > > Funny that I don't see it that way at all. I don't think she liked
the > > > reasonable response she got. In typical Kim fashion, she attempts to > > > rationalize her choice in the face of rejection. It tells us something > > > about Kim's "to hell with what anyone thinks of me--I'm doing what I > > > want" attitude.
> >
> > Re-phrase that to read "to hell with what a few people of a minority opinion
> > might think," and you would be correct.
>
> Why would I do that? We haven't established what the majority believes > about this situation.
>
> Dave K8MN

What you don't seem to understand, Dave, is that it just plain doesn't matter to me--WHATEVER the majority opinion believes about "this situation." (It cracks me up that my callsign has now been escalated to a "situation").

;) Kim W5TIT

5032. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:31:44 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2356d2_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28028

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9vu93o01oba@enews2.newsguy.com...
>
> "Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:9vts89$f8j$0@pita.alt.net...
> >
> > On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 17:38:44 -0500, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote:
> > >
> > > I've seen better trolls on pencils.
> > >
> >
> > The Jack Daniels was that effective, eh?
>
> My, my. Aren't we ignorant of pop culture.
>
> FYI, I was referring to the troll dolls that were popular in the 70s. They > were those little things with the big eyes and different colored, Don King > style of hair. Smaller ones were often on the ends of pencils, or on > keychains, or hanging from rearview mirors. They're still around, but not
as > popular as they once were. Although they did have a resurgence in popularity
> about ten years ago.
>
>

Yep, I've got a Kilroy troll, sitting looking over the edge of my monitor.
(At Dave). ROFLMAO

Kim W5TIT

5033. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:33:08 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c235728$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28029

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C22B6B1.ACC402D3@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > The fact remains, Kim set out to enlist Riley as one of her supporters.
> > She didn't like his response, which was 180 degrees from her views and > > promptly dismissed it. That is pretty hard to deny.
>
> Who denied it?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Goodness. In Dave's mind, it's anyone's guess...

Kim W5TIT

5034. Re: .

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:40:07 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2358c6_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28030

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011221060420.14755.00001221@mb-cg.aol.com...
> In article <20011220114848.09658.00001060@mb-fm.aol.com>, k4yz@aol.com (Steve > Robeson K4YZ) writes:
>
> >Subject: .
> >From: k4yz@aol.com (Steve Robeson K4YZ)
> >Date: 20 Dec 2001 16:48:48 GMT
> >
> >Callsign: N9NWO Class: General Codes: HAI USA
> >Name: GREGORY A DEAN
> >Addr1: PO BOX 2121
> >Addr2: WEST LAFAYETTE, IN 47996-2121
> >Country: USA
> >Effective: 15 Jul 2000 Expires: 21 Jan 2002 Online Renewals...
> >License ID: L00090874 FRN: 0003005485 What's this?
> >Lookups: 163
>
> Steve:
>
> OK, so you've demonstrated that you know how to look up a call sign > on qrz.com, and copy/paste the results to the newsgroup. Ripping good > stuff. Flawless technique.
>
> Point???
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>
> Another one of the things that make me go "Hmmm..."
>
>
>

Hmmmm, vibrating more microphones, eh?

Kim W5TIT

5035. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:49:31 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c235afa_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28032

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011221060421.14755.00001223@mb-cg.aol.com...
> In article <3C22381E.75092C56@earthlink.net>, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> writes:
>
> >> > The fact is, Mr. Hollingsworth is "morally and intellectually" superior
> >to > >> > Kim, and, quite obviously, she knows this, or she wouldn't have solicited
> >> > his opinion in the first place.
> >>
> >> The reason that Kim solicited Riley's opinion was that she expected a > >> reasonable response. She didn't get a reasonable response which tells > >> us something about Riley's prudish hangups.
> >
> >Funny that I don't see it that way at all. I don't think she liked the > >reasonable response she got. In typical Kim fashion, she attempts to > >rationalize her choice in the face of rejection. It tells us something > >about Kim's "to hell with what anyone thinks of me--I'm doing what I > >want" attitude.
> >
> >Dave K8MN
>
> Dave:
>
> Precisely. Kim is concerned with only one radio amateur -- herself.
>

And whom else should I concern myself with, Larry?

>
> The fact that she is deliberately spoiling the image of radio amateurs > to outsiders means absolutely nothing to her.
>

Let me suggest the same thing I did to Dave, Larry. If you are so ashamed, so concerned for your reputation, then leave ham radio. You want me to concern myself with other radio amateurs, right? Which ones, Larry? You?
Dave? Others who agree with you? Or should it be Cecil? Rick? Others who don't agree with you. Which ones, Larry?

>
> Worse, she's doing it

> in the only place that matters -- on the air -- with her self-serving, > sexually-suggestive call sign that demeans female hams and women > in general.
>

Sorry that you, a male, cannot rise above three letters and get yourself to recognize a whole callsign, Larry. On the air it sounds like W-5-T-I-T. It doesn't sound like TIT unless you really, really stretch your imagination...or have prior experience. In your case, I think it's imagination. [PS--I got "on the air" two mornings in a row in Dallas this week. All of about 15 minutes over the past two months. And, none on HF].

>
> As Riley Hollingsworth said, she has a perfect "right" to > do this
>

And a perfect right it is.

>
> -- but the fact is that in doing so, she runs the risk of taking > the ARS "...one step closer to extinction."
>

You know what? I never thought of it before...but, if I have the perfect right to my callsign, I also have the perfect right to take the ARS "...one step closer to extinction" don't I? Yeah, I do.

>
> We don't know what kind > of damage she has done -- but the potential is there, and is very > likely to cause some potential ham to be disillusioned.
>

Well, that's your opinion. And you have the perfect right to it. My opinion is that if a callsign can "cause some potential ham to be disillusioned" then that person needs to just get off the planet.

>
> If so, who > knows who we could have lost -- or did lose! One of the real problems > here is we'll never know the extent of the damage Kim has done!
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

None. Not even to you. You've been having fun with this for nearly two years now. My TIT is obviously the only one you've had to think about.

Kim W5TIT

5036. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:58:23 UTC
From: Kamatu <admin@ahww.net>
Message-ID: <9vvmv501kb6@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28035

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c235096$1_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> If you are going to allow things that you read to formulate your opinion
of > something before you have personally experienced it, then I would suggest > you not bother.
>

You're right. Just because the label says "poison", is no reason I shouldn't taste the contents of the bottle.

--
Jim

5037. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 15:59:11 UTC
From: Robert Frenchu <robert_frenchu@ya-take_out-hoo.com>
Message-ID: <i0n62ucv8ui4p5bb60nvhh6rgrmhcgfs08@4ax.com>
Source record: 28033
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

> "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote <9vvk5201g8i@enews2.newsguy.com> in talk.politics.guns. :

>
>"Robert Frenchu" <robert_frenchu@ya-take_out-hoo.com> wrote in message >news:op762u0n99g3enl1onfcag8b0laq0rjllu@4ax.com...
>> You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to >> the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.
>
>I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"

Posting a periodical name as a cite is not sufficient. You lose. I've made the call.

5038. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 16:09:33 UTC
From: Dave VanHorn <dvanhorn@cedar.net>
Message-ID: <19JU7.24189$Z03.12637630@news1.rdc1.mi.home.com>
Source record: 28034
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

> I invite anyone with a wide-band receive rig to listen on the freq's > just above CB where the "Hi-banders" congregate. I did, and as far as I > can tell, these are serious CB hobbiests - criminals only because > they're operating in the wrong bands. So fight crime: convert them to > hams!
> My $.02
> Merry Christmas to all
> KA3DWW

I brought one into the flock this year.
He's sold his galaxy rig, and bought an HT :)
I loaned him an HT, and spotted him some 9914 feedline, and a three element quad to get started.
Every year, I try to get three or four people licenced.

--
Dave's Engineering Page: http://www.dvanhorn.org

5039. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 16:46:59 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c236872$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28036

"Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message
news:9vvmv501kb6@enews2.newsguy.com...
>
> "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
> news:3c235096$1_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> > If you are going to allow things that you read to formulate your opinion
> of > > something before you have personally experienced it, then I would suggest
> > you not bother.
> >
>
> You're right. Just because the label says "poison", is no reason I shouldn't > taste the contents of the bottle.
>
> --
> Jim
>
>

Hmmm, well, if you are holding the bottle in your hand, I'd say you are personally experiencing it, right? So, you'd know whether to drink from it or not--hopefully. Now, if you were reading about a bottle that said 'poison,' not having seen the bottle personally yourself--that's a whole different story. :)

Kim W5TIT

5040. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 16:48:00 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2368b4_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28037

"Robert Frenchu" <robert_frenchu@ya-take_out-hoo.com> wrote in message news:i0n62ucv8ui4p5bb60nvhh6rgrmhcgfs08@4ax.com...
> > "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote <9vvk5201g8i@enews2.newsguy.com> in
talk.politics.guns. :
>
> >
> >"Robert Frenchu" <robert_frenchu@ya-take_out-hoo.com> wrote in message > >news:op762u0n99g3enl1onfcag8b0laq0rjllu@4ax.com...
> >> You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to > >> the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.
> >
> >I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
>
> Posting a periodical name as a cite is not sufficient. You lose. I've > made the call.
>
>

Uh uh. You lose. I've made the call. :|

Kim W5TIT

5041. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 17:02:05 UTC
From: WW - KB9TMP <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com>
Message-ID: <9vvprb$1gq$1@dagobah.blueriver.net>
Source record: 28038

"Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message news:9vvmv501kb6@enews2.newsguy.com...
>
> "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
> news:3c235096$1_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> > If you are going to allow things that you read to formulate your opinion
> of > > something before you have personally experienced it, then I would suggest > > you not bother.
> >
>
> You're right. Just because the label says "poison", is no reason I shouldn't > taste the contents of the bottle.
>
> --
> Jim

How about reading a movie review for "The Years Worst Picture" and when you go watch it you find out that it's a GREAT movie. You're just getting someone else's 'opinion' of it, and not what really matters, which is what
YOUR opinion of it is!

Just remember we're not all 'jerks', just some of us! ;^)
Happy Holidays to one and all!!!!

--

'73' From KB9TMP

The sum of the intelligence on the planet is a constant;
the population is growing. -Cole's Axiom

Sent via the LATE Deja.com
A.K.A. Google Groups
http://groups.google.com

5042. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 17:37:57 UTC
From: Kamatu <admin@ahww.net>
Message-ID: <9vvsrp021hl@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28044

"WW - KB9TMP" <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com> wrote in message
news:9vvprb$1gq$1@dagobah.blueriver.net...
> "Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message
news:9vvmv501kb6@enews2.newsguy.com...
> >
> > "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
> > news:3c235096$1_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> > > If you are going to allow things that you read to formulate your opinion
> > of > > > something before you have personally experienced it, then I would suggest
> > > you not bother.
> > >
> >
> > You're right. Just because the label says "poison", is no reason I shouldn't > > taste the contents of the bottle.
> >
> > --
> > Jim
>
> How about reading a movie review for "The Years Worst Picture" and when > you go watch it you find out that it's a GREAT movie. You're just getting > someone else's 'opinion' of it, and not what really matters, which is what > YOUR opinion of it is!
>
> Just remember we're not all 'jerks', just some of us! ;^)
> Happy Holidays to one and all!!!!
>

Oh, I guess I just missed the part where I said you can all go to hell. LOL!
Of course, I was going to experience the flavor of these newsgroups because I internet as well as radio. And of course, I'm still going to get my license and rigs and do what I believe is expected of me (and not be one of the jerks). But, you can't fault me for asking if what I read is true.

So far, only one person has bothered to tell me not to worry about it. One person has told me to not bother if I'm gonna have an attitude because of what I read... sigh...

I'm not really a bad person, I just have bad timing...

I'm just gonna go along and not have a public opinion, maybe that will be the answer.

;-)

--
Jim

5043. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 17:50:03 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <9vvsc4jrv1@news.service.uci.edu>
Source record: 28041

Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:7C675AACFD8F3A2B.108F330199F6C161.5F67135A2F8866E6@lp.airnews.net...
> I) DEFINITION.
>
> Magick is the Science and Art of causing Change to occur in conformity > with Will.

There's a Christian group, the Science of Mind, that believes the same thing.

5044. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 17:51:45 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <9vvsfa$js5$1@news.service.uci.edu>
Source record: 28040

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C22B7EA.BDBF2669@IEEE.org...
> What is it about a ham being 100% satisfied with a tech license > that you don't understand?

The part about not wanting HF privileges.

5045. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 17:54:41 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112210954.64cbefb7@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28042
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

```
"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:<9vvhp3$hkd$5@pita.alt.net>...
> "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
> news:9vu93o01oba@enews2.newsguy.com...
> >
> > "Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:9vts89$f8j$0@pita.alt.net...
> > >
> > > On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 17:38:44 -0500, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote:
> > > >
> > > > I've seen better trolls on pencils.
> > > >
> > >
> > > The Jack Daniels was that effective, eh?
> >
> > My, my. Aren't we ignorant of pop culture.
> >
> > FYI, I was referring to the troll dolls that were popular in the 70s. They > > were those little things with the big eyes and different colored, Don King > > style of hair. Smaller ones were often on the ends of pencils, or on > > keychains, or hanging from rearview mirors. They're still around, but not
> as > > popular as they once were. Although they did have a resurgence in > popularity
> > about ten years ago.
>
> That anonymous COWARD is ignorant of everything. "Woger Wussman" aka Twatty > Campbell(Posts as Scott Campbell) should be familiar with the troll doll, > since he was the initial model for them.

hit the bricks chuckie....you aren't wanted here.......
```

5046. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 17:55:09 UTC
From: Dave Edwards <kd2e@home.com>
Message-ID: <1IKU7.287653$ez.40194908@news1.rdc1.nj.home.com>
Source record: 28043
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

This gotta' be a joke!!

Twistedhed <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message news:e9de0154.0112201650.5423f9f0@posting.google.com...
> "Hammies and dog-pound refugees (dogie,nad,pipeboy) would do well to > read my scintillating prose and learned insights on the fine art of > freebanding. A pet peeve of mine is that hammies (certain ones) put > down radio hobbyists like myself just because they are CBers and just > because they use gear that's advanced. I have logged more DX on the > freeband than most 2 meter hams have in a lifetime. Why shouldn't I be > treated with respect? All I am asking is that the issue of legality be > put aside and my acheivements be recognized for what they are"
>
> http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> "If you take the time to read this you will see that we on freeband > have problems with troublemakers too. They don't abide by our rules.
> They don't care what others think. They jam and make noises on 27.555.
> Read about it in my article. They are wrecking my freeband and they > should be stopped"
>
> http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> "I admit I get all upset when hammies tell me I am breaking rules. I > don't care about rules. I don't care what others think. If I want to > operate freeband it is my responsibility and I don't like to hear > anyone putting me down for it. Read about how we have created our own > little illegal alternative to ham radio on the freeband. You hammies > can be jealous"
>
> http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> "Hammies try to say that there are goverment users on 27.555 and > above. I have never heard any myself so that proves there are none.
> Because of course what I say is true and everyone else is a liar.
> Read my wonderful prose and see for yourself"
>
> http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> "Geniuses like me don't need to obey laws since we are above the > masses. Take that, you pussy-footed hams"

5047. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 18:15:53 UTC
From: pproctor@neosoft.com
Message-ID: <80B187B7C9672A40.56A9D1D3D271DE05.E8E15E89244104E6@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28144
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In article <3C23951D.E1493E12@fcc.com> Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com> writes:
>From: Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com>
>Subject: Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.
>Date: Fri, 21 Dec 2001 15:01:33 -0500

> The police are only supporting the laws they were sworn to >uphold.
> It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to >have your own body armor.

Er, there may be occasional state laws, but there is no federal law.

Dr P

5048. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 18:19:37 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <9vvu3i$ks0$1@news.service.uci.edu>
Source record: 28045

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C22B7EA.BDBF2669@IEEE.org...
> And I said for the same reason that not everyone wants a PhD degree.

For most people, a PhD is unobtainable for various reasons. Is that how you feel about ham licenses?

5049. Re: Question for Beer Experts

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 18:24:59 UTC
From: Ed Cregger <nm2k@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <u26vcg94c9ro9a@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 28046
Cross-posted to: alt.beer,rec.food.drink.beer,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Slumming again, Ken? <G>

Ed Cregger
nm2k@arl.net

"Ken Cashion" <kcashion@datasync.com> wrote in message news:3c2381ac.13174530@news.datasync.com...
> On 20 Dec 2001 19:33:39 -0800, twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com > (Twistedhed) wrote:
>
> >"A few months ago I was out on my boat drinking Malt Liquor and not my > >usual Miller Genuine Draft. After a while I became quite dizzy and hit > >my head on the gunwale. Not long after that I decided to get on my > >illegal CB and listen on the "freeband". There I heard a man who > >identified himself as being from a flying saucer. It sounded very real > >to me. So real that I am still convinced I had an authentic encounter.
> >My question is, is this kind of thing normal with malt liquor?"
>
> Yes.
>
> >"Please email me your thoughts. I have a very elaborate anti-spam > >guard so you need to add a @ where the _ is in my addy and put a .
> >after the tv and drop the subdimension.com altogether"
>
> No.
>
> Ken Cashion

5050. Re: Question for Beer Experts

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 18:39:14 UTC
From: kcashion@datasync.com
Message-ID: <3c2381ac.13174530@news.datasync.com>
Source record: 28039
Cross-posted to: alt.beer,rec.food.drink.beer,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On 20 Dec 2001 19:33:39 -0800, twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com (Twistedhed) wrote:

>"A few months ago I was out on my boat drinking Malt Liquor and not my >usual Miller Genuine Draft. After a while I became quite dizzy and hit >my head on the gunwale. Not long after that I decided to get on my >illegal CB and listen on the "freeband". There I heard a man who >identified himself as being from a flying saucer. It sounded very real >to me. So real that I am still convinced I had an authentic encounter.
>My question is, is this kind of thing normal with malt liquor?"

Yes.

>"Please email me your thoughts. I have a very elaborate anti-spam >guard so you need to add a @ where the _ is in my addy and put a .
>after the tv and drop the subdimension.com altogether"

No.

Ken Cashion

5051. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 18:44:00 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <9vvvhdlcu1@news.service.uci.edu>
Source record: 28047

Kamatu <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message
news:9vvsrp021hl@enews2.newsguy.com...
> Oh, I guess I just missed the part where I said you can all go to hell.
LOL!
> Of course, I was going to experience the flavor of these newsgroups
because
> I internet as well as radio. And of course, I'm still going to get my > license and rigs and do what I believe is expected of me (and not be one
of
> the jerks). But, you can't fault me for asking if what I read is true.
>
> So far, only one person has bothered to tell me not to worry about it. One > person has told me to not bother if I'm gonna have an attitude because of > what I read... sigh...
>
> I'm not really a bad person, I just have bad timing...
>
> I'm just gonna go along and not have a public opinion, maybe that will be
> the answer.

Well, you mentioned that you do internet, so I'm sure you've seen how people behave on the newsgroups. The amateur radio newsgroups really aren't any different. Quite often, people are on their worst behavior. But I think you'll find for the most part that on the air, and at club meetings, hams are a great bunch of guys. If you are into radio communications for the love of it, amateur radio is a highly fulfilling kind of activity.

73, Jim AC6XG

5052. Re: Gays harass Salvation Army during Christmas season

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 18:53:43 UTC
From: Big Al <Big_Al@38945BigAl.net>
Message-ID: <a000es$nb2$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28048
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.flame,alt.2600.warez

> > "Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu> wrote in message
> > news:3C1FA9AD.9B3DD642@uci.edu...

> Your posts are equally disgraceful.
>

Yes, KC8JBO is equally disgraceful! Roger suffers from grave mental problems. He is employed as a Walmart Fry Cook, which accounts for his poor attitude on life. The boy needs to come on 3894.5 so I can slap him around a little and give him a radio whuppin. HO HO

5053. latest NYC update

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 19:24:05 UTC
From: webdoc@mailandnews.com Message-ID: <de9751ca.0112211124.466d76e1@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28049
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

For those who are interested, I will be driving home to ohio next week, I will be outproccessing on wed 26th, and either driving out web afternoon or thursday am, heading back to ohio.

Keith Hosman

5054. Re: From a former Trucker

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 19:44:24 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112211144.379cfdb1@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28101
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.scanner,rec.radio.shortwave

```
Norm Malick <henmel@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:<3C234A35.45FFAF38@worldnet.att.net>...
> SD SpecialDelivery Jones wrote:
> >
> > Jim Weir <jim@rst-engr.com> wrote in message
news:<u2q22u85asi99rl8i9qi6p0on6ehvjb84c@4ax.com>...
> > > SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com (SD SpecialDelivery Jones)
> > > shared these priceless pearls of wisdom:
> > >
> > > do you have the foggiest FREAKING idea what it means to snip?
> > >
> > > Jim
> > >
> > >
> > > Jim Weir, VP Eng. RST Eng. WX6RST
> > > A&P, CFI, and other good alphabet soup
> >
> > veep.....my ,my....i am impressed........really......also on the > > letters by your name thing......may i suggest the letters 'DH' be > > added....i feel it would be most appropriate.......
>
> SD, give up with this Jim Weir clown. Remember the old adage about not > mudwresting with pigs. You get filthy and the pig likes it.
>
> Norm Melick

aw geez norm.......i thought hams were cool and took baths everyday and brushed their teeth too.....well i never......
```

5055. >NO CODE = NO HAM.<

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 19:45:35 UTC
From: CW - never CB <realhams@ncpnet.com>
Message-ID: <3C23915F.E57549F3@ncpnet.com>
Source record: 28050

NO CODE = NO HAM. KNOW CODE = KNOW HAM.

CW or CB -- no other choice.

5056. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 19:49:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C239257.44DC590B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28103

Krell wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C22A13A.36CDAB78@earthlink.net...
>
> > The fact remains, Kim set out to enlist Riley as one of her supporters.
> > She didn't like his response, which was 180 degrees from her views and > > promptly dismissed it. That is pretty hard to deny.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was legally > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.

That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official. If his support is a moot point, why did Kim feel it necessary to seek it?

Dave K8MN

5057. Wow - A hamfest on the highway!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 19:51:25 UTC
From: CW - never CB <realhams@ncpnet.com>
Message-ID: <3C2392BD.5F11A12A@ncpnet.com>
Source record: 28102

NO CODE = NO HAM. KNOW CODE = KNOW HAM.

My. Eight little words... and another 800 car pileup on the Newington Interstate... with rubber duckies all over the highway...

5058. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 19:51:42 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C2392FD.9BADB903@gte.net>
Source record: 28104
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

> >> You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to > >> the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.
> >
> >I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
>
> Posting a periodical name as a cite is not sufficient. You lose. I've
> made the call.

No, you want someone else to do your research.
Go to Barnes & Nobles and start reading the fucking magazine. Go over to http://www.strongsignals.net
and read.

I just went out to price body armor at a local police equipment store. It is not available, from them, to be sold to private citizens. The police do not want private citizens having body armor and will stop buying from any dealer who sells to them if they sell to private citizens.

And all we wanted was something to wear while hunting
(a buddy just was shot in a hunting accident, it makes good sense to wear body armor out there).

5059. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 20:01:33 UTC
From: Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com>
Message-ID: <3C23951D.E1493E12@fcc.com>
Source record: 28105
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

N9NWO wrote:
>
> > >> You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to > > >> the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.
> > >
> > >I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
> >
> > Posting a periodical name as a cite is not sufficient. You lose. I've > > made the call.
>
> No, you want someone else to do your research.
> Go to Barnes & Nobles and start reading the fucking > magazine. Go over to http://www.strongsignals.net
> and read.

Which article? Some are deceased.

>
> I just went out to price body armor at a local police > equipment store. It is not available, from them, to > be sold to private citizens.

Did you ask why?

> The police do not want > private citizens having body armor and will stop buying > from any dealer who sells to them if they sell to private > citizens.

The police are only supporting the laws they were sworn to uphold.
It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to have your own body armor.

>
> And all we wanted was something to wear while hunting
> (a buddy just was shot in a hunting accident, it makes good > sense to wear body armor out there).

Is it idiot huntin' season where you live?

5060. Re: Gays harass Salvation Army during Christmas season

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 20:12:09 UTC
From: Huckleberry Hoshimoto <huckleberry_hoshimoto@hotmail.com>
Message-ID: <tIMU7.113051$RP1.19635466@typhoon.kc.rr.com>
Source record: 28106
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.flame,alt.2600.warez

Yes. Picture the madness - Some poor $6.00 an hour bell-ringer turns his back for 10 minutes and the local Gay Pride Brigade sneak in and redecorate the bucket!!!

5061. Re: The actual Tacoma Law

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 20:15:45 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112212011370.16639-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 28107

On Thu, 20 Dec 2001, Bill Sohl wrote:
>Here's the law itself from the Tacoma WEB site:
>
>Chapter 8.38
>PROHIBITED USE OF NON-FCC
>CERTIFICATED TRANSMITTING
>EQUIPMENT IN THE CITIZENS BAND
>Sections:
>
>8.38.010 Prohibited use of non-FCC certificated >transmitting equipment in the citizens band.
>
>8.38.020 Violation penalty.
>
>8.38.010 Prohibited use of non-FCC certificated transmitting >equipment in the citizens band. It is unlawful for any person, firm, or >corporation, to >(a) use citizens band radio equipment not authorized >by the Federal Communications Commission;
>(b) to allow the unauthorized operation of citizens band
>radio equipment on a frequency between 24 MHz >and 35 MHz. Provided, however, as required by >47 U.S.C. § 302(a), licensed amateur radio ("Ham")
>operators are excluded from the above provisions.
>(Ord. 26851 § 1; passed Sept. 18, 2001)
>
>8.38.020 Violation penalty.
>Any person found guilty of a violation of this chapter >shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction >thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding >$500 or by imprisonment in the Pierce County Jail
>for a period not exceeding six months or by both >such fine and imprisonment. (Ord. 26851 § 1; passed >Sept. 18, 2001)
>----------end of Tacoma city code cite.----------
>
>The KEY as to any enforcement MUST be PROVING the USE
>in the first place...AND proving the radio is not authorized.

But it also looks as if any licensed amateur could operate on the CB band with ANY equipment (even amateur equipment) and not be subject to this law. They wouldn't meet either clause of 8.38.010. Of course, the FCC would have something to say, but that would mean a federal matter, not a local one, so that seems to be what the amateur community wanted too; correct?

>Good luck...looks like nothing but feel good legislation to >placate one or more complaining residents.

5062. Re: FS: Hitler's Toothpick

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 20:15:46 UTC
From: gayillegalscott69@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <4303d5a2.0112211215.26f87e63@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28108
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.antiques,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:<3C232CA6.234D028D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> Train wrote:
> >
> > Your first clue should be that the thread is crossposted
>
> The second is that it came from google.com.
>
> The third clue is the posting IP: It came from AOL.

The fourth clue is that it got me running all over Usenet like a sissy
trying to disclaim it!

5063. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 20:18:39 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C23994E.5D72F489@gte.net>
Source record: 28109
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

> >
> > > >> You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to > > > >> the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.
> > > > >
> > > > >I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
> > > >
> > > > Posting a periodical name as a cite is not sufficient. You lose. I've > > > > made the call.
> > >
> > > No, you want someone else to do your research.
> > > Go to Barnes & Nobles and start reading the fucking > > > magazine. Go over to http://www.strongsignals.net
> > > and read.
> >
> > Which article? Some are deceased.
> >

You need to read on a regular basis. This is an ongoing battle over technology. 2600 is a good place to start, so is strong signals.
Even Monitoring Times has had articles on this issue.

>
> >
> > I just went out to price body armor at a local police > > equipment store. It is not available, from them, to > > be sold to private citizens.
>
> Did you ask why?
>
> > The police do not want
> > private citizens having body armor and will stop buying > > from any dealer who sells to them if they sell to private > > citizens.
>
> The police are only supporting the laws they were sworn to
> uphold.
> It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to > have your own body armor.
>

Sorry but you are wrong. Only a few cities limit body armor to police, no state that I know

of. And it is perfectly legal at the federal level.
I have other sources, but I would have liked a local source.

>
> >
> > And all we wanted was something to wear while hunting
> > (a buddy just was shot in a hunting accident, it makes good > > sense to wear body armor out there).
>
> Is it idiot huntin' season where you live?

The individual in question is a former Marine,
one of the best weapons handlers in my Army unit. It shocked everyone who knows him which includes those of us in the military (my colonel is very close friends with him and is a Class III collector), many of the local police and even the local gun stores. He is that good.

But life happens and sometimes you can not stop it.
He lost his left lung, two ribs and 4 out of 5 units of blood. Never passed out, barking orders to a fellow soldier who treated him for shock, a sucking chest wound then backpacked him out over a 1/4 mile!

Everyone is thankful that he is such a hard headed old Marine (well he is younger than me). Had he passed out, I doubt that he would have lived, going into shock.

It has been a real wake up call to many of our younger troops. It pushed the need to learn Common Task Training.

And it has many of us really thinking that body armor might be a good thing to have, for both hunting and if we get activated.

5064. Re: >NO CODE = NO HAM.<

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 20:35:28 UTC
From: Kamatu <admin@ahww.net>
Message-ID: <a007be02nl1@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28115

Troll rejected.

Try again.

"CW - never CB" <realhams@ncpnet.com> wrote in message news:3C23915F.E57549F3@ncpnet.com...
> NO CODE = NO HAM. KNOW CODE = KNOW HAM.
>
> CW or CB -- no other choice.
>

5065. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 20:35:52 UTC
From: Kamatu <admin@ahww.net>
Message-ID: <a007ca02nmr@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28116

Yeah, I do know how the people on newsgroups are.
Thanks Jim

--
Jim

"Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu> wrote in message
news:9vvvhdlcu1@news.service.uci.edu...
>
> Kamatu <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message
> news:9vvsrp021hl@enews2.newsguy.com...
> > Oh, I guess I just missed the part where I said you can all go to hell.
> LOL!
> > Of course, I was going to experience the flavor of these newsgroups
> because
> > I internet as well as radio. And of course, I'm still going to get my > > license and rigs and do what I believe is expected of me (and not be one
> of > > the jerks). But, you can't fault me for asking if what I read is true.
> >
> > So far, only one person has bothered to tell me not to worry about it.
One > > person has told me to not bother if I'm gonna have an attitude because
of
> > what I read... sigh...
> >
> > I'm not really a bad person, I just have bad timing...
> >
> > I'm just gonna go along and not have a public opinion, maybe that will
be
> > the answer.
>
> Well, you mentioned that you do internet, so I'm sure you've seen how people > behave on the newsgroups. The amateur radio newsgroups really aren't any > different. Quite often, people are on their worst behavior. But I think > you'll find for the most part that on the air, and at club meetings, hams > are a great bunch of guys. If you are into radio communications for the > love of it, amateur radio is a highly fulfilling kind of activity.
>
> 73, Jim AC6XG
>
>

5066. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 20:36:06 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C239D62.D73C8F3C@gte.net>
Source record: 28110
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.law-enforcement,talk.politics.guns

delta.sxixeleven@gte.net wrote:

> >Here in Texas, a LEO can not search a car at all unless granted by the > >driver of the vehicle or a search warrant.
> >
> That is not exactly correct, do a search for "The Carroll Doctrine"

You had better explain it. I know of no state that does not allow the police to inspect vehicles.

What these guys do not understand
is this just is not about radio equipment.
It is about drugs, guns, scanners, alcohol or anything else that the officer may think that you are doing. There are so many bad guys (perps) out there that the average
LEO has to expect that every traffic stop might be more than just a normal guy.

After all look at all the drug runners who are caught during traffic stops. It is the number one enforcement tool for the police.

5067. Re: The actual Tacoma Law

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 20:59:42 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a007un$b50$1@slb7.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28111

"D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org> wrote in message news:Pine.LNX.4.10.10112212011370.16639-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org...
On Thu, 20 Dec 2001, Bill Sohl wrote:
>Here's the law itself from the Tacoma WEB site:
>
>Chapter 8.38
>PROHIBITED USE OF NON-FCC
>CERTIFICATED TRANSMITTING
>EQUIPMENT IN THE CITIZENS BAND
>Sections:
>
>8.38.010 Prohibited use of non-FCC certificated
>transmitting equipment in the citizens band.
>
>8.38.020 Violation penalty.
>
>8.38.010 Prohibited use of non-FCC certificated transmitting >equipment in the citizens band. It is unlawful for any person, firm, or >corporation, to
>(a) use citizens band radio equipment not authorized
>by the Federal Communications Commission;
>(b) to allow the unauthorized operation of citizens band
>radio equipment on a frequency between 24 MHz
>and 35 MHz. Provided, however, as required by >47 U.S.C. &#65533; 302(a), licensed amateur radio ("Ham")
>operators are excluded from the above provisions.
>(Ord. 26851 &#65533; 1; passed Sept. 18, 2001)
>
>8.38.020 Violation penalty.
>Any person found guilty of a violation of this chapter
>shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction >thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding >$500 or by imprisonment in the Pierce County Jail
>for a period not exceeding six months or by both >such fine and imprisonment. (Ord. 26851 &#65533; 1; passed >Sept. 18, 2001)
>----------end of Tacoma city code cite.----------
>
>The KEY as to any enforcement MUST be PROVING the USE
>in the first place...AND proving the radio is not authorized.

But it also looks as if any licensed amateur could operate on the CB band
with

ANY equipment (even amateur equipment) and not be subject to this law. They wouldn't meet either clause of 8.38.010. Of course, the FCC would have something to say, but that would mean a federal matter, not a local one, so that seems to be what the amateur community wanted too; correct?

I would say that there's nothing in the law that should cause any grief for amateurs and probably no one else either. The "law" is (IMHO) all bark and no bite because the ability to PROVE any violation is out of the capabilities of almost any police.

5068. Re: Gays harass Salvation Army during Christmas season

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:10:10 UTC
From: Jim Kelley <jwkelley@uci.edu>
Message-ID: <a0083lpel1@news.service.uci.edu>
Source record: 28112

Big Al <Big_Al@38945BigAl.net> wrote in message
news:a000es$nb2$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > "Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu> wrote in message
> > > news:3C1FA9AD.9B3DD642@uci.edu...
>
> > Your posts are equally disgraceful.
> >
>
> Yes, KC8JBO is equally disgraceful! Roger suffers from > grave mental problems. He is employed as a Walmart Fry > Cook, which accounts for his poor attitude on life. The boy > needs to come on 3894.5 so I can slap him around a little and > give him a radio whuppin. HO HO

It appears there's a whole bunch of ya. Sorry I said anything. Merry Christmas.

5069. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:15:16 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0093f$r6c$1@slb3.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28113
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.law-enforcement,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C239D62.D73C8F3C@gte.net...
>
>
> delta.sxixeleven@gte.net wrote:
>
> > >Here in Texas, a LEO can not search a car at all unless granted by the > > >driver of the vehicle or a search warrant.
> > >
> > That is not exactly correct, do a search for "The Carroll Doctrine"
>
> You had better explain it. I know > of no state that does not allow the > police to inspect vehicles.

NJ does not allow searches without permission or a warrant based on reasonable suspicion. The police can look into the vehicle through windows, etc, but they can not demand that you open the trunk, etc.

In the event that police have a reasonable suspicion for some reason, they can get a court issued warrant.
The KEY element is "reasonable suspicion."

> What these guys do not understand
> is this just is not about radio equipment.
> It is about drugs, guns, scanners, alcohol
> or anything else that the officer may think > that you are doing.

So you claim, but fail to clearly convince anyone of. There is NOTHING illegal about me having unopened alcohol containers in a vehicle. The officer may THINK anything s/he wants, but without the reasonable suspicion aspect, there is no absolute right of the police to search the vehicle.
As to scanners and other radios, none of those items constitute anything against the law in NJ and, therefore, do not of themselves constitute any reasonable suspicion to get a search warrant.

> There are so many > bad guys (perps) out there that the average
> LEO has to expect that every traffic stop
> might be more than just a normal guy.

Other than drugs, guns and open alcohol containers, nothing else (certainly not a radio except for a scanner in the handful of states that prohibit them in cars) you offer suggests any valid reason to justify a search or the confiscation (taking as evidence) of any radio equipment.

> After all look at all the drug runners who > are caught during traffic stops. It is the > number one enforcement tool for the police.

So what, we are talking about radio equipment, not drugs.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5070. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:17:07 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <FFD82E29E38266F1.F736BC86DC96F54D.41F6654C0E7A2214@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28114

On 21 Dec 2001 11:16:26 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>I've got a better idea -- you find me someone at ARRL HQ that will >flatly deny that the ARS is viewed as a "family-oriented" activity -- >intended to be passed down from fathers, mothers, uncles, grand>parents to children, grandchildren, nephews, nieces, etc. etc.
>Find someone who will state, from a standpoint of their being an >ARRL official, that the ARS is intended to be a non-"G"-rated, >over 21, adults-only activity for mature audiences only. If you can, >then we'll entertain the notion that I "don't have the vaguest idea" >what I'm talking about. In the meantime, I'm not too sure you >do!

I truly hate to burst your bubble, Larry, but to the best of my knowledge, the ARRL hasn't been named the legal regulatory agency for the Amateur Radio Service by the government--that responsibility belongs to the FCC exclusively.

Why should I--or anyone else--care what the ARRL position on the "family oriented" nature of the ARS is? You and Dick Carroll certainly didn't credit them with any ability to speak for YOU when it came to code testing, remember? And how am I supposed to find someone with the ARRL who will make such a statement--we BOTH know that as soon as anyone with the ARRL states his or her _opinion_, you start claiming they don't have the right to do so (can you say "Ed Hare?").

You'll have to do better than that, Larry. The ARRL doesn't speak for everyone in ham radio--it doesn't even speak for all of its members. It would be JUST as valid to ask a spokesperson for NCI to do so as it would to ask one from the ARRL.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5071. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:21:13 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <B0998739E8E5FBD2.55FE05509341B310.9C8AA2F135BF89CD@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28117

On 21 Dec 2001 01:33:08 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>If it makes you feel any better, I am now looking for property to buy >here in Delaware. I'm trying to decide to buy a house or build one; >something will happen along those lines very soon. Living in this >apartment has been quite cost-effective for me; due to the fact I've >been here for 9 years, my rent is about 75% of what it would be >getting if occupied by a new tenant. And, as someone said, I've >not had to concern myself with repairs, lawn mowing, etc. which is >an important consideration in my life -- and if this place ever went >condo I might just write a check for it -- as long as I could make >certain upgrades. However, in reality, I need/want a bit more space, >so I'll probably get out of here pretty soon.

You know, Larry, those are almost exactly the same statements
a mobile home resident would make if he or she were moving to a house instead. And since you (as Kim pointed out) view such individuals as "trailer trash," I'll just point out that at least THEY own the property they're in--you have exactly the same complaints about yours, and you don't even have any equity in it of your own. If property owners are "trash," I can only guess what renters are in your view.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5072. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:26:59 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a009ha$18k$1@slb7.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28118
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:9vvk5201g8i@enews2.newsguy.com...
>
> "Robert Frenchu" <robert_frenchu@ya-take_out-hoo.com> wrote in message > news:op762u0n99g3enl1onfcag8b0laq0rjllu@4ax.com...
> > You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to > > the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.
>
> I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
> that has been writing about the same subject for quite some time - keeping > modern technology in the hands of private corporations and out of the hands > of the public. If you want more, read the DMCA of 1998. It's basically made > it illegal to take something apart to see how it works.

That law is targeted specifically at reverse engineering activity of corporate R&D organizations.

Has anyone been found guilty of that law?

Do you really see that law being used against a ham or anyone else who decides to take apart their TV, Stereo, CD player, PC or anything else just to learn more about it?

Bottom line, the DCMA is of NO consequence to individuals who like to tinker.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5073. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:32:33 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C23AA71.909C7BC4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28119

Jim Kelley wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C22B7EA.BDBF2669@IEEE.org...
> > What is it about a ham being 100% satisfied with a tech license > > that you don't understand?
>
> The part about not wanting HF privileges.

Some hams are perfectly satisfied with a tech license.
You are not required to understand everything. I, myself, was perfectly satisfied with VHF-only operation during the 15 years that I lived in CA. I had HF privileges but I didn't use them.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5074. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:32:56 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a009sfkpp1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28120
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message
news:cfyU7.1231$Ya1.689971@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net...
> : > > That is hogwash. I haven't seen any such "growing
> : > > numbers" opposed to CBs, radios, etc. Indeed, there
> : > > has been NO movement to ban scanners at all...rather
> : > > some states (e.g. NJ) have relaxed old laws which
> : > > did ban scanners in autos.
> : > >
> : > > > There is the feeling that the public can not be trusted,
> : > > > that too many use technology for crime or to try to
> : > > > overthrow the government. Many would prefer that only
> : > > > those who are paid on a professional basis should be allowed
> : > > > to have access to radios or weapons.
> : > >
> : > > More hogwash. Even if there is some such sentiment,
> : > > there hasn't been any support for that attitude in the press,
> : > > the legislatures, etc.
> : > >
> : > > Bill K2UNK
> : >
> : > I gather that you do not read that many papers
> : > everyday. The Washington Post, LA Times,
> : > NY Times, Chicago Tribune all go on "crusades"
> : > every so often over gun ownership, cell phones,
> : > scanners. The elite do not like the fact that the
> : > masses understand, and use, technology.
> :
> : I have seen public opposition to gun ownership, mixed
> : opposition to cellphone use in an auto (no one
> : seems to want to ban any total use/ownership
> : of cellphones) ...BUT
> : not one crusade at all against scanners. There has
> : been NO demand to ban scanners at all, even for
> : specific frequencies, since the FCC rules
> : prohibiting scanners manufactured that can recieve
> : cellular.
>
> I suggest that you become familiar > with the issues over APCO 25
> standards for digital trunked radio.
> The main purpose is to prevent private > citizens from receiving ANY public > radio transmission.

So what, that doesn't mean there is any public demand to outlaw scanners.

> As I am a member
> of APCO, I have had conversations with > individuals who run public safety radio > systems. Their one big goal is to have > an digitally encrypted system that no one,
> not even the media, will be able to receive
> without their permission.

That too does NOT constitute any public outcry
to ban scanners either.

> Read some of the articles at http://www.strongsignals.net

There is nothing wrong with police using new technology to protect their frequencies from eavesdropping...BUT that is not at all anlogous to banning scanners altogether as you claim their is public support for.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5075. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:34:53 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C23AAFD.92800412@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28121

Jim Kelley wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C22B7EA.BDBF2669@IEEE.org...
> > And I said for the same reason that not everyone wants a PhD degree.
>
> For most people, a PhD is unobtainable for various reasons. Is that how you > feel about ham licenses?

Yes, for some hams an extra license is unobtainable because they don't do anything to obtain it.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5076. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:36:41 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C23AB69.5623605D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28122

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> Krell wrote:
> > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was legally > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
>
> That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official.

Too bad Riley's official opinion carries such little weight at the FCC.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----
```

5077. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:45:09 UTC
From: Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com>
Message-ID: <3C23AD65.8E6D3BBA@fcc.com>
Source record: 28123
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

N9NWO wrote:
>
> > >
> > > > >> You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to > > > > >> the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.
> > > > > >
> > > > > >I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
> > > > >
> > > > > Posting a periodical name as a cite is not sufficient. You lose. I've > > > > > made the call.
> > > >
> > > > No, you want someone else to do your research.
> > > > Go to Barnes & Nobles and start reading the fucking > > > > magazine. Go over to http://www.strongsignals.net
> > > > and read.
> > >
> > > Which article? Some are deceased.
> > >
>
> You need to read on a regular basis.

You ninny.
Half the LINKS are dead.. DECEASED!

Moving on....

> > > I just went out to price body armor at a local police > > > equipment store. It is not available, from them, to > > > be sold to private citizens.

> > Did you ask why?

I did.

> > > The police do not want > > > private citizens having body armor and will stop buying > > > from any dealer who sells to them if they sell to private > > > citizens.

That is not entirely true.
The police don't want convicted FELONS that are let loose and are still dangerous from owning such protective gear.

Why were _you_ turned down?

> > The police are only supporting the laws they were sworn to > > uphold.
> > It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to > > have your own body armor.
> >
>
> Sorry but you are wrong. Only a few cities
> limit body armor to police,

I didn't say the police, you ninny.
I said THE PEOPLE!

But, I have to admit that I was wrong in thinking it was a crime for a typical person to have or own.
I was misled by strange, left wing propaganda, as well as my own local police!
As far as I know now, there are NO laws regarding the wearing or purchasing of such clothing..yet!
Unless of course one is a convicted felon or use them in the commission of a crime.

> no state that I know
> of. And it is perfectly legal at the federal level.
> I have other sources, but I would have liked a
> local source.

I talked to my local Police in my state (NJ) and they said it is a FELONY for a CIVILIAN to wear, let alone HAVE, any bullet proof vest or Body armor.
He also said that is not just "NJ STATE" wide, but also," It's "Nationwide."

Apparently, nothing could have been further from the truth.

As having just called to "a" manufacturer, he told me "That cop is nutz and I want his badge number!"
"While it is perfectly OK to sell to the general public, the cops will never give you a straight answer, and even we refuse to sell to criminals or punks." he said in a 'round about way.

This place was VERY informative, and kind and they are in California.
He also said that the majority of his sales are NOT to LEO's!

http://www.bulletproofme.com/
http://www.bulletproofme.com/Quick_Answers.shtml#12
http://www.bulletproofme.com/What_s_New.shtml

Again, please except my humble apologies for the information I gave, that for the first time WAS not quite accurate.

Now then.. how's that friend of yours doing that you shot the last time you went hunting?

5078. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:49:42 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C23A15A.B95CFBAB@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28124

CAM wrote:

> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > I seriously doubt that Riley has any "prudish hangups."
>
> Sorry Larry, Riley has proved he has prudish hangups and I have > lost a lot of respect for him because of that. He offered his > personal opinion while in an FCC position.

So since Riley answered an exact question directed to him by the principal seeking his opininion, not Federal law which she aready knew, and he honestly answered it with his personal opinion, you now pronounce him a prude simply because his opinion doesn't match your sleazy opinion. Right, we got it.

> That is exactly
> the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal > opinion while in an ARRL position.

That is NOT what he said to Ed. He and I said we simply didn't believe that the ARRL leadership would allow Ed to post opinions here that were not closely aligned with official ARRL policy. Ed himself stated that very fact when he said that ARRL heirarchy knew he wouldn't say or do anything contrary to those policies. So you are a deliberate liar, not to mention a complete fool.

5079. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 21:58:03 UTC
From: Robert Frenchu <robert_frenchu@ya-take_out-hoo.com>
Message-ID: <n1c72us5rlidsakjianl7jt4p5npi2j497@4ax.com>
Source record: 28126
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

> N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote <3C2392FD.9BADB903@gte.net> in talk.politics.guns. :

>> >> You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to >> >> the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.
>> >
>> >I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
>>
>> Posting a periodical name as a cite is not sufficient. You lose. I've >> made the call.
>
>No, you want someone else to do your research.

No, I want you to provide the cite. Can't do it? I'm not surprised, loser.

5080. Re: Jam the bastards

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:00:35 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <7iOU7.235834$3d2.11322047@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28127

Jim, you are right about the AM. He was always using AM. Ummmm ... what about the 'wet-bottom boys'. I assume he was refering to the WB callsigns (I'm not sure when the WA2 calls were finished off. My 1st ticket was WN2CJV, issued in 1962).

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message news:20011220000259.06877.00000587@mb-mj.aol.com...
> In article <B0bU7.232743$3d2.11125812@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
> "JAMES HAMPTON" <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net> writes:
>
> >You'd have to ask some old timers who > >were active back in the 60s and before about Mike, W2OY. He was quite a > >work of art. My understanding is, however, that he was just 'breaking > >stones' and he was really a decent guy in person. He used to call CQ with > >something like 'CQ CQ, no lids, kids, space cadets or school bus riders. No > >wet-bottom boys. Only class A operators on this frequency, from W2OY'. He > >was something.
>
> He was ticked because of the Dec. 1952 FCC "privileges giveaway", when > Conditionals and Generals got full HF 'phone privileges. (Prior to that time, > one needed an Advanced or Extra to work 'phone on the ham bands between 3 and > 25 MHz).
>
> The classic W2OY call was "CQ 75 meter AM phone, no kids, no lids, no space > cadets, Class A operators only". Class A was the old name for Advanced, "kids" > referred to Novices and newcomers, "lids" referred to Generals and > Conditionals, and "space cadets" referred to SSB ops.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

5081. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:02:21 UTC
From: Jim Patrick <jpatrickMAPS-ITNA@shentel.net> Message-ID: <vvb72u0uarm696a2dul0gcr3fqoegrbhjl@4ax.com>
Source record: 28125
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In talk.politics.guns, Bill Sohl wrote:

>That law is targeted specifically at reverse engineering activity of >corporate R&D organizations.

And has been applied to one single case.
Not against a corporation or R&D firm.

>Has anyone been found guilty of that law?

The case hasn't made it to trial yet. After some months in the pokey, the bail donation fund was able to get them out. But the case has yet to be heard.

>Do you really see that law being used against a ham or anyone >else who decides to take apart their TV, Stereo, CD player,
>PC or anything else just to learn more about it?

Yeah. Do you think you pay income taxes to fund WWI?
Once in place, the expansion of use is inevitable.

5082. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:02:33 UTC
From: Jim Patterson <jrp32nospam@bellsouth.net> Message-ID: <5g872usjmr8ocgfc2iqnb2p59mujefunb9@4ax.com>
Source record: 28128
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 15:01:33 -0500, Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com> in talk.politics.guns wrote:

> It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to >have your own body armor.
>

I am curious. Do you feel that this is a good law?
I am thinking of someone who is say, transporting jewelry or cash.
So far as I can remember, I grew up in a country with a framework of laws that were protective without being needlessly restrictive.

Of course there were about 130-150 million in the country then, and that makes somewhat of a difference in this anecdote about laws:

When quite young though in my memory, I was injured (turned out to be just a broken collarbone) at a convention that my parents were attending at a rural town park. Dad got me in his (then new) '55 Olds and had a Legion buddy holding me down in the back seat. He later told me that we were going over 100mph to the hospital. We were stopped by a highway patrolman who in seconds was escorting us to the hospital, same speed, with sirens going and that was the last heard from the police. To me, that is non-restrictive law at work.
I wonder what would happen with the same circumstances today?

In the mid-sixties, I had a holiday job at a men's clothing store. After we closed at night, the owner would take the receipts to a night deposit at the other end of the mall....with his hand on a revolver. I have no idea if he had any kind of permit, but I seriously doubt it would have made any difference to a cop. So far as I know, he never used it.
About that I could only ask, who was hurt.

But what we have now is a country that says one law fits all at all times and by golly that is how it will be.

Cheers,

jim

>>
>> And all we wanted was something to wear while hunting
>> (a buddy just was shot in a hunting accident, it makes good >> sense to wear body armor out there).
>
>Is it idiot huntin' season where you live?

5083. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:21:41 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <VBOU7.87696$bs2.20625334@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 28129
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

Worst part of this useless bullshit is that they continue to cross post the crap.
Train
"Jim Patterson" <jrp32nospam@bellsouth.net> wrote in message news:5g872usjmr8ocgfc2iqnb2p59mujefunb9@4ax.com...
> On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 15:01:33 -0500, Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com> in > talk.politics.guns wrote:
>
> > It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to > >have your own body armor.
> >
>
> I am curious. Do you feel that this is a good law?
> I am thinking of someone who is say, transporting jewelry or cash.
> So far as I can remember, I grew up in a country with a framework of > laws that were protective without being needlessly restrictive.
>
> Of course there were about 130-150 million in the country then, and that > makes somewhat of a difference in this anecdote about laws:
>
> When quite young though in my memory, I was injured (turned out to be > just a broken collarbone) at a convention that my parents were attending > at a rural town park. Dad got me in his (then new) '55 Olds and had a > Legion buddy holding me down in the back seat. He later told me that we > were going over 100mph to the hospital. We were stopped by a highway > patrolman who in seconds was escorting us to the hospital, same speed, > with sirens going and that was the last heard from the police. To me,
> that is non-restrictive law at work.
> I wonder what would happen with the same circumstances today?
>
> In the mid-sixties, I had a holiday job at a men's clothing store. After > we closed at night, the owner would take the receipts to a night deposit > at the other end of the mall....with his hand on a revolver. I have no > idea if he had any kind of permit, but I seriously doubt it would have > made any difference to a cop. So far as I know, he never used it.
> About that I could only ask, who was hurt.
>
> But what we have now is a country that says one law fits all at all > times and by golly that is how it will be.
>
> Cheers,
>
> jim

>
> >>
> >> And all we wanted was something to wear while hunting
> >> (a buddy just was shot in a hunting accident, it makes good > >> sense to wear body armor out there).
> >
> >Is it idiot huntin' season where you live?
>

5084. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:24:14 UTC
From: Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com>
Message-ID: <3C23B68E.AE136BBC@fcc.com>
Source record: 28130
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

Jim Patterson wrote:
>
> On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 15:01:33 -0500, Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com> in > talk.politics.guns wrote:
>
> > It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to > >have your own body armor.
> >
>
> I am curious. Do you feel that this is a good law?

Before we go further, allow me to say that I was (gasp) Wrong!
Citizens most certainly CAN own and wear armor.

And also, I have always been in favor of the people to do such a thing.

I was misled regarding the "law."

5085. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:26:17 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c23b64e_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28131

"Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message
news:9vvsrp021hl@enews2.newsguy.com...
>
> "WW - KB9TMP" <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com> wrote in message
> news:9vvprb$1gq$1@dagobah.blueriver.net...
> > "Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message
> news:9vvmv501kb6@enews2.newsguy.com...
> > >
> > > "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3c235096$1_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> > > > If you are going to allow things that you read to formulate your > opinion
> > > of > > > > something before you have personally experienced it, then I would > suggest
> > > > you not bother.
> > > >
> > >
> > > You're right. Just because the label says "poison", is no reason I > shouldn't > > > taste the contents of the bottle.
> > >
> > > --
> > > Jim
> >
> > How about reading a movie review for "The Years Worst Picture" and when > > you go watch it you find out that it's a GREAT movie. You're just getting > > someone else's 'opinion' of it, and not what really matters, which is what
> > YOUR opinion of it is!
> >
> > Just remember we're not all 'jerks', just some of us! ;^)
> > Happy Holidays to one and all!!!!
> >
>
>
> Oh, I guess I just missed the part where I said you can all go to hell.
LOL!
> Of course, I was going to experience the flavor of these newsgroups
because
> I internet as well as radio. And of course, I'm still going to get my > license and rigs and do what I believe is expected of me (and not be one
of

> the jerks). But, you can't fault me for asking if what I read is true.
>
> So far, only one person has bothered to tell me not to worry about it. One > person has told me to not bother if I'm gonna have an attitude because of > what I read... sigh...
>

Didn't mean to imply that, and sorry you took it that way. What I mean by what I said is: don't get into ham radio if you are going to allow yourself to be affected so much by some of the crap you may hear, and some of the creeps you may meet, etc. They're all there--the good and the bad. The idea with ham radio is the same as with life in general. You choose what you wish, and choose the mountains you wish to climb. The stuff you don't like? Shrug your shoulders. It's big enough for everyone.

Kim W5TIT

5086. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:27:13 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c23b68a_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28132

"Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu> wrote in message
news:9vvsc4jrv1@news.service.uci.edu...
>
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
> news:7C675AACFD8F3A2B.108F330199F6C161.5F67135A2F8866E6@lp.airnews.net...
> > I) DEFINITION.
> >
> > Magick is the Science and Art of causing Change to occur in conformity > > with Will.
>
> There's a Christian group, the Science of Mind, that believes the same > thing.
>
>
>

I think that's our point, exactly. Now, the only thing is, in some cases thought really can make a difference. And, in those cases, it truly is magical.

Kim W5TIT

5087. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:29:15 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c23b700_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28133

"Jim Kelley" <jwkelley@uci.edu> wrote in message
news:9vvsfa$js5$1@news.service.uci.edu...
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C22B7EA.BDBF2669@IEEE.org...
> > What is it about a ham being 100% satisfied with a tech license > > that you don't understand?
>
> The part about not wanting HF privileges.
>
>

Jim, forgive me, and I don't want to be taken as confrontational about this. For some, SSTV may be the only thing they ever really "get" about ham radio. For others, it might be APRS. Still others, CW. And so it goes. I don't like HF for all the noise it makes--it really does to me. I don't like the hissing...don't like the wavering in and out. BUT, I enjoy HF once in a while. Some do not. There's LOTS to do in any spectrum of the hobby that is chosen.

Kim W5TIT

5088. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:36:07 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c23b89b$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28134

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C239257.44DC590B@earthlink.net...
> Krell wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C22A13A.36CDAB78@earthlink.net...
> >
> > > The fact remains, Kim set out to enlist Riley as one of her supporters.
> > > She didn't like his response, which was 180 degrees from her views and > > > promptly dismissed it. That is pretty hard to deny.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was legally > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
>
> That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official. If his support is a moot > point, why did Kim feel it necessary to seek it?
>
> Dave K8MN

I'm running out of crayons here, Dave. At the time the solicitation from Riley was sought, there was some nitwit (not Larry) who was telling me he was going to see to it that the FCC would revoke my callsign...blah, blah, blah. At the same time our resident nitwit (Larry) was just getting stoked up. So, for both of them, and to the shut the non-resident nitwit up, I wrote to Riley and asked him about the idea of the FCC revoking a callsign, in fact the FCC being interested in policing callsigns at all. Riley is, as you say, an FCC official. His response shut the non-resident nitwit up. His response lit a fire under the resident nitwit--and now you.

K?

Got it?

Is it sinking in?

Kim W5TIT

5089. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:41:35 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c23b9e4_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28135

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:B0998739E8E5FBD2.55FE05509341B310.9C8AA2F135BF89CD@lp.airnews.net...
> On 21 Dec 2001 01:33:08 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> wrote:
>
> >If it makes you feel any better, I am now looking for property to buy > >here in Delaware. I'm trying to decide to buy a house or build one;
> >something will happen along those lines very soon. Living in this > >apartment has been quite cost-effective for me; due to the fact I've > >been here for 9 years, my rent is about 75% of what it would be > >getting if occupied by a new tenant. And, as someone said, I've > >not had to concern myself with repairs, lawn mowing, etc. which is > >an important consideration in my life -- and if this place ever went > >condo I might just write a check for it -- as long as I could make > >certain upgrades. However, in reality, I need/want a bit more space, > >so I'll probably get out of here pretty soon.
>
> You know, Larry, those are almost exactly the same statements
> a mobile home resident would make if he or she were moving to a house > instead. And since you (as Kim pointed out) view such individuals as > "trailer trash," I'll just point out that at least THEY own the > property they're in--you have exactly the same complaints about yours, > and you don't even have any equity in it of your own. If property > owners are "trash," I can only guess what renters are in your view.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

<BIG EVIL GRIN> I wasn't gonna go there. Oh yeah, I didn't...you did.
ROFLMAO...

Kim W5TIT

5090. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:42:10 UTC
From: Josey Wales <nothanks@nospam.com>
Message-ID: <yNPU7.4707$_f.114138@dfw-read.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28140
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

That's correct. If you refuse, they can get a warrant and detain you if it takes 12 hours to get it if they want. They will likely then tear your car apart looking for drugs, not reassemble it for you of course, while a drug dog is turned loose inside and outside your car with his claws scratching the shit out of your paint job. Don't be so naive as to think they can't ruin their day in any number of ways. Refuse a search and it's assumed you have something to hide. You do have rights but there are ways too numerous to mention how they can make your day a real bitch.

I witnessed a South Carolina State Patrol Officer chamber a round in a 12 gauge shotgun, ram it (and I mean ram) in the stomach of a fat, greasy looking truck driver because he was mouthing off as he was asked to step down from his cab. Needless to say, the driver shut the fuck up and said more "yes sirs" then he probably ever had previously in his life. Go ahead and tell them your rights, just be prepared for the consequences because they know them better than most motorists do.

tw��,.., <.tw,@nothomeexcite5,yahoomsnATTBI.org.com> wrote in message
news:YNnU7.13583$NM4.3197237@rwcrnsc53...
> X-No-Archive: yes
>
> "Peter H. Proctor" <pproctor@neosoft.com> wrote in message > news:336D1D3074E71BF6.7E14ED6979DC6C7D.F2352BD3BE528AB0@lp.airnews.net...
> > Not that simple. Having stopped a car under "reasonable > suspicion",
> > LEO's can search the area under control of the driver or a passenger for > > weapons. The legal theory is that the safety of the officer allows for > a > > specific exemption to 4th amendment protections. If, incidental to > this > > search, they find contraband, this is admissible as evidence.
> > Admittedly, as a practical matter, this is all a legal fiction
> that > > allows officers to search when and where. But it still means there > are > > some limitations. E.g., LEO's cannot search a locked container, which > gives > > an "expectation of privacy". Similarly, a local judge once threw out > > contraband found in a metal Bandaid box after a defense attorney pointed > out > > that it was too small to have held any weapon and thus should not have > been > > opened.

>
>
> Here in Texas, a LEO can not search a car at all unless granted by the > driver of the vehicle or a search warrant.
>
>

5091. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:49:39 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <70PU7.88150$bs2.20682171@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 28136
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"Panhead" <Panmyfinger@fcc.com> wrote in message
news:3C23B68E.AE136BBC@fcc.com...
> Jim Patterson wrote:
> >
> > On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 15:01:33 -0500, Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com> in > > talk.politics.guns wrote:
> >
> > > It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to > > >have your own body armor.
> > >
> >
> > I am curious. Do you feel that this is a good law?
>
> Before we go further, allow me to say that I was (gasp) Wrong!
> Citizens most certainly CAN own and wear armor.
>
Most states have laws on the books criminalizing the use of body armor while committing a crime. Owning the body armor in and of itself is not usually the crime.
Train

5092. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:54:54 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C23BDED.1564320F@gte.net>
Source record: 28137
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

> > > > > >> You're obviously unable to provide a cite. I shall now report you to > > > > > >> the proper authorities for a gross violation of the False Cite Act.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > >I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > Posting a periodical name as a cite is not sufficient. You lose. I've > > > > > > made the call.
> > > > > >
> > > > > No, you want someone else to do your research.
> > > > > Go to Barnes & Nobles and start reading the fucking > > > > > magazine. Go over to http://www.strongsignals.net
> > > > > and read.
> > > > >
> > > > Which article? Some are deceased.
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > You need to read on a regular basis.
> >
> You ninny.
> Half the LINKS are dead.. DECEASED!
>
> Moving on....
>

Well, I assume that you are talking about Strong Signals. Read it on a regular basis.
New stuff all the time.

And learn about APCO 25 and how the public safety communications community is planning to make all government radios encrypted.

>
> > > > > I just went out to price body armor at a local police > > > > > equipment store. It is not available, from them, to > > > > > be sold to private citizens.
> >
> > > > Did you ask why?
> >
> I did.
> >
> > > > > The police do not want
> > > > > private citizens having body armor and will stop buying

> > > > from any dealer who sells to them if they sell to private > > > > citizens.
>
> That is not entirely true.
> The police don't want convicted FELONS that are let loose and > are still dangerous from owning such protective gear.
>
> Why were _you_ turned down?
>

They refuse to sell to anyone who is not a sworn officer. Even though I am working for government and have security clearance. Police only.

It does not matter, I have other sources like Gall's

>
> > > The police are only supporting the laws they were sworn to
> > > uphold.
> > > It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to > > > have your own body armor.
> > >
> >
> > Sorry but you are wrong. Only a few cities > > limit body armor to police,
>
> I didn't say the police, you ninny.
> I said THE PEOPLE!
>
> But, I have to admit that I was wrong in thinking it was a crime
> for a typical person to have or own.
> I was misled by strange, left wing propaganda, as well as my own > local police!
> As far as I know now, there are NO laws regarding the wearing or > purchasing of such clothing..yet!
> Unless of course one is a convicted felon or use them in the > commission of a crime.
>
> > no state that I know
> > of. And it is perfectly legal at the federal level.
> > I have other sources, but I would have liked a > > local source.
>
> I talked to my local Police in my state (NJ) and they said it is > a FELONY for a CIVILIAN to wear, let alone HAVE, any bullet proof
> vest or Body armor.
> He also said that is not just "NJ STATE" wide, but also," It's > "Nationwide."
>

> Apparently, nothing could have been further from the truth.
>
> As having just called to "a" manufacturer, he told me "That cop > is nutz and I want his badge number!"
> "While it is perfectly OK to sell to the general public, the > cops will never give you a straight answer, and even we refuse to > sell to criminals or punks." he said in a 'round about way.
>
> This place was VERY informative, and kind and they are in > California.
> He also said that the majority of his sales are NOT to LEO's!
>
> http://www.bulletproofme.com/
> http://www.bulletproofme.com/Quick_Answers.shtml#12
> http://www.bulletproofme.com/What_s_New.shtml
>
> Again, please except my humble apologies for the information I > gave, that for the first time WAS not quite accurate.
>
> Now then.. how's that friend of yours doing that you shot the > last time you went hunting?

That was why I was gentle. I thought you might have had wrong info.

I wasn't with him. Thank god the kid that he was hunting with was there. He had the military training plus he is rather big and strong. The right person to be there.

Unfortunately Kevin shot himself. We have three deer season: bow, muzzle loader,
and shotgun. Kevin had his blackpowder
rifle plus a blackpowder pistol for backup.
The pistol had worked lose in the holster
and when he went to get up, it slipped out and discharged when it hit the ground (I know, it sounds really weird). As I said, he lost a lung and about 4/5 of his blood.
He is damned lucky to be alive.

Just went thru surgery to close everything up and should be out of the hospital before Christmas (they were expecting him to stay for another week). Again, even the best have shit happen to them.

Guess that this is another reason to buy body armor.

5093. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 22:57:38 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C23BE93.B40B0CEE@gte.net>
Source record: 28138
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

>
> > It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to > >have your own body armor.
> >
>
> I am curious. Do you feel that this is a good law?
> I am thinking of someone who is say, transporting jewelry or cash.
> So far as I can remember, I grew up in a country with a framework of > laws that were protective without being needlessly restrictive.
>
> Of course there were about 130-150 million in the country then, and that > makes somewhat of a difference in this anecdote about laws:
>
> When quite young though in my memory, I was injured (turned out to be > just a broken collarbone) at a convention that my parents were attending > at a rural town park. Dad got me in his (then new) '55 Olds and had a > Legion buddy holding me down in the back seat. He later told me that we > were going over 100mph to the hospital. We were stopped by a highway > patrolman who in seconds was escorting us to the hospital, same speed, > with sirens going and that was the last heard from the police. To me,
> that is non-restrictive law at work.
> I wonder what would happen with the same circumstances today?
>
> In the mid-sixties, I had a holiday job at a men's clothing store. After > we closed at night, the owner would take the receipts to a night deposit > at the other end of the mall....with his hand on a revolver. I have no > idea if he had any kind of permit, but I seriously doubt it would have > made any difference to a cop. So far as I know, he never used it.
> About that I could only ask, who was hurt.
>
> But what we have now is a country that says one law fits all at all > times and by golly that is how it will be.
>

In my state there is one exemption to having a pistol on you in public (without a license, that is). And that is that your employer requires to have it. It is allowed for businesses to have armed staff who deposit money, no carry permit required.

5094. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 23:03:57 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C23C00D.A9037FA@gte.net>
Source record: 28139
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

> > : > > That is hogwash. I haven't seen any such "growing
> > : > > numbers" opposed to CBs, radios, etc. Indeed, there
> > : > > has been NO movement to ban scanners at all...rather
> > : > > some states (e.g. NJ) have relaxed old laws which
> > : > > did ban scanners in autos.
> > : > >
> > : > > > There is the feeling that the public can not be trusted,
> > : > > > that too many use technology for crime or to try to
> > : > > > overthrow the government. Many would prefer that only
> > : > > > those who are paid on a professional basis should be allowed
> > : > > > to have access to radios or weapons.
> > : > >
> > : > > More hogwash. Even if there is some such sentiment,
> > : > > there hasn't been any support for that attitude in the press,
> > : > > the legislatures, etc.
> > : > >
> > : > > Bill K2UNK
> > : >
> > : I gather that you do not read that many papers
> > : everyday. The Washington Post, LA Times,
> > : NY Times, Chicago Tribune all go on "crusades"
> > : every so often over gun ownership, cell phones,
> > : scanners. The elite do not like the fact that the
> > : masses understand, and use, technology.
> > :
> > : I have seen public opposition to gun ownership, mixed
> > : opposition to cellphone use in an auto (no one
> > : seems to want to ban any total use/ownership
> > : of cellphones) ...BUT
> > : not one crusade at all against scanners. There has
> > : been NO demand to ban scanners at all, even for
> > : specific frequencies, since the FCC rules
> > : prohibiting scanners manufactured that can recieve
> > : cellular.
> >
> > I suggest that you become familiar
> > with the issues over APCO 25
> > standards for digital trunked radio.
> > The main purpose is to prevent private
> > citizens from receiving ANY public
> > radio transmission.
>
> So what, that doesn't mean there is any public

> demand to outlaw scanners.
>

No public demand, just behind the door lobbying
by police organizations. Congress has passed some rather restrictive laws about scanners in the last 10 years.

>
> > As I am a member
> > of APCO, I have had conversations with > > individuals who run public safety radio
> > systems. Their one big goal is to have > > an digitally encrypted system that no one,
> > not even the media, will be able to receive > > without their permission.
>
> That too does NOT constitute any public outcry
> to ban scanners either.
>

The public wants scanners, the media wants them.
The cops would rather that you did not have them.

> > Read some of the articles at http://www.strongsignals.net
>
> There is nothing wrong with police using new technology to > protect their frequencies from eavesdropping...BUT that > is not at all anlogous to banning scanners altogether as > you claim their is public support for.

It will cause more problems that it is worth.
Right now most police officers use scanners
to listen to adjacent patrol areas, other departments and others services. If radios are encrypted, you will only have those talk groups that are programmed into your radio. Already we have problems with various agencies not wanting other agencies on their talk groups. For example, the ambulance service does not want the fire fighters on their talk group. Makes it damned hard to co-ordinate
at an accident scene or talk the ambulance in.

And you know that the media will be the first to be locked out. They are just now realizing that the cops might be pulling a fast one.

5095. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 23:28:23 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a00gf901kle@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28141
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"Robert Frenchu" <robert_frenchu@ya-take_out-hoo.com> wrote in message news:i0n62ucv8ui4p5bb60nvhh6rgrmhcgfs08@4ax.com...
> >I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
>
> Posting a periodical name as a cite is not sufficient. You lose. I've > made the call.

If you're too fucking lazy to read any of them published within the past year, you're the one who loses

5096. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 23:42:49 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a00haa01lrs@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28142
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"Bill Sohl" <billsohl@mindspring.com> wrote in message
news:a009ha$18k$1@slb7.atl.mindspring.net...
> That law is targeted specifically at reverse engineering activity of > corporate R&D organizations.
>
> Has anyone been found guilty of that law?

As a matter of fact, yes. 2600 magazine was found to be in violation of the law when they published DeCSS code (a DVD ripper program) by a federal judge in California. His decision was based on the fact that someone MIGHT use such code to violate copyrights. The case is currently under appeal. In another case, a software company was threatened with a lawsuit because they wrote a program that would play DVDs on the Linux platform. I don't know the details of this, but the corporate lawyers argued that since DVDs weren't designed to run under Linux by the manufacturers, copyright protection MIGHT be compromised. (or some other crazy argument to that effect)

> Do you really see that law being used against a ham or anyone > else who decides to take apart their TV, Stereo, CD player, > PC or anything else just to learn more about it?
>
> Bottom line, the DCMA is of NO consequence to individuals > who like to tinker.

...and the road to hell is paved with good intentions.

5097. Re: Gays harass Salvation Army during Christmas season

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 23:44:51 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a00he401m0b@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28143

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c235198_2@newsa.ev1.net...
> > > So is 8L0J08 your first name, or last name?
> >
> > Forget it. The guy's too dumb to understand 'L33TI5M5.
> >
> >
>
> Uh, Krell? Is this some kind of one of those Pagan Spells? ~:o
>
> Kim W5TIT

Maybe. ;-)

5098. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-21 23:52:44 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a00hsu01mn7@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28146

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C239257.44DC590B@earthlink.net...
> > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was legally > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
>
> That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official. If his support is a moot

Bullshit! The only thing that needed to be said in the capacity as an FCC official is whether or not the callsign was legal. Anything additional is personal opinion.

> point, why did Kim feel it necessary to seek it?

I don't know. Why don't you ask HER?

5099. Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 00:19:07 UTC
From: otis brasfield <otis@nts-online.net>
Message-ID: <u27kadnc749761@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 28145
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

DEAR SIR
YES, YOU CAN BE A FREEBANDER AND I FOR ONE AM GLAD THAT YOU ARE. BECAUSE THERE MANY PLACES YOU CAN GO AND FREEBAND. I CAN RECOMMEND A FEW. SUCH AS ALL THE PHONY GOD SALESMEN ON THE 40 METER HAM BAND THEY NEED A KICK TO ANOTHER LIFE. THEN THERE ARE ALL THE LIBERAL NEWS AGENCIES FREQS THAT NEED TO BE JAMMED, WHEN THEY SPOUT THEIR TRASH. AND THE LIST GOES ON AND ON. SO DON'T FEEL PERSECUTED, FEEL GOOD YOU AND YOUR MERRY BAND OF EQUAL JAMES ARE DOING A PUBLIC SERVICE. AND NEED TO BE COMMENDED. THE GOVT FREQ. ALSO NEED TO BE JAMMED SUCH AS THE ARMED FORCES BECAUSE THEY ARE LYING ABOUT THEIR INVOLVEMENT IN THE AFGHANI WORLD. ALL THE LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES SHOULD NOT BE LEFT OUT, THEY TOO NEED JAMMING. SO KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK AND MAYBE YOU WILL BE VISITED BY OUR FRIENDLY FCC WHO WILL REWARD FOR YOUR GOOD WORKS.
MERRY XMAS

"Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message news:e9de0154.0112201318.115c1d6@posting.google.com...
> "Why? Simple. I am an outlaw CBer. You have spoken out against me one > too many times. If life were ideal I could simply shut you up like I > do on the freeband by cranking up my big box (just kidding). But this > is less than ideal so I have to tolerate you and your hammie pals. I > am disgusted by your rule-following, goody-two-shoes holier-than-thou > attitude towards radio, Lelnad. Rules are going to be broken and I am > going to freeband and that is all there is to it. I will continue to > promote illegal CB because I can. Anarchy of the airwaves is where we > are headed and you can't come to terms with it, can you? Too bad but > 28.085 is just the beginning and it irritates you doesn't it? I am > glad, now go back to your kennel with dogie and the rest and lap your > wounds"

5100. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 00:39:57 UTC
From: Kamatu <admin@ahww.net>
Message-ID: <a00lrg0l53@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28149

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c23b64e_1@newsa.ev1.net...

<snippity-do-dah>

> Didn't mean to imply that, and sorry you took it that way. What I mean
by > what I said is: don't get into ham radio if you are going to allow yourself
> to be affected so much by some of the crap you may hear, and some of the > creeps you may meet, etc. They're all there--the good and the bad. The > idea with ham radio is the same as with life in general. You choose what > you wish, and choose the mountains you wish to climb. The stuff you don't > like? Shrug your shoulders. It's big enough for everyone.
>
> Kim W5TIT
>

Gotcha.

5101. Re: FS: Hitler's Toothpick

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 00:55:40 UTC
From: "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com>
Message-ID: <3C23D9F9.99473DAA@hotSPAMmail.com>
Source record: 28147
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.antiques,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Scott Unit 69 wrote:
>
> "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:<3C232CA6.234D028D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> > Train wrote:
> > >
> > > Your first clue should be that the thread is crossposted
> >
> > The second is that it came from google.com.
> >
> > The third clue is the posting IP: It came from AOL.
>
> The fourth clue is that it got me running all over Usenet like a sissy
> trying to disclaim it!

That's bullshit and you know it. A simple traceroute will tell you loads of information. Just because you don't know simple computer stuff doesn't mean the rest are naive about this.

Even quicker then TRACEROUTE is NSLOOKUP:

Name: spider-ta023.proxy.aol.com
Address: 152.163.205.53

For those of us using real browsers and real internet connections, the standard four line headers show Google for organization.

5102. Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 01:19:27 UTC
From: John P Vassel <john@vassel.net>
Message-ID: <3c23df9f$0$37104$2c3e98f8@news.voyager.net>
Source record: 28150
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"otis brasfield" <otis@nts-online.net> wrote in news:u27kadnc749761@corp.supernews.com:

> DEAR SIR
> YES, YOU CAN BE A FREEBANDER AND I FOR ONE AM GLAD THAT YOU ARE.
> BECAUSE THERE MANY PLACES YOU CAN GO AND FREEBAND. I CAN RECOMMEND A > FEW. SUCH AS ALL THE PHONY GOD SALESMEN ON THE 40 METER HAM BAND THEY > NEED A KICK TO ANOTHER LIFE. THEN THERE ARE ALL THE LIBERAL NEWS > AGENCIES FREQS THAT NEED TO BE JAMMED, WHEN THEY SPOUT THEIR TRASH. AND > THE LIST GOES ON AND ON. SO DON'T FEEL PERSECUTED, FEEL GOOD YOU AND > YOUR MERRY BAND OF EQUAL JAMES ARE DOING A PUBLIC SERVICE. AND NEED TO > BE COMMENDED. THE GOVT FREQ. ALSO NEED TO BE JAMMED SUCH AS THE ARMED > FORCES BECAUSE THEY ARE LYING ABOUT THEIR INVOLVEMENT IN THE AFGHANI > WORLD. ALL THE LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES SHOULD NOT BE LEFT OUT, THEY > TOO NEED JAMMING. SO KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK AND MAYBE YOU WILL BE > VISITED BY OUR FRIENDLY FCC WHO WILL REWARD FOR YOUR GOOD WORKS. MERRY > XMAS
>
>

<Plonk>

5103. Re: Question for Beer Experts

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 01:21:44 UTC
From: MrUniverse <bunko70@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <u27ns77qg4ksee@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 28148
Cross-posted to: alt.beer,rec.food.drink.beer,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

BOL :-D

"ZOOM" <kandrparker@sympatico.ca> wrote in message news:sjzU7.34321$x25.3634639@news20.bellglobal.com...
> Do you actually have a job?
> Someone told me you make frenchfries and your boss is 18yrs old.
> Is this true?
> Someday you might get promoted to assembler where you put the hamburgers > together.
> Way to reach your goals!
>
>
> Twistedhed <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message > news:e9de0154.0112201933.77397e3f@posting.google.com...
> > "A few months ago I was out on my boat drinking Malt Liquor and not my > > usual Miller Genuine Draft. After a while I became quite dizzy and hit > > my head on the gunwale. Not long after that I decided to get on my > > illegal CB and listen on the "freeband". There I heard a man who > > identified himself as being from a flying saucer. It sounded very real > > to me. So real that I am still convinced I had an authentic encounter.
> > My question is, is this kind of thing normal with malt liquor?"
> >
> > "Please email me your thoughts. I have a very elaborate anti-spam > > guard so you need to add a @ where the _ is in my addy and put a .
> > after the tv and drop the subdimension.com altogether"
> >
> > Thank You,
> >
> > Twistedhed
> > Oldsmar, FLA
>
>

5104. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 01:27:39 UTC
From: Your Friend Bill <"Remove The NO In The Reply Address"@coqui.net> Message-ID: <3C23E18B.B971CE51@coqui.net>
Source record: 28051
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Woger Wussman wrote:
>
> On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 22:10:15 -0500, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote:
> >
> > "Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:9vts89$f8j$0@pita.alt.net...
> > >
> > > On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 17:38:44 -0500, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote:
> > > >
> > > > I've seen better trolls on pencils.
> > > >
> > >
> > > The Jack Daniels was that effective, eh?
> >
> > My, my. Aren't we ignorant of pop culture.
> >
> > FYI, I was referring to the troll dolls that were popular in the 70s. They
>
> I see. Pop culture, according to you, is something that happened 20 or > more years ago. The rest of us think of pop culture as something a bit > more current -- say something going on now.
>
> Being in a time warp must be confusing to you.

Does this mean they are still selling those little troll-doll pencils?

-Bill

5105. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 01:45:01 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <yuRU7.10753$BX4.940960@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 28053
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

See below for comments.
Josey Wales <nothanks@nospam.com> wrote in message
news:yNPU7.4707$_f.114138@dfw-read.news.verio.net...
> That's correct. If you refuse, they can get a warrant and detain you if
it > takes 12 hours to get it if they want. They will likely then tear your car
> apart looking for drugs, not reassemble it for you of course, while a drug > dog is turned loose inside and outside your car with his claws scratching > the shit out of your paint job. Don't be so naive as to think they can't > ruin their day in any number of ways. Refuse a search and it's assumed
you > have something to hide. You do have rights but there are ways too numerous > to mention how they can make your day a real bitch.

I am asking a question here, so don't think I am being smarty, OK? If an officer
"suspects" you of something and tears up your vehicle, paint, upholstery, etc., if he finds nothing, wouldn't there be recourse for the owner of the vehicle for damage of the vehicle.
That would seem most unfair to be able to rip up someone's car on
"suspicion".

> I witnessed a South Carolina State Patrol Officer chamber a round in a 12 > gauge shotgun, ram it (and I mean ram) in the stomach of a fat, greasy > looking truck driver because he was mouthing off as he was asked to step > down from his cab. Needless to say, the driver shut the fuck up and said > more "yes sirs" then he probably ever had previously in his life. Go ahead > and tell them your rights, just be prepared for the consequences because > they know them better than most motorists do.

I don't muck with SC Highway Patrol troopers. Them 'ere boys invented the phrase, "Y'all in a heap o' trouble, boy, ya heah me?" I must say that, in my own experience, SCHP is the most unprofessional, untrained, uncouth, smart-mouthed bunch of pot bellied yahoos I have ever encountered. And the nationally televised clip of the SC trooper dragging a frightened woman out of her car while screaming obscenities and spitting like a mad dog PROVES it! I try to stay out of SC

if I can.
LMAO!

Jerry
>
>
> tw��,.., <.tw,@nothomeexcite5,yahoomsnATTBI.org.com> wrote in message
> news:YNnU7.13583$NM4.3197237@rwcrnsc53...
> > X-No-Archive: yes
> >
> > "Peter H. Proctor" <pproctor@neosoft.com> wrote in message
> >
news:336D1D3074E71BF6.7E14ED6979DC6C7D.F2352BD3BE528AB0@lp.airnews.net...
> > > Not that simple. Having stopped a car under "reasonable
> > suspicion",
> > > LEO's can search the area under control of the driver or a passenger
for > > > weapons. The legal theory is that the safety of the officer allows for
> a > > > specific exemption to 4th amendment protections. If, incidental to
> this
> > > search, they find contraband, this is admissible as evidence.
> > > Admittedly, as a practical matter, this is all a legal fiction
> > that > > > allows officers to search when and where. But it still means there
> > are > > > some limitations. E.g., LEO's cannot search a locked container, which > > gives > > > an "expectation of privacy". Similarly, a local judge once threw out > > > contraband found in a metal Bandaid box after a defense attorney pointed > > out > > > that it was too small to have held any weapon and thus should not have > > been > > > opened.
> >
> >
> > Here in Texas, a LEO can not search a car at all unless granted by the > > driver of the vehicle or a search warrant.
> >
> >
>
>

5106. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 01:47:09 UTC
From: W6DKN <w6dkn@qsl.net>
Message-ID: <xCRU7.1634$7a5.571922@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28052
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C2392FD.9BADB903@gte.net...

> <<< SNIP >>>
> And all we wanted was something to wear while hunting
> (a buddy just was shot in a hunting accident, it makes good > sense to wear body armor out there).
>

It makes more sense to choose your hunting partners carefully ... :>)

Besides, short of hard body armor (military hard panel insert stuff) none of the stuff you find in a cop shop will stop any of the typical hunting rifle rounds. Threat Level III soft armor (still pretty bulky) is only rated up to .44 mag pistol and 00 buck.

73 de W6DKN

5107. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 01:58:41 UTC
From: W6DKN <w6dkn@qsl.net>
Message-ID: <INRU7.1673$7a5.578930@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28055
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C23BDED.1564320F@gte.net...

> <<< SNIP >>>
> Unfortunately Kevin shot himself. We have > three deer season: bow, muzzle loader,
> and shotgun. Kevin had his blackpowder
> rifle plus a blackpowder pistol for backup.
> The pistol had worked lose in the holster
> and when he went to get up, it slipped out
> and discharged when it hit the ground (I > know, it sounds really weird). As I said,
> he lost a lung and about 4/5 of his blood.
> He is damned lucky to be alive.

Since very few (if any) black powder pistols have any type of hammer block safety, knowledgeable shooters always carry in the field with the hammer resting on an empty cylinder. Percussion caps can self-ignite from static electricity alone... Even in the "cowboy days" with the good old SAA's, it was common practice to carry with the hammer down on an empty cylinder.

73 de W6DKN

5108. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 01:59:02 UTC
From: Patrick Keele <pkg1dra@g1dra.freeserve.co.uk>
Message-ID: <a02hkm$39e$1@news7.svr.pol.co.uk>
Source record: 28191
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

WHY do you use that STUPID word "MINDSET"?What the hell is a MINDSET?Do you mean it's how someone thinks?Can i buy this "mindset" in a store or shop???why don't you speak PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH??????????

I am british and i am SICK of the british using and picking up STUPID americanisms in the uk! WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!

MOST cbers as you call them in the uk who use SSB/AM ARE criminals and often get caught to.Any bad reputation the cb fraternity have is mainly due to their own illegal operations and behaviour.you REAP what you SOW!

PK

5109. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 02:09:11 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c23ec32_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28054

"Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message
news:yuRU7.10753$BX4.940960@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
> See below for comments.
> Josey Wales <nothanks@nospam.com> wrote in message
> news:yNPU7.4707$_f.114138@dfw-read.news.verio.net...
> > That's correct. If you refuse, they can get a warrant and detain you if
> it > > takes 12 hours to get it if they want. They will likely then tear your > car > > apart looking for drugs, not reassemble it for you of course, while a drug > > dog is turned loose inside and outside your car with his claws scratching > > the shit out of your paint job. Don't be so naive as to think they can't > > ruin their day in any number of ways. Refuse a search and it's assumed
> you > > have something to hide. You do have rights but there are ways too > numerous > > to mention how they can make your day a real bitch.
>
> I am asking a question here, so don't think I am being smarty, OK? If an > officer
> "suspects" you of something and tears up your vehicle, paint, upholstery,
> etc., if he > finds nothing, wouldn't there be recourse for the owner of the vehicle for > damage of the vehicle.
> That would seem most unfair to be able to rip up someone's car on > "suspicion".
>

I've witnessed two occasions where, in one, an apartment of some friends of my brother was torn apart in a "drug raid." Every single box of whatever was turned upside down and dumped in the middle of the kitchen floor, speaker grills on the stereo were cut, sofa cushions and back were cut, all furniture was tossed every which way, framed pictures yanked (yes, yanked) off the walls and paper backing torn off...and on and on. By the time the cops were done, the apartment looked worse than any vandals could ever have hoped, the cops were empty-handed (turned out it was tenant wars--the upstairs tenants had called with "suspicion" that there was drug dealing going on because they were mad at the volume of the stereo) and not even an apology was uttered as they went out the door. There were about 7-8 of them and I guarantee you that every neighbor and visitor around there had their chins hanging to the ground in literal shock. There was no recoourse for these people to have anything cleaned, replaced, or repaired.

In another, a car's seats and headliner were cut open for the same thing. Again, nothing found, no apology, no repairs.

"There are ways" bad cops will force compliance with their wishes. "There are ways" you'd wish there was something for you to get busted for--the court costs and attorney fees are a lot cheaper than replacing personal property. One of the satirical laughs we used to come up with was "for god's sake, keep some weed around so we can give it to them when they crash in through the front door!"

Kim W5TIT

5110. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 02:25:11 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a00qqp0tet@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28060
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
news:a00kelhmn0@pita.alt.net...
> I see. Pop culture, according to you, is something that happened 20 or > more years ago. The rest of us think of pop culture as something a bit

Us? You and who else? Did you take a poll to find out what find out what everyone else thinks?

5111. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 02:37:14 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221213714.05517.00000126@mb-de.aol.com>
Source record: 28056

>And So are you SSB, Hey fellas in the amateur NG... Meet the new breed of >Ham his name is SSB, maybe you recognize his numbers on the CB 151.
> He went from Illegal CB Keyclown to Extra Class all in about 6 months. He >now takes his freebanding Illegal skills to a HF band near you. Say Hello

I think they've already met, George. Glad you could join us. BTW...hello.

Mark

5112. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 02:40:29 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221214029.05517.00000127@mb-de.aol.com>
Source record: 28057

>Dick, I would expect anything different from you hang in rec.radio.CB >lending your expertise to the illegal there.

The trick is to use that "expertise" to turn them on to the ham bands...legally! Dick has done this and has thus "made a difference." What've you done lately to make a difference, George?

Mark

5113. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 02:42:22 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221214222.05517.00000128@mb-de.aol.com>
Source record: 28058

>> ... Hey fellas in the amateur NG... Meet the new breed of Ham ...
>> ..He went from Illegal CB Keyclown to Extra Class all in about 6 months.
>
>Great! If we could get the rest of them to do the same we'd have mucho >more political power.
>
>I invite anyone with a wide-band receive rig to listen on the freq's >just above CB where the "Hi-banders" congregate. I did, and as far as I >can tell, these are serious CB hobbiests - criminals only because >they're operating in the wrong bands. So fight crime: convert them to >hams!
>My $.02
>Merry Christmas to all
>KA3DWW

Worth much more than $.02. Thanks and Merry Christmas to you too. Take care and 73.

Mark

5114. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 02:48:18 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221214818.05517.00000131@mb-de.aol.com>
Source record: 28059

>Here are some numbers to think about. These are the number of unexpired FCC >ARS licenses held by individuals on the dates listed:
>
>As of May 14, 2000:
>
>Novice - 49,329
>Tech - 205,394
>Tech Plus - 128,860
>General - 112,677
>Advanced - 99,782
>Extra - 78,750
>Total - 674,792
>
>Total Novice/Tech/Tech Plus: 383,583
>
>Total General/Advanced/Extra: 291,209

I've got a question, Jim. Perhaps you might know the answer. What happens to the Advanced licensees when they renew? Can one retain his/her Advanced ticket indefinitely? Just curious. Take care and 73.

Mark

5115. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 02:51:11 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221215111.05517.00000132@mb-de.aol.com>
Source record: 28061

>>> Advanced - 86,617 (decrease of 13,165)
>>
>>less than 87% of previous
>
>Similar situation to Tech Plus but renewals stay Advanced

I think this answers it. Thanks and 73, Jim.

Mark

5116. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 02:57:07 UTC
From: Martin <mdwade@mobiletelZ.com>
Message-ID: <3C23F682.26F8@mobiletelZ.com>
Source record: 28062

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message
> news:yuRU7.10753$BX4.940960@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
> > See below for comments.
> > Josey Wales <nothanks@nospam.com> wrote in message
> > news:yNPU7.4707$_f.114138@dfw-read.news.verio.net...
> > > That's correct. If you refuse, they can get a warrant and detain you if
> > it > > > takes 12 hours to get it if they want. They will likely then tear your > > car
> > > apart looking for drugs, not reassemble it for you of course, while a > drug
> > > dog is turned loose inside and outside your car with his claws
> scratching
> > > the shit out of your paint job. Don't be so naive as to think they > can't > > > ruin their day in any number of ways. Refuse a search and it's assumed
> > you > > > have something to hide. You do have rights but there are ways too > > numerous > > > to mention how they can make your day a real bitch.
> >
> > I am asking a question here, so don't think I am being smarty, OK? If an > > officer
> > "suspects" you of something and tears up your vehicle, paint, upholstery,
> > etc., if he > > finds nothing, wouldn't there be recourse for the owner of the vehicle for > > damage of the vehicle.
> > That would seem most unfair to be able to rip up someone's car on > > "suspicion".
> >
>
> I've witnessed two occasions where, in one, an apartment of some friends of > my brother was torn apart in a "drug raid." Every single box of whatever > was turned upside down and dumped in the middle of the kitchen floor, > speaker grills on the stereo were cut, sofa cushions and back were cut, all > furniture was tossed every which way, framed pictures yanked (yes, yanked) > off the walls and paper backing torn off...and on and on. By the time the > cops were done, the apartment looked worse than any vandals could ever have > hoped, the cops were empty-handed (turned out it was tenant wars--the > upstairs tenants had called with "suspicion" that there was drug dealing > going on because they were mad at the volume of the stereo) and not even an > apology was uttered as they went out the door. There were about 7-8 of them > and I guarantee you that every neighbor and visitor around there had their > chins hanging to the ground in literal shock. There was no recoourse for > these people to have anything cleaned, replaced, or repaired.

>
> In another, a car's seats and headliner were cut open for the same thing.
> Again, nothing found, no apology, no repairs.
>
> "There are ways" bad cops will force compliance with their wishes. "There > are ways" you'd wish there was something for you to get busted for--the > court costs and attorney fees are a lot cheaper than replacing personal > property. One of the satirical laughs we used to come up with was "for > god's sake, keep some weed around so we can give it to them when they crash > in through the front door!"
>
> Kim W5TIT

Did you watch the Dateline story on Louisiana a few years back about car searches at the border? Several agencies had to repair several cars and undo a lot of damage. Don't find anything in Louisiana, you had better be willing to explain to the Judge (the officer requesting the search) why you had your suspecions about the search. Louisiana Internal Affairs (State Police Unit) is curious also and doesn't like being made a fool of, especially on national tv. Usually the Drug Dog has just wee'd itself before the request is aired, else
a no-show gets hard to explain.

5117. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 02:59:37 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221215937.05517.00000137@mb-de.aol.com>
Source record: 28063

>On what basis would the FCC have to retain even the 5wpm code >test if/when the ITU requirement goes away? If you can't >articulate a clear and compelling reason to retain code
>now except for the treaty requirement, then on what basis >would you argue for its retention?
>
>Cheers,
>Bill K2UNK

The same as the Russians, Bill. Because it's a fundamental "discipline" of amateur radio and as such, should be learnt. Even at the most elementary level. Take care and 73.

Mark

5118. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 03:23:05 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011221222305.05517.00000145@mb-de.aol.com>
Source record: 28064

>We're talking about licensing requirements ... that's PURELY a >regulatory function. "Tradition" has NOTHING to do with legitimate >regulatory goals ... it's not the FCC's job to preserve amateur
>"tradition" ... the FCC's job is to regulate the use of the spectrum >in the public interest. End of story.

Perhaps, but you can now be licensed without having to show "Morse proficiency." The requirement of demonstrating a very traditional "discipline" in order to "earn" additional privileges seems to be very much in the public interest. Do you really think it's a "regulatory function" we're talking about?

>Standards, shmandards ... the "keep Morse forever" crowd has >three basic motivations 1) "I had to do it, so everyone else should, >too."; 2) fear that, if everyone else is not forced to learn Morse, >not enough will choose to learn and use it and their source of contacts >will dry up; and 3) the misguided goal of keeping "outsiders" from >using "their" bands. All 3 of those are pure rubbish.

...and the motivations of those who wish to remove the code requirement entirely are? I guess you said it best..."Standards, shmandards..."

>Yes, the new Extra pool is done and must be used by June 1, 2002.
>My understanding is that the intent of the QPC was to make it more >modern and comprehensive.

I just hope they'll keep the code requirement at 5 w.p.m., it's the "least" they can do.

Mark

5119. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 03:36:35 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <7dTU7.355$2B.161836@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28065
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

```
: > <<< SNIP >>>
: > Unfortunately Kevin shot himself. We have
: > three deer season: bow, muzzle loader,
: > and shotgun. Kevin had his blackpowder
: > rifle plus a blackpowder pistol for backup.
: > The pistol had worked lose in the holster
: > and when he went to get up, it slipped out
: > and discharged when it hit the ground (I
: > know, it sounds really weird). As I said,
: > he lost a lung and about 4/5 of his blood.
: > He is damned lucky to be alive.
:
: Since very few (if any) black powder pistols have any type of hammer block
: safety, knowledgeable shooters always carry in the field with the hammer
: resting on an empty cylinder. Percussion caps can self-ignite from static : electricity alone... Even in the "cowboy days" with the good old SAA's, it : was common practice to carry with the hammer down on an empty cylinder.
:
: 73 de W6DKN

It was a single shot black powder pistol, not a revolver. Had he had a revolver, it might have been better. This was a hunting gun which he used to get a second shot if needed.
```

5120. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 03:39:44 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <4gTU7.357$2B.162422@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28068
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

: > <<< SNIP >>>
: > And all we wanted was something to wear while hunting
: > (a buddy just was shot in a hunting accident, it makes good
: > sense to wear body armor out there).
: >
:
: It makes more sense to choose your hunting partners carefully ... :>)
:
: Besides, short of hard body armor (military hard panel insert stuff) none
: of the stuff you find in a cop shop will stop any of the typical hunting
: rifle rounds. Threat Level III soft armor (still pretty bulky) is only : rated up to .44 mag pistol and 00 buck.

My state does not allow center fire rifles.
We only have a bow, black powder and shotgun/pistol seasons. Therefore a 3A vest might do. For high power rifle, yes you would need a Class 4 vest.

5121. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 03:42:54 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C24013E.AC871766@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28066

Dick Carroll wrote:
> So since Riley answered an exact question directed to him by the > principal seeking his opininion, not Federal law which she aready knew, > and he honestly answered it with his personal opinion, you now pronounce > him a prude simply because his opinion doesn't match your sleazy > opinion. Right, we got it.

Yep, you got it all right. I have a lot less respect for him now than I did before.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5122. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 03:44:54 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2401B6.E38FD6DD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28067

Dick Carroll wrote:
> > That is exactly
> > the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal > > opinion while in an ARRL position.
>
> That is NOT what he said to Ed.

He said Ed's opinion could not be taken seriously because he worked for the ARRL. Using the identical logic, Riley's opinion cannot be taken seriously because he works for the FCC.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5123. Re: FS: Hitler's Toothpick

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 03:56:30 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net>
Message-ID: <OvTU7.7059$x72.2277881967@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 28069
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.antiques,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Not really any that matter Scott. It's the same BS
that our little buddy was doing a few months back
To all that's concerned, for a year or more now
we have had a few resident trolls on rec.radio.cb.
They were using MIBX until after months of complaints he was terminated. It seems as though he is back from prep school, for Christmas vacation stirring the pot.

Landshark

--
Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message
news:20011221204335.191$hs@newsreader.com...
> gayillegalscott69@hotmail.com (Scott Unit 69) wrote:
> > "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
> > news:<3C232CA6.234D028D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> > > Train wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Your first clue should be that the thread is crossposted
> > >
> > > The second is that it came from google.com.
> > >
> > > The third clue is the posting IP: It came from AOL.
> >
> > The fourth clue is that it got me running all over Usenet like a sissy > > trying to disclaim it!
> >
> That's it,Im gonna try to killfile the entire google domain now,new 'puter > and reader, and it need to be done. Apologies to a few google posters(not > very many)...
>
> --
> ~Moparholic~

5124. Re: FS: Hitler's Toothpick

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 03:56:31 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net>
Message-ID: <PvTU7.7060$G72.2277891258@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 28070
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.antiques,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Another alias for the kill filed, for my little friend at AOL.

Landshark

--
Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All

"Scott Unit 69" <gayillegalscott69@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:4303d5a2.0112211215.26f87e63@posting.google.com...
> "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:<3C232CA6.234D028D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> > Train wrote:
> > >
> > > Your first clue should be that the thread is crossposted
> >
> > The second is that it came from google.com.
> >
> > The third clue is the posting IP: It came from AOL.
>
> The fourth clue is that it got me running all over Usenet like a sissy
> trying to disclaim it!

5125. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:16:40 UTC
From: Patrick Keele <pkg1dra@g1dra.freeserve.co.uk>
Message-ID: <a02pmn$7c7$1@news5.svr.pol.co.uk>
Source record: 28207
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Richard Clark <kb7qhc@attbi.com> wrote in message
news:e0p92uce6r4lfje4ea241av3t6pg0t9m4g@4ax.com...
> On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 17:59:02 -0800, "Patrick Keele" > <pkg1dra@g1dra.freeserve.co.uk> wrote:
>
> >WHY do you use that STUPID word "MINDSET"?What the hell is a MINDSET?Do
you > >mean it's how someone thinks?Can i buy this "mindset" in a store or > >shop???why don't you speak PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH??????????
> >
> >I am british and i am SICK of the british using and picking up STUPID
> >americanisms in the uk! WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another > >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
> >
> >MOST cbers as you call them in the uk who use SSB/AM ARE criminals and often > >get caught to.Any bad reputation the cb fraternity have is mainly due to > >their own illegal operations and behaviour.you REAP what you SOW!
> >
> >PK
> >
>
> Hi All,
>
> The origins of English are found in the both the nordic and romance > languages. That is, English borrows heavily from German and French.
> There is, of course, a considerable amount of Latin (whose roots are > found in India's sanskrit).
>
> >PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH
>
> From the Oxford English Dictionary we find:
> Plain - Old French, plaign, or from French plein, or Latin planum;
> Ordinary - early Old French ordinaire or Latin ordinarious;
> Commonsense - Greek, or Latin sensus communis
> English - Old Teutonic anglisko
>
> >WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another
> >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
>
> Indeed....
> What - Old teutonic hwat (English juggles spelling too)

> Other - Dutch and German ander
> Society - Old French societe
> In - Old High German, Teutonic
> The - Sanskrit tat
> World - Teutonic weorold
> Imports - Latin importare
> Another - see Other, above (English also compounds like german)
> Country's (misspelled above) - Old French contr�e
> Language - French langage and Latin lingua
> To - Old Teutonic ta or Lithuanian da
> Replace - Bingo! No derivation shown.
> its (misspelled above) - Bingo! however original English was hit
> Own - Old Teutonic aigano
> How - Old Norse haug
> Pathetic - Late Latin patheticus
>
> Even the puffery of being Anglo-Saxon relates to the German tribes of > Angles, Saxons and Jutes. Hence our correspondent above barely > qualifies as English literate (at 10% for original English content > with points lost for spelling throughout).
>
> If you want correspondence in original English, from "C�dmon's Hymn"
> Nu sculon herigean heofonrices Weard > Meotodes meahte and his modge�anc > weore Wuldor-F�der swa he wundra gehw�
> ece Drihten or onstealede
> He �rest sceop ielda nearnum
> heofon to hrofe halig Scyppend
> Da middangeard moncynnes Weard
> ece Drihten �fter teode > firum foldan Frea aelmihtig
>
> The split in the stanzas is known as a C�sura, a pacing device, or > pause during recitation.
>
> Perhaps this little piece offers a compelling answer to that pining
> >WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another
> >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
> because the word "modge�anc" means mindset. :-O
>
> 73's
> Richard Clark, KB7QHC

Well,well.Congratulations to an excellent reply to my topic.
Some of my text was composed in haste.10 out of 10 for oginality,or was it composed by cutting and pasting from various dictionaries or one or more thesaurus?:)

PK

5126. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:41:08 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gopxm82.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28071
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 10:02:37 +0000 (UTC), Bill Nelson wrote:

>In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:
>
>> Look for the post by Lenny Stover. He is a police >> officer and pointed out that he has the right, backed >> by the USSC, to inspect everything that is in car.
>
>Officers have been wrong before - which is why evidence from searches >is sometimes ruled inadmissable.

And why many jurisdictions (used to) have Deputy DAs ride around with patrol officers to make those calls. My kid brother (KE7DX) did that (as a DA) for several years in Phoenix. Made his "day" job easier, too.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5127. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:41:09 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gopxpv4.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28074
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 04:20:03 GMT, N9NWO wrote:

>:
>: >Like my Lieutenant used to say, "If you aint catching no beefs, you aint >: >doin your job."
>:
>: Mine used to say "Do not under any circumstances embarrass the >: department by doing stupid things". Even if the complaint was >: no-merit, you caught hell from him if he felt (as he usually did)
>: that you could have handled it so as to avoid the situation.
>:
>: He wasn't called "Iron-A Bailey" for nothing.
>
>Phil, you are now an attorney, where formerly >a federal agent. Lenny is a street cop. He does >not have the level of support that you had.

The above took place while I was a street cop - Los Angeles
Sheriff's Office, in a minority-ghetto area - a good 10 years before
I joined the Feds.

>Hell, in Chicago the locals in some neighborhoods >would beat up the fire fighters and EMTs when >they showed up. Then file complaints because >they were not properly served!
>
>And the mayor, that great democrat, of Chicago >has yet to settle with the police so that they can >get a pay raise.

Chi-town lives up to its reputation.....

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5128. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:41:12 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gopxz45.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28072
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 03:45:12 GMT, N9NWO wrote:

>I suggest that you become familiar with the issues over APCO 25 >standards for digital trunked radio. The main purpose is to prevent >private citizens from receiving ANY public radio transmission. As I >am a member of APCO, I have had conversations with individuals who run >public safety radio systems. Their one big goal is to have an >digitally encrypted system that no one, not even the media, will be >able to receive without their permission.

Sheeeesh....none of my (Northern California) APCO colleagues have expressed that concern. Their major concerns are over reliability and coverage of communications in difficult terrain and inter-system operability and they don't look to APCO 25 as the final answer. Several have tried and were underwhelmed by The Big Em's product.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5129. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:41:13 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gopy6x6.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28075
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 10:25:02 -0500, Krell wrote:

>I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
>that has been writing about the same subject for quite some time - keeping >modern technology in the hands of private corporations and out of the hands >of the public.

The credibility of "2600" is expressed by the last two digits in its name.

If you want more, read the DMCA of 1998. It's basically made >it illegal to take something apart to see how it works.

A good friend of mine who is a high-up lawyer with the Motion Picture Association of America has convinced me that the techno pirates brought such draconian laws upon themselves.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5130. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:42:09 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@bitbucket73.com>
Message-ID: <#$MIxKqiBHA.1524@cpimsnntpa02>
Source record: 28073

K4YZ says:

> All a police officer has to do is see what s/he perceives to be > a two-way radio antenna and then find some other legitimate > excuse to stop you and "poof"...They have you.

Poof, they have me for what? I can have a whole car full of radios, 37 antennas on the roof, no license, and not an FCC "acceptance" sticker in sight, and I haven't broken a single law, even in Tacoma.

The violation is for use, not for possession. What a bunch of wannabe Deputy Phyfes!

Search away, Sarge.

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

5131. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:44:56 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C240FAD.C73ADB5D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28076

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > Krell wrote:
> > > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was legally > > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
> >
> > That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official.
>
> Too bad Riley's official opinion carries such little weight at the FCC.

Glad we've found some common ground. I think so too.

Dave K8MN
```

5132. Re: .

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:47:41 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011221234741.13039.00001422@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28078

In article <3c2358c6_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>>
>> Another one of the things that make me go "Hmmm..."
>>
>>
>>
>
>Hmmmm, vibrating more microphones, eh?
>
>Kim W5TIT

Kim:

I have a bad code in my dose, thad's aboud the only sound
I can make!

73 de Larry, K3LT

5133. Re: .

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:47:41 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011221234741.13039.00001421@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28080

In article <20011220114848.09658.00001060@mb-fm.aol.com>, k4yz@aol.com (Steve Robeson K4YZ) writes:

>Callsign: N9NWO Class: General Codes: HAI USA
>Name: GREGORY A DEAN
>Addr1: PO BOX 2121
>Addr2: WEST LAFAYETTE, IN 47996-2121
>Country: USA
>Effective: 15 Jul 2000 Expires: 21 Jan 2002 Online Renewals...
>License ID: L00090874 FRN: 0003005485 What's this?
>Lookups: 163

Steve:

I see now. OM Greg is getting ripped off by having a ham radio license that is good for a mere 17 months and six days. Normal expiration date should have been 14 Jul 2010. Perhaps this was an administrative change of address or something that wouldn't cause an automatic renewal to take place. If he had just chosen a Vanity Call Sign, they would have renewed his ticket and it would have been good for ten years.

Am I warm?

73 de Larry, K3LT

5134. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:47:42 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011221234742.13039.00001423@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28079

In article <3C233E1A.2EF7B7BB@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> Kim is concerned with only one radio amateur -- herself.
>
>Larry, you are concerned with only one radio amateur -- yourself.
>Kim's callsign makes you feel bad. That's why you don't like it.
>If it made you feel good, you wouldn't be bitchin' about it.

Cecil:

Kim's call sign doesn't make me feel bad, but it sure does make her, and all other hams, look bad! That's what I don't like about it. Call signs don't make me feel good or bad. Kim obviously thought her call sign would make her feel good, and this self-serving idea is probably what motivated her to choose it. She wansn't thinking of anyone but herself.

73 de Larry, K3LT

5135. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:47:42 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011221234742.13039.00001424@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28082

In article <3C233EF6.47E675EC@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> I seriously doubt that Riley has any "prudish hangups."
>
>Sorry Larry, Riley has proved he has prudish hangups and I have >lost a lot of respect for him because of that. He offered his >personal opinion while in an FCC position. That is exactly
>the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal >opinion while in an ARRL position. You are a hypocrite.

Cecil:

Don't look now, but I didn't say that. I said that Ed's opinions were, out of the professional necessity of his position as an ARRL HQ employee, to be taken as reflective of official ARRL policy. Therefore, he did not have total freedom to state a position that was substantially out of step with ARRL policy. The fact that he never (that I recall) included any disclaimer stating that his opinions were his and his alone, led me to believe that he was, in fact, acting as an official ARRL spokesperson in this newsgroup. The only thing hypocritical here is your assertion that I am a hypocrite!

73 de Larry, K3LT

5136. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:47:43 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011221234743.13039.00001425@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28083

In article <3c2355fb_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>I don't dismiss at all Riley's opinion. He has every right to it. Do I >think it's more important that anyone else's? No. Do I think it carries >more validity than anyone else's? No. And, I honestly think that >Riley--even disagreeing with my choice of callsigns--is still far more >logical than anyone like you. The BASIS (basis, Dave, not substance) of >Riley's response to me was that the FCC was not "in the business" >(paraphrased, I think) of judging callsigns.

Kim:

That is correct -- the FCC is not in the business of judging call signs. The reason is because, under the Vanity Call Sign program, they trust radio amateurs to have the maturity, good taste, and judgment necessary to select a call sign which is not offensive, demeaning, or insulting to others. If and when a person such as yourself shows up, and requests a call sign with the potential to take the ARS "…one step closer to extinction," they will still issue it, leaving the fallout to land on your head!

>It is not hard at all to deny your lie, Dave. Actually, it probably is not >a lie--it is your illogical, elitist mind telling you things you want to >hear.

Where did Dave lie, Kim? I must have missed that!

73 de Larry, K3LT

5137. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:47:45 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011221234745.13039.00001426@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28085

In article <3c235afa_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>> Dave:
>>
>> Precisely. Kim is concerned with only one radio amateur -- herself.
>>
>
>And whom else should I concern myself with, Larry?

Kim:

If you have to ask that question, you couldn't possibly understand
the answer.

>> The fact that she is deliberately spoiling the image of radio amateurs >> to outsiders means absolutely nothing to her.
>>
>
>Let me suggest the same thing I did to Dave, Larry. If you are so ashamed, >so concerned for your reputation, then leave ham radio.

See -- proof positive that you are incapable of "getting it."

>You want me to >concern myself with other radio amateurs, right? Which ones, Larry? You?
>Dave? Others who agree with you? Or should it be Cecil? Rick? Others who >don't agree with you. Which ones, Larry?

All of us, Kim -- and each and every other radio amateur who could see or hear your call sign, be offended by it, and consequently decide that they can't be bothered to pursue this hobby -- if you are representative of the type of mentality that exists among radio amateurs.

>> Worse, she's doing it
>> in the only place that matters -- on the air -- with her self-serving, >> sexually-suggestive call sign that demeans female hams and women >> in general.
>>
>
>Sorry that you, a male, cannot rise above three letters and get yourself to >recognize a whole callsign, Larry. On the air it sounds like W-5-T-I-T. It >doesn't sound like TIT unless you really, really stretch your >imagination...or have prior experience. In your case, I think it's >imagination. [PS--I got "on the air" two mornings in a row in Dallas this >week. All of about 15 minutes over the past two months. And, none on HF].

Kim, that kind of lame excuse only demonstrates your consistent lack of integrity. When you first appeared on this newsgroup, you were giggling about having chosen your callsign in order to attract attention to your breasts, as a means of expressing your desire to assert your "womanhood" as a ham radio operator, or some such drivel. The suffix of your call sign spells "TIT" because you want other (male) hams to think of you and your breasts -- and, hopefully, be attracted to you physically because of it. You did this to gain power among your fellow hams by having a callsign that gave you instant notoriety, whether or not you were worthy of it.

>> As Riley Hollingsworth said, she has a perfect "right" to >> do this

>And a perfect right it is.

And that "right" is not now, and never has been, at issue.

>> -- but the fact is that in doing so, she runs the risk of taking >> the ARS "...one step closer to extinction."
>
>You know what? I never thought of it before...but, if I have the perfect >right to my callsign, I also have the perfect right to take the ARS "...one >step closer to extinction" don't I? Yeah, I do.

In your own way of thinking, perhaps so. In my way of thinking, you have as much right to take the ARS "…one step closer to extinction" as Al Quieda had in flying those airplanes into the WTC and the Pentagon on 9/11.

>> We don't know what kind >> of damage she has done -- but the potential is there, and is very >> likely to cause some potential ham to be disillusioned.

>Well, that's your opinion. And you have the perfect right to it. My >opinion is that if a callsign can "cause some potential ham to be >disillusioned" then that person needs to just get off the planet.

I see -- sooooo --- if a prospective ham is disillusioned by your call sign, then they can should commit suicide? Wow -- now THAT's kind of severe! I'd bet you'd make a good consort for a member of the Taliban -- but I doubt that they make Burkas in your size!

>> If so, who >> knows who we could have lost -- or did lose! One of the real problems >> here is we'll never know the extent of the damage Kim has done!
>>
>> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>>
>
>None. Not even to you. You've been having fun with this for nearly two >years now. My TIT is obviously the only one you've had to think about.

I have a very intelligent and attractive lady friend, Kim -- but when I think of her, I'm not just thinking about her breasts. If you had it your way, that's all anyone would think about then they thought of you. I think you are the one with the weird obsession.

73 de Larry, K3LT

5138. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:47:46 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011221234746.13039.00001427@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28084

In article <FFD82E29E38266F1.F736BC86DC96F54D.41F6654C0E7A2214@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>>I've got a better idea -- you find me someone at ARRL HQ that will >>flatly deny that the ARS is viewed as a "family-oriented" activity -- >>intended to be passed down from fathers, mothers, uncles, grand>>parents to children, grandchildren, nephews, nieces, etc. etc.
>>Find someone who will state, from a standpoint of their being an >>ARRL official, that the ARS is intended to be a non-"G"-rated, >>over 21, adults-only activity for mature audiences only. If you can,
>>then we'll entertain the notion that I "don't have the vaguest idea" >>what I'm talking about. In the meantime, I'm not too sure you >>do!
>
> I truly hate to burst your bubble, Larry, but to the best of >my knowledge, the ARRL hasn't been named the legal regulatory agency >for the Amateur Radio Service by the government--that responsibility >belongs to the FCC exclusively.

Rick:

Notwithstanding the state of my "bubble," it was/is the ARRL that has made the statements regarding the "family-oriented" nature of the ARS to which I am now responding. It was a prime argument made by ARRL officials who, in spite of the current policy of the ARRL, gave support to the notion of reducing and/or eliminating the code testing requirements in any future proceedings to alter the amateur licensing system. I didn't mention the FCC because the FCC is strictly a regulatory agency of the federal government -- not "The National Organization for Amateur Radio."

> Why should I--or anyone else--care what the ARRL position on >the "family oriented" nature of the ARS is? You and Dick Carroll >certainly didn't credit them with any ability to speak for YOU when it >came to code testing, remember?

I can't speak for Dick, but I, as an ARRL member, consider the policies of that organization to reflect on me, personally, as a U.S. licensed radio amateur. Therefore, the ARRL does indirectly "speak" for me.
I may not agree with what they are saying, but that doesn't stop them from saying it!

>And how am I supposed to find someone >with the ARRL who will make such a statement--we BOTH know that as >soon as anyone with the ARRL states his or her _opinion_, you start >claiming they don't have the right to do so (can you say "Ed Hare?").

They have a perfect right to state their opinions here, as long as they are clearly identified as being the official position of the ARRL -- and that is done simply by identifying themselves as such. Ed Hare never made it any secret that he was the director of the ARRL Lab -- and so he, therefore, speaks as an ARRL official. Ed never even took the simple step of including a disclaimer on his signature line, stating that his opinions were strictly his own, and not those of his employer. Therefore, I had to infer that he was, indeed, speaking in the capacity of an ARRL official.

> You'll have to do better than that, Larry. The ARRL doesn't >speak for everyone in ham radio--it doesn't even speak for all of its >members. It would be JUST as valid to ask a spokesperson for NCI to do >so as it would to ask one from the ARRL.
>
> Rick

Rick, it would have been a lot easier for you to say, "Larry, I'm not going to do that, because you're right!"

73 de Larry, K3LT

5139. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:47:47 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011221234747.13039.00001429@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28077

In article <3c23b68a_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>
>I think that's our point, exactly. Now, the only thing is, in some cases >thought really can make a difference. And, in those cases, it truly is >magical.
>
>Kim W5TIT

Kim:

If you were to come up with a clear, logical, intelligent thought -- that would be magic, indeed!

73 de Larry, K3LT

5140. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:47:47 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011221234747.13039.00001428@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28081

In article <B0998739E8E5FBD2.55FE05509341B310.9C8AA2F135BF89CD@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
> You know, Larry, those are almost exactly the same statements
>a mobile home resident would make if he or she were moving to a house >instead. And since you (as Kim pointed out) view such individuals as >"trailer trash," I'll just point out that at least THEY own the >property they're in--you have exactly the same complaints about yours, >and you don't even have any equity in it of your own. If property >owners are "trash," I can only guess what renters are in your view.
>
> Rick

Rick:

If it makes you feel any better, I own a significant interest in several tracts of commercial property in New York. I simply choose not to live in that state, and I hadn't decided to stay in Delaware permanently until just this past year, when I got my present job. What I don't understand is what this matters to others. My business is my business -- and as long as my business doesn't bring the ARS
"...one step closer to extinction," like Kim's call sign, then get your nose out of it!

73 de Larry, K3LT

5141. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:49:22 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2410B6.8D1A8D40@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28086

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C239257.44DC590B@earthlink.net...
> > Krell wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C22A13A.36CDAB78@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > > The fact remains, Kim set out to enlist Riley as one of her > supporters.
> > > > She didn't like his response, which was 180 degrees from her views and > > > > promptly dismissed it. That is pretty hard to deny.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was > legally > > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
> >
> > That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official. If his support is a moot > > point, why did Kim feel it necessary to seek it?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> I'm running out of crayons here, Dave. At the time the solicitation from > Riley was sought, there was some nitwit (not Larry) who was telling me he > was going to see to it that the FCC would revoke my callsign...blah, blah, > blah. At the same time our resident nitwit (Larry) was just getting stoked > up. So, for both of them, and to the shut the non-resident nitwit up, I > wrote to Riley and asked him about the idea of the FCC revoking a callsign, > in fact the FCC being interested in policing callsigns at all. Riley is, as > you say, an FCC official. His response shut the non-resident nitwit up.
> His response lit a fire under the resident nitwit--and now you.
>
> K?
>
> Got it?
>
> Is it sinking in?
>
> Kim W5TIT
```

We know what was asked. We know what the response was. We know what you did about it. We know that you chose to ignore Riley's advice. That has sunk in. So has the idea that you take anyone who thinks that your choice of a vanity call is in poor taste as a nitwit.

Dave K8MN

5142. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 04:56:04 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a013v1nei1@slb5.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28087

"Mark Pearsal" <radiohead11m@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011221214818.05517.00000131@mb-de.aol.com...
> >Here are some numbers to think about. These are the number of unexpired
FCC
> >ARS licenses held by individuals on the dates listed:
> >
> >As of May 14, 2000:
> >
> >Novice - 49,329
> >Tech - 205,394
> >Tech Plus - 128,860
> >General - 112,677
> >Advanced - 99,782
> >Extra - 78,750
> >Total - 674,792
> >
> >Total Novice/Tech/Tech Plus: 383,583
> >
> >Total General/Advanced/Extra: 291,209
>
> I've got a question, Jim. Perhaps you might know the answer. What happens
to > the Advanced licensees when they renew? Can one retain his/her Advanced ticket > indefinitely? Just curious. Take care and 73.
> Mark

At this time, with the current rules, an Advanced can renew as an Advanced indefinitely. The FCC could change that in the future, but that's the way it is now.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5143. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:01:04 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0144n$4ji$1@nntp9.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28090

"Mark Pearsal" <radiohead11m@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011221222305.05517.00000145@mb-de.aol.com...
> >We're talking about licensing requirements ... that's PURELY a > >regulatory function. "Tradition" has NOTHING to do with legitimate > >regulatory goals ... it's not the FCC's job to preserve amateur
> >"tradition" ... the FCC's job is to regulate the use of the spectrum > >in the public interest. End of story.
>
> Perhaps, but you can now be licensed without having to show "Morse > proficiency." The requirement of demonstrating a very traditional "discipline"
> in order to "earn" additional privileges seems to be very much in the public > interest.

What is that "public interest?" If you can articulate it, you'll be the first to do so.

> Do you really think it's a "regulatory function" we're talking about?

If it isn't a regulatory function, it doesn't belong in the rules.

> >Standards, shmandards ... the "keep Morse forever" crowd has > >three basic motivations 1) "I had to do it, so everyone else should,
> >too."; 2) fear that, if everyone else is not forced to learn Morse,
> >not enough will choose to learn and use it and their source of contacts > >will dry up; and 3) the misguided goal of keeping "outsiders" from > >using "their" bands. All 3 of those are pure rubbish.
>
> ...and the motivations of those who wish to remove the code requirement > entirely are? I guess you said it best..."Standards, shmandards..."

Very simply...there is NO valid, rational or compelling reason anymore to test for code knowledge. The FCC stated the ONLY reason they even retained 5 wpm testing is to stay compliant with the ITU treaty.

> >Yes, the new Extra pool is done and must be used by June 1, 2002.
> >My understanding is that the intent of the QPC was to make it more > >modern and comprehensive.
>
> I just hope they'll keep the code requirement at 5 w.p.m., it's the "least"
> they can do.

WHY? Give the reason you expect will be sufficient to convince the FCC it should be retained.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5144. SHSC

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:01:38 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@bitbucket73.com>
Message-ID: <#5A6pVqiBHA.1380@cpimsnntpa02>
Source record: 28088

The Radio Telegraphy Super High Speed Club was founded on the 20th of march 1982 in association with the HSC and VHSC and was created for every amateur who enjoys high speed telegraphy to provide a stimulating challenge to achieve their highest operating speeds.Active members strive for an optimum discipline in radio telegraphy traffic and also encourage and help other amateurs to use high speed telegraphy to increase their speed.

The club consists of honorary members, active members and shortwave listeners who have all the same rights. The club is open to membership from all countries and language groups.

How to join the SHSC

To become an active member of the SHSC three recommendations must be obtained from other active members. An active member may give a recommendation after a "sponsor QSO" under the following conditions:A recommendation can be made after having a 2-way CW contact with a SHSC member for at least 30 minutes using a telegraphy speed of 250 letters per minute or higher (Paris-base, 50 WPM). Solid copy must be made by the applicant together with excellent keying. Computers, keyboards or decoders are NOT allowed during these contacts. Reception must be done by ear and only a basic electronic keyer may be used to assist with sending. After having 3 recommendations in your possession you can send your application together with 10 IRC's (or equivalent) and a written and signed statement that the applicant did not used any computers, keyboards or decoders during the sponsor QSO's. There is no further payment for life membership. Applications should be addressed to the president of the SHSC:

ON5ME Oscar Verbanck
Pijlijzerlaan 109C
B-8670 OOSTDUINKERKE
BELGIUM

73, de Hans, K0HB

--
(���) 73, de Hans, K0HB

5145. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:02:49 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2413DD.76E2B63F@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28089

Krell wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C239257.44DC590B@earthlink.net...
> > > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was > legally > > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
> >
> > That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official. If his support is a moot
>
> Bullshit! The only thing that needed to be said in the capacity as an FCC > official is whether or not the callsign was legal. Anything additional is > personal opinion.

Bullshit? Is that sort of like, "I beg to disagree"? Riley spoke in his official capacity. He isn't the neighbor, telling Kim over the backyard fence, "I think you're doing a stupid thing here, Kim".

> > point, why did Kim feel it necessary to seek it?
>
> I don't know. Why don't you ask HER?

Because I'm responding to the comments of an anonymous Pittsburgh area type. Kim was hoping for a solid positive response. She didn't get it.

Dave K8MN

5146. Re: The actual Tacoma Law

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:03:15 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222000315.05154.00000526@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 28091

In article <9vu2cb$2ne$1@slb1.atl.mindspring.net>, "Bill Sohl"
<billsohl@mindspring.com> writes:

>The KEY as to any enforcement MUST be PROVING the USE
>in the first place...AND proving the radio is not authorized.

Yup - but in a serious-enough case, it could be done. Proving use is the harder part because I'm sure the FCC could easily and quickly tell Tacoma law enforcement whether a particular piece of equipment is certified for cb use or not.
>
>Good luck...looks like nothing but feel good legislation to >placate one or more complaining residents.
>
It will be interesting to see if any actual enforcement is done by Tacoma.

One has to wonder what sparked the passage of such a law. Were residents experiencing TVI or other problems? Somebody had to have a reaosn to push this through.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5147. Re: Jam the bastards

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:03:17 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222000317.05154.00000527@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 28092

In article <7iOU7.235834$3d2.11322047@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>, "JAMES HAMPTON" <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net> writes:

>Jim, you are right about the AM. He was always using AM. Ummmm ... what >about the 'wet-bottom boys'. I assume he was refering to the WB callsigns >(I'm not sure when the WA2 calls were finished off. My 1st ticket was >WN2CJV, issued in 1962).

Hello again Jim,

I don't think "wet-bottom boys" refers to the WB-prefix hams at all, but that IS a possibility, because 2 land was one of the first to issue those prefixes.

I think he was referring to inexperienced hams. Before the "Great Giveaway" of December 1952, getting on amateur 'phone on the bands between 3 and 25 MHz required an Advanced (formerly called Class A) or Extra class license. Advanced required at least a year's experience as General or Conditional before you could even take the test, and Extra took two years experience. The General and Conditional had no such requirement.

What ol' W2OY was so sore about was the sudden changes that had hit ham radio in the 1950s.

Before those changes, all hams started with the equivalent of a General license. 13 wpm code, sending and receiving, and a pretty tough written that required drawing schematics and maybe even some essay answers. Getting on the really good HF 'phone bands required the Class A ticket, with an even tougher written, experience, etc. And the Class A could not be taken by mail - you had to journey to an exam point to take that test. Exam elements taken by mail did not count for Class A credit - holders of Conditional (old Class C) licenses had to retake and pass the code and written for the General/Class B before they could try the Class A!

Then in '51 came the Novice and Tech licenses, with 5 wpm code. Then the opening of all HF phone to Generals and Conditionals - and the retesting requirement disappeared. Lots of unfamiliar voices began to crowd the 'phone bands.

The Novice license in particular caused the average age of new hams to drop dramatically. Although teenagers and children had gotten licenses before, their numbers radically increased after 1951. The total number of hams grew from about 100,000 in 1950 to about a quarter million in 1963, too. .

Before 1948 or so, "phone" to most hams meant "AM". Although AM is simple in theory, putting a high power AM rig on the air in those days was a complex and expensive proposition. There were very few manufactured rigs on the market that could do AM beyond the 100 watt level, and none that could do 500 watts, let alone the legal limit. The manufactured stuff was so expensive that most 'phone ops homebrewed their transmitters. A kilowatt AM rig usually took up a pair of six foot relay racks and involved some serious investment of time and money. End result was that the big signals on the 'phone bands almost always belonged to hams who had been in the game quite a while.

All that began to change in the '50s. Although hams had been using SSB as far back as the early 1930s, their numbers increased dramatically after 1948 or so. New rigs, many of them kits, dramatically reduced the size and cost of a transmitter, and the time it took to set up a station. It also reduced the resale value and market for AM parts, too. By the early 1960s, legal limit SSB rigs were affordable desktop affairs and the "wet bottom boys" were tearing up the bands with their "Donald Duck" signals.

And ol' Mike wasn't too happy about any of it.

The codetest squabbles of today are nothing compared to the AM vs. SSB battles of that era, or the incentive licensing wars of the 1960s.

73 de Jim, N2EY

>73 from Rochester, NY
>Jim
>
>
>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011220000259.06877.00000587@mb-mj.aol.com...
>> In article <B0bU7.232743$3d2.11125812@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
>> "JAMES HAMPTON" <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net> writes:
>>
>> >You'd have to ask some old timers who >> >were active back in the 60s and before about Mike, W2OY. He was quite a >> >work of art. My understanding is, however, that he was just 'breaking >> >stones' and he was really a decent guy in person. He used to call CQ
>with >> >something like 'CQ CQ, no lids, kids, space cadets or school bus riders.
>No
>> >wet-bottom boys. Only class A operators on this frequency, from W2OY'.
>He
>> >was something.
>>
>> He was ticked because of the Dec. 1952 FCC "privileges giveaway", when >> Conditionals and Generals got full HF 'phone privileges. (Prior to that >time, >> one needed an Advanced or Extra to work 'phone on the ham bands between 3
>and >> 25 MHz).
>>
>> The classic W2OY call was "CQ 75 meter AM phone, no kids, no lids, no >space >> cadets, Class A operators only". Class A was the old name for Advanced,
>"kids"

>> referred to Novices and newcomers, "lids" referred to Generals and >> Conditionals, and "space cadets" referred to SSB ops.
>>
>> 73 de Jim, N2EY

5148. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:04:55 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a014bv$ou0$1@slb7.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28095

"Mark Pearsal" <radiohead11m@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011221215937.05517.00000137@mb-de.aol.com...
> >On what basis would the FCC have to retain even the 5wpm code > >test if/when the ITU requirement goes away? If you can't > >articulate a clear and compelling reason to retain code
> >now except for the treaty requirement, then on what basis > >would you argue for its retention?
> >
> >Cheers,
> >Bill K2UNK
>
> The same as the Russians, Bill. Because it's a fundamental "discipline" of > amateur radio and as such, should be learnt. Even at the most elementary level.

Sorry Mark, it is neither a building block nor is it fundamental in order to understand or do anything further up the technical ladder. If it was, it would be taught to would be engineering students. If it was a fundamental discipline, that would imply one needed that expertise in order to be a good communicator or operator. Thousands of people are excellent operator/communicators and they have zero knowledge of morse code.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5149. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:06:45 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2414CA.1022734D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28094

CAM wrote:
>
> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > > That is exactly
> > > the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal > > > opinion while in an ARRL position.
> >
> > That is NOT what he said to Ed.
>
> He said Ed's opinion could not be taken seriously because he worked > for the ARRL. Using the identical logic, Riley's opinion cannot be > taken seriously because he works for the FCC.

...and yours cannot be taken seriously because you told us so.

Dave K8MN

5150. Freebanders, 1910

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:08:57 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@bitbucket73.com>
Message-ID: <#tSLwZqiBHA.1848@cpimsnntpa02>
Source record: 28093

The Outlook, January 15, 1910, page 131:

THE AMATEUR WIRELESS OPERATOR
BY ROBERT A. MORTON

PRACTICALLY every passenger-carrying steam vessel of any size in American waters, and many freight boats and even tugs, are equipped with wireless telegraphy. Every ship in the American navy, including colliers and revenue cutters, carries wireless operators, and for the purpose of keeping in touch with naval vessels at sea the Navy Department has constructed a line of shore stations reaching from Maine to Alaska.

In the last two years another wireless system has been gradually developing, a system that has far outstripped all others in size and popularity. It is estimated that throughout the United States over four thousand amateur wireless telegraph stations are in active operation. Hundreds of school-boys in every part of the country have taken to this most popular scientific fad, and, by copying the instruments used at the regular stations and constructing apparatus out of all kinds of electrical junk, have built wireless equipments that in some cases approach the naval stations in efficiency. These amateur operators have learned the commercial and naval telegraph codes and are able to receive the Government wireless despatches as accurately and promptly as the naval operators for whom they are intended. Official despatches sent out to naval vessels at sea from the shore stations of the navy become the common property of any amateur who takes the trouble to copy them on paper. Moreover, in some localities, amateur stations have interfered with the reception of Government messages, and have been responsible for long delays in the forwarding of official business. The efficiency of a number of the coastal stations of the navy has been cut in half because of the presence of dozens of small amateur stations.

Boston is the headquarters of some five hundred amateur operators, a number of whom can put the Charlestown Navy-Yard completely out of commission as regards the receiving of messages. A single amateur station of low power can absolutely prevent the reception of wireless messages at this as well as at other naval stations. New York, Washington, and Baltimore have several hundred amateurs each, and a similar line of amateur stations extends along the Pacific coast from California to Alaska. In the interior the amateur forces reach into the thousands. A town of nine hundred inhabitants in upper New York State is the proud possessor of twenty-eight amateur wireless stations. Three electrical publications cater almost exclusively to these operators, and several manufacturers of electrical apparatus advertise wireless instruments for amateurs guaranteed to work up to several hundred miles.

The result of this interest in wireless is the creation of the problem of the so-called amateur interference, a problem which, especially for the Navy Department, has reached threatening proportions.

In a remarkably short interval of time wireless telegraphy has come to exercise an important function in the marine service. By means of the shore stations of the commercial companies, press despatches, storm warnings, weather reports, etc., are regularly transmitted to ships at sea. Captains of vessels keep in touch with each other and with the home office, and reports of wrecks, derelicts, threatening weather, or orders from the company's headquarters are sent over the land telegraph lines to and from the most convenient coastal stations. Every ship operator sends in regular reports, giving the approximate position of the vessel at a certain time, together with any other important information at hand. Thus the position and distance of a ship at sea may be determined at short notice, and, in case of emergency, every vessel within a certain radius may be ordered to hurry to the assistance of the ship in distress.

In addition to the naval stations on board ship, a large number of naval shore stations are in operation at the principal navy-yards, forts, and lighthouses on both sides of the continent. These stations are supposed to keep in touch with naval vessels in the vicinity, to send out weather reports, receive official messages from all ships, handle the routine business of the department, and to be ready for any cases of emergency. The naval wireless system is thus a distinct part of the National defense, and no efforts should be spared to keep the equipment thoroughly modern and efficient.

Every consideration, therefore, points to the conclusion that any needless interference with, or interruption of, wireless communication is directed against public safety and National organization.

During the anxious hours that followed the collision between the Republic and the Florida, last January, the naval stations at Portsmouth, Charlestown, and Newport were often incapacitated through the working of amateur stations. Later, when the revenue cutters were standing by the Republic, communication with the land was at times entirely cut off for the same reason. Again and again the naval operators explained the situation and requested the amateurs not to use their instruments. Regardless of the warning, the interference continued, a number of the amateurs carrying on private conversations for hours.

The sinking of the steamship Horatio Hall was attended by similar circumstances. No sooner had the emergency call been sent out from that vessel than dozens of amateur operators started up their apparatus. Requests from the naval stations were treated with indifference, some of the amateurs even arguing with the navy men over the ownership of the ether. That the thoughtless and even malicious interference of the amateurs did not have serious results was a fortunate accident.

In order to appreciate fully the amateur question, it will be necessary to get a clear idea of the scientific meaning of the term "interference." Wireless messages are radiated through space in the form of electric waves or vibrations in the ether. Each dot and dash, representing a character in the telegraph code, is made up of thousands of electromagnetic waves that originate at the transmitting apparatus and fly off in every direction with the velocity of light, or 186,000 miles per second. The sending station contains instruments for the artificial production of these waves, while the receiving station must have apparatus sensitive enough to detect the presence of the waves, and to convert the energy received into intelligible signals. The familiar analogy of the motion of a wave in water may serve to illustrate the propagation of a vibratory disturbance in the ether. When a stone is thrown into the water, a series of ripples gradually spread outward in the form of circles. As the ripples leave the center of the original disturbance farther and farther behind, their strength diminishes until finally they fade away completely. It is clear that a chip of wood placed close to the center of the circle will be more violently agitated than a similar chip placed at a greater distance where the waves are correspondingly weaker.

In much the same way, the electro-magnetic waves spread out in all directions from the aerial of a wireless telegraph station, gradually becoming weaker as the distance increases. If the chips of wood are now replaced by wireless receiving stations, it may be seen that the receiving instruments nearer the transmitting station will be more strongly affected by the electric waves than those situated at a greater distance. Thus a wireless message is received at all stations within the circumference of a circle that depends upon the strength of the sending apparatus and the sensitiveness of the receiving instruments, and the nearer the station the clearer will be the signal.

Suppose, now, a coastal station is receiving a wireless message from a ship at sea, perhaps one hundred miles distant. Because of the distance the signals must travel, the dots and dashes are rather faint. Suddenly an amateur station within a few miles of the coastal station begins to transmit a message. Although the power of the amateur station may be small compared with that of the ship, it is much nearer to the coastal station, and its signals at that station will sound considerably louder than the signals from the distant ship. In other words, two separate series of waves reach the shore station together, and those produced by the amateur station, being the stronger, drown out the incoming signals from the sea. The shore operator finds it impossible to receive distant messages while the amateur station is working. Roughly speaking, this is what is meant by "amateur interference."

It may now be readily understood why many of the naval stations are completely at the mercy of the neighboring amateurs. From early in the afternoon until late at night the amateur operators take possession of the ether, experimenting and testing with their apparatus, calling up their friends, carrying on long conversations on every conceivable topic, and occasionally varying the monotony by sounding the call letters of the nearest naval operator and inquiring about his health. This last seldom fails to call forth the wrath of the navy representative, and the heated wireless conversation that often follows is eagerly listened to by the rest of the amateurs, who sometimes join in the discussion. A Boston amateur, when recently told by a naval operator to "butt out," made the following classic remark: "Say, you navy people think you own the ether. Who ever heard of the navy, anyway? Beat it, you, beat it."

An interesting record of amateur gossip as it is carried on over the ether has been compiled by one of the naval operators. The following selection is typical of the aerial chat that goes on for hours:
"How do you get me to-day? I am using my new transformer and my helix is hitched up different. How are your batteries holding out? Say, old man, I get you fine as silk. You have the navy skun a mile. My aerial came down last night, but I fixed it up again. Did you go to that show last night you spoke about? I have been too busy to go to town this week. Have you got any number thirty-two copper wire? Thought you would drop over last week. Say, old man, I met your lady friend yesterday. Ha, ha ! Quit your kidding. Say, do you know the fellow who is putting up a new station out your way? I think he is a ham. Will call you up in ten minutes. Say, old man, must go to supper now, but will be on the rest of the night. O.K., O.K., will see you later."

During this time the naval stations are cut off from communication except for short distances. At times, when important messages are expected, the amateurs are told to "break," and a few stop their instruments until the official despatches are received. Others continue, regardless of the warning, and hold up all departmental business in the vicinity unless the naval operator is able to copy a few words of the message between breaks in the amateur conversation. This results in long delays, which in a case of emergency might have serious consequences. It has been said that during certain hours of the day and night when the amateurs are out in full force a dozen ships might send out the emergency call without being heard at the shore stations. Only a very few of the amateurs have apparatus powerful enough to cause interference any great distance off the coast, and the trouble is therefore confined mainly to the coastal stations. Except when close to land, or when entering port, the ship operators experience little or no difficulty from this cause. The owners of high-power private stations capable of long-distance work have heretofore used their apparatus for scientific purposes only, and have been careful to avoid interfering with the regular operation of the naval and commercial stations. But in recent months a number of high-power stations have been erected by less responsible amateurs, and a single station of this description with a sending radius of a hundred miles or more can seriously reduce the efficiency of ship as well as of shore stations.

Amateur interference can be eliminated only by one or both of two means: either the building of amateur stations must be prohibited or at least regulated by law, or the Navy Department and the commercial companies must adopt improved apparatus designed to prevent certain forms of interference, and so regulate the operation of their stations as to be immune from the accidental or malicious interfering of amateur operators. Although at first glance the former method would appear the simpler and more effective remedy, a careful consideration of the entire question of interference leads at once to the conclusion that, unless accompanied by scientific measures, legal action cannot bring about a satisfactory and efficient adjustment of the situation. The fundamental issue lies deeper than the amateur operator, and is plainly a matter for scientific as well as for legal solution. It is obvious that the agitation of the various wireless interests for the suppression of the amateur is only the first sign of a movement that must eventually result in a universal adjustment of the relations between the rival wireless telegraph companies and the naval systems, an adjustment that will require the services of both the scientist and the lawyer. Because of its nature, the ether, as a medium of international communication, will require safeguards in the form of wise restrictions and regulations, much as a city thoroughfare or other institution involving public safety and convenience demands efficient organization for the public good.

Up to recent times the naval and commercial wireless stations have not been seriously inconvenienced by mutual interference. Although in many cases several stations are located in the same vicinity, and each would, under present means and methods of operation, interfere with the others unless care were taken to avoid conflict, but little trouble of this nature has been experienced. Each operator respects the rights of his neighbor and is careful not to "butt in" when messages are received. Thus in New York City, probably the busiest wireless spot in the world, a dozen naval and commercial stations have worked side by side with comparatively slight friction. But it should be noted that these harmonious conditions are the result of experience that has proven such co-operation absolutely necessary under present operating methods. For any programme that compels five stations to suspend all business while the sixth is working is obviously a waste that seriously reduces the efficiency of all stations involved. The construction of new coastal stations and the increasing number of ship outfits have brought matters to a point that demonstrates the total inability of means now in use to relieve interference difficulties without a systematic revision. It would thus seem that, leaving the amateur out of consideration, the naval and commercial interests are already involved in serious troubles due to interference.

The first few years of wireless development in the commercial field witnessed the growth of a number of large companies, each working in its chosen territory with comparatively little competition. Under these circumstances wireless interference, except for a few specific cases, was not a cause for great complaint. More recently the rapid spreading and overlapping of the different commercial systems, the growth of the naval systems, the building of long-distance stations, and the consequent increase in the number of messages transmitted, have brought about what might be termed a congestion of aerial traffic. In 1906 the governments of the world, recognizing the need for a systematic regulation of wireless service, called together at Berlin the International Wireless Telegraph Conference. The plan finally drawn up by that body was signed by the representatives of twenty-seven countries, including the United States. Later, however, Congress refused to ratify the convention, the adoption of which would have given the Government control over all wireless systems in this country. Without discussing the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the instrument as a whole, it is enough to note that in failing to indorse the Berlin Convention the Government gave up an opportunity to settle once and for all the case of the amateur operator. At present the Navy Department has no authority to deal with the amateur situation. Just how such authority is to be obtained is an interesting question, more especially in view of the fact that, in the general opinion of experts, at least eighty per cent of all wireless interference now experienced could be eliminated by the use of improved apparatus, together with the adoption of a special system of wave-lengths for the different wireless systems.

Every wireless telegraph station may be constructed in such a manner as to send out electro-magnetic waves of a given length or period. In order to respond to these waves, the instruments at the receiving station must be adjusted to correspond to the wave-length, or period of oscillation of the transmitting apparatus. The adjustment of the receiving instruments to the incoming wave is called "tuning." If the wave-length of a station is fixed at, say, four hundred meters, messages from this station can be received at a distant station only in case the receiving instruments are tuned to approximately four hundred meters. With the latest improved apparatus for selective tuning, the wave must closely approach the tune of the instrument to be detected, and of a number of conflicting waves of slightly different lengths, any one may be received and the rest excluded. On the other hand, two or more waves of the same or nearly the same length cannot be separated and tuned out as desired, and will interfere one with the other. Without going into technical details, it should be seen that, even with the most selective apparatus, a number of wireless stations of about the same wave-length in the immediate vicinity must of necessity cause interference when more than one station is in operation at a time. Also, that the more selective the receiving instruments are, the greater is the number of stations that may work without mutual interference. The fact that practically all government, commercial, and amateur wireless stations are built for the same or approximately the same wave-length, and that not one in twenty is equipped with selective instruments, at once accounts for the greater part of interference difficulties, and also suggests two obvious remedies--the use of improved apparatus and of a system of varied wave-lengths.

Suppose, for example, that the naval stations increase the length of their official wave to eight hundred meters and that the commercial companies adopt a series of wave-lengths varying by perhaps ten or twenty per cent. The use of selective instruments would then permit the simultaneous operation of the different groups of stations. Thus the naval stations might transmit their official despatches regardless of the operation of the hundreds of commercial establishments, or of the thousands of amateurs, who of course could be allowed to play with a non-interfering wave of limited range. By improved apparatus is meant both sending and receiving instruments, the former capable of sending out waves which for reception require the close adjustment of the latter. Such apparatus has long been known to the laboratory, and is the property of no one scientist or manufacturer. A number of new stations are employing this method with entire success, and it is obvious that all stations that suffer from interference must finally be protected by a means advocated by experts as offering the only permanent solution now available for the problem of interference.

Objection has been made that a system of special wave-lengths would hinder communication between stations in cases of emergency. This difficulty may readily be avoided by the use of a standard wave for calling purposes in connection with the regular wave of the particular station. An operator wishing to communicate with any given station may sound the call signal of the station by means of the standard or universal wave. The receiving instruments of stations awaiting a call would be tuned to the universal wave, and when the desired station responds and communication is thus established, both operators, by a simple adjustment, may change over to the special wave and proceed with their business undisturbed. As the continued growth of wireless systems will doubtless further complicate the conditions of interference, it may be necessary to arrange for a more elaborate system of wave-lengths than here suggested. At present, however, the plan as outlined will easily meet the needs of the occasion.

Clearly, therefore, the cure for wireless interference does not hinge alone on the extermination of the amateur operator. That the naval and commercial systems are suffering severely from amateur interference is an undeniable fact. Equally is it true that the amateur must be checked to some extent through legal procedure. He is, however, by no means the most important factor in the interference situation. Although his carelessness and ignorance have often been a source of just complaint, and his presence under present conditions inevitably adds much to the increasing difficulties of efficient wireless operation, there seems little necessity for the militia or a special session of Congress to dispose of his case. A slight amount of regulation will easily suffice to prevent the abuse by the irresponsible school-boy of his latest scientific toy. What is a more important need by far is the intelligent co-operation of the several wireless interests for the purpose of utilizing the latest products of the laboratory in a systematic effort to eliminate defects in methods of operation due, in part, to the rapid and unstandardized development of the science.

(���) 73, de Hans, K0HB

5151. Re: .

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:12:57 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222001257.14343.00000014@mb-fy.aol.com>
Source record: 28096

>Subject: Re: .
>From: yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
>Date: 12/21/2001 10:47 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <20011221234741.13039.00001421@mb-ch.aol.com>

>Expires: 21 Jan 2002

>OM Greg is getting ripped off by having a ham radio >license that is good for a mere 17 months and six days.

Check the math, Larry. Today is December 21, 2001.

Steve

5152. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:14:12 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C241688.4530DD48@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28097

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> In article <3c2355fb_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:
>
> >I don't dismiss at all Riley's opinion. He has every right to it. Do I > >think it's more important that anyone else's? No. Do I think it carries > >more validity than anyone else's? No. And, I honestly think that > >Riley--even disagreeing with my choice of callsigns--is still far more > >logical than anyone like you. The BASIS (basis, Dave, not substance) of > >Riley's response to me was that the FCC was not "in the business"
> >(paraphrased, I think) of judging callsigns.
>
> Kim:
>
> That is correct -- the FCC is not in the business of judging call signs.
> The reason is because, under the Vanity Call Sign program, they > trust radio amateurs to have the maturity, good taste, and judgment > necessary to select a call sign which is not offensive, demeaning, > or insulting to others. If and when a person such as yourself shows > up, and requests a call sign with the potential to take the ARS "â□¦one > step closer to extinction," they will still issue it, leaving the fallout > to land on your head!
>
> >It is not hard at all to deny your lie, Dave. Actually, it probably is not > >a lie--it is your illogical, elitist mind telling you things you want to > >hear.
>
> Where did Dave lie, Kim? I must have missed that!

She must mean the portion where I stated that she dismissed Riley's view. That isn't a lie though. That is precisely what took place. She retained her call despite Riley's words. That certainly shows that she dismissed what he wrote.

She also perceives someone as an "elitist" when that person recognizes tacky as tacky.

Dave K8MN

5153. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:23:00 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a015dt$s98$1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28098
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C23C00D.A9037FA@gte.net...
> > > : > > More hogwash. Even if there is some such sentiment,
> > > : > > there hasn't been any support for that attitude in the press,
> > > : > > the legislatures, etc.
> > > : > >
> > > : > > Bill K2UNK
> > > : >
> > > : > I gather that you do not read that many papers
> > > : > everyday. The Washington Post, LA Times,
> > > : > NY Times, Chicago Tribune all go on "crusades"
> > > : > every so often over gun ownership, cell phones,
> > > : > scanners. The elite do not like the fact that the
> > > : > masses understand, and use, technology.
> > > :
> > > : I have seen public opposition to gun ownership, mixed
> > > : opposition to cellphone use in an auto (no one
> > > : seems to want to ban any total use/ownership
> > > : of cellphones) ...BUT
> > > : not one crusade at all against scanners. There has > > > : been NO demand to ban scanners at all, even for
> > > : specific frequencies, since the FCC rules
> > > : prohibiting scanners manufactured that can recieve
> > > : cellular.
> > >
> > > I suggest that you become familiar
> > > with the issues over APCO 25
> > > standards for digital trunked radio.
> > > The main purpose is to prevent private
> > > citizens from receiving ANY public
> > > radio transmission.
> >
> > So what, that doesn't mean there is any public > > demand to outlaw scanners.
> >
>
> No public demand, just behind the door lobbying
> by police organizations. Congress has passed > some rather restrictive laws about scanners in > the last 10 years.

Other than the ban on cellular recieving capability for newly manufactured scanners. Just what other restrictive laws about scanners are you thinking of.

> > > As I am a member
> > > of APCO, I have had conversations with > > > individuals who run public safety radio > > > systems. Their one big goal is to have > > > an digitally encrypted system that no one,
> > > not even the media, will be able to receive > > > without their permission.
> >
> > That too does NOT constitute any public outcry > > to ban scanners either.
> >
>
> The public wants scanners, the media wants them.
> The cops would rather that you did not have them.

So what! There is NO groundswell of support to outlaw scanners at all. The police will end up encrypting their channels and that'll be the end of any police concerns too.

> > > Read some of the articles at http://www.strongsignals.net
> >
> > There is nothing wrong with police using new technology to > > protect their frequencies from eavesdropping...BUT that > > is not at all anlogous to banning scanners altogether as > > you claim their is public support for.
>
> It will cause more problems that it is worth.
> Right now most police officers use scanners
> to listen to adjacent patrol areas, other departments
> and others services. If radios are encrypted, you > will only have those talk groups that are programmed > into your radio. Already we have problems with > various agencies not wanting other agencies on > their talk groups. For example, the ambulance > service does not want the fire fighters on their > talk group. Makes it damned hard to co-ordinate
> at an accident scene or talk the ambulance in.

Sounds like a police problem then. Are you suggesting a total ban on scanners for public purchase?

> And you know that the media will be the first
> to be locked out. They are just now realizing > that the cops might be pulling a fast one.

If encryption is a "fast one" it sure is taking a long time. The ability to encrypt has been around for years...nothing new on that technology.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5154. Re: FS: Hitler's Toothpick

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:25:47 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <vPUU7.136396$bs2.21702260@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 28159
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.antiques,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

The ONLY reason MIBX dropped his sorry ass was that UUNet got involved. That is one internet player you DON'T want on your bad side!
Train

"Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net> wrote in message
news:OvTU7.7059$x72.2277881967@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com...
> Not really any that matter Scott. It's the same BS
> that our little buddy was doing a few months back
> To all that's concerned, for a year or more now
> we have had a few resident trolls on rec.radio.cb.
> They were using MIBX until after months of > complaints he was terminated. It seems as though > he is back from prep school, for Christmas vacation
> stirring the pot.
>
> Landshark
>
>
> --
> Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All
>
>
> <Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message
> news:20011221204335.191$hs@newsreader.com...
> > gayillegalscott69@hotmail.com (Scott Unit 69) wrote:
> > > "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
> > > news:<3C232CA6.234D028D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> > > > Train wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > Your first clue should be that the thread is crossposted
> > > >
> > > > The second is that it came from google.com.
> > > >
> > > > The third clue is the posting IP: It came from AOL.
> > >
> > > The fourth clue is that it got me running all over Usenet like a sissy > > > trying to disclaim it!
> > >
> > That's it,Im gonna try to killfile the entire google domain now,new
'puter
> > and reader, and it need to be done. Apologies to a few google posters(not > > very many)...

> >
> > --
> > ~Moparholic~
>
>

5155. Re: Freebanders, 1910

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:26:27 UTC
From: rimjobs <codesucksbig5@aol.com>
Message-ID: <7QUU7.8094$PO5.1406373@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 28099

"K0HB" <K0HB@bitbucket73.com> wrote in message news:#tSLwZqiBHA.1848@cpimsnntpa02...

> The Outlook, January 15, 1910, page 131:

(snip)

You mean this was like the 14.313 mHz of the last Century...?

5156. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 05:28:15 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <PRUU7.136444$bs2.21708176@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 28160
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

Just the thought of drinking it should be a felony!
Get a Sam Adams!
Train

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message news:20011221202220.495$ws@newsreader.com...
> "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote:
> > "Panhead" <Panmyfinger@fcc.com> wrote in message
> > news:3C23B68E.AE136BBC@fcc.com...
> > > Jim Patterson wrote:
> > > >
> > > > On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 15:01:33 -0500, Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com> in > > > > talk.politics.guns wrote:
> > > >
> > > > > It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to > > > > >have your own body armor.
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > > I am curious. Do you feel that this is a good law?
> > >
> > > Before we go further, allow me to say that I was (gasp) Wrong!
> > > Citizens most certainly CAN own and wear armor.
> > >
> > Most states have laws on the books criminalizing the use of body armor > > while committing a crime. Owning the body armor in and of itself is not > > usually the crime.
> > Train
> >
> What about Iron City beer cans,Train?
>
> --
> ~Moparholic~

5157. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 06:07:12 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2415F7.A372C26@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28100

CAM wrote:

> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > So since Riley answered an exact question directed to him by the > > principal seeking his opininion, not Federal law which she aready knew, > > and he honestly answered it with his personal opinion, you now pronounce > > him a prude simply because his opinion doesn't match your sleazy > > opinion. Right, we got it.
>
> Yep, you got it all right. I have a lot less respect for him now > than I did before.

About every time you post you lose even more respect. I couldn't say that you have any left.

5158. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 06:09:42 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C24168E.EA3751FB@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28151

CAM wrote:

> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > > That is exactly
> > > the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal > > > opinion while in an ARRL position.
> >
> > That is NOT what he said to Ed.
>
> He said Ed's opinion could not be taken seriously because he worked > for the ARRL. Using the identical logic, Riley's opinion cannot be > taken seriously because he works for the FCC.

Don't you ever get tired of lying and making up shit? He and I said that Ed's opinions couldn't be taken as his independent beliefs since he works at ARRL and he said that his bosses knew that he wouldn't say anything contrary to official policy.

5159. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 06:16:14 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C241814.5A21F87D@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28152
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

Phil Kane wrote:

> On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 10:02:37 +0000 (UTC), Bill Nelson wrote:
>
> >In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:
> >
> >> Look for the post by Lenny Stover. He is a police > >> officer and pointed out that he has the right, backed > >> by the USSC, to inspect everything that is in car.
> >

I believe he's wrong. The Supreme Court ruling said that officers may check the passenger area for any weapons that might be readily accessible and thus present a danger. Complete searches require either permission of the driver/owner or a search warrant issued by a court based on valid information and stipulating exactly what is being sought in the search. Contraband found during the search is admissible. Drug dog scans do not require a search warrant.

Of course this does not apply to national border crossing searches which are indeed are legal.

5160. Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 07:47:27 UTC
From: twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com
Message-ID: <e9de0154.0112212347.3868de48@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28153
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net>
news:<9vturn0l20@enews1.newsguy.com>
Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU

Well, there's always going to be some uneducated slug, who has a Messiah
Complex, thinking he has every right to be above the law. Charles Manson,
Adolph Hitler, Jim Jones, Son of Sam, The Zodiac Killer, the list goes
on and on...

I'll assume that anyone who believes radio should be free to the unlicensed public, also can't understand why they keep getting their driver's license revoked for driving under the influence, why they can't yell "fire" in
a crowded theater, and they believe the people in handcuffs on COPS are just being harrassed...

"Listen Jim or whatever monicker of Lelnads kennel club you are using today, I am quite surpassing in educational acheivement more to the likes of you can see for eons of time. If any of your so-called epithets could harm me you would be dangerous and lack the sentence structre to dialogue with me. I observe that you are a no-code CB-hater so go back to the dog pound and lap your paw some more"

5161. Re: FS: Hitler's Toothpick

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 07:51:20 UTC
From: twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com
Message-ID: <e9de0154.0112212351.4ab47671@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28154
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.antiques,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"I cannot believe the derisive comments and unbelieving attitudes of my fellow usenetters and cb room friends. ATTENTION PLEASE anyone reading this: this is an authentic item and the terms of sale still stand. Ignore the petty howling of jealous no-coders. The first to mail me a check for $1500 will get said toothpick gift wrapped in time for the holidays"

5162. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 08:49:40 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C243C0A.1362664@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28155
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

N9NWO wrote:

> > >
> > > > The way you were going at it was that you > > > > were making it out that you were some big > > > > shot ham radio operator with all sorts of > > > > fucking rights and you were going to TELL > > > > that cop were to get off.
> > >
> > > An intelligent and reasonable police officer would not get himself > > > into such a situation in the first place.
> >
> > The police he describes are a bunch of untrained, juvenile loose > > cannons. The many I knew would not begin to enforce a new law without > > learning the law in detail, and many minor narrowly- focused laws such > > as this one would prety well be ignored without a formal complaint > > having been signed by a victim. Then there might be an investigation > > which might lead to an arrest if it proved to be warrented.
> >
> > Most cops are not fools. Fools don't normally enjoy long tenure as > > police officers.
>
> The average cop has less than 5 years on the force.
> Most academy classes will see over half of the graduates > out of law enforcement by 5 years. It is mostly a bunch > of young, inexperienced officers out there.
>
> No law really has merit until it has been in front of an appeals > court. No one really knows the limits until then. The city attorney > can give an opinion, but it has no merit as a ruling.
>
> These are not loose cannons rather they are just inexperienced > officers. They are very professional. But if they do not know > what to do, they will cite into the courts and let the courts settle
> it.

Speaking from the perspective of thirty years direct working experience with law enforcement officers, the officers you describe are poorly trained and even more poorly supervised. Any supervisor who allows a junior officer to send any questionable case to the prosecutor is derelict. And he will shortly hear so from that prosecutor, who has no time for that sort of nonsense.Without exception he will have real work to do. And in the unlikely event the presecutor is just as green and sends it on the the court, the judge himself will set the whole bunch on the straight and narrow. He's the busiest of all.

It sounds like you've been talking with a bunch of rank recruits straight out of the academy who have yet to even meet their field training officers, who surely WILL set them straight.

5163. Who in the pluperfect is George?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 09:12:10 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <K7YU7.306566$W8.11065674@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28156

"Mark Pearsal" <radiohead11m@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011221214029.05517.00000127@mb-de.aol.com...
> >Dick, I would expect anything different from you hang in rec.radio.CB > >lending your expertise to the illegal there.
>
> The trick is to use that "expertise" to turn them on to the ham > bands...legally! Dick has done this and has thus "made a difference."
What've
> you done lately to make a difference, George?
>
> Mark

As pure recreation is my one and only motive, I will take your word for it. These days, if it don't get me paid, laid, or fed it is difficult to stay interested.

I run a beta of a mail manager developed for a well-known local biz guy being set up to be given away or sold, named pro tem Bozo*Flush. As I do not hide behind screen names etc. Mad Boris the programmer figured - correctly - that I would be a great blocking dummy and so it has proven. As a result, most dross is shitcanned before I ever see it. Were it not for sane people reprinting the rants I could go blissfully about spreading joy and happiness from flower to flower forever.

George or whoever has a case of the tights with anyone who does not subscribe to his Old Yankee view of the world. When a few of the groupies passed the code test and ultimately became Extras, it seemed that he expected me to piss on their shoes and tell them it was raining. Whatever I may believe about licensing or births out of wedlock one does not take it out on the children. Sorry George. Certainly a lot of CB (and amateur) practices will cause a goat to gag but most of it is merely pointless. George or Aaron or whoever seems to view it as some sort of moral crusade but in the long run of things you are not the only one to discover it is pointless so offering alternatives rather than a sermon generally works better. You vil march in schrait lines und learn to luf it ain't much of a morale booster.

Whoever he may be he is well on the way to becoming the resident Frau Blucher.

So who in hell is George???

Dick N&#65533;BK

5164. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 09:12:17 UTC
From: Patrick Keele <pkg1dra@g1dra.freeserve.co.uk>
Message-ID: <a03b12$i9o$1@news5.svr.pol.co.uk>
Source record: 28246
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Suffice to say on my part.Point taken.
Thanks
PK

5165. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 09:15:51 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C24422C.4CA59E74@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28157
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

N9NWO wrote:

> And what makes you think that you are > safe from the police over reaching in the > current setting of paranoia over terrorism.

No question, things are a bit different due to Sept 11. As an example, not long ago I drove across Hoover Dam, on the Arizona/Nevada border. There were plenty of warning signs that no commercial trucks nor RV's were allowed to cross, and must turn around long before approaching. Signs also warned of roadblocks, and of course I had read in the news media that the dam was being protected, so I expected all that, and expected to be checked. We were driving a full size pickup with a tenneau cover on the bed, with luggage and a few other articles inside, and my wife was driving when we arrived at the roadblock. They didn't ask to see any ID nor even drivers license, they just wanted to know where we were going, if we had any weapons, and they wanted to see inside the closed bed beneath the tenneau cover, which was locked. They told us to pull over to the side and open the cover, which we did. One glance inside was all they needed, and we were sent on our way. But technically that should require a search warrant, to search anything but the driver/passenger compartment. And there was one small pickup with a shell cover which was stuffed full of things that the driver was being made to unload so they could get a good look. He wasn't too happy, but he was doing it. I saw nothing there so unreasonable that I couldn't support it under the circumstances. If you don't like it, take another route.
We could say that the laxness of of immigration policies of liberal administrations and bureaucracies in the past has led to the current situation but that won't solve anything now...

5166. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 09:25:16 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C244463.A9673EEC@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28158
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

N9NWO wrote:

> You have a growing number of police, and politicians, > who feel that the public does not have a right to own > such technology. That includes things like ham radio, > CB, scanners as well as things like guns.
>

That wasn't my experience. Most of the cops I knew were ok with gun ownership by citizens, and there were a few who had been helped outof a bad spot by armed citizens. It was not that unusual for a citizen who had heard a police dispatch on a scanner to contribute useful information on a case. Of course that was in an earlier era, though not many years ago. But trunked digital comm systems are a double edged sword. They are like the cell phone system - fine when working, useless when not. Earlier base to mobile analog distpatch systems were and are more reliable. And much less expensive, always a factor, especially in a time of fading economic conditions..

>
> There is the feeling that the public can not be trusted, > that too many use technology for crime or to try to > overthrow the government. Many would prefer that only > those who are paid on a professional basis should be allowed > to have access to radios or weapons.

5167. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 09:30:52 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2445B6.39172FAB@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28161
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"Peter H. Proctor" wrote:

> In article <3C23951D.E1493E12@fcc.com> Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com> writes:
> >From: Panhead <Panmyfinger@fcc.com>
> >Subject: Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.
> >Date: Fri, 21 Dec 2001 15:01:33 -0500
>
> > The police are only supporting the laws they were sworn to
> >uphold.
> > It's against FEDERAL law in many, if not most or all states, to > >have your own body armor.
>
> Er, there may be occasional state laws, but there is no federal law.
>

Yeah, that would be the first Federal law I ever heard of that didn't apply to all states.

5168. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 09:36:34 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C24470B.8833D654@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28162
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

N9NWO wrote:

How can a cop take a car for a traffic stop

> if he only suspects drugs? Yet it is done all > the time. If he can justify it, that is all that matters.

If they are allowed to get away with it that is the fault of the people who are having their cars confiscated - if they don't actually have drugs aboard.

5169. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 09:44:16 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <QBYU7.306588$W8.11067053@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28163
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C243C0A.1362664@townsqr.com...
>
> Speaking from the perspective of thirty years direct working experience
> with law enforcement officers, the officers you describe are poorly trained > and even more poorly supervised. Any supervisor who allows a junior
officer > to send any questionable case to the prosecutor is derelict. And he will > shortly hear so from that prosecutor, who has no time for that sort of > nonsense.Without exception he will have real work to do. And in the unlikely > event the presecutor is just as green and sends it on the the court, the > judge himself will set the whole bunch on the straight and narrow. He's
the > busiest of all.
> It sounds like you've been talking with a bunch of rank recruits straight > out of the academy who have yet to even meet their field training officers,
> who surely WILL set them straight.
>

Dick, without disagreeing with you, the police forces are fighting - and I think losing - being ground down by the burden of a lot of things including really stupid drug enforcement. This plagues the system from the cop thru the courts and the penal institutions. The NHP has become the I-80 drug patrol and as a result does most of its recruiting thru the truck inspectors; the OPD leads the planet in pot busts, BFD. When the MHP, KHP etc. are lining up to recruit at NebrOma's law enforcement program to compete for the decent you know that some warm bodies are being given badges and guns; the out of state patrolmen probably accomplish more traffic enforcement than the NHP during their body-snatching visits. We had a minor dust-up in the complex involving the Douglas County Sheriff's office and I thought the place was being invaded by Sea Scouts.

When you can't interest the Federal DAs office in anything that can't raise 10 grand or confiscate something, similar down at the local Prosecutor, it is no small wonder radio enforcement goes to hell. So we get bandaids like Tacoma in hopes the local gendarmes can cure TVI thru sheer force of personality. As a practical matter, an undermanned group takes up acting like the Marines and it is welcome time to the LAPD.

At the same time, as you point out, the radio-owning public has little to fear barring a complaint. The poor cop is out looking for drug mules to add one more rusty 82 Chevy to the impound lot.

Dick N&#65533;BK

5170. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 09:57:05 UTC
From: Robert <KnowsAll@Anon.com>
Message-ID: <a01lg9$9hl$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28164
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C243C0A.1362664@townsqr.com...
>
>
> N9NWO wrote:
>
> > > > >
> > > > > The way you were going at it was that you > > > > > were making it out that you were some big > > > > > shot ham radio operator with all sorts of > > > > > fucking rights and you were going to TELL > > > > > that cop were to get off.
> > > > >
> > > > An intelligent and reasonable police officer would not get himself > > > > into such a situation in the first place.
> > > >
> > > The police he describes are a bunch of untrained, juvenile loose > > > cannons. The many I knew would not begin to enforce a new law without > > > learning the law in detail, and many minor narrowly- focused laws such > > > as this one would prety well be ignored without a formal complaint > > > having been signed by a victim. Then there might be an investigation > > > which might lead to an arrest if it proved to be warrented.
> > >
> > > Most cops are not fools. Fools don't normally enjoy long tenure as > > > police officers.
> >
> > The average cop has less than 5 years on the force.
> > Most academy classes will see over half of the graduates
> > out of law enforcement by 5 years. It is mostly a bunch > > of young, inexperienced officers out there.
> >
> > No law really has merit until it has been in front of an appeals > > court. No one really knows the limits until then. The city attorney > > can give an opinion, but it has no merit as a ruling.
> >
> > These are not loose cannons rather they are just inexperienced > > officers. They are very professional. But if they do not know > > what to do, they will cite into the courts and let the courts settle
> > it.
>
> Speaking from the perspective of thirty years direct working experience > with law enforcement officers, the officers you describe are poorly trained

> and even more poorly supervised. Any supervisor who allows a junior
officer > to send any questionable case to the prosecutor is derelict. And he will > shortly hear so from that prosecutor, who has no time for that sort of > nonsense.Without exception he will have real work to do. And in the unlikely
> event the presecutor is just as green and sends it on the the court, the > judge himself will set the whole bunch on the straight and narrow. He's
the > busiest of all.
> It sounds like you've been talking with a bunch of rank recruits
straight > out of the academy who have yet to even meet their field training officers,
> who surely WILL set them straight.

Amazing, is it not? Amazing that so many would weigh in on so little.
LEO's, whether a one year or twenty year veteran, can only enforce the laws they are given, and even then Officer Discretion almost always comes into being and then only with PC (Probable Cause).
From what I have seen of this string, too much is being made of too little.
For the most part if you mind your own business and act accordingly, you have little reason to worry over seing the red and blue lights light up behind you.
Yes, some gung-ho newbie officers may carry things to extremes but they rarely operate outside of the laws they have at hand. Give the new guys and gals a year or two and they will usually calm down and most will get over the Wyatt Earp syndrome.
Be honest. Did not you first year officers feel just a bit full of youselves after you were sworn in? Did you not like wearing that badge on your belt while sporting the Dept. issue handgun...even when off duty? Be honest...you LIKED being recognized as the latest cop in town and many of you really didn't take great pains to hide the dept. issue weapon. Other newbies even go so far as to wear a handcuff case on their belt everywhere they go....that , too will soon wear off as you gain experience.
Many departments require that their officers go armed both on duty and off, and the new rookies often tend to shove a large handgun in their belts...or if they are at a singles bar, they like shoulder holsters. Makes them macho.
I have been there, guys. After the newness wears off (three or four years) you will find that the Job can be a real pain. You will no longer want to carry that large, crappy duty weapon on your off hours...after all, you carried it for nine hours on your shift and when you get home all you want to do is ditch it and that damn Sam Browne belt it rides on. As you spend more time on the job you may even find that you do not wish to carry an off-duty weapon despite department policies. After all, it is a pain to go visiting, swimming, or even to church while carrying a handgun. (I opt for an ankle holster, but the choice is yours)

The statement, " Most academy classes will see over half of the graduates out of law enforcement by 5 years" is not quite true. Most of this half will quit within the first three years and move on to other jobs. Yes, there is a turnover in Law Enforcement. Good people apply and pass the stringent requirements. Unfortunately these same good people find that a career in Law Enforcement pays little, has great risks, and affords no weekends or holidays off. As a result they move on to more stable positions within the private sector.

My outlook is that you have to want to be a cop above all else. Money is secondary.

5171. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 11:54:44 UTC
From: pproctor@neosoft.com
Message-ID: <A711CE7C1FC84235.7AD7F8CFEBD91A21.CC08E927557F6EE0@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28190
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

In article <cuvyxnansvbet.gopy6x6.pminews@or.news.verio.net> "Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> writes:
>From: "Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
>Subject: Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.
>Date: Sat, 22 Dec 2001 04:41:13 GMT

>If you want more, read the DMCA of 1998. It's basically made >>it illegal to take something apart to see how it works.

> A good friend of mine who is a high-up lawyer with the Motion > Picture Association of America has convinced me that the techno > pirates brought such draconian laws upon themselves.

But if a company cannot take something apart, they cannot do the "
reasonable examination " that is required to file a patent suit under established case law..

Dr P

5172. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 12:33:59 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 28165

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"Mark Pearsal" <radiohead11m@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011221222305.05517.00000145@mb-de.aol.com...
> >We're talking about licensing requirements ... that's PURELY a > >regulatory function. "Tradition" has NOTHING to do with legitimate > >regulatory goals ... it's not the FCC's job to preserve amateur
> >"tradition" ... the FCC's job is to regulate the use of the spectrum
> >in the public interest. End of story.
>
> Perhaps, but you can now be licensed without having to show "Morse > proficiency." The requirement of demonstrating a very traditional "discipline"
> in order to "earn" additional privileges seems to be very much in the public > interest. Do you really think it's a "regulatory function" we're talking about?

The key word here is "traditional" ... the idea of Morse proficiency as a "ham tradition" has no place in regulation. If those who like Morse want to promote it, without government "arm-twisting," fine.
I have no problem with that ... but it is NOT within the FCC's charter to enforce "amateur tradition."

Another concept to consider is that "discipline" is a bit misused in this application, IMHO. Are you talking about the concept that some have voiced that "It's (jumping through the Morse proficiency hoop) necessary to show 'committment'." ???

Showing"committment" also has no place in regulation. All that's legitimate is a demonstration of understanding of the rules and regs and sufficient technical competence to operate safely and without violating the rules or causing interference problems.

> >Standards, shmandards ... the "keep Morse forever" crowd has > >three basic motivations 1) "I had to do it, so everyone else
should,
> >too."; 2) fear that, if everyone else is not forced to learn Morse, > >not enough will choose to learn and use it and their source of contacts
> >will dry up; and 3) the misguided goal of keeping "outsiders" from > >using "their" bands. All 3 of those are pure rubbish.
>

> ...and the motivations of those who wish to remove the code requirement
> entirely are? I guess you said it best..."Standards, shmandards..."

You're missing the distinction that, in the paragraph above, I was disparaging the numbered motives above as not being legitimate standards ... I was NOT disparaging the validity of legitimate standards, which I support whole-heartedly.

73,
- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- --
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- --
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCR9r5e+N6+q84HiEQKJ2QCdHwiZNuMYX9T8eKOBvoooUMgs3QwAoLh7
AA5HHguxXcoISXR9Gn6WOgBH
=scBy
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----

5173. Re: .

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 13:03:40 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011222080340.13985.00001628@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 28166

In article <20011222001257.14343.00000014@mb-fy.aol.com>, k4yz@aol.com (Steve Robeson K4YZ) writes:

>
>>OM Greg is getting ripped off by having a ham radio >>license that is good for a mere 17 months and six days.
>
> Check the math, Larry. Today is December 21, 2001.
>
>Steve

Steve:

I was perfectly aware that Greg's ticket expires next month. I was referring to the total length of his license term, from issuance to expiration. That is 17 months, 6 days. I reckon he was somehow gypped out of just short of 8 1/2 years of his license term -- assuming that the date of issue was, in fact, a renewal action, as opposed to an administrative change.

73 de Larry, K3LT

5174. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 13:37:57 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <V00V7.306655$W8.11077136@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28167

"Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net> wrote in message news:3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net...

 el snippo applied **

> You're missing the distinction that, in the paragraph above, I was > disparaging the numbered motives above as not being legitimate > standards ... I was NOT disparaging the validity of legitimate > standards, which I support whole-heartedly.
>
> 73,
> - --
> Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
> <mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
> <http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>

Without disagreeing or disparaging, just what might those legitimate standards be?? I have looked for them since 1955 and haven't found them yet. Even safety might be questioned on the theory that a man has the right to kill himself or gaze down microwave horns.

The crux of this discussion is who to bar more than who to accept. There is a secondary issue that results from allowing every kid with two propellors on his beanie (Cecil, Jim, me) to get on and klutz around: how to keep the newbie from becoming a real pain in the butt to your 20 meter net, etc. So we developed the Class A, B, C structure before the war that required a year before one could get off 40 meter CW or 160 and 10 meter phone. Time becomes the standard legitimate or not. So the real issue is how to blend newbies into the scenery with a minimum of fuss and feathers.

With all due respect, legitimate standards are not going to come from the world of electronics. It is nice to know Ohm's and Joule's Laws in their permutations and even better if some of the implications dawn on the young and inexperienced. But then they didn't dawn on the writer and publisher of the infamous DDRR bent down at your local muffler shop that was featured in the Handbook for several years. Much like my days coaching middle school football, you had better expect some mistakes, some colossal, when you set a bunch of sixth and seventh-graders loose on a field; self-education can get real ugly.

Even lowering the code thing to 5wpm has not had a major effect of any kind simply because it serves the purpose of a small 'cooling off' period between decision and actuality. If I want to be the Channel Master of 14.313 at least I have a week or two to come to my senses before hauling out my credit card and ending up with a Frankensteen. To some extent the Brits with their theory of gathering similar people (personifying the enemy so to speak) in a room for eight hours in a spate of Morse Appreciation ending in an open book, take all day code test may actually have the problem right; I have been in corporate meetings less of a purpose for much the same reason: keeping the landmines and barbed wire down to a gentle, ladylike belch.

Given the problem, translating a typical QSO into conversational Swahili probably is as legitimate as anything so long as no one knows that making the attempt is qualification enough. Course someone would immediately form No Swahili International.

So what do you view as legitimate standards???

Dick N&#65533;BK

5175. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 13:47:08 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <w90V7.271$UO1.110693@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28168
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

: >> Look for the post by Lenny Stover. He is a police
: >> officer and pointed out that he has the right, backed
: >> by the USSC, to inspect everything that is in car.
: >
: >Officers have been wrong before - which is why evidence from searches
: >is sometimes ruled inadmissable.
:
: And why many jurisdictions (used to) have Deputy DAs ride around
: with patrol officers to make those calls. My kid brother (KE7DX)
: did that (as a DA) for several years in Phoenix. Made his "day"
: job easier, too.

Actually that is a good idea. The French merged the prosecutors office with the commissioner of police for that very reason.

Even the military is placing JAG officers down as low as Battalion so that the commanders can get rulings on the law of war.

With the US graduating 35,000 lawyers a year, lawyers are cheap. And a law degree for a cop is a fast track to LT.

5176. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 13:54:28 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <og0V7.275$UO1.114713@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28169
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

```
: > > > : > > More hogwash. Even if there is some such sentiment,
: > > > : > > there hasn't been any support for that attitude in the press,
: > > > : > > the legislatures, etc.
: > > > : > >
: > > > : > > Bill K2UNK
: > > > : >
: > > > : > I gather that you do not read that many papers
: > > > : > everyday. The Washington Post, LA Times,
: > > > : > NY Times, Chicago Tribune all go on "crusades"
: > > > : > every so often over gun ownership, cell phones,
: > > > : > scanners. The elite do not like the fact that the
: > > > : > masses understand, and use, technology.
: > > > :
: > > > : I have seen public opposition to gun ownership, mixed
: > > > : opposition to cellphone use in an auto (no one
: > > > : seems to want to ban any total use/ownership
: > > > : of cellphones) ...BUT
: > > > : not one crusade at all against scanners. There has : > > > : been NO demand to ban scanners at all, even for
: > > > : specific frequencies, since the FCC rules
: > > > : prohibiting scanners manufactured that can recieve
: > > > : cellular.
: > > >
: > > > I suggest that you become familiar
: > > > with the issues over APCO 25
: > > > standards for digital trunked radio.
: > > > The main purpose is to prevent private
: > > > citizens from receiving ANY public
: > > > radio transmission.
: > >
: > > So what, that doesn't mean there is any public
: > > demand to outlaw scanners.
: > >
: >
: > No public demand, just behind the door lobbying
: > by police organizations. Congress has passed
: > some rather restrictive laws about scanners in
: > the last 10 years.
:
: Other than the ban on cellular recieving capability for newly manufactured
: scanners. Just what other restrictive laws about scanners are you
: thinking of.
```

Well part of that law made it illegal to reverse engineer any coding scheme
such as Motorola's trunking format.
Or their MDT coding. Mind you now,
these are not encryption, just a computer
code. It also restricted listening to pagers.

And remember, this only applies to civilians,
the police are exempt.

: > > > As I am a member
: > > > of APCO, I have had conversations with
: > > > individuals who run public safety radio
: > > > systems. Their one big goal is to have
: > > > an digitally encrypted system that no one,
: > > > not even the media, will be able to receive
: > > > without their permission.
: > >
: > > That too does NOT constitute any public outcry
: > > to ban scanners either.
: > >
: >
: > The public wants scanners, the media wants them.
: > The cops would rather that you did not have them.
:
: So what! There is NO groundswell of support to outlaw
: scanners at all. The police will end up encrypting their
: channels and that'll be the end of any police concerns too.

If the average police chief had his way, there would be no scanners, body armor, or guns in the hands of private citizens. Hell, too many chiefs would be happy
if everyone was forced to take public transportation.
All except their wives and kids, of course.

: > > > Read some of the articles at http://www.strongsignals.net
: > >
: > > There is nothing wrong with police using new technology to
: > > protect their frequencies from eavesdropping...BUT that
: > > is not at all anlogous to banning scanners altogether as
: > > you claim their is public support for.
: >
: > It will cause more problems that it is worth.
: > Right now most police officers use scanners
: > to listen to adjacent patrol areas, other departments
: > and others services. If radios are encrypted, you
: > will only have those talk groups that are programmed
: > into your radio. Already we have problems with
: > various agencies not wanting other agencies on
: > their talk groups. For example, the ambulance
: > service does not want the fire fighters on their
: > talk group. Makes it damned hard to co-ordinate

: > at an accident scene or talk the ambulance in.
:
: Sounds like a police problem then. Are you suggesting
: a total ban on scanners for public purchase?

No, but many in law enforcement would love
a total ban, especially for the newspapers.

And someone is going to sue once it is learned that different agencies can not co-ordinate. It is going to cost someone there life.

: > And you know that the media will be the first
: > to be locked out. They are just now realizing
: > that the cops might be pulling a fast one.
:
: If encryption is a "fast one" it sure is taking a long
: time. The ability to encrypt has been around for
: years...nothing new on that technology.

Not cheaply and easily. Digital trunked radio has made it very easily. Except that digital trunking has not worked out as well as they had hoped.

5177. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 14:01:55 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <nn0V7.282$UO1.119372@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28170
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

: >I suggest that you become familiar with the issues over APCO 25
: >standards for digital trunked radio. The main purpose is to prevent
: >private citizens from receiving ANY public radio transmission. As I : >am a member of APCO, I have had conversations with individuals who run
: >public safety radio systems. Their one big goal is to have an
: >digitally encrypted system that no one, not even the media, will be : >able to receive without their permission.
:
: Sheeeesh....none of my (Northern California) APCO colleagues
: have expressed that concern. Their major concerns are over
: reliability and coverage of communications in difficult
: terrain and inter-system operability and they don't look to
: APCO 25 as the final answer. Several have tried and were
: underwhelmed by The Big Em's product.

Within my agency, and many of the local and state agencies I co-ordinate with, there have been comments that they really do not want private citizens listening, especially the press. Often someone overhears on site comments and makes it into a major political issue. The decision makers are wanting a bit of room to maneuver without lawyers, the press and the common citizen doing arm chair quarter backing. They want to be able to cuss
"in the heat of battle" without having to answer to every anti cop and anti government group out there.

The problem is that without citizens and the press listening, news becomes filtered and controlled. The political elements can spin things easier. Plus the average street cop will go back to treating the radio as a CB where they all tell their off colored stories about women and minorities. Or co-ordinate the stories so that the last incident that went bad will look good on paper.

5178. Re: RADIO LAW and the average cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 14:20:58 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <eF0V7.287$UO1.130866@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28171
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

```
Robert <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message news:a01lg9$9hl$0@dosa.alt.net...:
:
:
: "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote ...
: >
: >: > > > > > The way you were going at it was that you
: > > > > > were making it out that you were some big
: > > > > > shot ham radio operator with all sorts of
: > > > > > fucking rights and you were going to TELL
: > > > > > that cop were to get off.
: > > > > >
: > > > > An intelligent and reasonable police officer would not get himself
: > > > > into such a situation in the first place.
: > > > >
: > > > The police he describes are a bunch of untrained, juvenile loose
: > > > cannons. The many I knew would not begin to enforce a new law without learning the law in detail, and many minor narrowly- focused laws such
: > > > as this one would prety well be ignored without a formal complaint
: > > > having been signed by a victim. Then there might be an investigation
: > > > which might lead to an arrest if it proved to be warrented.
: > > >
: > > > Most cops are not fools. Fools don't normally enjoy long tenure as
: > > > police officers.
: > >
: > > The average cop has less than 5 years on the force.
: > > Most academy classes will see over half of the graduates
: > > out of law enforcement by 5 years. It is mostly a bunch
: > > of young, inexperienced officers out there.
: > >
: > > No law really has merit until it has been in front of an appeals
: > > court. No one really knows the limits until then. The city attorney
: > > can give an opinion, but it has no merit as a ruling.
: > >
: > > These are not loose cannons rather they are just inexperienced
: > > officers. They are very professional. But if they do not know : > > what to do, they will cite into the courts and let the courts settle
: > > it.
: >
: > Speaking from the perspective of thirty years direct working
experience
: > with law enforcement officers, the officers you describe are poorly
```

: trained and even more poorly supervised. Any supervisor who allows a junior
: officer to send any questionable case to the prosecutor is derelict. And he will
: > shortly hear so from that prosecutor, who has no time for that sort of
: > nonsense.Without exception he will have real work to do. And in the : unlikely event the presecutor is just as green and sends it on the the court, the
: > judge himself will set the whole bunch on the straight and narrow. He's
: the busiest of all.
: > It sounds like you've been talking with a bunch of rank recruits
: straight out of the academy who have yet to even meet their field training
: officers, who surely WILL set them straight.
:
: Amazing, is it not? Amazing that so many would weigh in on so little.
: LEO's, whether a one year or twenty year veteran, can only enforce the laws
: they are given, and even then Officer Discretion almost always comes into
: being and then only with PC (Probable Cause).
: From what I have seen of this string, too much is being made of too little.
: For the most part if you mind your own business and act accordingly, you
: have little reason to worry over seing the red and blue lights light up : behind you.
: Yes, some gung-ho newbie officers may carry things to extremes but they : rarely operate outside of the laws they have at hand. Give the new guys
and
: gals a year or two and they will usually calm down and most will get over
: the Wyatt Earp syndrome.
: Be honest. Did not you first year officers feel just a bit full of youselves
: after you were sworn in? Did you not like wearing that badge on your belt
: while sporting the Dept. issue handgun...even when off duty? Be honest...you
: LIKED being recognized as the latest cop in town and many of you really : didn't take great pains to hide the dept. issue weapon. Other newbies even : go so far as to wear a handcuff case on their belt everywhere they : go....that , too will soon wear off as you gain experience.
: Many departments require that their officers go armed both on duty and off,
: and the new rookies often tend to shove a large handgun in their belts...or
: if they are at a singles bar, they like shoulder holsters. Makes them macho.
: I have been there, guys. After the newness wears off (three or four years)
: you will find that the Job can be a real pain. You will no longer want to : carry that large, crappy duty weapon on your off hours...after all, you
: carried it for nine hours on your shift and when you get home all you want : to do is ditch it and that damn Sam Browne belt it rides on. As you spend : more time on the job you may even find that you do not wish to carry an

: off-duty weapon despite department policies. After all, it is a pain to go : visiting, swimming, or even to church while carrying a handgun. (I opt for : an ankle holster, but the choice is yours)
:
: The statement, " Most academy classes will see over half of the graduates
: out of law enforcement by 5 years" is not quite true. Most of this half
will
: quit within the first three years and move on to other jobs. Yes, there is
a
: turnover in Law Enforcement. Good people apply and pass the stringent : requirements. Unfortunately these same good people find that a career in Law
: Enforcement pays little, has great risks, and affords no weekends or : holidays off. As a result they move on to more stable positions within the : private sector.
: My outlook is that you have to want to be a cop above all else. Money is : secondary.

Well said!!!

5179. Re: Airline travel with a rig?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 14:24:46 UTC
From: wf3h@ptd.net
Message-ID: <3c24970a.39814589@news.ptdprolog.net>
Source record: 28173
Cross-posted to: alt.ham-radio.vhf-uhf,rec.radio.amateur.equipment,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Sat, 15 Dec 2001 19:28:59 -0800, senecal@mapson.cs.ucdavis.edu (Joshua Senecal) wrote:

>Hi all,
>
>I'm going to be flying soon, and I'd like to take my HT with me in my >carryon (no, I won't be using it on the plane! :) I'm concerned that >having this may cause a problem at airport security, what with the current >situation and all. Has anyone flown recently and carried their rig with >them? If so, what was your experience at the airport?
>
>Thanks!
>
>-Josh Senecal, KG6IBF
>

just got back from round trip to SF. what a nightmare. the security line stretched the entire length of the terminal into the next terminal.

carrying an HT won't really make a difference. they're randomly selecting folks for full baggage search (i got flagged 3/4 times going to airports...that's enough reason for me to want OBL greased)....

just be prepared to turn the rig on.

and if you're going to a big airport (EWR, SFO, SJC, ORD, etc), be prepared to wait for hours...

5180. Re: RADIO LAW and the newbie cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 14:25:38 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <CJ0V7.289$UO1.134860@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28172
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote...
:
: "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote ...
: >
: > Speaking from the perspective of thirty years direct working
: experience with law enforcement officers, the officers you describe are poorly
: trained and even more poorly supervised. Any supervisor who allows a junior
: officer to send any questionable case to the prosecutor is derelict. And he
: will shortly hear so from that prosecutor, who has no time for that sort
of
: > nonsense.Without exception he will have real work to do. And in the : unlikely event the presecutor is just as green and sends it on the the court, the
: > judge himself will set the whole bunch on the straight and narrow. He's
: thebusiest of all.
: > It sounds like you've been talking with a bunch of rank recruits
: straight out of the academy who have yet to even meet their field training
: officers, who surely WILL set them straight.
: >
:
: Dick, without disagreeing with you, the police forces are fighting - and I
: think losing - being ground down by the burden of a lot of things
: including really stupid drug enforcement. This plagues the system from
: the cop thru the courts and the penal institutions. The NHP has become : the I-80 drug patrol and as a result does most of its recruiting thru the : truck inspectors; the OPD leads the planet in pot busts, BFD. When the
: MHP, KHP etc. are lining up to recruit at NebrOma's law enforcement
: program to compete for the decent you know that some warm bodies are being given badges and guns; the out of state patrolmen probably accomplish more traffic enforcement than the NHP during their body-snatching visits. We : had a minor dust-up in the complex involving the Douglas County Sheriff's : office and I thought the place was being invaded by Sea Scouts.
:
: When you can't interest the Federal DAs office in anything that can't
: raise 10 grand or confiscate something, similar down at the local
: Prosecutor, it is no small wonder radio enforcement goes to hell. So we
: get bandaids like Tacoma in hopes the local gendarmes can cure TVI thru
: sheer force of personality. As a practical matter, an undermanned group
: takes up acting like the Marines and it is welcome time to the LAPD.

:
: At the same time, as you point out, the radio-owning public has little to
: fear barring a complaint. The poor cop is out looking for drug mules to : add one more rusty 82 Chevy to the impound lot.
:
: Dick N&#65533;BK

Good points.

I, however, think that many out there
just do not have an idea what the average LEO goes thru. Too many have an image of "Dragnet". Law enforcement has changed.

The average department is made up of younger (they just do not stay around like they used to),
more fit and a bit more hard nosed individuals
these days.

BTW, did you guys know that Buddy Hatchett had been a cop? (I think I spelled his name right, you know the fat little comedy guy).

5181. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 14:38:44 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222093844.06229.00000813@mb-mq.aol.com>
Source record: 28174

>All that's >legitimate is a demonstration of understanding of the rules and regs
>and sufficient technical competence to operate safely and without >violating the rules or causing interference problems.

Boy, Carl most have had a hard time with the above, it took him over a Year to upgrade. What was the hardest for you to Memorize Carl, or did you just use little notes written on your hand?

5182. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 14:43:18 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a02dhn$1i6$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28187
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in message news:d9f7b76c.0112210954.64cbefb7@posting.google.com...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:<9vvhp3hkd5@pita.alt.net>...
> > "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
> > news:9vu93o01oba@enews2.newsguy.com...
> > >
> > > "Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > news:9vts89$f8j$0@pita.alt.net...
> > > >
> > > > On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 17:38:44 -0500, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > I've seen better trolls on pencils.
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > > The Jack Daniels was that effective, eh?
> > >
> > > My, my. Aren't we ignorant of pop culture.
> > >
> > > FYI, I was referring to the troll dolls that were popular in the 70s.
They > > > were those little things with the big eyes and different colored, Don King
> > > style of hair. Smaller ones were often on the ends of pencils, or on > > > keychains, or hanging from rearview mirors. They're still around, but not
> > as > > > popular as they once were. Although they did have a resurgence in > > popularity
> > > about ten years ago.
> >
> > That anonymous COWARD is ignorant of everything. "Woger Wussman" aka
Twatty
> > Campbell(Posts as Scott Campbell) should be familiar with the troll
doll,
> > since he was the initial model for them.
>
> hit the bricks chuckie....you aren't wanted here.....

Fuck off, Dickhead, as the Stones sing "You can't always get what you want."

5183. Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 15:12:43 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112220712.6673674@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28175
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com (Twistedhed) wrote in message news:<e9de0154.0112212347.3868de48@posting.google.com>...
> "Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net>
> news:<9vturn0l20@enews1.newsguy.com>
> Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU
>
> Well, there's always going to be some uneducated slug, who has a > Messiah
> Complex, thinking he has every right to be above the law. Charles > Manson,
> Adolph Hitler, Jim Jones, Son of Sam, The Zodiac Killer, the list goes
> on > and on...
>
> I'll assume that anyone who believes radio should be free to the
> unlicensed
> public, also can't understand why they keep getting their driver's
> license
> revoked for driving under the influence, why they can't yell "fire" in
> a > crowded theater, and they believe the people in handcuffs on COPS are > just > being harrassed...
>
> "Listen Jim or whatever monicker of Lelnads kennel club you are using > today, I am quite surpassing in educational acheivement more to the > likes of you can see for eons of time. If any of your so-called > epithets could harm me you would be dangerous and lack the sentence
> structre to dialogue with me. I observe that you are a no-code > CB-hater so go back to the dog pound and lap your paw some more"

you know twist.....the problem with you is this. you write articles in magazines pertaining to radio related subjects, you operate on the freeband and talk all over the world and of course finally.....you don't have any numbers and letters after your name......now that my friend is what puts the burr in their collective saddles,.....no doubt about it.............

5184. Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 15:32:28 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net>
Message-ID: <gI1V7.7112$Li3.2380900517@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 28176
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

You know SD, You surprise me
by responding to the forge. I know you know better, check the headers.

Landshark

--
Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All

"SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in message news:d9f7b76c.0112220712.6673674@posting.google.com...
> twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com (Twistedhed) wrote in message
news:<e9de0154.0112212347.3868de48@posting.google.com>...
> > "Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net>
> > news:<9vturn0l20@enews1.newsguy.com>
> > Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU
> >
> > Well, there's always going to be some uneducated slug, who has a > > Messiah
> > Complex, thinking he has every right to be above the law. Charles > > Manson,
> > Adolph Hitler, Jim Jones, Son of Sam, The Zodiac Killer, the list goes
> > on
> > and on...
> >
> > I'll assume that anyone who believes radio should be free to the
> > unlicensed
> > public, also can't understand why they keep getting their driver's
> > license
> > revoked for driving under the influence, why they can't yell "fire" in
> > a > > crowded theater, and they believe the people in handcuffs on COPS are > > just > > being harrassed...
> >
> > "Listen Jim or whatever monicker of Lelnads kennel club you are using > > today, I am quite surpassing in educational acheivement more to the > > likes of you can see for eons of time. If any of your so-called > > epithets could harm me you would be dangerous and lack the sentence
> > structre to dialogue with me. I observe that you are a no-code > > CB-hater so go back to the dog pound and lap your paw some more"
>
> you know twist.....the problem with you is this. you write articles in > magazines pertaining to radio related subjects, you operate on the > freeband and talk all over the world and of course finally.....you > don't have any numbers and letters after your name......now that my > friend is what puts the burr in their collective saddles,......no > doubt about it.............

5185. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 15:55:08 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24ade2_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28177

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2401B6.E38FD6DD@IEEE.org...
> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > > That is exactly
> > > the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal > > > opinion while in an ARRL position.
> >
> > That is NOT what he said to Ed.
>
> He said Ed's opinion could not be taken seriously because he worked > for the ARRL. Using the identical logic, Riley's opinion cannot be > taken seriously because he works for the FCC.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

BUT, Dick, Larry, Dave, et al, like to shape things to their way of thinking...

Kim W5TIT

5186. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 15:58:54 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24aeb5$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28178

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011221234743.13039.00001425@mb-ch.aol.com...
> In article <3c2355fb_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >I don't dismiss at all Riley's opinion. He has every right to it. Do I > >think it's more important that anyone else's? No. Do I think it carries > >more validity than anyone else's? No. And, I honestly think that > >Riley--even disagreeing with my choice of callsigns--is still far more > >logical than anyone like you. The BASIS (basis, Dave, not substance)
of > >Riley's response to me was that the FCC was not "in the business"
> >(paraphrased, I think) of judging callsigns.
>
> Kim:
>
> That is correct -- the FCC is not in the business of judging call signs.
> The reason is because, under the Vanity Call Sign program, they > trust radio amateurs to have the maturity, good taste, and judgment > necessary to select a call sign which is not offensive, demeaning, > or insulting to others. If and when a person such as yourself shows > up, and requests a call sign with the potential to take the ARS ".one > step closer to extinction," they will still issue it, leaving the fallout > to land on your head!
>

And, when will this landing on my head, happen, Larry? Haven't felt a thing yet.

Kim W5TIT

5187. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:08:51 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24b11c_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28180

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011221234745.13039.00001426@mb-ch.aol.com...
> In article <3c235afa_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >> Dave:
> >>
> >> Precisely. Kim is concerned with only one radio amateur -- herself.
> >>
> >
> >And whom else should I concern myself with, Larry?
>
> Kim:
>
> If you have to ask that question, you couldn't possibly understand
> the answer.
>

Oh, no. Not at all. I understand perfectly that you don't have one.

> >> The fact that she is deliberately spoiling the image of radio amateurs > >> to outsiders means absolutely nothing to her.
> >>
> >
> >Let me suggest the same thing I did to Dave, Larry. If you are so ashamed,
> >so concerned for your reputation, then leave ham radio.
>
> See -- proof positive that you are incapable of "getting it."
>

No. I think my statement proves that I quite understand. You think that my callsign is a shameful mess for all hams and that it is detrimental to the entire ARS. What don't I get. So, if you think that, and if you think that it ruins any of what's left of your reputation, then I suggest you get out---QUICK.

> >You want me to > >concern myself with other radio amateurs, right? Which ones, Larry?
You?
> >Dave? Others who agree with you? Or should it be Cecil? Rick? Others who > >don't agree with you. Which ones, Larry?
>
> All of us, Kim -- and each and every other radio amateur who could

> see or hear your call sign, be offended by it, and consequently decide > that they can't be bothered to pursue this hobby -- if you are representative
> of the type of mentality that exists among radio amateurs.
>

Well, sorry. I choose to concern myself with just being a ham. If there are people falling over behind my trail because they can't handle a callsign, or chumming it up because they like it, that's their business, not mine. And, the mentality that exists among radio amateurs is many a varied and wonderful thing, Larry.

> >> Worse, she's doing it
> >> in the only place that matters -- on the air -- with her self-serving, > >> sexually-suggestive call sign that demeans female hams and women > >> in general.
> >>
> >
> >Sorry that you, a male, cannot rise above three letters and get yourself
to > >recognize a whole callsign, Larry. On the air it sounds like W-5-T-I-T.
It > >doesn't sound like TIT unless you really, really stretch your > >imagination...or have prior experience. In your case, I think it's > >imagination. [PS--I got "on the air" two mornings in a row in Dallas
this > >week. All of about 15 minutes over the past two months. And, none on HF].
>
> Kim, that kind of lame excuse only demonstrates your consistent lack > of integrity. When you first appeared on this newsgroup, you were > giggling about having chosen your callsign in order to attract attention > to your breasts, as a means of expressing your desire to assert your
> "womanhood" as a ham radio operator, or some such drivel.

Yeah. Uh huh. Cough NEVER did I say any such drivel, or anything near
it. You lie.

> The suffix
> of your call sign spells "TIT" because you want other (male) hams to > think of you and your breasts -- and, hopefully, be attracted to you > physically because of it. You did this to gain power among your fellow > hams by having a callsign that gave you instant notoriety, whether or > not you were worthy of it.
>

Eeeegads you don't know me at all (I am actually quite thankful for that).
No, Larry, I couldn't care any less about whether a male (or female) ham (or anyone else) is attracted to my tits. What the hell shall I do with this imagined power you think I am seeking, Larry? God, your so paranoid. You really do need to find a woman...maybe a blow up doll would even help.
Yeah, let me know what I am supposed to do with this power, K?

> >> As Riley Hollingsworth said, she has a perfect "right" to > >> do this
>
> >And a perfect right it is.
>
> And that "right" is not now, and never has been, at issue.
>
> >> -- but the fact is that in doing so, she runs the risk of taking > >> the ARS "...one step closer to extinction."
> >
> >You know what? I never thought of it before...but, if I have the perfect > >right to my callsign, I also have the perfect right to take the ARS
"...one > >step closer to extinction" don't I? Yeah, I do.
>
> In your own way of thinking, perhaps so. In my way of thinking, > you have as much right to take the ARS ".one step closer to > extinction" as Al Quieda had in flying those airplanes into the > WTC and the Pentagon on 9/11.
>

OH, NICE ANALOGY! I love it. At least you didn't utter the other red herring...you know, the Hitler one.

> >> We don't know what kind > >> of damage she has done -- but the potential is there, and is very > >> likely to cause some potential ham to be disillusioned.
>
> >Well, that's your opinion. And you have the perfect right to it. My > >opinion is that if a callsign can "cause some potential ham to be > >disillusioned" then that person needs to just get off the planet.
>
> I see -- sooooo --- if a prospective ham is disillusioned by your > call sign, then they can should commit suicide?

Your ability to articulate needs work, Larry.

> Wow -- now
> THAT's kind of severe! I'd bet you'd make a good consort for a > member of the Taliban -- but I doubt that they make Burkas in > your size!
>

OH, ANOTHER GOOD ANALOGY. LOL

> >> If so, who > >> knows who we could have lost -- or did lose! One of the real problems > >> here is we'll never know the extent of the damage Kim has done!
> >>
> >> 73 de Larry, K3LT
> >>
> >
> >None. Not even to you. You've been having fun with this for nearly two > >years now. My TIT is obviously the only one you've had to think about.

>
> I have a very intelligent and attractive lady friend, Kim -- but when > I think of her, I'm not just thinking about her breasts. If you had it > your way, that's all anyone would think about then they thought > of you. I think you are the one with the weird obsession.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>
>

I think you are the one who mentioned my tits while you speak of some imagined good looking and intellgent "lady" friend. Hint: sitting behind your driver's seat on the bus doesn't mean, necessarily, that she's your friend, Larry.

Kim W5TIT

5188. Re: .

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:10:38 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222111038.10711.00000284@mb-cc.aol.com>
Source record: 28179

>Subject: Re: .
>From: yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
>Date: 12/22/2001 7:03 AM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <20011222080340.13985.00001628@mb-md.aol.com>

>
>I was perfectly aware that Greg's ticket expires next month.

Then you got the whole message.

>I was referring to the total length of his license term,...(SNIP)

You were trying to read too much into it, Larry.

73

Steve, K4YZ

5189. Re: FS: Hitler's Toothpick

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:14:16 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net>
Message-ID: <sj2V7.7116$9A4.2386145330@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 28181
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.antiques,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Well Train, a lot of the BS posts are still coming from UUNet.

Landshark

"Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message news:vPUU7.136396$bs2.21702260@news02.optonline.net...
> The ONLY reason MIBX dropped his sorry ass was that UUNet got involved.
That
> is one internet player you DON'T want on your bad side!
> Train
>
> "Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net> wrote in message
> news:OvTU7.7059$x72.2277881967@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com...
> > Not really any that matter Scott. It's the same BS
> > that our little buddy was doing a few months back
> > To all that's concerned, for a year or more now
> > we have had a few resident trolls on rec.radio.cb.
> > They were using MIBX until after months of > > complaints he was terminated. It seems as though > > he is back from prep school, for Christmas vacation
> > stirring the pot.
> >
> > Landshark
> >
> >
> > --
> > Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All
> >
> >
> > <Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message
> > news:20011221204335.191$hs@newsreader.com...
> > > gayillegalscott69@hotmail.com (Scott Unit 69) wrote:
> > > > "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
> > > > news:<3C232CA6.234D028D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> > > > > Train wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Your first clue should be that the thread is crossposted
> > > > >
> > > > > The second is that it came from google.com.
> > > > >
> > > > > The third clue is the posting IP: It came from AOL.
> > > >
> > > > The fourth clue is that it got me running all over Usenet like a sissy

> > > > trying to disclaim it!
> > > >
> > > That's it,Im gonna try to killfile the entire google domain now,new
> 'puter
> > > and reader, and it need to be done. Apologies to a few google > posters(not > > > very many)...
> > >
> > > --
> > > ~Moparholic~
> >
> >
>
>

5190. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:14:51 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24b275_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28182

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2410B6.8D1A8D40@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C239257.44DC590B@earthlink.net...
> > > Krell wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C22A13A.36CDAB78@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > > The fact remains, Kim set out to enlist Riley as one of her > > supporters.
> > > > > She didn't like his response, which was 180 degrees from her views
and > > > > > promptly dismissed it. That is pretty hard to deny.
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was > > legally > > > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
> > >
> > > That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > > > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official. If his support is a moot
> > > point, why did Kim feel it necessary to seek it?
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > I'm running out of crayons here, Dave. At the time the solicitation
from > > Riley was sought, there was some nitwit (not Larry) who was telling me
he > > was going to see to it that the FCC would revoke my callsign...blah, blah, > > blah. At the same time our resident nitwit (Larry) was just getting stoked
> > up. So, for both of them, and to the shut the non-resident nitwit up, I > > wrote to Riley and asked him about the idea of the FCC revoking a
callsign, > > in fact the FCC being interested in policing callsigns at all. Riley is, as > > you say, an FCC official. His response shut the non-resident nitwit up.

> > His response lit a fire under the resident nitwit--and now you.
> >
> > K?
> >
> > Got it?
> >
> > Is it sinking in?
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
> We know what was asked. We know what the response was. We know what > you did about it. We know that you chose to ignore Riley's advice.
>

Oh? Really? OK, Dave. WHAT advice did Riley give? Hmmmmmmm?????

> That has sunk in.

Like I said in another post. In your jello of a mind, WHAT advice did Riley give? Remember that, while I wrote Riley for his personal opinion as an official of the FCC, he would still have been regarded as speaking on behalf of that official nature. So, what "advice" do you think Mr. Riley Hollingsworth would offer a citizen of the United States who could possibly take that as being official? Hmmm???? Just wondering what your little feeble mind is trying to contrive this time.

> So has the idea that you take anyone who thinks that > your choice of a vanity call is in poor taste as a nitwit.
>
> Dave K8MN

Well. Exactly. Just as you think that I, and anyone who thinks it is OK, is a jerk.

Kim W5TIT

5191. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:19:26 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24b383_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28183

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2413DD.76E2B63F@earthlink.net...
> Krell wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C239257.44DC590B@earthlink.net...
> > > > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was > > legally > > > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
> > >
> > > That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > > > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official. If his support is a moot
> >
> > Bullshit! The only thing that needed to be said in the capacity as an > > official is whether or not the callsign was legal. Anything additional
FCC
is > > personal opinion.
>
> Bullshit? Is that sort of like, "I beg to disagree"? Riley spoke in > his official capacity. He isn't the neighbor, telling Kim over the > backyard fence, "I think you're doing a stupid thing here, Kim".
>

Riley was not speaking officially, Dave. At most, Riley was speaking his personal opinion as an FCC official. Kind of like Phil Kane offering his personal "read" on amateur radio R&R as a former FCC official. Or, kind of like asking a meteorologist his personal opinion of what he thinks the weather will do--which may contrast considerably from what is offered the public, officially. GADS I thought you were more intelligent than that. Riley was not speaking as an official of the FCC.

> > > point, why did Kim feel it necessary to seek it?
> >
> > I don't know. Why don't you ask HER?
>
> Because I'm responding to the comments of an anonymous Pittsburgh area > type. Kim was hoping for a solid positive response. She didn't get it.
>
> Dave K8MN

You're so full of crap, Dave. You can't see past that silver spoon dangling off the end of your nose.

Kim W5TIT

5192. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:20:20 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24b3ca_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28184

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2414CA.1022734D@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dick Carroll wrote:
> > > > That is exactly
> > > > the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal > > > > opinion while in an ARRL position.
> > >
> > > That is NOT what he said to Ed.
> >
> > He said Ed's opinion could not be taken seriously because he worked > > for the ARRL. Using the identical logic, Riley's opinion cannot be > > taken seriously because he works for the FCC.
>
> ...and yours cannot be taken seriously because you told us so.
>
> Dave K8MN

I love it. Reduced to the antics of a 3-year old. Nyah nyah nyah...LOL

Kim W5TIT

5193. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:22:35 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24b451_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28185

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C241688.4530DD48@earthlink.net...
> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >
> > In article <3c2355fb_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
> >
> > >I don't dismiss at all Riley's opinion. He has every right to it. Do
I > > >think it's more important that anyone else's? No. Do I think it carries > > >more validity than anyone else's? No. And, I honestly think that > > >Riley--even disagreeing with my choice of callsigns--is still far more > > >logical than anyone like you. The BASIS (basis, Dave, not substance)
of > > >Riley's response to me was that the FCC was not "in the business"
> > >(paraphrased, I think) of judging callsigns.
> >
> > Kim:
> >
> > That is correct -- the FCC is not in the business of judging call signs.
> > The reason is because, under the Vanity Call Sign program, they > > trust radio amateurs to have the maturity, good taste, and judgment > > necessary to select a call sign which is not offensive, demeaning, > > or insulting to others. If and when a person such as yourself shows > > up, and requests a call sign with the potential to take the ARS "�?�one > > step closer to extinction," they will still issue it, leaving the fallout
> > to land on your head!
> >
> > >It is not hard at all to deny your lie, Dave. Actually, it probably is
not > > >a lie--it is your illogical, elitist mind telling you things you want
to > > >hear.
> >
> > Where did Dave lie, Kim? I must have missed that!
>
> She must mean the portion where I stated that she dismissed Riley's > view. That isn't a lie though. That is precisely what took place.
> She retained her call despite Riley's words. That certainly shows that > she dismissed what he wrote.
>

ho ho ho....ya found a silver lining in your train of thinking, did ya?
You're hilarious. WHY would I change my callsign just because someone doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?

> She also perceives someone as an "elitist" when that person recognizes > tacky as tacky.
>
> Dave K8MN

You are an elitist, Dave. A highly crappy one, but one nevertheless.

Kim W5TIT

5194. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:23:16 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24b476_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28186

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C2415F7.A372C26@townsqr.com...
>
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dick Carroll wrote:
> > > So since Riley answered an exact question directed to him by the > > > principal seeking his opininion, not Federal law which she aready knew, > > > and he honestly answered it with his personal opinion, you now pronounce > > > him a prude simply because his opinion doesn't match your sleazy > > > opinion. Right, we got it.
> >
> > Yep, you got it all right. I have a lot less respect for him now > > than I did before.
>
> About every time you post you lose even more respect. I couldn't say
that > you have any left.
>

OH, GOD, Dick. Like you had any to begin with?????????????

LOL, Kim W5TIT

5195. Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:28:32 UTC
From: Kamatu <admin@ahww.net>
Message-ID: <a02ce202lp3@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28188
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in message news:d9f7b76c.0112220712.6673674@posting.google.com...
> twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com (Twistedhed) wrote in message
news:<e9de0154.0112212347.3868de48@posting.google.com>...
> > "Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net>
> > news:<9vturn0l20@enews1.newsguy.com>
> > Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU
> >
> > Well, there's always going to be some uneducated slug, who has a > > Messiah
> > Complex, thinking he has every right to be above the law. Charles > > Manson,
> > Adolph Hitler, Jim Jones, Son of Sam, The Zodiac Killer, the list goes
> > on
> > and on...
> >
> > I'll assume that anyone who believes radio should be free to the
> > unlicensed
> > public, also can't understand why they keep getting their driver's
> > license
> > revoked for driving under the influence, why they can't yell "fire" in
> > a > > crowded theater, and they believe the people in handcuffs on COPS are > > just > > being harrassed...
> >
> > "Listen Jim or whatever monicker of Lelnads kennel club you are using > > today, I am quite surpassing in educational acheivement more to the > > likes of you can see for eons of time. If any of your so-called > > epithets could harm me you would be dangerous and lack the sentence
> > structre to dialogue with me. I observe that you are a no-code > > CB-hater so go back to the dog pound and lap your paw some more"
>
> you know twist.....the problem with you is this. you write articles in > magazines pertaining to radio related subjects, you operate on the > freeband and talk all over the world and of course finally.....you > don't have any numbers and letters after your name......now that my > friend is what puts the burr in their collective saddles,.....no > doubt about it.............

nah, what irks me is he's an asshole.

5196. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 16:34:50 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24ba07_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28189

"Martin" <mdwade@mobiletelZ.com> wrote in message
news:3C23F682.26F8@mobiletelZ.com...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message
> > news:yuRU7.10753$BX4.940960@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
> > > See below for comments.
> > > Josey Wales <nothanks@nospam.com> wrote in message
> > > news:yNPU7.4707$_f.114138@dfw-read.news.verio.net...
> > > > That's correct. If you refuse, they can get a warrant and detain you if
> > > it > > > > takes 12 hours to get it if they want. They will likely then tear your
> > > car
> > > > apart looking for drugs, not reassemble it for you of course, while
a > > drug
> > > > dog is turned loose inside and outside your car with his claws
> > scratching
> > > > the shit out of your paint job. Don't be so naive as to think they > > can't > > > > ruin their day in any number of ways. Refuse a search and it's assumed
> > > you > > > > have something to hide. You do have rights but there are ways too > > > numerous > > > > to mention how they can make your day a real bitch.
> > >
> > > I am asking a question here, so don't think I am being smarty, OK? If an > > > officer
> > > "suspects" you of something and tears up your vehicle, paint, upholstery,
> > > etc., if he > > > finds nothing, wouldn't there be recourse for the owner of the vehicle
for > > > damage of the vehicle.
> > > That would seem most unfair to be able to rip up someone's car on > > > "suspicion".
> > >
> >
> > I've witnessed two occasions where, in one, an apartment of some friends
of > > my brother was torn apart in a "drug raid." Every single box of whatever

> > was turned upside down and dumped in the middle of the kitchen floor, > > speaker grills on the stereo were cut, sofa cushions and back were cut,
all > > furniture was tossed every which way, framed pictures yanked (yes, yanked)
> > off the walls and paper backing torn off...and on and on. By the time
the > > cops were done, the apartment looked worse than any vandals could ever
have > > hoped, the cops were empty-handed (turned out it was tenant wars--the > > upstairs tenants had called with "suspicion" that there was drug dealing > > going on because they were mad at the volume of the stereo) and not even
an > > apology was uttered as they went out the door. There were about 7-8 of them
> > and I guarantee you that every neighbor and visitor around there had their > > chins hanging to the ground in literal shock. There was no recoourse
for > > these people to have anything cleaned, replaced, or repaired.
> >
> > In another, a car's seats and headliner were cut open for the same thing.
> > Again, nothing found, no apology, no repairs.
> >
> > "There are ways" bad cops will force compliance with their wishes.
"There > > are ways" you'd wish there was something for you to get busted for--the > > court costs and attorney fees are a lot cheaper than replacing personal > > property. One of the satirical laughs we used to come up with was "for > > god's sake, keep some weed around so we can give it to them when they crash
> > in through the front door!"
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
> Did you watch the Dateline story on Louisiana a few years back about > car searches at the border? Several agencies had to repair several > cars and undo a lot of damage. Don't find anything in Louisiana, you > had better be willing to explain to the Judge (the officer requesting > the search) why you had your suspecions about the search. Louisiana > Internal Affairs (State Police Unit) is curious also and doesn't > like being made a fool of, especially on national tv. Usually the > Drug Dog has just wee'd itself before the request is aired, else
> a no-show gets hard to explain.

heh heh. And, I've always heard that Louisiana is the most crooked state in the United States in terms of laws...

Kim W5TIT

5197. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 18:23:10 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a02iv401pqb@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28192
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message
news:cuvyxnansvbet.gopy6x6.pminews@or.news.verio.net...
> On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 10:25:02 -0500, Krell wrote:
>
> >I posted a cite in my original response. There is a magazine entitled "2600"
> >that has been writing about the same subject for quite some time - keeping > >modern technology in the hands of private corporations and out of the hands
> >of the public.
>
> The credibility of "2600" is expressed by the last two digits in its > name.
>
> If you want more, read the DMCA of 1998. It's basically made > >it illegal to take something apart to see how it works.
>
> A good friend of mine who is a high-up lawyer with the Motion > Picture Association of America has convinced me that the techno > pirates brought such draconian laws upon themselves.

Yeah. Right. The same way that law-abiding gun owners bring on draconian gun laws.

Judging from your "credibility" statement about 2600, I doubt that your lawyer friend had to try very hard to convince you. If you want to find out how quickly this law was rushed through congress without any challenge as to its constitutionality, look up the congressional record to see how your represenative and senators voted.

5198. Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:06:06 UTC
From: Unclaimed Mysteries <k4doh@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a02lo5$ci6$1@slb4.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28194

http://www.theregister.co.uk/content/6/23494.html

"In a five-page order released Friday, the US Federal Communications Commission (FCC) claims that 38-year old convicted hacker Kevin Mitnick is not morally fit to be a ham radio operator. "

Mitnick isn't an A-rab name, is it?

This is bordering on unhealthy obsession. The government apparently sees him as some sort of M3G4 - 3V1L 5UP3RG3N1U5. To my knowledge, only one of THOSE exists: http://users.mfi.net//~jfwallace/spurrier.html

73 Corry K4DOH
--
It Came From C. L. Smith's Unclaimed Mysteries.
http://www.unclaimedmysteries.net

I have sold more books about physics than Madonna has about sex.
- Stephen Hawking

5199. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:21:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C24DD53.5595CDC7@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28195

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:

> Kim's call sign doesn't make me feel bad, ...

If Kim's call sign doesn't make you feel bad then why the heck have you spent weeks complaining about it. You sure don't understand yourself or human nature very well, Larry.

Kim's callsign makes you feel bad - that's why you waste
so much time ragging on her about it. Ask yourself this question: If you felt neutral or good about Kim's callsign, would you be complaining so much about it? Obviously not.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5200. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:26:09 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C24DE51.EF1AB2D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28196

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> If you have to ask that question, you couldn't possibly understand
> the answer.

Aha! The old argumentum ad ignorantiam. You sure are full of diversions.

> All of us, Kim -- and each and every other radio amateur who could > see or hear your call sign, be offended by it, and consequently decide > that they can't be bothered to pursue this hobby -- if you are representative > of the type of mentality that exists among radio amateurs.

I find you to be offensive, Larry. Exactly what are you going to do about it?

> And that "right" is not now, and never has been, at issue.

The issue is: Does Kim have the right to live her life as she pleases or should she be your slave. The Constitution answers that question very well.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5201. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:28:16 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C24DED0.D536F667@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28197

Dick Carroll wrote:
> About every time you post you lose even more respect. I couldn't say that > you have any left.

Dick, if you respected me, that would make me a slimeball - no thanks.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5202. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:29:24 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C24DF14.9B8A2628@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28198

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > He said Ed's opinion could not be taken seriously because he worked > > for the ARRL. Using the identical logic, Riley's opinion cannot be > > taken seriously because he works for the FCC.
>
> ...and yours cannot be taken seriously because you told us so.

IMHO, nothing posted on this newsgroup can be taken seriously.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5203. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:31:25 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C24DF8D.E29D5940@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28199

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dick Carroll wrote:
> > > > That is exactly
> > > > the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal > > > > opinion while in an ARRL position.
> > >
> > > That is NOT what he said to Ed.
> >
> > He said Ed's opinion could not be taken seriously because he worked > > for the ARRL. Using the identical logic, Riley's opinion cannot be > > taken seriously because he works for the FCC.
>
> Don't you ever get tired of lying and making up shit? He and I said > that Ed's opinions couldn't be taken as his independent beliefs since he > works at ARRL and he said that his bosses knew that he wouldn't say > anything contrary to official policy.

The same conclusion still applies. If Ed cannot be taken seriously because he works for the ARRL then Riley cannot be taken seriously because he works for the FCC. You cannot have your cake and eat it too.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5204. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:33:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C24E006.31FB7868@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28200

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >Sorry Larry, Riley has proved he has prudish hangups and I have > >lost a lot of respect for him because of that. He offered his > >personal opinion while in an FCC position. That is exactly
> >the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal > >opinion while in an ARRL position. You are a hypocrite.
>
> Don't look now, but I didn't say that.

Of course you did, Larry. The entire newsgroup read it.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5205. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:34:05 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c24e116_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28201

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C24DD53.5595CDC7@IEEE.org...
> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> > Kim's call sign doesn't make me feel bad, ...
>
> If Kim's call sign doesn't make you feel bad then why the > heck have you spent weeks complaining about it. You sure > don't understand yourself or human nature very well, Larry.
>
> Kim's callsign makes you feel bad - that's why you waste
> so much time ragging on her about it. Ask yourself this > question: If you felt neutral or good about Kim's callsign, > would you be complaining so much about it? Obviously not.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

;p I actually think Larry does feel good about my callsign! He just doesn't realize what pleasure he takes in thinking he is 'being superior' by constant nagging and complaining about me. Larry's one of those folks who finds dark rain in even the shiniest of silver clouds. I've got a sister-in-law like that. She'll invent something evil and dark and ferociously unhappy even if the whole world around her is perfect. Larry can't stand happiness. I mean, for goodness sake, look at all the posts by him that the whole rest of the world is all wrong and he is the only thing that is right about it. Eh? See what I mean?

Kim W5TIT

5206. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:38:25 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C24E131.97A70EE4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28202

WA8ULX wrote:
>
> >Second, I'm an Extra .
>
> Well look A$$ Wipe, maybe you ought to inform QRZ, they still have you as a
> Tech

Say Bruce, still don't know about CSCEs?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5207. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:47:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C24E340.AF8A2675@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28203

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> ;p I actually think Larry does feel good about my callsign! He just > doesn't realize what pleasure he takes in thinking he is 'being superior' by > constant nagging and complaining about me. Larry's one of those folks who > finds dark rain in even the shiniest of silver clouds. I've got a > sister-in-law like that. She'll invent something evil and dark and > ferociously unhappy even if the whole world around her is perfect. Larry > can't stand happiness. I mean, for goodness sake, look at all the posts by > him that the whole rest of the world is all wrong and he is the only thing > that is right about it. Eh? See what I mean?

Yes, I get it now. Larry is sorta like the masochist who enjoys pain. He enjoyed ragging on Ed but since Ed is scarce nowadays, he enjoys ragging on you. Your callsign is bringing joy to an otherwise boring life. I do understand. This is how Larry has fun. So keep spreading the joy, Kim.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5208. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 19:50:13 UTC
From: Richard Clark <kb7qhc@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <e0p92uce6r4lfje4ea241av3t6pg0t9m4g@4ax.com>
Source record: 28204
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 17:59:02 -0800, "Patrick Keele"
<pkg1dra@g1dra.freeserve.co.uk> wrote:

>WHY do you use that STUPID word "MINDSET"?What the hell is a MINDSET?Do you >mean it's how someone thinks?Can i buy this "mindset" in a store or >shop???why don't you speak PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH??????????
>
>I am british and i am SICK of the british using and picking up STUPID
>americanisms in the uk! WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
>
>MOST cbers as you call them in the uk who use SSB/AM ARE criminals and often >get caught to.Any bad reputation the cb fraternity have is mainly due to >their own illegal operations and behaviour.you REAP what you SOW!
>
>PK
>

Hi All,

The origins of English are found in the both the nordic and romance languages. That is, English borrows heavily from German and French.
There is, of course, a considerable amount of Latin (whose roots are found in India's sanskrit).

>PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH

From the Oxford English Dictionary we find:
Plain - Old French, plaign, or from French plein, or Latin planum;
Ordinary - early Old French ordinaire or Latin ordinarious;
Commonsense - Greek, or Latin sensus communis
English - Old Teutonic anglisko

>WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another
>countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!

Indeed....
What - Old teutonic hwat (English juggles spelling too)
Other - Dutch and German ander
Society - Old French societe
In - Old High German, Teutonic
The - Sanskrit tat
World - Teutonic weorold
Imports - Latin importare
Another - see Other, above (English also compounds like german)

Country's (misspelled above) - Old French contrï¿½e
Language - French langage and Latin lingua
To - Old Teutonic ta or Lithuanian da
Replace - Bingo! No derivation shown.
its (misspelled above) - Bingo! however original English was hit
Own - Old Teutonic aigano
How - Old Norse haug
Pathetic - Late Latin patheticus

Even the puffery of being Anglo-Saxon relates to the German tribes of Angles, Saxons and Jutes. Hence our correspondent above barely qualifies as English literate (at 10% for original English content with points lost for spelling throughout).

If you want correspondence in original English, from "Cï¿½dmon's Hymn"
Nu sculon herigean heofonrices Weard
Meotodes meahte and his modgeï¿½anc
weore Wuldor-Fï¿½der swa he wundra gehwï¿½
ece Drihten or onstealede
He ï¿½rest sceop ielda nearnum
heofon to hrofe halig Scyppend
Da middangeard moncynnes Weard
ece Drihten ï¿½fter teode
firum foldan Frea aelmihtig

The split in the stanzas is known as a Cï¿½sura, a pacing device, or pause during recitation.

Perhaps this little piece offers a compelling answer to that pining
>WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another
>countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
because the word "modgeï¿½anc" means mindset. :-O

73's
Richard Clark, KB7QHC

5209. Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 20:01:47 UTC
From: gayillegalscott69@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <4303d5a2.0112221201.1fb1e436@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28205
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net> wrote in message
news:<gI1V7.7112$Li3.2380900517@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>...
> You know SD, You surprise me
> by responding to the forge. I know you > know better, check the headers.
>
> Landshark
>

Again Landshark we do not understand your sudden transformation from "free spirit" to "NET COP". Your sig file is "BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN" but now you are getting down on people for breaking rules on Usenet. What's the deal? Are you screwed up in the head? Or are you some kind of h y p o c r i t e?

5210. Re: Question for Beer Experts

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 20:03:43 UTC
From: kcashion@datasync.com
Message-ID: <3c24e6ee.14180426@news.datasync.com>
Source record: 28193
Cross-posted to: alt.beer,rec.food.drink.beer,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 13:24:59 -0500, "Ed Cregger" <nm2k@arrl.net>
wrote:

>Slumming again, Ken? <G>

Ed, I do get around a little...and I try to enjoy myself while learning. :o)

Ken Cashion

5211. Re: FS: Hitler's Toothpick

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 20:11:43 UTC
From: gayillegalscott69@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <4303d5a2.0112221211.5f53fae8@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28206
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.antiques,rec.radio.swap,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net> wrote in message
news:<OvTU7.7059$x72.2277881967@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>...
> Not really any that matter Scott. It's the same BS
> that our little buddy was doing a few months back
> To all that's concerned, for a year or more now
> we have had a few resident trolls on rec.radio.cb.
> They were using MIBX until after months of > complaints he was terminated. It seems as though > he is back from prep school, for Christmas vacation
> stirring the pot.
>
> Landshark
>
>

Yeah just one thing Landshark. How come you have become a NET COP? You are going around like a small town sherrif enforcing Usenet rules. It's sickening. I mean, YOU were the one that taught me 'BAD CITIZENS HAVE MORE FUN" and snitches are assholes. What the hell is going on? You are making us all confused.

5212. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 20:49:00 UTC
From: Richard Clark <kb7qhc@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <oar92u8tssiansirqbo36akht9aq9pjul0@4ax.com>
Source record: 28208
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 20:16:40 -0800, "Patrick Keele" <pkg1dra@g1dra.freeserve.co.uk> wrote:

>
>Richard Clark <kb7qhc@attbi.com> wrote in message
>news:e0p92uce6r4lfje4ea241av3t6pg0t9m4g@4ax.com...
>> On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 17:59:02 -0800, "Patrick Keele" >> <pkg1dra@g1dra.freeserve.co.uk> wrote:
>>
>> >WHY do you use that STUPID word "MINDSET"?What the hell is a MINDSET?Do
>you >> >mean it's how someone thinks?Can i buy this "mindset" in a store or >> >shop???why don't you speak PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH??????????
>> >
>> >I am british and i am SICK of the british using and picking up STUPID
>> >americanisms in the uk! WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another >> >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
>> >
>> >MOST cbers as you call them in the uk who use SSB/AM ARE criminals and >often >> >get caught to.Any bad reputation the cb fraternity have is mainly due to >> >their own illegal operations and behaviour.you REAP what you SOW!
>> >
>> >PK
>> >
>>
>> Hi All,
>>
>> The origins of English are found in the both the nordic and romance >> languages. That is, English borrows heavily from German and French.
>> There is, of course, a considerable amount of Latin (whose roots are >> found in India's sanskrit).
>>
>> >PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH
>>
>> From the Oxford English Dictionary we find:
>> Plain - Old French, plaign, or from French plein, or Latin planum;
>> Ordinary - early Old French ordinaire or Latin ordinarious;
>> Commonsense - Greek, or Latin sensus communis
>> English - Old Teutonic anglisko
>>
>> >WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another
>> >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!

>>
>> Indeed....
>> What - Old teutonic hwat (English juggles spelling too)
>> Other - Dutch and German ander
>> Society - Old French societe
>> In - Old High German, Teutonic
>> The - Sanskrit tat
>> World - Teutonic weorold
>> Imports - Latin importare
>> Another - see Other, above (English also compounds like german)
>> Country's (misspelled above) - Old French contrï¿½e
>> Language - French langage and Latin lingua
>> To - Old Teutonic ta or Lithuanian da
>> Replace - Bingo! No derivation shown.
>> its (misspelled above) - Bingo! however original English was hit
>> Own - Old Teutonic aigano
>> How - Old Norse haug
>> Pathetic - Late Latin patheticus
>>
>> Even the puffery of being Anglo-Saxon relates to the German tribes of >> Angles, Saxons and Jutes. Hence our correspondent above barely >> qualifies as English literate (at 10% for original English content >> with points lost for spelling throughout).
>>
>> If you want correspondence in original English, from "Cï¿½dmon's Hymn"
>> Nu sculon herigean heofonrices Weard
>> Meotodes meahte and his modgeï¿½anc
>> weore Wuldor-Fï¿½der swa he wundra gehwï¿½
>> ece Drihten or onstealede
>> He ï¿½rest sceop ielda nearnum
>> heofon to hrofe halig Scyppend
>> Da middangeard moncynnes Weard
>> ece Drihten ï¿½fter teode
>> firum foldan Frea aelmihtig
>>
>> The split in the stanzas is known as a Cï¿½sura, a pacing device, or >> pause during recitation.
>>
>> Perhaps this little piece offers a compelling answer to that pining
>> >WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another
>> >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
>> because the word "modgeï¿½anc" means mindset. :-O
>>
>> 73's
>> Richard Clark, KB7QHC
>
>Well,well.Congratulations to an excellent reply to my topic.
>Some of my text was composed in haste.10 out of 10 for oginality,or was it >composed by cutting and pasting from various dictionaries or one or more >thesaurus?:)

>
>PK
>

Hi OM,

The olde fashion way, reading and typing. All references are within 6 feet of me. "Cï¿½dmon's Hymn" was courtesy of "The Norton Anthology of English Literature."

One of the pleasures of English found before Shaksper is that so much of it written seems like gibberish - until you hear it. With Shaksper's work, the language grew enormously (but his work was actually written in an old dialect that was not spoken during his time). Where the educated citizen has a vocabulary of say 10,000 words, his works reveal nearly three times that.

The conceit of Shaksper is a product of having just seen "The Beard Of Avon" two nights ago. [No that wasn't a typo, it is a comic stage play of the "authorship problem."]

73's
Richard Clark, KB7QHC, B.A. English

5213. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 21:02:14 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222160214.05233.00000400@mb-bh.aol.com>
Source record: 28209

>> >WHY do you use that STUPID word "MINDSET"?What the hell is a MINDSET?Do
>you >> >mean it's how someone thinks?Can i buy this "mindset" in a store or >> >shop???why don't you speak PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH??????????
>> >
>> >I am british and i am SICK of the british using and picking up STUPID
>> >americanisms in the uk! WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another >> >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
>> >
>> >MOST cbers as you call them in the uk who use SSB/AM ARE criminals and >often >> >get caught to.Any bad reputation the cb fraternity have is mainly due to >> >their own illegal operations and behaviour.you REAP what you SOW!
>> >
>> >PK
>> >
>>
>> Hi All,
>>
>> The origins of English are found in the both the nordic and romance >> languages. That is, English borrows heavily from German and French.
>> There is, of course, a considerable amount of Latin (whose roots are >> found in India's sanskrit).
>>
>> >PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH
>>
>> From the Oxford English Dictionary we find:
>> Plain - Old French, plaign, or from French plein, or Latin planum;
>> Ordinary - early Old French ordinaire or Latin ordinarious;
>> Commonsense - Greek, or Latin sensus communis
>> English - Old Teutonic anglisko
>>
>> >WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another
>> >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
>>
>> Indeed....
>> What - Old teutonic hwat (English juggles spelling too)
>> Other - Dutch and German ander
>> Society - Old French societe
>> In - Old High German, Teutonic
>> The - Sanskrit tat
>> World - Teutonic weorold
>> Imports - Latin importare
>> Another - see Other, above (English also compounds like german)

>> Country's (misspelled above) - Old French contrï¿½e
>> Language - French langage and Latin lingua
>> To - Old Teutonic ta or Lithuanian da
>> Replace - Bingo! No derivation shown.
>> its (misspelled above) - Bingo! however original English was hit
>> Own - Old Teutonic aigano
>> How - Old Norse haug
>> Pathetic - Late Latin patheticus
>>
>> Even the puffery of being Anglo-Saxon relates to the German tribes of >> Angles, Saxons and Jutes. Hence our correspondent above barely >> qualifies as English literate (at 10% for original English content >> with points lost for spelling throughout).
>>
>> If you want correspondence in original English, from "Cï¿½dmon's Hymn"
>> Nu sculon herigean heofonrices Weard
>> Meotodes meahte and his modgeï¿½anc
>> weore Wuldor-Fï¿½der swa he wundra gehwï¿½
>> ece Drihten or onstealede
>> He ï¿½rest sceop ielda nearnum
>> heofon to hrofe halig Scyppend
>> Da middangeard moncynnes Weard
>> ece Drihten ï¿½fter teode
>> firum foldan Frea aelmihtig
>>
>> The split in the stanzas is known as a Cï¿½sura, a pacing device, or >> pause during recitation.
>>
>> Perhaps this little piece offers a compelling answer to that pining
>> >WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another
>> >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
>> because the word "modgeï¿½anc" means mindset. :-O
>>
>> 73's
>> Richard Clark, KB7QHC
>
>Well,well.Congratulations to an excellent reply to my topic.
>Some of my text was composed in haste.10 out of 10 for oginality,or was it >composed by cutting and pasting from various dictionaries or one or more >thesaurus?:)
>
>PK

Ok Patrick. You're a wanker. Better? It's dufus' with a "mind-set" like yours that makes me glad my parents emigrated from the UK...aw heck let's just call it England...before I was conceived.

No so nice when someone responds in a mean fashion, hmm? Think about that next time you feel an attack of pomposity coming on. My folks have had so many people from "back home" come over and act like they're better than the "yankees." (Perhaps that's why they're my favorite baseball team...word association.) Take care and 73.

Mark

5214. Re: Who in the pluperfect is George?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 21:10:11 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222161011.05233.00000401@mb-bh.aol.com>
Source record: 28210

>So who in hell is George???

Sorry about that, Dick. Our friend...Old man in PA, middlefinger4, etc. posted his first name and call, George. Take care and 73.

Mark

5215. Re: ARS License Numbers

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 21:12:15 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222161215.05233.00000402@mb-bh.aol.com>
Source record: 28211

>What happens
>to >> the Advanced licensees when they renew? Can one retain his/her Advanced >ticket
>> indefinitely? Just curious. Take care and 73.
>> Mark
>
>At this time, with the current rules, an Advanced can renew as an Advanced >indefinitely. The FCC could change that in the future, but that's >the way it is now.
>
>Cheers,
>Bill K2UNK

Thanks Bill. Take care and 73.

Mark

5216. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 21:12:57 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <ACAA129EBB074F0E.97CC7AD30D38B62C.680DA1D2E8CA22E9@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28212

On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 21:44:54 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>He said Ed's opinion could not be taken seriously because he worked >for the ARRL. Using the identical logic, Riley's opinion cannot be >taken seriously because he works for the FCC.

I guess his views on the arrl are situational--if you remember, the other day he told me that if I doubted that the ARS was defined as "family oriented" I should check with the arrl. Presumably, they are a legitimate source of definitions so long as he agrees with them--but when he disagrees, they aren't to be taken seriously.

How very convenient.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5217. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 21:32:22 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <8CD927DECEB9ED59.AF3C7F3C059F815B.C682CC1D864B079A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28213

On 22 Dec 2001 04:47:46 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Notwithstanding the state of my "bubble," it was/is the ARRL that has >made the statements regarding the "family-oriented" nature of the ARS
>to which I am now responding. It was a prime argument made by ARRL >officials who, in spite of the current policy of the ARRL, gave support >to the notion of reducing and/or eliminating the code testing requirements >in any future proceedings to alter the amateur licensing system. I didn't >mention the FCC because the FCC is strictly a regulatory agency of the >federal government -- not "The National Organization for Amateur Radio."

Do I understand correctly that Larry Roll is using arguments raised in support of the elimination of any code requirements to make a point about the nature of amateur radio?

Larry, either those views have no value, and can thus be discounted completely, or they DO have value, in which case your direct opposition to the elimination of the code requirements marks you as FAR more harmful to the ARS than Kim's call sign could possibly be! You can't have it both ways--if the statements are from a credible and qualified source YOU are violating your own standards; if they are not from a credible and qualified source they have no bearing on Kim or anyone else what-so-ever.

>I can't speak for Dick, but I, as an ARRL member, consider the policies >of that organization to reflect on me, personally, as a U.S. licensed >radio amateur. Therefore, the ARRL does indirectly "speak" for me.
>I may not agree with what they are saying, but that doesn't stop them >from saying it!

Guess what?

If it's ok for YOU (an arrl member) to disagree with what they are saying, it's certainly just as reasonable for Kim to do so as well! Even if the arrl DID view her call sign as offensive (and, so far as I've seen, there has been NO "official" pronouncement from the arrl about her call sign at all) it would have no more direct bearing on her decision than their support for no-code licensure has on your own decision to oppose that policy.

If you want the arrl view, since you claim that Ed Hare "toes the line" to arrl policy when he posts, why not ask HIS opinion?

>They have a perfect right to state their opinions here, as long as they are >clearly identified as being the official position of the ARRL -- and that >is done simply by identifying themselves as such.

Can we take it, then, that your views concerning what is offensive and what is not represent the official position of the bus company you drive for? After all, you DO make it clear that you work for them--certainly as clear as Ed made it that he works for the ARRL--and "offensiveness" is as much a legitimate concern of transit companies as it is of amateur radio organizations.

You aren't speaking for your firm? Then why on earth would it be a given that any one else is, either?

>Ed Hare never made >it any secret that he was the director of the ARRL Lab -- and so he, >therefore, speaks as an ARRL official.

No, he speaks as an expert in one area of amateur radio technology. And in that area it's pretty safe to say that most readers would accept his views as being accurate, wouldn't you?

> Ed never even took the simple >step of including a disclaimer on his signature line, stating that his >opinions were strictly his own, and not those of his employer. Therefore,
>I had to infer that he was, indeed, speaking in the capacity of an ARRL >official.

Fair enough.

From now on, based on your OWN statement above, we'll just assume that your statements are made speaking in your official capacity as a bus driver.

That should be "fare."

>Rick, it would have been a lot easier for you to say, "Larry, I'm not >going to do that, because you're right!"

Of course it would.

It wouldn't have been true.

But it would have been easier.

Is that why YOU make so many inaccurate statements--or are those "professional" pronouncements from the "driver's seat?"

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5218. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 21:37:06 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <E1422B87ED28BEF9.E7298A00386C35B4.FCA005A88FA1112B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28214

On 22 Dec 2001 04:47:47 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>If it makes you feel any better, I own a significant interest in several >tracts of commercial property in New York.

Slumlord, huh?

>I simply choose not to >live in that state, and I hadn't decided to stay in Delaware permanently >until just this past year, when I got my present job. What I don't >understand is what this matters to others. My business is my >business -- and as long as my business doesn't bring the ARS
>"...one step closer to extinction," like Kim's call sign, then get your >nose out of it!

Er, Driver . . . Driver . . . You missed your stop!

YOU are the one who started using the term "trailer trash," remember? Since you attacked others on their choice of homes, it's only reasonable to open the subject of your OWN choice of residences to discussion as well.

Now we know that you not only live in an apartment, but wouldn't consider living on the property you DO own. That's GOT to be pretty bad, Larry, if even "renter wreckage" won't live there!

Rick <--homeowner

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5219. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 21:47:06 UTC
From: 'Doc <w5lz@icok.net>
Message-ID: <3C24FF42.AF13518E@icok.net>
Source record: 28215
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Patrick,
As an 'aside', all other societies 'import' and use words and phrases from other countries or societies. Take English for example,
it's an amalgam of several other languages, with very few 'unmodified'
words from the original Saxon, Gaelic, Goth, German, Latin, and Engl remaining.
'Doc

5220. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 22:06:56 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C250386.413BAF74@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28216

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2410B6.8D1A8D40@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C239257.44DC590B@earthlink.net...
> > > > Krell wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > > news:3C22A13A.36CDAB78@earthlink.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > > The fact remains, Kim set out to enlist Riley as one of her > > > supporters.
> > > > > > She didn't like his response, which was 180 degrees from her views
> and > > > > > > promptly dismissed it. That is pretty hard to deny.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > >
> > > > > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was > > > legally > > > > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
> > > > >
> > > > That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > > > > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official. If his support is a > moot
> > > > point, why did Kim feel it necessary to seek it?
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > I'm running out of crayons here, Dave. At the time the solicitation
> from > > > Riley was sought, there was some nitwit (not Larry) who was telling me
> he > > > was going to see to it that the FCC would revoke my callsign...blah,
> blah, > > > blah. At the same time our resident nitwit (Larry) was just getting > stoked
> > > up. So, for both of them, and to the shut the non-resident nitwit up, I > > > wrote to Riley and asked him about the idea of the FCC revoking a
> callsign,
> > > in fact the FCC being interested in policing callsigns at all. Riley
```

> is, as
> > > you say, an FCC official. His response shut the non-resident nitwit up.
> > > His response lit a fire under the resident nitwit--and now you.
> > >
> > > K?
> > >
> > > Got it?
> > >
> > > Is it sinking in?
> > >
> > > Kim W5TIT
> >
> > We know what was asked. We know what the response was. We know what > > you did about it. We know that you chose to ignore Riley's advice.
> >
>
> Oh? Really? OK, Dave. WHAT advice did Riley give? Hmmmmmmm?????
>
> > That has sunk in.
>
> Like I said in another post. In your jello of a mind, WHAT advice did > Riley give? Remember that, while I wrote Riley for his personal opinion as > an official of the FCC, he would still have been regarded as speaking on > behalf of that official nature. So, what "advice" do you think Mr. Riley > Hollingsworth would offer a citizen of the United States who could possibly > take that as being official? Hmmm???? Just wondering what your little > feeble mind is trying to contrive this time.

One step closer to extinction...

Further, Riley did NOT say, "I think you've made a fine decision, Kim" or "Anyone who would take offense at your call must be made, Kim".

> > So has the idea that you take anyone who thinks that > > your choice of a vanity call is in poor taste as a nitwit.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Well. Exactly. Just as you think that I, and anyone who thinks it is OK, > is a jerk.

Not really, Kim. I don't believe that you have any concept of what is appropriate. I don't know how many think it is "OK". You've received a few statements of support here. You've also heard from a number who believe that you've shown a lack of class.

Dave K8MN

5221. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 22:10:12 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C25044C.4766B089@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28217

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2413DD.76E2B63F@earthlink.net...
> > Krell wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C239257.44DC590B@earthlink.net...
> > > > > Riley's personal opinion has nothing to do with a callsign that was > > > legally > > > > > issued. His support, or non-support, is a moot point.
> > > >
> > > > That simply is not the case. Riley wasn't speaking from his personal > > > > opinion. He was speaking as an FCC official. If his support is a > moot
> > >
> > > Bullshit! The only thing that needed to be said in the capacity as an > > > official is whether or not the callsign was legal. Anything additional
> FCC
> is > > > personal opinion.
> >
> > Bullshit? Is that sort of like, "I beg to disagree"? Riley spoke in > > his official capacity. He isn't the neighbor, telling Kim over the > > backyard fence, "I think you're doing a stupid thing here, Kim".
> >
>
> Riley was not speaking officially, Dave. At most, Riley was speaking his > personal opinion as an FCC official. Kind of like Phil Kane offering his > personal "read" on amateur radio R&R as a former FCC official. Or, kind of > like asking a meteorologist his personal opinion of what he thinks the > weather will do--which may contrast considerably from what is offered the > public, officially. GADS I thought you were more intelligent than that.
> Riley was not speaking as an official of the FCC.

So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of
callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?

> > > > point, why did Kim feel it necessary to seek it?
> > >
> > > I don't know. Why don't you ask HER?
> >
> > Because I'm responding to the comments of an anonymous Pittsburgh area > > type. Kim was hoping for a solid positive response. She didn't get it.
> >

> > Dave K8MN
>
> You're so full of crap, Dave. You can't see past that silver spoon dangling > off the end of your nose.

What's with this "silver spoon" stuff, Kim? This is perhaps the third or fourth time you've used it with me? What has it to do with my comment? Did you or did you not receive the positive response you sought from Riley?

Dave K8MN

5222. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 22:13:29 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C250511.92F4443@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28218

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C241688.4530DD48@earthlink.net...
> > Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > >
> > > In article <3c2355fb_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> writes:
> > >
> > > >I don't dismiss at all Riley's opinion. He has every right to it. Do
> I > > > >think it's more important that anyone else's? No. Do I think it > carries > > > >more validity than anyone else's? No. And, I honestly think that > > > >Riley--even disagreeing with my choice of callsigns--is still far more > > > >logical than anyone like you. The BASIS (basis, Dave, not substance)
> of > > > >Riley's response to me was that the FCC was not "in the business"
> > > >(paraphrased, I think) of judging callsigns.
> > >
> > > Kim:
> > >
> > > That is correct -- the FCC is not in the business of judging call signs.
> > > The reason is because, under the Vanity Call Sign program, they > > > trust radio amateurs to have the maturity, good taste, and judgment > > > necessary to select a call sign which is not offensive, demeaning, > > > or insulting to others. If and when a person such as yourself shows > > > up, and requests a call sign with the potential to take the ARS "ï¿½?ï¿½one > > > step closer to extinction," they will still issue it, leaving the > fallout
> > > to land on your head!
> > >
> > > >It is not hard at all to deny your lie, Dave. Actually, it probably is
> not > > > >a lie--it is your illogical, elitist mind telling you things you want
> to > > > >hear.
> > >
> > > Where did Dave lie, Kim? I must have missed that!
> >
> > She must mean the portion where I stated that she dismissed Riley's > > view. That isn't a lie though. That is precisely what took place.
> > She retained her call despite Riley's words. That certainly shows that > > she dismissed what he wrote.

> >
>
> ho ho ho....ya found a silver lining in your train of thinking, did ya?
> You're hilarious. WHY would I change my callsign just because someone
> doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?

Because it is the right thing to do.

> > She also perceives someone as an "elitist" when that person recognizes > > tacky as tacky.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> You are an elitist, Dave. A highly crappy one, but one nevertheless.

Why would that be the case? Is it because I didn't choose a tacky callsign? Is it because I've stated that I find your choice of calls is tacky and lacking in judgement?

I've always wondered: Is Kim short for Kimodo?

Dave K8MN

5223. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 22:23:04 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C25074D.9742EA0B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28219

CAM wrote:
>
> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > If you have to ask that question, you couldn't possibly understand
> > the answer.
>
> Aha! The old argumentum ad ignorantiam. You sure are full of diversions.
>
> > All of us, Kim -- and each and every other radio amateur who could > > see or hear your call sign, be offended by it, and consequently decide > > that they can't be bothered to pursue this hobby -- if you are representative > > of the type of mentality that exists among radio amateurs.
>
> I find you to be offensive, Larry. Exactly what are you going to do > about it?
>
> > And that "right" is not now, and never has been, at issue.
>
> The issue is: Does Kim have the right to live her life as she pleases > or should she be your slave. The Constitution answers that question > very well.

Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the events which have unfolded over the past several months.

Kim's "rights" are not without limits.

Dave K8MN

5224. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 22:24:11 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C250790.6A39D430@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28220

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > He said Ed's opinion could not be taken seriously because he worked > > > for the ARRL. Using the identical logic, Riley's opinion cannot be > > > taken seriously because he works for the FCC.
> >
> > ...and yours cannot be taken seriously because you told us so.
>
> IMHO, nothing posted on this newsgroup can be taken seriously.

See--we can't believe that is your view since you can't be taken seriously.

Dave K8MN

5225. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:02:55 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222180255.01493.00000323@mb-mw.aol.com>
Source record: 28221

In article <3C24E131.97A70EE4@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>WA8ULX wrote:
>>
>> >Second, I'm an Extra .
>>
>> Well look A$$ Wipe, maybe you ought to inform QRZ, they still have you as a >> Tech
>
>Say Bruce, still don't know about CSCEs?

Obviously not.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5226. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:08:09 UTC
From: Martin <mdwade@mobiletelZ.com>
Message-ID: <3C251259.4F59@mobiletelZ.com>
Source record: 28222

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Martin" <mdwade@mobiletelZ.com> wrote in message
> news:3C23F682.26F8@mobiletelZ.com...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message
> > > news:yuRU7.10753$BX4.940960@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
> > > > See below for comments.
> > > > Josey Wales <nothanks@nospam.com> wrote in message
> > > > news:yNPU7.4707$_f.114138@dfw-read.news.verio.net...
> > > > > That's correct. If you refuse, they can get a warrant and detain > you if
> > > > it > > > > > takes 12 hours to get it if they want. They will likely then tear > your
> > > > car
> > > > > apart looking for drugs, not reassemble it for you of course, while
> a > > > drug
> > > > > dog is turned loose inside and outside your car with his claws
> > > scratching
> > > > > the shit out of your paint job. Don't be so naive as to think they > > > can't > > > > > ruin their day in any number of ways. Refuse a search and it's > assumed
> > > > you > > > > > have something to hide. You do have rights but there are ways too > > > > numerous > > > > > to mention how they can make your day a real bitch.
> > > >
> > > > I am asking a question here, so don't think I am being smarty, OK? If
> an > > > officer
> > > > "suspects" you of something and tears up your vehicle, paint,
> upholstery,
> > > etc., if he > > > > finds nothing, wouldn't there be recourse for the owner of the vehicle
> for > > > damage of the vehicle.
> > > > That would seem most unfair to be able to rip up someone's car on > > > > "suspicion".
> > > >
> > >

> > > I've witnessed two occasions where, in one, an apartment of some friends
> of > > > my brother was torn apart in a "drug raid." Every single box of > whatever
> > > was turned upside down and dumped in the middle of the kitchen floor, > > > speaker grills on the stereo were cut, sofa cushions and back were cut,
> all > > > furniture was tossed every which way, framed pictures yanked (yes, > yanked)
> > > off the walls and paper backing torn off...and on and on. By the time
> the > > > cops were done, the apartment looked worse than any vandals could ever
> have > > > hoped, the cops were empty-handed (turned out it was tenant wars--the > > > upstairs tenants had called with "suspicion" that there was drug dealing > > > going on because they were mad at the volume of the stereo) and not even
> an > > > apology was uttered as they went out the door. There were about 7-8 of > them
> > > and I guarantee you that every neighbor and visitor around there had > their > > > chins hanging to the ground in literal shock. There was no recoourse
> for > > > these people to have anything cleaned, replaced, or repaired.
> > >
> > > In another, a car's seats and headliner were cut open for the same > thing.
> > > Again, nothing found, no apology, no repairs.
> > >
> > > "There are ways" bad cops will force compliance with their wishes.
> "There > > > are ways" you'd wish there was something for you to get busted
> for--the > > > court costs and attorney fees are a lot cheaper than replacing personal > > > property. One of the satirical laughs we used to come up with was "for > > > god's sake, keep some weed around so we can give it to them when they > crash
> > > in through the front door!"
> > >
> > > Kim W5TIT
> >
> > Did you watch the Dateline story on Louisiana a few years back about > > car searches at the border? Several agencies had to repair several > > cars and undo a lot of damage. Don't find anything in Louisiana, you > > had better be willing to explain to the Judge (the officer requesting > > the search) why you had your suspecions about the search. Louisiana > > Internal Affairs (State Police Unit) is curious also and doesn't > > like being made a fool of, especially on national tv. Usually the > > Drug Dog has just wee'd itself before the request is aired, else > > a no-show gets hard to explain.

>
> heh heh. And, I've always heard that Louisiana is the most crooked state in > the United States in terms of laws...
>
> Kim W5TIT
Every locale has its pluses and minuses and I guess Louisiana took the winners circle for crooks but then it takes one to know one HEH HEH! But seriously,
judges don't like their warrants being questioned when it is shown flimsy excuses for making a determination for a warrant. If a cop looks like an dolt too many times, the Judge could have questions about his integrity.
Be right or be ready to explain.

Martin N5PZJ

5227. CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:12:24 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28223
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....

http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/

5228. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:17:06 UTC
From: kc2hmn@cs.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011222181706.05085.00000530@mb-ma.news.cs.com>
Source record: 28224

>DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
>
>http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/

Troll, troll, troll your post gently down the thread...

73 de Bert
KC2HMN

5229. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:18:09 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 28225
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

I like it!

IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
>
> http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/

5230. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:30:35 UTC
From: john <w9jcm@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <vl8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net>
Source record: 28227
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
"Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
> I like it!
>
>
> IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> >
> > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
>
>

5231. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:38:01 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112222337350.18576-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 28226

His name has nothing to do with it. His conviction for cellular phone phreaking is the reason behind why he was found morally unfit.

On Sat, 22 Dec 2001, Unclaimed Mysteries wrote:
>http://www.theregister.co.uk/content/6/23494.html
>
>"In a five-page order released Friday, the US Federal Communications >Commission (FCC) claims that 38-year old convicted hacker Kevin Mitnick is >not morally fit to be a ham radio operator. "
>
>Mitnick isn't an A-rab name, is it?
>
>This is bordering on unhealthy obsession. The government apparently sees him >as some sort of M3G4 - 3V1L 5UP3RG3N1U5. To my knowledge, only one of THOSE >exists: http://users.mfi.net//~jfwallace/spurrier.html
>
>73 Corry K4DOH
>--
>It Came From C. L. Smith's Unclaimed Mysteries.
>http://www.unclaimedmysteries.net

5232. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:50:14 UTC
From: Frank Todd <k3eko@nospam.nidhog.net> Message-ID: <W_8V7.2101$6p.19157@rwcrnsc54>
Source record: 28228

You don't say????

"D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org> wrote in message news:Pine.LNX.4.10.10112222337350.18576-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org...
> His name has nothing to do with it. His conviction for cellular phone > phreaking is the reason behind why he was found morally unfit.
>
> On Sat, 22 Dec 2001, Unclaimed Mysteries wrote:
> >http://www.theregister.co.uk/content/6/23494.html
> >
> >"In a five-page order released Friday, the US Federal Communications > >Commission (FCC) claims that 38-year old convicted hacker Kevin Mitnick
is > >not morally fit to be a ham radio operator. "
> >
> >Mitnick isn't an A-rab name, is it?
> >
> >This is bordering on unhealthy obsession. The government apparently sees him > >as some sort of M3G4 - 3V1L 5UP3RG3N1U5. To my knowledge, only one of THOSE
> >exists: http://users.mfi.net//~jfwallace/spurrier.html
> >
> >73 Corry K4DOH
> >--
> >It Came From C. L. Smith's Unclaimed Mysteries.
> >http://www.unclaimedmysteries.net
>

5233. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:56:47 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C251DBF.687C2C9F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28229

Dave Heil wrote:
> Since Dr. "No" has no need for HF > access, what is his beef? If he has none, why do you keep trotting him > out?

As an example of a nocode tech who is perfectly satisfied with his present ham license and is technically head and shoulders above the vast majority of all coded hams.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5234. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-22 23:59:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C251E5E.41E3536B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28230

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > He has no beef. Mine is the idea presented by the PCTA folk that all > > nocode techs are technical dumb $hits. One would think a PhD in EE > > would be good enough proof to the contrary.
>
> I don't recall any idea presented by "PCTA folk" which is as > you claim. Are you basing your claim in the statements of one or two > individuals?

I'm basing my claim on the statements of some members of the PCTA crowd, e.g. Larry and Dick.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5235. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:03:15 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C251F43.1458C5DD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28232

```
Dave Heil wrote:
> So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of
> callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?

How can a private email be official?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5236. Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:04:33 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112221604.26efbb6@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28231
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net> wrote in message
news:<gI1V7.7112$Li3.2380900517@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>...
> You know SD, You surprise me
> by responding to the forge. I know you > know better, check the headers.
>
> Landshark
>
>
> --
> Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All
>
> "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in > message news:d9f7b76c.0112220712.6673674@posting.google.com...
> > twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com (Twistedhed) wrote in message
> news:<e9de0154.0112212347.3868de48@posting.google.com>...
> > > "Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net>
> > > news:<9vturn0l20@enews1.newsguy.com>
> > > Re: Lelnad I Am Obsessed With YOU
> > >
> > > Well, there's always going to be some uneducated slug, who has a > > > Messiah
> > > Complex, thinking he has every right to be above the law. Charles > > > Manson,
> > > Adolph Hitler, Jim Jones, Son of Sam, The Zodiac Killer, the list goes
> > > on
> > > and on...
> > >
> > > I'll assume that anyone who believes radio should be free to the
> > > unlicensed
> > > public, also can't understand why they keep getting their driver's
> > > license
> > > revoked for driving under the influence, why they can't yell "fire" in
> > > a > > > crowded theater, and they believe the people in handcuffs on COPS are > > > just > > > being harrassed...
> > >
> > > "Listen Jim or whatever monicker of Lelnads kennel club you are using > > > today, I am quite surpassing in educational acheivement more to the > > > likes of you can see for eons of time. If any of your so-called > > > epithets could harm me you would be dangerous and lack the sentence
> > > structre to dialogue with me. I observe that you are a no-code

> > > CB-hater so go back to the dog pound and lap your paw some more"
> >
> > you know twist.....the problem with you is this. you write articles in > > magazines pertaining to radio related subjects, you operate on the > > freeband and talk all over the world and of course finally.....you > > don't have any numbers and letters after your name......now that my > > friend is what puts the burr in their collective saddles,......no > > doubt about it.............

oops you are right shark.....didn't read the post close enough....to tell you the truth , i haven't been paying much attention to this twist/leland fued.....however, do you agree with my post as it relates to twist? because that was who i wanted to talk to.......the twist, the whole twist, and nothing but the twist.....so help me, radio god.....

5237. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:07:13 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C252031.BDE6AC6A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28233

Dave Heil wrote:
> > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone
> > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
>
> Because it is the right thing to do.

The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
First Amendment rights without badgering her.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5238. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:09:38 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2520C2.E6E16225@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28234

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > The issue is: Does Kim have the right to live her life as she pleases > > or should she be your slave. The Constitution answers that question > > very well.
>
> Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be > determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
> Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every > freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the events > which have unfolded over the past several months.
>
> Kim's "rights" are not without limits.

So Dave, are you going to bring that lawsuit against Kim or just try to kill her with the jawbone of an ass?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5239. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:17:25 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <po9V7.307152$W8.11127825@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28235

"Mark Pearsal" <radiohead11m@aol.com> wrote in message

> My folks have had so many > people from "back home" come over and act like they're better than the > "yankees." (Perhaps that's why they're my favorite baseball team...word > association.) Take care and 73.

Strike TWO!!!...

Rich

5240. Re: Who in the pluperfect is George?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:18:18 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112221618.6137e73c@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28236

"Richard McCollum" <rmcollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:<K7YU7.306566$W8.11065674@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> George or whoever has a case of the tights with anyone who does not > subscribe to his Old Yankee view of the world.

OBEYING LAWS IS AN OLD YANKEE VIEW OF THE WORLD? ABIDING BY PART 95 IS AN OLD YANKEE VIEW OF THE WORLD?

IF YOU SAY SO DICK.

5241. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:23:17 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <Vt9V7.307160$W8.11127020@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28237

Dave Heil wrote

> Not really, Kim. I don't believe that you have any concept of what is > appropriate. I don't know how many think it is "OK". You've received a > few statements of support here.

I didn't say it was "OK", I said it was fine...

Consice and to the point...

Rich

5242. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:25:18 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <Ov9V7.144346$bs2.23874540@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 28238
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

No..........It's just the way I am. I really DO think FCC regs SUCK OUT LOUD!
I've been on both sides of the fence and decided i liked the view better from the trees!
I'm also not the TROLL who started the cross posted thread.
Train
"john" <w9jcm@arrl.net> wrote in message
news:vI8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net...
> Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
> "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
> news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
> > I like it!
> >
> >
> > IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> > >
> > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
> >
> >
>
>

5243. Re: RADIO LAW and the newbie cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:29:50 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <2A9V7.144454$bs2.23887464@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 28239
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:CJ0V7.289$UO1.134860@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net...
>
> Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote...
> :
> : "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote ...
> : >
> : > Speaking from the perspective of thirty years direct working
> : experience with law enforcement officers, the officers you describe are > poorly
> : trained and even more poorly supervised. Any supervisor who allows a > junior
> : officer to send any questionable case to the prosecutor is derelict. And > he
> : will shortly hear so from that prosecutor, who has no time for that sort
> of
> : > nonsense.Without exception he will have real work to do. And in the
> : unlikely event the presecutor is just as green and sends it on the the > court, the
> : > judge himself will set the whole bunch on the straight and narrow.
He's
> : thebusiest of all.
> : > It sounds like you've been talking with a bunch of rank recruits > : straight out of the academy who have yet to even meet their field training
> : officers, who surely WILL set them straight.
> : >
> :
> : Dick, without disagreeing with you, the police forces are fighting - and
I
> : think losing - being ground down by the burden of a lot of things
> : including really stupid drug enforcement. This plagues the system from
> : the cop thru the courts and the penal institutions. The NHP has become > : the I-80 drug patrol and as a result does most of its recruiting thru
the
> : truck inspectors; the OPD leads the planet in pot busts, BFD. When the
> : MHP, KHP etc. are lining up to recruit at NebrOma's law enforcement > : program to compete for the decent you know that some warm bodies are being > given badges and guns; the out of state patrolmen probably accomplish more > traffic enforcement than the NHP during their body-snatching visits. We > : had a minor dust-up in the complex involving the Douglas County

Sheriff's
> : office and I thought the place was being invaded by Sea Scouts.
> :
> : When you can't interest the Federal DAs office in anything that can't
> : raise 10 grand or confiscate something, similar down at the local
> : Prosecutor, it is no small wonder radio enforcement goes to hell. So we
> : get bandaids like Tacoma in hopes the local gendarmes can cure TVI thru
> : sheer force of personality. As a practical matter, an undermanned group
> : takes up acting like the Marines and it is welcome time to the LAPD.
> :
> : At the same time, as you point out, the radio-owning public has little
to
> : fear barring a complaint. The poor cop is out looking for drug mules to
> : add one more rusty 82 Chevy to the impound lot.
> :
> : Dick N&#65533;BK
>
> Good points.
>
> I, however, think that many out there
> just do not have an idea what the average > LEO goes thru. Too many have an image > of "Dragnet". Law enforcement has changed.
>
> The average department is made up of younger > (they just do not stay around like they used to),
> more fit and a bit more hard nosed individuals
> these days.
>
> BTW, did you guys know that Buddy Hatchett
> had been a cop? (I think I spelled his name right,

No........You didn't,
Buddy Hackett

Train

> you know the fat little comedy guy).
>
>
>
>

5244. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:35:59 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> Message-ID: <3C252677.CE91748D@spam.me.not>
Source record: 28240
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Interesting you should say that, Patrick, considering English is nothing but a hodgepodge of Norse, Gaelic, High German, Latin, and French...

Or doesn't that count?

-SSB

Patrick Keele wrote:
>
> WHY do you use that STUPID word "MINDSET"?What the hell is a MINDSET?Do you > mean it's how someone thinks?Can i buy this "mindset" in a store or > shop???why don't you speak PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH??????????
>
> I am british and i am SICK of the british using and picking up STUPID
> americanisms in the uk! WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another > countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!
>
> MOST cbers as you call them in the uk who use SSB/AM ARE criminals and often > get caught to.Any bad reputation the cb fraternity have is mainly due to > their own illegal operations and behaviour.you REAP what you SOW!
>
> PK

5245. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:50:56 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <QT9V7.178578$WW.11206430@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28241
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
news:3C252677.CE91748D@spam.me.not...
> Interesting you should say that, Patrick, considering English is nothing > but a hodgepodge of Norse, Gaelic, High German, Latin, and French...
>
> Or doesn't that count?
>
> -SSB
>

or Arabic (sugar), Hindi (bungalow, thug), Spanish (particularly in American idiom - ranch, buckaroo, a corruption of vaquero).

5246. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:53:43 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <rW9V7.178580$WW.11206394@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28242

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C252031.BDE6AC6A@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone
> > > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> >
> > Because it is the right thing to do.
>
> The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> First Amendment rights without badgering her.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

No one suggests otherwise, Cecil. The whole rationale for the First Amendment is that dumbshit ideas are better off exposed to the air rather than being allowed to ferment in the walls.

5247. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:55:30 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not>
Message-ID: <3C252B09.AF6DAF76@spam.me.not>
Source record: 28243
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Thanks for expounding upon my point Dick.

73's

-SSB

Richard McCollum wrote:
>
> "Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> news:3C252677.CE91748D@spam.me.not...
> > Interesting you should say that, Patrick, considering English is nothing > > but a hodgepodge of Norse, Gaelic, High German, Latin, and French...
> >
> > Or doesn't that count?
> >
> > -SSB
> >
>
> or Arabic (sugar), Hindi (bungalow, thug), Spanish (particularly in > American idiom - ranch, buckaroo, a corruption of vaquero).

5248. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 00:59:46 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <60aV7.178583$WW.11206978@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28244
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
news:3C252B09.AF6DAF76@spam.me.not...
> Thanks for expounding upon my point Dick.
>
> 73's
>
> -SSB

Oh it gets worse. Pretty soon we will hear from the Latin scholar objecting to ending sentences with prepositions. This resulted in I believe Shaw and possibly used by Churchill replying to a critic with,
"That's the sort of nonsense up with which I will not put."

Beer Keg

>
> Richard McCollum wrote:
> >
> > "Sideband" <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> > news:3C252677.CE91748D@spam.me.not...
> > > Interesting you should say that, Patrick, considering English is nothing
> > > but a hodgepodge of Norse, Gaelic, High German, Latin, and French...
> > >
> > > Or doesn't that count?
> > >
> > > -SSB
> > >
> >
> > or Arabic (sugar), Hindi (bungalow, thug), Spanish (particularly in > > American idiom - ranch, buckaroo, a corruption of vaquero).

5249. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 01:08:59 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A2E190FAE796A0DF.4FEFBB9AF182142E.D2693F8941B9036D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28245

On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 18:09:38 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>So Dave, are you going to bring that lawsuit against Kim or just try >to kill her with the jawbone of an ass?

Has he been dismembering Larry Roll again?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5250. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 01:10:09 UTC
From: Kamatu <admin@ahww.net>
Message-ID: <a03b2s06a6@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28248
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Looks to me that someone with just enough brains to use Geoshitties, has now bought himself a President Ham Radio and just can't figure out why they put all those little push buttons on a CB.

Hehehe, if it weren't so obviously pathetic, it might warrant an argument.

"john" <w9jcm@arrl.net> wrote in message
news:vI8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net...
> Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
> "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
> news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
> > I like it!
> >
> >
> > IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> > >
> > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
> >
> >
>
>

5251. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 01:26:18 UTC
From: "James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <9lca2u4lqrb3lck2jlnq1cuc6q7o1ksm7q@4ax.com>
Source record: 28247

>CAM wrote:
>>
>> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> > If you have to ask that question, you couldn't possibly understand
>> > the answer.
>>
>> Aha! The old argumentum ad ignorantiam. You sure are full of diversions.
>>
>> > All of us, Kim -- and each and every other radio amateur who could >> > see or hear your call sign, be offended by it, and consequently decide >> > that they can't be bothered to pursue this hobby -- if you are representative >> > of the type of mentality that exists among radio amateurs.
>>
>> I find you to be offensive, Larry. Exactly what are you going to do >> about it?
>>
>> > And that "right" is not now, and never has been, at issue.
>>
>> The issue is: Does Kim have the right to live her life as she pleases >> or should she be your slave. The Constitution answers that question >> very well.
>
>Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be >determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
>Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every >freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the events >which have unfolded over the past several months.
>
>Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
>
>Dave K8MN
What's wrong with her callsign? I see nothing obscene about it.
It should be up to her and her alone to keep it or change it since the FCC issued it. Whether you or I like it should have nothing to do with her keeping or changing it.

5252. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 01:58:08 UTC
From: ZOOM <kandrparker@sympatico.ca>
Message-ID: <9TaV7.49651$x25.4981036@news20.bellglobal.com>
Source record: 28249
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Of course you like it there because you don't have 20 stations competing for the same frequency. That's why it's a ham band and not a CB band cause if it was a CB band it would be like all the other channels cramped and hard to make a contact.
Just another reason why you as a CBer should request more frequency coverage so we don't keep going around in circles with good guy bad guy BS.
Hams don't want you on the frequencies because it gets real unruly quickly. Those who think they are rebels cause they go on frequencies that they have no right to be on soon find out that no one wants to talk to them. A ham will not talk to an unlicensed station not because they are being arrogant it's because it's the law!
You want to break the law and call yourself a rebel or the funniest thing i heard was patriot then go ahead. You soon find that you'll be talking to yourself.
The CB hobby is full of wantabees cause your all in it for yourself and can't organize to improve your hobby.

If you could get organized and talk with the FCC, you could have your frequencies clear and free with people who are polite and actually know something about radio and how to actually operate a radio. 95% of you don't have a clue. Your only concern is lots of power so you can walk over the other guy.

If that's your thing then stay on your side of the Chicken Band but if you want to improve things and work within the system, then you will get respect from others including hams. You need more frequency allocation then change your operating habits, learn something and show you deserve it and it will happen.

The reason CB is still the same as it was in the 70's is because you have no organization, no respect for rules or others.

Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
news:Ov9V7.144346$bs2.23874540@news02.optonline.net...
> No..........It's just the way I am. I really DO think FCC regs SUCK OUT > LOUD!
> I've been on both sides of the fence and decided i liked the view better
> from the trees!
> I'm also not the TROLL who started the cross posted thread.
> Train
> "john" <w9jcm@arrl.net> wrote in message
> news:vI8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net...
> > Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
> > "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message

> > news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
> > > I like it!
> > >
> > >
> > > IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> > > >
> > > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
> > >
> > >
> >
> >
>
>

5253. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 02:07:33 UTC
From: ZOOM <kandrparker@sympatico.ca>
Message-ID: <Z%aV7.49673$x25.4987615@news20.bellglobal.com>
Source record: 28351
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

As with the amateur bands, CB frequencies are a privilege and not a right.
The FCC could take away that privilege any time they want. You don't own the frequencies but are given the privilege to use them. You don't like the rules then complain to the FCC.

Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
news:Ov9V7.144346$bs2.23874540@news02.optonline.net...
> No..........It's just the way I am. I really DO think FCC regs SUCK OUT > LOUD!
> I've been on both sides of the fence and decided i liked the view better
> from the trees!
> I'm also not the TROLL who started the cross posted thread.
> Train
> "john" <w9jcm@arrl.net> wrote in message
> news:vI8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net...
> > Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
> > "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
> > news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
> > > I like it!
> > >
> > >
> > > IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> > > >
> > > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
> > >
> > >
> > >
> >
> >
>
>

5254. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 02:08:23 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222210823.24447.00000907@mb-fc.aol.com>
Source record: 28250

>Say Bruce, still don't know about CSCEs?
>
>Obviously not.
>
>73 de Jim, N2EY
>

Yes I am aware of CSCEs, but why does it take over a Year to get 1, must be that tough written Test, yea right

5255. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 02:16:47 UTC
From: John P Vassel <john@vassel.net>
Message-ID: <3c253e8f$0$37100$2c3e98f8@news.voyager.net>
Source record: 28352
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap keyclownslappa@hotmail.com (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote in

news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com:

> DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
>
> http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/

<Gasp> The sky is falling!! The sky is falling!!!

John KC8SKE

5256. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 02:31:35 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222213135.20315.00000871@mb-ba.aol.com>
Source record: 28353

>> My folks have had so many >> people from "back home" come over and act like they're better than the >> "yankees." (Perhaps that's why they're my favorite baseball team...word >> association.) Take care and 73.
>
>Strike TWO!!!...
>
>Rich

Good one, Rich. LOL! :-)

Mark

5257. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 02:41:45 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C253757.F9056C46@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28354

CAM wrote:

> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >
> > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >
> > >Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > >> I'm guessing that when the 5 WPM code testing requirement > > >> is dropped, 'ole Doc Williamson will suddenly develop a "need" > > >> for HF privileges!
> > >
> > >You're on, Larry. Are you willing to put your money where your > > >mouth is? say $100?
> >
> > That was a guess, not a wager.
>
> As usual, you guessed wrong. I would bet that Dr. Williamson's
> HT nicads are dead and gone at this very moment.

Really not much of a ham, is he?

5258. Re: PROOF that we are all BARKING MAD! CBERS.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 02:44:56 UTC
From: Patrick Keele <pkg1dra@g1dra.freeserve.co.uk>
Message-ID: <a058mq$6p3$1@newsg1.svr.pol.co.uk>
Source record: 28285
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote calling me a wanker or such like......blah blah.....

What you REALLY mean is "why don't i get a life"(am i alive so i have a life) or be "focussed"(concentrate) or "touch"(mention) upon the "issue"(subject) if it is "appropriate"(no right or wrong now)or maybe i should "address the issue"(an address is something of a location or writing on a letter)or do i need to be "dumbed down"(treated like a bloody fool)by a CRETIN like you?
you see the thing is SUNSHINE MOTOR MOUTH is that this new founded language is designed for CRETINS like you(what are you anyway) because it's people like YOU who can't not speak PROPLY CAUSE I AIN'T GOT A BRAIN(he left it in America)!
by using "simplified" shortened phrases like i've mentioned it makes it so much easier for you to say such gibberish!of course " i now where your coming from"(I know what he means or is talking about)or is this all "garbage"(rubbish) and should i "trash" (dump) your messages in future,IF you want to talk like an American,FOOL, and THINK you are an American then be prepared to live with consequences of being an American.Have i now "connected"(plugged into his single brain cell)?

shall we now pass this "text"(message) onto the "chairperson"(what the hell is that supposed to be?Or is it the "chair"(shall i sit on the pratt)!
while we are at it lets not forget the other "politically correct" rubbish to don't upset a politician he MIGHT come around your house and lock you up)

Asians(pakistanis,bangladeshis etc)now why the hell do we call them "asians"?
do we call chinese "mongolians",or swedes "scandinavians",or Americans "north americans",BUT wait a minute,we DO call "britains" BRITONS don't we,BUT we DON'T call americans AMERICONS!!Why is this?No.in my opinion a spade is a spade,and i ain't going to call it a fork or an "asian"!!

and now i will "text" this message to another scribe for comments after "touching" the subject,as i have "adddressed the issue".

Patrick

5259. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:03:17 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222220317.04115.00000525@mb-fy.aol.com>
Source record: 28355

In article <3C252031.BDE6AC6A@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>Dave Heil wrote:
>> > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone >> > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
>>
>> Because it is the right thing to do.
>
>The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
>First Amendment rights without badgering her.

Why do Kim's alleged First Amendment rights take precedence over other folks rights? IOW, why is it right for her to pick and use an inappropriate callsign but not right for others talk about it?

Looks like Cecil is only a libertarian if people agree with him.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5260. Re: RADIO LAW vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:12:04 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <8YbV7.1233$UO1.611739@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28357
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote ..
:
:
: K0HB wrote:
:
: >
: > > And are you a police officer? Are you
: > > an attorney? NO. You are a Private
: > > Fucking Civilian (PFC) with little contact
: > > with the current system.
: > >
: > > Understand this. The police and the : > > military are your superiors. Their lives
: > > are far more valuable than yours.
: >
: > If this is your true opinion, then you are indeed a dangerous
: > person and I earnestly pray that you are not in _ANY_ : > position, even a part-time school crossing guard, which : > allows you to assert your "authority". If you are in such a : > position, then the citizens of your community should consider
: > the risk they have placed themselves in by your continued
: > service in any capacity of authority.
: >
: > The police and military have my respect and gratitude (and
: > I spent 21 years bearing arms to protect America), but they : > are not superior to any other citizen. Period.
: >
:
: The outfit I worked for had as its motto "Service and Protection".
: Most all who worked there stayed pretty close to that theme, at least in : the absence of unusally adverse circmstances. Of course the guard has : changed there, too, but I'd like to believe that most public servants
: still think they really are just that.

They serve the politicians and protect the system.

5261. Re: RADIO LAW vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:15:59 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <P%bV7.1242$UO1.614693@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28356
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

K0HB <K0HB@bitbucket73.com> wrote...
:
:
: > The police and military are your superiors.
:
: Horse-shit.
:
: Pure extra fine Grade-A Horse-Shit.
:
: The police and military are my hired help. They work for me,
: which makes _me_ their superior.
:
: Do you live in the old USSR or Iraq or some such dictatorship?
:
: 73, de Hans, K0HB

Sorry but you are no more than a taxpayer with no choice in paying your taxes or they will be forcible taken from you. The mayor or the governor is who the police work for.
It is they who hire them.

Now if you are very rich or powerful, you might be able to dictate who the mayor is.
But most people, there is little recourse unless you band together in enough numbers to force the political establishment to listen.
And the police do know this.

5262. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:21:50 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <h5cV7.1259$UO1.617492@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28358
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net> wrote...
: "Bill Nelson" <billn@spock.peak.org> wrote ...
: > > There is a pecking order. Governors and mayors are
: > > the most valuable then powerful men then professionals
: > > like doctors and lawyers. The Police are just under mayors.
: >
: > If I were injured, I would feel that a doctor was far more important
: > than some political hack who happened to get elected to office.
: >
: > > Look there are so many elite who see the police and
: > > the military as a bunch of losers who are there to die
: > > for them. People like you who make huge amounts
: > > of money and live in big fancy houses. I have them
: > > in my community. The military is not allowed to recruit
: > > in the local high school as their kids are going to college
: > > and the military is for those who can't really make it.
: >
: > > People like you see themselves as too valuable to get
: > > their hands dirty. Sorry but your life is not worth that
: > > of a police officer, a fire fighter or a soldier.
: >
: > How do you know what we do for our livings?
: >
: > In my opinion, it is elitist attitudes like yours that are part of
: > the problems we face in this country.
: >
: > --
: > Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)
: >
:
: ABSOLUTELY! And, most cops don't think they are better than anyone else.
: It's the ones that do that make it so rough for the industry (and while I : used the word "most" in my last sentence, there are still lots who do
think
: they are more important).
:
: Each and every one of us is nearly, if not exactly, as important as the
: next. We all have our "things" to do, work to do, families to raise,
: neighborhoods to live in, communities to vote and pay taxes in, etc. Not
: one of us is doing something more important than the next.
:
: And, please don't use the excuse that cops or firefighters put themselves
in

: harm's way more than anyone else. When I get in my vehicle every day to go
: to work, statistics say that I am more likely to be injured or die than any
: other industry-related statistic! Add rain, snow or ice to that scenario
: and it's pretty darned dangerous just getting to work.
:
: Kim W5TIT
:

But it is not in your job description that you MUST risk your life as part of your job.

5263. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:24:16 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <A7cV7.1268$UO1.618842@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28359

Jim Bromley, K7JEB <j.e.bromley@worldnet.att.net> wrote ...
:
:
: > And are you a police officer? Are you
: > an attorney? NO. You are a Private
: > Fucking Civilian (PFC) with little contact
: > with the current system.
: >
: > Understand this. The police and the : > military are your superiors. Their lives
: > are far more valuable than yours. And : > they are the only thing that is keeping this : > country together. There lives are living : > sacrifices, their deaths atone for your
: > screw ups.
:
: and:
:
: > And your service to "king and country"?
: > I do have 30 years of political service.
: > I have put judges on the bench, congressmen
: > in office, have worked on political campaigns
: > from the local to federal level.
: >
: > Plus 20 years of military service, to include
: > a year in the Gulf War and another year
: > with the Bosnian mess.
: >
: > What have you done with your miserable
: > two bit life?
:
:
: You know, it was a while ago, but didn't we fight
: a revolutionary war against a bunch of military/: political/religious elitists who thought they were : inherently better than the common man, knew what : was best for him and saw themselves as society's
: bulwark against chaos and anarchy.
:
: Oh, and by the way, this is the United States of : America. We don't have a king to serve.

Yes we do, in a way. When one takes the oath of office as police officer, a soldier, as politicians

then the constitution becomes your king to whom you are subject to.

5264. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:34:29 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C254FF4.B073BB7@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28360

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Since Dr. "No" has no need for HF > > access, what is his beef? If he has none, why do you keep trotting him > > out?
>
> As an example of a nocode tech who is perfectly satisfied with > his present ham license...

Bully for him. Why not let him speak for himself sometime rather than having it appear that he is your marionette? I'm perfectly satisfied with my present ham license too.

>... and is technically head and shoulders
> above the vast majority of all coded hams.

We have only your statement to that effect. I suppose only his operating skills are lacking.

Dave K8MN

5265. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:36:55 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C255084.877BFD7D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28361

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > He has no beef. Mine is the idea presented by the PCTA folk that all > > > nocode techs are technical dumb $hits. One would think a PhD in EE > > > would be good enough proof to the contrary.
> >
> > I don't recall any idea presented by "PCTA folk" which is as > > you claim. Are you basing your claim in the statements of one or two > > individuals?
>
> I'm basing my claim on the statements of some members of the PCTA
> crowd, e.g. Larry and Dick.

So let us make it clear right now then that you are basing your claim on the statements of two individuals and not any "agenda" at all. Now that you have changed your story, let us hope that you attempt to keep it straight.

Dave K8MN

5266. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:38:03 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2550C7.ECAFF3C1@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28362

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of > > callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?
>
> How can a private email be official?

Riley e-mailed Kim from his home on his own time? Keep massaging things until you set the scenario you'd like, Cecil.

Dave K8MN

5267. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:39:45 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C25512D.C82D2861@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28363

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone
> > > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> >
> > Because it is the right thing to do.
>
> The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> First Amendment rights without badgering her.

That isn't correct. That stifles MY First Amendment rights!
There is no clause which demands that I agree to her view.

Dave K8MN

5268. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:40:34 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C25515D.50134CBB@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28364

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > The issue is: Does Kim have the right to live her life as she pleases > > > or should she be your slave. The Constitution answers that question > > > very well.
> > >
> > Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be > > determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
> > Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every > > freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the events > > which have unfolded over the past several months.
> >
> > Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
>
> So Dave, are you going to bring that lawsuit against Kim or just try
> to kill her with the jawbone of an ass?

After you're through yapping, perhaps you'll allow me to borrow it.

Dave K8MN
```

5269. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:41:54 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2551AD.B3109E66@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28365

```
Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote
>
> > Not really, Kim. I don't believe that you have any concept of what is > > appropriate. I don't know how many think it is "OK". You've received a > > few statements of support here.
>
> I didn't say it was "OK", I said it was fine...
>
> Consice and to the point...

It sounded pretty "consice" to me too.

Dave K8MN
```

5270. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:43:49 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C25521A.E164347D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28366

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 18:09:38 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
> wrote:
>
> >So Dave, are you going to bring that lawsuit against Kim or just try > >to kill her with the jawbone of an ass?
>
> Has he been dismembering Larry Roll again?
>
> Rick

If Cecil is still using his, perhaps you'd loan yours.

Dave K8MN

5271. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:47:02 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2552E0.E8BE7182@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28367

James R. DeLoach wrote:
>
>
> >CAM wrote:
> >>
> >> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >> > If you have to ask that question, you couldn't possibly understand
> >> > the answer.
> >>
> >> Aha! The old argumentum ad ignorantiam. You sure are full of diversions.
> >>
> >> > All of us, Kim -- and each and every other radio amateur who could > >> > see or hear your call sign, be offended by it, and consequently decide > >> > that they can't be bothered to pursue this hobby -- if you are representative > >> > of the type of mentality that exists among radio amateurs.
> >>
> >> I find you to be offensive, Larry. Exactly what are you going to do > >> about it?
> >>
> >> > And that "right" is not now, and never has been, at issue.
> >>
> >> The issue is: Does Kim have the right to live her life as she pleases > >> or should she be your slave. The Constitution answers that question > >> very well.
> >
> >Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be > >determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
> >Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every > >freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the events > >which have unfolded over the past several months.
> >
> >Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
> >
> >Dave K8MN
> What's wrong with her callsign? I see nothing obscene about it.
> It should be up to her and her alone to keep it or change it since > the FCC issued it. Whether you or I like it should have nothing > to do with her keeping or changing it.

I'll put you down in column B headed "Also Lacking Good Taste".
Always glad to hear from another who believes that there is no right and wrong.

Dave K8MN

5272. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 03:54:41 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2554A9.4CB2E346@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28368

N2EY wrote:
>
> In article <3C252031.BDE6AC6A@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >Dave Heil wrote:
> >> > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone
> >> > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> >>
> >> Because it is the right thing to do.
> >
> >The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> >First Amendment rights without badgering her.
>
> Why do Kim's alleged First Amendment rights take precedence over other folks > rights? IOW, why is it right for her to pick and use an inappropriate callsign > but not right for others talk about it?
>
> Looks like Cecil is only a libertarian if people agree with him.

The secret is that Cecil isn't really a libertarian or Libertarian.
He is quick to attempt the stifling of opposing views. Of course there is always the chance that his statements aren't serious.

I also amused at Kim's idea that Larry and I should leave amateur radio because she chooses to be vulgar and a part of ham radio.

Dave K8MN

5273. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:06:21 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25583D.436AF622@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28369

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > Since Dr. "No" has no need for HF > > > access, what is his beef? If he has none, why do you keep trotting him > > > out?
> >
> > As an example of a nocode tech who is perfectly satisfied with > > his present ham license...
>
> Bully for him. Why not let him speak for himself ...

This newsgroup is not his cup of tea.

> >... and is technically head and shoulders
> > above the vast majority of all coded hams.
>
> We have only your statement to that effect. I suppose only his > operating skills are lacking.

He doesn't operate so he needs no operating skills. The only reason he has a ham license is to talk to his camping buddies.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5274. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:09:25 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2558F5.E77D0BD9@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28371

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > > He has no beef. Mine is the idea presented by the PCTA folk that all > > > > nocode techs are technical dumb $hits. One would think a PhD in EE > > > > would be good enough proof to the contrary.
> > >
> > > I don't recall any idea presented by "PCTA folk" which is as > > > you claim. Are you basing your claim in the statements of one or two > > > individuals?
> > >
> > I'm basing my claim on the statements of some members of the PCTA > > crowd, e.g. Larry and Dick.
>
> So let us make it clear right now then that you are basing your claim on > the statements of two individuals and not any "agenda" at all. Now that > you have changed your story, let us hope that you attempt to keep it > straight.

I haven't changed my story. Do you know what "e.g." means?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5275. ARNewsline 1271 - Dec 2001

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:09:52 UTC
From: radionews@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222230952.24476.00001105@mb-fc.aol.com>
Source record: 28370

AMATEUR RADIO NEWSLINE(tm) REPORT #1271 - DEC 21, 2001

Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1271 with a release date of Friday, December 21st, 2001 to follow in 5-4-3-2-1.

The following is a Q-S-T. A national ham radio society is asked to train new hams for government service. This story is first on this weeks Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1271 coming your way right now.

(Billboard Cart Here)

**

THE EDUCATION SCENE: HAM TRAINING LEADS TO SA GOVERNMENT JOBS

A government agency has asked a national ham radio society to help train new hams. The reason. careers with that agency. Its happened in South Africa as we hear from Q-News Graham Kemp, VK4BB:

--

In South Africa, their Department of Communications contacted the SARL with the request to train seventeen post graduate students as amateur radio operators. These students had already qualified in different fields, some technical and some in the Information Technology fields. There were nine ladies and eight men. From next year they will be employed by the Department of Communications, and the idea was to give them some experience in the field of radio communications.

Training was done by Henry Chamberlain, ZS1AAZ, over a period of one full month. In addition to lectures, the students could see practical demonstrations of amateur radio and they spent one period building and testing a Morse Code practice oscillator. They also visited ZS1AAZ's home shack. The seventeen students had already proved their ability by passing their previous studies successfully. It was therefore no surprise that they ALL passed the amateur examination.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Graham Kemp. VK4BB, of Q-News.

--

The seventeen will be assigned specific jobs with the South African Department of Communications in early 2002. (SARL, Q-News)

**

SPECTRUM SHARING: FCC SAYS YES TO HIGHER POWER UNLICENSED TRANSMITTERS AT 2.4 GHZ

The FCC has approved issued new rules permitting certain unlicensed Part 15 devices operating between 2405 and 2450 MHz to use higher power, but under significant restrictions. The band is allocated to amateurs on a co-secondary basis. Amateur Radio Newsline's Norm Seeley, KI7UP, takes a look at the FCC action:

--
According to the C-Q Magazine website, the decision was adopted on December 11Th. In it, the FCC approved a petition by Sierra Digital Communications, Inc. to permit unlicensed fixed point-to-point transmitters in the band to operate at field strengths of up to 2500 millivolts per meter. This is a tenfold increase over past power limitations.

Sierra Digital Communications manufactures and sells equipment for wireless data communications, including high-speed wireless computer networks and Internet links. The ARRL had opposed Sierra's petition on the basis of increased risk of interference to amateur and amateur satellite operations. This is because the downlink from the AO-40 satellite is in the 24 GHz band.

But the FCC said it believed the restrictions it is imposing on the higher-power transmitters will provide sufficient protection to other users. This includes industrial/scientific/medical equipment, radar and Earth exploration satellites, in addition to amateur radio. The new rules require highly directional antennas and high frequency stability of transmitters.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Norm Seeley, KI7UP.

--

In its decision, the FCC singled out an ARRL comment where the League clamed that Part 15 devices are permitted by the Communications Act of 1934 only where they have no interference potential to licensed services. The Commission called the League's interpretation of the law overly conservative. It said that its rulings to date appropriately provide a means for allowing unlicensed devices to share spectrum with licensed services with little risk of interference and adequate protection to licensed service. (CQ)

**

HAM RADIO AND THE WAR: MARS ON THE AIR FROM THE WAR ON TERROR

Ham radio is making it possible for those fighting the war against terrorism to phone home. This as the ARRL Letter announces that Army Special Forces on duty in Islamabad, Pakistan, and in other undisclosed locations have begun keeping in touch with home via MARS -- the Military Affiliate Radio System.

Phone patches provided by the Military Affiliate Radio System make it possible for troops to call their families in the US from areas where commercial communications channels are not available. Amateur Radio operators enrolled in MARS provide the connection between the Military Affiliate Radio System stations deployed overseas and the telephone system back home.

During the Vietnam War, phone patches were a major source of comfort to families and service members alike. MARS also responded during Operation Desert Storm. (ARRL)

**

BREAK 1

Wishing you a Happy Holiday from the United States of America, we are the Amateur Radio Newsline, heard on bulletin stations around the world, including the Great South Bay Amateur Radio Club repeater, W2GSB, serving West Babylon New York.

(5 Sec Pause Here)

**

HAM RADIO AND THE WAR: GODDARD ARC FEELS THE PINCH

The Goddard Amateur Radio Club says that it has been having serious problems with manpower lately and the war on terrorism is partly to blame. This is because new security restrictions imposed after September 11th require all visitors to Goddard to be escorted by a badged employee at all times.

According to Dan Schultz, N8FGV writing to the Amsat Bulletin Board, the clubs WA3NAN ham shack is located on government property we are bound by the new restrictions. This says Schultz makes it much harder to bring in control operators who are not Goddard employees. As a result, WA3NAN which for years has been the primary rebroadcaster of shuttle communications on the ham bands is not there as often as it would like to be.

Schultz also notes that the Goddard Amateur Radio Club currently has no president because no one has stepped forward to accept the job. The position of Shuttle Retransmission Director is also vacant, this is the person who makes the phone calls to get operators lined up to pull shifts at the retransmission facility.

Schultz says that the long term technical solution will be to automate the station with remote controls and telemetry for the transmitters so that the retransmission operator can operate from his home. But adds N8FGV, but that is still a little ways off in the future. As a result, WA3NAN is not there as much as it used to be. (AMSAT-BB)

**

AMERICA AT WAR: NEW HOMELAND TERRORIST ALERT SYSTEM PROPOSED

Homeland security chief Tom Ridge is considering a multistage system for terrorism alerts. Ridge is also weighing how to reimburse states for the costs of increased security since the terror attacks.

Since the September 11th terrorist attacks on New York and Washington, Ridge has issued three general warnings. None of the alerts identified specific targets.

Now, according to news reports, Ridge will propose a four-stage Threat Alert Network similar to the military's DEFCON'' system. DEFCON alerts military personnel to the seriousness of a threat. A private sector version would be aimed at helping state and local law enforcement personnel determine the level to react to a Federal government issued terror warning.

The proposal came to light after California Governor Gray Davis met with Ridge about a week and a half ago. Davis told Ridge he had proposed such a similar system for California, and said Ridge had asked him to wait pending a national model. Ridge told Davis that he hopes to unveil the national system by January 15th of 2002. Whether or not ham radio will play any part in such an alert system is not known as we go to air. (Published news reports)

**

AMERICA AT WAR: CONFERENCE HELD ON ALERTING THE PUBLIC

Still in there area of alerting the public, more than 120 leaders from the emergency warning community met November 30th and unanimously called for the creation of a public-private partnership. This, aimed at improving the delivery of timely and accurate emergency information to people at risk. Don Wilbanks, KC5MFA reports:

--

The group came together at a special conference arranged by the National Warning Organizing Committee. This is a group of emergency warning advocates representing the public and private sectors.

Those attending included federal, state and local government officials, not-for-profit organizations, and representatives from the private sector. And in the end the group has tasked itself to improve the delivery of warnings and emergency information to the public. This, through better education, research, standards creation and policy recommendations.

The Committee Chairman is David Liebersbach, Director of the Alaska Division of Emergency Services. He has appointed Peter Ward, formerly of the U.S. Geological Survey and chair of a White House-appointed working group on natural disaster information systems, to head up a committee to determine the new organization's structure and governance. Ward also serves as the new organization's spokesman. More news on the work of this committee as information is released.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, Don Wilbanks, KC5MFA, in New Orleans.

--

The conference was hosted by The MITRE Corporation in McLean, Va. MITRE is a not-for-profit national technology resource that provides systems engineering, research and development, and information technology support to the government. (MITRE)

**

HAM RADIO AND EDUCATION: HAM RADIO MASS BALLOON LAUNCH

The Timberlane Regional High School, in Plaistow New Hampshire will be taking part in a high altitude experiment next spring. This with an announcement that the Coordinated Algebra II and Physics classes taught by Lorainne Mascioli, N1VYQ, and Lou Broad, N1RCA, are planning thier third year of ham radio and high altitude balloons in May of 2002.

Six student teams will attempt to launch their balloons at the Hosstraders Ham Fest at the Hopkington Fair Grounds in New Hampshire. Each team is responsible for design, construction, and operation of their system. Each balloon will carry a GPS receiver, a packet reporting system and several experimental payloads. This could include cameras, video, amateur television and cross band repeaters. At maximum altitude such systems will have a range of 300 miles and should easily cover all of New England and more.

The class has grown to 34 students and they are planning to launch six balloons in a two day period! This could make it a record breaking event in both ham radio and high altitude ballooning. For more information check out the CAPSAT Website located in cyberspace at http://www.mv.com/ipusers/llb/capsat.html (Via Internet)

**

HAM RADIO SPOTLIGHTED IN POUGHKEEPSIE JOURNAL

New York’s Poughkeepsie Journal has highlighted ham radio in a December 6th front page article. The piece focused on the public service aspects ham radio with quotes and pictures.

According to Andrew Schmidt, N2FTR, who is an ARRL Assistant Director in the League’s Hudson Division, many Poughkeepsie area local hams spent time at Ground Zero or at the Red Cross centers in the greater NYC area following the September 12th terrorist attacks. Andrew says that their work is well highlighted in the article. The link is:
http://www.poughkeepsiejournal.com/thursday/community/stories/co120601s12.
shtml. (Via Internet)

**

A SPECIAL AM EVENT: THE HEAVY METAL RALLYE

This is Paul Courson WA3VJB with news of an operating event Saturday night, December 22nd. It's the Heavy Metal Rally, featuring big iron, vacuum tubes, and the warm and inviting sound of AM on the shortwave ham bands.

Starting around local sunset listen for rigs in the 250 watt or 250 pound category to populate AM gathering points on 160, 75 and 40 meters.

Jim, W8MAQ was testing HIS 1947 Collins 300-G a few days ahead of the Heavy Metal Rally. The retired broadcast transmitter re-tuned to 75 meters sounded like this:

In-Q: it's been great to get on... 300-G..
Out-Q: forward to that

--

Prizes include a trophy, pictured as a posting on QRZ.com, for the best sounding station.

Last year more than a hundred stations took part -- and the winner was Mike, WN3B, on a Gates 250-C. He gave Jim an audio report the other night:

--
In-Q: It's got more highs....
Out-Q: Shure 55
--

The Heavy Metal Rally is sponsored by Electric Radio, a magazine featuring vintage ham radio, and published by Barry N6CSW. The event was pioneered by Bill, KD0HG of Colorado, a broadcast engineer with a knack for big homebrew rigs that sound great.

Frequencies and a website are listed on the news page of QRZ.com.
Paul Courson, WA3VJB, Annapolis Maryland.

**

HAM RADIO HISTORY: COLLINS RADIO CENTER NOW OPEN

The new Collins Radio Center which is the headquarters for the Collins Radio Association is now officially open for guests and visitors. Located near Johnstown, Pennsylvania, the Collins Radio Center includes a representative collection of Collins radio equipment, from the 1930's to the present. There are other classic and antique radios on display as well. More information is on the web at www.collinsra.com. (Collins RA Press release)

**

HAM RADIO BUSINESS: CITY ELECTRONICS - RIP

Alex Stalinsky, WA5UHT, who owns City Electronics, a small parts outlet in Houston for almost 50 years, has decided to call it quits. According to Chris Boone, WB5ITT, this place was one of the main sources of parts, components in Houston long before the likes of Mouser and Digikey took off in mail order sales.

Chris tell Amateur Radio Newsline that he bought many parts from City Electronics in his early days of repeater building. In fact, Chris says his mother claimed that he owned half of the local Radio Shack but she was wrong. It was really like he was a part of City Electronics as were many other young Houston area hams and Chris tells Amateur Radio Newsline, it will be missed. (WB5ITT)

**

BREAK 2

By telephone, satellite and the World Wide Web, we are the amateur Radio Newsline with links to the world at our only official website - www.arnewsline.org.

**

EMERGING TECHNOLOGY: INTELS NEW WARP SPEED CHIP

In another step toward faster computers, Intel Corp. has developed two new technologies that will help the tiny transistors inside microprocessors run cooler, use less power and operate more efficiently. The new designs complement several recent breakthroughs in building minuscule transistors that form the basis of all modern computing as they switch on and off billions of times a second. Earlier this year, Intel unveiled transistors just 20 nanometers wide. Today's Pentium 4 has 42 million transistors, each about 180 nanometers. For reference, a manometer is about 10,000 times narrower than a human hair. (Intel)

**

EMERGING TECHNOLOGY: DTV ROLLOUT UPDATE

Roughly two-thirds of commercial television stations plan to broadcast a digital signal by a federal government deadline of May 1, 2002. This, according to the National Association of Broadcasters.

In a report to the Federal Communications Commission, the industry group said that many of those that won't make the deadline are waiting for equipment to be delivered and expect to have digital broadcasts on the air in the months afterward. But some stations in smaller markets are having a hard time paying for the upgrade, the association says.

Right now, most home television sets in use receive only analog signals. But congress has mandated that broadcasters must give up their analog channels to the government by 2006. As a result, there are concerns that consumers won't have made the costly upgrade to televisions that can receive digital signals by that date. (Broadcasting Daily)

**

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: EXPEDITION 4 CREW NOW ON THE ISS

An all ham crew is now in charge of the International Space Station and will be for the next six months.

Three astronauts and cosmonauts now running the ISS. They are Russian Commander Yuri Onufrienko, RK3DUO, along with American Flight Engineers Dan Bursch, KD5PNU, and Carl Walz, KC5TIE. They make up what is called the Expedition 4 crew and all three are expected to be on the air regularly for school contacts and possible open QSO times made available to talk with hams worldwide, as time permits.

The Expedition 3 crew comprised of United States Commander Frank Culbertson, KD5OPQ, along with Russian Flight Specialists Mikhal Tyurin and Vladimir Dezhurov is now back on good old Mother Earth. They returned on Monday, December the 17th aboard the space shuttle Endeavour. (AMSAT-NA, ARISS)

**

HAM RADIO IN SPACE: EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE FROM VK5ZAI

Attention educators. If you are thinking about teaching the International Space Station, here is a bit of assistance.

Tony Hutchison, VK5ZAI has updated his web pages with links to help schools in obtaining educational programs associated with the I-S-S and space science in general. Hutchison says that this should be of interest students and teachers alike especially if they are contemplating applying for a ham radio contact with the astronauts on the station.

Hutchison is the Australian ARISS Coordinator. His website in cyberspace at www.electric-web.org (VK5ZAI)

**

SPACE AND SCIENCE: CHINA ON THE BRINK

Space Daily reports that China is getting ready to launch its third unmanned spaceship. This, to pave the way for sending that nations first astronaut into space sometime next year. China is reportedly also in final testing and preparation to launch a new satellite dedicated to study ocean colors and related phenomena. (Space Dailey)

**

DX

In DX, 9V1YC reports that he and eleven other hams will be activating South Georgia and South Sandwich Islands in January and February of 2002. The operation will be strictly on the high frequency bands. Exact dates, call signs and QSL managers are not being made public until the group is actually on the air. The New Zealand registered vessel "Braveheart" of ZL9CI fame will be supporting this team for the entire 30 day trip. (RSGB)

A bit higher in frequency, Jeff Klein, K1TEO reports that December 6th was another great D-X day on the 6 meter band. Jeff who lives in Connecticut says over the VHFReflector that the band was open for a solid two hours beginning at 7:30 am local. And talk about D-X. On his very first C-Q he landed HB9QQ who was operating portable HB0. Even better, Jeff says that the fifth caller was 4X1RF. (VHF Reflector)

Over in Great Britain hams are actually D-Xing for charity. Jeramy Boot G4NJH, reports from Nottingham in the U-K.

--

Every year in September, the British Wireless Fund for the Blind -- a registered charity - organises a fund-raising event in which amateur radio clubs and individuals are sponsored for the number and distance of the contacts that they make. As of the 11th of December, the British Wireless for the Blind Fund reported that 'Transmission 2001' had raised £6681.48, with more coming in every day. They say that they hope the final total will reach £7000. The charity offers prizes to the club and individual raising the greatest amounts.

This year the Cray Valley Radio Society operating as GB2FB and taking part for the first time, won the prizes for the club raising the most money and for making the most contacts. Robert Guscott, M5GUS, operating as GB0WB, won the prize for the leading individual.

Jeramy Boot, G4NJH.

--

The bottom line. This is another way that hams can not only enjoy their hobby, but can help others at the same time. (G4NJH)

**

THAT FINAL ITEM: A HAM RADIO CHRISTMAS STORY

And finally this week, the story that we wait all year to tell you. Its the ongoing story of hams who care about hospitalized children and what they do to bring a bit of holiday cheer to those kids who cannot make it to the mall to spend a few moments with old Saint Nick. Here’s Amateur Radio Newsline’s Joe Moell, K0OV:

--

As most hams know, propagation is very good this time of year. It's so good that it's easy to make contact with the North Pole. Many clubs around the country are taking advantage of these propagation conditions to set up QSOs with a very special North Pole station. They're making these contacts from hospitals and rehabilitation centers, and they sound like this:

--
Santa and Kids Audio Here
--

That's what the North Pole Network sounds like in southern California, where it's celebrating its 25th anniversary at Childrens Hospital of Orange County. In the past few days, I've heard from other clubs in the North Pole Network, including the AkSarBen ARC in Omaha and the Southwest Missouri ARC in Springfield. And YOUR club could bring holiday joy to hospital patients. There's a how-to article on the subject, with a dozen suggestions for your best North Pole Network ever, currently running on ARRL's Web site. That's arrl.org, of course. And there's even more about North Pole Network in southern California, plus lots of photos showing a quarter century of holiday fun, at the Hospital Disaster Support Communications System Web site, www.hdscs.org. Check it out, and start planning for your own North Pole Network joy.

--
Santa And Kids Audio Here
--

Joe Moell K-zero-Oscar-Victor for Amateur Radio Newsline.

--

From us here at Amateur Radio Newsline: A Merry Christmas to those very special kids and a Merry Christmas to all of you.

**

NEWSCAST CLOSE

With thanks to Alan Labs, Amateur News Weekly, AMSAT, the ARRL, the CGC Communicator, CQ Magazine, the FCC, the Ohio Penn DX Bulletin, Radio Netherlands, Rain, the RSGB and Australia's Q-News, that's all from the Amateur Radio Newsline(tm). Our e-mail address is newsline@arnewsline.org. More information is available at Amateur Radio Newsline's(tm) only official website located at www.arnewsline.org. You can also write to us or support us at Amateur Radio Newsline(tm), P.O. Box 660937, Arcadia, California 91066.

Before we go, some get well wishes to our longtime friend Ron Broadbent, G3AAJ. Ron is the former Secretary of AMSAT-UK. He is in the hospital in the U-K and will be undergoing surgery. AMSAT says that he hopes to be home by Christmas. Get well wishes can be sent by e-mail to g3aaj@amsat.org.

For now, with Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, at the editors desk, I'm Jeff Clark, K8JAC and I’m Jim Damron, N8TMW, saying Happy Holidays, God Bless America, 73, and we thank you for listening." Amateur Radio Newsline(tm) is Copyright 2001. All rights reserved.

**
End Newscast
**

RAIN PROMO HERE

5276. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:11:33 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C255975.EE40BF4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28372

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > As usual, you guessed wrong. I would bet that Dr. Williamson's > > HT nicads are dead and gone at this very moment.
>
> Really not much of a ham, is he?

Legally, as much as you are since he is licensed.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5277. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:13:20 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2559E0.37772146@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28373

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of > > > callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?
> >
> > How can a private email be official?
>
> Riley e-mailed Kim from his home on his own time?

Emails don't represent official policy. Where, exactly, is this official policy written down? I don't see it in Part 97.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5278. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:15:22 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C255A5A.FB4C75D0@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28374

N2EY wrote:
>
> In article <3C252031.BDE6AC6A@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >Dave Heil wrote:
> >> > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone
> >> > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> >>
> >> Because it is the right thing to do.
> >
> >The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> >First Amendment rights without badgering her.
>
> Why do Kim's alleged First Amendment rights take precedence over other folks > rights? IOW, why is it right for her to pick and use an inappropriate callsign
> but not right for others talk about it?

Please produce something official from the FCC that says that Kim's callsign is inappropriate. Riley's prudish email is not official enough for me.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5279. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:18:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C255B02.C98E7467@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28375

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> N2EY wrote:
> >
> > In article <3C252031.BDE6AC6A@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >
> > >Dave Heil wrote:
> > >> > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone
> > >> > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> > >>
> > >> Because it is the right thing to do.
> > >
> > >The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> > >First Amendment rights without badgering her.
> >
> > Why do Kim's alleged First Amendment rights take precedence over other folks > > rights? IOW, why is it right for her to pick and use an inappropriate callsign > > but not right for others talk about it?
> >
> > Looks like Cecil is only a libertarian if people agree with him.
>
> The secret is that Cecil isn't really a libertarian or Libertarian.
> He is quick to attempt the stifling of opposing views.

Just trying to get you to mind your own business. What is wrong with live and let live?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5280. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:19:41 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C255B5D.15BFD6F2@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28376

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone > > > > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> > > >
> > > Because it is the right thing to do.
> > >
> > The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> > First Amendment rights without badgering her.
>
> That isn't correct. That stifles MY First Amendment rights!
> There is no clause which demands that I agree to her view.

But why don't you mind your own business and stop stalking Kim?
What is wrong with live and let live?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5281. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:21:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C255BB6.62C9C0DB@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28377

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > So Dave, are you going to bring that lawsuit against Kim or just try > > to kill her with the jawbone of an ass?
>
> After you're through yapping, perhaps you'll allow me to borrow it.

I'm serious, Dave. When are you going to stop electronically stalking Kim and bring that lawsuit?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5282. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:23:05 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C255C29.8338AA2B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28379

Dave Heil wrote:
> I'll put you down in column B headed "Also Lacking Good Taste".
> Always glad to hear from another who believes that there is no right and > wrong.

There's nothing wrong with Kim's callsign. What is wrong is your electronic assault and battery of her on this newsgroup.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5283. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:23:52 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011222232352.01734.00000923@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28378

>Legally, as much as you are since he is licensed.
>--
>cheers, CAM

Are you in Love with this Dr??.

5284. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:26:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C255D0F.F58A7341@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28381

WA8ULX wrote:
>
> >Legally, as much as you are since he is licensed.
>
> Are you in Love with this Dr??.

Nope, he's just the only nocode tech I know with a PhD in EE.
Do you have a PhD in EE, Bruce? If not, are you too stupid to get one?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5285. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:28:39 UTC
From: Phil's TALL Tales <BULLSHIT@PureBULLSHIT.edu> Message-ID: <a03mgg$6r4$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28380
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message:
> The above took place while I was a street cop - Los Angeles
> Sheriff's Office, in a minority-ghetto area - a good 10 years before
> I joined the Feds.
> --
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

Sure Phil sure. Spin us yet another one of your tall tales.
LOL LOL LOL

5286. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:35:40 UTC
From: ZOOM <kandrparker@sympatico.ca>
Message-ID: <UadV7.50178$x25.5077319@news20.bellglobal.com>
Source record: 28382
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

This guy is a troll. He has posted this same message in many NG. Don't waste your time responding to it.

IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
>
> http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/

5287. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:44:48 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112222044.50ba0dc5@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28383
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"john" <w9jcm@arrl.net> wrote in message
news:<vI8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net>...
> Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
> "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
> news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
> > I like it!
> >
> >
> > IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> > >
> > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
> >
> >

oh cool ....move over hammies.......its called corporate expansion.....i told you...we are in the appropriation business....if you don't use it you loose it.......remember????

5288. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 04:46:09 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112222046.5c2c6625@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28384
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:<a02dhn$1i6$0@pita.alt.net>...
> "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in
> message news:d9f7b76c.0112210954.64cbefb7@posting.google.com...
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:<9vvhp3hkd5@pita.alt.net>...
> > > "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
> > > news:9vu93o01oba@enews2.newsguy.com...
> > > >
> > > > "Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:9vts89$f8j$0@pita.alt.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 17:38:44 -0500, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
> wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > > I've seen better trolls on pencils.
> > > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > > The Jack Daniels was that effective, eh?
> > > >
> > > > My, my. Aren't we ignorant of pop culture.
> > > >
> > > > FYI, I was referring to the troll dolls that were popular in the 70s.
> They
> > > > were those little things with the big eyes and different colored, Don > King
> > > > style of hair. Smaller ones were often on the ends of pencils, or on > > > > keychains, or hanging from rearview mirors. They're still around, but > not
> as > > > > popular as they once were. Although they did have a resurgence in > popularity
> > > > about ten years ago.
> > >
> > > That anonymous COWARD is ignorant of everything. "Woger Wussman" aka
> Twatty
> > > Campbell(Posts as Scott Campbell) should be familiar with the troll
> doll,
> > > since he was the initial model for them.
> >
> > hit the bricks chuckie....you aren't wanted here.......
>
> Fuck off, Dickhead, as the Stones sing "You can't always get what you want."

oh geez...what happened chuckie.....get kicked off the ham reflector because you pissed in measure's corn flakes one too many times????

5289. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 05:16:47 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a03p9q027l7@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28386

"Unclaimed Mysteries" <k4doh@mindspring.com> wrote in message news:a02lo5$ci6$1@slb4.atl.mindspring.net...
> http://www.theregister.co.uk/content/6/23494.html
>
> "In a five-page order released Friday, the US Federal Communications > Commission (FCC) claims that 38-year old convicted hacker Kevin Mitnick is > not morally fit to be a ham radio operator. "

Maybe this is how the FCC plans on dismantling the amateur radio service.
They'll declare all current licensees morally unfit in some way, not renew the license, and when the numbers have dwindled low enough, sell off the spectrum to the highest commercial bidder.

5290. Re: PROOF that we are all BARKING MAD! CBERS.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 05:22:30 UTC
From: Patrick Keele <pkg1dra@g1dra.freeserve.co.uk>
Message-ID: <a05hu8bk1@news6.svr.pol.co.uk>
Source record: 28409
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

>
> > What you REALLY mean is..... CAUSE I AIN'T GOT A BRAIN.....i
have
> > "adddressed the issue".
Not quite gov'nor

I was merely re- iterating the level of intelligence by paraphrasing(if you know what the word means) which i think the CRETIN who insulted me possesses.
I was demonstrating how i think the CRETIN speaks,judging by the level of illiteracy which he exudes.You and he both clearly miss the point of my message.

You don't impress me at all by misquoting what i originally said,which is out of context to the original message.ANY fool(you as an example)can cut and paste.You are not clever.

Better luck next time "pal".

Patrick

5291. Re: Airline travel with a rig?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 05:25:42 UTC
From: Julian Frost <jfrost@eclectic.ss.uci.edu> Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.33.0112222124130.8305-100000@eclectic.ss.uci.edu>
Source record: 28385
Cross-posted to: alt.ham-radio.vhf-uhf,rec.radio.amateur.equipment,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Fri, 21 Dec 2001, Dave Holford wrote:

> Julian Frost wrote:
> >
> > Simply tell them that it's a ham radio and if questioned further, tell > > them that you are a Federally licensed ham radio operator. Have a copy of > > your license available. You won't have any trouble whatsoever.
>
>
> That makes as much sense as showing your 'Federal Pilot Licence' and > expecting to ride the flight deck.

I think you're making more of my comment than I said. Simply explaining that you have a ham radio and a federally issued license to operate it is nothing at all like showing your Federal Pilot's License and expecting to ride in the flight deck.

Julian

5292. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 05:25:56 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a03pps028ec@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28387
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
>
> http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/

The guy running this page has an e-mail in the Netherlands. How about posting something that's based on U.S. communications laws?

5293. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 05:35:46 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a03qcc029l4@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28388
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"Richard Clark" <kb7qhc@attbi.com> wrote in message
news:oar92u8tssiansirqbo36akht9aq9pjul0@4ax.com...
> >> >WHY do you use that STUPID word "MINDSET"?What the hell is a MINDSET?Do
> >you
> >> >mean it's how someone thinks?Can i buy this "mindset" in a store or > >> >shop???why don't you speak PLAIN ORDINARY commonsense ENGLISH??????????
> >> >
> >> >I am british and i am SICK of the british using and picking up STUPID > >> >americanisms in the uk! WHAt other society in the world IMPORTS another
> >> >countries language to replace it's OWN???????HOW pathetic!

Languages evolve. Meanings of words change while new words emerge. (Remember when "gay" didn't mean homosexual?) And don't give me shit about our language not being English. The French spoken in Canada is different from that in France, but it's still called French. Same goes for Mexico and Spain with the Spanish Language. As long as people communicate their thoughts and understand each other, why should you or anyone else criticize? Get a clue, you stupid-arse wanker!

5294. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 05:40:40 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a03qlg02a0d@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28389

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C251F43.1458C5DD@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of > > callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?
>
> How can a private email be official?

Dave thinks that anything Riley says with regards to ham radio is in an official capacity, even if such statements are contrary to what the regulations permit and what the FCC has done.

5295. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 05:45:16 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a03qu502afm@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28390

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011222220317.04115.00000525@mb-fy.aol.com...
> >The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> >First Amendment rights without badgering her.
>
> Why do Kim's alleged First Amendment rights take precedence over other folks > rights? IOW, why is it right for her to pick and use an inappropriate
callsign
> but not right for others talk about it?

Who said you weren't allowed to talk about it? All Cecil said was what he felt was the right thing to do. You are completely free to do the wrong thing. No one is stopping you.

5296. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 06:08:05 UTC
From: N7MFR <n7mfr@teleport.com>
Message-ID: <9xeV7.10921$Cw3.1288316@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 28391
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

And we needed to see this because.....its for sale?

"IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:ce9e428e.0112201256.54a6f516@posting.google.com...
> FOUND IN REC.RADIO.CB. THIS IS THE TYPICAL CRIMINAL MINDSET OF CBERS.
>
> "Kenneth Vaughan" <kenneth.vaughan@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:<fGcU7.232938$3d2.11138155@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
>
> > twas the night before christmas,when all through the house.....
> > my radios were silent...silent as a mouse.
> > the antenna was hung by the chimney with care,
> > in hopes that the "skip",soon would be there.
> >
> > "gunslinger" was nestled,all snug in his bed.
> > while visions of x-force amps,danced in his head.
> >
> > when on my front door,there arose such a clatter...
> > i sprang from my bed, to see what was the matter!
> >
> > away to the window i flew like a flash,
> > thinking"if its uncle charlie,im outta some cash"
> > the moon on the breast of the new fallen snow, > > gave the lustre of mid-day,to the assholes below.
> >
> > when what to my wondering eyes should appear!!
> > but an fcc van! and eight voobners in storm trooper gear!!!
> >
> > with a little old driver,so lively and quick!
> > i knew in a moment,its RILEY...the prick!!
> >
> > more rapid than eagles,his coursers they came,
> > and he cussed,and he cursed,and called them by name!
> > "now voobner!,now leland! now richard! and jerry!
> > "come on you dummies,weve got to hurry!"
> >
> > to the top of the porch! to the top of the wall!
> > now grab his gear! grab his gear! grab it all!!
> >
> > so out my back door,with my gear i flew!
> > with a box full of radios...and my linear ,too!
> >
> > i spoke not a word,but went straight to my work,

> > i hid all my gear,then returned to the "jerk"
> > and flashing the "bird" finger,right under his nose!
> >
> > said "too bad you couldnt find it,you dumb ass holes!!"
> >
> > and he heard me exclaim,ere he drove out of sight,
> > "screw you riley!"...rec radio....good night!!!
> >
> > elpasogunslinger merry christmas....(all of you)
>

5297. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 06:32:18 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011223013218.03420.00001037@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 28392

>Do you have a PhD in EE, Bruce? If not, are you too stupid >to get one?
>--
>cheers, CAM

For your info yes I do, but what does that have to do with anything?

5298. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 06:43:43 UTC
From: "Joe S." <joe@schlatter.org>
Message-ID: <a03uek02fsj@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28301
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> released a brain fart when he wrote in message news:Ov9V7.144346$bs2.23874540@news02.optonline.net...
> No..........It's just the way I am. I really DO think FCC regs SUCK OUT > LOUD!

I think the laws that do not permit discharging firearms in populated areas SUCK OUT LOUD. How about sending me your address so I can come fire a few dozen 9-mm rounds through your front door? Screw laws and regs -- every man for himself and let the one with the biggest caliber handgun win. Makes sense to me.

Were you born stupid or did you just get that way through practice?

--
- - -

Regards,
Joe S.

> I've been on both sides of the fence and decided i liked the view better
> from the trees!
> I'm also not the TROLL who started the cross posted thread.
> Train
> "john" <w9jcm@arrl.net> wrote in message
> news:vI8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net...
> > Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
> > "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
> > news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
> > > I like it!
> > >
> > >
> > > IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> > > >
> > > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
> > >
> > >
> > >
> >
> >
>
>

5299. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 06:50:53 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C257ECF.BC4A1D29@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28393

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > Since Dr. "No" has no need for HF
> > > > access, what is his beef? If he has none, why do you keep trotting him > > > > out?
> > >
> > > As an example of a nocode tech who is perfectly satisfied with > > > his present ham license...
> >
> > Bully for him. Why not let him speak for himself ...
>
> This newsgroup is not his cup of tea.

The poor guy.

> > >... and is technically head and shoulders
> > > above the vast majority of all coded hams.
> >
> > We have only your statement to that effect. I suppose only his > > operating skills are lacking.
>
> He doesn't operate so he needs no operating skills. The only reason > he has a ham license is to talk to his camping buddies.

Glad to hear that it has worked out well for him. He doesn't need HF and doesn't have it. He doesn't need operating skills since he works only other people whom I'd have to assume don't know much about operating either. I'm frankly surprised he bothered to obtain any kind of license. Sounds like FRS wouldn't have been perfect for him.

Dave K8MN

5300. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 06:52:28 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C257F2E.F828AC2A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28394

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > >
> > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > He has no beef. Mine is the idea presented by the PCTA folk that all > > > > > nocode techs are technical dumb $hits. One would think a PhD in EE > > > > > would be good enough proof to the contrary.
> > > >
> > > > I don't recall any idea presented by "PCTA folk" which is as > > > > you claim. Are you basing your claim in the statements of one or two > > > > individuals?
> > >
> > > I'm basing my claim on the statements of some members of the PCTA > > > crowd, e.g. Larry and Dick.
> >
> > So let us make it clear right now then that you are basing your claim on > > the statements of two individuals and not any "agenda" at all. Now that > > you have changed your story, let us hope that you attempt to keep it > > straight.
>
> I haven't changed my story. Do you know what "e.g." means?

Yeah and you've given two "e.g"'s. Sure you've changed your story. In fact, you change your stories so often that even YOU can't keep up with 'em.

Dave K8MN

5301. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 06:53:27 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C257F69.8766A107@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28395

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of > > > > callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?
> > >
> > > How can a private email be official?
> >
> > Riley e-mailed Kim from his home on his own time?
>
> Emails don't represent official policy. Where, exactly, is this > official policy written down? I don't see it in Part 97.

What a simp.

Dave K8MN
```

5302. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 06:55:13 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C257FD3.8EAC7B58@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28396

CAM wrote:
>
> N2EY wrote:
> >
> > In article <3C252031.BDE6AC6A@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >
> > >Dave Heil wrote:
> > >> > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone
> > >> > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> > >>
> > >> Because it is the right thing to do.
> > >
> > >The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> > >First Amendment rights without badgering her.
> >
> > Why do Kim's alleged First Amendment rights take precedence over other folks > > rights? IOW, why is it right for her to pick and use an inappropriate callsign > > but not right for others talk about it?
>
> Please produce something official from the FCC that says that Kim's callsign
> is inappropriate. Riley's prudish email is not official enough for me.

Man, that's tough. I'll bet the guy is happy that he doesn't report to you.

Dave K8MN

Dave K8MN

5303. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 06:56:24 UTC
From: Omniscient <KnowsAll@Anon.com>
Message-ID: <a03vae$47g$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28397
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"N7MFR" <n7mfr@teleport.com> wrote in message
news:9xeV7.10921$Cw3.1288316@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> And we needed to see this because.....its for sale?
>
>
> "IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:ce9e428e.0112201256.54a6f516@posting.google.com...
> > FOUND IN REC.RADIO.CB. THIS IS THE TYPICAL CRIMINAL MINDSET OF CBERS.
> >
> > "Kenneth Vaughan" <kenneth.vaughan@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message > news:<fGcU7.232938$3d2.11138155@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> >
> > > twas the night before christmas,when all through the house.....
> > > my radios were silent...silent as a mouse.
> > > the antenna was hung by the chimney with care,
> > > in hopes that the "skip",soon would be there.
> > >
> > > "gunslinger" was nestled,all snug in his bed.
> > > while visions of x-force amps,danced in his head.
> > >
> > > when on my front door,there arose such a clatter...
> > > i sprang from my bed, to see what was the matter!
> > >
> > > away to the window i flew like a flash,
> > > thinking"if its uncle charlie,im outta some cash"
> > > the moon on the breast of the new fallen snow,
> > > gave the lustre of mid-day,to the assholes below.
> > >
> > > when what to my wondering eyes should appear!!
> > > but an fcc van! and eight voobners in storm trooper gear!!!
> > >
> > > with a little old driver,so lively and quick!
> > > i knew in a moment,its RILEY...the prick!!
> > >
> > > more rapid than eagles,his coursers they came,
> > > and he cussed,and he cursed,and called them by name!
> > > "now voobner!,now leland! now richard! and jerry!
> > > "come on you dummies,weve got to hurry!"
> > >
> > > to the top of the porch! to the top of the wall!
> > > now grab his gear! grab his gear! grab it all!!
> > >
> > > so out my back door,with my gear i flew!

> > > with a box full of radios...and my linear ,too!
> > >
> > > i spoke not a word,but went straight to my work,
> > > i hid all my gear,then returned to the "jerk"
> > > and flashing the "bird" finger,right under his nose!
> > >
> > > said "too bad you couldnt find it,you dumb ass holes!!"
> > >
> > > and he heard me exclaim,ere he drove out of sight,
> > > "screw you riley!"...rec radio....good night!!!
> > >
> > > elpasogunslinger merry christmas....(all of you)
> >
And your point is?
>

5304. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 06:59:33 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2580D6.5793C1C5@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28398

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > N2EY wrote:
> > >
> > > In article <3C252031.BDE6AC6A@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> > >
> > > >Dave Heil wrote:
> > > >> > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone > > > >> > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> > > >>
> > > >> Because it is the right thing to do.
> > > >
> > > >The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> > > >First Amendment rights without badgering her.
> > >
> > > Why do Kim's alleged First Amendment rights take precedence over other folks > > > rights? IOW, why is it right for her to pick and use an inappropriate callsign > > > but not right for others talk about it?
> > >
> > > Looks like Cecil is only a libertarian if people agree with him.
> >
> > The secret is that Cecil isn't really a libertarian or Libertarian.
> > He is quick to attempt the stifling of opposing views.
>
> Just trying to get you to mind your own business. What is wrong with > live and let live?

Vulgar callsigns and offensive speech in amateur radio are my business.
Let Kim try the "live and let live" for a change. Let Kim do her part to avoid hosing up the amateur service. Let Kim think first of how her choice might effect the sensibilities of others. Yeah, live and let live.

Dave K8MN

5305. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 07:01:16 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C25813E.F6574435@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28399

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > WHY would I change my callsign just because someone
> > > > > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> > > > >
> > > > > Because it is the right thing to do.
> > > >
> > > > The right thing to do would be to allow Kim to exercise her
> > > > First Amendment rights without badgering her.
> > >
> > > That isn't correct. That stifles MY First Amendment rights!
> > > There is no clause which demands that I agree to her view.
> >
> > But why don't you mind your own business and stop stalking Kim?
> > What is wrong with live and let live?

Why don't YOU mind YOUR own business? Stating my opinion about Kim's choice cannot be construed as "stalking" under any circumstances. Why are you attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights, Cecil?

Dave K8MN

5306. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 07:03:56 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2581DE.DDA7AB3F@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28400

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > So Dave, are you going to bring that lawsuit against Kim or just try > > > to kill her with the jawbone of an ass?
> >
> > After you're through yapping, perhaps you'll allow me to borrow it.
>
> I'm serious, Dave. When are you going to stop electronically stalking
> Kim and bring that lawsuit?

Ahhh, but you CAN'T be taken seriously here. I'm serious when I tell you that your "stalking" stuff is nonsense. This is a newsgroup. I post here. Kim posts here. You post here. This is a public bulletin board of opinion. I don't send Kim any e-mail or letters. I don't stand outside her home with a placard.

Why are attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights you old, false libertarian you?

Dave K8MN

5307. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 07:06:43 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C258285.AFA0528A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28302

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I'll put you down in column B headed "Also Lacking Good Taste".
> > Always glad to hear from another who believes that there is no right and > > wrong.
>
> There's nothing wrong with Kim's callsign. What is wrong is your > electronic assault and battery of her on this newsgroup.

There's plenty wrong with Kim's lack of class in choosing a deliberately vulgar call. Your silly attempts to stifle my First Amendment rights by painting them as something other than what they are is absurd.

I find many of premises absurd--like the one where you claim to be a libertarian.

Dave K8MN

5308. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 07:14:03 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C25843D.C75BAE14@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28303

Krell wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C251F43.1458C5DD@IEEE.org...
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of > > > callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?
> >
> > How can a private email be official?
>
> Dave thinks that anything Riley says with regards to ham radio is in an > official capacity, even if such statements are contrary to what the > regulations permit and what the FCC has done.

Dave thinks Krell is guessing at what Dave thinks. Just a few posts earlier you made a statement in response to an FCC statement concerning the morality of a licensee. It would appear that the Commission does take such actions and I seem to recall similar language used in denying renewals in earlier years. Obtaining and holding an amateur radio license is by no means a right.

I wonder if Phil would care to comment.

Dave K8MN

5309. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 08:47:44 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a045nf$6fh$2@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28304
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

> I suggest that you become familiar
> with the issues over APCO 25
> standards for digital trunked radio.
> The main purpose is to prevent private
> citizens from receiving ANY public > radio transmission. As I am a member > of APCO, I have had conversations with
> individuals who run public safety radio > systems. Their one big goal is to have > an digitally encrypted system that no one,
> not even the media, will be able to receive
> without their permission.

That is not the primary purpose. The primary purpose is so that all radios have one communications standard, so that they will be interoperable between systems. Understandably, the manufacturers are not overly happy about this - as it eliminates their propriatory functionality that generates their real money maker - the sale of radios.

Digital encoding all by itself stops most people from receiving the communications. There already exists the capability to encode analog communications so that the public cannot monitor traffic,
if desired.

Some police forces might wish to keep the public ignorant. But with the use of MDTs becoming more and more common, there isn't much spoken over the radios that would be of concern - except for special ops communications, which are already scrambled.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5310. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 08:55:24 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a0465r$6fh$3@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28305
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:

> It will cause more problems that it is worth.
> Right now most police officers use scanners
> to listen to adjacent patrol areas, other departments
> and others services. If radios are encrypted, you > will only have those talk groups that are programmed > into your radio. Already we have problems with > various agencies not wanting other agencies on > their talk groups. For example, the ambulance > service does not want the fire fighters on their > talk group. Makes it damned hard to co-ordinate
> at an accident scene or talk the ambulance in.

With a trunking system, you only have the talk groups that are programmed into your radio - the same is true for systems.
This is no different than for conventional repeater setups.

With a trunking system - there is no need for different agencies to be on the same talk groups - except for the designed interagency groups. Those interagency groups are meant for use when such coordinated operation is desired.

I speak from practical experience here. I have performed the design and implementation of various trunking systems.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5311. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 08:58:20 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a046bc$6fh$4@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28306
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com> wrote:

> If encryption is a "fast one" it sure is taking a long > time. The ability to encrypt has been around for > years...nothing new on that technology.

Even conventional systems have had encryption for many years.
The delay is over the cost of replacing the current systems with new equipment. The repeaters/controllers are relatively inexpensive - it is replacing all the handhelds and mobils that is most expensive.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5312. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 09:05:20 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a046of$6fh$5@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28307
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote:
> :
> : Other than the ban on cellular recieving capability for newly manufactured
> : scanners. Just what other restrictive laws about scanners are you
> : thinking of.

> Well part of that law made it illegal to > reverse engineer any coding scheme
> such as Motorola's trunking format.
> Or their MDT coding. Mind you now,
> these are not encryption, just a computer
> code. It also restricted listening to pagers.

Funny. I wonder how Radio Shack can sell their trunking scanners then?
They were designed and built after the law was passed.

Further, there is (as far as I know) no law against analyzing the over the air signals and producing a receiver that works based on that information. As it is digital, it is really not very difficult.

> And remember, this only applies to civilians,
> the police are exempt.

From what? Hacking trunking schemes? Monitoring cellular communications?
The police cannot monitor cellular calls without a warrant - at least,
not legally.

> If the average police chief had his way, there would > be no scanners, body armor, or guns in the hands of > private citizens. Hell, too many chiefs would be happy
> if everyone was forced to take public transportation.
> All except their wives and kids, of course.

Police chiefs are politicians. They often have never had any experience on the street.

> And someone is going to sue once it is learned > that different agencies can not co-ordinate. It > is going to cost someone there life.

Ah, but different agencies can coordinate - as long as the radios are all in the same band. Such system interoperability is trivial to set up.

> : > And you know that the media will be the first
> : > to be locked out. They are just now realizing

> : > that the cops might be pulling a fast one.
> :
> : If encryption is a "fast one" it sure is taking a long
> : time. The ability to encrypt has been around for
> : years...nothing new on that technology.

> Not cheaply and easily. Digital trunked radio > has made it very easily. Except that digital trunking
> has not worked out as well as they had hoped.

What is wrong with digital trunking? From my experience, it has worked out quite well. A much larger number of communications are carried out on the same number of repeaters, and you don't have to listen on a channel before transmitting to make sure it is clear.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5313. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 09:08:21 UTC
From: Unclaimed Mysteries <k4doh@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0473c$j0j$1@slb4.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28308

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:a03p9q027l7@enews4.newsguy.com...
>
> "Unclaimed Mysteries" <k4doh@mindspring.com> wrote in message
> news:a02lo5$ci6$1@slb4.atl.mindspring.net...
> > http://www.theregister.co.uk/content/6/23494.html
> >
> > "In a five-page order released Friday, the US Federal Communications > > Commission (FCC) claims that 38-year old convicted hacker Kevin Mitnick
is > > not morally fit to be a ham radio operator. "
>
> Maybe this is how the FCC plans on dismantling the amateur radio service.
> They'll declare all current licensees morally unfit in some way, not renew > the license, and when the numbers have dwindled low enough, sell off the > spectrum to the highest commercial bidder.
>

N6NHG just rooted my Alinco DX-70TH! Now it's trying to make random PSK31 contacts with other 1337 hax0rs! ARRGH!!! ALL CAPS TOO. WHAT A L4M3R. Wait, what was that? I didn't have anything in my toaster...what in the wide, wide world of sports is a-goin' on here?

--
It Came From C. L. Smith's Unclaimed Mysteries.
http://www.unclaimedmysteries.net/

WARNING! This message has not been cleared by the Office Of Homeland Security. Read at your own risk.

5314. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 09:09:26 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a04705$6fh$6@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28309
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote:

> an earlier era, though not many years ago. But trunked digital comm systems are > a double edged sword. They are like the cell phone system - fine when working, > useless when not. Earlier base to mobile analog distpatch systems were and are > more reliable. And much less expensive, always a factor, especially in a time of > fading economic conditions..

All trunking systems have a fallback mode. If the controller fails, you now have a standard conventional system.

Digital does have a somewhat shorter range than analog, but not much.

You are correct that the conventional systems were/are less expensive.
But they have their own shortcomings.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5315. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 09:27:35 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a04826$6fh$7@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28310
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.law-enforcement,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:
>>
>> Officers have been wrong before - which is why evidence from searches >> is sometimes ruled inadmissable.
>>
>> His statement is too broad to be true all the time.

> He is totally right. The officer has the > right, confirmed by the courts, to inspect > anything that is a car. Especially anything > that is within reach of the driver.

That is not true, as others have pointed out. For example, say I have a locked briefcase in the trunk of my car. The officer does not have the right to even look in the trunk, much less the briefcase. That is a long way from "anything that is (in) a car".
He did not qualify the statement by "within reach of the driver".
For that matter, a locked briefcase that is within the reach of the driver is also probably not searchable without a warrant or probable cause.

> While this has been mostly used over issues > like firearms and drugs, it can apply to cell > phones and radios if these devices would > constitute a hazard to safe driving.

> I do not think that you realize how much authority > the courts have given the police over the last 10 > years.

Oh yes I do. And some of the things they have been doing under the pretext of the so-called "war on drugs" are frightening.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5316. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 11:44:12 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <gsjV7.307737$W8.11171087@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28311

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C255D0F.F58A7341@IEEE.org...
> WA8ULX wrote:
> >
> > >Legally, as much as you are since he is licensed.
> >
> > Are you in Love with this Dr??.
>
> Nope, he's just the only nocode tech I know with a PhD in EE.
> Do you have a PhD in EE, Bruce? If not, are you too stupid > to get one?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Out of curiousity, is this a real two-language with all the frosting Piled Hip Deep? Or might it be a Dummkopf Second Class? Almost makes one want to go to Yale for a BA in EE. That'll humanize the technofreaks.

Dick, Beer Keg

5317. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 12:47:42 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a04p67$l7u$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28330
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in message news:d9f7b76c.0112222046.5c2c6625@posting.google.com...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:<a02dhn$1i6$0@pita.alt.net>...
> > "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote
in
> > message news:d9f7b76c.0112210954.64cbefb7@posting.google.com...
> > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:<9vvhp3hkd5@pita.alt.net>...
> > > > "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
> > > > news:9vu93o01oba@enews2.newsguy.com...
> > > > >
> > > > > "Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > > > news:9vts89$f8j$0@pita.alt.net...
> > > > > >
> > > > > > On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 17:38:44 -0500, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
> > wrote:
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > I've seen better trolls on pencils.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > The Jack Daniels was that effective, eh?
> > > > > >
> > > > > > My, my. Aren't we ignorant of pop culture.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > FYI, I was referring to the troll dolls that were popular in the 70s.
> > They
> > > > > > were those little things with the big eyes and different colored, Don
> > King
> > > > > > style of hair. Smaller ones were often on the ends of pencils, or
on > > > > > > keychains, or hanging from rearview mirors. They're still around,
but
> > not
> > as > > > > > > popular as they once were. Although they did have a resurgence in > > popularity
> > > > > > about ten years ago.
> > > > >
> > > > > That anonymous COWARD is ignorant of everything. "Woger Wussman" aka
> > Twatty

> > > > Campbell(Posts as Scott Campbell) should be familiar with the troll
> > doll,
> > > > since he was the initial model for them.
> > >
> > > hit the bricks chuckie....you aren't wanted here.......
> >
> > Fuck off, Dickhead, as the Stones sing "You can't always get what you want."
>
>
> oh geez...what happened chuckie.....get kicked off the ham reflector > because you pissed in measure's corn flakes one too many times????

Reflector, anonymous coward? So you're a ham radio newbie as well as an internet newbie. Oh, too bad, gay SD. Haven't been "kicked" anywhere, you ignorant dolt.

5318. Re: Roger Goes (Humming) Caroling

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:31:01 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a04p6u$l7u$g@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28331
Cross-posted to: alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.2600

```
"Robert" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
news:a02ndg$mih$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:a02dik$1i6$m@pita.alt.net...
> >
> --
> > "Impotent" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > news:a00o9k$pb4$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:9vvhos$hkd$3@pita.alt.net...
> > > > >
> > > > "ghost" <ghost_dj_no_spam@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > > > news:zfyU7.5432$Cw3.657624@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> > > > > >
> > > > > "Omniscient" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > > > > news:9vuapu$nrs$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > > > > > Roger and some of his "dear" friends at the Pink Triangle Sweet > Meat
> > > > Bar
> > > > > and > > > > > > > Grill have gotten together and formed a group called The Hummers
> to
> > > go > > > > > > > Christmas caroling. They have but one song on their list but they
> do
> > > it
> > > > > > > well, often, and usually to "stand up" crowds.
> > > > > > > That one song is their most favorite, and they can hum "Come All
> Ye
> > > > > > > Faithful" in three different octaves. They usually hum this little > > > ditty
> > > > > > > while on their knees and Roger is typically the leading supplicant
> > and > > > > > > > greatest crowd pleaser.
> > > > > > > There is no shortage of protein in Roger's diet and his twinky
> > little > > > > > Pinky
> > > > > > > butties have fondly dubbed Roger with the nickname "Chipmunk
```

> > Cheeks".
> > > > > > Roger still holds the humming record for no spillage, but his > > butties
> > > > are > > > > > > quickly bringing up the rear.
> > > > > > Roger, ever undaunted, unabashedly informs his admirers that the > > > secret
> > > > to > > > > > > his sucksess is, "If at first you don't suck seed, suck, suck > > again."
> > > > > > Go, Roger! Go!
> > > > > >
> > > > > >
> > > > > >
> > > > > LMFAO
> > > > >
> > > > > ghost
> > > >
> > > > Translation: "Slllllluuuuurrrrrpppp!"
> > > >
> > > > "Ghjost" is familiar with licking rectums, since that's how he got
the > > > > herpes on his tongue.
> > >
> >
> > Poor Impotent, he was so upset at his ineffectiveness, he spammed with > > identical responses on two posts. Run along and beat your wife up some > more,
> > wife beater.
>
> One Who Knows the feel of a sheep's anus [flush!]

Poor babbling cocoaine addict Booby.

5319. Re: Roger Goes (Humming) Caroling

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:32:24 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a04p6v$l7u$h@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28332
Cross-posted to: alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

```
"Robert" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
news:a02nj6$msm$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:a02dil$1i6$n@pita.alt.net...
> >
> > "Omniscient" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > news:a00o7r$p7l$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:9vvhor$hkd$2@pita.alt.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > "Impotent" <KnowsAssholeswell@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > > > > news:9vuapu$nrs$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > > > > Roger and some of his "dear" friends at the Pink Triangle Sweet Meat
> > Bar
> > > > > and > > > > > > Grill have gotten together and formed a group called The Hummers
to
> go > > > > > > Christmas caroling. They have but one song on their list but they do
> > it
> > > > > > well, often, and usually to "stand up" crowds.
> > > > > > That one song is their most favorite, and they can hum "Come All
Ye
> > > > > > Faithful" in three different octaves. They usually hum this little > > ditty
> > > > > > while on their knees and Roger is typically the leading supplicant
> and
> > > > > > greatest crowd pleaser.
> > > > > > There is no shortage of protein in Roger's diet and his twinky
> little > > > > Pinky
> > > > > > butties have fondly dubbed Roger with the nickname "Chipmunk > Cheeks".
> > > > > > Roger still holds the humming record for no spillage, but his > butties
> > > are > > > > > > quickly bringing up the rear.
> > > > > > Roger, ever undaunted, unabashedly informs his admirers that the > > secret
```

> > > to > > > > > his sucksess is, "If at first you don't suck seed, suck, suck > again."
> > > > > Go, Roger! Go!
> > > >
> > > > Poor anonymous COWARD all he's got is a pathetic IKYABWAI.
> > > > Too bad he's been charged with molesting his two daughters.
> >
> > [flush]
> >
> > Poor Impotent the anonymous COWARD.
>
> Still [STOMP!]

Still hiding behind that anonimity, taliban-supporting COWARD?

> --
> One Who Knows the feel of a sheep's anus

5320. Re: Roger Goes (Humming) Caroling

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:35:06 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a04p70$l7u$i@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28333
Cross-posted to: alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

```
Pedophile
"Robert" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
news:a02nae$mch$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:a02dii$1i6$1@pita.alt.net...
> >
> > "Impotent" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > news:a00o54$ovv$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "ghost" <ghost_dj_no_spam@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > > news:cuIU7.6197$Cw3.725258@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> > > > <snip>
> > > >
> > > > "Slllllluuuuurrrrrpppp!"
> > > > >
> > > > > "Ghjost" is familiar with licking rectums, since that's how he got
> the > > > > > herpes on his tongue.
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > That was lame, perhaps you would care to try again? Let's play a game,
> I > > > > hold my hand up, and you pick a finger. It's an easy game, as I will > let
> > > you
> > > > keep guessing till you get it right.
> > > >
> > > ghost
> > > >
> > >
> > > --
> > >
> --
> One Who Knows the touch of a sheep's anus said:
> "The hallmark of an outed coward is my hiding behind aliases. Get the best sheep
> you can find. Then the cum you swallow won't get that stale taste to it.

Poor anonymous COWARD.
```

> > Impotent and Gasp are familiar with stale tates, since they regularly suck
> > off their grandfathers.

Impotent's admission he sucks off his grandfather, noted.
> >
>
>

5321. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:35:19 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <r4lV7.17$Qs3.66489@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net>
Source record: 28312
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

: > : Other than the ban on cellular recieving capability for newly manufactured
: > : scanners. Just what other restrictive laws about scanners are you
: > : thinking of.
:
: > Well part of that law made it illegal to
: > reverse engineer any coding scheme
: > such as Motorola's trunking format.
: > Or their MDT coding. Mind you now,
: > these are not encryption, just a computer
: > code. It also restricted listening to pagers.
:
: Funny. I wonder how Radio Shack can sell their trunking scanners then?
: They were designed and built after the law was passed.
:
: Further, there is (as far as I know) no law against analyzing the
: over the air signals and producing a receiver that works based on
: that information. As it is digital, it is really not very difficult.

I do not think that law was passed. There was a good deal of opposition from within the ham community. I believe that it was in committee last year and was quietly dropped.

But the idea is still on the backburner, so to speak.

: > And remember, this only applies to civilians,
: > the police are exempt.
:
: From what? Hacking trunking schemes? Monitoring cellular communications?
: The police cannot monitor cellular calls without a warrant - at least,
: not legally.

The police can not use information gathered in court if it has not be subject to a warrant. But the law exempts the police. They can buy scanners, or even modified cellular equipment, and listen to whatever they want. There is no restrictions on them, or us, about listening. It is that they can not official gather "intelligence" without a warrant.

: > If the average police chief had his way, there would
: > be no scanners, body armor, or guns in the hands of
: > private citizens. Hell, too many chiefs would be happy

: > if everyone was forced to take public transportation.
: > All except their wives and kids, of course.
:
: Police chiefs are politicians. They often have never had any experience
: on the street.
:
: > And someone is going to sue once it is learned
: > that different agencies can not co-ordinate. It
: > is going to cost someone there life.
:
: Ah, but different agencies can coordinate - as long as the radios
: are all in the same band. Such system interoperability is trivial
: to set up.

In the "heat of battle", it is too late. What happens now is that each patrol area or agency vehicles can monitor each other via scanners. If things are encrypted, it would mean that dispatch would have to move everyone
to a common talk group which would take time.

Give you an example. I was talking over lunch with a sheriff's deputy who transfers prisoners from the jail to the court house. He has the sheriff's talk groups but does not have the baliff's nor the downtown police talk groups.
If he were to have a prisoner escape, he would have to co-ordinate everything via dispatch. It may take several minutes to inform everyone. Some may be totally out of the loop and even have the escaped prisoner go right by them. Scanners help in such cases to keep everyone informed.

: > : > And you know that the media will be the first
: > : > to be locked out. They are just now realizing
: > : > that the cops might be pulling a fast one.
: > :
: > : If encryption is a "fast one" it sure is taking a long
: > : time. The ability to encrypt has been around for
: > : years...nothing new on that technology.
:
: > Not cheaply and easily. Digital trunked radio
: > has made it very easily. Except that digital trunking
: > has not worked out as well as they had hoped.
:
: What is wrong with digital trunking? From my experience, it has : worked out quite well. A much larger number of communications are : carried out on the same number of repeaters, and you don't have
: to listen on a channel before transmitting to make sure it is
: clear.

Read http://www.strongsignals.net on a regular basis. Much of the digital systems are not working well. Now they think that the NYC FD digital radios may not have worked thus not informing the fire fighters to leave the WTC in time.

5322. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:36:26 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25D0CC.66AF4F6D@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28313

W1RFI wrote:

> From: Dick Carroll dixie@townsqr.com
>
> >Yeah, Congratulations on the downgraded "upgrade", Carl. I guess you do > >it however and whenever you can
>
> Those who can't build things up tear things down. It has been the modus > operandi of our lowest common denominator for years. Is THAT what learning > code teaches people to become?

Nosir, Edard, that's what NOT learning code teaches people.

5323. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:37:12 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <c6lV7.18$Qs3.67090@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net>
Source record: 28317
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

```
: > It will cause more problems that it is worth.
: > Right now most police officers use scanners
: > to listen to adjacent patrol areas, other departments
: > and others services. If radios are encrypted, you
: > will only have those talk groups that are programmed
: > into your radio. Already we have problems with
: > various agencies not wanting other agencies on
: > their talk groups. For example, the ambulance
: > service does not want the fire fighters on their
: > talk group. Makes it damned hard to co-ordinate
: > at an accident scene or talk the ambulance in.
:
: With a trunking system, you only have the talk groups that
: are programmed into your radio - the same is true for systems.
: This is no different than for conventional repeater setups.
:
: With a trunking system - there is no need for different agencies
: to be on the same talk groups - except for the designed interagency
: groups. Those interagency groups are meant for use when such
: coordinated operation is desired.
:
: I speak from practical experience here. I have performed the design
: and implementation of various trunking systems.

And if everything is encrypted then one can not monitor other agencies. Many LEOs have scanners in their vehicles.
```

5324. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:38:38 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25D150.69216283@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28314

Bill Sohl wrote:

> On Sat, 15 Dec 2001 17:45:34 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
> >A professional engineer should have aced the Extra test.
>
> Why? 1/4 or more of the questions involve totally > non-technical subjects (VE credentials, amateur space > operations rules, etc.)

I aced the Extra test over 30 years ago, long before VE credential etc questions, and I'm, not a degreed engineer. All that means what?

5325. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:39:19 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <b8lV7.19$Qs3.67667@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net>
Source record: 28315
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

```
: > I suggest that you become familiar
: > with the issues over APCO 25
: > standards for digital trunked radio.
: > The main purpose is to prevent private
: > citizens from receiving ANY public
: > radio transmission. As I am a member
: > of APCO, I have had conversations with
: > individuals who run public safety radio
: > systems. Their one big goal is to have
: > an digitally encrypted system that no one,
: > not even the media, will be able to receive
: > without their permission.
:
: That is not the primary purpose. The primary purpose is so
: that all radios have one communications standard, so that they
: will be interoperable between systems. Understandably, the
: manufacturers are not overly happy about this - as it eliminates
: their propriatory functionality that generates their real money
: maker - the sale of radios.
:
: Digital encoding all by itself stops most people from receiving
: the communications. There already exists the capability to encode
: analog communications so that the public cannot monitor traffic,
: if desired.
:
: Some police forces might wish to keep the public ignorant. But
: with the use of MDTs becoming more and more common, there isn't
: much spoken over the radios that would be of concern - except
: for special ops communications, which are already scrambled.

And look at how pissed everyone got when Bill Cheek broke the Motorola encoding for their MDT's! Just because the NYC PD department had a bunch of cops using the MDT's to pass their off color jokes about women and minorities.
```

5326. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:41:06 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25D1E5.D1C0B74A@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28316

Krell wrote:

> . (We now > have Kim, W5TIT, being a boil on his behind and taking pleasure in it, but > that's another topic)

Wrong, she's a pimple on the nose of the ARS and evidently sees that as her main goal in life.

5327. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:46:06 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25D311.555196F7@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28318

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:

> In article <3C1E45C3.B98A3784@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >
> >Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >> After all, Carl's the professional engineer -- not me!
> >
> >So when are you going to get off your lazy ass and get an > >engineering degree, Larry?
>
> Cecil:
>
> Never -- that's not what I aspire to be!
>
> >While Carl has been doing > >professional engineering, you have wasted your time > >doing what?
>
> Serving my country -- sacrificing the best and most productive years > of my adult life to support the effort necessary to defeat the Evil > Empire of the Soviet Union, bring the threat of Soviet Communist > hegemony to an end, and make the world much safer from nuclear > holocaust. All of my fellow Cold War Era veterans did the same thing, > and I don't consider that to have been a waste of our time.

And all the while Cecil & col were busy pursuing another spot of that "One-hit $hit" he loves.

5328. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:48:21 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <FgIV7.307794$W8.11176598@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28319

> > Dave Heil wrote

> > > Not really, Kim. I don't believe that you have any concept of what is > > > appropriate. I don't know how many think it is "OK". You've received
a > > > few statements of support here.

> Richard Plourde wrote:

> > I didn't say it was "OK", I said it was fine...

> > Consice and to the point...

Dave Heil wrote

> It sounded pretty "consice" to me too.

I knew it... as soon as I posted it...

I'd, mistakenly, spelled concise wrong; since I've aggravated the 'anal-retentives'... sorry, Dave, I didn't intend for it to be a troll.

Rich

And... of course they'd miss the humor. ;-)

Rich

5329. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:49:42 UTC
From: Scout <scout@monumental.com>
Message-ID: <kglV7.3967$0g.106631@iad-read.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28320
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:h5cV7.1259$UO1.617492@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net...
>
> Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net> wrote...
> : "Bill Nelson" <billn@spock.peak.org> wrote ...
> : > > There is a pecking order. Governors and mayors are
> : > > the most valuable then powerful men then professionals
> : > > like doctors and lawyers. The Police are just under mayors.
> : >
> : > If I were injured, I would feel that a doctor was far more important
> : > than some political hack who happened to get elected to office.
> : >
> : > > Look there are so many elite who see the police and
> : > > the military as a bunch of losers who are there to die
> : > > for them. People like you who make huge amounts
> : > > of money and live in big fancy houses. I have them
> : > > in my community. The military is not allowed to recruit
> : > > in the local high school as their kids are going to college
> : > > and the military is for those who can't really make it.
> : >
> : > > People like you see themselves as too valuable to get
> : > > their hands dirty. Sorry but your life is not worth that
> : > > of a police officer, a fire fighter or a soldier.
> : >
> : > How do you know what we do for our livings?
> : >
> : > In my opinion, it is elitist attitudes like yours that are part of
> : > the problems we face in this country.
> : >
> : > --
> : > Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)
> : >
> :
> : ABSOLUTELY! And, most cops don't think they are better than anyone else.
> : It's the ones that do that make it so rough for the industry (and while
I
> : used the word "most" in my last sentence, there are still lots who do
> think
> : they are more important).
> :
> : Each and every one of us is nearly, if not exactly, as important as the
> : next. We all have our "things" to do, work to do, families to raise,

> : neighborhoods to live in, communities to vote and pay taxes in, etc.
Not
> : one of us is doing something more important than the next.
> :
> : And, please don't use the excuse that cops or firefighters put themselves
> in > : harm's way more than anyone else. When I get in my vehicle every day to > go
> : to work, statistics say that I am more likely to be injured or die than > any
> : other industry-related statistic! Add rain, snow or ice to that scenario
> : and it's pretty darned dangerous just getting to work.
> :
> : Kim W5TIT
> :
>
> But it is not in your job description that you
> MUST risk your life as part of your job.

Life is risk, and ALL jobs require a certain level of risk acceptance to perform. Miners must risk their lives to perform their jobs.....they know the hazards and the rate of death in their industry, yet they accept that and continue to work.

You're just pissed, again, because people aren't buying into your "I'm superior to you because I'm military" crap.

What I find really interesting is how on one hand you claim you have to risk your life as part of your job, then on the other gripe because "the yuppies" send you out on missions that risk your life.

If risk is in your job description (and I would like to see you document that), then quit bitching when you are asked to risk your life in the performance of your job.

5330. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:54:33 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E219.80BB8338@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28321

Dave Heil wrote:
> I'm frankly surprised he bothered to obtain any kind of license.

He got tired of all us hams being able to communicate on camping trips while he drove around lost in the desert.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5331. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:55:35 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E257.93706B4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28322

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > I haven't changed my story. Do you know what "e.g." means?
>
> Yeah and you've given two "e.g"'s.

Yep, two examples - there are many more.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5332. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:56:41 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E299.4AB9B5B2@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28323

WA8ULX wrote:
>
> >Do you have a PhD in EE, Bruce? If not, are you too stupid > >to get one?
>
> For your info yes I do, but what does that have to do with anything?

I'm assuming your PhD is not in English.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5333. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 13:57:00 UTC
From: Bradley Stone <nb9mNOSPAM@reliable-net.net>
Message-ID: <u2d3h0b84gh49a@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 28459
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Loose it to what? The imbecilic, pathetic, moral-less banter amid the squeals and howls of mis-tuned transmitters, roger-beeps and echoes characteristic of CB now? Why do you think that abuse is better than no use at all? Jeez-0-Pete; I can't even tune into 11 meters with the kids around.

Corporate expansion? What's that supposed to mean????

Do you think law-abiding, cooperative, knowledegable hams are going to happily loose 10 meters like they did the 11 meter band all those years ago?

Take a deep breath and consider this: there are other people in this world but you - and they DON'T exist solely to provide you pleasure and comfort, or support you when you don't get your sophomoric way. The law IS the law. Just because you don't like it doesn't make it less so.

Alternatively, study and get your ticket. Try it - it can build character!

-Brad, NB9M

"SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in message news:d9f7b76c.0112222044.50ba0dc5@posting.google.com...
> "john" <w9jcm@arrl.net> wrote in message news:<vI8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net>...
> > Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
> > "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
> > news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
> > > I like it!
> > >
> > >
> > > IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> > > >
> > > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
> > >
> > >
>
> oh cool ....move over hammies.......its called corporate > expansion.....i told you...we are in the appropriation business....if > you don't use it you loose it.......remember????

5334. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:00:01 UTC
From: Bradley Stone <nb9mNOSPAM@reliable-net.net>
Message-ID: <u2d3mp4u7st5e0@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 28460
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

The poor spelling and incorrect use of apostrophes are SO characteristic...

"IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
>
> http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/

5335. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:03:03 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E417.47048036@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28324

Krell wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C251F43.1458C5DD@IEEE.org...
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of > > > callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?
> >
> > How can a private email be official?
>
> Dave thinks that anything Riley says with regards to ham radio is in an > official capacity, even if such statements are contrary to what the > regulations permit and what the FCC has done.

One would think that official United States of America Federal Communications Commission policy would appear somewhere besides private emails. Aren't they required by law under the Freedom of Information Act to publish their official policy somewhere besides private email?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5336. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:03:53 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E449.1010740E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28325

Dave Heil wrote:
> Vulgar callsigns and offensive speech in amateur radio are my business.

How many of them do you sell each year?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5337. Re: Big Al sucks and swallows Omniscient

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:04:55 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a04p74$l7u$l@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28334
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,alt.2600,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Impotent" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
news:a02nua$nl7$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:a02ebd$2rk$0@pita.alt.net...
> >
> > "Big Al" <Big_Al@38945BigAl.net> wrote in message
> > news:a026p3nsv0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > >
> > > Roger [Slurp slurp slurp]
> >
> > Poor "Big Al" slurping "Impotent's" syphlitic ass in public. Too bad he > only > > has a G.E.D. and no degree or even a "certificate" from any post-secondary > > educational institution.
> > Now, he's stuck in those service jobs is the only types of jobs he's > > qualified for.
>
> And this [Whiny, sniveling excuses]

Impotent regularly fucks his underaged daughters....because to them he's a "big man" but his wife considers him an "itsy bitsy man."

5338. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:07:20 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E518.9E3CCBAA@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28326

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Please produce something official from the FCC that says that Kim's callsign > > is inappropriate. Riley's prudish email is not official enough for me.
>
> Man, that's tough. I'll bet the guy is happy that he doesn't report to
> you.

I believe it is illegal to publish United States of America Federal Communications Commission official policy only in private email.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5339. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:08:27 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E55B.CAB1609F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28327

Dave Heil wrote:
> Why don't YOU mind YOUR own business? Stating my opinion about Kim's > choice cannot be construed as "stalking" under any circumstances. Why > are you attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights, Cecil?

You've had your say ten times over, Dave. What you are doing now is electronic stalking.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5340. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:11:23 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E60B.605D8A47@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28328

Dave Heil wrote:
> Why are attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights you old, false > libertarian you?

You've had your say ten times over. If the FCC found anything wrong with Kim's callsign, they would recall it. What you are doing now is badgering and harassing, the equivalent of electronic stalking.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5341. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:14:33 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E6C9.BC90E5FC@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28329

Dave Heil wrote:
> There's plenty wrong with Kim's lack of class in choosing a deliberately > vulgar call.

That's your personal delusional opinion, Dave, and you are sticking to
it. If the FCC thought there was anything wrong with Kim's callsign, they shouldn't have issued it. Thus, you have sided with Queen Victoria, a sad throwback to days long passed.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5342. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:21:38 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25E872.3799835A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28335

Dave Heil wrote:
> Why are you attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights, Cecil?

Please explain exactly what magical power I am using to attempt to stifle your First Amendment rights, Dave. Am I putting tape over the mouth of your voodoo doll or what?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5343. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:42:50 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011223094250.13039.00001539@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28336

In article <3C220AC9.3A5FC71@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>But I am talking about ratios: PhD/BS = extra/tech+

Cecil:

These days, an Extra is to a Tech Plus what a 9th grader with an
'A' average is to a 9th grader with a 'B' average. There's just not that much difference in overall effort required anymore, just an inflation in the operating privileges bestowed for such a small effort.
You can't use the Ph. D-to-B.S. comparison, because either one is way off the scale compared to acquiring an Extra-class license these days -- or at any time, for that matter.

73 de Larry, K3LT

5344. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:42:50 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011223094250.13039.00001540@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28337

In article <3C217DE8.22B61FFC@ix.netcom.com>, Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> writes:

>> A Ph.D. degree is to a BS degree as a tech license is to an extra license.
>> Any holder of a BS degree who doesn't have a Ph.D. degree is a hypocrite >> for ragging on a tech+ who doesn't have an extra license.
>
>An extra is equivalent to maybe a 5 credit class in an electrical >engineering curriculum.

Bob:

Not even that. It's probably the equivalent of a couple of seminars -- MAYBE. Anyone who has even a passing interest in electronics from a consumer standpoint can probably take the Extra test stone cold and score over 50%. Add a couple of hours of boning up on sample exams, and you've got it knocked. Any ham who doesn't have his Extra these days obviously has some serious fear of failure issues, or is simply a moron looking for his well-deserved recognition as such. A Tech with a Ph. D in E. E. has no excuse whatsoever, considering the fact that the 5 WPM code test can be passed with as little as one evening's worth of preparation.

I know several hams with Ph. D's in technical fields, and each and every one of them is a CW-proficient, Pre-Restructuring, Pro-Code Testing, Amateur Extra class licensee.

73 de Larry, K3LT
The Amateur Radio Superior of all No-Code Techs with Ph. D's in E.E.

5345. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:42:51 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011223094251.13039.00001541@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28339

In article <3C251E5E.41E3536B@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>> CAM wrote:
>> > He has no beef. Mine is the idea presented by the PCTA folk that all >> > nocode techs are technical dumb $hits. One would think a PhD in EE >> > would be good enough proof to the contrary.
>>
>> I don't recall any idea presented by "PCTA folk" which is as >> you claim. Are you basing your claim in the statements of one or two >> individuals?
>
>I'm basing my claim on the statements of some members of the PCTA >crowd, e.g. Larry and Dick.

Cecil:

Please provide a quote where I said all no-code Techs are "technical dumb-shits," or words to that effect. The quotation must use the term "all no-code Techs" i.e. not having excluded even one single no-code Tech from the statement. Provide that quote, or perhaps you and your lying will have to be the topic of another long-running thread!

5346. Re: .

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:42:52 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011223094252.13039.00001542@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28338

In article <20011222111038.10711.00000284@mb-cc.aol.com>, k4yz@aol.com (Steve Robeson K4YZ) writes:

>>I was perfectly aware that Greg's ticket expires next month.
>
> Then you got the whole message.
>
>>I was referring to the total length of his license term,...(SNIP)
>
> You were trying to read too much into it, Larry.
>
>73
>
>Steve, K4YZ

Steve:

OIC. Well, then, if the whole message is that this guy Greg's ticket expires next month, then please, let us in on it -- WHAT IS THE POINT??? Who is N9NWO to us -- the regular participants in this newsgroup?

I'm sure that there are hundreds of hams whose tickets expire next month, but you only posted N9NWO'S here. What is it all about? I'm more interested in why his ticket was good for less than 1 1/2 years.

Am I going to get the same attention from you in March of 2007, one month before my ticket expires?

73 de Larry, K3LT

5347. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:42:52 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011223094252.13039.00001543@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28340

In article <3C24E006.31FB7868@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>> >Sorry Larry, Riley has proved he has prudish hangups and I have >> >lost a lot of respect for him because of that. He offered his >> >personal opinion while in an FCC position. That is exactly
>> >the thing that you condemned Ed Hare for - offering his personal >> >opinion while in an ARRL position. You are a hypocrite.
>>
>> Don't look now, but I didn't say that.
>
>Of course you did, Larry. The entire newsgroup read it.

Cecil:

OK, maybe you'd better look now, because I did not say that!

Your homework for tonight is to find and post a direct quote from me where I said I was "condemning" Ed for offering his personal opinion while in an ARRL position. Make sure the attributions are correct when you cut/paste it to a new posting. And if you can't, won't, or simply don't want to do your "homework" then your very next posting should be an apology to me for lying about me -- again!

73 de Larry, K3LT

5348. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:46:48 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011223094648.20186.00000788@mb-ba.aol.com>
Source record: 28341

>I'm assuming your PhD is not in English.
>--
>cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.n

What does that have to do with the Subject? As a matter of fact why do you keep bringing up this phoney Dr. His he a God or something that we are suppose to be proud to know, does he sell T-Shirts with his Picture on it. If he does sell T-Shirts, maybe we can all buy 1 or 2, then before we push are Mic Buttons we can put are T-Shirts on face toward Texas, and pray to the Dr that we work some Rare DX.

5349. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 14:48:56 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <s9mV7.31$Qs3.99910@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net>
Source record: 28342
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

```
: > : > > There is a pecking order. Governors and mayors are
: > : > > the most valuable then powerful men then professionals
: > : > > like doctors and lawyers. The Police are just under mayors.
: > : >
: > : > If I were injured, I would feel that a doctor was far more important
: > : > than some political hack who happened to get elected to office.
: > : >
: > : > > Look there are so many elite who see the police and
: > : > > the military as a bunch of losers who are there to die
: > : > > for them. People like you who make huge amounts
: > : > > of money and live in big fancy houses. I have them
: > : > > in my community. The military is not allowed to recruit
: > : > > in the local high school as their kids are going to college
: > : > > and the military is for those who can't really make it.
: > : >
: > : > > People like you see themselves as too valuable to get
: > : > > their hands dirty. Sorry but your life is not worth that
: > : > > of a police officer, a fire fighter or a soldier.
: > : >
: > : > How do you know what we do for our livings?
: > : >
: > : > In my opinion, it is elitist attitudes like yours that are part of
: > : > the problems we face in this country.
: > : >
: > :
: > : ABSOLUTELY! And, most cops don't think they are better than anyone : else. It's the ones that do that make it so rough for the industry (and while
: I used the word "most" in my last sentence, there are still lots who do
: > think they are more important).
: > :
: > : Each and every one of us is nearly, if not exactly, as important as
the
: > : next. We all have our "things" to do, work to do, families to raise,
: > : neighborhoods to live in, communities to vote and pay taxes in, etc.
: Not one of us is doing something more important than the next.
: > :
: > : And, please don't use the excuse that cops or firefighters put : themselves in harm's way more than anyone else. When I get in my vehicle every day to go to work, statistics say that I am more likely to be injured or die than any other industry-related statistic! Add rain, snow or ice to that
: scenario and it's pretty darned dangerous just getting to work.
```

: > :
: > : Kim W5TIT
: > :
: >
: > But it is not in your job description that you
: > MUST risk your life as part of your job.
:
: Life is risk, and ALL jobs require a certain level of risk acceptance to
: perform. Miners must risk their lives to perform their jobs.....they know
: the hazards and the rate of death in their industry, yet they accept that
: and continue to work.
:
: You're just pissed, again, because people aren't buying into your "I'm
: superior to you because I'm military" crap.
:
: What I find really interesting is how on one hand you claim you have to risk
: your life as part of your job, then on the other gripe because "the yuppies"
: send you out on missions that risk your life.
:
: If risk is in your job description (and I would like to see you document
: that), then quit bitching when you are asked to risk your life in the
: performance of your job.

Then recognize our superiority by paying 75% of your income to support us in the style that you live.

5350. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:01:46 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011223100146.13039.00001546@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28343

In article <3C255BB6.62C9C0DB@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>I'm serious, Dave. When are you going to stop electronically stalking >Kim and bring that lawsuit?

Cecil:

Nobody in this newsgroup is "stalking" anyone else, electronically or otherwise. You are obviously not serious!

73 de Larry, K3LT

5351. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:01:46 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011223100146.13039.00001545@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28344

In article <3C255C29.8338AA2B@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>There's nothing wrong with Kim's callsign. What is wrong is your >electronic assault and battery of her on this newsgroup.

Cecil:

Nobody is committing "assault and battery" on anyone else in this newsgroup, electronically or otherwise. The only thing wrong here is your very Cecil-like tendency to make bizarre statements about other people's behavior when it is yours which is in question.

73 de Larry, K3LT

5352. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:01:47 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011223100147.13039.00001547@mb-ch.aol.com>
Source record: 28345

In article <3C255A5A.FB4C75D0@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Please produce something official from the FCC that says that Kim's callsign >is inappropriate. Riley's prudish email is not official enough for me.

Cecil:

You are years behind on "producing" documentary proof of statements you've made here. If I were you, I'd get caught up, and restore some semblence of credibility before I asked anyone else for "something official" to back up what they say.

73 de Larry, K3LT

5353. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:04:00 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25E552.2FE7C823@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28346

Dave Heil wrote:

> > > > Where did Dave lie, Kim? I must have missed that!
> > >
> > > She must mean the portion where I stated that she dismissed Riley's > > > view. That isn't a lie though. That is precisely what took place.
> > > She retained her call despite Riley's words. That certainly shows that > > > she dismissed what he wrote.
> > >
> >
> > ho ho ho....ya found a silver lining in your train of thinking, did ya?
> > You're hilarious. WHY would I change my callsign just because someone > > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
>
> Because it is the right thing to do.
>
> > > She also perceives someone as an "elitist" when that person recognizes
> > > tacky as tacky.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > You are an elitist, Dave. A highly crappy one, but one nevertheless.
>
> Why would that be the case? Is it because I didn't choose a tacky > callsign? Is it because I've stated that I find your choice of calls is > tacky and lacking in judgement?

So there it all is -'W5TIT' is Kim's ultimate claim to fame within ham radio.
The best she will ever do, the top accomplisment. Pitiful.

5354. Re: SOCK PUPPET CONFESSES!! (was: Hal Turder and others)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:12:06 UTC
From: Firebottle <Firebottle@EdNortonNet.org>
Message-ID: <a04s73$3h4$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28347
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
news:a04rco$v1h$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 08:08:51 -0500, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote:
> >
> > "radiosigs" <radiosigs@mindspring.com> wrote in message
> > news:a02jqp$du4$1@slb3.atl.mindspring.net...
> > > AF2Y
> >
> > Hi, me!
>
> Stagger Lee is right! You _are_ a radiosigs sock puppet!!!

Can you imagine? KC8JBO gets up this morning, tells Big Marie to shut up, then gets on Usenet. Poor Wogey, too chicken shit to show up at Dalton, too chicken shit to talk in person with N8WGM, too chicken shit to talk on 3901, too chicken shit to talk in person to Oris. Wogey, lets face it, you are just a plagiarizing Chicken Shit with no friends anywhere. Usenet is your life, HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR

5355. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:24:57 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25F749.FA191C94@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28348

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> Please provide a quote where I said all no-code Techs are
> "technical dumb-shits," or words to that effect.

Larry, when you say nocode techs are dumb-shits, the English language implication is "all". If you meant "some", you should have said "some". Would you like to correct your statement?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5356. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:26:48 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25F7B8.8F233EA8@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28349

WA8ULX wrote:
>
> >I'm assuming your PhD is not in English.
>
> What does that have to do with the Subject?

If you cannot figure out what the UK has to do with English,
I feel sorry for you.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5357. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:28:00 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25F800.91576D8B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28350

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> In article <3C255A5A.FB4C75D0@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> > >Please produce something official from the FCC that says that Kim's callsign > > >is inappropriate. Riley's prudish email is not official enough for me.
>
> You are years behind on "producing" documentary proof of statements > you've made here. If I were you, I'd get caught up, and restore some > semblence of credibility before I asked anyone else for "something > official" to back up what they say.

Translation: I, Larry, cannot provide the requested official statement so I will mount an ad hominem attack, as usual.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5358. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:32:18 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25F902.BF4BE4F6@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28252

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> In article <3C255BB6.62C9C0DB@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> > >
> > >I'm serious, Dave. When are you going to stop electronically stalking > > >Kim and bring that lawsuit?
>
> Nobody in this newsgroup is "stalking" anyone else, electronically
> or otherwise. You are obviously not serious!

Larry, you electronically stalked Ed until he gave up on this newsgroup.
Now you are electronically stalking Kim. Why do you get so much pleasure from sadistically verbally assaulting your fellow hams?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5359. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:32:41 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25EC0B.6123875D@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28251

Dick Carroll wrote:

> Krell wrote:
>
> > . (We now > > have Kim, W5TIT, being a boil on his behind and taking pleasure in it, but > > that's another topic)
>
> Wrong, she's a pimple on the nose of the ARS and evidently sees that as her > main goal in life.

What Kim really has done is that she has willingly - nay, eagerly - joined up with the tribe of morons that inhabit 3950, 14.313, and whatever those other obscenity-laden spots on HF are.
The neat part of it all is that she didn't need to ever place a signal on the air nor utter a word in direct parfticipation. Her callsign says it all!

5360. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:33:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25F946.49F399ED@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28253

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> Nobody is committing "assault and battery" on anyone else in this > newsgroup, electronically or otherwise.

Larry, your sadistic postings are there for all to see. How you can deny your verbal assaults is beyond comprehension.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5361. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:36:35 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25ECF7.8D8BE330@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28254

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I'm frankly surprised he bothered to obtain any kind of license.
>
> He got tired of all us hams being able to communicate on > camping trips while he drove around lost in the desert.

Really? A PHd EE who isn't bright enough to be able to monitor the others to keep track? Just what ham radio needs.

5362. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:37:06 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25FA22.7019572B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28256

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> Your homework for tonight is to find and post a direct quote from > me where I said I was "condemning" Ed for offering his personal > opinion while in an ARRL position.

"Condemning" is my word for what you did to Ed, Larry. Everyone who was reading this newsgroup at the time witnessed your sadistic attack upon Ed. I'm not going to waste my time digging it up again because it would add nothing new to the situation.
You have already proven yourself to be a sadistic jerk time and again.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5363. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:38:47 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25ED7A.3DF7D0ED@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28255

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Why don't YOU mind YOUR own business? Stating my opinion about Kim's > > choice cannot be construed as "stalking" under any circumstances. Why > > are you attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights, Cecil?
>
> You've had your say ten times over, Dave. What you are doing now is > electronic stalking.

Then you're far more guilty of that sort of thing than Dave ever could be.
You're also an idiot.

5364. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:39:32 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C25FAB4.E4B5E4F4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28258

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> You can't use the Ph. D-to-B.S. comparison, because either one > is way off the scale compared to acquiring an Extra-class license
> these days -- or at any time, for that matter.

Are you also so ignorant that you don't understand ratios, Larry?
Do you comprehend 1/2 = 1000000/2000000?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5365. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:42:03 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25EE3F.2ADACBE3@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28257

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> > There's plenty wrong with Kim's lack of class in choosing a deliberately > > vulgar call.
>
> That's your personal delusional opinion, Dave, and you are sticking to
> it. If the FCC thought there was anything wrong with Kim's callsign, > they shouldn't have issued it. Thus, you have sided with Queen Victoria,
> a sad throwback to days long passed.

What a maroon. What Kim has done is to eagerly join the mass of other morons on 3950, 14313 etc without ever placing a signal on the air or uttering
a syllable. Her callsign has already said it all.

5366. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:47:42 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C25EF92.4ABB2E71@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28259

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:

> In article <3C255C29.8338AA2B@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >
> >There's nothing wrong with Kim's callsign. What is wrong is your > >electronic assault and battery of her on this newsgroup.
>
> Cecil:
>
> Nobody is committing "assault and battery" on anyone else in this > newsgroup, electronically or otherwise. The only thing wrong here > is your very Cecil-like tendency to make bizarre statements about > other people's behavior when it is yours which is in question.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT

This is the usual off-the-deep-end crap that Cecil always comes on with when his usual bullshit train is finally derailed.

5367. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 15:59:25 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011223105925.24455.00001059@mb-fc.aol.com>
Source record: 28260

>If you cannot figure out what the UK has to do with English,
>I feel sorry for you.
>--
>cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net

No reason to feel sorry for me, but I really feel you need to talk to someone about your fetish with your so called Dr freind. Do you also see objects on your Monitor and Black Helicopters that scare you????

5368. Re: SOCK PUPPET CONFESSES!! (was: Hal Turder and others)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 16:02:28 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a04vro$g76$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28261
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Fuckwittle" <Firebottle@EdNortonNet.org> wrote in message news:a04s73$3h4$0@dosa.alt.net...

Poor Joanie the mangled faced pedophile.

> > On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 08:08:51 -0500, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote:
> >
>> > "radiosigs" <radiosigs@mindspring.com> wrote in message
>> > news:a02jqp$du4$1@slb3.atl.mindspring.net...
>> > > AF2Y
>> >
>> > Hi, me!
>
> > Stagger Lee is right! You _are_ a radiosigs sock puppet!!!

Sarcasm impaired idiot.

> Can you imagine{Joanie's bullshit]

Can you imagine, This anonymous COWARD Joanie KShitballis too chickenshit to post under his own name. Nadless 8 White Gay Male was too chickenshit to get out of his extension of his undersized penis, LARDASSSS LLLLLLLOYD ran his mouth in the newsgroups that he was going to kick Orassss' ass and didn't show up at dalton, and George girl Arslicks is too chickenshit to give the FCC his correct address.
Georgie Girl still pimps his fat hog of a mother and still jams while drunk.
Nick the drunken sot slater still is pining for his dead gay lover Sgt. Fred Eichorn.

5369. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 16:46:35 UTC
From: porky <porky@cfl.rr.com>
Message-ID: <LTnV7.160210$oj3.27634268@typhoon.tampabay.rr.com>
Source record: 28262
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Not only that, but he clearly states that the color green( which("witch" hihi) represents ham freqs.) are starting from 28.005. Duh, the initial post was an incorrect statement in which the poster was saying that cber's consider 28mhz as cb land.

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:a03pps028ec@enews4.newsguy.com...
>
> "IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> >
> > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
>
> The guy running this page has an e-mail in the Netherlands. How about > posting something that's based on U.S. communications laws?
>
>
>

5370. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:06:18 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <eaoV7.327008$5A3.125551950@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 28263
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Porky just listen on 28.035 you too will see many consider 28 megs as the CB band

"porky" <porky@cfl.rr.com> wrote in message
news:LTnV7.160210$oj3.27634268@typhoon.tampabay.rr.com...
> Not only that, but he clearly states that the color green( > which("witch" hihi) represents ham freqs.) are starting from 28.005. Duh, > the initial post was an incorrect statement in which the poster was saying > that cber's consider 28mhz as cb land.
>
>
> "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
> news:a03pps028ec@enews4.newsguy.com...
> >
> > "IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> > >
> > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
> >
> > The guy running this page has an e-mail in the Netherlands. How about > > posting something that's based on U.S. communications laws?
> >
> >
> >
>
>

5371. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:10:41 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0533c02khp@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28271

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C25843D.C75BAE14@earthlink.net...
> Dave thinks Krell is guessing at what Dave thinks. Just a few posts

No guess at all. One just has to read your posts to see what you think.

> earlier you made a statement in response to an FCC statement concerning > the morality of a licensee. It would appear that the Commission does > take such actions and I seem to recall similar language used in denying > renewals in earlier years. Obtaining and holding an amateur radio > license is by no means a right.

It doesn't appear that the FCC considers a naughty callsign to be of the same caliber as that of a convicted felon - yet. If they do start, then we're all in trouble.

5372. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:19:46 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C261225.AC4794B1@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28264

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I'm frankly surprised he bothered to obtain any kind of license.
>
> He got tired of all us hams being able to communicate on
> camping trips while he drove around lost in the desert.

So his technical superiority only applies to electronics. He sounds like the kind of guy who can't find his way to the bathroom on a foggy night.

Dave K8MN

5373. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:21:56 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2612A8.10F48AD8@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28265

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Krell wrote:
> >
> > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > news:3C251F43.1458C5DD@IEEE.org...
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of > > > > callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?
> > >
> > > How can a private email be official?
> > >
> > Dave thinks that anything Riley says with regards to ham radio is in an > > official capacity, even if such statements are contrary to what the > > regulations permit and what the FCC has done.
>
> One would think that official United States of America Federal Communications > Commission policy would appear somewhere besides private emails. Aren't they > required by law under the Freedom of Information Act to publish their official > policy somewhere besides private email?

Perhaps you have a new mission, Don Quixote. Call or write the Commission and find out if this is "must have" information for you.

Dave K8MN
```

5374. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:23:47 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C261316.AC600672@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28266

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Vulgar callsigns and offensive speech in amateur radio are my business.
>
> How many of them do you sell each year?

This would be more interesting if you could be taken seriously.
What, then is Kim's business--obtaining and flaunting vulgar callsigns?

Dave K8MN

5375. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:24:40 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C26134A.ADCD6E13@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28267

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Please produce something official from the FCC that says that Kim's callsign > > > is inappropriate. Riley's prudish email is not official enough for me.
> > >
> > > Man, that's tough. I'll bet the guy is happy that he doesn't report to > > > you.
>
> I believe it is illegal to publish United States of America Federal > Communications Commission official policy only in private email.

On with the quest, Don Q. Let us know what you find out.

Dave K8MN

5376. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:27:48 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C261405.90EF7D29@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28268

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Why don't YOU mind YOUR own business? Stating my opinion about Kim's > > choice cannot be construed as "stalking" under any circumstances. Why > > are you attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights, Cecil?
>
> You've had your say ten times over, Dave. What you are doing now is > electronic stalking.

That is simply and utterly preposterous. Kim is still warbling about her "rights". You are still braying about her "rights". Rick Adams is singing Buddhist hymns about her "rights". There is neither a time limit nor a quantity limit on my excercise of First Amendment rights.

So much for your libertarian values.

Dave K8MN

5377. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:29:58 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C261489.D79E42B7@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28269

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > There's plenty wrong with Kim's lack of class in choosing a deliberately > > vulgar call.
>
> That's your personal delusional opinion, Dave, and you are sticking to
> it. If the FCC thought there was anything wrong with Kim's callsign, > they shouldn't have issued it. Thus, you have sided with Queen Victoria,
> a sad throwback to days long passed.

Naw, I've sided with decency, good judgement and good taste. My views are personal but not delusional at all.

You are right about one thing. The FCC shouldn't have issued Kim's call.

Dave K8MN

5378. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:33:47 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C26156C.F8D4A600@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28270

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Why are you attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights, Cecil?
>
> Please explain exactly what magical power I am using to attempt to > stifle your First Amendment rights, Dave. Am I putting tape over > the mouth of your voodoo doll or what?

In your latest propaganda barrage, you've accused me of stalking--not once or twice but multiple times. You've done it even after I pointed out that I have not telephoned Kim, visited her home, accosted her on the street nor sent her e-mail on the issue of her poor judgement in selecting a vanity call. What I have done is draw attention to the issue on this electronic bulletin board. Your accusations are an enormous falsehood.

Dave K8MN

5379. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:39:25 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2616BF.6499CE78@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28272

CAM wrote:
>
> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >
> > In article <3C255BB6.62C9C0DB@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >
> > > >
> > > >I'm serious, Dave. When are you going to stop electronically stalking > > > >Kim and bring that lawsuit?
> >
> > Nobody in this newsgroup is "stalking" anyone else, electronically > > or otherwise. You are obviously not serious!
>
> Larry, you electronically stalked Ed until he gave up on this newsgroup.
> Now you are electronically stalking Kim. Why do you get so much pleasure > from sadistically verbally assaulting your fellow hams?

Do us a favor and remind us again of your particular function here.

Dave K8MN

5380. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:41:14 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C26172C.B43FB491@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28273

CAM wrote:
>
> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > Your homework for tonight is to find and post a direct quote from > > me where I said I was "condemning" Ed for offering his personal > > opinion while in an ARRL position.
>
> "Condemning" is my word for what you did to Ed, Larry. Everyone > who was reading this newsgroup at the time witnessed your > sadistic attack upon Ed. I'm not going to waste my time digging > it up again because it would add nothing new to the situation.
> You have already proven yourself to be a sadistic jerk time > and again.

Do us a favor and remind us once again what your particular function here is?

Dave K8MN

5381. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 17:50:32 UTC
From: "James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <l36c2u8drsun9ntanbqrvojkkatab5q2p1@4ax.com>
Source record: 28274

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 17:23:47 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>CAM wrote:
>>
>> Dave Heil wrote:
>> > Vulgar callsigns and offensive speech in amateur radio are my business.
>>
>> How many of them do you sell each year?
>
>This would be more interesting if you could be taken seriously.
>What, then is Kim's business--obtaining and flaunting vulgar callsigns?

Calling her callsign vulgar?? What is vulgar about it, wake up, we are not in the dark ages? I hear worse language on the news at night and on the TV shows than what I think you're referring to.

Regards,

James

Note: To reply by email, remove the "X" in the reply to address.

5382. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:00:50 UTC
From: "James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <nd6c2uouk8bf7qp55oonm0np03aquvsqqo@4ax.com>
Source record: 28275

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 06:59:33 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Vulgar callsigns and offensive speech in amateur radio are my business.

If the above is you're business, then you are NOT doing your job. All anyone has to do is listen to the HF bands nowdays. The four letter words are more common than they are national TV now days. Try cleaning up that language before you start worrying about someone's choice of callsign. Who do you think you are, the amateur radio cop?

I think you just an old FART that thinks women have no place in amateur radio, that it's just a male only hobby. It's people like you that are killing amateur radio, making it another dying hobby.
Get your head of out the sand and get the chip off your shoulder.

5383. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:13:19 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <#BaUS09iBHA.1932@cpimsnntpa02>
Source record: 28276

> I think you just an old FART that thinks women have > no place in amateur radio, that it's just a male only hobby.
> It's people like you that are killing amateur radio, making > it another dying hobby.

Nope, not me! My wife is a ham, my Mom was a ham way back in the 30's before I was born, and Kim has every right to be a ham.

She also has a right to pick the trashiest vanity call sign she can imagine, which she has done.

And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.

With all kind wishes,

de Hans K0HB

--
(���) 73, de Hans, K0HB

5384. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:21:17 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26209D.9100A5BF@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28277

Dick Carroll wrote:
> What Kim really has done is that she has willingly - nay, eagerly - joined > up with the tribe of morons that inhabit 3950, 14.313, and whatever those other > obscenity-laden spots on HF are.

But, but, but Dick. What about all the obscenities that you have uttered on this very newsgroup? Seems that you belong to that crowd more than Kim does.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5385. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:23:54 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26213A.895E91F9@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28278

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > I'm frankly surprised he bothered to obtain any kind of license.
> > >
> > He got tired of all us hams being able to communicate on > > camping trips while he drove around lost in the desert.
>
> Really? A PHd EE who isn't bright enough to be able to monitor the > others to keep track? Just what ham radio needs.

What gift of ESP allows you to know exactly where a mobile station is without asking. Maybe you should volunteer your ESP locating abilities to the FCC. They could do away with their DF equipment.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5386. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:26:31 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2621D7.ECEA372E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28279

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > I'm frankly surprised he bothered to obtain any kind of license.
> >
> > He got tired of all us hams being able to communicate on > > camping trips while he drove around lost in the desert.
>
> So his technical superiority only applies to electronics. He sounds > like the kind of guy who can't find his way to the bathroom on a foggy > night.

Dave, have you any idea how big the Valley of the Sun is? I'd sure like to see you locate a specific vehicle when you have no idea where it is. Oh yeah, I forgot, you are omniscient and therefore know everything. Say, if you are so omniscient why don't you help the US locate Osama bin Laden?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5387. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:28:19 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C262243.85151B07@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28280

WA8ULX wrote:
>
> >If you cannot figure out what the UK has to do with English,
> >I feel sorry for you. cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net
>
> No reason to feel sorry for me, but I really feel you need to talk to someone > about your fetish with your so called Dr freind.
^^^^^^
I rest my case.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5388. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:32:11 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26232B.33343F42@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28281

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > One would think that official United States of America Federal Communications > > Commission policy would appear somewhere besides private emails. Aren't they > > required by law under the Freedom of Information Act to publish their official > > policy somewhere besides private email?
>
> Perhaps you have a new mission, Don Quixote. Call or write the > Commission and find out if this is "must have" information for you.

Oh, I'm already aware that most of your postings come from the North end of a Southbound jackass. No need to bother the FCC.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5389. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:34:54 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2623CE.21CE6005@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28282

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > I believe it is illegal to publish United States of America Federal > > Communications Commission official policy only in private email.
>
> On with the quest, Don Q. Let us know what you find out.

No quest necessary, Dave. I've already found you out.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5390. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:35:53 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C262409.C55F3125@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28283

Dick Carroll wrote:
> You're also an idiot.

You're sounding more like the Liberty Net crowd every day, Dick.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5391. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:41:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C262546.19A9210D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28284

Dave Heil wrote:
> In your latest propaganda barrage, you've accused me of stalking--not > once or twice but multiple times.

Yep, that's exactly how I would describe what you have been doing.
It is of the electronic variety, of course. Kim is the prey and you and others have pursued your quarry incessantly. How will it all end?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5392. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:42:41 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2625A1.DECDE958@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28286

Dave Heil wrote:
> Do us a favor and remind us again of your particular function here.

To criticize the sadists in the amateur radio ranks.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5393. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:44:13 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2625FD.DC2A11C5@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28287

Dick Carroll wrote:
> What a maroon. What Kim has done is to eagerly join the mass of other > morons on 3950, 14313 etc without ever placing a signal on the air or uttering
> a syllable. Her callsign has already said it all.

Considering the profanity that you have used on this newsgroup, Dick, you must be a charter member of the Liberty Net.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5394. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:46:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C262682.37A7CC91@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28288

Dave Heil wrote:
> You are right about one thing. The FCC shouldn't have issued Kim's
> call.

Well then Dave, it seems logical for you to stop bitchin' and get the FCC to do something about it. Too bad The Constitution will slap you up aside the head with a 2x4 in the process.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5395. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:51:18 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2627A6.D9C2A14C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28290

Dave Heil wrote:
> Do us a favor and remind us once again what your particular function
> here is?

To prevent the destruction of amateur radio by a few jerks who have buried their heads in the sands of time.

"Sink the ARS, Master Gunner, Sink 'er, blow 'er to heck.
Fall into the hands of God, And not in the hands of the techs."
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5396. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:52:31 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2627EF.E508C4C8@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28291

K0HB wrote:
> And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.

How many times?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5397. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:54:33 UTC
From: Scout <scout@monumental.com>
Message-ID: <6KpV7.3987$0g.107197@iad-read.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28289
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:s9mV7.31$Qs3.99910@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
> : > : > > There is a pecking order. Governors and mayors are
> : > : > > the most valuable then powerful men then professionals
> : > : > > like doctors and lawyers. The Police are just under mayors.
> : > : >
> : > : > If I were injured, I would feel that a doctor was far more important
> : > : > than some political hack who happened to get elected to office.
> : > : >
> : > : > > Look there are so many elite who see the police and
> : > : > > the military as a bunch of losers who are there to die
> : > : > > for them. People like you who make huge amounts
> : > : > > of money and live in big fancy houses. I have them
> : > : > > in my community. The military is not allowed to recruit
> : > : > > in the local high school as their kids are going to college
> : > : > > and the military is for those who can't really make it.
> : > : >
> : > : > > People like you see themselves as too valuable to get
> : > : > > their hands dirty. Sorry but your life is not worth that
> : > : > > of a police officer, a fire fighter or a soldier.
> : > : >
> : > : > How do you know what we do for our livings?
> : > : >
> : > : > In my opinion, it is elitist attitudes like yours that are part of
> : > : > the problems we face in this country.
> : > : >
> : > :
> : > : ABSOLUTELY! And, most cops don't think they are better than anyone > : else. It's the ones that do that make it so rough for the industry (and > while
> : I used the word "most" in my last sentence, there are still lots who do
> : > think they are more important).
> : > :
> : > : Each and every one of us is nearly, if not exactly, as important as
> the
> : > : next. We all have our "things" to do, work to do, families to raise,
> : > : neighborhoods to live in, communities to vote and pay taxes in, etc.
> : Not one of us is doing something more important than the next.
> : > :
> : > : And, please don't use the excuse that cops or firefighters put > : themselves in harm's way more than anyone else. When I get in my vehicle

> every day to go to work, statistics say that I am more likely to be injured > or die than any other industry-related statistic! Add rain, snow or ice > to that
> : scenario and it's pretty darned dangerous just getting to work.
> : > :
> : > : Kim W5TIT
> : > :
> : >
> : > But it is not in your job description that you
> : > MUST risk your life as part of your job.
> :
> : Life is risk, and ALL jobs require a certain level of risk acceptance to > : perform. Miners must risk their lives to perform their jobs.....they know
> : the hazards and the rate of death in their industry, yet they accept
that
> : and continue to work.
> :
> : You're just pissed, again, because people aren't buying into your "I'm
> : superior to you because I'm military" crap.
> :
> : What I find really interesting is how on one hand you claim you have to
> risk
> : your life as part of your job, then on the other gripe because "the
> yuppies"
> : send you out on missions that risk your life.
> :
> : If risk is in your job description (and I would like to see you document
> : that), then quit bitching when you are asked to risk your life in the > : performance of your job.
>
> Then recognize our superiority by paying 75% of > your income to support us in the style that you live.

Ah, but that's just it. I do NOT recognize your claim to superiority because of your occupation. Nor does risking your life within your occupation automatically confer some form of superiority upon the members of that occupation. If you don't like the pay, then you better find another career.

Of course you'd probably take a cut in pay since it's apparent that your skills couldn't compete on the open market with those inferior civilians...

5398. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 18:55:37 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112231055.b2c4366@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28292
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:<a04p67$l7u$0@dosa.alt.net>...
> "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in > message news:d9f7b76c.0112222046.5c2c6625@posting.google.com...
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:<a02dhn$1i6$0@pita.alt.net>...
> > > "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote
> in
> > > message news:d9f7b76c.0112210954.64cbefb7@posting.google.com...
> > > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:<9vvhp3hkd5@pita.alt.net>...
> > > > > "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
> > > > > news:9vu93o01oba@enews2.newsguy.com...
> > > > > >
> > > > > > "Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > > > > news:9vts89$f8j$0@pita.alt.net...
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 17:38:44 -0500, Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
> wrote:
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > I've seen better trolls on pencils.
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > The Jack Daniels was that effective, eh?
> > > > > >
> > > > > > My, my. Aren't we ignorant of pop culture.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > FYI, I was referring to the troll dolls that were popular in the > 70s.
> They
> > > > > were those little things with the big eyes and different colored, > Don
> King
> > > > > style of hair. Smaller ones were often on the ends of pencils, or
> on > > > > > keychains, or hanging from rearview mirors. They're still around,
> but
> > > not
> > > as > > > > > popular as they once were. Although they did have a resurgence in > popularity
> > > > > about ten years ago.
> > > > >
> > > > That anonymous COWARD is ignorant of everything. "Woger Wussman" aka

> Twatty
> > > > > Campbell(Posts as Scott Campbell) should be familiar with the troll
> doll,
> > > > > since he was the initial model for them.
> > > > >
> > > > hit the bricks chuckie....you aren't wanted here.......
> > > >
> > > Fuck off, Dickhead, as the Stones sing "You can't always get what you > want."
> >
> >
> > oh geez...what happened chuckie.....get kicked off the ham reflector > > because you pissed in measure's corn flakes one too many times????
>
> Reflector, anonymous coward? So you're a ham radio newbie as well as an > internet newbie. Oh, too bad, gay SD. Haven't been "kicked" anywhere, you > ignorant dolt.

me thinks i struck a raw nerve chuckie....have you entered any beauty contest lately you bad boy.....?????

5399. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 19:07:03 UTC
From: Pipedream <pipedreams@hotmail.comp>
Message-ID: <20011223140708.227$gg@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 28293
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

sd that is not Chuckie perhaps you need to take your medicine again.

"SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in message news:d9f7b76c.0112231055.b2c4366@posting.google.com...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:<a04p67$l7u$0@dosa.alt.net>...
> > "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote
in > > message news:d9f7b76c.0112222046.5c2c6625@posting.google.com...
> > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:<a02dhn$1i6$0@pita.alt.net>...
> > > > "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com>
wrote
> > in
> > > > message news:d9f7b76c.0112210954.64cbefb7@posting.google.com...
> > > > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:<9vvhp3hkd5@pita.alt.net>...
> > > > > > "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
> > > > > > news:9vu93o01oba@enews2.newsguy.com...
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > "Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > > > > > news:9vts89$f8j$0@pita.alt.net...
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 17:38:44 -0500, Krell
<krell1215@yahoo.com>
> > wrote:
> > > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > > I've seen better trolls on pencils.
> > > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > > The Jack Daniels was that effective, eh?
> > > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > > My, my. Aren't we ignorant of pop culture.
> > > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > > FYI, I was referring to the troll dolls that were popular in
the > > 70s.
> > They
> > > > > > > > were those little things with the big eyes and different colored,
> > Don
> > King
> > > > > > > > style of hair. Smaller ones were often on the ends of pencils, or

> > on > > > > > > > keychains, or hanging from rearview mirors. They're still around,
> > but
> > > > not
> > > > as > > > > > > > popular as they once were. Although they did have a resurgence
in > > popularity
> > > > > > > about ten years ago.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > That anonymous COWARD is ignorant of everything. "Woger Wussman" aka > > Twatty
> > > > > > Campbell(Posts as Scott Campbell) should be familiar with the troll
> > doll,
> > > > > > since he was the initial model for them.
> > > > > >
> > > > > hit the bricks chuckie....you aren't wanted here.......
> > > > >
> > > > Fuck off, Dickhead, as the Stones sing "You can't always get what
you > > want."
> > >
> > >
> > > oh geez...what happened chuckie.....get kicked off the ham reflector > > > because you pissed in measure's corn flakes one too many times????
> >
> > Reflector, anonymous coward? So you're a ham radio newbie as well as an > > internet newbie. Oh, too bad, gay SD. Haven't been "kicked" anywhere,
you
> > ignorant dolt.
>
>
> me thinks i struck a raw nerve chuckie....have you entered any beauty > contest lately you bad boy.....?????

5400. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 19:14:37 UTC
From: Garvin@Truss.net
Message-ID: <1f4vbjg.160bp3lxepsi2N%Garvin@Truss.net>
Source record: 28294

Kamatu <admin@ahww.net> wrote:

> I am so interested in finally getting my Technician's License that I have > studied and studied for weeks now. I have passed every sample test I can get > my hands on, and there is a real test in my area on January 17th, 2002.
>
> But, I'm reading these messages and I'm starting to get the feeling that the > priviledges afforded to a Tech No Code gives access to frequencies that are > really no better to occupy than a Citizen Band radio would access.
>
> I'm reading about jamming, and this jerk that, that jerk this, kids, lids, > space cadets...
>
> I wanted to get into Amateur Radio to get out of the 27Mhz Snake Pit and QSO > with some quality contacts.
>
> Am I really making a mistake? Is it too late for Ham Radio now?

You're NOT making a mistake so go for it. It's a LOT different than CB, MUCH more civilized. Good luck on your test and welcome to ham radio.
--
Do infants enjoy infancy as much as adults enjoy adultery?□ - George Carlin□□□□□□□□□□□□

5401. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 19:59:46 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011223145946.20186.00000845@mb-ba.aol.com>
Source record: 28295

>I rest my case.
>--
>cheers, CAM

You need to rest your case, it is very apparent you need help

5402. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 20:02:56 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <QLqV7.194737$WW.11280960@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28296

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2627A6.D9C2A14C@IEEE.org...

> "Sink the ARS, Master Gunner, Sink 'er, blow 'er to heck.
> Fall into the hands of God, And not in the hands of the techs."
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Constipation, Constipation the heavenly hosts proclaim,
'til man's remotest entrail shall know its Maker's name.

Throw that in the next time the choir master suggests Stand Up, Stand up for Jesus.
Mark Twain BTW

Bionic Klutz

5403. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 20:10:11 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <DSqV7.520$YL5.315803@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28297
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns <delta.sixxeleven@gte.net> wrote ...

:
: >That is not true, as others have pointed out. For example, say I : >have a locked briefcase in the trunk of my car. The officer does
: >not have the right to even look in the trunk, much less the
: >briefcase. That is a long way from "anything that is (in) a car".
: >He did not qualify the statement by "within reach of the driver".
: >For that matter, a locked briefcase that is within the reach of
: >the driver is also probably not searchable without a warrant or
: >probable cause.
:
: >Oh yes I do. And some of the things they have been doing under
: >the pretext of the so-called "war on drugs" are frightening.
:
:
: I am a ham AND a Narcotics Agent..You Need Probable Cause to search
: a vehicle with or without a warrant. The whole purpose of the Carroll
: Doctrine is there is no time to obtain a search warrant on a stopped
: car as it will flee. (and yes, the very laws you say are now
: frightening, an officer could only keep the vehicle stopped as long as : necessary to write a ticket, you cant keep a car stopped while writing
: a warrant. The SC has ruled over thirty minutes is unreasonable) So
: you can search without one.(Including the TRUNK, LOCKED ANYTHING !!)
:
: You must articulate the same fact in a Suppression hearing as you : would have in a search warrant..This has nothing to with the "War on : Drugs" but the "War on Booze" from the late 20's or whatever.
:
: What the person is referring to above is search incident to : arrest..You then can search ANYTHING the driver or passenger has : access to..ANY Locked container within the passenger space, no warrant
: for the trunk, but no locked containers in trunk without a warrant.

I gather that D611 is a callsign?

Thanks. Too many these days have so little contact with either the police or the military. Not like it was 50 years ago.

5404. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 20:14:00 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <bWqV7.548$YL5.318014@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28298
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

: Life is risk, and ALL jobs require a certain level of risk acceptance to
: perform. Miners must risk their lives to perform their jobs.....they know
: the hazards and the rate of death in their industry, yet they accept that
: and continue to work.
:
: You're just pissed, again, because people aren't buying into your "I'm
: superior to you because I'm military" crap.
:
: What I find really interesting is how on one hand you claim you have to
risk
: your life as part of your job, then on the other gripe because "the
yuppies"
: send you out on missions that risk your life.
:
: If risk is in your job description (and I would like to see you document
: that), then quit bitching when you are asked to risk your life in the
: performance of your job.

Give you a little choice in this matter.

We can continue down the path we are going.
We now have a mercenary military, police and fire force in this country that is divorced from the people. They see themselves as more superior,
a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
Just look at the panic among the yuppies every time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
A bunch of sheeple.

The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more fire fighters, more military. But do not take their sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
and gang bangers too, they cry.

Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million men. We will do as we do with the military and allow foreigners to serve. And we are already recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private army? And that is happening everywhere, cities are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen to cell phones). And you do not think people with this type of training will not see themselves as superior to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or

the gang bangers?

You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th amendment but is having 75% of your income taken any different? Because that is what it is going to take to support such an elite cadre.

The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
that the police, the military and fire protection be a community effort with ALL able bodied (those who are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was that the public be involved, not in service but in the decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.

What do we have today? An American people who have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow the government to make their decisions, others to be their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the word (and the money) from congress.

So what is the choice? An elite government, protected by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?

5405. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 20:39:02 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c264421_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 28401

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C24E131.97A70EE4@IEEE.org...
> WA8ULX wrote:
> >
> > >Second, I'm an Extra .
> >
> > Well look A$$ Wipe, maybe you ought to inform QRZ, they still have you as a > > Tech
>
> Say Bruce, still don't know about CSCEs?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Cecil,

He must have also lost the link to QRZ ... the upgrade made it into the FCC database (and the callbook servers) on Dec. 20.
Not too bad a turn-around on the paperwork.

73,

--
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>

NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL

Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

5406. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 20:45:20 UTC
From: Brainbuster <brain@buster.com>
Message-ID: <a068itcpu7@news5.svr.pol.co.uk>
Source record: 28467
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
news:3C227B39.F203E090@spam.me.not...
>
> <snipped>
> But you're right. I did go from CBer (which I ran sideband for a bit over > 20 years, and ran professionally) to extra in 6 months, 1 week, and two > days. Of course, I worked hard for nine years (I started drilling the code > in '92) to overcome my dyslexia so I could pass the code requirement.
===

Damn fine achievement for anyone.
Very good of Mr. Middlefinger to explain to everyone what an intelligent person you are. Has he become your friend, or is it just the "Christmas spirit".

Have a great Christmas.

Brainbuster.

5407. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 20:45:29 UTC
From: Brainbuster <brain@buster.com>
Message-ID: <a068iucpu8@news5.svr.pol.co.uk>
Source record: 28468
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Omniscient <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message news:a03vae$47g$0@pita.alt.net...
>
> "N7MFR" <n7mfr@teleport.com> wrote in message
> news:9xeV7.10921$Cw3.1288316@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> > And we needed to see this because.....its for sale?
> >
> > "IllegalCBersMustGO" <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > news:ce9e428e.0112201256.54a6f516@posting.google.com...
> > > FOUND IN REC.RADIO.CB. THIS IS THE TYPICAL CRIMINAL MINDSET OF CBERS.
> > >
> > >
> And your point is?
====

Well, I see the point...

The original message was to "rec.radio.cb", yet "IllegalCBersMustGO" decided to cross post his whining to every ng that he could think of.

Why, when it was of no interest to all the other groups?

As this is cross posted, I will take this opportunity to wish all radio and electronics enthusiasts a very merry christmas.

Brainbuster.

5408. Re: PROOF that we are all BARKING MAD! CBERS.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 20:46:33 UTC
From: Zoran Brlecic <WA7AA@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <3C26423B.CC8A87AC@attbi.com>
Source record: 28299
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Patrick Keele wrote:

> What you REALLY mean is.......... CAUSE I AIN'T GOT A BRAIN.........i have
> "adddressed the issue".

Too much bourbon, not enough soda, eh, governor?

5409. BARF Christmas Message

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 20:51:26 UTC
From: BARF HQ <BARFHQ@KV4FZourHERO.org>
Message-ID: <a05g37$q33$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28300
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

IMPORTANT BARF News Release

BARF HQ proudly announces Herb, KV4FZ, will give his annual BARF Christmas message of good will to all hams. MOST Important, Herb will be announcing the glorious date he will be returning to ham radio. Looks like the Goodfellows will be very upset, so watch for frequencies and times to be announced. HAIL HERB!

5410. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:01:57 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <9DrV7.194782$WW.11285611@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28402

Dick Carroll wrote

> What a maroon.

Ah, Carroll, That is a racist statement. Do you know what a maroon is????

Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a moron is someone who doesn't know what a maroon is. Steve the LPN called me that once. So, I have to think it is a trait of self-rightious pro-coders. ;-)

> What Kim has done is to eagerly join the mass of other
> morons on 3950, 14313 etc without ever placing a signal on the air or uttering
> a syllable. Her callsign has already said it all.

Wrong, Carol, her call sign has absolutely nothing to do with the idiots on 3950 and 14313. Try to come up with an argument that's, at least, plausable.

Rich

5411. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:03:43 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011223160343.06877.00000703@mb-mj.aol.com>
Source record: 28403

In article <20011223094251.13039.00001541@mb-ch.aol.com>, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT) writes:

>In article <3C251E5E.41E3536B@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
>>> CAM wrote:
>>> > He has no beef. Mine is the idea presented by the PCTA folk that all >>> > nocode techs are technical dumb $hits. One would think a PhD in EE >>> > would be good enough proof to the contrary.

Cecil, when you say "the idea presented by the PCTA folk", the English language implication is "all".

>>> I don't recall any idea presented by "PCTA folk" which is as >>> you claim. Are you basing your claim in the statements of one or two >>> individuals?
>>
>>I'm basing my claim on the statements of some members of the PCTA
>>crowd, e.g. Larry and Dick.

Ahh - first you said "the PCTA folks" (implying "all the PCTA folk") and now you are limiting it to "some". And in fact you name only two individuals.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5412. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:09:49 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7399C4E05872CB7D.1CE297FB2422FE01.32C52B1D30333976@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28404

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 17:27:48 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>That is simply and utterly preposterous. Kim is still warbling about >her "rights". You are still braying about her "rights". Rick Adams is >singing Buddhist hymns about her "rights". There is neither a time >limit nor a quantity limit on my excercise of First Amendment rights.

You're absolutely right, Dave. You have every right to say what you wish.

What neither you, nor anyone else, have the right to do,
however, is to harass someone for having _exercised_ that freedom herself. Your rights end--as ANY libertarian (or Libertarian) would agree--at the point that you do specific and identifiable harm to a non-consenting person. Unless Kim _consents_ to being badgered, defamed, and attacked by you over her choice of call sign, you can't claim that you are "exercising your freedom" because you are doing so at the expense of the freedom of someone else--which is NOT a reasonable action. If you could clearly demonstrate someone who WAS harmed directly by her choice of call signs you would have a case for arguing that she doesn't have the right to exercise that freedom either. As it happens, however, the only "victim" you can find is an unidentifiable "potential ham" who is supposedly offended by her call.
Until you produce that ham--and if her call offends the person it is reasonable to insist that the person you DO produce does not, him or her self, EVER use such terms as "tit" personally, nor do they view
"R" rated movies (where they are visually presented instead of in words), read modern novels (Harry Potter books excepted), or do other things that voluntarily expose them to such terms--you have no grounds for making a similar claim about her freedom.

>So much for your libertarian values.

Mine are quite consistent--and so are Cecil's for that matter.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5413. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:12:32 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <F62B0B1BC3EBA223.2563A824751D0CBE.9C8F9912AC8B32E9@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28405

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 03:43:49 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>>
>> On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 18:09:38 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
>> wrote:
>>
>> >So Dave, are you going to bring that lawsuit against Kim or just try >> >to kill her with the jawbone of an ass?
>>
>> Has he been dismembering Larry Roll again?
>>
>> Rick
>
>If Cecil is still using his, perhaps you'd loan yours.

Sorry Dave, I can't help you.

I don't _have_ a Larry Roll to lend you.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5414. Re: BARF Christmas Message

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:13:35 UTC
From: The Better Amateur Radio Federation <lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm>
Message-ID: <f26f938778abdebcfb56c578e4caaacf@spamfreenews.com>
Source record: 28406
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

We will post this on our webpage.

http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61

"BARF HQ" <BARFHQ@KV4FZourHERO.org> wrote in message news:a05g37$q33$0@dosa.alt.net...
> IMPORTANT BARF News Release
>
> BARF HQ proudly announces Herb, KV4FZ, will give > his annual BARF Christmas message of good will to all > hams. MOST Important, Herb will be announcing the > glorious date he will be returning to ham radio. Looks like > the Goodfellows will be very upset, so watch for frequencies > and times to be announced. HAIL HERB!
>
>

5415. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:15:32 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C26495B.A57EFABC@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28407

James R. DeLoach wrote:
>
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 17:23:47 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >CAM wrote:
> >>
> >> Dave Heil wrote:
> >> > Vulgar callsigns and offensive speech in amateur radio are my business.
> >>
> >> How many of them do you sell each year?
> >
> >This would be more interesting if you could be taken seriously.
> >What, then is Kim's business--obtaining and flaunting vulgar callsigns?
>
> Calling her callsign vulgar?? What is vulgar about it, wake up, we > are not in the dark ages? I hear worse language on the news at > night and on the TV shows than what I think you're referring to.

James,

Stop sending your postings to my e-mail address as well as to the newsgroup.

Yes, Kim's callsign is vulgar. Yes, I think we are in the dark ages.
Yes, there is worse on TV and I don't think we should put up with that either. I have not heard Tom Brokaw use vulgarity nor have I heard it on CNN.

Dave K8MN

5416. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:20:53 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <470BD3FDC0B51852.1C48673A079379E3.1016853312015960@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28408

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 07:03:56 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Ahhh, but you CAN'T be taken seriously here. I'm serious when I tell >you that your "stalking" stuff is nonsense. This is a newsgroup. I >post here. Kim posts here. You post here. This is a public bulletin >board of opinion. I don't send Kim any e-mail or letters. I don't >stand outside her home with a placard.
>
>Why are attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights you old, false >libertarian you?

Put it in perspective, Dave.

Your First Amendment rights don't APPLY to online postings--the COU/TOS of your isp do! The Internet isn't a government entity that must observe Constitutional limitations--it's a computer network that you access through a commercial service after agreeing to adhere to the rules imposed by that service--and those rules DO address content issues in ways that the US government could not do.

What you and Larry Roll have been doing is, technically, harassment. In Larry's case in particular, he has made the public statement that he will NOT allow the subject of Kim's call sign to drop until she decides to change it. That, Dave, is a clear violation of the COU of any isp in the USA and could, if Kim chose to complain to his isp, cost him his account and Internet access.

Don't confuse Kim's freedom of speech, as exercised by applying for and receiving a call sign from the US Government (which IS bound to adhere to the terms of the Constitution) with your freedom of speech to attack her over her choice, which is regulated not by the Constitution but by your own legal agreements with a private firm.

There's no conflict in Cecil's statements. You DO have the right to voice your opinion. You do NOT have the right, however (based on YOUR agreement to your COU/TOS agreement when you obtained your account) to continue to repost that opinion and thus harass Kim with your messages.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5417. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:29:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <3E832F4B49721019.61A9FC192BC734FB.5A2A07BAE7B05EF8@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28410

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 15:42:03 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
wrote:

> What a maroon.

Left you behind on a desert island of confusion, huh?

>What Kim has done is to eagerly join the mass of other >morons on 3950, 14313 etc without ever placing a signal on the air or uttering
>a syllable. Her callsign has already said it all.

Dick, the only thing that separates you from the 3950 crowd is that you do your hate mongering on the Internet instead of on the air--thus fouling someone ELSE'S hobby space instead of your own. What you post here is just as offensive--and as insensitive--as what the Liberty Net crowd discuss on the air.

Get off your "holier-than-thou" stance, Dickie, the offensive and classless people in this newsgroup aren't Kim and her supporters--they are you, Larry Roll, and Dave Heil who insist that YOUR values are more important than those of others and that YOU are the final arbitrars of morality.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5418. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:33:43 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C264D8E.5E2F1067@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28411

James R. DeLoach wrote:
>
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 06:59:33 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Vulgar callsigns and offensive speech in amateur radio are my business.
>
> If the above is you're business, then you are NOT doing your job. All > anyone has to do is listen to the HF bands nowdays. The four letter > words are more common than they are national TV now days. Try > cleaning up that language before you start worrying about someone's > choice of callsign. Who do you think you are, the amateur radio cop?

It isn't my job alone, James. What are you doing about it? What are you doing to help clean up the ham bands? Let's do both.

Yes, I'm an amateur radio cop. Amateur radio is self-policing. You too can be an amateur radio cop. Make a tape of those you hear breaking the regs. Telephone the operator of a station using foul language.

> I think you just an old FART that thinks women have no place in > amateur radio, that it's just a male only hobby. It's people like you > that are killing amateur radio, making it another dying hobby.
> Get your head of out the sand and get the chip off your shoulder.

At 52 I hardly qualify for rocking chair status. I just celebrated the completion of my 38th year in amateur radio. I have no problem with women in amateur radio. I have a problem with someone who deliberately chooses a tacky vanity call which paints her as a trashy bimbette. I think that is no better for hamming than the crud we hear on 75m.
There is a bucket of sand in the corner with a chip in it. Does it belong to you?

Oh, kindly stop sending me your comments at my e-mail address. Just post them here.

Dave K8MN

5419. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:37:56 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C264E9A.4B2A9339@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28412

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > I'm frankly surprised he bothered to obtain any kind of license.
> > >
> > > He got tired of all us hams being able to communicate on > > > camping trips while he drove around lost in the desert.
> >
> > So his technical superiority only applies to electronics. He sounds > > like the kind of guy who can't find his way to the bathroom on a foggy > > night.
>
> Dave, have you any idea how big the Valley of the Sun is? I'd > sure like to see you locate a specific vehicle when you have > no idea where it is. Oh yeah, I forgot, you are omniscient > and therefore know everything. Say, if you are so omniscient
> why don't you help the US locate Osama bin Laden?

You are the who pointed out that the guy gets lost. Maybe it'd be easier for him to ride in or follow the other vehicle....unless the other guys make him bring up the rear.

You forget a couple of things. I didn't get into amateur radio to keep in touch with camping buddies. I have not and am not lost.

As far as Osama: It is someone else's watch now. I'm retired.
What is Osama's call?

Dave K8MN

5420. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:39:58 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C264F13.607CD583@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28413

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > One would think that official United States of America Federal Communications > > > Commission policy would appear somewhere besides private emails. Aren't they > > > required by law under the Freedom of Information Act to publish their official > > > policy somewhere besides private email?
> >
> > Perhaps you have a new mission, Don Quixote. Call or write the > > Commission and find out if this is "must have" information for you.
>
> Oh, I'm already aware that most of your postings come from the > North end of a Southbound jackass. No need to bother the FCC.

Well, Mr. Quixote--or can I just call you Don?--you asked a question which can best be answered by someone from the FCC. If you are curious, you have a new mission. I'm sure the Commission won't think it an undue burden to provide you the information.

Dave K8MN

5421. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:40:51 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C264F49.4A156012@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28414

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > I believe it is illegal to publish United States of America Federal > > > Communications Commission official policy only in private email.
> > >
> > On with the quest, Don Q. Let us know what you find out.
> >
> No quest necessary, Dave. I've already found you out.

The information you seek is available. Why not go to the source, Don?

Dave K8MN
```

5422. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:42:37 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C264FB2.D0C610CF@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28415

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > In your latest propaganda barrage, you've accused me of stalking--not > > once or twice but multiple times.
>
> Yep, that's exactly how I would describe what you have been doing.
> It is of the electronic variety, of course. Kim is the prey and > you and others have pursued your quarry incessantly. How will > it all end?

I know it is how you'd describe it. That's how you DID describe it.
The only difficulty I have with it is that it simply isn't true.
How will it end? That can be part of your next quest.

Dave K8MN

5423. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:43:43 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C264FF4.7A7AE2EF@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28416

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Do us a favor and remind us again of your particular function here.
>
> To criticize the sadists in the amateur radio ranks.

Let us know when you get to that spiffy self-flagellation part.

Dave K8MN

5424. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:45:32 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C265061.E649A293@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28417

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > You are right about one thing. The FCC shouldn't have issued Kim's
> > call.
>
> Well then Dave, it seems logical for you to stop bitchin' and get > the FCC to do something about it. Too bad The Constitution will > slap you up aside the head with a 2x4 in the process.

The Constitution doesn't slap anyone up side the head with anything.
I'm content to draw attention to the FCC's about face. In the past, the Commission would not and did not issue such calls.

Dave K8MN

5425. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:47:01 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2650B9.306714E2@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28418

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Do us a favor and remind us once again what your particular function
> > here is?
>
> To prevent the destruction of amateur radio by a few jerks who > have buried their heads in the sands of time.
>
> "Sink the ARS, Master Gunner, Sink 'er, blow 'er to heck.
> Fall into the hands of God, And not in the hands of the techs."

So we have yet another change of story with a touch of creative (well, not very creative) writing. Sure wish I could take your stuff seriously.

Dave K8MN

5426. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:47:57 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2650F1.B22D718@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28419

CAM wrote:
>
> K0HB wrote:
> > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
>
> How many times?

There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.

Dave K8MN

5427. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:50:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C265194.5E37FA07@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28420

Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> Dick Carroll wrote
>
> > What a maroon.
>
> Ah, Carroll, That is a racist statement. Do you know what a maroon is????
>
> Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a moron is > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is. Steve the LPN called me that > once. So, I have to think it is a trait of self-rightious pro-coders. ;-)

Blow a couple of bucks at Blockbuster and rent a couple of Bugs Bunny cartoons.

Dave K8MN

5428. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:56:16 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <4qsV7.194822$WW.11289029@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28421

Dave Heil wrote

> Richard Plourde wrote:

> > Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a moron is > > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is.

> Blow a couple of bucks at Blockbuster and rent a couple of Bugs Bunny
> cartoons.

Maybe you do have a sense of humor...

Rich

maroon is still racist...

5429. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:57:47 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C26533C.65A2CD79@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28422

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 17:27:48 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >That is simply and utterly preposterous. Kim is still warbling about > >her "rights". You are still braying about her "rights". Rick Adams is > >singing Buddhist hymns about her "rights". There is neither a time > >limit nor a quantity limit on my excercise of First Amendment rights.
>
> You're absolutely right, Dave. You have every right to say > what you wish.
>
> What neither you, nor anyone else, have the right to do,
> however, is to harass someone for having _exercised_ that freedom > herself. Your rights end--as ANY libertarian (or Libertarian) would > agree--at the point that you do specific and identifiable harm to a > non-consenting person/ Unless Kim _consents_ to being badgered, > defamed, and attacked by you over her choice of call sign, you can't > claim that you are "exercising your freedom" because you are doing so > at the expense of the freedom of someone else--which is NOT a > reasonable action.

Naw Rick, that simply doesn't wash. Kim's own comments directed at those who object to her choice show her to be giving at least as much as she gets. There isn't a time limit on quantity limit on First Amendment rights. This is a plain old electonic bulletin board. I'm free to post here numerous times daily.

> If you could clearly demonstrate someone who WAS > harmed directly by her choice of call signs you would have a case for > arguing that she doesn't have the right to exercise that freedom > either. As it happens, however, the only "victim" you can find is an > unidentifiable "potential ham" who is supposedly offended by her call.
> Until you produce that ham--and if her call offends the person it is > reasonable to insist that the person you DO produce does not, him or > her self, EVER use such terms as "tit" personally, nor do they view
> "R" rated movies (where they are visually presented instead of in > words), read modern novels (Harry Potter books excepted), or do other > things that voluntarily expose them to such terms--you have no grounds > for making a similar claim about her freedom.

I'm offended by her call. I don't need to produce a potential ham.
We have several others here who are offended.

> >So much for your libertarian values.
>
> Mine are quite consistent--and so are Cecil's for that matter.

At last reading, you guys couldn't even agree on what makes a libertarian.

Dave K8MN

5430. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 21:59:07 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C26538E.3EB73DDE@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28423

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 03:43:49 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Rick Adams wrote:
> >>
> >> On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 18:09:38 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
> >> wrote:
> >>
> >> >So Dave, are you going to bring that lawsuit against Kim or just try > >> >to kill her with the jawbone of an ass?
> >>
> >> Has he been dismembering Larry Roll again?
> >>
> >> Rick
> >
> >If Cecil is still using his, perhaps you'd loan yours.
>
> Sorry Dave, I can't help you.
>
> I don't _have_ a Larry Roll to lend you.

Just pass the jawbone, Samson.

Dave K8MN

5431. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:09:09 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2655E5.3A36C7E8@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28424

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 07:03:56 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Ahhh, but you CAN'T be taken seriously here. I'm serious when I tell > >you that your "stalking" stuff is nonsense. This is a newsgroup. I > >post here. Kim posts here. You post here. This is a public bulletin > >board of opinion. I don't send Kim any e-mail or letters. I don't > >stand outside her home with a placard.
> >
> >Why are attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights you old, false > >libertarian you?
>
> Put it in perspective, Dave.
>
> Your First Amendment rights don't APPLY to online > postings--the COU/TOS of your isp do! The Internet isn't a government > entity that must observe Constitutional limitations--it's a computer > network that you access through a commercial service after agreeing to > adhere to the rules imposed by that service--and those rules DO > address content issues in ways that the US government could not do.

Then I suggest you make a test case of it. See if you can get Earthlink to drop me as a customer based on my statements here regarding Kim's trashy callsign.

> What you and Larry Roll have been doing is, technically, > harassment. In Larry's case in particular, he has made the public > statement that he will NOT allow the subject of Kim's call sign to > drop until she decides to change it. That, Dave, is a clear violation > of the COU of any isp in the USA and could, if Kim chose to complain
> to his isp, cost him his account and Internet access.

I disagree with you regarding your silly talk of harrassment. Make an issue of it with Earthlink if you like.

> Don't confuse Kim's freedom of speech, as exercised by > applying for and receiving a call sign from the US Government (which > IS bound to adhere to the terms of the Constitution) with your freedom > of speech to attack her over her choice, which is regulated not by the > Constitution but by your own legal agreements with a private firm.

You are quite wrong again. Firstly, I have serious doubts as to whether Earthlink will drop me as a paying customer because of my expression of my views. Secondly, I can stand on the street corner expressing those views if I can interest anyone in the topic. Thirdly, I can write letters to magazines regarding my views. Fourthly, I can make those views known on the air.

> There's no conflict in Cecil's statements. You DO have the > right to voice your opinion. You do NOT have the right, however (based > on YOUR agreement to your COU/TOS agreement when you obtained your > account) to continue to repost that opinion and thus harass Kim with > your messages.

Prove it, Rick! I've uttered no vile rants. I've expressed my opinion. That you don't like it is too bad.

Dave K8MN

5432. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:11:34 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C265675.8C4B3C2A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28425

Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote
>
> > Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> > > Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a moron is > > > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is.
>
> > Blow a couple of bucks at Blockbuster and rent a couple of Bugs Bunny > > cartoons.
>
> Maybe you do have a sense of humor...
>
> Rich
>
> maroon is still racist...

That would certainly depend entirely upon context. That racist Mel Blanc!

Dave K8MN

5433. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:15:27 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26577F.DBD75DA7@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28427

Dave Heil wrote:
> You are the who pointed out that the guy gets lost. Maybe it'd be > easier for him to ride in or follow the other vehicle....unless the > other guys make him bring up the rear.

The beauty of ham radio is that there needs be no meeting place or meeting time or even a campsite picked out. Everyone gets on a mountaintop repeater and decides where to camp out. Some of the Phoenix area mountaintop repeaters cover 1000 square miles.

> You forget a couple of things. I didn't get into amateur radio to keep > in touch with camping buddies.

Did you get into amateur radio for the purpose of harassing Kim?

> As far as Osama: It is someone else's watch now. I'm retired.

If you are omniscient, it is a capital offense for you to retire.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5434. Re: Roger Goes (Humming) Caroling

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:16:30 UTC
From: Omniscient <KnowsAll@Anon.com>
Message-ID: <a05l3reec0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28426
Cross-posted to: alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.2600,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

```
"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:a04p6u$l7u$g@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "Robert" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> news:a02ndg$mih$0@pita.alt.net...
> >
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:a02dik$1i6$m@pita.alt.net...
> > >
> > --
> > > "Impotent" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > > news:a00o9k$pb4$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > >
> > > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > news:9vvhos$hkd$3@pita.alt.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > "ghost" <ghost_dj_no_spam@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > > > > news:zfyU7.5432$Cw3.657624@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> > > > > >
> > > > > > "Omniscient" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > > > > news:9vuapu$nrs$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > > > > > Roger and some of his "dear" friends at the Pink Triangle
Sweet
> > Meat
> > > > Bar
> > > > > and > > > > > > Grill have gotten together and formed a group called The Hummers
> > to > > > go > > > > > > Christmas caroling. They have but one song on their list but > they
> > do
> > > > it
> > > > > > well, often, and usually to "stand up" crowds.
> > > > > > That one song is their most favorite, and they can hum "Come
All
> > Ye
> > > > > > Faithful" in three different octaves. They usually hum this > little
> > > > ditty
> > > > > > while on their knees and Roger is typically the leading > supplicant
```

> > > and
> > > > > > > greatest crowd pleaser.
> > > > > > > There is no shortage of protein in Roger's diet and his twinky
> > > little > > > > > > Pinky
> > > > > > > butties have fondly dubbed Roger with the nickname "Chipmunk > > > Cheeks".
> > > > > > > Roger still holds the humming record for no spillage, but his > > > butties
> > > > > are
> > > > > > > quickly bringing up the rear.
> > > > > > > Roger, ever undaunted, unabashedly informs his admirers that
the > > > > secret
> > > > > to > > > > > > > his sucksess is, "If at first you don't suck seed, suck, suck
> > > again."
> > > > > > > Go, Roger! Go!
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > LMFAO
> > > > > >
> > > > > > ghost
> > > > >
> > > > > Translation: "Slllllluuuuurrrrrpppp!"
> > > > >
> > > > > "Ghjost" is familiar with licking rectums, since that's how he got
> the > > > > > herpes on his tongue.
> > > >
> > >
> > > Poor Impotent, he was so upset at his ineffectiveness, he spammed with > > > identical responses on two posts. Run along and beat your wife up some > > more,
> > > wife beater.
> >
> > One Who Knows the feel of a sheep's anus [flush!]
>
> Poor babbling cocoaine addict Booby.

--
One Who Knows Roger said about Roger's responses:
"The hallmark of an outed coward. Then your (f)lame quality began to get a stale taste to it. The same repetitive crap, re-arranged ad nauseum, ad infinitum."

5435. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:16:53 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2657D5.8042C776@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28429

N2EY wrote:
> Cecil, when you say "the idea presented by the PCTA folk", the English > language implication is "all".

You're right. I should have said some of the PCTA folk. Please forgive me.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5436. Re: Roger Goes (Humming) Caroling

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:19:00 UTC
From: Omniscient <KnowsAll@Anon.com>
Message-ID: <a05l8geme0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28428
Cross-posted to: alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

```
"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:a04p6v$l7u$h@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "Robert" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> news:a02nj6$msm$0@pita.alt.net...
> >
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:a02dil$1i6$n@pita.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "Omniscient" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > > news:a00o7r$p7l$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > > >
> > > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > news:9vvhor$hkd$2@pita.alt.net...
> > > > > >
> > > > > "Impotent" <KnowsAssholeswell@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > > > > news:9vuapu$nrs$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > > > > Roger and some of his "dear" friends at the Pink Triangle Sweet > Meat
> > > Bar
> > > > > and > > > > > > Grill have gotten together and formed a group called The Hummers
> to
> > go > > > > > > Christmas caroling. They have but one song on their list but they
> do
> > > it
> > > > > > well, often, and usually to "stand up" crowds.
> > > > > > That one song is their most favorite, and they can hum "Come All
> Ye
> > > > > > Faithful" in three different octaves. They usually hum this little > > > ditty
> > > > > > while on their knees and Roger is typically the leading supplicant
> > and
> > > > > > greatest crowd pleaser.
> > > > > > There is no shortage of protein in Roger's diet and his twinky
> > little > > > > > Pinky
> > > > > > butties have fondly dubbed Roger with the nickname "Chipmunk > > Cheeks".
```

> > > > > > Roger still holds the humming record for no spillage, but his > > butties
> > > > are > > > > > > quickly bringing up the rear.
> > > > > > Roger, ever undaunted, unabashedly informs his admirers that the > > > secret
> > > > to > > > > > > his sucksess is, "If at first you don't suck seed, suck, suck
> > again."
> > > > > > Go, Roger! Go!
> > > > >
> > > > > Poor anonymous COWARD all he's got is a pathetic IKYABWAI.
> > > > > Too bad he's been charged with molesting his two daughters.
> > >
> > > [flush]
> > >
> > > Poor Impotent the anonymous COWARD.
> >
> > Still [STOMP!]
>
> Still hiding behind that anonimity, taliban-supporting COWARD?

Still peeking from behind your mommy's curtain, Wogie?

--
One Who Knows Roger said about Roger's responses:
"The hallmark of an outed coward. Then your (f)lame quality began to get a stale taste to it. The same repetitive crap, re-arranged ad nauseum, ad infinitum."

5437. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:19:15 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C265863.33224047@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28431

WA8ULX wrote:
>
> >I rest my case. cheers, CAM
>
> You need to rest your case, it is very apparent you need help

I rest my case. Can't you post even a single sentence in proper English?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5438. Re: Roger Goes (Humming) Caroling

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:19:51 UTC
From: Omniscient <KnowsAll@Anon.com>
Message-ID: <a05la4$eq4$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28430
Cross-posted to: alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:a04p70$l7u$i@dosa.alt.net...
> Pedophile
> "Robert" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> news:a02naemch0@pita.alt.net...
> >
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:a02dii$1i6$l@pita.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "Impotent" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
> > > news:a00o54ovv0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > > >
> > > > "ghost" <ghost_dj_no_spam@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> > > > news:cuIU7.6197$Cw3.725258@newsread2.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> > > > > <snip>
> > > > > >
> > > > > "Slllllluuuuurrrrrpppp!"
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > "Ghjost" is familiar with licking rectums, since that's how he got
> > the > > > > > > herpes on his tongue.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > >
> > > > > That was lame, perhaps you would care to try again? Let's play a > game,
> > I > > > > > > hold my hand up, and you pick a finger. It's an easy game, as I will > > let
> > > > > you
> > > > > > keep guessing till you get it right.
> > > > > >
> > > > > ghost
> > > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > --
> > > >
> > --
> > One Who Knows the touch of a sheep's anus said:
> > "The hallmark of an outed coward is my hiding behind aliases. Get the best

> sheep
> > you can find. Then the cum you swallow won't get that stale taste to it.
>
> Poor anonymous COWARD.
>
>
> > > Impotent and Gasp are familiar with stale tates, since they regularly
> suck
> > > off their grandfathers.
>
> Impotent's admission he sucks off his grandfather, noted.

--
One Who Knows Roger said about Roger's responses:
"The hallmark of an outed coward. Then your (f)lame quality began to get a stale taste to it. The same repetitive crap, re-arranged ad nauseum, ad infinitum."

5439. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:20:12 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a05ll9$87e$1@slb3.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28432

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C25D150.69216283@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Bill Sohl wrote:
>
> > On Sat, 15 Dec 2001 17:45:34 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > wrote:
> > >A professional engineer should have aced the Extra test.
> >
> > Why? 1/4 or more of the questions involve totally > > non-technical subjects (VE credentials, amateur space > > operations rules, etc.)
>
> I aced the Extra test over 30 years ago, long before VE credential etc > questions, and I'm, not a degreed engineer. All that means what?

It means nothing. My comment was directed at the notion that any person who is a PE should be able to just ACE the exam because of the inherent knowledhge the individual has because the person is a PE. Since a fair amount of the Extra test includes subject matter that is totally unrelated to technical info that a PE might know, I was commenting that the PE wouldn't just ACE the test and, more likly could not do so without at least studying the non-tech stuff first (i.e. VE credentials, certain FCC regs, etc.)

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5440. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:20:52 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2658C4.8535D40E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28433

"Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> He must have also lost the link to QRZ ... the upgrade made > it into the FCC database (and the callbook servers) on Dec. 20.

Merry Christmas
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5441. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:22:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26593F.27532459@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28434

Dave Heil wrote:
> Well, Mr. Quixote--or can I just call you Don?--you asked a question > which can best be answered by someone from the FCC.

It was a rhetorical question, Dave, but of course you knew that.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5442. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:24:39 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2659A7.E5E17B6D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28435

Dave Heil wrote:
> Yes, Kim's callsign is vulgar.

How many times must a doorbell be rung before it is harassment?
How many times must you make the above statement before it is harassment?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5443. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:26:14 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C265A06.52189B36@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28436

Dave Heil wrote:
> The information you seek is available. Why not go to the source, Don?

It was a rhetorical question, Dave, but of course you knew that.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5444. Re: RADIO LAW vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:27:58 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a05lrl$6i2$1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28437
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:P%bV7.1242$UO1.614693@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net...
>
> K0HB <K0HB@bitbucket73.com> wrote...
> :
> :
> : > The police and military are your superiors.
> :
> : Horse-shit.
> :
> : Pure extra fine Grade-A Horse-Shit.
> :
> : The police and military are my hired help. They work for me,
> : which makes _me_ their superior.
> :
> : Do you live in the old USSR or Iraq or some such dictatorship?
> :
> : 73, de Hans, K0HB
>
> Sorry but you are no more than a taxpayer
> with no choice in paying your taxes or they > will be forcible taken from you. The mayor
> or the governor is who the police work for.
> It is they who hire them.

And good mayors, governors, etc. will demand that their police force personnel and anyone else that is employed by government understands and respects the fact that they ARE public servants. Unfortunately, there still are jurisdictions that operate on the "Dukes of Hazard School of Local Government." Thankfully, with the media coverage today, that is becoming far more difficult to do and the bad attitude employees will find it more difficult to thumb their noses at the public that employs the,.

> Now if you are very rich or powerful, you > might be able to dictate who the mayor is.
> But most people, there is little recourse unless > you band together in enough numbers to > force the political establishment to listen.
> And the police do know this.

It's called democracy...and it does work.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5445. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:29:49 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C265ADD.6D59ED14@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28439

Dave Heil wrote:
> I know it is how you'd describe it. That's how you DID describe it.
> The only difficulty I have with it is that it simply isn't true.

What you are doing is harassment, pure and simple. How many times can you ring a doorbell before someone calls the cops?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5446. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:31:06 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <KWsV7.238389$3d2.11521443@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28438

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message news:4qsV7.194822$WW.11289029@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
> Dave Heil wrote
>
> > Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> > > Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a moron is > > > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is.
>
> > Blow a couple of bucks at Blockbuster and rent a couple of Bugs Bunny > > cartoons.
>
> Maybe you do have a sense of humor...
>
> Rich
>
> maroon is still racist...

The University of Chicago football teams were racist?

5447. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:37:17 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C265C9D.5C9EC91F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28440

Dave Heil wrote:
> I'm content to draw attention to the FCC's about face. In the past, the > Commission would not and did not issue such calls.

Aha, so the FCC is to blame. That's what I have been saying all along.
It is the FCC's responsibility to recall Kim's callsign if necessary.
Otherwise, the FCC has given its tacit approval and sided with Kim against you and your United Uppity Prudes of the ARS.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5448. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:39:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C265D10.66498310@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28442

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > K0HB wrote:
> > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> > >
> > How many times?
>
> There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.

The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws. How many times can you ring someone's doorbell before being arrested?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5449. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:39:44 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a05mhnotk1@nntp9.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28441
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:c6lV7.18$Qs3.67090@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
> : > It will cause more problems that it is worth.
> : > Right now most police officers use scanners
> : > to listen to adjacent patrol areas, other departments
> : > and others services. If radios are encrypted, you
> : > will only have those talk groups that are programmed
> : > into your radio. Already we have problems with
> : > various agencies not wanting other agencies on
> : > their talk groups. For example, the ambulance
> : > service does not want the fire fighters on their
> : > talk group. Makes it damned hard to co-ordinate
> : > at an accident scene or talk the ambulance in.
> :
> : With a trunking system, you only have the talk groups that
> : are programmed into your radio - the same is true for systems.
> : This is no different than for conventional repeater setups.
> :
> : With a trunking system - there is no need for different agencies
> : to be on the same talk groups - except for the designed interagency
> : groups. Those interagency groups are meant for use when such
> : coordinated operation is desired.
> :
> : I speak from practical experience here. I have performed the design
> : and implementation of various trunking systems.
>
> And if everything is encrypted then one can not > monitor other agencies. Many LEOs have scanners
> in their vehicles.

Translation...you can't have it both ways. If you don't want it encrypted (or trunked) to keep most scanner owners from listening...then you have to live with the fact that they can listen. There are far too many receivers already in existence to ever consider any ban on people owning/listening to police frequencies. Indeed, most any radio can do so with a simple converter in front of it.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5450. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:44:04 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C265E34.24996CC3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28444

Richard McCollum wrote:
> The University of Chicago football teams were racist?

I guess Texas A&M teams are maroons and whites. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5451. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 22:44:11 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a05mtp$i8p$1@slb5.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28443
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C1E72FD.3AC2EEC4@gte.net...
> > >> >
> > >> >Think again. First the cops would just the > > >> >car and the radios. Then when the CID > > >> >folks show up, they will explain how you > > >> >lipped off to the cops that you were some > > >> >type of hot shot Air Force type. At that > > >> >point, the investigation might be about your > > >> >fitness to serve.
> > >>
> > >> Which is why I strongly endorse and support that > > >> all police cars be equipped with both audio and video > > >> recording equipment to document exactly what > > >> happened. I have seen the absolute value in > > >> these in both protecting the public against rogue > > >> cops and protecting police against false accusations of > > >> police brutality.
> > >
> > >Bill, I am not talking about rogue cops or > > >even police brutality. Rather it is the cop > > >who is a professional, who keeps his cool, > > >but is not going to let some ham tell him that > > >the cop has no right to inspect his radios
> > >and plays the hot shot.
> >
> > INSPECT for WHAT reason. The radio in > > the car is NOT illegal. The cop as NO need > > to ask. If asked, I'd tell him what my radio is > > and that's the end of it. What else would he > > need or want to do?
> >
> > >No cop will put up with that.
> >
> > After telling the cop the radio is a ham rig (or CB, > > or FRS, or private mobile, or whatever, just what > > more could the cop ask?
> >
> > >The average cop is trained to suspect everyone.
> > >Even other cops. They are trained that they > > >are superior, the "force" of government, the > > >thin blue line that keeps us a civilized society.
> > >And it is almost universal that the biggest goal > > >that a cop will have is to make it home alive

> > >every night.
> >
> > That is not the training I am aware of. Cops may have > > the powerm but their application of that power must > > be tempered with restraint and rational reasoning...or > > they will end up off the force in many cases.
> >
> > >If there is a question about a radio,
> >
> > WHAT could be questioned?
> >
> > >it is just easier
> > >to take the radios, even the car as well, and let the > > >courts settle. I have said this over and over.
> >
> > Yes you have and you fail to see that any cop
> > that developes a histry of bad arrests, court > > losses, etc won't go far as a cop.
> >
> > > This
> > >includes lawsuits, which most cops do not really give > > >a rats ass about. That is the courts' problem, the > > >chief's problem, and not theirs.
> >
> > Believe it or not, cops can end up being criminally > > prosecuted for departures from proper enforcement.
> >
> > >This does not mean that they will keep the radios forever, > > >as the AF CAP chap suggested. When the AF types come, > > >it will go in front of a judge. And remember, this is only if > > >there is question that the street officer can not settle quickly.
> >
> > I repeat...what could be in question that the local cop > > would have any role in or knowledge of?
> >
> > >Too many Americans are jerks, assholes.
> >
> > If they aren't breaking the law then so what?
> >
> > >They believe that > > >they have a right to do anything, and everything.
> >
> > Again, unless they are breaking a law, so what...it > > isn't a police matter.
> >
> > >That they > > >have NO responsibility to society or their fellow man.
> >
> > Yet again, unless they are breaking a law, so what...it > > isn't a police matter.

> > >
> > > And the cops want that attitude to end.
> >
> > So do many others, but it ain't a police matter UNLESS > > laws are being broken.
>
> You just do not get it, do you?
>
> It is more about your attitude than anything.
> Get an attitude with a cop, he will find things
> to write tickets for.

I know far better than to "get an attitude"...but that doesn't mean I checked my rights at the door when I get in my car.

> Some cops do not care about ham equipment.
> Some cops do. It depends whether the state > has a law over radio usage like we are now > seeing with Cell Phones.

There are NO such laws against ham equipment.
If you know of any, please cite.

> The real point is that if the officer does decide > to take the radio, he will be damned use that > he can justify doing so.

I'd not stop any cop from taking the radio...BUT that cop better have a valid reason when I follow-up with the authorities to get it back and to learn just what/why it was taken in the first place.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5452. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 23:01:02 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <OmtV7.194874$WW.11294656@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28445

> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
> news:4qsV7.194822$WW.11289029@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote
> >
> > > Richard Plourde wrote:
> >
> > > > Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a > moron is > > > > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is.
> >
> > > Blow a couple of bucks at Blockbuster and rent a couple of Bugs Bunny > > > cartoons.
> >
> > Maybe you do have a sense of humor...
> >
> > Rich
> >
> > maroon is still racist...

Richard McCollum wrote

> The University of Chicago football teams were racist?

No, Richard, the team members were not neccessarily racists. Whoever started calling the team members maroons may very have been the racists.

maroon - a fugitive Negro slave of the West Indies and Guiana in the 17th and 18th centuries; also: a descendant of such a slave.

There're a many details in our heritage which lose their luster in the light of day.

Rich

5453. Re: PROOF that we are all BARKING MAD! CBERS.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 23:07:05 UTC
From: Zoran Brlecic <WA7AA@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <3C26630D.B1034855@attbi.com>
Source record: 28446
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Patrick Keele wrote:

> > > What you REALLY mean is..... CAUSE I AIN'T GOT A BRAIN.....i
> have
> > > "adddressed the issue".
> Not quite gov'nor
>
> I was merely re- iterating the level of intelligence by paraphrasing(if you > know what the word means)

No, you're the only scholar here, it seems.

> which i think the CRETIN who insulted me
> possesses.
> I was demonstrating how i think the CRETIN speaks,judging by the level of > illiteracy which he exudes.

??? So in order to prove your point, you dish out a totally unintelligible and illiterate post? Not to mention the drunken mumbling about "asians", "scandinavians", etc.

> You and he both clearly miss the point of my > message.

That you dislike americanisms in the English language, yet are unable to write a coherent sentence in the language you're "protecting"?

> You don't impress me at all by misquoting what i originally said,which is > out of context to the original message.ANY fool(you as an example)can cut > and paste.You are not clever.

Any fool may be able to cut and paste, but that's one skill you apparently lack. Let me give you a few pointers: sentences begin with a capital letter. There is always a space between a word and parentheses (with the exception of whatever the parentheses contain) as well as between the period at the end of the sentence and the next word. Ditto for commas, exclamation marks and question marks. Writing whole words in upper case is considered tacky and in poor taste (also yelling in ng's), especially if it's done randomly. "Reiterate" is not spelled with a hyphen (let alone with a space after it). Nationalities and other words describing belonging to a geographical group are always capitalized. A sentence cannot begin with either "or" or "but". Abbreviations for countries are always capitalized (i.e. UK instead of uk). Learn the difference between "its" and "it's", as well between "countries" and "country's". Ditto for "too" and "to".
Also, you seem to be perplexed about certain nationalities, so let me enlighten you: we call Pakistanis and Bangladeshis Asians because they are from Asia.

Simple, isn't it? Likewise, it is perfectly normal to call Swedes Scandinavians and Americans - North Americans. The reason we don't call Britons "Britains" is because it is a word made up by you and no one else uses it.

And finally, language is a live, complex and fluid concept. To reject new words and phrases simply on the basis of their origin is to show an extreme close-mindedness that borders on stupidity. Most repressive governments usually take it upon themselves to regulate the language instead of allowing it to develop naturally. Therefore, your mindset is clearly similar to the one of a linguistic fascist. Notice that even though "mindset" can be described as "how someone thinks", there are few synonims for the word - ergo, there is nothing wrong with the word and the fact that it hasn't been around in the time of Shakespeare does not invalidate it in any way. As long as I'm mentioning Shakespeare, I wonder what you would have called dozens of his made up words which are today standard English. At least you have to agree that it is more natural to say "mindset" than "how someone thinks" in a sentence.

73 .... Zoran WA7AA

5454. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 23:20:10 UTC
From: Dave VanHorn <dvanhorn@cedar.net>
Message-ID: <KEtV7.26419$Z03.14414496@news1.rdc1.mi.home.com>
Source record: 28447
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

I thought 20M was abnormally quiet lately..

--
--
Dave's Engineering Page: http://www.dvanhorn.org

Got a need to read Bar codes? http://www.barcodechip.com
Bi-directional read of UPC-A, UPC-E, EAN-8, EAN-13, JAN, and Bookland, with two or five digit supplemental codes, in an 8 pin chip, with NO external parts.

5455. Re: BARF Christmas Message

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 23:37:59 UTC
From: SLee@houston-hunks.com Message-ID: <pile.it.on.baby@houston-hunks.com>
Source record: 28448
Cross-posted to: alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,alt.sex.sheep.chubby,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 15:13:35 -0600, The Better Amateur Radio Federation <lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm> wrote:
: We will post this on our webpage.
:
: http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61

That's a very large picture of Woger Wiseman that you have posted near the bottom of your page. How did you get him sit still long enough to pose for it? I hear that his piles are very inflamed during the holiday season.

5456. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 23:45:49 UTC
From: keyclownslappa@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <ce9e428e.0112231545.7f1e04db@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28449
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"porky" <porky@cfl.rr.com> wrote in message
news:<LTnV7.160210$oj3.27634268@typhoon.tampabay.rr.com>...
> Not only that, but he clearly states that the color green( > which("witch" hihi) represents ham freqs.) are starting from 28.005. Duh, > the initial post was an incorrect statement in which the poster was saying > that cber's consider 28mhz as cb land.

PORKY WHERE DO YOU SEE ON HIS CHART ANYTHING THAT SAYS 'HAM' OR 'AMATEUR'?

AND THE HAM BAND STARTS AT 28.000 NOT 28.005, YOU DIPWAD.

5457. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-23 23:51:01 UTC
From: K0HB <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <9dade74e4bc566e31591c70eb4dd72ba.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 28450

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C265D10.66498310@IEEE.org...

> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> > >
> > > How many times?
> >
> > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
>
> The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws.

If you think I've exceeded the limit of time I'm allowed to say
"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign.", take me to court.

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

"Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign."

(wanna borrow my <CTRL-V> keys?)

--
Posted from mplsapanas12poolb20.mpls.uswest.net [65.103.22.20]
via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

5458. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 00:07:47 UTC
From: daver40us@yahoo.com Message-ID: <c71973b3.0112231607.618fc039@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28451

"Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net> wrote in message news:<9vtg5701orp@enews3.newsguy.com>...
> I am so interested in finally getting my Technician's License that I have > studied and studied for weeks now. I have passed every sample test I can get > my hands on, and there is a real test in my area on January 17th, 2002.
>
> But, I'm reading these messages and I'm starting to get the feeling that the > priviledges afforded to a Tech No Code gives access to frequencies that are > really no better to occupy than a Citizen Band radio would access.
>
> I'm reading about jamming, and this jerk that, that jerk this, kids, lids, > space cadets...
>
> I wanted to get into Amateur Radio to get out of the 27Mhz Snake Pit and QSO > with some quality contacts.
>
> Am I really making a mistake? Is it too late for Ham Radio now?
You're not making a mistake.

My experience has been nothing but positive. 2 meters is much different, and IMO, far better than CB.

Take your test in January. In the mean time, plug some local repeater frequencies in a scanner and listen to the QSO's to form your own opinion.

Welcome and Good Luck
Dave KB2TTT

5459. Re: BARF Christmas Message

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 00:09:10 UTC
From: Big Al <Big_Al@hohoho.com>
Message-ID: <a05rlv$o27$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28452
Cross-posted to:
alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"The Better Amateur Radio Federation"
<lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm> wrote in message news:f26f938778abdebcfb56c578e4caaacf@spamfreenews.com...
> We will post this on our webpage.
>
> http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61
>

Hey, that is some full size picture you have of Big Marie's ugly little boy Wogey on you web page!
Good Job! Wogey don't like peoples to see how ugly he is!

5460. Re: Big Al sucks and swallows Omniscient

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 00:15:22 UTC
From: Big Al <Big_Al@hohoho.com>
Message-ID: <a05s1ioqd0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28453
Cross-posted to:
rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,alt.2600,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Poor KC8JBO. Meals-on-Wheels will come in Christmas day to feed Big Marie. Woger will smell the great food, want to eat, but no one will cook for poor Woger. No one loves poor Woger, save maybe the lavendar lads gang at O'Leary's Hourly Motel in Glendale. Woger will get vewy vewy angwy and spew tons of filth on Usenet, but alas, poor Wogey will still be unable to find anyone to cook for him or love him.
Poor little Wogey!

5461. On "Vacation"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 00:15:24 UTC
From: twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com
Message-ID: <e9de0154.0112231615.25450bec@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28454
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.pirate.radio,rec.radio.swap

"Thanks to you to Scott, Landshark and Sideband for policing the NG and exposing the cowardly no-code forgers for what they are. The AKC dog pound is filled with excrement this time of year and the hounds become overwrought with desire. Much as I would like to take them out for exercise, I will be absent from the group for a short time. The reason is that I am undergoing elective surgery. I will have certain male organs removed and reconstructed to better suit my lifestyle. When I return I will appear with a new addy that is more appropriate such as "Ms.Twist" or "MissyTwistedhed". I will also be posting pics on WWW.TIMNEBO.COM to show off my new persona and these galleries will be available to those with ADULT CHECK GOLD. Gender-changing has been a lifelong dream of mine and those of you who are not tolerant are not welcome to comment. (Dogie, AA, Sparky this means you) Suffice to say "if you ain't tried it don't knock it". Please keep your opinions to yourself. I will also continue to freeband and make friends on 27.555 and above despite the wishes of certain hammies who have comprehension problems (Lelnad being chief among them). I look forward to seeing you all in a new light upon my return"

5462. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 01:35:16 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011223203516.24795.00001259@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 28455

>He must have also lost the link to QRZ ... the upgrade made >it into the FCC database (and the callbook servers) on Dec. 20.
>Not too bad a turn-around on the paperwork.
>
>73,
>
>--
>Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse

Yea thats right only took you a Year to upgrade, must have been that real hard Memory Test. I thought it was the Code??

5463. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 01:37:13 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011223203713.24795.00001260@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 28456

>I rest my case. Can't you post even a single sentence in proper English?
>--
>cheers, CAM

NO, wouldnt be any fun in that there

5464. Re: On "Vacation"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 01:57:37 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <IYvV7.308654$W8.11228948@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28457
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.pirate.radio,rec.radio.swap

Assuming, of course, that this is not itself a forgery, best of luck to you.

You will pardon a bad play on words but it takes balls to do something about a problem few, including this writer, have a clue about let alone understand.

Dick N&#65533;BK

"Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message news:e9de0154.0112231615.25450bec@posting.google.com...
> "Thanks to you to Scott, Landshark and Sideband for policing the NG > and exposing the cowardly no-code forgers for what they are. The AKC > dog pound is filled with excrement this time of year and the hounds > become overwrought with desire. Much as I would like to take them out > for exercise, I will be absent from the group for a short time. The > reason is that I am undergoing elective surgery. I will have certain > male organs removed and reconstructed to better suit my lifestyle.
> When I return I will appear with a new addy that is more appropriate > such as "Ms.Twist" or "MissyTwistedhed". I will also be posting pics > on WWW.TIMNEBO.COM to show off my new persona and these galleries will > be available to those with ADULT CHECK GOLD. Gender-changing has been > a lifelong dream of mine and those of you who are not tolerant are not > welcome to comment. (Dogie, AA, Sparky this means you) Suffice to say
> "if you ain't tried it don't knock it". Please keep your opinions to > yourself. I will also continue to freeband and make friends on 27.555 > and above despite the wishes of certain hammies who have comprehension > problems (Lelnad being chief among them). I look forward to seeing you > all in a new light upon my return"

5465. aye 14.313 Xmas (burrrp....)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 02:08:16 UTC
From: "Old St. Prick" <14313loons@biteme.net> Message-ID: <k6wV7.12466$PO5.1961219@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 28458
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

Found this on the 14.313 news page. I nearly peed myself laughing.
The author deserves a case of Samuel Addams beer fer-sure !

For the boys on 313:

'Twas the night before Christmas, and boy was it neat.
The kids were both gone, and I, Caracus Mike was in heat.
The doors were all bolted, the mike off the hook,
It was time for some nooky, by hook or by crook.
Momma in her teddy and I in the nude,
Had just hit the bedroom and reached for the mobil lube.
When out on the lawn there arose such a cry,
That I lost my boner, and momma went dry.
Up to the window I sprang like an elf,
Tore back the shade while she played with herself.
The moon on the crest of the snowman we'd built,
Showed a broom up his ass, clean up to the hilt.
When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a rusty old sleigh and eight mangy reindeer.
With a gay little driver, half out of the sled,
A sock in his ear and a bra on his head.
Sure as I'm speaking, Summers EVE was high as a kite, Whoa Shithead, whoa Asshole, whoa Stupid, whoa Putz, Either slow down this rig or I'll cut off your nuts.
Look out for the lamp post, and don't hit the tree,
Quit shaking the sleigh, 'cause I gotta go pee.
They cleared the old lamp post, the tree got a rub,
Just as Santa leaned out and threw up on my shrub.
And then from the roof we heard such a clatter,
As each little reindeer now emptied his bladder.
I was donning my jockeys, to cover my ass,
When down the chimney Dave came with a crash.
His suit was all smelly with perfume galore,
He looked like a bum and smelled like a whore.
"That was some gay hotel," he said with a smile,
"The reindeer are pooped, and I'll just stay awhile"
He walked to the kitchen for himself poured a drink,
Then whipped out his pecker and pissed in the sink.
I started to laugh, my wife smiled with glee,
The old boy was hung nearly down to his knee.
Back in the den, Old Dave reached in his sack,
But his toys were all gone, and some new things were packed.
The first thing he found was a pair of false tits,
The next was a handgun with a penis that spits.

A box filled with condoms was Dave's next find,
And six pair of panties, the edible kind.
A bra without nipples, a penis extension,
And several more things I shouldn't even mention.
A recording of NTI, a photo of OTK, and all types of oil,
And a dildo so long that it lay in a coil.
"This stuff ain't for kids, Mrs. Santa will shit,
So I'll leave 'em here, and then I'll just split."
He filled every stocking and then took his leave,
With one tiny butt plug stuck under his sleeve.
He sprang to his sleigh, but his feet were like lead,
Thus he fell on his ass and broke wind instead.
In time he was seated, took reigns of his hitch, Saying,"Take me home, Rudolf. This night's been a bitch!"
The sleigh was near gone when we heard Davey shout,
"Thank God the K1MAN bulletin service is on the way out!!!"

M E R R Y C H R I S T M A S

http://members.aol.com/jcunham/

5466. Re: On "Vacation"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 02:37:35 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net>
Message-ID: <PxwV7.12176$s%1.2733405281@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 28461
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.pirate.radio,rec.radio.swap

Forge. If it doesn't have the webtv signature in the properties, it's a forge.

Landshark

--
Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:lYvV7.308654$W8.11228948@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> Assuming, of course, that this is not itself a forgery, best of luck to
> you.
>
> You will pardon a bad play on words but it takes balls to do something > about a problem few, including this writer, have a clue about let alone > understand.
>
> Dick N&#65533;BK
>
> "Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message > news:e9de0154.0112231615.25450bec@posting.google.com...
> > "Thanks to you to Scott, Landshark and Sideband for policing the NG > > and exposing the cowardly no-code forgers for what they are. The AKC > > dog pound is filled with excrement this time of year and the hounds > > become overwrought with desire. Much as I would like to take them out > > for exercise, I will be absent from the group for a short time. The > > reason is that I am undergoing elective surgery. I will have certain > > male organs removed and reconstructed to better suit my lifestyle.
> > When I return I will appear with a new addy that is more appropriate > > such as "Ms.Twist" or "MissyTwistedhed". I will also be posting pics > > on WWW.TIMNEBO.COM to show off my new persona and these galleries will > > be available to those with ADULT CHECK GOLD. Gender-changing has been > > a lifelong dream of mine and those of you who are not tolerant are not > > welcome to comment. (Dogie, AA, Sparky this means you) Suffice to say
> > "if you ain't tried it don't knock it". Please keep your opinions to > > yourself. I will also continue to freeband and make friends on 27.555
> > and above despite the wishes of certain hammies who have comprehension > > problems (Lelnad being chief among them). I look forward to seeing you > > all in a new light upon my return"
>
>

5467. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 02:57:03 UTC
From: "Keith R. Williams" <krw@attglobal.net> Message-ID: <MPG.1690638c86a46750989871@enews.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28465
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In article <3C23BE93.B40B0CEE@gte.net>, 2121d@gte.net says...

> In my state there is one exemption to having a pistol on > you in public (without a license, that is). And that is that > your employer requires to have it. It is allowed for businesses > to have armed staff who deposit money, no carry permit > required.

As long as we're talking about state's laws, The differ wildly.

Here, there aren't any carry laws for law-abiding citizens.
There aren't any licences either, which is a double-edged sword.
I can carry anywhere in the state (other than the obvious places
- schools, courthouses...) no license required. OTOH, I can't get any benefit from reciprocal agreements either, since I have no permit. ..concealed or not.

Keith

5468. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 03:10:44 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C269C8C.EEEB054@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28462

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > You are the who pointed out that the guy gets lost. Maybe it'd be > > easier for him to ride in or follow the other vehicle....unless the > > other guys make him bring up the rear.
>
> The beauty of ham radio is that there needs be no meeting place or > meeting time or even a campsite picked out. Everyone gets on a > mountaintop repeater and decides where to camp out. Some of the > Phoenix area mountaintop repeaters cover 1000 square miles.
>
> > You forget a couple of things. I didn't get into amateur radio to keep > > in touch with camping buddies.
>
> Did you get into amateur radio for the purpose of harassing Kim?

You're more dense than usual. a) I don't even talk with Kim on the air.
b) My opinion of her callsign does not take the form of harrassment.
c) I was a radio amateur for over 30 years before Kim arrived on the scene. She's a mere bimbette-come-lately.

> > As far as Osama: It is someone else's watch now. I'm retired.
>
> If you are omniscient, it is a capital offense for you to retire.
If I am omniscient, you'll understand if I tell you that you are again wrong.

Dave K8MN

5469. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 03:17:19 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C269E17.FDDB83AA@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28463

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I'm content to draw attention to the FCC's about face. In the past, the > > Commission would not and did not issue such calls.
>
> Aha, so the FCC is to blame. That's what I have been saying all along.
> It is the FCC's responsibility to recall Kim's callsign if necessary.
> Otherwise, the FCC has given its tacit approval and sided with Kim > against you and your United Uppity Prudes of the ARS.

The FCC did not choose Kim's callsign. Kim did that and she did it deliberately to get the nudge, wink reaction.

Is it your opinion that anyone with a sense of propriety is an uppity prude?

Dave K8MN

5470. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 03:18:26 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C269E58.3B516BFF@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28464

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> > >
> > > How many times?
> >
> > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
>
> The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws. How > many times can you ring someone's doorbell before being arrested?

Another irrelevant quest, Don Q. Give it a shot and get back to us.
Since I'm not ringing doorbells but stating my views, stow the doorbell jazz.

Dave K8MN

5471. Re: On "Vacation"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 03:34:31 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <bnxV7.308689$W8.11236295@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28466
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.pirate.radio,rec.radio.swap

Did not notice the source. Sorry 'bout that Chief.

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message
news:20011223221330.865$IT@newsreader.com...
> "Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net> wrote:
> > Forge. If it doesn't have the webtv signature
> > in the properties, it's a forge.
> >
> > Landshark
> >
> > --
> > Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All
> >
> > "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
> > news:lYvV7.308654$W8.11228948@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > > Assuming, of course, that this is not itself a forgery, best of luck
to
> > > you.
> > >
> > > You will pardon a bad play on words but it takes balls to do something > > > about a problem few, including this writer, have a clue about let alone
> > > understand.
> > >
> > > Dick N[illegible]BK
> > >
> >
> Any jackass who responds to these google forges,won't except advice.
> I've killfiled it,by domain.
>
> Of course you'll never see this,you've killfiled me..lol>
> Carry on soldier.
> >
> > > "Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message > > > news:e9de0154.0112231615.25450bec@posting.google.com...
> > > > "Thanks to you to Scott, Landshark and Sideband for policing the NG
> > > > and exposing the cowardly no-code forgers for what they are. The AKC > > > > dog pound is filled with excrement this time of year and the hounds > > > > become overwrought with desire. Much as I would like to take them

out
> > > > for exercise, I will be absent from the group for a short time.
The > > > > reason is that I am undergoing elective surgery. I will have certain
> > > > male organs removed and reconstructed to better suit my lifestyle.
> > > > When I return I will appear with a new addy that is more appropriate > > > > such as "Ms.Twist" or "MissyTwistedhed". I will also be posting pics
> > > > on WWW.TIMNEBO.COM to show off my new persona and these galleries > > > > will be available to those with ADULT CHECK GOLD. Gender-changing has > > > > been a lifelong dream of mine and those of you who are not tolerant > > > > are not welcome to comment. (Dogie, AA, Sparky this means you) > > > > Suffice to say "if you ain't tried it don't knock it". Please keep > > > > your opinions to yourself. I will also continue to freeband and make > > > > friends on 27.555 and above despite the wishes of certain hammies
who > > > > have comprehension problems (Lelnad being chief among them). I look > > > > forward to seeing you all in a new light upon my return"
> > >
> > >
>
> --
> ~Moparholic~

5472. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 03:51:23 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C269932.EDC9FF8C@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28469

CAM wrote:

> K0HB wrote:
> > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
>
> How many times?

As many times as it takes to convince her and you.

5473. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 03:52:54 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <BF9A4B9886B5806C.A8505456F572616C.8D597DE35B7791BE@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28470

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 21:57:47 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Naw Rick, that simply doesn't wash. Kim's own comments directed at >those who object to her choice show her to be giving at least as much as >she gets. There isn't a time limit on quantity limit on First Amendment >rights. This is a plain old electonic bulletin board. I'm free to post >here numerous times daily.

Only if your ISP agreement states that. The First Amendment
(or any OTHER Constitutional protection) does NOT apply to the private sector (which your access to the Inet is), only to those areas governed by the federal government.

>I'm offended by her call. I don't need to produce a potential ham.
>We have several others here who are offended.

You have stated your perspective. That's reasonable. But continuing to do so isn't a question of voicing opinion, it's one of harassing someone.

>> Mine are quite consistent--and so are Cecil's for that matter.
>
>At last reading, you guys couldn't even agree on what makes a >libertarian.

No--we disagree on Libertarian party philosophy. We agree on what a "libertarian" is--we simply don't agree on what a party which identifies itself as "Libertarian" should have as a platform. That's no more the same thing than stating you believe in democratic principles means you have to agree with the Democratic Party platform.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5474. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 03:54:26 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <1BD715196E60722E.6AF5952A7B043A51.70DA01405A34B8D2@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28471

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 21:59:07 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>> >> Has he been dismembering Larry Roll again?
>> >>
>> >> Rick
>> >
>> >If Cecil is still using his, perhaps you'd loan yours.
>>
>> Sorry Dave, I can't help you.
>>
>> I don't _have_ a Larry Roll to lend you.
>
>Just pass the jawbone, Samson.

Sorry Dave--but I have no intention of touching Larry Roll's Jawbone. I haven't had all my shots and I don't want to catch anything.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5475. Re: On "Vacation"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 04:01:29 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <tMxV7.308716$W8.11236176@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28472
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.pirate.radio,rec.radio.swap

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message news:20011223225848.154$el@newsreader.com...
> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote:
> > Did not notice the source. Sorry 'bout that Chief.
> >
> Nothing to be sorry about,glad to see I'm not in the Bozo flush...
>
> This is only a test... j/k
>
> --
> ~Moparholic~

You were for a while because I flushed Hotmail but relented. Now as for google, that will be seen to more or less immediately.

5476. Re: On "Vacation"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 04:05:00 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net>
Message-ID: <MPxV7.12842$y55.2746261601@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 28473
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.pirate.radio,rec.radio.swap

No problem Dick, no sorry needed, just pointing it out.

Landshark

--
Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:bnxV7.308689$W8.11236295@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> Did not notice the source. Sorry 'bout that Chief.
>
> <Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message
> news:20011223221330.865$IT@newsreader.com...
> > "Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net> wrote:
> > > Forge. If it doesn't have the webtv signature
> > > in the properties, it's a forge.
> > >
> > > Landshark
> > >
> > > --
> > > Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All
> > >
> > > "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message > > > news:IYvV7.308654$W8.11228948@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > > > Assuming, of course, that this is not itself a forgery, best of luck
> to
> > > > you.
> > > >
> > > > You will pardon a bad play on words but it takes balls to do > something > > > > about a problem few, including this writer, have a clue about let > alone
> > > > understand.
> > > >
> > > > Dick NBK
> > > >
> > >
> > > Any jackass who responds to these google forges,won't except advice.
> > > I've killfiled it,by domain.
> > >
> > > Of course you'll never see this,you've killfiled me..lol>
> > > Carry on soldier.

> > >
> > > > "Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message > > > > news:e9de0154.0112231615.25450bec@posting.google.com...
> > > > > "Thanks to you to Scott, Landshark and Sideband for policing the > NG
> > > > > and exposing the cowardly no-code forgers for what they are. The > AKC > > > > > dog pound is filled with excrement this time of year and the > hounds > > > > > become overwrought with desire. Much as I would like to take them
> out
> > > > > for exercise, I will be absent from the group for a short time.
> The > > > > > reason is that I am undergoing elective surgery. I will have > certain
> > > > > male organs removed and reconstructed to better suit my lifestyle.
> > > > > When I return I will appear with a new addy that is more > appropriate > > > > > such as "Ms.Twist" or "MissyTwistedhed". I will also be posting
> pics
> > > > > on WWW.TIMNEBO.COM to show off my new persona and these galleries > > > > > will be available to those with ADULT CHECK GOLD. Gender-changing
> has > > > > > been a lifelong dream of mine and those of you who are not > tolerant
> > > > > are not welcome to comment. (Dogie, AA, Sparky this means you) > > > > > Suffice to say "if you ain't tried it don't knock it". Please keep > > > > > your opinions to yourself. I will also continue to freeband and > make > > > > > friends on 27.555 and above despite the wishes of certain hammies
> who > > > > > have comprehension problems (Lelnad being chief among them). I > look > > > > > forward to seeing you all in a new light upon my return"
> > > >
> > > >
> > >
> > --
> > ~Moparholic~
>
>

5477. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 04:09:19 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <1B35FEF7C45D7689.D1AA7460DBF360A7.8459FEAF5758DF49@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28474

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 22:09:09 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Then I suggest you make a test case of it. See if you can get Earthlink >to drop me as a customer based on my statements here regarding Kim's >trashy callsign.

>I disagree with you regarding your silly talk of harrassment. Make an >issue of it with Earthlink if you like.

>You are quite wrong again. Firstly, I have serious doubts as to whether >Earthlink will drop me as a paying customer because of my expression of >my views.

From the Earthlink Acceptable Use Policy:

Your violation of this AUP may result in the suspension or termination of either your access to the Services and/or your EarthLink account or other actions as detailed in Section 3. This AUP should be read in conjunction with our Internet Service Agreement and other policies.

. . .

d. Harassment. Using the Services to transmit any material (by email, uploading, posting, or otherwise) that harasses another.

. . .

m. News. EarthLink Members should use their best judgment when posting to any newsgroup. Many groups have charters, published guidelines, FAQs, or "community standards" describing what is and is not considered appropriate. Usenet can be a valuable resource if used properly. The continued posting of off-topic articles is prohibited.
... Please familiarize yourself with basic Usenet netiquette before posting to a newsgroup.

Because the discussion of Kim's call sign is clearly NOT within the scope of the charter for this group (it has nothing to do with Amateur Radio Policy at all) and because it CLEARLY harasses another member of the news group (Kim), it is in violation of at least TWO of the TOS of your isp. Obviously, you don't consider it appropriate to live up to your contractual obligations to Earthlink, which tells us a lot about your REAL morality.

> Secondly, I can stand on the street corner expressing those >views if I can interest anyone in the topic. Thirdly, I can write >letters to magazines regarding my views. Fourthly, I can make those >views known on the air.

All true. NONE of those locations are private in nature, and therefore are subject to the protections of the First Amendment. On the other hand, if you choose to stand on a street corner stating that someone is immoral and has no self-respect (as you have done with Kim), then by necessity you leave yourself open to defamation of character suits--the "protection" against abuse of your First Amendment rights.

>Prove it, Rick! I've uttered no vile rants. I've expressed my opinion.
>That you don't like it is too bad.

No, you have harassed and insulted another user of this newsgroup because you disagree with her choices. That goes WELL beyond "expressing an opinion" and becomes pure harassment to any intelligent person.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5478. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 04:18:58 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <S0yV7.308732$W8.11240246@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28475

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:1B35FEF7C45D7689.D1AA7460DBF360A7.8459FEAF5758DF49@lp.airnews.net...
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 22:09:09 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Then I suggest you make a test case of it. See if you can get Earthlink
> >to drop me as a customer based on my statements here regarding Kim's > >trashy callsign.
>
> >I disagree with you regarding your silly talk of harrassment. Make an > >issue of it with Earthlink if you like.
>
> >You are quite wrong again. Firstly, I have serious doubts as to whether > >Earthlink will drop me as a paying customer because of my expression of > >my views.
>
> From the Earthlink Acceptable Use Policy:
>
> Your violation of this AUP may result in the suspension or termination > of either your access to the Services and/or your EarthLink account or > other actions as detailed in Section 3. This AUP should be read in > conjunction with our Internet Service Agreement and other policies.
>
> . . .
>
> d. Harassment. Using the Services to transmit any material (by email, > uploading, posting, or otherwise) that harasses another.
>
> . . .
>
> m. News. EarthLink Members should use their best judgment when posting > to any newsgroup. Many groups have charters, published guidelines, > FAQs, or "community standards" describing what is and is not > considered appropriate. Usenet can be a valuable resource if used > properly. The continued posting of off-topic articles is prohibited.
> ... Please familiarize yourself with basic Usenet netiquette before > posting to a newsgroup.
>
> Because the discussion of Kim's call sign is clearly NOT > within the scope of the charter for this group (it has nothing to do > with Amateur Radio Policy at all) and because it CLEARLY harasses
> another member of the news group (Kim), it is in violation of at least

> TWO of the TOS of your isp. Obviously, you don't consider it > appropriate to live up to your contractual obligations to Earthlink, > which tells us a lot about your REAL morality.
>
> > Secondly, I can stand on the street corner expressing those > >views if I can interest anyone in the topic. Thirdly, I can write > >letters to magazines regarding my views. Fourthly, I can make those > >views known on the air.
>
> All true. NONE of those locations are private in nature, and > therefore are subject to the protections of the First Amendment. On > the other hand, if you choose to stand on a street corner stating that > someone is immoral and has no self-respect (as you have done with > Kim), then by necessity you leave yourself open to defamation of > character suits--the "protection" against abuse of your First > Amendment rights.
>
> >Prove it, Rick! I've uttered no vile rants. I've expressed my opinion.
> >That you don't like it is too bad.
>
> No, you have harassed and insulted another user of this > newsgroup because you disagree with her choices. That goes WELL beyond > "expressing an opinion" and becomes pure harassment to any intelligent > person.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>

With all due respect Rick this is why killfiles were invented. If harassment it be as opposed to two people making prime fools of themselves
it is easily cured.

If my experience is indicative, getting kicked off Earthlink would be a favor -- kind of like throwing Brer Rabbit into the briar patch.

Dick NBK

5479. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 04:25:28 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C26A12A.4CAD2772@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28476
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

N9NWO wrote:

> : Life is risk, and ALL jobs require a certain level of risk acceptance to
> : perform. Miners must risk their lives to perform their jobs.....they know
> : the hazards and the rate of death in their industry, yet they accept that
> : and continue to work.
> :
> : You're just pissed, again, because people aren't buying into your "I'm
> : superior to you because I'm military" crap.
> :
> : What I find really interesting is how on one hand you claim you have to
> risk
> : your life as part of your job, then on the other gripe because "the
> yuppies"
> : send you out on missions that risk your life.
> :
> : If risk is in your job description (and I would like to see you document
> : that), then quit bitching when you are asked to risk your life in the > : performance of your job.
>
> Give you a little choice in this matter.
>
> We can continue down the path we are going.
> We now have a mercenary military, police and
> fire force in this country that is divorced from the > people. They see themselves as more superior,
> a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
> Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
> time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
> A bunch of sheeple.
>
> The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
> and gang bangers too, they cry.
>
> Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million > men. We will do as we do with the military and > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.

> Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
> in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
> are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
> community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen > to cell phones). And you do not think people with > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
> to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
> the gang bangers?
>
> You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
> amendment but is having 75% of your income
> taken any different? Because that is what it is > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
>
> The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
> that the police, the military and fire protection be a > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was > that the public be involved, not in service but in the > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
>
> What do we have today? An American people who > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
> the government to make their decisions, others to be > their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers
> in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the > word (and the money) from congress.
>
> So what is the choice? An elite government, protected
> by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?

I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying. Contacts in the military are saying that units have been training for domestic operations for some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge mistake, but one that could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big a mistake as Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few dollars. If it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated and will be given away without the givers even knowing what they give.

5480. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 04:39:57 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C26A490.37024A6C@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28477

Richard Plourde wrote:

> Dick Carroll wrote
>
> > What a maroon.
>
> Ah, Carroll, That is a racist statement. Do you know what a maroon is????

Yep, I know what a maroon is. I used the word so according to Cecil I get to define it. A maroon is a moron, as defined in spelling bucthery by Buddy Masa, another very green young fella who used to post here.

The rest of your diatribe is not in any way applicible but is certainly characteistic of you.

5481. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 04:43:15 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C26A557.9426AC06@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28478

Richard Plourde wrote:

>
> Wrong, Carol, her call sign has absolutely nothing to do with the idiots on > 3950 and 14313. Try to come up with an argument that's, at least, plausable.

As it happens, Riley Hollingsworth believes it, and I take his opinion over yours anytime. (No, he didn't specifically state that but if you would pay a little attention you'd know that he made almost identical statements concerning her choice of callsign and the noted idiot activity on the air). Close enough.

5482. Re: BARF Christmas Message

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 04:53:24 UTC
From: fisherville1@excite.com Message-ID: <688a8779.0112232053.75dae387@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28479
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

I am overjoyed at the tidings of great joy.
The worlds greatest Amateur radio personality, station operator and electronic genius, KV4FZ is giving his annual Christmas message of good will , and peace on earth.. Please send later information about frequencies..

And to all my good friends in the Better Amateur Radio Federation (BARF). Have a very Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year, Enjoy the season , You have earned it !!!!

Seasons Greetings

LORO

"BARF HQ" <BARFHQ@KV4FZourHERO.org> wrote in message news:<a05g37$q33$0@dosa.alt.net>...
> IMPORTANT BARF News Release
>
> BARF HQ proudly announces Herb, KV4FZ, will give > his annual BARF Christmas message of good will to all > hams. MOST Important, Herb will be announcing the > glorious date he will be returning to ham radio. Looks like > the Goodfellows will be very upset, so watch for frequencies
> and times to be announced. HAIL HERB!

5483. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 04:59:03 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26B617.C97628AA@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28480

Dave Heil wrote:
> b) My opinion of her callsign does not take the form of harrassment.

It does when it is repeated incessantly. If I were Kim, I would complain about your harassment to your ISP.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5484. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:03:42 UTC
From: Dave VanHorn <dvanhorn@cedar.net>
Message-ID: <OGyV7.26489$Z03.14653686@news1.rdc1.mi.home.com>
Source record: 28481
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message
news:20011223230136.279$Gl@newsreader.com...
> "Dave VanHorn" <dvanhorn@cedar.net> wrote:
> > I thought 20M was abnormally quiet lately..
> >
> Dave,if you're gonna talk about 20,please snip the cross post to > rec.radio.cb .
>
> Thank You.

I wasn't aware that they considered anything out of band.

--
Dave's Engineering Page: http://www.dvanhorn.org

Got a need to read Bar codes? http://www.barcodechip.com
Bi-directional read of UPC-A, UPC-E, EAN-8, EAN-13, JAN, and Bookland, with two or five digit supplemental codes, in an 8 pin chip, with NO external parts.

5485. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:04:11 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <fHyV7.238816$3d2.11554105@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28482

> Richard Plourde wrote:

> > Wrong, Carol, her call sign has absolutely nothing to do with the idiots
on > > 3950 and 14313. Try to come up with an argument that's, at least, plausable.

Dick Carroll wrote

> As it happens, Riley Hollingsworth believes it, and I take his opinion over > yours anytime. (No, he didn't specifically state that but if you would pay a > little attention you'd know that he made almost identical statements concerning > her choice of callsign and the noted idiot activity on the air). Close enough.

Of course he didn't specifically state that...

I've never seen his statements, but if they're almost identical then he lacks imagination and a sense of awareness.

Close enough for what??? Government work??? You should know about that...

Last thing you should do, Dick, is hang your reputation on a bureaucrat.

Rich

5486. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:05:22 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26B792.2704F139@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28484

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> Richard Plourde wrote:
> > Ah, Carroll, That is a racist statement. Do you know what a maroon is????
>
> Yep, I know what a maroon is. I used the word so according to Cecil I get to > define it. A maroon is a moron, ...

Dick, you get to choose a definition from the dictionary. That definition is not in the dictionary. You lose.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5487. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:05:50 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C26AAA2.50020AA@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28483

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Yes, Kim's callsign is vulgar.
>
> How many times must a doorbell be rung before it is harassment?
> How many times must you make the above statement before it is > harassment?

You might as well get used to the fact that it is vulgar. Your denying it doesn't make any difference whatever. Riley says it places the ARS one step closer to extinction, which is what he also said about the vulgar idiots on 3050 etc. And of course he's right
If you don't like it, hey, that's life. I don't like her chosen callsign.

5488. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:08:04 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C26AB29.6C42DD94@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28485

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I know it is how you'd describe it. That's how you DID describe it.
> > The only difficulty I have with it is that it simply isn't true.
>
> What you are doing is harassment, pure and simple. How many times
> can you ring a doorbell before someone calls the cops?

I hate to keep repeating myself, but you really ARE an idiot. No one forces her to read anything posted here.

5489. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:08:55 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C26AB5D.958352EF@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28486

Richard McCollum wrote:

> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
> news:4qsV7.194822$WW.11289029@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote
> >
> > > Richard Plourde wrote:
> >
> > > > Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a > moron is > > > > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is.
> >
> > > > Blow a couple of bucks at Blockbuster and rent a couple of Bugs Bunny > > > > cartoons.
> >
> > Maybe you do have a sense of humor...
> >
> > Rich
> >
> > maroon is still racist...
>
> The University of Chicago football teams were racist?

Dippy Dick Plourde hasn't a hint of a clue.

5490. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:13:30 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26B97A.BD9182F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28487

Dave Heil wrote:
> Is it your opinion that anyone with a sense of propriety is an uppity
> prude?

From Webster's: "uppity - haughty, snobbish" "prude - a person who is excessively proper" So, according to Webster's, you have a snobbish excessive sense of propriety. That describes your attitude very well. Here's another word to describe what you are doing: "harass - to trouble by repeated attacks"
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5491. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:16:02 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26BA12.FEF07EC0@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28488

K0HB wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
>
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
> >
> > The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws.
>
> If you think I've exceeded the limit of time I'm allowed to say
> "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign.", take me to court.

> "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign." ...

"harass - to trouble by repeated attacks"
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5492. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:20:48 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26BB30.B953CFE3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28489

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > K0HB wrote:
> > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> > >
> > How many times?
>
> As many times as it takes to convince her and you.

I will never be convinced. Kim will probably never be convinced. W5TIT is a valid callsign issued by the FCC. Would the FCC issue a trashy callsign? If so, it's the FCC's fault. Webster's even proves that W5TIT is not trashy. "trashy - inferior in quality; useless or worthless" Kim's callsign is worth as much as any other callsign.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5493. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:24:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26BC0A.4C4D6C18@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28490

```
Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > Yes, Kim's callsign is vulgar.
> >
> > How many times must a doorbell be rung before it is harassment?
> > How many times must you make the above statement before it is > > harassment?
>
> You might as well get used to the fact that it is vulgar.

Vulgar or not, what you guys are doing meets the definition of harassment. Harassment is worse than vulgar.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5494. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:25:01 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a06e6i01p0m@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28493

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:OmtV7.194874$WW.11294656@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > The University of Chicago football teams were racist?
>
> No, Richard, the team members were not neccessarily racists. Whoever started > calling the team members maroons may very have been the racists.

That depends on if they intended the term to be racist when they started using it.

> maroon - a fugitive Negro slave of the West Indies and Guiana in the 17th > and 18th centuries; also: a descendant of such a slave.
>
> There're a many details in our heritage which lose their luster in the light > of day.

Only if you let it get to you.

5495. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:26:45 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C26BC95.7474AEEB@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28491

```
Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > I know it is how you'd describe it. That's how you DID describe it.
> > > The only difficulty I have with it is that it simply isn't true.
> >
> > What you are doing is harassment, pure and simple. How many times > > can you ring a doorbell before someone calls the cops?
>
> I hate to keep repeating myself, but you really ARE an idiot. No one > forces her to read anything posted here.

Be that as it may, what you guys are doing meets the definition of harassment and no doubt violates the rules and standards of your ISPs.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5496. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 05:31:51 UTC
From: Dave VanHorn <dvanhorn@cedar.net>
Message-ID: <b5zV7.26492$Z03.14676736@news1.rdc1.mi.home.com>
Source record: 28492
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

> > > >
> > > Dave,if you're gonna talk about 20,please snip the cross post to > > > rec.radio.cb .
> > >
> > > Thank You.
> >
> > I wasn't aware that they considered anything out of band.
> >
> Was this a lame attempt at humor,or are you stupid?
>
> --
> ~Moparholic~

There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, Than are dreamt of in your philosophy.

--
Dave's Engineering Page: http://www.dvanhorn.org

Got a need to read Bar codes? http://www.barcodechip.com
Bi-directional read of UPC-A, UPC-E, EAN-8, EAN-13, JAN, and Bookland, with two or five digit supplemental codes, in an 8 pin chip, with NO external parts.

5497. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 06:29:26 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a06i05$ka5$4@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28494
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <2121d@gte.net> wrote:
>>
>> In my opinion, it is elitist attitudes like yours that are part of
>> the problems we face in this country.

> Sorry, I am only showing what the attitudes
> are among the educated elite in this country.

No, you are only showing how you and your acquaintances feel.

I would qualify as one of the "educated elite". Yes, I am active in politics and with the local police/fire departments. I am also fairly well educated. It is funny that none of the people I know ever display the attitude you exhibit. Either they hide it well or you are an aberation.

> Politicians see themselves as extremely valuable > to society. And they have the authority and power > to enforce that belief. They use the police as > their muscle to enforce their will on the public.

Many politicians enjoy the power, I agree about that. Most of them actually believe that they are doing the ordinary citizen a favor by passing more and more restrictive laws.

They have no "authority and power" to enforce the laws. All they can do is provide the funds and hope the appropriate agencies use it as they intend.

> Doctors see themselves as more valuable than > most working class (blue collar) individuals. So > do many college professors.

Yes, some doctors feel that way. But that is slowly changing as more and more people realize that doctors are not infallable. It has been a pleasure for me to see people starting to demand that they be allowed an active role in deciding what will be done to solve a medical problem. A doctor IS more valuable, when it comes to medical matters - but not so when it comes to areas outside the medical profession.

I don't know a lot of college professors, but have never felt that they have treated me as inferior in what associations I have had with them. Again, if it comes to knowledge about their area of specialization, then they are certainly more valuable as sources of information. But put a physical education professor in with a group of physicists, and the physical ed professor is going to feel inadequate and out of place.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5498. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 06:37:21 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a06if0$ka5$5@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28495
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote:

> : Ah, but different agencies can coordinate - as long as the radios
> : are all in the same band. Such system interoperability is trivial
> : to set up.

> In the "heat of battle", it is too late. What happens
> now is that each patrol area or agency vehicles can > monitor each other via scanners. If things are encrypted,
> it would mean that dispatch would have to move everyone
> to a common talk group which would take time.

It is obvious that you don't know much about trunking systems. All that is required is that the people switch to the interagency channel.
That is a simple turn of a knob or flipping of a switch.

On some systems, the dispatcher CAN move everyone - which takes a few seconds. But it is unnecessary on a properly set up trunking system.

> Give you an example. I was talking over lunch with a > sheriff's deputy who transfers prisoners from the jail to > the court house. He has the sheriff's talk groups but does > not have the baliff's nor the downtown police talk groups.
> If he were to have a prisoner escape, he would have to > co-ordinate everything via dispatch. It may take several > minutes to inform everyone. Some may be totally out of > the loop and even have the escaped prisoner go right by > them. Scanners help in such cases to keep everyone informed.

All that shows is an inadequately designed talkgroup design.
It is not a fault of the system - it is the fault of whomever assigned the talk groups.

> : What is wrong with digital trunking? From my experience, it has > : worked out quite well. A much larger number of communications are > : carried out on the same number of repeaters, and you don't have
> : to listen on a channel before transmitting to make sure it is
> : clear.

> Read http://www.strongsignals.net on a regular > basis. Much of the digital systems are not working > well. Now they think that the NYC FD digital > radios may not have worked thus not informing
> the fire fighters to leave the WTC in time.

The WTC firefighters would not have received any warning. No one expected such a catastrophic collapse, or for it to happen so quickly. Even if they had, many of the firefighters would have gone in anyway - to get as many out as possible.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5499. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 06:40:02 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a06ik1$ka5$6@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28496
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote:
> :
> : With a trunking system - there is no need for different agencies
> : to be on the same talk groups - except for the designed interagency
> : groups. Those interagency groups are meant for use when such
> : coordinated operation is desired.

> And if everything is encrypted then one can not > monitor other agencies. Many LEOs have scanners
> in their vehicles.

The LEOs would not need the scanners, if their trunking system were set up correctly.

The only people who would not be able to listen would be anyone outside the police/fire etc departments that were not programmed with the proper decryption codes.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5500. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 06:42:55 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a06ipf$ka5$7@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28497
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote:
> :
> : Digital encoding all by itself stops most people from receiving
> : the communications. There already exists the capability to encode
> : analog communications so that the public cannot monitor traffic,
> : if desired.
> :
> : Some police forces might wish to keep the public ignorant. But
> : with the use of MDTs becoming more and more common, there isn't
> : much spoken over the radios that would be of concern - except
> : for special ops communications, which are already scrambled.

> And look at how pissed everyone got when > Bill Cheek broke the Motorola encoding for > their MDT's! Just because the NYC PD
> department had a bunch of cops using the > MDT's to pass their off color jokes about
> women and minorities.

Which is one of the reasons why police etc should not be allowed to encrypt routine traffic. Whether they should be allowed to do so with MDTs is another matter.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5501. Merry Christmas from the B.A.R.F. !

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 06:50:54 UTC
From: The Better Amateur Radio Federation <lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm>
Message-ID: <acd51342bd2a1cfb722e90c906c5b88c@spamfreenews.com>
Source record: 28498
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

As Chief of Communications, I would like to wish everyone here a Happy Holidays!

--
Lloyd Davies, N0VFP
Chief of Communications
The Better Amateur Radio Federation
Ham radio for Straight, White, Americans!
http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61

5502. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 11:23:03 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C270FD0.11D285BE@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28499

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 21:57:47 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Naw Rick, that simply doesn't wash. Kim's own comments directed at > >those who object to her choice show her to be giving at least as much as > >she gets. There isn't a time limit on quantity limit on First Amendment > >rights. This is a plain old electonic bulletin board. I'm free to post > >here numerous times daily.
>
> Only if your ISP agreement states that. The First Amendment
> (or any OTHER Constitutional protection) does NOT apply to the private > sector (which your access to the Inet is), only to those areas > governed by the federal government.

Feel free to attempt to make an issue with it to Earthlink. See if they share your views.

> >I'm offended by her call. I don't need to produce a potential ham.
> >We have several others here who are offended.
>
> You have stated your perspective. That's reasonable. But > continuing to do so isn't a question of voicing opinion, it's one of > harassing someone.

That's simply not true. If your statement was correct, your continued posting of information to the effect that I am harrassing Kim would have to be viewed as harrassment. After all, you've already stated your perspective.

> >> Mine are quite consistent--and so are Cecil's for that matter.
> >
> >At last reading, you guys couldn't even agree on what makes a > >libertarian.
>
> No--we disagree on Libertarian party philosophy. We agree on > what a "libertarian" is--we simply don't agree on what a party which > identifies itself as "Libertarian" should have as a platform. That's > no more the same thing than stating you believe in democratic > principles means you have to agree with the Democratic Party platform.

You started out disagreeing on Libertarian Party philosophy. Things went down hill from there.

Dave K8MN

5503. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 11:30:58 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2711A9.1B0925EA@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28500

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 22:09:09 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Then I suggest you make a test case of it. See if you can get Earthlink > >to drop me as a customer based on my statements here regarding Kim's > >trashy callsign.
>
> >I disagree with you regarding your silly talk of harrassment. Make an > >issue of it with Earthlink if you like.
>
> >You are quite wrong again. Firstly, I have serious doubts as to whether > >Earthlink will drop me as a paying customer because of my expression of > >my views.
>
> From the Earthlink Acceptable Use Policy:
>
> Your violation of this AUP may result in the suspension or termination > of either your access to the Services and/or your EarthLink account or > other actions as detailed in Section 3. This AUP should be read in > conjunction with our Internet Service Agreement and other policies.
>
> . . .
>
> d. Harassment. Using the Services to transmit any material (by email, > uploading, posting, or otherwise) that harasses another.
>
> . . .
>
> m. News. EarthLink Members should use their best judgment when posting > to any newsgroup. Many groups have charters, published guidelines, > FAQs, or "community standards" describing what is and is not > considered appropriate. Usenet can be a valuable resource if used > properly. The continued posting of off-topic articles is prohibited.
> ... Please familiarize yourself with basic Usenet netiquette before > posting to a newsgroup.

That is simply your interpretation. If you feel strongly, make an issue of it with Earthlink.

> Because the discussion of Kim's call sign is clearly NOT > within the scope of the charter for this group (it has nothing to do > with Amateur Radio Policy at all) and because it CLEARLY harasses
> another member of the news group (Kim), it is in violation of at least

> TWO of the TOS of your isp. Obviously, you don't consider it > appropriate to live up to your contractual obligations to Earthlink, > which tells us a lot about your REAL morality.

Your idiotic claim (as if capital letters make something true) that it is "CLEARLY" harrassment is absurd on its face. That you would attempt to stifle another's First Amendment rights shows us that your committment to libertarianism is only thin veneer.

> > Secondly, I can stand on the street corner expressing those > >views if I can interest anyone in the topic. Thirdly, I can write > >letters to magazines regarding my views. Fourthly, I can make those > >views known on the air.
>
> All true. NONE of those locations are private in nature, and > therefore are subject to the protections of the First Amendment. On > the other hand, if you choose to stand on a street corner stating that > someone is immoral and has no self-respect (as you have done with > Kim), then by necessity you leave yourself open to defamation of > character suits--the "protection" against abuse of your First > Amendment rights.

Excuse me? At which point did I state that Kim is immoral. Lacking taste in obtaining a trashy callsign is not the same as accusing one of being immoral. Get a life, Rick.

> >Prove it, Rick! I've uttered no vile rants. I've expressed my opinion.
> >That you don't like it is too bad.
>
> No, you have harassed and insulted another user of this > newsgroup because you disagree with her choices. That goes WELL beyond > "expressing an opinion" and becomes pure harassment to any intelligent > person.

No one receives immunity from insults, Rick. You yourself have often handed out insults which go well beyond expressing an opinion. You are stuck with a few empty claims.

Dave K8MN

5504. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 11:34:34 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C271281.4D8F695A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28601

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > b) My opinion of her callsign does not take the form of harrassment.
>
> It does when it is repeated incessantly. If I were Kim, I would > complain about your harassment to your ISP.

That is an empty statement. Then there are the facts that you aren't Kim and that, if you were Kim, Earthlink would ignore your complaint because of its invalidity. Other than that, feel free to continue with your rant.

Dave K8MN

5505. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 11:37:42 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C27133C.F81B893F@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28602

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Is it your opinion that anyone with a sense of propriety is an uppity
> > prude?
>
> From Webster's: "uppity - haughty, snobbish" "prude - a person who is > excessively proper" So, according to Webster's, you have a snobbish > excessive sense of propriety. That describes your attitude very well.
> Here's another word to describe what you are doing: "harass - to > trouble by repeated attacks"

You are pretty good at looking up words. Perhaps at some point during the new year, you'll be able to properly apply the meanings of some of the words you've looked up.

Dave K8MN

5506. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 11:38:29 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C27136B.268A9B19@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28603

CAM wrote:
>
> K0HB wrote:
> >
> > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
> > >
> > > The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws.
> >
> > If you think I've exceeded the limit of time I'm allowed to say
> > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign.", take me to court.
>
> > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign." ...
>
> "harass - to trouble by repeated attacks"

Work on being able to apply those definitions.

Dave K8MN

5507. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 11:39:49 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2713BB.457C4DEF@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28604

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dick Carroll wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > I know it is how you'd describe it. That's how you DID describe it.
> > > > The only difficulty I have with it is that it simply isn't true.
> > >
> > > What you are doing is harassment, pure and simple. How many times > > > can you ring a doorbell before someone calls the cops?
> >
> > I hate to keep repeating myself, but you really ARE an idiot. No one > > forces her to read anything posted here.
>
> Be that as it may, what you guys are doing meets the definition of > harassment and no doubt violates the rules and standards of your ISPs.

No much more so than what you do on this group each and every day.

Dave K8MN
```

5508. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 11:45:51 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2715b2_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 28605

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2658C4.8535D40E@IEEE.org...
> "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > He must have also lost the link to QRZ ... the upgrade made > > it into the FCC database (and the callbook servers) on Dec. 20.
>
> Merry Christmas
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Merry Christmas (or happy whatever holiday you observe) to all.

73,
- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- ------------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- ------------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCcVY5e+N6+q84HiEQJ+kQCfXOSJXyYUWgoXvMzcZPbKz0XzraYAoKvF
kn8FCHJpd8E2551vX9YAWHIN =0Vzq
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

5509. Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 11:51:41 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c271712_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 28606

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

Dear r.r.a.p.'ers,

In the spirit of the holiday season (whatever your religious persuasion), I'd like to take this opportunity to sincerely convey wishes for a happy holiday season and a prosperous new year to you, on behalf of both myself and the entire Board of Directors and membership of No Code International.

73,
- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- -----------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- -----------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCcWvpe+N6+q84HiEQKnVQCgjzqeBK1y00Cp7fId7/aLoBtzd1MAoNWU 9672hEYUS1DRg+UymIfAEQ4R
=poWe
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

5510. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 12:39:51 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <rmFV7.239124$3d2.11578204@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28607

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C26AB5D.958352EF@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Richard McCollum wrote:
>
> > "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
> > news:4qsV7.194822$WW.11289029@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote
> > >
> > > > Richard Plourde wrote:
> > >
> > > > > Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a > > moron is > > > > > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is.
> > >
> > > > Blow a couple of bucks at Blockbuster and rent a couple of Bugs Bunny
> > > > cartoons.
> > >
> > > Maybe you do have a sense of humor...
> > >
> > > Rich
> > >
> > > maroon is still racist...
> >
> > The University of Chicago football teams were racist?
>
> Dippy Dick Plourde hasn't a hint of a clue.
>

Next time you are marooned in a 'sports bar' or other cheap dive ask the resident dipstick to name the 12 members of the Big Ten. Give him a hint, three are in Illinois. The University of Chicago is a founding and still active member of the Western Conference although they haven't fielded an intercollegiate sports team since, I believe, 1937. Go Maroons!

The real purpose of the Big 10 can be illustrated by the active ingredient in De-Con or the blood thinner called something like cumanin. Warfarin is Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation etc. The object of the exercise is to roll up some centavos on research. Guess who has a good batch of stem cells ready for sale and one hell of a lobbyist given the ex-Governor is Tommy Thompson now HHS secretary replacing the ex-chancellor of the UW system. TT is an easy man to underestimate; don't!

So it is no accident that the first nuclear reactor was assembled in Amos Alonzo Stagg Stadium at the U of C. God, can you imagine doing that today??

I suspect that Bugs Bunny's 'What a Maroon' came right out of Mel Blanc for no better reason than it fit the occasion, kind of like Cucamonga on the Jack Benny show.

Dick N&#65533;BK

5511. Re: BARF Christmas Message

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 12:54:55 UTC
From: Big Al <Big_Al@hohohoho.com>
Message-ID: <a078i4dde0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28608
Cross-posted to:
alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

Look who has posted here. Stumpjumper nr 1 himself, W4FQF, King of the QRMers. Polly, you are still obsessed with Doc, Dan, & Porkbutt. Funny thing is, the three of them hardly ever give you a thought. And Riley knows you and Al still jam 3901. You can bet on it!

"loro1313" <fisherville1@excite.com> wrote in message
news:688a8779.0112232053.75dae387@posting.google.com...
> I am overjoyed at the tidings of great joy.
> The worlds greatest Amateur radio personality, station operator and > electronic genius, KV4FZ is giving his annual Christmas message of > good will , and peace on earth.. Please send later information about > frequencies..
>
> And to all my good friends in the Better Amateur Radio Federation > (BARF). Have a very Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year, Enjoy the > season , You have earned it !!!!
>
>
> Seasons Greetings
>
> LORO

5512. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:13:21 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a07dn3$oh4$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28619
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"SuckingDick SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in message news:d9f7b76c.0112231055.b2c4366@posting.google.com...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:<a04p67$l7u$0@dosa.alt.net>...
> > "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote
in > > message news:d9f7b76c.0112222046.5c2c6625@posting.google.com...
> > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:<a02dhn$1i6$0@pita.alt.net>...
> > > > "SD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com>
wrote
> > in
> > > > message news:d9f7b76c.0112210954.64cbefb7@posting.google.com...
> > > > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:<9vvhp3hkd5@pita.alt.net>...
> > > > > > "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
> > > > > > news:9vu93o01oba@enews2.newsguy.com...
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > "Woger Wussman" <W0GER@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > > > > > news:9vts89$f8j$0@pita.alt.net...
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > On Thu, 20 Dec 2001 17:38:44 -0500, Krell
<krell1215@yahoo.com>
> > wrote:
> > > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > > I've seen better trolls on pencils.
> > > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > > The Jack Daniels was that effective, eh?
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > My, my. Aren't we ignorant of pop culture.
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > FYI, I was referring to the troll dolls that were popular in
the > > 70s.
> > They
> > > > > > > > were those little things with the big eyes and different colored,
> > Don
> > King
> > > > > > > > style of hair. Smaller ones were often on the ends of pencils, or
> > on > > > > > > > keychains, or hanging from rearview mirors. They're still around,

> > but
> > > > not
> > > > as > > > > > > > popular as they once were. Although they did have a resurgence
in > > popularity
> > > > > > > about ten years ago.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > That anonymous COWARD is ignorant of everything. "Woger Wussman" aka > > Twatty
> > > > > > Campbell(Posts as Scott Campbell) should be familiar with the troll
> > doll,
> > > > > > since he was the initial model for them.
> > > > > >
> > > > > hit the bricks chuckie....you aren't wanted here.......
> > > >
> > > Fuck off, Dickhead, as the Stones sing "You can't always get what
you > > want."
> > >
> > >
> > > oh geez...what happened chuckie.....get kicked off the ham reflector > > > because you pissed in measure's corn flakes one too many times????
> >
> > Reflector, anonymous coward? So you're a ham radio newbie as well as an > > internet newbie. Oh, too bad, gay SD. Haven't been "kicked" anywhere,
you
> > ignorant dolt.
>
>
> me thinks

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!
How droll.....you and the concept of thinking....ROFLMAO!

5513. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:18:00 UTC
From: wa8ulx@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011224081800.24460.00001395@mb-fc.aol.com>
Source record: 28609

>In the spirit of the holiday season (whatever your >religious persuasion), I'd like to take this opportunity >to sincerely convey wishes for a happy holiday
>season and a prosperous new year to you, on behalf >of both myself and the entire Board of Directors and >membership of No Code International.
>
>73,
>- --
>Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse

TAKE YOUR USELESS GREETINGS AND STICK IT!!!!!!!!!!

5514. Re: Big Al sucks and swallows Omniscient

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:22:07 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a07dn5$oh4$2@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28620
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,alt.2600,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Big Al" <Big_Al@hohoho.com> wrote in message news:a05s1ioqd0@dosa.alt.net...

>[IKYABWAI]

Poor Big Al, he'll suck off his reatrded son John again this year as part of the Xmas eve family tradition. Then he'll get drunk and jam up and down the band again until Riley kicks him off the air for good this time. Then he can concentrate all his energies on manufacturing and distribution of kiddie porn. Big Al will prepare his Xmas dinner of a TV dinner and Abernathy supremes. Unlike Big Al, Woger can cook for himself, or can go out to eat because he has money and doesn't spend it on drugs and booze like Big Al.

I wonder if Steve Turdeater will snort cocaine and babble on the air this year again?

5515. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:23:54 UTC
From: Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not>
Message-ID: <3C272C5D.5B8E58A0@spam.me.not>
Source record: 28610
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Dunno, Brain, but I do appreciate the compliment.

Happy Holidays to you, too.

73 de SSB

Brainbuster wrote:
>
> Sideband <sideband@spam.me.not> wrote in message
> news:3C227B39.F203E090@spam.me.not...
> >
> > <snipped>
> > But you're right. I did go from CBer (which I ran sideband for a bit over > > 20 years, and ran professionally) to extra in 6 months, 1 week, and two > > days. Of course, I worked hard for nine years (I started drilling the code > > in '92) to overcome my dyslexia so I could pass the code requirement.
> ===
>
> Damn fine achievement for anyone.
> Very good of Mr. Middlefinger to explain to everyone what an intelligent > person you are. Has he become your friend, or is it just the "Christmas > spirit".
>
> Have a great Christmas.
>
> Brainbuster.
> ---

5516. Re: BARF Christmas Message

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:28:20 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a07dn8$oh4$4@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28621
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris

"Big Al" <Big_Al@hohohoho.com> wrote in message news:a078i4dde0@pita.alt.net...
> Look who has posted here. Stumpjumper nr 1 himself, > W4FQF, King of the QRMers. Polly, you are still > obsessed with Doc, Dan, & Porkbutt. Funny thing is,
> the three of them hardly ever give you a thought. And > Riley knows you and Al still jam 3901. You can bet on it!

Not to mention how you help jam unidentified, huh, fuckhead?

> "loro1313" <fisherville1@excite.com> wrote in message
> news:688a8779.0112232053.75dae387@posting.google.com...
> > I am overjoyed at the tidings of great joy.
> > The worlds greatest Amateur radio personality, station operator and > > electronic genius, KV4FZ is giving his annual Christmas message of > > good will , and peace on earth.. Please send later information about > > frequencies..
> >
> > And to all my good friends in the Better Amateur Radio Federation > > (BARF). Have a very Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year, Enjoy the > > season , You have earned it !!!!
> >
> >
> > Seasons Greetings
> >
> > LORO

5517. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:40:46 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C27305E.4E796F03@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28612

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > b) My opinion of her callsign does not take the form of harrassment.
> >
> > It does when it is repeated incessantly. If I were Kim, I would > > complain about your harassment to your ISP.
>
> That is an empty statement. Then there are the facts that you aren't > Kim and that, if you were Kim, Earthlink would ignore your complaint > because of its invalidity. Other than that, feel free to continue with > your rant.

It's obvious that you don't consider harassment to be a serious problem.
However, you are violating the agreement that you made with your ISP.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5518. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:42:05 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011224084205.08595.00001292@mb-fz.aol.com>
Source record: 28611

>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>From: "D. Stussy" kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org
>Date: 12/22/2001 5:38 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112222337350.18576-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>

>His name has nothing to do with it. His conviction for cellular phone >phreaking is the reason behind why he was found morally unfit.

The FCC has no business deciding who is "morally fit" to do ANYTHING. He did his time in the legal system.

The prosecutor himself has stated that he just doesn't like his "attitude"
and is doing what he can to further prevent Mitnik from retruning to society.

It's reasons like this that many people who might otherwise fit back in to society wind up dropping back into less-than-desireable conduct. They can't get past the past, not because they want to, but becuase idiots like the prosecutor don't want to let it go and let him get on with his life.

He screwed up, he know's it, he paid the price the courts put on him.

Time to tell the FCC and the courts to act like men, not sandlot whiners.

Steve, K4YZ

5519. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:46:29 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2731B5.1A3618D4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28613

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > K0HB wrote:
> > >
> > > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > >
> > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
> > > >
> > > > The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws.
> > >
> > > If you think I've exceeded the limit of time I'm allowed to say
> > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign.", take me to court.
> >
> > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign." ...
> >
> > "harass - to trouble by repeated attacks"
>
> Work on being able to apply those definitions.

OK, Kim is being repeatedly attacked on this newsgroup for her choice of a callsign legally issued by the FCC. That's harassment and you are violating the contract you signed with your ISP.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5520. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:54:32 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <ssGV7.239151$3d2.11582707@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28614

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C27305E.4E796F03@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > b) My opinion of her callsign does not take the form of harrassment.
> > >
> > > It does when it is repeated incessantly. If I were Kim, I would > > > complain about your harassment to your ISP.
> >
> > That is an empty statement. Then there are the facts that you aren't > > Kim and that, if you were Kim, Earthlink would ignore your complaint > > because of its invalidity. Other than that, feel free to continue
with > > your rant.
>
> It's obvious that you don't consider harassment to be a serious problem.
> However, you are violating the agreement that you made with your ISP.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

As noted to Rick, so long as killfiles exist and are really easy to do harassment has to be taken as voluntary so long as Dave does not go into phony mode to bypass the filters. This is pretty implicit in hanging out on Usenet. I have personally killfiled Kim and a few others as a total waste of my time but that is my decision; I have the alternative. Hell, I have killfiled entire domains like the public urinals where crud originates. Did wonders for my blood pressure.

Sounds like you are in Seabag Lawyer mode today, Cec.

Dick NBK

5521. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 13:59:47 UTC
From: "James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <gsce2ukpsvamtl7vq32rttmgpmktkk47j4@4ax.com>
Source record: 28615

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 23:20:48 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
wrote:

>Dick Carroll wrote:
>>
>> CAM wrote:
>>
>> > K0HB wrote:
>> > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
>> >
>> > How many times?
>>
>> As many times as it takes to convince her and you.
>
>I will never be convinced. Kim will probably never be >convinced. W5TIT is a valid callsign issued by the FCC.
>Would the FCC issue a trashy callsign? If so, it's the >FCC's fault. Webster's even proves that W5TIT is not >trashy. "trashy - inferior in quality; useless or >worthless" Kim's callsign is worth as much as any >other callsign.
If you all are going to continue to pick on Kim for picking
W5TIT, why don't you pick on Larry Bowling, W4TIT?
You do realize that there are other people out here that have callsigns with the letters "TIT" in them, but I guess you already know that, right.

Regards,

James

Note: To reply by email, remove the "X" in the reply to address.

5522. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 14:03:06 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <uAGV7.239157$3d2.11582568@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28616

> Richard Plourde wrote

> > No, Richard, the team members were not neccessarily racists.
> > Whoever started calling the team members maroons may very
> > have been the racists.

"Krell" wrote

> That depends on if they intended the term to be racist when they started > using it.

That's why I said "may"... but yep... you're right...
but... now that Cecil mentioned Texas A&M it makes me wonder.

> > maroon - a fugitive Negro slave of the West Indies and Guiana > > in the 17th and 18th centuries; also: a descendant of such a slave.

> > There're a many details in our heritage which lose their luster in the > > light of day.

> Only if you let it get to you.

What do you mean by that? Racism is only in the eye of the beholder?

Rich

5523. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 14:08:13 UTC
From: "James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <r9de2u0fm5iqaemed4qa4fnjeslitb88lh@4ax.com>
Source record: 28617

On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 03:17:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>CAM wrote:
>>
>> Dave Heil wrote:
>> > I'm content to draw attention to the FCC's about face. In the past, the >> > Commission would not and did not issue such calls.
>>
>> Aha, so the FCC is to blame. That's what I have been saying all along.
>> It is the FCC's responsibility to recall Kim's callsign if necessary.
>> Otherwise, the FCC has given its tacit approval and sided with Kim >> against you and your United Uppity Prudes of the ARS.
>
>The FCC did not choose Kim's callsign. Kim did that and she did it >deliberately to get the nudge, wink reaction.
>
>Is it your opinion that anyone with a sense of propriety is an uppity >prude?
>
>Dave K8MN
Why do you continue to badger Kim for her callsign, W5TIT?
If you dislike that callsign so much, why don't you pick on all the other hams that have callsigns with the letters, "TIT". With very little effort on your part you could locate them. Why not pick on Larry Bowling, W4TIT or is it because he is a man and Kim is a woman?

Hopefully this message will not be emailed to you, Dave. I need to find out how to change the default on Agent so that it does not email messages posted on usenet.
Regards,

James

Note: To reply by email, remove the "X" in the reply to address.

5524. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 14:14:16 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <YKGV7.239168$3d2.11583917@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28618

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote

> I suspect that Bugs Bunny's 'What a Maroon' came right out of Mel Blanc > for no better reason than it fit the occasion,

Probably true... but he's dead so we'll never know...
The only good racist is a ....well... ...never mind... ;-) > kind of like Cucamonga on > the Jack Benny show.

Or... Beach Boys Kokomo... which seems to have derived from Cucamonga... hmmm....

Rich

5525. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 14:26:59 UTC
From: Graham Broadbridge <grahamb@peachy.org>
Message-ID: <3c273b33$0$16782$afc38c87@news.optusnet.com.au>
Source record: 28622
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message
news:cfyU7.1231$Ya1.689971@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net...

> I suggest that you become familiar
> with the issues over APCO 25
> standards for digital trunked radio.
> The main purpose is to prevent private
> citizens from receiving ANY public > radio transmission. As I am a member > of APCO, I have had conversations with
> individuals who run public safety radio > systems. Their one big goal is to have > an digitally encrypted system that no one,
> not even the media, will be able to receive
> without their permission.

Indeed, this is how the police service in Sydney, Australia now operate.
It's (I believe) 512 bit encrypted with the key built into a smartcard assigned to each officer).
The officer must insert the key before being able to decode, and hear the transmissions. This was all put in place as part of the Sydney 2000 Olympic games to protect police service transmissions from being eavesdropped by potential terrorist groups.

It's only a small step from production use in Australia, to test usage in the United States.

Graham VK2YUI

>
> Read some of the articles at http://www.strongsignals.net
>
>
>

5526. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 14:37:12 UTC
From: Scout <scout@monumental.com>
Message-ID: <S2HV7.4042$0g.109298@iad-read.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28623
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C26A12A.4CAD2772@townsqr.com...
>
>
> N9NWO wrote:
>
> > : Life is risk, and ALL jobs require a certain level of risk acceptance
to > > : perform. Miners must risk their lives to perform their jobs.....they know
> > : the hazards and the rate of death in their industry, yet they accept
that
> > : and continue to work.
> > :
> > : You're just pissed, again, because people aren't buying into your "I'm
> > : superior to you because I'm military" crap.
> > :
> > : What I find really interesting is how on one hand you claim you have
to
> > risk
> > : your life as part of your job, then on the other gripe because "the
> > yuppies"
> > : send you out on missions that risk your life.
> > :
> > : If risk is in your job description (and I would like to see you document
> > : that), then quit bitching when you are asked to risk your life in the
> > : performance of your job.
> >
> > Give you a little choice in this matter.
> >
> > We can continue down the path we are going.
> > We now have a mercenary military, police and
> > fire force in this country that is divorced from the > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
> > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
> > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
> > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
> > A bunch of sheeple.
> >
> > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more

> > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
> > and gang bangers too, they cry.
> >
> > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million > > men. We will do as we do with the military and > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
> > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
> > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
> > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
> > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
> > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
> > the gang bangers?
> >
> > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
> > amendment but is having 75% of your income
> > taken any different? Because that is what it is > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
> >
> > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
> > that the police, the military and fire protection be a > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
> >
> > What do we have today? An American people who > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
> > the government to make their decisions, others to be > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the > > word (and the money) from congress.
> >
> > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
>
> I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying. Contacts in
the > military are saying that units have been training for domestic operations
for > some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge mistake, but one
that > could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big a mistake

as
> Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
> A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few dollars.
If
> it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated and will be > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.

Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that choice. To force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's good for them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer people want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need to determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve, and fix it.

5527. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:03:25 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011224100325.27168.00000587@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 28624

In article <rmFV7.239124$3d2.11578204@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> writes:

>I suspect that Bugs Bunny's 'What a Maroon' came right out of Mel Blanc >for no better reason than it fit the occasion, kind of like Cucamonga on >the Jack Benny show.
>
Si.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5528. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:03:25 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011224100325.27168.00000588@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 28625

In article <3C2657D5.8042C776@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>> Cecil, when you say "the idea presented by the PCTA folk", the English >> language implication is "all".
>
>You're right.

I know.

>I should have said some of the PCTA folk.

But you didn't. Coulda woulda shoulda.

>Please forgive me.

It is not my forgiveness that you need to seek.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5529. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:03:27 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011224100327.27168.00000589@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 28627

In article <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
writes:

>"Mark Pearsal" <radiohead11m@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011221222305.05517.00000145@mb-de.aol.com...
>> >We're talking about licensing requirements ... that's PURELY a >> >regulatory function. "Tradition" has NOTHING to do with >legitimate >> >regulatory goals ... it's not the FCC's job to preserve amateur
>> >"tradition" ... the FCC's job is to regulate the use of the >spectrum
>> >in the public interest. End of story.
>>
>> Perhaps, but you can now be licensed without having to show "Morse >> proficiency." The requirement of demonstrating a very traditional >"discipline"
>> in order to "earn" additional privileges seems to be very much in >the public >> interest. Do you really think it's a "regulatory function" we're >talking about?
>
>The key word here is "traditional" ... the idea of Morse proficiency >as a "ham tradition" has no place in regulation.

Many of us think it does. From your previous posts of long ago, I know that you would also eliminate things like subbands for various modes.

> If those who like
>Morse want to promote it, without government "arm-twisting," fine.
>I have no problem with that ... but it is NOT within the FCC's charter >to enforce "amateur tradition."

The government frequently supports traditions and historic places and practices. Community standards are one source of legal standards. Zoning, building codes, and historic districts are some examples. Much of what the various park services do is presrvation of wilderness and historic/traditional sites.

What is the difference between an FCC rule that says Morse skill is required to use a particular part of the radio spectrum and a Park Service rule that says motor vehicles cannot be used in certain parks and wilderness areas?
>
>Another concept to consider is that "discipline" is a bit misused in >this application, IMHO. Are you talking about the concept that some >have voiced that "It's (jumping through the Morse proficiency hoop)
>necessary to show 'committment'." ???

Experience has shown what happens without such commitment.
>
>Showing"committment" also has no place in regulation.

I would call it "responsibility".

>All that's >legitimate is a demonstration of understanding of the rules and regs
>and sufficient technical competence to operate safely and without >violating the rules or causing interference problems.

Using that as a your standard, almost everything in the current written tests must be eliminated. This is particularly true of the General and Extra class written tests. If a Technician class licensee who has passed the current 35 question multiple-choice test is deemed by the FCC to be qualified to use all authorized amateur modes and frequencies above 30 MHz, why is additional written testing needed for that amateur to have full access below 30 MHz? Why should full access to amateur HF/MF require more than three times the written testing required to access all of amateur VHF/UHF?

>> >Standards, shmandards ... the "keep Morse forever" crowd has >> >three basic motivations 1) "I had to do it, so everyone else
>should,
>> >too."; 2) fear that, if everyone else is not forced to learn Morse, >> >not enough will choose to learn and use it and their source of
>contacts
>> >will dry up; and 3) the misguided goal of keeping "outsiders" from >> >using "their" bands. All 3 of those are pure rubbish.
>>
>> ...and the motivations of those who wish to remove the code
>requirement >> entirely are? I guess you said it best..."Standards, shmandards..."
>
>You're missing the distinction that, in the paragraph above, I was >disparaging the numbered motives above as not being legitimate >standards

Apply that logic to the written tests, then. They force people to "jump through technical proficiency hoops".

>... I was NOT disparaging the validity of legitimate >standards, which I support whole-heartedly.

What are those "legitimate standards", then? Who gets to determine them?

--

It is very probable that after WRC 2003 the code test treaty requirement will simply disappear. I can imagine the entire action at WRC 2003 will consist of something like "Eliminate S25.5? The ayes have it" and that will be the end of it. FCC and many other agencies will simply drop the code test. FCC could simply say that Element 1 was "waived" until the treaty was formally ratified and the appropriate US regs changed.

What should be discussed NOW is what the US license structure will become if/when S25.5 goes away. Some folks want just one class of license, while others want two classes at most. Some say "just drop Element 1 and leave the rest alone". Lots of ideas and possibilities, but I don't see much real discussion about the subject.

General question to all: What are YOUR ideas?

73 de Jim, N2EY

5530. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:03:28 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011224100328.27168.00000590@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 28626

In article <3C265061.E649A293@earthlink.net>, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
writes:

>CAM wrote:
>>
>> Dave Heil wrote:
>> > You are right about one thing. The FCC shouldn't have issued Kim's
>> > call.
>>
>> Well then Dave, it seems logical for you to stop bitchin' and get >> the FCC to do something about it. Too bad The Constitution will >> slap you up aside the head with a 2x4 in the process.
>
>The Constitution doesn't slap anyone up side the head with anything.
>I'm content to draw attention to the FCC's about face. In the past, the >Commission would not and did not issue such calls.
>
Some facts to remember:

- What you get with an amateur radio license are privileges, not rights

- The privilege of choosing a vanity callsign has come and gone over the history of the FCC, for various reasons.

- The FCC does not issue certain callsigns in routine sequence.

- The FCC could abolish the vanity callsign program at any time, for a variety of reasons.

- Intentional choice of inappropriate callsigns by a few hams is one possible reason for the FCC to discontinue the program.

- What is transmitted on the public airwaves (which includes amateur radio) is not protected by the First Amendment in the same way as other media.
"Community standards" is one metric that can be applied.

- The mere fact that the FCC does something, or allows something, is no proof that the specific something is good for the ARS.

73 de Jim, N2EY

- The choice of a callsi

5531. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:04:05 UTC
From: Graham Broadbridge <grahamb@peachy.org>
Message-ID: <3c2743e5$0$16784$afc38c87@news.optusnet.com.au>
Source record: 28628
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C24422C.4CA59E74@townsqr.com...

> They told us to pull over to the side and open the cover, which we did.
One
> glance inside was all they needed, and we were sent on our way. But > technically that should require a search warrant, to search anything but
the > driver/passenger compartment. And there was one small pickup with a shell > cover which was stuffed full of things that the driver was being made to > unload so they could get a good look. He wasn't too happy, but he was doing > it. I saw nothing there so unreasonable that I couldn't support it under
the > circumstances. If you don't like it, take another route.

Quite likely, if you had refused the search you would have been arrested,
and
then searched.

If you attempted to refuse the search and turn around, you would have been arrested
and then searched.

More often then not, state cops look at the way people react and make decisions
based on gut feel. Most often they're right.

Graham

5532. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:16:46 UTC
From: Graham Broadbridge <grahamb@peachy.org>
Message-ID: <3c2746de$0$16781$afc38c87@news.optusnet.com.au>
Source record: 28629
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"Robert" <KnowsAll@Anon.com> wrote in message
news:a01lg9$9hl$0@dosa.alt.net...

> My outlook is that you have to want to be a cop above all else. Money is > secondary.

You have be a cop first. All the money and graft comes after a few years.

Then you earn lots. :-)

5533. RE: Funny Hams Site has found new home!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:20:35 UTC
From: Funnyham <funnyham@juno.com>
Message-ID: <7JHV7.168447$bs2.28540959@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 28630

http://www.geocities.com/talkRadio58/funnyhams.html

5534. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:21:49 UTC
From: Graham Broadbridge <grahamb@peachy.org>
Message-ID: <3c27480e$0$16780$afc38c87@news.optusnet.com.au>
Source record: 28631
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C1E2CAB.A3BAF551@gte.net...

> The drug trade has changed law enforcement.

Law enforcement has changed the drug trade.

You can get discounted dope at the local bar from a cop instead of having to be worried about being busted buying from a dealer.

5535. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:37:15 UTC
From: Silver Bullet <silverbullet325@aol.comspam> Message-ID: <LYHV7.3977$Tm1.2458@nwrddc02.gnilink.net>
Source record: 28632
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

<Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com> wrote in message
news:20011224004254.744$yV@newsreader.com...

> > Talking out your ass again

> Hope Santa is good to you...doubt it.
>
> --
> ~Moparholic~

Talking out ones ass is normal for the rec.radio.cb crowd. Your a seasoned pro Mopar.

5536. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:37:53 UTC
From: Graham Broadbridge <grahamb@peachy.org>
Message-ID: <3c274bd1$0$16784$afc38c87@news.optusnet.com.au>
Source record: 28633
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

I wish you'd learn how to trim posts.

Quoting a 122 line post followed by a one line reply is not going to earn you any sympathy.

"N9NWO" <2121d@gte.net> wrote in message news:3C14E40F.51A14E01@gte.net...

> Given the events of Sept 11th, yes.

5537. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:42:07 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a07i9g04cl@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28642

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C26BC0A.4C4D6C18@IEEE.org...

> Vulgar or not, what you guys are doing meets the definition > of harassment. Harassment is worse than vulgar.

By definition, yes, but it would be very difficult to prove to an ISP. Now if they were e-mailing Kim, bypassing kill filters, etc., that would be harassment. There's also a part in the definition about "disturbing one or destroying one's peace of mind." Repeated posting of an opinion on usenet could hardly be called that, unless it was taken to the extremes mentioned.

5538. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:46:05 UTC
From: Graham Broadbridge <grahamb@peachy.org>
Message-ID: <3c274dbd$0$16782$afc38c87@news.optusnet.com.au>
Source record: 28634
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb

"Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net> wrote in message
news:Si5T7.9296$AQ5.1655880836@newssvr13.news.prodigy.com...
>
> Hi Bill,
> Here you go:
>
> http://www.cityoftacoma.org/54council/Agendas/2001/ca010918.pdf
>
> Ordinance # 26851
>
> If the link doesn't work go to the Agenda page and bring > it up for Sept. 18th.

That applies to Citizens Band Radio, no Amateur Radio.

5539. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:47:26 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c274d64_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28635

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C24E340.AF8A2675@IEEE.org...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > ;p I actually think Larry does feel good about my callsign! He just > > doesn't realize what pleasure he takes in thinking he is 'being superior' by > > constant nagging and complaining about me. Larry's one of those folks who > > finds dark rain in even the shiniest of silver clouds. I've got a > > sister-in-law like that. She'll invent something evil and dark and > > ferociously unhappy even if the whole world around her is perfect.
Larry > > can't stand happiness. I mean, for goodness sake, look at all the posts
by > > him that the whole rest of the world is all wrong and he is the only thing
> > that is right about it. Eh? See what I mean?
>
> Yes, I get it now. Larry is sorta like the masochist who enjoys pain. He > enjoyed ragging on Ed but since Ed is scarce nowadays, he enjoys > ragging on you. Your callsign is bringing joy to an otherwise boring > life. I do understand. This is how Larry has fun. So keep spreading > the joy, Kim.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

;o Merry Christmas, Cecil!

Kim W5TIT

5540. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:51:26 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c274e5f_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28636

ROFLMAO....

Merry Holidays, Rick.

W5TIT

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:E1422B87ED28BEF9.E7298A00386C35B4.FCA005A88FA1112B@lp.airnews.net...
> On 22 Dec 2001 04:47:47 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> wrote:
>
> >If it makes you feel any better, I own a significant interest in several > >tracts of commercial property in New York.
>
> Slumlord, huh?
>
> >I simply choose not to > >live in that state, and I hadn't decided to stay in Delaware permanently > >until just this past year, when I got my present job. What I don't > >understand is what this matters to others. My business is my > >business -- and as long as my business doesn't bring the ARS
> >"...one step closer to extinction," like Kim's call sign, then get your > >nose out of it!
>
> Er, Driver . . . Driver . . . You missed your stop!
>
> YOU are the one who started using the term "trailer trash," > remember? Since you attacked others on their choice of homes, it's > only reasonable to open the subject of your OWN choice of residences > to discussion as well.
>
> Now we know that you not only live in an apartment, but > wouldn't consider living on the property you DO own. That's GOT to be > pretty bad, Larry, if even "renter wreckage" won't live there!
>
> Rick <--homeowner
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>

> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5541. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:52:09 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a07is9056m@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28646

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:uAGV7.239157$3d2.11582568@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > Only if you let it get to you.
>
> What do you mean by that? Racism is only in the eye of the beholder?
>
> Rich

Damn right! That's what Clevelend Indians fans have been saying for years when these politically correct types want to ban the Chief Wahoo logo, yet persons of Irish ancestry don't seem to have a problem with the "Fighting Irish" logo of Notre Dame.

5542. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:55:14 UTC
From: Graham Broadbridge <grahamb@peachy.org>
Message-ID: <3c274fe3$0$16784$afc38c87@news.optusnet.com.au>
Source record: 28637
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.law-enforcement,talk.politics.guns

"Bill Sohl" <billsohl@mindspring.com> wrote in message
news:9vrljs$b1q$1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net...

> There is STILL a major difference between having a firearm > which requires a license or permit in most states as opposed > to a radio which requires NOTHING as justification of > possession. N9NWO continues to dreg up poor anologies > rather than ever offering one justification of probable > cause to inspect and/or confiscate a radio.

I really wish that the comparisons between guns and radios would stop.

They have no common basis at all, apart from legal argument over constitutional right.

Graham.

5543. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:55:27 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c274f55_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28638

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C250386.413BAF74@earthlink.net...
>
> Not really, Kim. I don't believe that you have any concept of what is > appropriate. I don't know how many think it is "OK". You've received a > few statements of support here. You've also heard from a number who > believe that you've shown a lack of class.
>
> Dave K8MN

Uh, Dave. I would refrain from joining your class. So to lack any of it is quite an achievement for me. You represent many of things I dislike in people. I represent many of the things you dislike in people. You have to look for support in far corners for your "argument" while I pretty much have no argument at all. My callsign is great. No one else has to like it, approve of it, or bless it. That's what's so great about the world.

Kim W5TIT

5544. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 15:59:54 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c275066_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28643

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C25044C.4766B089@earthlink.net...
>
> What's with this "silver spoon" stuff, Kim? This is perhaps the third > or fourth time you've used it with me? What has it to do with my > comment? Did you or did you not receive the positive response you > sought from Riley?
>
> Dave K8MN

Dave, to have received any response at all from Riley was positive. But you refuse to understand that. I cannot beat you over the head with the statements that a) I appreciate that Riley responded to my query, b) I wholeheartedly accept everything Riley had to say but do not agree with him that my callsign brings the ARS one step closer to extinction, c) I don't believe Riley was speaking official FCC line--there is no way he could have, d) I do believe (because I know me so well) that the reason I sent the note to Riley was to ask him a question as an official of the FCC on what he believed the policy should be coming from a government organization.

Now, for you to insist that I think anything else about or from Riley, is just your ignorant silver spoon flaring at you in your face. Get a life, Dave.

Kim W5TIT

5545. Re: RADIO LAW vs. law enforcement procedures.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:01:53 UTC
From: Graham Broadbridge <grahamb@peachy.org>
Message-ID: <3c275172$0$16782$afc38c87@news.optusnet.com.au>
Source record: 28641
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.law-enforcement,talk.politics.guns

"Bill Nelson" <billn@spock.peak.org> wrote in message news:a04826$6fh$7@quark.scn.rain.com...

> Oh yes I do. And some of the things they have been doing under > the pretext of the so-called "war on drugs" are frightening.

Some of the things being done under pretext of the 'War on Terrorism' are even more frightening.

5546. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:03:23 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2751CB.1A7E9EE3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28639

Richard McCollum wrote:
> As noted to Rick, so long as killfiles exist and are really easy to do > harassment has to be taken as voluntary so long as Dave does not go into > phony mode to bypass the filters.

But killfiles do not get rid of the harassment. A reply to a harassing posting by someone not killfiled displays the harassing posting thus repeating the mental anguish of the original harassing posting.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5547. Re: PROOF that we are all BARKING MAD! CBERS.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:04:29 UTC
From: radiosam@wongfaye.com Message-ID: <823e3267.0112240804.49c6c1f2@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28640
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Zoran Brlecic <WA7AA@attbi.com> wrote in message news:<3C26630D.B1034855@attbi.com>...
> Patrick Keele wrote:
>
> > > > What you REALLY mean is..... CAUSE I AIN'T GOT A BRAIN.....i
> have
> > > > "adddressed the issue".
> > Not quite gov'nor
> >
> > I was merely re- iterating the level of intelligence by paraphrasing(if you > > know what the word means)
>
> No, you're the only scholar here, it seems.
>
> > which i think the CRETIN who insulted me
> > possesses.
> > I was demonstrating how i think the CRETIN speaks,judging by the level of > > illiteracy which he exudes.
>
> ??? So in order to prove your point, you dish out a totally unintelligible and > illiterate post? Not to mention the drunken mumbling about "asians", > "scandinavians", etc.
>
> > You and he both clearly miss the point of my > > message.
>
> That you dislike americanisms in the English language, yet are unable to write a > coherent sentence in the language you're "protecting"?
>
> > You don't impress me at all by misquoting what i originally said,which is > > out of context to the original message.ANY fool(you as an example)can cut > > and paste.You are not clever.
>
> Any fool may be able to cut and paste, but that's one skill you apparently > lack. Let me give you a few pointers: sentences begin with a capital letter.
> There is always a space between a word and parentheses (with the exception of > whatever the parentheses contain) as well as between the period at the end of > the sentence and the next word. Ditto for commas, exclamation marks and question > marks. Writing whole words in upper case is considered tacky and in poor taste > (also yelling in ng's), especially if it's done randomly. "Reiterate" is not > spelled with a hyphen (let alone with a space after it). Nationalities and other > words describing belonging to a geographical group are always capitalized. A > sentence cannot begin with either "or" or "but". Abbreviations for countries are > always capitalized (i.e. UK instead of uk). Learn the difference between "its"

> and "it's", as well between "countries" and "country's". Ditto for "too" and
> "to".
> Also, you seem to be perplexed about certain nationalities, so let me enlighten > you: we call Pakistanis and Bangladeshis Asians because they are from Asia.
> Simple, isn't it? Likewise, it is perfectly normal to call Swedes Scandinavians > and Americans - North Americans. The reason we don't call Britons "Britains" is > because it is a word made up by you and no one else uses it.
>
> And finally, language is a live, complex and fluid concept. To reject new words > and phrases simply on the basis of their origin is to show an extreme > close-mindedness that borders on stupidity. Most repressive governments usually > take it upon themselves to regulate the language instead of allowing it to > develop naturally. Therefore, your mindset is clearly similar to the one of a > linguistic fascist. Notice that even though "mindset" can be described as "how > someone thinks", there are few synonims for the word - ergo, there is nothing > wrong with the word and the fact that it hasn't been around in the time of > Shakespeare does not invalidate it in any way. As long as I'm mentioning > Shakespeare, I wonder what you would have called dozens of his made up words > which are today standard English. At least you have to agree that it is more > natural to say "mindset" than "how someone thinks" in a sentence.
>
>
>
> 73 .... Zoran WA7AA

Damn! He's good. I havn't read a better dressing down in quite some time.

5548. Re: RADIO LAW vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:06:48 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <solV7.118$T6.183447@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net>
Source record: 28644
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

: > : > The police and military are your superiors.
: > :
: > : Horse-shit.
: > :
: > : Pure extra fine Grade-A Horse-Shit.
: > :
: > : The police and military are my hired help. They work for me,
: > : which makes _me_ their superior.
: > :
: > : Do you live in the old USSR or Iraq or some such dictatorship?
: > :
: > : 73, de Hans, K0HB
: >
: > Sorry but you are no more than a taxpayer
: > with no choice in paying your taxes or they
: > will be forcible taken from you. The mayor
: > or the governor is who the police work for.
: > It is they who hire them.
:
: And good mayors, governors, etc. will demand that their
: police force personnel and anyone else that is
: employed by government understands and respects the fact
: that they ARE public servants. Unfortunately, there still
: are jurisdictions that operate on the "Dukes of Hazard
: School of Local Government." Thankfully, with the media
: coverage today, that is becoming far more difficult to
: do and the bad attitude employees will find it more
: difficult to thumb their noses at the public that employs the,.

Then go to Chicago or LA? Are they dukes of hazard? Ever hear of the Ramparts Divison? Oh, and BTW, the LAPD is not under the mayor. They have a special structure that is not under any political control.

: > Now if you are very rich or powerful, you
: > might be able to dictate who the mayor is.
: > But most people, there is little recourse unless
: > you band together in enough numbers to
: > force the political establishment to listen.
: > And the police do know this.
:
: It's called democracy...and it does work.

Democracy is a lynch mob, majority rules.
We are a republic and the liberals have made damned sure that it has problems.

5549. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:12:05 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2753D5.7CDB445C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28645

Krell wrote:
> By definition, yes, but it would be very difficult to prove to an ISP. Now > if they were e-mailing Kim, bypassing kill filters, etc., that would be > harassment. There's also a part in the definition about "disturbing one or > destroying one's peace of mind." Repeated posting of an opinion on usenet > could hardly be called that, unless it was taken to the extremes mentioned.

Seems the sheer number of harassing postings would be prima facie proof of taking it to the extremes.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5550. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:21:04 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C27556B.59E46BAE@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28647

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > b) My opinion of her callsign does not take the form of harrassment.
> > >
> > > It does when it is repeated incessantly. If I were Kim, I would > > > complain about your harassment to your ISP.
> >
> > That is an empty statement. Then there are the facts that you aren't > > Kim and that, if you were Kim, Earthlink would ignore your complaint > > because of its invalidity. Other than that, feel free to continue with > > your rant.
>
> It's obvious that you don't consider harassment to be a serious problem.
> However, you are violating the agreement that you made with your ISP.

No, what is obvious is that I am not harassing Kim and thus am not in violation of my agreement with Earthlink. Feel free to make your case to my provider, Don Q. This will provide you with yet another new quest.

Dave K8MN

5551. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:25:25 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <VFIV7.147$T6.199957@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net>
Source record: 28648
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

: > > Give you a little choice in this matter.
: > >
: > > We can continue down the path we are going.
: > > We now have a mercenary military, police and
: > > fire force in this country that is divorced from the
: > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
: > > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training
: > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their
: > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
: > > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
: > > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
: > > A bunch of sheeple.
: > >
: > > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more
: > > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their
: > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
: > > and gang bangers too, they cry.
: > >
: > > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much
: > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million
: > > men. We will do as we do with the military and
: > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already
: > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
: > > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
: > > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily
: > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private
: > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
: > > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special
: > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
: > > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen
: > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with
: > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
: > > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
: > > the gang bangers?
: > >
: > > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
: > > amendment but is having 75% of your income
: > > taken any different? Because that is what it is
: > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
: > >
: > > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
: > > that the police, the military and fire protection be a
: > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who

: > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was
: > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the
: > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
: > >
: > > What do we have today? An American people who
: > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
: > > the government to make their decisions, others to be
: > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized
: > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers
: > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the
: > > word (and the money) from congress.
: > >
: > > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected
: > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
: >
: > I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying. Contacts in
: the military are saying that units have been training for domestic operations
: for some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge mistake, but
one
: that could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big a mistake
: as Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
: > A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few dollars.
: If it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated and will
be
: > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.
:
: Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that choice. To
: force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's good for
: them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer people
: want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need to
: determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve, and fix it.

Then why do you allow yourself to be forced to pay taxes? That takes your labor from you
as much as the draft would.

And the problems within the American population not easy to fix. Look at how vast the idea of pacifism has become among the yuppies (professional class, moderates) as well as the neo-Liberals. Or how we now have neo-Victorianism that is trying to train out any form of male behavior.

We are now a nation of cowards, of wimps. We no longer have the farm boys who knew how to fix things and were taught to be self reliant. Instead we have a lot of little rich kids in the suburbs who are spoiled rotten and mostly play video games. Over weight, lazy, no major life styles (first aid, shooting skills, knowledge of how things work or mechanical skills) who go on to college and become our leaders. IT IS THAT BAD!!!

There is talk in Congress of reactivating the draft.
As you know, congress did reauthorize it in 1994.
We have National Guard officers who man the draft board in each state capital, just waiting for the word (and the money). If you feel strongly against the draft then you MUST be willing to file a lawsuit against the US, based on your views of the 13th amendment, to force the courts to declare the draft unconstitutional. It is your right to do so.

5552. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:25:53 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <IGIV7.239252$3d2.11593385@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28649

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011224100327.27168.00000589@mb-cb.aol.com...
> In article <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
> writes:
>
>
> What should be discussed NOW is what the US license structure will become > if/when S25.5 goes away. Some folks want just one class of license, while > others want two classes at most. Some say "just drop Element 1 and leave
the > rest alone". Lots of ideas and possibilities, but I don't see much real > discussion about the subject.
>
> General question to all: What are YOUR ideas?
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
>

The trick is and always has been bringing in the newbies and letting them soak in the sauce until they can go on to 20 meters without stirring up the OTs or develop a skin thick enough to withstand a W2OY. It is not so much keeping them off as keeping them from being roasted before their time. So we have seen over the years time gaps between classes which to my mind is more an act of mercy to the newbie than a barrier. You can test til your butt sucks wind but no one is prepared for the rough-and-tumble of a good pile up, encountering some net that thinks it is sanctioned, or the crochety old fart. And there is and continues to be the need to show a good face to the rest of the world.

So in principle at least I would favor a three class system: a bread-and-milk Tech much like we have now but give them 28.1-28.5, cut the power limit to 50 max. and keep them out of non-channelized VHF/UHF/SHF, an entry-level ticket resembling the present General with 200 watts max, and a senior ticket much like the Extra but with a one-year waiting period. The present structure is not really half bad except that it is unkind to those passing the Extra more or less out of the box. The junior ticket has to include regs both U. S. and International and the usual safety and regulatory stuff so I doubt if Element 3 would change a whole lot. The trick is Element 4.

Just how technical is technical? Damfino. The real thing with Element 4 is a proper ceremony for pontification so one should probably deal with impedence matching, Ohm's or Joule's laws in various permutations, a bit on angle modulation, non-linearity and how to detect and prevent it, and the inevitable VE questions.

The issue is not whom to keep out although we all have our candidates but how to blend the newbie into a hobby with traditions that predate the Titanic partially to keep him from being a major pain in the butt but mostly to give him time to orient himself for the long haul; marching people thru the hobby and out looks good on paper but does not in the long run accomplish a hell of a lot. I suspect that the aging vat effect is one reason that the 5wpm restructuring was largely a wet firecracker. It is known among marketers and has been for 30 years that the average CBer buys five rigs before the last one goes into the garage and to a large extent we have seen that when the Tech is touted as entry-level which it presently is not but is rather a dirty trick played by the FCC and ARRL.

Sum and substance: does the hobby need protection from the newbie or the newbie need a bit of protection from a hobby that can eat one up?

Dick NBK

5553. Re: On "Vacation"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:26:06 UTC
From: uppluss@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <a2cf6f35.0112240826.38613515@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28650
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.pirate.radio,rec.radio.swap

"Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobail.Net> wrote in message
news:<MPxV7.12842$y55.2746261601@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>...
> No problem Dick, no sorry needed, just > pointing it out.
>
> Landshark
>
>
> --
> Merry Christmas & Happy New Year to All

Good job Shark. I'm jealous.

5554. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:27:12 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2756DB.32A0F26A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28551

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > K0HB wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > >
> > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
> > > > >
> > > > > The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws.
> > > > >
> > > > If you think I've exceeded the limit of time I'm allowed to say
> > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign.", take me to court.
> > > >
> > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign." ...
> > > >
> > > "harass - to trouble by repeated attacks"
> > >
> > Work on being able to apply those definitions.
>
> OK, Kim is being repeatedly attacked on this newsgroup for her choice > of a callsign legally issued by the FCC. That's harassment and you > are violating the contract you signed with your ISP.

You are a silly old man, Cecil.

Kim is being chided, occasionally insulted and often undergoes derision
for her choice of callsign.

Feel free to spend some of the enormous amount of free time available to you to pursue it with Earthlink (with whom I've "signed" nothing). If you're successful, we'll apply the same logic to what you do here on a regular basis. Yeah, I think I'm beginning to feel harassed by you.
That means I'm a victim and you are in violation of your agreement with your ISP.

Dave K8MN

5555. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:29:08 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <oJIV7.239259$3d2.11593004@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28552

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2751CB.1A7E9EE3@IEEE.org...
> Richard McCollum wrote:
> > As noted to Rick, so long as killfiles exist and are really easy to do > > harassment has to be taken as voluntary so long as Dave does not go into > > phony mode to bypass the filters.
>
> But killfiles do not get rid of the harassment. A reply to a harassing > posting by someone not killfiled displays the harassing posting thus > repeating the mental anguish of the original harassing posting.
> --
> cheers, CAM, W5DXP
>

Yup, so killfile the donkey carts as well as the donkeys.

5556. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:33:42 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C27585F.8304BD74@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28553

James R. DeLoach wrote:
>
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 23:20:48 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
> wrote:
>
> >Dick Carroll wrote:
> >>
> >> CAM wrote:
> >>
> >> > K0HB wrote:
> >> > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> >> >
> >> > How many times?
> >>
> >> As many times as it takes to convince her and you.
> >
> >I will never be convinced. Kim will probably never be > >convinced. W5TIT is a valid callsign issued by the FCC.
> >Would the FCC issue a trashy callsign? If so, it's the > >FCC's fault. Webster's even proves that W5TIT is not > >trashy. "trashy - inferior in quality; useless or > >worthless" Kim's callsign is worth as much as any
> >other callsign.
> If you all are going to continue to pick on Kim for picking
> W5TIT, why don't you pick on Larry Bowling, W4TIT?
> You do realize that there are other people out here that > have callsigns with the letters "TIT" in them, but I guess > you already know that, right.

For one thing, Larry hasn't shown up here. I believe in equal opportunity. Larry chose his vanity call as well.

Dave K8MN

5557. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:34:22 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2758d7_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28556

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C250511.92F4443@earthlink.net...
> >
> > ho ho ho....ya found a silver lining in your train of thinking, did ya?
> > You're hilarious. WHY would I change my callsign just because someone > > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
>
> Because it is the right thing to do.
>

That would be your definition of right, Dave. Not mine. What makes your kind of people think they have the final say over my kind of people?

> > > She also perceives someone as an "elitist" when that person recognizes > > > tacky as tacky.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > You are an elitist, Dave. A highly crappy one, but one nevertheless.
>
> Why would that be the case? Is it because I didn't choose a tacky > callsign? Is it because I've stated that I find your choice of calls is > tacky and lacking in judgement?
>

I consider you an elitist for the reason stated above. You think I should change my callsign because you think it is the right thing to do. I don't request that you get a callsign that complies with my idea of callsigns, do I? Never would. I am quite comfortable with however you want to think, until you believe the rest of the world (meaning all people) should comply with how you think the world should be. That's either a communist or an elitist. Take your pick.

> I've always wondered: Is Kim short for Kimodo?
>
> Dave K8MN

If the callsign W5TIT stands for sex in your mind, then Kim can be anything you want it to be, Dave. There is no miracle in what you are going to think.

Kim W5TIT

5558. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:35:32 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2758CE.4A64F701@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28554

Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> > Richard Plourde wrote
>
> > > No, Richard, the team members were not neccessarily racists.
> > > Whoever started calling the team members maroons may very
> > > have been the racists.
>
> "Krell" wrote
>
> > That depends on if they intended the term to be racist when they started > > using it.
>
> That's why I said "may"... but yep... you're right... > but... now that Cecil mentioned Texas A&M it makes me wonder.
>
> > > maroon - a fugitive Negro slave of the West Indies and Guiana > > > in the 17th and 18th centuries; also: a descendant of such a slave.
>
> > > There're a many details in our heritage which lose their luster in the > > > light of day.
>
> > Only if you let it get to you.
>
> What do you mean by that? Racism is only in the eye of the beholder?

Only finding racism where none is intended is in the eye of the beholder. You obviously managed to find racism where none was intended.

Dave K8MN

5559. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:35:55 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2758dd$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28557

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C25074D.9742EA0B@earthlink.net...
>
> Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be > determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
> Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every > freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the events > which have unfolded over the past several months.
>
> Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
>
> Dave K8MN

No, and neither are yours, Dave. The government, by virtue of allowing my callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a manner directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not me, have exceeded the limits of your rights.

Kim W5TIT

5560. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:38:27 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c27596a_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28559

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C251F43.1458C5DD@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of > > callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?
>
> How can a private email be official?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

heh heh. I'm not so sure it was all that private, either. I can't remember for sure, but I think I had told Riley that I was asking his opinion to post back to the newsgroup if he would allow me to. That he granted would even further negate that his opinion was/is not official FCC.

Kim W5TIT

5561. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:39:49 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2759CB.48DB8F4C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28555

James R. DeLoach wrote:
>
> On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 03:17:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >CAM wrote:
> >>
> >> Dave Heil wrote:
> >> > I'm content to draw attention to the FCC's about face. In the past, the > >> > Commission would not and did not issue such calls.
> >>
> >> Aha, so the FCC is to blame. That's what I have been saying all along.
> >> It is the FCC's responsibility to recall Kim's callsign if necessary.
> >> Otherwise, the FCC has given its tacit approval and sided with Kim > >> against you and your United Uppity Prudes of the ARS.
> >>
> >The FCC did not choose Kim's callsign. Kim did that and she did it > >deliberately to get the nudge, wink reaction.
> >
> >Is it your opinion that anyone with a sense of propriety is an uppity > >prude?
> >
> >Dave K8MN
> Why do you continue to badger Kim for her callsign, W5TIT?
> If you dislike that callsign so much, why don't you pick on all the > other hams that have callsigns with the letters, "TIT". With very > little effort on your part you could locate them. Why not pick on > Larry Bowling, W4TIT or is it because he is a man and Kim is a > woman?

This is your second attempt to introduce sexism into the mix, James.
Larry W4TIT does not post here. Perhaps you can convince him to show up. He would certainly be the recipient of my feelings toward his choice of calls. The fact is that Kim does post here and has explained why nudge wink she chose her particular call. She also e-mailed Riley Hollingsworth expecting a blanket endorsement of her choice.
She did not receive it, hence the title of this thread.

> Hopefully this message will not be emailed to you, Dave. I need to > find out how to change the default on Agent so that it does not email > messages posted on usenet.

You were apparently successful.

Dave K8MN

5562. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:42:01 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c275a36_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28560

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2550C7.ECAFF3C1@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > So you received TWO communications from Riley regarding your choice of > > > callsigns--one official and one pal-to-pal?
> >
> > How can a private email be official?
>
> Riley e-mailed Kim from his home on his own time? Keep massaging things > until you set the scenario you'd like, Cecil.
>
> Dave K8MN

More like that you should keep clinging, Dave.

Kim W5TIT

5563. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:44:00 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c275abb_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28561

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2552E0.E8BE7182@earthlink.net...
> James R. DeLoach wrote:
> >
> >
> > >CAM wrote:
> > >>
> > >> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > >> > If you have to ask that question, you couldn't possibly understand
> > >> > the answer.
> > >>
> > >> Aha! The old argumentum ad ignorantiam. You sure are full of diversions.
> > >>
> > >> > All of us, Kim -- and each and every other radio amateur who could > > >> > see or hear your call sign, be offended by it, and consequently decide > > >> > that they can't be bothered to pursue this hobby -- if you are representative
> > >> > of the type of mentality that exists among radio amateurs.
> > >>
> > >> I find you to be offensive, Larry. Exactly what are you going to do > > >> about it?
> > >>
> > >> > And that "right" is not now, and never has been, at issue.
> > >>
> > >> The issue is: Does Kim have the right to live her life as she pleases > > >> or should she be your slave. The Constitution answers that question > > >> very well.
> > >
> > >Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be > > >determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
> > >Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every > > >freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the events > > >which have unfolded over the past several months.
> > >
> > >Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
> > >
> > >Dave K8MN
> > What's wrong with her callsign? I see nothing obscene about it.
> > It should be up to her and her alone to keep it or change it since > > the FCC issued it. Whether you or I like it should have nothing > > to do with her keeping or changing it.

>
> I'll put you down in column B headed "Also Lacking Good Taste".
> Always glad to hear from another who believes that there is no right and > wrong.
>
> Dave K8MN

And, let's not forget that what elitist Dave believes is what the whole rest of the world has to believe.

Kim W5TIT

5564. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:44:47 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C275AF6.7DB720E5@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28558

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C250386.413BAF74@earthlink.net...
> >
> > Not really, Kim. I don't believe that you have any concept of what is > > appropriate. I don't know how many think it is "OK". You've received a > > few statements of support here. You've also heard from a number who > > believe that you've shown a lack of class.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Uh, Dave. I would refrain from joining your class. So to lack any of it is > quite an achievement for me. You represent many of things I dislike in > people. I represent many of the things you dislike in people. You have to > look for support in far corners for your "argument" while I pretty much > have no argument at all. My callsign is great. No one else has to like > it, approve of it, or bless it. That's what's so great about the world.

What is? Your lack of decorum?

Dave K8MN

5565. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:45:16 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c275b02_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28562

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C2554A9.4CB2E346@earthlink.net...
>
> I also amused at Kim's idea that Larry and I should leave amateur radio > because she chooses to be vulgar and a part of ham radio.
>
> Dave K8MN

I bet you're not as amused as I am over the fact that you and Larry, et al, think my callsign is vulgar.

Kim W5TIT

5566. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:54:44 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C275D4A.BB14655B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28563

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C25044C.4766B089@earthlink.net...
> >
> > What's with this "silver spoon" stuff, Kim? This is perhaps the third > > or fourth time you've used it with me? What has it to do with my > > comment? Did you or did you not receive the positive response you > > sought from Riley?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Dave, to have received any response at all from Riley was positive. But > you refuse to understand that. I cannot beat you over the head with the > statements that a) I appreciate that Riley responded to my query, b) I > wholeheartedly accept everything Riley had to say but do not agree with > him that my callsign brings the ARS one step closer to extinction, c) I > don't believe Riley was speaking official FCC line--there is no way he could > have, d) I do believe (because I know me so well) that the reason I sent > the note to Riley was to ask him a question as an official of the FCC on > what he believed the policy should be coming from a government > organization.
>
> Now, for you to insist that I think anything else about or from Riley, is > just your ignorant silver spoon flaring at you in your face. Get a life, > Dave.

Again, you fail to explain the silver spoon stuff, Kim. You use it but don't attempt to explain what it is that you mean by it. It begins to sound even more peculiar when you write something like "ignorant silver spoon".

Your response from Riley was no better than 50/50. The fact that you disagree with him (and thus reject the portion of the response) regarding his statement about your helping to bring the amateur service
"one step closer to extinction" shows that you lack any understanding of the sensitivities of others who might be offended by your choice.

James deLoach has brought up Larry W4TIT, another vanity call holder who made a poor choice. Larry doesn't post here but I'd be happy to make the same statements to him which I have made to you.

Dave K8MN

5567. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:55:59 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C275118.B3034263@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28564

CAM wrote:

> Dick Carroll wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > I know it is how you'd describe it. That's how you DID describe it.
> > > > The only difficulty I have with it is that it simply isn't true.
> > >
> > > What you are doing is harassment, pure and simple. How many times > > > can you ring a doorbell before someone calls the cops?
> >
> > I hate to keep repeating myself, but you really ARE an idiot. No one > > forces her to read anything posted here.
>
> Be that as it may, what you guys are doing meets the definition of > harassment and no doubt violates the rules and standards of your ISPs.

>

As asways you make rules on the fly to suit your Agenda du jour.

5568. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 16:58:23 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c275e15_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28565

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C261489.D79E42B7@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > There's plenty wrong with Kim's lack of class in choosing a deliberately
> > > vulgar call.
> >
> > That's your personal delusional opinion, Dave, and you are sticking to
> > it. If the FCC thought there was anything wrong with Kim's callsign, > > they shouldn't have issued it. Thus, you have sided with Queen Victoria, > > a sad throwback to days long passed.
>
> Naw, I've sided with decency, good judgement and good taste. My views > are personal but not delusional at all.
>
> You are right about one thing. The FCC shouldn't have issued Kim's
> call.
>
> Dave K8MN

Then, take your argument to the FCC, Dave. Get them to make an official policy more in line with your views.

Kim W5TIT

5569. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:09:13 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C275434.3EA5DCE1@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28566

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > b) My opinion of her callsign does not take the form of harrassment.
> > >
> > > It does when it is repeated incessantly. If I were Kim, I would > > > complain about your harassment to your ISP.
> >
> > That is an empty statement. Then there are the facts that you aren't > > Kim and that, if you were Kim, Earthlink would ignore your complaint > > because of its invalidity. Other than that, feel free to continue with > > your rant.
>
> It's obvious that you don't consider harassment to be a serious problem.
> However, you are violating the agreement that you made with your ISP.

That's your story, and since you invented it we know you're stickin' to it.
But that doesn't make it true. You're a real piece of work.

5570. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:11:31 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C276135.E977741B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28567

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C250511.92F4443@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > ho ho ho....ya found a silver lining in your train of thinking, did ya?
> > > You're hilarious. WHY would I change my callsign just because someone > > > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> >
> > Because it is the right thing to do.
> >
>
> That would be your definition of right, Dave. Not mine. What makes your > kind of people think they have the final say over my kind of people?

"My" kind of people don't choose callsigns which could be construed to be anything other than callsigns. "Your" kind of people choose callsigns which can offend others and which are deliberately chosen for maximum effect. "My" kind of people would admit it if they'd done something stupid and would take steps to rectify it. "Your" kind of people bray about their "rights" to the world. They are, in some manner, pleased to thumb their noses at the world.

> > > > She also perceives someone as an "elitist" when that person recognizes > > > > tacky as tacky.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > You are an elitist, Dave. A highly crappy one, but one nevertheless.
> >
> > Why would that be the case? Is it because I didn't choose a tacky > > callsign? Is it because I've stated that I find your choice of calls is > > tacky and lacking in judgement?
> >
>
> I consider you an elitist for the reason stated above. You think I should > change my callsign because you think it is the right thing to do. I don't > request that you get a callsign that complies with my idea of callsigns, > do I? Never would.

What part of the makeup of my callsign offends the sensibilities of anyone, Kim?

> I am quite comfortable with however you want to think,
> until you believe the rest of the world (meaning all people) should comply > with how you think the world should be. That's either a communist or an > elitist. Take your pick.

It is? You mean that anyone who tells you that they believe your call, deliberately chosen for maximum effect, takes the amateur radio service a step closer to extinction is either a communist or an elitist?
That doesn't sound rational.

> > I've always wondered: Is Kim short for Kimodo?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> If the callsign W5TIT stands for sex in your mind, then Kim can be anything > you want it to be, Dave. There is no miracle in what you are going to > think.

Your call doesn't stand for sex, Kim. It stands for tacky. It stands for the lowest common denominator. It stands for thumbing your nose at what society generally finds acceptable. It stands for lounge lizard humor.

Dave K8MN

5571. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:13:17 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2761A1.9C3109F7@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28568

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C25074D.9742EA0B@earthlink.net...
> >
> > Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be > > determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
> > Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every > > freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the events > > which have unfolded over the past several months.
> >
> > Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> No, and neither are yours, Dave. The government, by virtue of allowing my > callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a manner > directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not me, have > exceeded the limits of your rights.

Please tell me what the limit is on stating my belief that your call is tacky.

Dave K8MN

5572. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:17:33 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2762A0.8F7704D2@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28569

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2554A9.4CB2E346@earthlink.net...
> >
> > I also amused at Kim's idea that Larry and I should leave amateur radio > > because she chooses to be vulgar and a part of ham radio.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> I bet you're not as amused as I am over the fact that you and Larry, et al,
> think my callsign is vulgar.

I think more than your callsign is vulgar, Kim. Your piece about what you'd like to say to some woman at a social function was especially enlightening. Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.

Dave K8MN

5573. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:18:07 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C275647.432D525E@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28570
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

Scout wrote:

> "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> news:3C26A12A.4CAD2772@townsqr.com...
> >
> >
> > N9NWO wrote:
> >
> > > : Life is risk, and ALL jobs require a certain level of risk acceptance
> to > > > : perform. Miners must risk their lives to perform their jobs.....they > know
> > > : the hazards and the rate of death in their industry, yet they accept
> that
> > > : and continue to work.
> > > :
> > > : You're just pissed, again, because people aren't buying into your "I'm
> > > : superior to you because I'm military" crap.
> > > :
> > > : What I find really interesting is how on one hand you claim you have
> to
> > > risk
> > > : your life as part of your job, then on the other gripe because "the
> > > yuppies"
> > > : send you out on missions that risk your life.
> > > :
> > > : If risk is in your job description (and I would like to see you > document
> > > : that), then quit bitching when you are asked to risk your life in the
> > > : performance of your job.
> > >
> > > Give you a little choice in this matter.
> > >
> > > We can continue down the path we are going.
> > > We now have a mercenary military, police and
> > > fire force in this country that is divorced from the > > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
> > > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training > > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their > > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
> > > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
> > > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
> > > A bunch of sheeple.

> > >
> > > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more > > > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their > > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
> > > and gang bangers too, they cry.
> > >
> > > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much > > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million > > > men. We will do as we do with the military and > > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already > > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
> > > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
> > > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily > > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private > > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
> > > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special > > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
> > > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen > > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with > > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
> > > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
> > > the gang bangers?
> > >
> > > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
> > > amendment but is having 75% of your income
> > > taken any different? Because that is what it is > > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
> > >
> > > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
> > > that the police, the military and fire protection be a > > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who > > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was > > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the > > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
> > >
> > > What do we have today? An American people who > > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
> > > the government to make their decisions, others to be > > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized > > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers > > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the > > > word (and the money) from congress.
> > >
> > > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected > > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
> >
> > I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying. Contacts in
> the > > military are saying that units have been training for domestic operations
> for > > some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge mistake, but one

> that > > could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big a mistake
> as
> > Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
> > A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few dollars.
> If
> > it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated and will be > > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.
>
> Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that choice. To > force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's good for > them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer people > want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need to > determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve, and fix it.

You serve as proof that today few realize that freedom really isn't free.

5574. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:19:43 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C276321.642AB693@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28571

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C261489.D79E42B7@earthlink.net...
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > There's plenty wrong with Kim's lack of class in choosing a > deliberately
> > > > vulgar call.
> > >
> > > That's your personal delusional opinion, Dave, and you are sticking to
> > > it. If the FCC thought there was anything wrong with Kim's callsign, > > > they shouldn't have issued it. Thus, you have sided with Queen Victoria, > > > a sad throwback to days long passed.
> >
> > Naw, I've sided with decency, good judgement and good taste. My views > > are personal but not delusional at all.
> >
> > You are right about one thing. The FCC shouldn't have issued Kim's
> > call.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Then, take your argument to the FCC, Dave. Get them to make an official > policy more in line with your views.

You know, that's not really such a bad idea, Kim, though I think the Commission dances better when congressmen and senators whistle a tune.

Dave K8MN

5575. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:19:48 UTC
From: The Better Amateur Radio Federation <lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm>
Message-ID: <bc32031f9c5f9eeb4d702daed61826f4@spamfreenews.com>
Source record: 28572

"Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net> wrote in message news:3c271712_2@news7.fast.net...
> -----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
> Hash: SHA1
>
> Dear r.r.a.p.'ers,
>
> In the spirit of the holiday season (whatever your > religious persuasion), I'd like to take this opportunity
> to sincerely convey wishes for a happy holiday
> season and a prosperous new year to you, on behalf > of both myself and the entire Board of Directors and > membership of No Code International.
>
> 73,
> - --
> Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
> <mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
> <http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
> - --
> NCI-1052
> Executive Director, No Code International
> Fellow, The Radio Club of America
> Senior Member, IEEE
> Member, TAPR
> Member, ARRL
> - --
> Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
> Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
> <http://www.nocode.org>
>

Same to you, Carl. Happy Holidays!

--
Lloyd Davies, N0VFP
Chief of Communications
The Better Amateur Radio Federation
Ham radio for Straight, White, Americans!
http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61

5576. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:22:23 UTC
From: The Better Amateur Radio Federation <lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm>
Message-ID: <e73f046bb195317ee26ef69ec31b5378@spamfreenews.com>
Source record: 28573

"Steve Robeson K4YZ" <k4yz@aol.com> wrote in message news:20011224084205.08595.00001292@mb-fz.aol.com...
>>
> Time to tell the FCC and the courts to act like men, not sandlot whiners.
>
> Steve, K4YZ

That's right, Steve. Join the B.A.R.F. and together we can make a show of force to remind these folks that they are servents and not masters!

--
Lloyd Davies, N0VFP
Chief of Communications
The Better Amateur Radio Federation
Ham radio for Straight, White, Americans!
http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61

5577. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:50:46 UTC
From: Middlefinger <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <WVJV7.328417$5A3.126340968@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 28574
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"Brainbuster" <brain@buster.com> wrote in message
> Damn fine achievement for anyone.
> Very good of Mr. Middlefinger to explain to everyone what an intelligent > person you are.

Sorry Terdbuster, I was explaining how pretty much anyone with a pulse these days can pass the Amateur radio exams. You have guys whoare illegal 11 metr ops and now they hold a fcc license.

5578. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:52:40 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C275E62.67901DF7@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28575

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C250511.92F4443@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > ho ho ho....ya found a silver lining in your train of thinking, did ya?
> > > You're hilarious. WHY would I change my callsign just because someone > > > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> > >
> > Because it is the right thing to do.
> > >
> >
> That would be your definition of right, Dave. Not mine. What makes your > kind of people think they have the final say over my kind of people?
>
> > > > She also perceives someone as an "elitist" when that person recognizes
> > > > tacky as tacky.
> > > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > You are an elitist, Dave. A highly crappy one, but one nevertheless.
> > >
> > Why would that be the case? Is it because I didn't choose a tacky > > callsign? Is it because I've stated that I find your choice of calls is > > tacky and lacking in judgement?
> > >
> >
> I consider you an elitist for the reason stated above. You think I should > change my callsign because you think it is the right thing to do. I don't > request that you get a callsign that complies with my idea of callsigns, > do I? Never would. I am quite comfortable with however you want to think, > until you believe the rest of the world (meaning all people) should comply > with how you think the world should be. That's either a communist or an > elitist. Take your pick.
>
> > I've always wondered: Is Kim short for Kimodo?
> > >
> > Dave K8MN
> >
> If the callsign W5TIT stands for sex in your mind, then Kim can be anything > you want it to be, Dave. There is no miracle in what you are going to > think.
>
> Kim W5TIT

Isn't she fairly mahvellous?? Such a pacifist she'd stand silent and lose her life rather than defend it, but out comes tooth and clawl when it comes to defending her awful callsign choice.

5579. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 17:59:52 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C276012.3DA14352@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28576

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

>. The government, by virtue of allowing my

> callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a manner > directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not me, have > exceeded the limits of your rights.

So where is it stated that the government has a responsibility to protect you from your ignorance? If you do sonething dumb you can't expect the government to protect you from the consequences, to include ridicule from others.

>
> Kim W5TIT

5580. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 18:03:33 UTC
From: Scout <scout@monumental.com>
Message-ID: <i4KV7.4057$0g.109904@iad-read.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28577
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

"Graham Broadbridge" <grahamb@peachy.org> wrote in message news:3c2743e5$0$16784$afc38c87@news.optusnet.com.au...
> "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> news:3C24422C.4CA59E74@townsqr.com...
>
> > They told us to pull over to the side and open the cover, which we did.
> One
> > glance inside was all they needed, and we were sent on our way. But > > technically that should require a search warrant, to search anything but
> the > > driver/passenger compartment. And there was one small pickup with a shell
> > cover which was stuffed full of things that the driver was being made to > > unload so they could get a good look. He wasn't too happy, but he was > doing > > it. I saw nothing there so unreasonable that I couldn't support it under
> the > > circumstances. If you don't like it, take another route.
>
> Quite likely, if you had refused the search you would have been arrested,
> and
> then searched.
>
> If you attempted to refuse the search and turn around, you would have been > arrested
> and then searched.
>
> More often then not, state cops look at the way people react and make > decisions
> based on gut feel. Most often they're right.

I've never had any problems refusing a "consent search". However, I usually ask why first, and when they can't establish cause, it's to late to make something up. Sorry, but I'm not going to waste my time, energy plus having to pack and unpack my car just because some cop is on a fishing expedition. Either he has cause at which point he does NOT need to ask me, or he's going to need a warrant. I will NOT volunteer for such a search. I would also tend to claim that by asking for a search the cop is admitting that he lacks probable cause to search as otherwise he wouldn't bother asking your permission. I think I could make the judge see things my way, particularly when the cop doesn't find anything.

5581. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 18:05:20 UTC
From: Scout <scout@monumental.com>
Message-ID: <Z5KV7.4059$0g.109811@iad-read.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28578
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:VFIV7.147$T6.199957@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
> : > > Give you a little choice in this matter.
> : > >
> : > > We can continue down the path we are going.
> : > > We now have a mercenary military, police and
> : > > fire force in this country that is divorced from the
> : > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
> : > > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training
> : > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their
> : > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
> : > > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
> : > > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
> : > > A bunch of sheeple.
> : > >
> : > > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more
> : > > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their
> : > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
> : > > and gang bangers too, they cry.
> : > >
> : > > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much
> : > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million
> : > > men. We will do as we do with the military and
> : > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already
> : > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
> : > > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
> : > > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily
> : > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private
> : > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
> : > > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special
> : > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
> : > > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen
> : > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with
> : > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
> : > > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
> : > > the gang bangers?
> : > >
> : > > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
> : > > amendment but is having 75% of your income
> : > > taken any different? Because that is what it is
> : > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
> : > >
> : > > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:

> : > > that the police, the military and fire protection be a
> : > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who
> : > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was
> : > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the
> : > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
> : > >
> : > > What do we have today? An American people who
> : > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
> : > > the government to make their decisions, others to be
> : > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized
> : > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers
> : > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the
> : > > word (and the money) from congress.
> : > >
> : > > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected
> : > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
> : >
> : > I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying. Contacts
in
> : the military are saying that units have been training for domestic > operations
> : for some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge mistake, but
> one
> : that could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big a > mistake
> : as Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
> : > A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few dollars.
> : If it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated and will
> be
> : > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.
> :
> : Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that choice. To > : force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's good
for
> : them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer people
> : want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need to > : determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve, and fix
it.
>
> Then why do you allow yourself to be forced > to pay taxes? That takes your labor from you
> as much as the draft would.

Congress has been given the power to tax, the 13th prohibits the draft.

Next question.

5582. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 18:30:33 UTC
From: Scout <scout@monumental.com>
Message-ID: <EtKV7.4066$0g.109842@iad-read.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28579
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

```
"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C275647.432D525E@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Scout wrote:
>
> > "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> > news:3C26A12A.4CAD2772@townsqr.com...
> > >
> > >
> > > N9NWO wrote:
> > >
> > > > : Life is risk, and ALL jobs require a certain level of risk acceptance
> > to > > > > : perform. Miners must risk their lives to perform their jobs.....they > > know
> > > > : the hazards and the rate of death in their industry, yet they accept
> > that
> > > > : and continue to work.
> > > > :
> > > > : You're just pissed, again, because people aren't buying into your
"I'm
> > > > : superior to you because I'm military" crap.
> > > > :
> > > > : What I find really interesting is how on one hand you claim you
have
> > to > > > > risk
> > > > : your life as part of your job, then on the other gripe because
"the
> > > > yuppies"
> > > > : send you out on missions that risk your life.
> > > > :
> > > > : If risk is in your job description (and I would like to see you > > document
> > > > : that), then quit bitching when you are asked to risk your life in
the
> > > > : performance of your job.
> > > >
> > > > Give you a little choice in this matter.
```

> > > >
> > > > We can continue down the path we are going.
> > > > We now have a mercenary military, police and > > > > fire force in this country that is divorced from the > > > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
> > > > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training > > > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their > > > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
> > > > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
> > > > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
> > > > A bunch of sheeple.
> > > >
> > > > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more > > > > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their > > > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
> > > > and gang bangers too, they cry.
> > > >
> > > > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much > > > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million > > > > men. We will do as we do with the military and > > > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already > > > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
> > > > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
> > > > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily > > > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private > > > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
> > > > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special > > > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
> > > > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen > > > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with > > > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
> > > > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
> > > > the gang bangers?
> > > >
> > > > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
> > > > amendment but is having 75% of your income
> > > > taken any different? Because that is what it is > > > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
> > > >
> > > > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
> > > > that the police, the military and fire protection be a > > > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who > > > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was > > > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the > > > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
> > > >
> > > > What do we have today? An American people who > > > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
> > > > the government to make their decisions, others to be > > > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized

> > > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers > > > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the > > > > word (and the money) from congress.
> > > >
> > > > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected > > > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
> > >
> > > I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying. Contacts
in
> > the > > > > military are saying that units have been training for domestic operations
> > for > > > > some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge mistake, but one
> > that > > > > could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big a mistake
> > as
> > > > Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
> > > > A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few dollars.
> > If
> > > > it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated and will be > > > > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.
> > >
> > Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that choice. To > > force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's good
for > > them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer people
> > want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need to > > determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve, and fix
it.
>
> You serve as proof that today few realize that freedom really isn't free.

Enslave me so I shall be free?

Freedom means BEING ABLE TO CHOSE. You deny choice, you deny freedom. People SHOULD serve, but they and they alone should make that choice for themselves. If fewer people chose to serve, then that should be taken as a warning sign that something is wrong in the system.

And before you get on your high horse claim I am proof that freedom isn't free, let's see you post a scan of your DD-214. That is assuming you even know what that is......

5583. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 18:34:11 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <CyKV7.1273$to2.253352@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28580
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

: > : > > We can continue down the path we are going.
: > : > > We now have a mercenary military, police and
: > : > > fire force in this country that is divorced from the
: > : > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
: > : > > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training
: > : > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their
: > : > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
: > : > > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
: > : > > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
: > : > > A bunch of sheeple.
: > : > >
: > : > > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more
: > : > > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their
: > : > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
: > : > > and gang bangers too, they cry.
: > : > >
: > : > > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much
: > : > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million
: > : > > men. We will do as we do with the military and
: > : > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already
: > : > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
: > : > > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
: > : > > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily
: > : > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private
: > : > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
: > : > > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special
: > : > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
: > : > > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen
: > : > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with
: > : > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
: > : > > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
: > : > > the gang bangers?
: > : > >
: > : > > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
: > : > > amendment but is having 75% of your income
: > : > > taken any different? Because that is what it is : > : > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
: > : > >
: > : > > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
: > : > > that the police, the military and fire protection be a
: > : > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who
: > : > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was
: > : > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the

: > : > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
: > : > >
: > : > > What do we have today? An American people who
: > : > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
: > : > > the government to make their decisions, others to be
: > : > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized
: > : > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers
: > : > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the
: > : > > word (and the money) from congress.
: > : > >
: > : > > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected
: > : > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
: > : >
: > : > I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying.
Contacts
: in
: > : the military are saying that units have been training for domestic
: > operations
: > : for some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge mistake,
: but
: > one
: > : that could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big a
: > mistake
: > : as Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
: > : > A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few
: dollars.
: > : If it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated and
: will
: > be
: > : > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.
: > :
: > : Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that choice.
To
: > : force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's good
: for
: > : them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer
: people
: > : want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need to : > : determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve, and fix
: it.
: >
: > Then why do you allow yourself to be forced
: > to pay taxes? That takes your labor from you
: > as much as the draft would.
:
: Congress has been given the power to tax, the 13th prohibits the draft.
:
: Next question.

Where in the 13th amendment does it is
say that the draft is covered by that amendment.
If you look, the 13th exempts the government.

What legal scholars support your wild ass views? What court ruling support your off
the wall hype libertarianism?

5584. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:02:22 UTC
From: Scout <scout@monumental.com>
Message-ID: <rXKV7.4076$0g.109996@iad-read.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28581
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:CyKV7.1273$to2.253352@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net...
> : > : > > We can continue down the path we are going.
> : > : > > We now have a mercenary military, police and
> : > : > > fire force in this country that is divorced from the
> : > : > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
> : > : > > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training
> : > : > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their
> : > : > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
> : > : > > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
> : > : > > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
> : > : > > A bunch of sheeple.
> : > : > >
> : > : > > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more
> : > : > > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their
> : > : > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
> : > : > > and gang bangers too, they cry.
> : > : > >
> : > : > > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much
> : > : > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million
> : > : > > men. We will do as we do with the military and
> : > : > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already
> : > : > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
> : > : > > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
> : > : > > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily
> : > : > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private
> : > : > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
> : > : > > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special
> : > : > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
> : > : > > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen
> : > : > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with
> : > : > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
> : > : > > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
> : > : > > the gang bangers?
> : > : > >
> : > : > > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
> : > : > > amendment but is having 75% of your income
> : > : > > taken any different? Because that is what it is
> : > : > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
> : > : > >
> : > : > > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
> : > : > > that the police, the military and fire protection be a
> : > : > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who

> : > : > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was
> : > : > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the
> : > : > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
> : > : > >
> : > : > > What do we have today? An American people who
> : > : > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
> : > : > > the government to make their decisions, others to be
> : > : > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized
> : > : > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers
> : > : > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the
> : > : > > word (and the money) from congress.
> : > : > >
> : > : > > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected
> : > : > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
> : > : >
> : > : > I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying.
> Contacts
> : in
> : > : the military are saying that units have been training for domestic
> : > operations
> : > : for some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge mistake,
> : but
> : > one
> : > : that could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big
a
> : > mistake
> : > : as Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
> : > : > A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few
> : dollars.
> : > : If it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated
and
> : will
> : > be
> : > : > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.
> : > :
> : > : Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that choice.
> To
> : > : force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's good
> : for
> : > : them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer
> : people
> : > : want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need to > : > : determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve, and fix
> : it.
> : >
> : > Then why do you allow yourself to be forced
> : > to pay taxes? That takes your labor from you

> : > as much as the draft would.
> :
> : Congress has been given the power to tax, the 13th prohibits the draft.
> :
> : Next question.
>
> Where in the 13th amendment does it is
> say that the draft is covered by that amendment.

"Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction."

> If you look, the 13th exempts the government.

Where please?

Section 1 is posted above, section 2 states

"Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

There are no other sections. No exemptions for the government.

> What legal scholars support your wild ass
> views?

Oh, it's something called the Constitution of the United States of America as Amended.

I don't need to appeal to authority. The facts themselves support me.

> What court ruling support your off
> the wall hype libertarianism?

I see, so unless an authority supports you, then you can' t be right. No wonder Galileo was locked up, all the authorities said he was wrong.....but damn the facts supported him. Now who is see to have been right, the one supported by the fact, or the "authority"?

Appeal to authority is a useless undertaking, either the facts support you at which point it doesn't matter what authority states, or you are wrong and agreement with authority isn't going to make you right.

>
>
>

5585. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:08:53 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <93LV7.195929$WW.11368044@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28582

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote

> Only finding racism where none is intended is in the eye of the > beholder.

ONLY???? This sentence doesn't make sense. You normally have a logical outlook but you've failed on this one.

> You obviously managed to find racism where none was intended.

I merely pointed out to Carroll that his slur (joke) could be miscontrued as a racial one.

He has a habit of name-calling; I think he could do better than that.

Rich

5586. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:17:27 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C277F47.360E2FF1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28583

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > It's obvious that you don't consider harassment to be a serious problem.
> > However, you are violating the agreement that you made with your ISP.
>
> No, what is obvious is that I am not harassing Kim and thus am not in > violation of my agreement with Earthlink. Feel free to make your case > to my provider, Don Q.

Since I am not the injured party, that is not a logical action. But your postings indeed do meet the dictionary definition of harassing.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5587. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:21:41 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C278045.766E997D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28584

Dave Heil wrote:
> Kim is being chided, occasionally insulted and often undergoes derision
> for her choice of callsign.

That's very close to the dictionary definition of harassing, Dave.

> Feel free to spend some of the enormous amount of free time available to > you to pursue it with Earthlink (with whom I've "signed" nothing).

I am not the injured party so it is not logical for me to complain.
OTOH, when you signed on with Earthlink you gave tacit acceptance to their terms and conditions which you have violated by harassing
Kim.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5588. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:22:48 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C278088.87A8C9D6@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28585

Richard McCollum wrote:
> Yup, so killfile the donkey carts as well as the donkeys.

That would mean killfiling everyone on the newsgroup.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5589. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:26:37 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C27816D.51991201@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28586

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> If the callsign W5TIT stands for sex in your mind, then Kim can be anything > you want it to be, Dave. There is no miracle in what you are going to > think.

Do you think Dave goes down the telephone book harassing everyone whose initials are TIT? :-)
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5590. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:29:00 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <0mLV7.1397$to2.286679@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28587
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

: > > >> >Think again. First the cops would just the : > > >> >car and the radios. Then when the CID
: > > >> >folks show up, they will explain how you
: > > >> >lipped off to the cops that you were some
: > > >> >type of hot shot Air Force type. At that
: > > >> >point, the investigation might be about your
: > > >> >fitness to serve.
: > > >>
: > > >> Which is why I strongly endorse and support that
: > > >> all police cars be equipped with both audio and video
: > > >> recording equipment to document exactly what
: > > >> happened. I have seen the absolute value in
: > > >> these in both protecting the public against rogue
: > > >> cops and protecting police against false accusations of
: > > >> police brutality.
: > > >
: > > >Bill, I am not talking about rogue cops or
: > > >even police brutality. Rather it is the cop
: > > >who is a professional, who keeps his cool,
: > > >but is not going to let some ham tell him that
: > > >the cop has no right to inspect his radios
: > > >and plays the hot shot.
: > >
: > > INSPECT for WHAT reason. The radio in
: > > the car is NOT illegal. The cop as NO need
: > > to ask. If asked, I'd tell him what my radio is
: > > and that's the end of it. What else would he
: > > need or want to do?
: > >
: > > >No cop will put up with that.
: > >
: > > After telling the cop the radio is a ham rig (or CB,
: > > or FRS, or private mobile, or whatever, just what
: > > more could the cop ask?
: > >
: > > >The average cop is trained to suspect everyone.
: > > >Even other cops. They are trained that they
: > > >are superior, the "force" of government, the
: > > >thin blue line that keeps us a civilized society.
: > > >And it is almost universal that the biggest goal
: > > >that a cop will have is to make it home alive
: > > >every night.
: > >

: > > That is not the training I am aware of. Cops may have
: > > the powerm but their application of that power must
: > > be tempered with restraint and rational reasoning...or
: > > they will end up off the force in many cases.
: > >
: > > >If there is a question about a radio,
: > >
: > > WHAT could be questioned?
: > >
: > > >it is just easier
: > > >to take the radios, even the car as well, and let the
: > > >courts settle. I have said this over and over.
: > >
: > > Yes you have and you fail to see that any cop
: > > that developes a histry of bad arrests, court
: > > losses, etc won't go far as a cop.
: > >
: > > > This
: > > >includes lawsuits, which most cops do not really give
: > > >a rats ass about. That is the courts' problem, the : > > >chief's problem, and not theirs.
: > >
: > > Believe it or not, cops can end up being criminally
: > > prosecuted for departures from proper enforcement.
: > >
: > > >This does not mean that they will keep the radios forever,
: > > >as the AF CAP chap suggested. When the AF types come,
: > > >it will go in front of a judge. And remember, this is only if : > > >there is question that the street officer can not settle quickly.
: > >
: > > I repeat...what could be in question that the local cop
: > > would have any role in or knowledge of?
: > >
: > > >Too many Americans are jerks, assholes.
: > >
: > > If they aren't breaking the law then so what?
: > >
: > > >They believe that
: > > >they have a right to do anything, and everything.
: > >
: > > Again, unless they are breaking a law, so what...it
: > > isn't a police matter.
: > >
: > > >That they
: > > >have NO responsibility to society or their fellow man.
: > >
: > > Yet again, unless they are breaking a law, so what...it
: > > isn't a police matter.
: > > >
: > > > And the cops want that attitude to end.

: > >
: > > So do many others, but it ain't a police matter UNLESS
: > > laws are being broken.
: >
: > You just do not get it, do you?
: >
: > It is more about your attitude than anything.
: > Get an attitude with a cop, he will find things
: > to write tickets for.
:
: I know far better than to "get an attitude"...but that doesn't
: mean I checked my rights at the door when I get
: in my car.
:
: > Some cops do not care about ham equipment.
: > Some cops do. It depends whether the state
: > has a law over radio usage like we are now
: > seeing with Cell Phones.
:
: There are NO such laws against ham equipment.
: If you know of any, please cite.
:
: > The real point is that if the officer does decide
: > to take the radio, he will be damned use that
: > he can justify doing so.
:
: I'd not stop any cop from taking the radio...BUT that cop
: better have a valid reason when I follow-up with
: the authorities to get it back and to learn just what/why
: it was taken in the first place.

Just ask the millions of blacks who each year have their vehicles searched, everything taken out of their vehicles and so forth. They file complaints, lawsuits and still little changes. The cops can do it, and will do it. Maybe a nice yuppie like yourself might be overlooked but some bearded, fat redneck will get it in spades.

5591. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:33:27 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <bqLV7.1407$to2.291089@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28588
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

: >> In my opinion, it is elitist attitudes like yours that are part of
: >> the problems we face in this country.
:
: > Sorry, I am only showing what the attitudes
: > are among the educated elite in this country.
:
: No, you are only showing how you and your acquaintances
: feel.
:
: I would qualify as one of the "educated elite". Yes, I am active
: in politics and with the local police/fire departments. I am also
: fairly well educated. It is funny that none of the people I know
: ever display the attitude you exhibit. Either they hide it well
: or you are an aberation.
:
: > Politicians see themselves as extremely valuable
: > to society. And they have the authority and power
: > to enforce that belief. They use the police as
: > their muscle to enforce their will on the public.
:
: Many politicians enjoy the power, I agree about that. Most of them
: actually believe that they are doing the ordinary citizen a favor
: by passing more and more restrictive laws.
:
: They have no "authority and power" to enforce the laws. All they
: can do is provide the funds and hope the appropriate agencies use
: it as they intend.
:
: > Doctors see themselves as more valuable than
: > most working class (blue collar) individuals. So
: > do many college professors.
:
: Yes, some doctors feel that way. But that is slowly changing as
: more and more people realize that doctors are not infallable. It
: has been a pleasure for me to see people starting to demand that
: they be allowed an active role in deciding what will be done to
: solve a medical problem. A doctor IS more valuable, when it comes
: to medical matters - but not so when it comes to areas outside
: the medical profession.
:
: I don't know a lot of college professors, but have never felt that
: they have treated me as inferior in what associations I have had
: with them. Again, if it comes to knowledge about their area of

: specialization, then they are certainly more valuable as sources
: of information. But put a physical education professor in with a : group of physicists, and the physical ed professor is going to
: feel inadequate and out of place.

What kind of sheltered life do you live?

Have you been on an modern university in the last 20 years? It is not just their specialization, it is that they see themselves as the elite of society.

Same with doctors. Ask nurses how doctors act like tin gods.

There are a good deal of elitism out there.
For whatever reason. The Marines teach
it. So do the police academies.

5592. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:34:25 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C278341.455B791D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28589

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > It's obvious that you don't consider harassment to be a serious problem.
> > However, you are violating the agreement that you made with your ISP.
>
> That's your story, and since you invented it we know you're stickin' to it.
> But that doesn't make it true. You're a real piece of work.

If Kim wanted to, I'll bet she could cause y'all some ISP trouble.
What y'all have done certainly meets the dictionary definition of harassment.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5593. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:34:57 UTC
From: Gary - KJ6Q <davison7@gte.net>
Message-ID: <BrLV7.180$SX6.73233@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28590
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"Middlefinger" <middlefinger4@home.com> wrote in message news:WVJV7.328417$5A3.126340968@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com...
>
> "Brainbuster" <brain@buster.com> wrote in message
> > Damn fine achievement for anyone.
> > Very good of Mr. Middlefinger to explain to everyone what an intelligent > > person you are.
>
> Sorry Terdbuster,

He didn't SEEM to bust you up all THAT bad...

I was explaining how pretty much anyone with a pulse these > days can pass the Amateur radio exams.

So yer saying YOUR pulse is pretty weak these days?

>You have guys whoare illegal 11 metr
> ops and now they hold a fcc license.

AHHhh - "a rose by any other name is STILL a rose"

OR, to break it down into language even a CBer can comprehend - obtaining a Ham License does NOT automatically, or instantly, transform a raving crude IDIOT into a useful, considerate and law abiding operator. BUT, CBers entering the Ham ranks soon find that their former operating habits loom as objectional on the Ham bands as does a fart in church - and they quickly either modify their habits, or LEAVE...

Ignorance is curable - but rank, dedicated STUPIDITY is FOREVER!

But YOU already know that from long-time personal experience, don't you...

--
Gary - KJ6Q
****
Two things we'll never see:
1. Perpetual motion...
2. A liberal Democrat complaining about "Too much government"

5594. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:37:15 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <LtLV7.1420$to2.293612@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28591
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

: > : > : > > We can continue down the path we are going.
: > : > : > > We now have a mercenary military, police and
: > : > : > > fire force in this country that is divorced from the
: > : > : > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
: > : > : > > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training
: > : > : > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their
: > : > : > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
: > : > : > > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
: > : > : > > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
: > : > : > > A bunch of sheeple.
: > : > : > >
: > : > : > > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more
: > : > : > > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their
: > : > : > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
: > : > : > > and gang bangers too, they cry.
: > : > : > >
: > : > : > > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much
: > : > : > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million
: > : > : > > men. We will do as we do with the military and
: > : > : > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already
: > : > : > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
: > : > : > > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
: > : > : > > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily
: > : > : > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private
: > : > : > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
: > : > : > > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special
: > : > : > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
: > : > : > > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen
: > : > : > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with
: > : > : > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
: > : > : > > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
: > : > : > > the gang bangers?
: > : > : > >
: > : > : > > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
: > : > : > > amendment but is having 75% of your income
: > : > : > > taken any different? Because that is what it is
: > : > : > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
: > : > : > >
: > : > : > > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
: > : > : > > that the police, the military and fire protection be a
: > : > : > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who
: > : > : > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was
: > : > : > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the

: > : > : > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
: > : > : > >
: > : > : > > What do we have today? An American people who
: > : > : > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
: > : > : > > the government to make their decisions, others to be
: > : > : > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law, re-authorized
: > : > : > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers
: > : > : > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the
: > : > : > > word (and the money) from congress.
: > : > : > >
: > : > : > > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected
: > : > : > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
: > : > : >
: > : > : > I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying.
: > Contacts
: > : in
: > : > : the military are saying that units have been training for domestic
: > : > operations
: > : > : for some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge
: mistake,
: > : but
: > : > one
: > : > : that could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big
: a
: > : > mistake
: > : > : as Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
: > : > : > A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few
: > : dollars.
: > : > : If it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated
: and
: > : will
: > : > be
: > : > : > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.
: > : > :
: > : > : Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that choice.
: > To
: > : > : force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's
: good
: > : for
: > : > : them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer
: > : people
: > : > : want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need
to
: > : > : determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve, and
: fix
: > : it.
: > : >

: > : > Then why do you allow yourself to be forced
: > : > to pay taxes? That takes your labor from you
: > : > as much as the draft would.
: > :
: > : Congress has been given the power to tax, the 13th prohibits the draft.
: > :
: > : Next question.
: >
: > Where in the 13th amendment does it is
: > say that the draft is covered by that amendment.
:
: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime
: whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the : United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction."
:
: > If you look, the 13th exempts the government.
:
: Where please?
:
: Section 1 is posted above, section 2 states
:
: "Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate : legislation."
:
: There are no other sections. No exemptions for the government.
:
:
:
: > What legal scholars support your wild ass
: > views?
:
: Oh, it's something called the Constitution of the United States of America
: as Amended.
:
: I don't need to appeal to authority. The facts themselves support me.
:
: > What court ruling support your off
: > the wall hype libertarianism?
:
: I see, so unless an authority supports you, then you can' t be right. No
: wonder Galileo was locked up, all the authorities said he was wrong.....but
: damn the facts supported him. Now who is see to have been right, the one : supported by the fact, or the "authority"?
:
: Appeal to authority is a useless undertaking, either the facts support you
: at which point it doesn't matter what authority states, or you are wrong
and

: agreement with authority isn't going to make you right.

What we have are your OPINIONS. They have no meaning in constitutional law. Say whatever you fucking want, it is empty words. Without the force of the courts behind you, it is just bullshit.

That is the way it works in America. Even the best an attorney can tell you is his learned opinion. It is the rulings of the courts that tells us whether something fits within the guidance of the constitution.

What you are is a hyper libertarian. Not even the Libertarian Party agrees with you.

What I suggest is that your family commits you
to a mental health facility for treatment.

5595. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:38:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C278422.D3C1AFBB@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28592

Dave Heil wrote:
> It stands for lounge lizard humor.

It stands for cuteness, Dave. Halitosis is better than no breath at all. If I send you ten bucks, will you buy a sense of humor?
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5596. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:39:40 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C27847C.37121546@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28593

Dave Heil wrote:
> Please tell me what the limit is on stating my belief that your call is
> tacky.

Harassment is the limit and you are way over the limit.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5597. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 19:42:37 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C27852D.2B6D0DAA@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28594

Dave Heil wrote:
> Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.

It is you who is thumbing your nose at the world, Dave.
Come down from your ivory tower, join the world, and enjoy life instead of being such an elitist grinch.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5598. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 20:43:50 UTC
From: Middlefinger <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <asMV7.328523$5A3.126444567@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 28595
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"Gary - KJ6Q" <davison7@gte.net> wrote in message
news:BrLV7.180$SX6.73233@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net...
> I was explaining how pretty much anyone with a pulse these > > days can pass the Amateur radio exams.
>
> So yer saying YOUR pulse is pretty weak these days?

I did not say anything Gary thats your ASSumption so why would you say that any basis for your comment or do you just like to look like a fool.

>
> >You have guys whoare illegal 11 metr
> > ops and now they hold a fcc license.
>
> AHHhh - "a rose by any other name is STILL a rose"

So what you are saying is now they are illegal Ham ops?

> OR, to break it down into language even a CBer can comprehend -

Gary, you whining jackass I am not a CBer are you?

> obtaining a Ham License does NOT > automatically, or instantly, transform a raving crude >IDIOT into a useful, considerate and law > abiding operator.

As noted by your actions.

BUT, CBers entering the Ham ranks soon find that their former operating habits
> loom as objectional on the Ham bands as does a fart in church - and they quickly either modify their > habits, or LEAVE...

Says Who?

> Ignorance is curable - but rank, dedicated >STUPIDITY is FOREVER!

So is being a jackass and butting into a post when you have no idea what your talking about ... a 66 yr old mental midget are ya.

5599. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:01:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C279718.322D8A1F@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28596

Richard Plourde wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote
>
> > Only finding racism where none is intended is in the eye of the > > beholder.
>
> ONLY???? This sentence doesn't make sense. You normally have a logical > outlook but you've failed on this one.
>
> > You obviously managed to find racism where none was intended.
>
> I merely pointed out to Carroll that his slur (joke) could be miscontrued as > a racial one.
>
> He has a habit of name-calling; I think he could do better than that.

Perhaps he should start calling Elmer, er Cecil a nimrod.

Dave K8MN

5600. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:03:37 UTC
From: Scout <scout@monumental.com>
Message-ID: <7JMV7.4092$0g.110122@iad-read.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28597
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:LtLV7.1420$to2.293612@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net...
> : > : > : > > We can continue down the path we are going.
> : > : > : > > We now have a mercenary military, police and
> : > : > : > > fire force in this country that is divorced from the
> : > : > : > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
> : > : > : > > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training
> : > : > : > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their
> : > : > : > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
> : > : > : > > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
> : > : > : > > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
> : > : > : > > A bunch of sheeple.
> : > : > : > > >
> : > : > : > > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more
> : > : > : > > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their
> : > : > : > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
> : > : > : > > and gang bangers too, they cry.
> : > : > : > > >
> : > : > : > > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much
> : > : > : > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million
> : > : > : > > men. We will do as we do with the military and
> : > : > : > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already
> : > : > : > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
> : > : > : > > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
> : > : > : > > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily
> : > : > : > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private
> : > : > : > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
> : > : > : > > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special
> : > : > : > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
> : > : > : > > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen
> : > : > : > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with
> : > : > : > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
> : > : > : > > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
> : > : > : > > the gang bangers?
> : > : > : > > >
> : > : > : > > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
> : > : > : > > amendment but is having 75% of your income
> : > : > : > > taken any different? Because that is what it is
> : > : > : > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
> : > : > : > > >
> : > : > : > > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
> : > : > : > > that the police, the military and fire protection be a
> : > : > : > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who

> : > : > : > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was
> : > : > : > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the
> : > : > : > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
> : > : > : > >
> : > : > : > > What do we have today? An American people who
> : > : > : > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
> : > : > : > > the government to make their decisions, others to be
> : > : > : > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law,
> re-authorized
> : > : > : > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers
> : > : > : > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the
> : > : > : > > word (and the money) from congress.
> : > : > : > >
> : > : > : > > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected
> : > : > : > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
> : > : > : > >
> : > : > : > I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying.
> : > Contacts
> : > : in
> : > : > : the military are saying that units have been training for domestic
> : > : > operations
> : > : > : for some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge
> : mistake,
> : > : but
> : > : > one
> : > : > : that could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as > big
> : a
> : > : > mistake
> : > : > : as Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
> : > : > : > A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few
> : > : dollars.
> : > : > : If it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated
> : and
> : > : will
> : > : > be
> : > : > : > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.
> : > : > :
> : > : > : Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that > choice.
> : > To
> : > : > : force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's
> : good
> : > : for
> : > : > : them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer
> : > : people

> : > : > : want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need
> to
> : > : > : determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve,
and
> : fix
> : > : it.
> : > : >
> : > : > Then why do you allow yourself to be forced
> : > : > to pay taxes? That takes your labor from you
> : > : > as much as the draft would.
> : > :
> : > : Congress has been given the power to tax, the 13th prohibits the > draft.
> : > :
> : > : Next question.
> : >
> : > Where in the 13th amendment does it is
> : > say that the draft is covered by that amendment.
> :
> : "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for > crime
> : whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the > : United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction."
> :
> : > If you look, the 13th exempts the government.
> :
> : Where please?
> :
> : Section 1 is posted above, section 2 states
> :
> : "Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate > : legislation."
> :
> : There are no other sections. No exemptions for the government.
> :
> :
> :
> : > What legal scholars support your wild ass
> : > views?
> :
> : Oh, it's something called the Constitution of the United States of America
> : as Amended.
> :
> : I don't need to appeal to authority. The facts themselves support me.
> :
> : > What court ruling support your off
> : > the wall hype libertarianism?
> :

> : I see, so unless an authority supports you, then you can' t be right. No
> : wonder Galileo was locked up, all the authorities said he was > wrong.....but
> : damn the facts supported him. Now who is see to have been right, the one
> : supported by the fact, or the "authority"?
> :
> : Appeal to authority is a useless undertaking, either the facts support
you
> : at which point it doesn't matter what authority states, or you are wrong
> and
> : agreement with authority isn't going to make you right.
>
> What we have are your OPINIONS.

What we have is the language of the 13th Amendment. What we do not have is any language that would support YOUR opinion that the government is excluded from the provisions of the 13th Amendment.

> They have > no meaning in constitutional law.

Yep, but the language of the 13th Amendment sure as hell does, and it doesn't say anything about excluding the government.

> Say whatever you
> fucking want, it is empty words. Without the force > of the courts behind you, it is just bullshit.

Yep, now we see it people. The Constitution is just bullshit.

Nice to have your finally confirm your position on the Constitution.

So much for your oath.

> That is the way it works in America

You mean as in the language of the Constitution is actually the law?

> Even the best > an attorney can tell you is his learned opinion. It is > the rulings of the courts that tells us whether something > fits within the guidance of the constitution.

I see. So according to you, racial discrimination is legitimate because Courts ruled it was Constitutional?

Sorry, but the Court is nothing more than another opinion...heck they even CALL their decisions opinions... What about that?

> What you are is a hyper libertarian. Not even the > Libertarian Party agrees with you.

Cite please. Present something from the Libertarian Party which states they do not agree with scout@monumental.com

I think you are pulling authority out of your ass again, and that they have said no such thing.

> What I suggest is that your family commits you
> to a mental health facility for treatment.

Sorry, but my family doesn't listen to demented people such as yourself.

Nor would I listen to you, except that pointing out the errors in your position is so much fun.

5601. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:05:00 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2797DF.D3140584@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28598

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > It's obvious that you don't consider harassment to be a serious problem.
> > > However, you are violating the agreement that you made with your ISP.
> > >
> > No, what is obvious is that I am not harassing Kim and thus am not in > > violation of my agreement with Earthlink. Feel free to make your case > > to my provider, Don Q.
>
> Since I am not the injured party, that is not a logical action. But your > postings indeed do meet the dictionary definition of harassing.

Actually, they don't all. You've attempted to stretch my actions to fit the mold you have ready but you've failed pretty spectacularly.

Since you aren't the alleged injured party or a member of this new class of victim you've invented, perhaps you'd agree to counsel the holder of the tacky callsign as to how she should proceed.

Dave K8MN

Dave K8MN

5602. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:07:24 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C27986B.C40607A7@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28599

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Kim is being chided, occasionally insulted and often undergoes derision > > for her choice of callsign.
>
> That's very close to the dictionary definition of harassing, Dave.
>
> > Feel free to spend some of the enormous amount of free time available to > > you to pursue it with Earthlink (with whom I've "signed" nothing).
>
> I am not the injured party so it is not logical for me to complain.
> OTOH, when you signed on with Earthlink you gave tacit acceptance > to their terms and conditions which you have violated by harassing
> Kim.

Even the alleged injured party is not an injured party in this new fantasy world of yours, Spock.

Earthlink has not contacted me about my alleged violations--probably because Kim is not a victim of harrassment.

Dave K8MN

5603. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:10:47 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C279937.5CE26F45@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28600

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > It stands for lounge lizard humor.
>
> It stands for cuteness, Dave. Halitosis is better than no breath > at all. If I send you ten bucks, will you buy a sense of humor?

A comedian is only funny if the audience laughs. Kim falls short. You, on the other hand, may have a future in standup whether your humor is intentional or not.

Send the ten spot and I promise I'll buy something.

Dave K8MN

5604. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:12:01 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C27997D.6788EC45@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28501

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Please tell me what the limit is on stating my belief that your call is > > tacky.
>
> Harassment is the limit and you are way over the limit.

Get serious, Cecil. You're just attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights. You are badgering me and harassing me. You may find yourself in trouble with your ISP for such behavior.

Dave K8MN

5605. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:12:56 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2799B8.D7A9D265@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28502

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.
>
> It is you who is thumbing your nose at the world, Dave.
> Come down from your ivory tower, join the world, and
> enjoy life instead of being such an elitist grinch.

That, you silly old man, is simply a load of....fiction.

Dave K8MN

5606. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:15:16 UTC
From: xxxxxxxx <carpediem@netrover.com>
Message-ID: <nWMV7.80380$Z2.1170032@nnrp1.uunet.ca>
Source record: 28503
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

Scout <scout@monumental.com> wrote in message news:rXKV7.4076$0g.109996@iad-read.news.verio.net...
>
> "N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
> news:CyKV7.1273$to2.253352@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net...
> > : > : > > We can continue down the path we are going.
> > : > : > > We now have a mercenary military, police and
> > : > : > > fire force in this country that is divorced from the
> > : > : > > people. They see themselves as more superior,
> > : > : > > a warrior class. It is taught to them in Basic Training
> > : > : > > (Marines are the best at such attitudes), in their
> > : > : > > academies. And the public reinforces that belief.
> > : > : > > Just look at the panic among the yuppies every
> > : > : > > time there is a shooting in a workplace or school.
> > : > : > > A bunch of sheeple.
> > : > : > >
> > : > : > > The yuppie ruling class wants more police, more
> > : > : > > fire fighters, more military. But do not take their
> > : > : > > sons. Oh, and please disarm all those rednecks
> > : > : > > and gang bangers too, they cry.
> > : > : > >
> > : > : > > Watch as our police force becomes bigger, much
> > : > : > > larger than the military, reaching 5 to 10 million
> > : > : > > men. We will do as we do with the military and
> > : > : > > allow foreigners to serve. And we are already
> > : > : > > recruiting special ops folks to be police officers.
> > : > : > > Just talked to a guy yesterday who spent 11 years
> > : > : > > in the Rangers and is now a local cop. Heavily
> > : > : > > recruited. Why? Maybe the mayor wants a private
> > : > : > > army? And that is happening everywhere, cities
> > : > : > > are looking for former Marines, Rangers, Special
> > : > : > > Forces, SEALS and members of the military intelligence
> > : > : > > community (especially Signal Intel so they can listen
> > : > : > > to cell phones). And you do not think people with
> > : > : > > this type of training will not see themselves as superior
> > : > : > > to the average yuppie sheeple or the white trash or
> > : > : > > the gang bangers?
> > : > : > >
> > : > : > > You may see the draft as a violation of the 13th
> > : > : > > amendment but is having 75% of your income
> > : > : > > taken any different? Because that is what it is
> > : > : > > going to take to support such an elite cadre.
> > : > : > >

> > : > : > > The other choice is to do what the Founders wanted:
> > : > : > > that the police, the military and fire protection be a
> > : > : > > community effort with ALL able bodied (those who
> > : > : > > are fit to serve) men serving part time. The intent was
> > : > : > > that the public be involved, not in service but in the
> > : > : > > decisions to go to war. Everything was to be shared.
> > : > : > >
> > : > : > > What do we have today? An American people who
> > : > : > > have abdicated their responsibilities, willing to allow
> > : > : > > the government to make their decisions, others to be
> > : > : > > their protectors. But the draft is still the law,
re-authorized
> > : > : > > by congress in 1994. There are National Guard officers
> > : > : > > in every state who man the draft boards, waiting for the
> > : > : > > word (and the money) from congress.
> > : > : > >
> > : > : > > So what is the choice? An elite government, protected
> > : > : > > by mercenaries? Or a nation where everyone is involved?
> > : > : >
> > : > : > I'm afraid there is a lot of truth in what you are saying.
> > Contacts
> > : in
> > : > : the military are saying that units have been training for domestic
> > : > operations
> > : > : for some time now. Dropping the draft in the 70's was a huge > mistake,
> > : but
> > : > one
> > : > : that could not be avoided politically. But it was not nearly as big
> a
> > : > mistake
> > : > : as Carter forgiving all the draft dodgers>
> > : > : > A free people cannot forever secure their freedoms with a few
> > : dollars.
> > : > : If it's not worth personal participation it cannot be appreciated
> and
> > : will
> > : > be
> > : > : > given away without the givers even knowing what they give.
> > : > :
> > : > : Perhaps, but under the idea of freedom they should have that choice.
> > To
> > : > : force people to do something they don't want to do "because it's > good
> > : for
> > : > : them", is usually the hallmark of oppression and tyranny. If fewer
> > : people
> > : > : want to serve, and we would like to have more serve, then we need

to > > : > : determine what and why they no longer have a desire to serve, and > fix
> > : it.
> > : >
> > : > Then why do you allow yourself to be forced
> > : > to pay taxes? That takes your labor from you
> > : > as much as the draft would.
> > :
> > : Congress has been given the power to tax, the 13th prohibits the draft.
> > :
> > : Next question.
> >
> > Where in the 13th amendment does it is > > say that the draft is covered by that amendment.
>
> "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime
> whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the > United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction."
>
> > If you look, the 13th exempts the government.
>
> Where please?
>
> Section 1 is posted above, section 2 states
>
> "Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate > legislation."
>
> There are no other sections. No exemptions for the government.
>
>
>
> > What legal scholars support your wild ass
> > views?
>
> Oh, it's something called the Constitution of the United States of America
> as Amended.
>
> I don't need to appeal to authority. The facts themselves support me.
>
> > What court ruling support your off
> > the wall hype libertarianism?
>
> I see, so unless an authority supports you, then you can' t be right. No > wonder Galileo was locked up, all the authorities said he was wrong.....but > damn the facts supported him. Now who is see to have been right, the one > supported by the fact, or the "authority"?

>
> Appeal to authority is a useless undertaking, either the facts support you > at which point it doesn't matter what authority states, or you are wrong
and > agreement with authority isn't going to make you right.
>
>
>
> >
> >
> >
>
>

5607. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:32:07 UTC
From: WW - KB9TMP <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com>
Message-ID: <a086q5hcp1@dagobah.blueriver.net>
Source record: 28505

"WA8ULX" <wa8ulx@aol.com> wrote in message news:20011224081800.24460.00001395@mb-fc.aol.com...
> >In the spirit of the holiday season (whatever your > >religious persuasion), I'd like to take this opportunity
> >to sincerely convey wishes for a happy holiday
> >season and a prosperous new year to you, on behalf > >of both myself and the entire Board of Directors and > >membership of No Code International.
> >
> >73,
> >- --
> >Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
>
>
> TAKE YOUR USELESS GREETINGS AND STICK IT!!!!!!!!!!

You forgot the part about being boiled in their own pudding and Bah Humbug!
I'll bet you cheer for the Grinch, Darth Vader, and Adolf Hitler also!

--

'73' From KB9TMP
NCI - 2385

Harrison's Postulate;

For every action,
there is an equal
and opposite criticism.

Sent via the LATE Deja.com
A.K.A. Google Groups
http://groups.google.com

5608. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 21:43:42 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112242140370.1871-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 28504

On 24 Dec 2001, Steve Robeson K4YZ wrote:
>>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>>From: "D. Stussy" kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org
>>Date: 12/22/2001 5:38 PM Central Standard Time
>>Message-id: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112222337350.18576-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
>>His name has nothing to do with it. His conviction for cellular phone >>phreaking is the reason behind why he was found morally unfit.
>
> The FCC has no business deciding who is "morally fit" to do ANYTHING. He >did his time in the legal system.
>
> The prosecutor himself has stated that he just doesn't like his "attitude"
>and is doing what he can to further prevent Mitnik from retruning to society.
>
> It's reasons like this that many people who might otherwise fit back in >to society wind up dropping back into less-than-desireable conduct. They can't >get past the past, not because they want to, but becuase idiots like the >prosecutor don't want to let it go and let him get on with his life.
>
> He screwed up, he know's it, he paid the price the courts put on him.
>
> Time to tell the FCC and the courts to act like men, not sandlot whiners.

So a criminal conviction for violation of the Communications Act is not sufficient reason? He has already proven that he cannot follow the rules. An amateur radio license is a privilege, not a right. As a convicted felon, there are even some rights he doesn't have now (such as to vote or to own firearms).

[If his conviction were for some other, non-communication action, then I would agree that the FCC doesn't have a basis for denying renewal.]

5609. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 22:00:23 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <D66B62B5E3CF6FE0.51E9E0D530AFFB31.FCFDC1DD0007148B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28506

On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 05:05:50 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
wrote:

>You might as well get used to the fact that it is vulgar. Your denying >it doesn't make any difference whatever. Riley says it places the ARS >one step closer to extinction, which is what he also said about the >vulgar idiots on 3050 etc.

How do shortwave stations place the ARS one step closer to extinction?

> And of course he's right

Just as he was about the need to eliminate the code testing requirement, right Dickie?

> If you don't like it, hey, that's life. I don't like her chosen
>callsign.

So don't communicate with her on the air--sounds pretty simple to me.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5610. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 22:09:47 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <37C6941A53928EA9.0CA262FF0AA47C15.1AE35D5BFB7197E6@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28507

On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 10:42:07 -0500, "Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com>
wrote:

>
>"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
>news:3C26BC0A.4C4D6C18@IEEE.org...
>
>> Vulgar or not, what you guys are doing meets the definition >> of harassment. Harassment is worse than vulgar.
>
>By definition, yes, but it would be very difficult to prove to an ISP. Now
>if they were e-mailing Kim, bypassing kill filters, etc., that would be >harassment. There's also a part in the definition about "disturbing one or >destroying one's peace of mind." Repeated posting of an opinion on usenet >could hardly be called that, unless it was taken to the extremes mentioned.
>

Actually, it's pretty easy to prove it to an isp. Anyone who collected Larry or Dave's posts about Kim and her call sign over the last few months (particularly Larry's statements that he intends to keep this thread alive until she changes it--which, of course, is direct evidence that he is attempting to intimidate her into an act she doesn't choose to perform) would have more than enough evidence for an isp to act--at a minimum they would pull the offender's posting privileges on their news server (and I doubt very many of the people in this thread pay for a separate commercial news server as I do, thus they are limited to the one provided by their isp) and warn them that further harassment will result in loss of their account under the COU/TOS.

I don't advocate reporting anyone to an isp for something of this nature (threats and spam yes, but not something like this). On the other hand, the holier-than-thou group certainly feel that Kim has no business doing something "inappropriate" and thus have an obligation of their own to keep their word (as customers of an isp everyone here agreed to adhere to the TOS/COU of the isp) and not violate the terms of their contracts. If they do so knowingly, it simply proves to anyone reading it that they are unwilling to demonstrate honest, moral, and ethical behavior, and thus have no legitimacy in judging the "moral" choices of others.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5611. A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 22:15:40 UTC
From: kc2hmn@cs.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011224171540.14772.00001392@mb-bj.news.cs.com>
Source record: 28508

Hi everybody,

I just wanted to take a moment to thank a few of the folks on r.r.a.p. for all the help they gave me with my license upgrade. Ed Hare for never even allowing me to entertain the thought that I wouldn't lick the code test like a postage stamp. Jerry Oxendine and Jim Hampton for encouraging me to "enjoy" the code and giving me pointers in 'Conversational CW 101' so I wouldn't sound like a horses you-know-what upon my first true AR CW QSO. Dick McCollum gets BIG TIME kudos for answering a multitude of questions with the patience of Job. Especially for telling me to "calm down," when, for reasons unknown to this day, all my "Fast Farnsworth" practice flew out the window and I couldn't copy 5-wpm to save my life...on the day before the test.

I'm forced to put Dick Carroll and Larry Roll in a separate paragraph because they helped me with something other than the code...an attitude adjustment. Their self-made reputations as r.r.a.p. "toughies" are forever shattered in this ham's eyes as they demonstrated that they would've gladly given me their "lucky" shirts off their backs if it'd help me pass. Needless to say both were very happy to hear that I passed. BTW, if you study with the ARRL 'Fast Farnsworth' CD's, the actual exam characters will feel like they're "floating in."

I originally did not want to write this because I thought it might be construed as a "congratulate me" post. I did so because I want to let anybody who might be "put off" by what they perceive as an attitude know that these folks WANT to help you...so stick around.

I'd be remiss if I didn't mention one other guy, a non-ham. My college certification professor, Mr. Cronk. He fixed it so that we could NOT earn our sheepskins by just memorizing exam pool questions, hence the birth of the infamous "Cronk screenings." The General was easy but the Extra required the dusting off of some pretty deeply buried electronics theory. Thanks Professor C.!

If I failed to mention any of you who encouraged me along the way, forgive me. I just wanted to acknowledge the folks I leaned on the most. Thanks again. I promise to pass it on to others. :-)

73 de Bert
KC2HMN

5612. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 22:20:03 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <42AB8850EDF3DA99.FCF12E24880B10E7.4105D373E4E10813@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28509

On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 11:23:03 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Feel free to attempt to make an issue with it to Earthlink. See if they >share your views.

I don't need to ask them, Dave, the answer is very clearly defined in the TOU/COS you agreed to (which is available to you on the Earthlink home site). I no more need to "prove" that to you than I need to "prove" that it is illegal for you to transmit LSB on 10.125MHz--in both cases the rule is clearly spelled out in a readily available location.

>> You have stated your perspective. That's reasonable. But >> continuing to do so isn't a question of voicing opinion, it's one of >> harassing someone.
>
>That's simply not true. If your statement was correct, your continued >posting of information to the effect that I am harrassing Kim would have >to be viewed as harrassment. After all, you've already stated your >perspective.

No problem at all, Dave. While I might argue that defending against harassment is unlikely to be _viewed_ as harassment, it isn't really relevant since I don't obtain my news feed from an isp. My news feed comes from Airnews (Internet America) and my postings are subject to THEIR rules, not the TOU/COS in force at voyager.net where I receive some of my email (I also run my own servers on the three registered domains I maintain). According to Airnews own TOU/COS I am NOT in violation of my agreements, and thus unlike yourself, I'm not breaking my word by my posts here.

>> No--we disagree on Libertarian party philosophy. We agree on >> what a "libertarian" is--we simply don't agree on what a party which >> identifies itself as "Libertarian" should have as a platform. That's >> no more the same thing than stating you believe in democratic >> principles means you have to agree with the Democratic Party platform.
>
>You started out disagreeing on Libertarian Party philosophy. Things >went down hill from there.

We ended up debating an area of Libertarian Party policy that we have very different views on--that of social support for the sick and poor. That, however, has nothing to do with libertarian philosophy, which limits itself to directly addressing the issues of rights and freedoms--and in that area, Cecil and I agree on most points and can agree to disagree on the few where we differ.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5613. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 22:40:57 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C27AEF9.4CCEA458@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28510

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > > It's obvious that you don't consider harassment to be a serious problem.
> > > > However, you are violating the agreement that you made with your ISP.
> > >
> > > No, what is obvious is that I am not harassing Kim and thus am not in > > > violation of my agreement with Earthlink. Feel free to make your case > > > to my provider, Don Q.
> > >
> > Since I am not the injured party, that is not a logical action. But your > > postings indeed do meet the dictionary definition of harassing.
>
> Actually, they don't all.

Just some of them, eh? I'm glad to see you admit it.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5614. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 22:50:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C27B122.66BF6E94@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28511

Dave Heil wrote:
> A comedian is only funny if the audience laughs. Kim falls short.

Given the choice between your brand of misery and Kim's brand of humor, guess who gets my vote?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5615. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 22:51:52 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C27B188.18C3D7B0@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28512

Richard Plourde wrote:
> That's why I said "may"... but yep... you're right...
> but... now that Cecil mentioned Texas A&M it makes me wonder.

Maroon is an old military color.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5616. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 22:57:59 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C27B2F7.7C3681FB@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28513

Dave Heil wrote:
> You're just attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights.

Pray tell, how would I go about doing that? Unlike you, I am not omnipotent.

> You are badgering me and harassing me. You may find yourself > in trouble with your ISP for such behavior.

Badgering a harasser is self defense, not harassing.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5617. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:00:13 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C27B37D.388B6C06@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28514

Dave Heil wrote:
> Earthlink has not contacted me about my alleged violations--probably > because Kim is not a victim of harrassment.

Probably because Kim is a nice person and doesn't want to get you into trouble.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5618. Re: RADIO LAW vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:00:33 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a08cab$4ej$1@slb7.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28515
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:soIV7.118$T6.183447@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
> : > : > The police and military are your superiors.
> : > :
> : > : Horse-shit.
> : > :
> : > : Pure extra fine Grade-A Horse-Shit.
> : > :
> : > : The police and military are my hired help. They work for me,
> : > : which makes _me_ their superior.
> : > :
> : > : Do you live in the old USSR or Iraq or some such dictatorship?
> : > :
> : > : 73, de Hans, K0HB
> : >
> : > Sorry but you are no more than a taxpayer
> : > with no choice in paying your taxes or they
> : > will be forcible taken from you. The mayor
> : > or the governor is who the police work for.
> : > It is they who hire them.
> :
> : And good mayors, governors, etc. will demand that their
> : police force personnel and anyone else that is
> : employed by government understands and respects the fact
> : that they ARE public servants. Unfortunately, there still
> : are jurisdictions that operate on the "Dukes of Hazard
> : School of Local Government." Thankfully, with the media
> : coverage today, that is becoming far more difficult to
> : do and the bad attitude employees will find it more
> : difficult to thumb their noses at the public that employs the,.
>
> Then go to Chicago or LA? Are they > dukes of hazard? Ever hear of the Ramparts > Divison? Oh, and BTW, the LAPD is not > under the mayor. They have a special structure > that is not under any political control.
>
> : > Now if you are very rich or powerful, you
> : > might be able to dictate who the mayor is.
> : > But most people, there is little recourse unless
> : > you band together in enough numbers to
> : > force the political establishment to listen.
> : > And the police do know this.

> :
> : It's called democracy...and it does work.
>
> Democracy is a lynch mob, majority rules.
> We are a republic and the liberals have > made damned sure that it has problems.

What a sorry attitude. Thankfully here in NJ the mayor is in charge and the press, the courts and the public do not take kindly to rogue policing. We support good police...but we don't support a police state.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5619. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:18:22 UTC
From: Hiram HappyHam <natradger@aol.com>
Message-ID: <2JOV7.14161$PO5.2206092@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 28516

BLOW ME in Macy's window then 5 min later, take a nigger's (..with pink curlers in his hair) fat 13" mandingo cockmeat tool up the ole poop-chute, while you eat out a 400 pound samoa woman's drippy stinkin snatch simultaneously for all the post-xmas shopping bargan hunters on the street outside
to enjoy.

Thanks and have a happy day!

"The Better Amateur Radio Federation" <lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm> wrote
in message news:bc32031f9c5f9eeb4d702daed61826f4@spamfreenews.com...
>
> "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net> wrote in message
> news:3c271712_2@news7.fast.net...
> > -----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
> > Hash: SHA1
> >
> > Dear r.r.a.p.'ers,
> >
> > In the spirit of the holiday season (whatever your > > religious persuasion), I'd like to take this opportunity
> > to sincerely convey wishes for a happy holiday
> > season and a prosperous new year to you, on behalf > > of both myself and the entire Board of Directors and > > membership of No Code International.
> >
> > 73,
> > - --
> > Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
> > <mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
> > <http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
> > - --
> > NCI-1052
> > Executive Director, No Code International
> > Fellow, The Radio Club of America
> > Senior Member, IEEE
> > Member, TAPR
> > Member, ARRL
> > - --
> > Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
> > Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
> > <http://www.nocode.org>

> >
>
> Same to you, Carl. Happy Holidays!
>
>
> --
> Lloyd Davies, N0VFP
> Chief of Communications
> The Better Amateur Radio Federation
> Ham radio for Straight, White, Americans!
> http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61
>
>
>

5620. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:24:13 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2CC69775D3688C11.485EF57EE353824C.021260550CA5B8C0@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28517

To "lighten things up" a bit for the holiday (back to our scheduled flame-fest Wednesday), here's a version of an old favorite that was obviously adapted for some of the participants here:

=====

On the 12th day of the Eurocentrically imposed midwinter festival, my Significant Other in a consenting adult, monogamous relationship gave to me:

TWELVE males reclaiming their inner warrior through ritual drumming,

ELEVEN pipers piping (plus the 18-member pit orchestra made up of members in good standing of the Musicians Equity Union as called for in their union contract even though they will not be asked to play a note),

TEN melanin deprived testosterone-poisoned scions of the patriarchal ruling class system leaping,

NINE persons engaged in rhythmic self-expression,

EIGHT economically disadvantaged female persons stealing milk-products from enslaved Bovine-Americans,

SEVEN endangered swans swimming on federally protected wetlands,

SIX enslaved Fowl-Americans producing stolen non-human animal products,

FIVE golden symbols of culturally sanctioned enforced domestic incarceration,

(NOTE: after members of the Animal Liberation Front threatened to throw red paint at my computer, the calling birds, French hens and partridge have been reintroduced to their native habitat. To avoid further Animal-American enslavement, the remaining gift package has been revised.)

FOUR hours of recorded whale songs

THREE deconstructionist poets

TWO Sierra Club calendars printed on recycled processed tree carcasses and...

ONE Spotted Owl activist chained to an old-growth pear tree.

Merry Christmas Happy Chanukah. Good Kwanzaa. Blessed Yule. Oh, heck! Happy Holidays!!!! (unless otherwise prohibited by law) *

*Unless, of course, you are suffering from Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD). If this be the case, please substitute this gratuitous call for celebration with suggestion that you have a thoroughly adequate day.

(copyright ï¿½ 2001 About.com, Inc.)

=====

Happy (or adequate) holidays,

73 de KE8HH, Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5621. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:24:20 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <303866F887C70E66.4BAA1DCC39D0DB29.E084D98A420123CC@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28518

On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 04:18:58 GMT, "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote:

>With all due respect Rick this is why killfiles were invented. If >harassment it be as opposed to two people making prime fools of themselves
>it is easily cured.

In most cases I would agree. While I don't use kill files, neither am I bothered by people flaming me--I'm only offended when they aren't good enough at the task to make the flame war fun.

On the other hand, this thread was specifically created--and Larry Roll has stated more than once that it will CONTINUE to exist--for the sole purpose of attempting to intimidate Kim into changing her call sign. In that case, a kill file isn't an acceptable solution since she would have to kill file people who may otherwise have something of relevance to amateur radio, and who she would no longer be able to read. More, the thread about HER would continue without her even having the chance to respond to new insults or lies about her. Clearly, that's not an acceptable resolution in this case as it would be if, for example, the argument were over code testing or some other non-personal issue.

>If my experience is indicative, getting kicked off Earthlink would be a >favor -- kind of like throwing Brer Rabbit into the briar patch.

Now THERE we agree! Earthlink is like aol for the learning disabled (sort of like msn, but better email access). On the other hand, it isn't the loss of the account that would be relevant--it's the fact that people who are adamant about "ethics" and "morality" are willing to deliberately break their words to their isps by violating the terms of their agreements. To me, that tells everyone a great deal about their so-called morality and makes their claim that they have the "moral high ground" when it comes to Kim's choice of her call sign just a bit ludicrous.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5622. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:24:23 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <35BA1432C1D192BE.3426F9BC6AF8F3CC.B28FEE7C5BE84791@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28519

On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 11:30:58 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>That is simply your interpretation. If you feel strongly, make an issue
>of it with Earthlink.

I'm not interested in making it into an issue, Dave. Only in pointing out your own lack of morality and ethics in deliberately violating the agreement you made when you signed up for Earthlink services. If you profess to be credible in claiming Kim's call sign is inappropriate, then it follows that the readers have a right to know what your OWN ethics and morality are like, so they can decide whether you are worth listening to or not.

Clearly you are not.

>Your idiotic claim (as if capital letters make something true) that it >is "CLEARLY" harrassment is absurd on its face. That you would attempt >to stifle another's First Amendment rights shows us that your >committment to libertarianism is only thin veneer.

I really wish that at least a FEW of the people who toss out
"First Amendment" or "Constitution" in support of their actions would READ them first!

The Constitution of the United States applies ONLY to actions governed by the federal government. It does NOT limit restrictions that may be place by the private sector. For example, if you choose to stand on a soapbox (in a place where gatherings are legally permitted, and on public land, of course) and preach hatred for Islamic people, you may be regarded as a fool but unless you are actually calling for violence or riot (legally: hate speech), you are totally legal doing so and will suffer no sanctions as a result. On the other hand, if you do precisely the same thing in the employee lounge at your place of work, your employer is well within his or her rights to terminate you on the spot.

By choosing Earthlink as your isp, you agreed to be bound to their conditions of service and terms of usage--and your behavior in this newsgroup is a direct violation of that agreement. It's irrelevant if you could legally be prosecuted for harassment or not,
the fact remains that you gave your word NOT to violate those terms and are now doing so.

By the way, before you accuse me of doing the same thing, Dave, take a look at the TOU/COS on airnews and on altopia (the two news services I use) and you will discover that the agreements are NOT the same as that for your isp--and I am NOT in violation of either

one. Unlike you, I keep my word.

>> All true. NONE of those locations are private in nature, and >> therefore are subject to the protections of the First Amendment. On >> the other hand, if you choose to stand on a street corner stating that >> someone is immoral and has no self-respect (as you have done with >> Kim), then by necessity you leave yourself open to defamation of >> character suits--the "protection" against abuse of your First >> Amendment rights.
>
>Excuse me? At which point did I state that Kim is immoral. Lacking >taste in obtaining a trashy callsign is not the same as accusing one of >being immoral. Get a life, Rick.

The concept of "trashy" is synonymous with lacking in morals and we both know it. If you're going to debate words at least use them correctly.

>No one receives immunity from insults, Rick. You yourself have often >handed out insults which go well beyond expressing an opinion. You are >stuck with a few empty claims.

I never claimed I _didn't_ insult anyone here--although if you'll look at my posts, I've never been the first to use a direct insult with someone. Once I'm told I'm an idiot, a fool, or any of the other accusations that have greeted some of my posts I feel perfectly comfortable responding in kind.

On the other hand, my actions aren't the ones at issue here.
Nothing I've posted to this group is in any way in violation of my agreements with my service providers, and none of it is in any way harassing (I respond to other's posts, I don't originate them--and unlike Larry Roll, I have NOT stated that the thread won't be allowed to die until someone changes their behavior to conform to my desires).
The issue here is the discussion of Kim's call sign (not the call sign itself, the discussion of it). And the relevant concerns are the veracity and legitimacy of those who feel that call sign is inappropriate. Clearly, if the people who are arguing against it can be shown to be dishonest themselves (as is the case with your violation of the agreements you made with Earthlink) then their statements have to be viewed as originating with known liars and evaluated on that basis alone.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5623. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:24:25 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <C8349AB7FDFD00A7.0A256E7F75097C5F.0AF2142F34E9F65C@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28520

On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 14:08:13 GMT, James R. DeLoach <jasd-49X@attbi.com> wrote:

>Hopefully this message will not be emailed to you, Dave. I need to >find out how to change the default on Agent so that it does not email >messages posted on usenet.

Go to Group/Properties/Post and uncheck the box marked "Copy follow-up messages to author via email." You can either do that on a group by group basis (if you want email to go to the authors in other groups) or just use the "Default Properties" menu selection if you prefer not to copy your reply by email at all.

Hope it helps,

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5624. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:32:10 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <_VOV7.196162$WW.11384217@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28521

"Bert Craig" <kc2hmn@cs.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011224171540.14772.00001392@mb-bj.news.cs.com...
> Hi everybody,
>
> I just wanted to take a moment to thank a few of the folks on r.r.a.p.
for all > the help they gave me with my license upgrade. Ed Hare for never even allowing > me to entertain the thought that I wouldn't lick the code test like a postage > stamp. Jerry Oxendine and Jim Hampton for encouraging me to "enjoy" the code > and giving me pointers in 'Conversational CW 101' so I wouldn't sound like a > horses you-know-what upon my first true AR CW QSO. Dick McCollum gets BIG TIME
> kudos for answering a multitude of questions with the patience of Job.
> Especially for telling me to "calm down," when, for reasons unknown to
this > day, all my "Fast Farnsworth" practice flew out the window and I couldn't copy
> 5-wpm to save my life...on the day before the test.
>
> I'm forced to put Dick Carroll and Larry Roll in a separate paragraph
because > they helped me with something other than the code...an attitude adjustment.
> Their self-made reputations as r.r.a.p. "toughies" are forever shattered
in > this ham's eyes as they demonstrated that they would've gladly given me
their
> "lucky" shirts off their backs if it'd help me pass. Needless to say both were > very happy to hear that I passed. BTW, if you study with the ARRL 'Fast > Farnsworth' CD's, the actual exam characters will feel like they're "floating
> in."
>
> I originally did not want to write this because I thought it might be construed > as a "congratulate me" post. I did so because I want to let anybody who might > be "put off" by what they perceive as an attitude know that these folks WANT to > help you...so stick around.

>
> I'd be remiss if I didn't mention one other guy, a non-ham. My college > certification professor, Mr. Cronk. He fixed it so that we could NOT earn our > sheepskins by just memorizing exam pool questions, hence the birth of
the > infamous "Cronk screenings." The General was easy but the Extra required
the > dusting off of some pretty deeply buried electronics theory. Thanks Professor
> C.!
>
> If I failed to mention any of you who encouraged me along the way, forgive me.
> I just wanted to acknowledge the folks I leaned on the most. Thanks again. I > promise to pass it on to others. :-)
>
> 73 de Bert
> KC2HMN

More than that cannot be asked. We've all been there, Bert.

Dick N�BK

5625. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:38:00 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <s%OV7.196167$WW.11384424@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28522

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:303866F887C70E66.4BAA1DCC39D0DB29.E084D98A420123CC@lp.airnews.net...
> On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 04:18:58 GMT, "Richard McCollum" > <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote:
>
> >With all due respect Rick this is why killfiles were invented. If > >harassment it be as opposed to two people making prime fools of themselves
> >it is easily cured.
>
> In most cases I would agree. While I don't use kill files, > neither am I bothered by people flaming me--I'm only offended when > they aren't good enough at the task to make the flame war fun.
>
> On the other hand, this thread was specifically created--and > Larry Roll has stated more than once that it will CONTINUE to > exist--for the sole purpose of attempting to intimidate Kim into > changing her call sign. In that case, a kill file isn't an acceptable > solution since she would have to kill file people who may otherwise > have something of relevance to amateur radio, and who she would no > longer be able to read. More, the thread about HER would continue > without her even having the chance to respond to new insults or lies > about her. Clearly, that's not an acceptable resolution in this case > as it would be if, for example, the argument were over code testing or > some other non-personal issue.
>
> >If my experience is indicative, getting kicked off Earthlink would be a > >favor -- kind of like throwing Brer Rabbit into the briar patch.
>
> Now THERE we agree! Earthlink is like aol for the learning > disabled (sort of like msn, but better email access). On the other > hand, it isn't the loss of the account that would be relevant--it's > the fact that people who are adamant about "ethics" and "morality" are > willing to deliberately break their words to their isps by violating > the terms of their agreements. To me, that tells everyone a great deal > about their so-called morality and makes their claim that they have > the "moral high ground" when it comes to Kim's choice of her call sign > just a bit ludicrous.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH

> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>

Many years ago, a roommate at Wash U in St. Louis had, in hieroglyphics no less, a sign on our door. The gung-ho shall inherit the earth -- they deserve it. It is threads like this one that add new meaning to his sentiments.

5626. Re: RADIO LAW vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-24 23:43:38 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <K4PV7.178611$bs2.29764512@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 28523
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

"N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
news:soIV7.118$T6.183447@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
>
> Democracy is a lynch mob, majority rules.
> We are a republic and the liberals have > made damned sure that it has problems.
>
>
This is by far the only good thing in a post from you yet!
Train

5627. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 00:28:55 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a08h87$9fi$4@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28524
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

In rec.radio.cb N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote:
> : they have treated me as inferior in what associations I have had
> : with them. Again, if it comes to knowledge about their area of
> : specialization, then they are certainly more valuable as sources
> : of information. But put a physical education professor in with a > : group of physicists, and the physical ed professor is going to
> : feel inadequate and out of place.

> What kind of sheltered life do you live?

As far as I know, it is a rather normal life. But I don't live in a crowded megacity either.

> Have you been on an modern university in > the last 20 years? It is not just their specialization, > it is that they see themselves as the elite of > society.

Yes, as a matter of fact, I have. I occasionally take continuing ed classes.

> Same with doctors. Ask nurses how doctors
> act like tin gods.

I guess it depends on where you live. You have your perceptions and I have mine. I would not tolerate a doctor who was a "tin god".

> There are a good deal of elitism out there.
> For whatever reason. The Marines teach
> it. So do the police academies.

The police/Marines/doctors/professors etc ARE the elite, when it comes to their areas of expertise. Outside that, they are no better or worse than anyone else.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5628. Re: Merry Christmas from the B.A.R.F. !

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 00:29:53 UTC
From: 91bxuc2hvc8e001@sneakemail.com
Message-ID: <Xns9181C612C577DJimnospamcom@24.253.156.38>
Source record: 28525
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"The Better Amateur Radio Federation"
<lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm> wrote in news:acd51342bd2a1cfb722e90c906c5b88c@spamfreenews.com:

> As Chief of Communications, I would like to wish everyone here a Happy > Holidays!
>
>
> --
> Lloyd Davies, N0VFP
> Chief of Communications
> The Better Amateur Radio Federation
> Ham radio for Straight, White, Americans!
> http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61
>
>
>

Fuck you Davies, I hope you choke on your possum!

5629. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 00:31:03 UTC
From: Bill Nelson <billn@spock.peak.org>
Message-ID: <a08hc7$9fi$5@quark.scn.rain.com>
Source record: 28526
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

In rec.radio.cb Graham Broadbridge <grahamb@peachy.org> wrote:

> Quite likely, if you had refused the search you would have been arrested,
> and
> then searched.

They would have no cause to do so. Most likely, they would tell you to find another route - which is rather long in the instance mentioned.

--
Bill Nelson (billn@peak.org)

5630. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 01:25:42 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <qAQV7.196255$WW.11390036@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28527

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote

> It is very probable that after WRC 2003 the code test treaty requirement will > simply disappear. I can imagine the entire action at WRC 2003 will consist of > something like "Eliminate S25.5? The ayes have it" and that will be the end of > it. FCC and many other agencies will simply drop the code test. FCC could > simply say that Element 1 was "waived" until the treaty was formally ratified > and the appropriate US regs changed.

> What should be discussed NOW is what the US license structure will become > if/when S25.5 goes away. Some folks want just one class of license, while > others want two classes at most. Some say "just drop Element 1 and leave the > rest alone". Lots of ideas and possibilities, but I don't see much real > discussion about the subject.

> General question to all: What are YOUR ideas?

Ok Jim... herre's my ideas.

First, consider this, we have two 'kinds' of licenses. Those which can be granted and those which can't. I believe this must be solved before or during whatever else is done.

So, when the morse requirements are gone we have six licenses most with a different count for written elements completed.

Technician and Technician Plus have passed the same written elements. If the Novice is promoted to this class by simply waiving element 2 then the situation becomes much clearer. Call this Technician class.

The General Class remains as is.

The difference between Advanced and Amateur Extra is element 4(B) so waive it. Call this Amateur Extra Class.

Now, we have only three license classes all available for growth.

This simplifies the existing band plans. I've listed the changes resulting from the above action.

1) The entire bands above 30 MHz are open to all licensees.
2) Novice subbands on 1.25 meters and 23 centimeters disappear.
3) Technicians get 200W 28.100 to 28.300 on 10 meters.

4) Technicians get 200W CW and SSB only 28.300 to 28.500 on 10 meters.
5) Technicians get 200W CW only subbands on 15, 40, and 80 meters.
6) Advanced Class subbands on 80, 40, 20, and 15 meters disappear.

All this is accomplished by waiving Element 2 for Novices and waiving Element 4(B) for Advanced. I think this is a very tiny price to pay in order to have a structure which can have some basic adjustments applied for better transitioning of everyone throughout the ARS experience.

I now add my thoughts on the 'adjustments'... ;-)

One, give the Technicians 10 meters because in light of the infringement of freebanders it's better to have plenty of licenced operators squatting there trying to maintain control of the band. There is no sense in being exclusionary to your fellow hams. I say get the freeband candidates licensed and accountable. This would eliminate the subband on 10 meters which I view a good thing. As far as I'm concerned limit everyone on the band to 200 watts and go after the jerks.

Two, give the Technicians 200 W CW only operation on the General subands. If you want them to learn CW then put the horse before cart and the carrot in front of the horse. This would eliminate the CW only subbands on 15, 40, and 80 meters.

As Red Green would say... "We're all in this together"... ;-)

Rich

5631. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 02:29:58 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011224212958.24476.00001390@mb-fc.aol.com>
Source record: 28528

>
>If I failed to mention any of you who encouraged me along the way, forgive
>me.
>I just wanted to acknowledge the folks I leaned on the most. Thanks again. I >promise to pass it on to others. :-)
>
>73 de Bert
>KC2HMN

Bert:

You did it and YOU deserve all the credit. I can not take any of the credit for your accomplishment just because I told you something about yourself that you obviously already knew. However, perhaps by posting here in the future, and explaining to people that they can pass a code test like a Ferrari passing a Yugo in second gear, then you can take ham radio one step further from extinction.

Good luck and enjoy your new privileges comforted in the knowledge that you are, indeed, a Real Ham!

73 de Larry, K3LT
Posting from my ancestral home in Alden, NY, and wishing everyone a very Merry Christmas!

5632. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 03:58:49 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c27fa6e_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28529

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:9DrV7.194782$WW.11285611@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> Dick Carroll wrote
>
> > What a maroon.
>
> Ah, Carroll, That is a racist statement. Do you know what a maroon is????
>
> Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a moron is > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is. Steve the LPN called me that > once. So, I have to think it is a trait of self-rightious pro-coders. ;-)
>
> > What Kim has done is to eagerly join the mass of other > > morons on 3950, 14313 etc without ever placing a signal on the air or > uttering
> > a syllable. Her callsign has already said it all.
>
> Wrong, Carol, her call sign has absolutely nothing to do with the idiots
on > 3950 and 14313. Try to come up with an argument that's, at least, plausable.
>
> Rich
>

Thing is...no one's been able to do that yet (give a plausible argument). ;)

Merry Christmas, W5TIT

5633. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:08:07 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c27fc9c_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28531

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C269932.EDC9FF8C@townsqr.com...
>
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > K0HB wrote:
> > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> >
> > How many times?
>
> As many times as it takes to convince her and you.
>

Ever hear the phrase "falling on deaf ears"?

Kim W5TIT

5634. Re: PROOF that we are all BARKING MAD! CBERS.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:10:41 UTC
From: Reg Edwards <g4fgq.regp@btinternet.com>
Message-ID: <a08u81$9nk$1@helle.btinternet.com>
Source record: 28530
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Dear Radiosam,

An amendment :

Place a full stop after "Mad" and delete "Cb-ers".

Merry Xmas.

Reg.

5635. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:11:13 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c27fd56_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28532

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:BF9A4B9886B5806C.A8505456F572616C.8D597DE35B7791BE@lp.airnews.net...
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 21:57:47 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Naw Rick, that simply doesn't wash. Kim's own comments directed at > >those who object to her choice show her to be giving at least as much as > >she gets. There isn't a time limit on quantity limit on First Amendment > >rights. This is a plain old electonic bulletin board. I'm free to post > >here numerous times daily.
>
> Only if your ISP agreement states that. The First Amendment
> (or any OTHER Constitutional protection) does NOT apply to the private > sector (which your access to the Inet is), only to those areas > governed by the federal government.
>
> >I'm offended by her call. I don't need to produce a potential ham.
> >We have several others here who are offended.
>
> You have stated your perspective. That's reasonable. But > continuing to do so isn't a question of voicing opinion, it's one of > harassing someone.
>
> >> Mine are quite consistent--and so are Cecil's for that matter.
> >
> >At last reading, you guys couldn't even agree on what makes a > >libertarian.
>
> No--we disagree on Libertarian party philosophy. We agree on > what a "libertarian" is--we simply don't agree on what a party which > identifies itself as "Libertarian" should have as a platform. That's > no more the same thing than stating you believe in democratic > principles means you have to agree with the Democratic Party platform.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>

> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

Aw, that's OK, Rick. Dave H., Larry R., Dick C., etc., all are nothing more than armchair nitwits. They get to run their own personal little crusade on a newsgroup. I don't think I've ever heard of one protest by any of them on the air with any of the other "distasteful" sets they've each spoken of at one time or another. I'm an easy target for them...and they enjoy it.

At least I have them off the back of someone else. It's cute how they feel so connected to the ARS. Or, should I say, use the ARS as such an excuse?

Kim W5TIT

5636. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:19:21 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c27ff3e_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28533

"James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com> wrote in message news:gsce2ukpsvamtl7vq32rttmgpmktkk47j4@4ax.com...
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 23:20:48 -0600, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
> wrote:
>
> >Dick Carroll wrote:
> >>
> >> CAM wrote:
> >>
> >> > K0HB wrote:
> >> > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> >> >
> >> > How many times?
> >>
> >> As many times as it takes to convince her and you.
> >
> >I will never be convinced. Kim will probably never be > >convinced. W5TIT is a valid callsign issued by the FCC.
> >Would the FCC issue a trashy callsign? If so, it's the > >FCC's fault. Webster's even proves that W5TIT is not > >trashy. "trashy - inferior in quality; useless or > >worthless" Kim's callsign is worth as much as any
> >other callsign.
> If you all are going to continue to pick on Kim for picking
> W5TIT, why don't you pick on Larry Bowling, W4TIT?
> You do realize that there are other people out here that > have callsigns with the letters "TIT" in them, but I guess > you already know that, right.
>
> Regards,
>
> James
>
> Note: To reply by email, remove the "X" in the reply to address.

Wow! Maybe someday we could have the TIT club. Ooops, never mind...LOL

Kim W5TIT

5637. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:24:50 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c280087_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28534

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2756DB.32A0F26A@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > >
> > > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws.
> > > > >
> > > > > If you think I've exceeded the limit of time I'm allowed to say
> > > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign.", take me to court.
> > > >
> > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign." ...
> > > >
> > > "harass - to trouble by repeated attacks"
> > >
> > > Work on being able to apply those definitions.
> >
> > OK, Kim is being repeatedly attacked on this newsgroup for her choice > > of a callsign legally issued by the FCC. That's harassment and you > > are violating the contract you signed with your ISP.
>
> You are a silly old man, Cecil.
>
> Kim is being chided, occasionally insulted and often undergoes derision > for her choice of callsign.
>

I have? Doesn't one need to "feel" these things in order for them to be assessed in such a manner? I have never felt chided, have never felt insulted. And, I surely feel no derision whatsoever. On the other hand, Dave, I believe you are beginning to become as deluded as Larry. He also believes I am somehow affected as such by his opinion of my callsign.

Maybe the two of you could pat each other on the back.

Kim W5TIT

5638. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:28:50 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c280177_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28535

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2759CB.48DB8F4C@earthlink.net...
> James R. DeLoach wrote:
> >
> > On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 03:17:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > wrote:
> >
> > >CAM wrote:
> > >>
> > >> Dave Heil wrote:
> > >> > I'm content to draw attention to the FCC's about face. In the past, the > > >> > Commission would not and did not issue such calls.
> > >>
> > >> Aha, so the FCC is to blame. That's what I have been saying all along.
> > >> It is the FCC's responsibility to recall Kim's callsign if necessary.
> > >> Otherwise, the FCC has given its tacit approval and sided with Kim > > >> against you and your United Uppity Prudes of the ARS.
> > >
> > >The FCC did not choose Kim's callsign. Kim did that and she did it > > >deliberately to get the nudge, wink reaction.
> > >
> > >Is it your opinion that anyone with a sense of propriety is an uppity > > >prude?
> > >
> > >Dave K8MN
> > Why do you continue to badger Kim for her callsign, W5TIT?
> > If you dislike that callsign so much, why don't you pick on all the > > other hams that have callsigns with the letters, "TIT". With very > > little effort on your part you could locate them. Why not pick on > > Larry Bowling, W4TIT or is it because he is a man and Kim is a > > woman?
>
> This is your second attempt to introduce sexism into the mix, James.
> Larry W4TIT does not post here. Perhaps you can convince him to show > up. He would certainly be the recipient of my feelings toward his > choice of calls. The fact is that Kim does post here and has explained > why nudge wink she chose her particular call. She also e-mailed > Riley Hollingsworth expecting a blanket endorsement of her choice.
> She did not receive it, hence the title of this thread.
>

Dave, you really need to change your story--as it is your flawed story. If you are stupid enough to think that anyone such as Riley Hollingsworth would, for one minute, endorse a racey callsign, then your more stupid than I thought. I have more intelligence than to think Riley would ever endorse something such as my callsign. I don't think there's a person around of any official nature, out of the FCC or even the ARRL who would endorse a callsign like mine. Get real, would you?

Kim W5TIT

5639. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:29:28 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28019d_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28536

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C275AF6.7DB720E5@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C250386.413BAF74@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > Not really, Kim. I don't believe that you have any concept of what is > > > appropriate. I don't know how many think it is "OK". You've received
a > > > few statements of support here. You've also heard from a number who > > > believe that you've shown a lack of class.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Uh, Dave. I would refrain from joining your class. So to lack any of it is > > quite an achievement for me. You represent many of things I dislike in > > people. I represent many of the things you dislike in people. You have
to > > look for support in far corners for your "argument" while I pretty much > > have no argument at all. My callsign is great. No one else has to like > > it, approve of it, or bless it. That's what's so great about the world.
>
> What is? Your lack of decorum?
>
> Dave K8MN

That, and your overindulgence.

Kim W5TIT

5640. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:34:29 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2802cb$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28537

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C275D4A.BB14655B@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C25044C.4766B089@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > What's with this "silver spoon" stuff, Kim? This is perhaps the third > > > or fourth time you've used it with me? What has it to do with my > > > comment? Did you or did you not receive the positive response you > > > sought from Riley?
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Dave, to have received any response at all from Riley was positive. But > > you refuse to understand that. I cannot beat you over the head with
the > > statements that a) I appreciate that Riley responded to my query, b) I > > wholeheartedly accept everything Riley had to say but do not agree
with > > him that my callsign brings the ARS one step closer to extinction, c) I > > don't believe Riley was speaking official FCC line--there is no way he could > > have, d) I do believe (because I know me so well) that the reason I sent
> > the note to Riley was to ask him a question as an official of the FCC on > > what he believed the policy should be coming from a government > > organization.
> >
> > Now, for you to insist that I think anything else about or from Riley,
is > > just your ignorant silver spoon flaring at you in your face. Get a life,
> > Dave.
>
> Again, you fail to explain the silver spoon stuff, Kim. You use it but > don't attempt to explain what it is that you mean by it. It begins to > sound even more peculiar when you write something like "ignorant silver > spoon".
>
> Your response from Riley was no better than 50/50. The fact that you > disagree with him (and thus reject the portion of the response)
> regarding his statement about your helping to bring the amateur service
> "one step closer to extinction" shows that you lack any understanding of > the sensitivities of others who might be offended by your choice.
```

>

And, I'll ask you again, Dave, the question that you nor others like you ever seem to quite answer. In fact, you all avoid it like the plague. WHY should one such as me change my ways for one such as you? WHAT makes your desire for me to change more important that my desire not to? WHO made it your world to force (or even request) that others change the way they are for you? WHEN did the laws of human nature change such that you've become more superior to me and therefore have more rights than me? WHERE do you get off pushing such crap on others?

Not that I ever would, but how 'bout if I request that you come out and get a little nasty for me?

Kim W5TIT

5641. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:35:18 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2802fb_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28538

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C275118.B3034263@townsqr.com...
>
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dick Carroll wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > I know it is how you'd describe it. That's how you DID describe
it.
> > > > > The only difficulty I have with it is that it simply isn't true.
> > > >
> > > > What you are doing is harassment, pure and simple. How many times > > > > can you ring a doorbell before someone calls the cops?
> > >
> > > I hate to keep repeating myself, but you really ARE an idiot. No one > > > forces her to read anything posted here.
> >
> > Be that as it may, what you guys are doing meets the definition of > > harassment and no doubt violates the rules and standards of your ISPs.
>
> >
>
> As asways you make rules on the fly to suit your Agenda du jour.
>

Yeah, Dave does have a tendency toward that du jour stuff.

Kim W5TIT

5642. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:42:23 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2804a5_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28540

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C276135.E977741B@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C250511.92F4443@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > ho ho ho....ya found a silver lining in your train of thinking, did ya?
> > > > You're hilarious. WHY would I change my callsign just because someone > > > > doesn't like it, or thinks it's baaaaaaaaddddddd for the ARS?
> > >
> > > Because it is the right thing to do.
> > >
> >
> > That would be your definition of right, Dave. Not mine. What makes your > > kind of people think they have the final say over my kind of people?
>
> "My" kind of people don't choose callsigns which could be construed to > be anything other than callsigns. "Your" kind of people choose > callsigns which can offend others and which are deliberately chosen for > maximum effect.
>

OK, Dave. You are offensive to me. Now, what the Hell are you going to do about it? :o

>
> "My" kind of people would admit it if they'd done > something stupid and would take steps to rectify it.
>

And, I would too.

>
> "Your" kind of > people bray about their "rights" to the world. They are, in some > manner, pleased to thumb their noses at the world.
>

And, so what? How many people have successfully thumb their noses at the world and made our lives better for it? Do you live by some kind of book, never ever reaching for the stars, or stepping outside the box, Dave?

>
> > > > > She also perceives someone as an "elitist" when that person recognizes > > > > > tacky as tacky.
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > >
> > > > > You are an elitist, Dave. A highly crappy one, but one nevertheless.
> > >
> > > Why would that be the case? Is it because I didn't choose a tacky > > > callsign? Is it because I've stated that I find your choice of calls
is > > > tacky and lacking in judgement?
> > >
> >
> > I consider you an elitist for the reason stated above. You think I should > > change my callsign because you think it is the right thing to do. I don't > > request that you get a callsign that complies with my idea of callsigns,
> > do I? Never would.
>
>
> What part of the makeup of my callsign offends the sensibilities of > anyone, Kim?
>

I am an anyone, Dave. And your bland, lifeless, simpleton callsign offends me to no end.

>
> > I am quite comfortable with however you want to think, > > until you believe the rest of the world (meaning all people) should comply > > with how you think the world should be. That's either a communist or an > > elitist. Take your pick.
>
> It is? You mean that anyone who tells you that they believe your call,
> deliberately chosen for maximum effect, takes the amateur radio service
> a step closer to extinction is either a communist or an elitist?
> That doesn't sound rational.
>

It's about as rational as your beliefs, Dave.

>
> > > I've always wondered: Is Kim short for Kimodo?
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN

> >
> > If the callsign W5TIT stands for sex in your mind, then Kim can be anything > > you want it to be, Dave. There is no miracle in what you are going to > > think.
>
> Your call doesn't stand for sex, Kim. It stands for tacky. It stands > for the lowest common denominator. It stands for thumbing your nose at > what society generally finds acceptable. It stands for lounge lizard > humor.
>
> Dave K8MN

My callsign means to you, Dave, whatever you want it to mean to you. I am not responsible for making you see the fun and humor in my callsign, the beauty and usefulness of tits, nor for any of the negativity you make it. You are responsible for your own actions, Dave, and can't blame me for your apparently filthy mind.

I wonder how much it's going to cost you to cover all the beautiful nude art in the world. You think any of those artists ever grinned just a little?

Kim W5TIT

5643. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:43:08 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2804d1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28541

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2761A1.9C3109F7@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C25074D.9742EA0B@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be > > > determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
> > > Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every > > > freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the events
> > > which have unfolded over the past several months.
> > >
> > > Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > No, and neither are yours, Dave. The government, by virtue of allowing
my > > callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a manner > > directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not me,
have > > exceeded the limits of your rights.
>
> Please tell me what the limit is on stating my belief that your call is > tacky.
>
> Dave K8MN

You can say it all you want. To demand change of me, for you, exceeds the limits.

Kim W5TIT

5644. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:43:59 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c280503$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28542

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2762A0.8F7704D2@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2554A9.4CB2E346@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > I also amused at Kim's idea that Larry and I should leave amateur
radio
> > > because she chooses to be vulgar and a part of ham radio.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > I bet you're not as amused as I am over the fact that you and Larry, et al,
> > think my callsign is vulgar.
>
> I think more than your callsign is vulgar, Kim. Your piece about what > you'd like to say to some woman at a social function was especially > enlightening. Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.
>
> Dave K8MN

Oh? I now need and have your blessing for my actions? You are becoming as delusional as Larry.

Kim W5TIT

5645. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:44:46 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c280532$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28543

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C276321.642AB693@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C261489.D79E42B7@earthlink.net...
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > There's plenty wrong with Kim's lack of class in choosing a > > deliberately
> > > > > vulgar call.
> > > >
> > > > That's your personal delusional opinion, Dave, and you are sticking
to
> > > > it. If the FCC thought there was anything wrong with Kim's callsign, > > > > they shouldn't have issued it. Thus, you have sided with Queen Victoria,
> > > > a sad throwback to days long passed.
> > >
> > > Naw, I've sided with decency, good judgement and good taste. My views > > > are personal but not delusional at all.
> > >
> > > You are right about one thing. The FCC shouldn't have issued Kim's
> > > call.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Then, take your argument to the FCC, Dave. Get them to make an official > > policy more in line with your views.
>
> You know, that's not really such a bad idea, Kim, though I think the > Commission dances better when congressmen and senators whistle a tune.
>
> Dave K8MN

You want me to look your reps names up? Maybe you can run for office yourself.

Kim W5TIT

5646. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:46:17 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28058e_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28544

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C276012.3DA14352@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
>
> >. The government, by virtue of allowing my
>
> > callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a manner > > directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not me,
have > > exceeded the limits of your rights.
>
> So where is it stated that the government has a responsibility to protect you > from your ignorance? If you do sonething dumb you can't expect the government
> to protect you from the consequences, to include ridicule from others.
>
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>

Where do I need protection, Dick? And, I have never been ridiculed for my callsign. Sorry to burst your bubble.

Kim W5TIT

5647. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:47:27 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2805d4$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28545

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C27816D.51991201@IEEE.org...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > If the callsign W5TIT stands for sex in your mind, then Kim can be anything > > you want it to be, Dave. There is no miracle in what you are going to > > think.
>
> Do you think Dave goes down the telephone book harassing everyone whose > initials are TIT? :-)
> --
> cheers, CAM, W5DXP
>
>

You might have just given Dave another idea, Cecil :o

Kim W5TIT

5648. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:48:08 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C27F804.3B18C985@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28539

Dave Heil wrote:

> Since you aren't the alleged injured party or a member of this new class > of victim you've invented, perhaps you'd agree to counsel the holder of > the tacky callsign as to how she should proceed.

I'd bet he already has. He can't keep away from making things up. It's compulsive with him.

5649. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:48:32 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c280614$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28546

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C27852D.2B6D0DAA@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.
>
> It is you who is thumbing your nose at the world, Dave.
> Come down from your ivory tower, join the world, and > enjoy life instead of being such an elitist grinch.
> --
> cheers, CAM, W5DXP
>
>

He'd need to pull the silver spoon out of his...er...well, you get the idea.

Kim W5TIT

5650. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 04:58:26 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C27FA6D.82318E0D@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28547

Bert Craig wrote:

> Hi everybody,
>
> I just wanted to take a moment to thank a few of the folks on r.r.a.p. for all > the help they gave me with my license upgrade. >snip<

Way to go, Bert! You're the sort of guy who would do it in any era. Again, contrats.

Dick

5651. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 05:01:04 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C27FB0C.21E37B52@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28548

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> > You're just attempting to stifle my First Amendment rights.
>
> Pray tell, how would I go about doing that? Unlike you, I > am not omnipotent.
>
> > You are badgering me and harassing me. You may find yourself > > in trouble with your ISP for such behavior.
>
> Badgering a harasser is self defense, not harassing.

So you arbritrarily declare Dave to be a harrasser so that you can get a pass at harrassing him. We got it.

5652. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 05:11:36 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C280A88.B3FD8193@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28550

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> However, perhaps by posting here in the future, > and explaining to people that they can pass a code test like a Ferrari passing > a Yugo in second gear, then you can take ham radio one step further from > extinction.

Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed the 5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what response?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5653. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 05:14:03 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C27FE15.15FF1732@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28549

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
> news:9DrV7.194782$WW.11285611@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > Dick Carroll wrote
> >
> > > What a maroon.
> >
> > Ah, Carroll, That is a racist statement. Do you know what a maroon is????
> >
> > Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a moron is > > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is. Steve the LPN called me that > > once. So, I have to think it is a trait of self-rightious pro-coders. ;-)
> >
> > > What Kim has done is to eagerly join the mass of other > > > morons on 3950, 14313 etc without ever placing a signal on the air or > > uttering
> > > a syllable. Her callsign has already said it all.
> >
> > Wrong, Carol, her call sign has absolutely nothing to do with the idiots
> on > > 3950 and 14313. Try to come up with an argument that's, at least, > plausable.
> >
> > Rich
> >
>
> Thing is...no one's been able to do that yet (give a plausible argument). ;)

So why don't you send Riley Hollingsworth another email and ask him how he considers your callsign choice as compared to the other vulgarity used on the air. Let us know what his answer is this time, too.

5654. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 13:33:07 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <ne%V7.197048$WW.11421177@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28651

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C280A88.B3FD8193@IEEE.org...
> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > However, perhaps by posting here in the future, > > and explaining to people that they can pass a code test like a Ferrari passing > > a Yugo in second gear, then you can take ham radio one step further
from > > extinction.
>
> Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed
the > 5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what response?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

As the old C&W song, complete with a fiddle in the band for Texans, puts
it:

If you don't know I ain't a gonna tell you

5655. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 13:34:29 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28806A.FB97F97E@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28652

Rick Adams wrote:

> I don't advocate reporting anyone to an isp for something of > this nature (threats and spam yes, but not something like this). On > the other hand, the holier-than-thou group certainly feel that Kim has > no business doing something "inappropriate" and thus have an > obligation of their own to keep their word (as customers of an isp > everyone here agreed to adhere to the TOS/COU of the isp) and not > violate the terms of their contracts. If they do so knowingly, it > simply proves to anyone reading it that they are unwilling to > demonstrate honest, moral, and ethical behavior, and thus have no > legitimacy in judging the "moral" choices of others.

You are perhaps the ultimate hypocrite, Rick. You set yourself up as judge of what constitutes harassment and as definer of TOS/COU violations based only upon YOUR interpretations. You decry those who would judge another's actions based on morality yet set yourself up to decide who is honest, moral and ethical. Pretty pathetic stuff.

I'll let you know when Earthlink advises me that I've violated our agreement.

Dave K8MN

5656. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 13:44:21 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2882B9.61DAB8BF@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28653

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 11:23:03 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Feel free to attempt to make an issue with it to Earthlink. See if they > >share your views.
>
> I don't need to ask them, Dave, the answer is very clearly > defined in the TOU/COS you agreed to (which is available to you on the > Earthlink home site). I no more need to "prove" that to you than I > need to "prove" that it is illegal for you to transmit LSB on > 10.125MHz--in both cases the rule is clearly spelled out in a readily > available location.

There is only a violation based upon your own interpretation of what Earthlink says so your argument holds no water. You don't need to prove that I post in violation of Earthlink's policies. You aren't a factor at all. Earthlink will let me know if they believe my posts violate their policies. So far they've not done so. There is no indication that they think my commenting Kim's lack of class in choosing a tacky callsign is a problem.

> >> You have stated your perspective. That's reasonable. But > >> continuing to do so isn't a question of voicing opinion, it's one of > >> harassing someone.
> >
> >That's simply not true. If your statement was correct, your continued > >posting of information to the effect that I am harrassing Kim would have > >to be viewed as harrassment. After all, you've already stated your > >perspective.
>
> No problem at all, Dave. While I might argue that defending > against harassment is unlikely to be _viewed_ as harassment, it isn't > really relevant since I don't obtain my news feed from an isp. My news > feed comes from Airnews (Internet America) and my postings are subject > to THEIR rules, not the TOU/COS in force at voyager.net where I > receive some of my email (I also run my own servers on the three > registered domains I maintain). According to Airnews own TOU/COS I am > NOT in violation of my agreements, and thus unlike yourself, I'm not > breaking my word by my posts here.

That wouldn't matter, Rick. You'd still be harassing me whether you violated TOU/COS with anyone you deal with. As to your "defending against harassment"--Phhhhfffffffftttttttt! What a load of blarney!

> >> No--we disagree on Libertarian party philosophy. We agree on > >> what a "libertarian" is--we simply don't agree on what a party which > >> identifies itself as "Libertarian" should have as a platform. That's > >> no more the same thing than stating you believe in democratic > >> principles means you have to agree with the Democratic Party platform.
> >
> >You started out disagreeing on Libertarian Party philosophy. Things > >went down hill from there.
>
> We ended up debating an area of Libertarian Party policy that > we have very different views on--that of social support for the sick > and poor. That, however, has nothing to do with libertarian > philosophy, which limits itself to directly addressing the issues of > rights and freedoms--and in that area, Cecil and I agree on most > points and can agree to disagree on the few where we differ.

Forgive me, Rick. I didn't know that you and Cecil had come to such an agreement. It must have been done privately as it was not evident in posts to the newsgroup.

Dave K8MN

5657. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 13:45:35 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C288304.2F63B5B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28654

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > A comedian is only funny if the audience laughs. Kim falls short.
>
> Given the choice between your brand of misery and Kim's brand of > humor, guess who gets my vote?

Who said you get a vote on what I find funny?

Dave K8MN

5658. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 13:51:18 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28845C.7EFC91B9@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28655

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Earthlink has not contacted me about my alleged violations--probably > > because Kim is not a victim of harrassment.
>
> Probably because Kim is a nice person and doesn't want to get > you into trouble.

Silly me! Of course that is it. It couldn't be that the folks at Earthlink think guys like you and Rick cling to absurd ideas. They mustn't care much that I believe Kim's choice of vanity call is lacking in decorum.

Dave K8MN

5659. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 13:59:41 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <hD%V7.372$Tk6.107307@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28657
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

: > : they have treated me as inferior in what associations I have had
: > : with them. Again, if it comes to knowledge about their area of
: > : specialization, then they are certainly more valuable as sources
: > : of information. But put a physical education professor in with a : > : group of physicists, and the physical ed professor is going to
: > : feel inadequate and out of place.
:
: > What kind of sheltered life do you live?
:
: As far as I know, it is a rather normal life. But I don't live in
: a crowded megacity either.
:
: > Have you been on an modern university in
: > the last 20 years? It is not just their specialization,
: > it is that they see themselves as the elite of
: > society.
:
: Yes, as a matter of fact, I have. I occasionally take continuing
: ed classes.
:
: > Same with doctors. Ask nurses how doctors
: > act like tin gods.
:
: I guess it depends on where you live. You have your perceptions
: and I have mine. I would not tolerate a doctor who was a "tin god".
:
: > There are a good deal of elitism out there.
: > For whatever reason. The Marines teach
: > it. So do the police academies.
:
: The police/Marines/doctors/professors etc ARE the elite, when it
: comes to their areas of expertise. Outside that, they are no better
: or worse than anyone else.

There is the problem. Because they are elite in their fields, they do transfer that attitude to every other aspect of society. Because they are competent, they tend that no one else is.
And if they do not know how to do it, then
no one else should be able to do so either.
(Thus the desire to ban technology such as guns or radios).

5660. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 14:03:36 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225090336.10613.00000798@mb-cc.aol.com>
Source record: 28656

>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>From: "D. Stussy" kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org
>Date: 12/24/2001 3:43 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112242140370.1871-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>

>So a criminal conviction for violation of the Communications Act is not >sufficient reason?

The purpose and intent of our criminal justice system is to punish a person for non-compliance, allegedly rehabilitate them, then return them to society...

NOT keep on punishing them again and again and again.

>He has already proven that he cannot follow the rules. An >amateur radio license is a privilege, not a right.

You are absolutely right...he did not follow some rules (laws)...However
NONE of the rules he violated were in Part 97.

Why is the FCC violating the Constitutional guarantees against punishment without due process?

P et V

Steve, K4YZ

5661. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 14:23:45 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C288BE3.82B1D724@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28658

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 04:18:58 GMT, "Richard McCollum" > <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote:
>
> >With all due respect Rick this is why killfiles were invented. If > >harassment it be as opposed to two people making prime fools of themselves > >it is easily cured.
>
> In most cases I would agree. While I don't use kill files, > neither am I bothered by people flaming me--I'm only offended when > they aren't good enough at the task to make the flame war fun.
>
> On the other hand, this thread was specifically created--and > Larry Roll has stated more than once that it will CONTINUE to > exist--for the sole purpose of attempting to intimidate Kim into > changing her call sign. In that case, a kill file isn't an acceptable > solution since she would have to kill file people who may otherwise > have something of relevance to amateur radio, and who she would no > longer be able to read. More, the thread about HER would continue > without her even having the chance to respond to new insults or lies > about her. Clearly, that's not an acceptable resolution in this case > as it would be if, for example, the argument were over code testing or > some other non-personal issue.
>
> >If my experience is indicative, getting kicked off Earthlink would be a > >favor -- kind of like throwing Brer Rabbit into the briar patch.
>
> Now THERE we agree! Earthlink is like aol for the learning > disabled (sort of like msn, but better email access). On the other > hand, it isn't the loss of the account that would be relevant--it's > the fact that people who are adamant about "ethics" and "morality" are > willing to deliberately break their words to their isps by violating > the terms of their agreements. To me, that tells everyone a great deal > about their so-called morality and makes their claim that they have > the "moral high ground" when it comes to Kim's choice of her call sign
> just a bit ludicrous.

Earthlink is like internet access since that is what it is. Some use Earthlink's software, others don't. Your condesending attitude duly noted.

What is a bit ludicrous--no, make that extremely ludicrous is your claim that one stating his opinion in a non-threatening manner is guilty of harassment of another based upon your personal (and obviously skewed) interpretation of an ISPs terms of service.

Dave K8MN

5662. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 14:43:12 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C289053.64B8946B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28659

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 11:30:58 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >That is simply your interpretation. If you feel strongly, make an issue > >of it with Earthlink.
>
> I'm not interested in making it into an issue, Dave. Only in > pointing out your own lack of morality and ethics in deliberately > violating the agreement you made when you signed up for Earthlink > services. If you profess to be credible in claiming Kim's call sign is > inappropriate, then it follows that the readers have a right to know > what your OWN ethics and morality are like, so they can decide whether > you are worth listening to or not.
>
> Clearly you are not.

Clearly, you aren't in command of your faculties if you are basing your absurd claims in your own interpretation of actions. Your skew to the left is evident.

> >Your idiotic claim (as if capital letters make something true) that it > >is "CLEARLY" harrassment is absurd on its face. That you would attempt > >to stifle another's First Amendment rights shows us that your > >committment to libertarianism is only thin veneer.
>
> I really wish that at least a FEW of the people who toss out
> "First Amendment" or "Constitution" in support of their actions would > READ them first!
>
> The Constitution of the United States applies ONLY to actions > governed by the federal government. It does NOT limit restrictions > that may be place by the private sector. For example, if you choose to > stand on a soapbox (in a place where gatherings are legally permitted, > and on public land, of course) and preach hatred for Islamic people, > you may be regarded as a fool but unless you are actually calling for > violence or riot (legally: hate speech), you are totally legal doing > so and will suffer no sanctions as a result. On the other hand, if you > do precisely the same thing in the employee lounge at your place of > work, your employer is well within his or her rights to terminate you > on the spot.

Do your research, Rick. You haven't proven anything at all by your speculative claims. Kim isn't a victim of anything other than her own poor judgement. Your efforts to paint her a victim make you look silly and Kim look even more silly than she already looks.

> By choosing Earthlink as your isp, you agreed to be bound to > their conditions of service and terms of usage--and your behavior in > this newsgroup is a direct violation of that agreement. It's > irrelevant if you could legally be prosecuted for harassment or not,
> the fact remains that you gave your word NOT to violate those terms > and are now doing so.

When you become Mr. Earthlink and decide that I've violated my TOS, get back with me. Until that time, your silliness is simply a misinterpretation by an individual not involved in any agreement between me and my ISP.

> By the way, before you accuse me of doing the same thing, > Dave, take a look at the TOU/COS on airnews and on altopia (the two > news services I use) and you will discover that the agreements are NOT > the same as that for your isp--and I am NOT in violation of either > one. Unlike you, I keep my word.

I haven't accused you nor do I intend to. I don't want to look like the fool you've made of yourself.

> >> All true. NONE of those locations are private in nature, and > >> therefore are subject to the protections of the First Amendment. On > >> the other hand, if you choose to stand on a street corner stating that > >> someone is immoral and has no self-respect (as you have done with > >> Kim), then by necessity you leave yourself open to defamation of > >> character suits--the "protection" against abuse of your First > >> Amendment rights.
> >
> >Excuse me? At which point did I state that Kim is immoral. Lacking > >taste in obtaining a trashy callsign is not the same as accusing one of > >being immoral. Get a life, Rick.
>
> The concept of "trashy" is synonymous with lacking in morals > and we both know it. If you're going to debate words at least use them > correctly.

Am I getting this message on word useage from a guy who can't even interpret TOS with an ISP without inserting his skewed social bias?
You're on the road to replacing Cecil as a guy who can't be taken seriously.

> >No one receives immunity from insults, Rick. You yourself have often > >handed out insults which go well beyond expressing an opinion. You are > >stuck with a few empty claims.
>
> I never claimed I _didn't_ insult anyone here--although if > you'll look at my posts, I've never been the first to use a direct > insult with someone. Once I'm told I'm an idiot, a fool, or any of the > other accusations that have greeted some of my posts I feel perfectly > comfortable responding in kind.

I'll have to check out your claim. I could swear that you've been first any number of times, not that it really matter. We're not really discussing whether you've insulted folks but that no person is granted immunity from being insulted.

> On the other hand, my actions aren't the ones at issue here.
> Nothing I've posted to this group is in any way in violation of my > agreements with my service providers, and none of it is in any way > harassing (I respond to other's posts, I don't originate them--and > unlike Larry Roll, I have NOT stated that the thread won't be allowed > to die until someone changes their behavior to conform to my desires).

Gee, if that's how your logic works, then I'm not guilty of anything. With only a couple of exceptions, I've not begun threads, I've simply responded to the posts of others. You have yet to prove that anyone is in violation of ISP terms of service. You're simply babbling based on your own silly interpretations of what makes up harassment. Your actions here as a claimant to the throne of "newsgroup morality monitor" are certainly at issue. Why should anyone accept your interpretations of terms of service violations at face value?

> The issue here is the discussion of Kim's call sign (not the call sign > itself, the discussion of it). And the relevant concerns are the > veracity and legitimacy of those who feel that call sign is > inappropriate. Clearly, if the people who are arguing against it can > be shown to be dishonest themselves (as is the case with your > violation of the agreements you made with Earthlink) then their > statements have to be viewed as originating with known liars and > evaluated on that basis alone.

It would be so simple if we'd just agree to your views of what constitutes harassment and what constitutes violations of terms of service with various ISPs. Since I don't agree with you, that makes your litany just so much background buzz. You'd like to make an issue of my honesty and morality but you have no ammunition. What is a body to do?

Dave K8MN

5663. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 14:49:35 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C289206.D0CE47C6@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28660

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> news:3C269932.EDC9FF8C@townsqr.com...
> >
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> >
> > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> > >
> > > How many times?
> >
> > As many times as it takes to convince her and you.
> >
>
> Ever hear the phrase "falling on deaf ears"?

While I've long suspected that you are incapable of telling the difference between right and wrong, good taste and poor taste and poetry compared to Rod McKuen, I've always had hope that you could be persuaded that you've done something rather stupid.

I maintain that hope.

Dave K8MN

5664. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 15:04:36 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28958B.5F6B0750@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28661

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> Aw, that's OK, Rick. Dave H., Larry R., Dick C., etc., all are > nothing more than armchair nitwits.
> They get to run their own personal little crusade on > a newsgroup. I don't think I've ever heard of one protest by any of them on > the air with any of the other "distasteful" sets they've each spoken of at > one time or another. I'm an easy target for them...and they enjoy it.

You'd have a hard time listening for an on-air discussion by any of us if you are only listening to a couple of 2m FM repeaters in Texas. You probably have only to listen the folks you've honked off down there as a result of the clashes you've previously revealed with hams down your way.

> At least I have them off the back of someone else. It's cute how they > feel so connected to the ARS. Or, should I say, use the ARS as such an excuse?

You should say that if it is what you really meant. Maybe it is your own masochistic desire to be used as a newsgroup punching bag which brought you to begin posting your material about your clashes with League officials in your area, your reasoning in choosing a tacky vanity call, your "what I'd like to say to some woman at a social function" and the like.

Dave K8MN

5665. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 15:09:53 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2896C8.159D318@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28662

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2756DB.32A0F26A@earthlink.net...
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > > > > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws.
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > If you think I've exceeded the limit of time I'm allowed to say
> > > > > > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign.", take me to court.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign." ...
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > "harass - to trouble by repeated attacks"
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Work on being able to apply those definitions.
> > > > >
> > > > > OK, Kim is being repeatedly attacked on this newsgroup for her choice
> > > > > of a callsign legally issued by the FCC. That's harassment and you > > > > > are violating the contract you signed with your ISP.
> > >
> > > You are a silly old man, Cecil.
> > >
> > > Kim is being chided, occasionally insulted and often undergoes derision
> > > for her choice of callsign.
> > >
>
> I have? Doesn't one need to "feel" these things in order for them to be > assessed in such a manner? I have never felt chided, have never felt > insulted. And, I surely feel no derision whatsoever. On the other hand, > Dave, I believe you are beginning to become as deluded as Larry. He also > believes I am somehow affected as such by his opinion of my callsign.
>
```

> Maybe the two of you could pat each other on the back.

Wow--quite an admission, Kim! There goes the great Cecil and Rick harassment theory. I don't hold with the notion that you'd have to feel chided, insulted or derided. I'd think you'd have to be able to tell the difference between what is right and wrong, what is proper and improper, what is socially acceptable and socially unacceptable for those feelings to take effect. Yet you are somehow "affected" since you'd likely not respond to posts concerning the issue unless some emotion bubbled to the surface.

Dave K8MN

5666. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 15:14:15 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2897CD.E53C98D2@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28663

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2759CB.48DB8F4C@earthlink.net...
> > James R. DeLoach wrote:
> > >
> > > On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 03:17:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > > wrote:
> > >
> > > >CAM wrote:
> > > >>
> > > >> Dave Heil wrote:
> > > >> > I'm content to draw attention to the FCC's about face. In the > past, the > > > >> > Commission would not and did not issue such calls.
> > > >>
> > > >> Aha, so the FCC is to blame. That's what I have been saying all > along.
> > > >> It is the FCC's responsibility to recall Kim's callsign if necessary.
> > > >> Otherwise, the FCC has given its tacit approval and sided with Kim > > > >> against you and your United Uppity Prudes of the ARS.
> > > >
> > > >The FCC did not choose Kim's callsign. Kim did that and she did it > > > >deliberately to get the nudge, wink reaction.
> > > >
> > > >Is it your opinion that anyone with a sense of propriety is an uppity
> > > >prude?
> > > >
> > > >Dave K8MN
> > > Why do you continue to badger Kim for her callsign, W5TIT?
> > > If you dislike that callsign so much, why don't you pick on all the > > > other hams that have callsigns with the letters, "TIT". With very > > > little effort on your part you could locate them. Why not pick on > > > Larry Bowling, W4TIT or is it because he is a man and Kim is a > > > woman?
> >
> > This is your second attempt to introduce sexism into the mix, James.
> > Larry W4TIT does not post here. Perhaps you can convince him to show > > up. He would certainly be the recipient of my feelings toward his > > choice of calls. The fact is that Kim does post here and has explained > > why nudge wink she chose her particular call. She also e-mailed > > Riley Hollingsworth expecting a blanket endorsement of her choice.
> > She did not receive it, hence the title of this thread.
> >

>
> Dave, you really need to change your story--as it is your flawed story. If > you are stupid enough to think that anyone such as Riley Hollingsworth > would, for one minute, endorse a racey callsign, then your more stupid than > I thought. I have more intelligence than to think Riley would ever > endorse something such as my callsign. I don't think there's a person > around of any official nature, out of the FCC or even the ARRL who would > endorse a callsign like mine. Get real, would you?

I'm fine with reality, Kim. I already knew that no one at the FCC or the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls. So you've come to think of your call as "racey", have you?

Dave K8MN

5667. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 15:24:50 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C289A48.3E39B90C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28664

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C275D4A.BB14655B@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C25044C.4766B089@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > What's with this "silver spoon" stuff, Kim? This is perhaps the third > > > > or fourth time you've used it with me? What has it to do with my > > > > comment? Did you or did you not receive the positive response you > > > > sought from Riley?
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > Dave, to have received any response at all from Riley was positive. But > > > you refuse to understand that. I cannot beat you over the head with
> the > > > statements that a) I appreciate that Riley responded to my query, b) I > > > wholeheartedly accept everything Riley had to say but do not agree
> with > > > him that my callsign brings the ARS one step closer to extinction, c) I > > > don't believe Riley was speaking official FCC line--there is no way he > could > > > have, d) I do believe (because I know me so well) that the reason I > sent
> > > the note to Riley was to ask him a question as an official of the FCC on > > > what he believed the policy should be coming from a government > > > organization.
> > >
> > > Now, for you to insist that I think anything else about or from Riley,
> is > > > just your ignorant silver spoon flaring at you in your face. Get a > life,
> > > Dave.
> >
> > Again, you fail to explain the silver spoon stuff, Kim. You use it but > > don't attempt to explain what it is that you mean by it. It begins to > > sound even more peculiar when you write something like "ignorant silver > > spoon".
> >
> > Your response from Riley was no better than 50/50. The fact that you > > disagree with him (and thus reject the portion of the response)
```

> > regarding his statement about your helping to bring the amateur service
> > "one step closer to extinction" shows that you lack any understanding of > > the sensitivities of others who might be offended by your choice.
> >
>
> And, I'll ask you again, Dave, the question that you nor others like you > ever seem to quite answer. In fact, you all avoid it like the plague.
> WHY should one such as me change my ways for one such as you? WHAT > makes your desire for me to change more important that my desire not to?
> WHO made it your world to force (or even request) that others change the > way they are for you? WHEN did the laws of human nature change such that > you've become more superior to me and therefore have more rights than me?
> WHERE do you get off pushing such crap on others?
>
> Not that I ever would, but how 'bout if I request that you come out and get > a little nasty for me?

Is that your standard? Should the world stoop to the lowest possible standard? Should we totally do away with any concept of accomodating the sensibilities and values of others or do we all simply do what we want regardless of who we offend? I don't want to live in a world like that, Kim, nor do I know many folks who do. I see what you've done in the way I view the Howard Sterns of the world. You'd appear to do anything for shock value. I already gave you my answer to your "WHY?" question: Because it is the right thing to do. I think you already know that deep inside.

Dave K8MN

5668. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 15:29:47 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C289B72.93CC660A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28665

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2761A1.9C3109F7@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C25074D.9742EA0B@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must be > > > > determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
> > > > Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every > > > > freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the > events
> > > > which have unfolded over the past several months.
> > > >
> > > > Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > No, and neither are yours, Dave. The government, by virtue of allowing
> my > > > callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a manner > > > directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not me,
> have > > > exceeded the limits of your rights.
> >
> > Please tell me what the limit is on stating my belief that your call is > > tacky.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> You can say it all you want. To demand change of me, for you, exceeds the > limits.

I've demanded nothing of you, Kim. I've tried to explain to you why you should change your call, not for me alone but for any who would be offended by it and for the amateur radio service. As I pointed out to James deLoach, I'd ask anyone with a similar call do the same. They aren't all here. You are.

Dave K8MN

5669. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 15:36:45 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C289D13.11372591@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28666

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2762A0.8F7704D2@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C2554A9.4CB2E346@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > I also amused at Kim's idea that Larry and I should leave amateur
> radio
> > > > because she chooses to be vulgar and a part of ham radio.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > I bet you're not as amused as I am over the fact that you and Larry, et
> al,
> > > think my callsign is vulgar.
> >
> > I think more than your callsign is vulgar, Kim. Your piece about what > > you'd like to say to some woman at a social function was especially > > enlightening. Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Oh? I now need and have your blessing for my actions? You are becoming > as delusional as Larry.

You don't need my blessing, Kim. It should be pretty apparent that you wouldn't receive it and that you'd reject it if given. I see you as one who pretty much rejects society and civility. I see you as someone who has been snubbed at some point (and maybe on numerous occasions) and who has been so hurt by it that she has decided to make folks pay in some manner. I'm not sure if your call is a way to get even or just a way to draw attention to yourself.

Dave K8MN

5670. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 15:38:33 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C289D80.8B9C8193@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28667

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C276321.642AB693@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C261489.D79E42B7@earthlink.net...
> > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > There's plenty wrong with Kim's lack of class in choosing a > > > deliberately
> > > > > > vulgar call.
> > > > > >
> > > > > That's your personal delusional opinion, Dave, and you are sticking
> to
> > > > > it. If the FCC thought there was anything wrong with Kim's callsign, > > > > > they shouldn't have issued it. Thus, you have sided with Queen > Victoria,
> > > > > a sad throwback to days long passed.
> > > > >
> > > > Naw, I've sided with decency, good judgement and good taste. My views > > > > are personal but not delusional at all.
> > > > >
> > > > You are right about one thing. The FCC shouldn't have issued Kim's
> > > > call.
> > > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > Then, take your argument to the FCC, Dave. Get them to make an official > > > policy more in line with your views.
> > >
> > You know, that's not really such a bad idea, Kim, though I think the > > Commission dances better when congressmen and senators whistle a tune.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> You want me to look your reps names up? Maybe you can run for office > yourself.

Alan Mollohan, Robert Byrd and Jay Rockefeller. It's too early for me to think about national office. I'll probably start with the Marshall County Commission.
```

Dave K8MN

5671. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 15:40:09 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C289DE0.9CCDE8AB@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28668

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> news:3C276012.3DA14352@townsqr.com...
> >
> >
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> >
> > >. The government, by virtue of allowing my
> >
> > > callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a manner > > > directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not me,
> have > > > exceeded the limits of your rights.
> >
> > So where is it stated that the government has a responsibility to > protect you > > from your ignorance? If you do sonething dumb you can't expect the > government
> > to protect you from the consequences, to include ridicule from others.
> >
> > >
> > > Kim W5TIT
> >
>
> Where do I need protection, Dick? And, I have never been ridiculed for my > callsign. Sorry to burst your bubble.

You've been ridiculed for your callsign any number of times here alone.

Dave K8MN

5672. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 15:41:26 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C289E2D.D0DA3058@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28669

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C27852D.2B6D0DAA@IEEE.org...
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.
> >
> > It is you who is thumbing your nose at the world, Dave.
> > Come down from your ivory tower, join the world, and > > enjoy life instead of being such an elitist grinch.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
> >
> >
>
> He'd need to pull the silver spoon out of his...er...well, you get the idea.

I've asked several times, Kim. What's with the silver spoon stuff?

Dave K8MN

5673. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:09:17 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C28A4AD.700A3AF7@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28670

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > A comedian is only funny if the audience laughs. Kim falls short.
> >
> > Given the choice between your brand of misery and Kim's brand of > > humor, guess who gets my vote?
>
> Who said you get a vote on what I find funny?

Uhhhhh, earth to Dave - it's my vote on what I find funny. Your malevolent view of reality is downright depressing. I have never even smiled at any of your postings.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5674. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:09:28 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28a5b4_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28671

```
"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C27FE15.15FF1732@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> > "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
> > news:9DrV7.194782$WW.11285611@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > > Dick Carroll wrote
> > >
> > > > What a maroon.
> > >
> > > Ah, Carroll, That is a racist statement. Do you know what a maroon is????
> > >
> > > Or... the difference between a moron and a maroon? In my book a moron
is > > > someone who doesn't know what a maroon is. Steve the LPN called me
that > > > once. So, I have to think it is a trait of self-rightious pro-coders.
;-)
> > >
> > > > What Kim has done is to eagerly join the mass of other > > > > morons on 3950, 14313 etc without ever placing a signal on the air or > > > uttering
> > > > a syllable. Her callsign has already said it all.
> > >
> > > Wrong, Carol, her call sign has absolutely nothing to do with the idiots
> > on > > > 3950 and 14313. Try to come up with an argument that's, at least, > > plausable.
> > >
> > > Rich
> > >
> >
> > Thing is...no one's been able to do that yet (give a plausible argument). ;)
>
> So why don't you send Riley Hollingsworth another email and ask him how
he > considers your callsign choice as compared to the other vulgarity used on the
```

> air. Let us know what his answer is this time, too.
>

Dick, you oaf, you know as well as I do what his answer would be. At least I think you have at least that small amount of intelligence. But, just in case you are wondering what his response would be, you are more than welcome to send him a note and ask. His opinion is no more plausible than anyone else's. It simply is not true that my callsign has the magnitude of impact to the ARS as to bring it anywhere but where people like you bring it.

Kim W5TIT

5675. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:11:36 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28a62f_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28672

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C288304.2F63B5B@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > A comedian is only funny if the audience laughs. Kim falls short.
> > >
> > > Given the choice between your brand of misery and Kim's brand of > > > humor, guess who gets my vote?
> >
> > Who said you get a vote on what I find funny?
> >
> > Dave K8MN

And, conversely Dave, who said you get a vote on what Cecil finds funny?
For God's sake, why, why, why is it only you who you think should count?

Kim W5TIT

5676. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:12:31 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28a666$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28674

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28845C.7EFC91B9@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > Earthlink has not contacted me about my alleged violations--probably > > > because Kim is not a victim of harrassment.
> >
> > Probably because Kim is a nice person and doesn't want to get > > you into trouble.
>
> Silly me! Of course that is it. It couldn't be that the folks at > Earthlink think guys like you and Rick cling to absurd ideas. They > mustn't care much that I believe Kim's choice of vanity call is lacking > in decorum.
>
> Dave K8MN

Ya finally get close to something that is probably right. I doubt there are many at all who care what you believe, Dave.

Kim W5TIT

5677. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:14:33 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C28A5E9.B168E85@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28673

Dave Heil wrote:
> I already knew that no one at the FCC or
> the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls.

From Webster's: "endorse - to inscribe with a title"

The FCC endorsed Kim's callsign when they issued it.
Kim's official ARS title, endorsed by the FCC, is clearly printed on her amateur radio license.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5678. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:15:55 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28a732_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28677

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C289053.64B8946B@earthlink.net...
>
> Do your research, Rick. You haven't proven anything at all by your > speculative claims. Kim isn't a victim of anything other than her own > poor judgement.
>

What poor judgement, Dave? Who died and made you the judge? You are really getting ridiculously desperate to be right.

Kim W5TIT

5679. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:16:16 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C28A650.69A61229@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28675

Dave Heil wrote:
> I've demanded nothing of you, Kim. I've tried to explain to you why you > should change your call, not for me alone but for any who would be > offended by it and for the amateur radio service.

And some of us have described how you are being offensive to us.
Yet you choose to do absolutely nothing about it. Your double standard is showing.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5680. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:19:07 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28a7f2_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28680

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C289206.D0CE47C6@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> > news:3C269932.EDC9FF8C@townsqr.com...
> > >
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> > > >
> > > > How many times?
> > >
> > > As many times as it takes to convince her and you.
> > >
> >
> > Ever hear the phrase "falling on deaf ears"?
>
> While I've long suspected that you are incapable of telling the > difference between right and wrong, good taste and poor taste and poetry
> compared to Rod McKuen, I've always had hope that you could be persuaded > that you've done something rather stupid.
>
> I maintain that hope.
>
> Dave K8MN

OK, Larry. OH, it's Dave who echoes Larry's thoughts now. Isn't that just so cute? Now you wish to determine what someone's idea of poetry is. Do you advocate judging how everyone shall live, what art they shall also believe is beautiful, what political thoughts are correct?

You are quite the follower, Davey. Here's a Christmas present for you: get some gristle to your personality--step out of the cramped, deplorable box you live in and dare, just dare, to take life on.

Kim W5TIT

5681. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:19:24 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C28A70C.A2B29B18@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28676

Dave Heil wrote:
> Silly me! Of course that is it. It couldn't be that the folks at > Earthlink think guys like you and Rick cling to absurd ideas. They > mustn't care much that I believe Kim's choice of vanity call is lacking > in decorum.

What you think is not the problem, Dave. The volume of postings telling us what you think is extreme overkill and meets the definition of harassment.
Any rational person would realize that. Methinks thou protesteth too much.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5682. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:21:11 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C28A777.63849FAD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28678

Dave Heil wrote:
> I'd think you'd have to be able to tell > the difference between what is right and wrong, what is proper and > improper, what is socially acceptable and socially unacceptable for > those feelings to take effect.

Since you are unable to tell the difference between right and wrong, you are trying to hold Kim to a double standard. Your harassment is wrong, Dave, and I hope you are rational enough to realize that.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5683. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:22:17 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C28A7B9.D6C23467@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28679

Dave Heil wrote:
> While I've long suspected that you are incapable of telling the > difference between right and wrong, good taste and poor taste and poetry
> compared to Rod McKuen, I've always had hope that you could be persuaded > that you've done something rather stupid.

The most stupid thing on this newsgroup is your harassment of Kim for possessing a callsign endorsed by the FCC.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5684. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:22:26 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28a8b9_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28681

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28958B.5F6B0750@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> > Aw, that's OK, Rick. Dave H., Larry R., Dick C., etc., all are > > nothing more than armchair nitwits.
> > They get to run their own personal little crusade on > > a newsgroup. I don't think I've ever heard of one protest by any of them on > > the air with any of the other "distasteful" sets they've each spoken of
at > > one time or another. I'm an easy target for them...and they enjoy it.
>
> You'd have a hard time listening for an on-air discussion by any of us
> if you are only listening to a couple of 2m FM repeaters in Texas. You > probably have only to listen the folks you've honked off down there as a > result of the clashes you've previously revealed with hams down your > way.
>

Oh, Hell no. I assure you they are in the minority, Dave.

> > At least I have them off the back of someone else. It's cute how they > feel so connected to the ARS. Or, should I say, use the ARS as such an excuse?
>
> You should say that if it is what you really meant. Maybe it is your > own masochistic desire to be used as a newsgroup punching bag which > brought you to begin posting your material about your clashes with > League officials in your area, your reasoning in choosing a tacky vanity > call, your "what I'd like to say to some woman at a social function" and > the like.
>
> Dave K8MN

You are getting desperate, Dave. Desperate. You want so bad to be so right. Go open the Christmas present I gave to you. Liberate yourself, please! You'll have so much more to be happy about.

It cracks me up hysterically that you are so stuck on the word fuck. George Carlin is also one of my heroes.

Kim W5TIT

5685. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:28:23 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28aa1f_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28682

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2896C8.159D318@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2756DB.32A0F26A@earthlink.net...
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > > > > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > If you think I've exceeded the limit of time I'm allowed to say
> > > > > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign.", take me to court.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign." ...
> > > > > >
> > > > > "harass - to trouble by repeated attacks"
> > > > >
> > > > Work on being able to apply those definitions.
> > > >
> > > OK, Kim is being repeatedly attacked on this newsgroup for her
choice
> > > of a callsign legally issued by the FCC. That's harassment and you > > > are violating the contract you signed with your ISP.
> > >
> > You are a silly old man, Cecil.
> >
> > Kim is being chided, occasionally insulted and often undergoes derision
> > for her choice of callsign.
> >
> >
> I have? Doesn't one need to "feel" these things in order for them to be > > assessed in such a manner? I have never felt chided, have never felt > > insulted. And, I surely feel no derision whatsoever. On the other hand,
```

> > Dave, I believe you are beginning to become as deluded as Larry. He also > > believes I am somehow affected as such by his opinion of my callsign.
> >
> > Maybe the two of you could pat each other on the back.
>
> Wow--quite an admission, Kim! There goes the great Cecil and Rick > harassment theory.
>

Is it my responsibility to hold that up for you?

>
> I don't hold with the notion that you'd have to feel > chided, insulted or derided. I'd think you'd have to be able to tell > the difference between what is right and wrong, what is proper and > improper, what is socially acceptable and socially unacceptable for > those feelings to take effect.
>

You live in such a tight box, and have been so directed your entire life, Dave, that you just don't know anything about living. That is my opinion of you. And, I think you lead a dreadfully, dreadfully boring life. But, do I lose sleep or care about how you choose to live? Hell no. I just feel really sorry for people like you.

>
> Yet you are somehow "affected" since > you'd likely not respond to posts concerning the issue unless some > emotion bubbled to the surface.
>
> Dave K8MN

I have a blast with these types of posts, Dave. It always amazes me that there are people like you, and Larry, and Dick C., and a couple of others that I can think of. It really does amaze me that you sit there, pontificating about someone's choice of a callsign and the only retort that I've ever offered was in response to your judgementalism--yet there are the many claims of how I am the one who is being selfish, I am the one who is dictating to the world how the world must be, I am the one who must yield to the desires of others with whom I disagree, ad nauseum.

It simply amazes me.

Kim W5TIT

5686. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:30:57 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28aab8_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28683

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2897CD.E53C98D2@earthlink.net...
>
> I'm fine with reality, Kim. I already knew that no one at the FCC or > the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls. So you've come to > think of your call as "racey", have you?
>
> Dave K8MN

What kind of dark closet do you live in?! Of course I think it's racey, different, fun, daring, non-conformist, dignified, respectable and naughty all at the same time. It's my callsign, Dave. It is to me what I wish it to be. It is to you whatever you wish it to be. And, I accept every single bit of it.

Kim W5TIT

5687. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:41:37 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28AC48.B330BCEF@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28684

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > A comedian is only funny if the audience laughs. Kim falls short.
> > >
> > > Given the choice between your brand of misery and Kim's brand of > > > humor, guess who gets my vote?
> >
> > Who said you get a vote on what I find funny?
>
> Uhhhhh, earth to Dave - it's my vote on what I find funny. Your > malevolent view of reality is downright depressing. I have never > even smiled at any of your postings.

My best indicator of my stuff is whether others get a grin at any of my responses to you. You'll never know whether there is a huge humor conspiracy or not.

Dave K8MN

5688. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:45:29 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28AD31.3E38404A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28685

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C288304.2F63B5B@earthlink.net...
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > A comedian is only funny if the audience laughs. Kim falls short.
> > >
> > > Given the choice between your brand of misery and Kim's brand of > > > humor, guess who gets my vote?
> >
> > Who said you get a vote on what I find funny?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> And, conversely Dave, who said you get a vote on what Cecil finds funny?
> For God's sake, why, why, why is it only you who you think should count?

My point was that I don't find you to be intentionally funny.

Dave K8MN

5689. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:47:48 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28ADBB.8BC1CF7B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28686

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C28845C.7EFC91B9@earthlink.net...
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > Earthlink has not contacted me about my alleged violations--probably > > > > because Kim is not a victim of harrassment.
> > >
> > > Probably because Kim is a nice person and doesn't want to get > > > you into trouble.
> >
> > Silly me! Of course that is it. It couldn't be that the folks at > > Earthlink think guys like you and Rick cling to absurd ideas. They > > mustn't care much that I believe Kim's choice of vanity call is lacking > > in decorum.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Ya finally get close to something that is probably right. I doubt there are > many at all who care what you believe, Dave.

Certainly not folks at Earthlink. You, on the other hand, certainly care. Otherwise you'd not bother to continue your replies to my responses to the posts of others.

Dave K8MN

5690. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:50:29 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28AE5C.74F9C167@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28687

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I already knew that no one at the FCC or
> > the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls.
>
> From Webster's: "endorse - to inscribe with a title"
>
> The FCC endorsed Kim's callsign when they issued it.
> Kim's official ARS title, endorsed by the FCC, is > clearly printed on her amateur radio license.

There is about thee a certain aura. 'tis the manner in which thou art able to perform the dictionary equivalent of adding one and one and arriving at an incorrect result. Thou silly, old man.

Dave K8MN

5691. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:53:22 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28affa_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28691

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C289A48.3E39B90C@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C275D4A.BB14655B@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C25044C.4766B089@earthlink.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > What's with this "silver spoon" stuff, Kim? This is perhaps the third > > > > > or fourth time you've used it with me? What has it to do with my > > > > > comment? Did you or did you not receive the positive response you > > > > > sought from Riley?
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > > Dave, to have received any response at all from Riley was positive.
But
> > > > you refuse to understand that. I cannot beat you over the head
with
> > the > > > > statements that a) I appreciate that Riley responded to my query, b)
I > > > > wholeheartedly accept everything Riley had to say but do not agree
> > with > > > > him that my callsign brings the ARS one step closer to extinction,
c) I > > > > don't believe Riley was speaking official FCC line--there is no way
he > > could > > > > have, d) I do believe (because I know me so well) that the reason I
> > sent > > > > the note to Riley was to ask him a question as an official of the FCC on > > > > what he believed the policy should be coming from a government > > > > organization.
> > > >
> > > > Now, for you to insist that I think anything else about or from Riley,
> > is > > > > just your ignorant silver spoon flaring at you in your face. Get a > > life,

> > > > > Dave.
> > > >
> > > Again, you fail to explain the silver spoon stuff, Kim. You use it
but > > > don't attempt to explain what it is that you mean by it. It begins to > > > sound even more peculiar when you write something like "ignorant silver
> > > spoon".
> > > >
> > > Your response from Riley was no better than 50/50. The fact that you > > > disagree with him (and thus reject the portion of the response) > > > regarding his statement about your helping to bring the amateur
service
> > > "one step closer to extinction" shows that you lack any understanding
of
> > > the sensitivities of others who might be offended by your choice.
> > > >
> >
> > And, I'll ask you again, Dave, the question that you nor others like you > > ever seem to quite answer. In fact, you all avoid it like the plague.
> > WHY should one such as me change my ways for one such as you?
WHAT
> > makes your desire for me to change more important that my desire not to?
> > WHO made it your world to force (or even request) that others change
the > > way they are for you? WHEN did the laws of human nature change such
that > > you've become more superior to me and therefore have more rights than
me?
> > WHERE do you get off pushing such crap on others?
> >
> > Not that I ever would, but how 'bout if I request that you come out and get > > a little nasty for me?
>
> Is that your standard? Should the world stoop to the lowest possible > standard?
>

I didn't ask the world to, Dave, only you. And, no, you do not have to meet my standard. Nor do I have to meet yours. WHY do you insist that I must meet yours? Huh?

>
> Should we totally do away with any concept of accomodating
> the sensibilities and values of others or do we all simply do what we > want regardless of who we offend?
>

Like I said to you. We all (those of us who live the way I do, anyway) have our limitations. I will conform where I believe it is utmost for me to do so. I don't think places like the ARS is one of those situations. If you believe it is, and if I am so damned insulting to you, then cease and desist with recognition of me, Dave. Go on with your life and let me have and live mine. Of course, I'm going to do that anyway, and it simply amazes me that you--one who would have the world believe you are so dignified and intelligent--spend your time arguing such innane things as are here in this newsgroup. Good grief, you're no more grand than any of us here--it's Christmas Day and you are posting to a fucking newsgroup, Dave. What's YOUR excuse?

>
> I don't want to live in a world like > that, Kim, nor do I know many folks who do.
>

And, for God's sake would you finally get this....NO ONE (most of all me) says you have to. BUT, why do you wish me, demand nearly of me, that I must abide by your lifestyle? WHY? The grand scale of the ARS, in my humblest of opinions, is not one of the places where I believe accommodation is necessary. You may disagree with that, but it's too bad. I also don't believe "accommodation" is mine to give at places like sports arenas, bars, concerts, parades, and lots of other places. I do believe that accommodation is allowable--for me--at times such as emergency nets in the ARS, meetings, and lots of other places. But, if you think that a hobby is the place for everyone to yield to each other, I am sorry. I will not comply with your desire. I don't think it is. It is known as an impasse, Dave. And, we either agree to disagree, or shut the Hell up about it. But neither of us is going to yield on our thoughts about our position. And, what is totally wrong--in my eyes--about you is that you nearly demand of someone how they must behave. AND, added to that you almost make it sound as though you'd think better of them if they do, maybe be their friend, maybe respect them. How much more idealistic can that be, Dave? For you to "make deals" so that people will have you like them? I couldn't care less if you like me.

>
> I see what you've done in > the way I view the Howard Sterns of the world.
>

I happen to enjoy some of Howard Stern. I think he goes way overboard on some things. I've never written him a letter telling him that I'll listen more if he behaves. I simply don't listen to him when he's, to me, boring. AND, I don't think in any circumstance that he should be off the air.

>
> You'd appear to do > anything for shock value.
>

If that's what you believe, then you have fun believing it. Just don't expect me to live up to all your expectations. I can meet all of them, but am only willing to meet some of them.

> I already gave you my answer to your "WHY?"
> question: Because it is the right thing to do. I think you already > know that deep inside.
>
> Dave K8MN
>

Well, you're deluding yourself then. Because I don't believe it's the right thing to do. I know you think it is, but I know that I do not. Again, you have your right to your opinion. You even have your right to express it to me. But, you don't have the right to demand that I be any different than what I am. No one has that right. Well, let's put it this way...yes, I suppose they do have that right. And I have the right to completely, literally, and happily dismiss their opinion and desire--and I do.

Kim W5TIT

5692. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:53:22 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0aaql01n4a@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28706

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C280A88.B3FD8193@IEEE.org...
> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > However, perhaps by posting here in the future,
> > and explaining to people that they can pass a code test like a Ferrari
passing > > a Yugo in second gear, then you can take ham radio one step further from > > extinction.
>
> Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed the > 5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what response?

Maybe it's a back-handed complement.

5693. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:54:53 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b055_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28693

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C289B72.93CC660A@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2761A1.9C3109F7@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C25074D.9742EA0B@earthlink.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must
be > > > > > determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's rights.
> > > > > Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to every > > > > > freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the > > events
> > > > > which have unfolded over the past several months.
> > > > >
> > > > > Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > > No, and neither are yours, Dave. The government, by virtue of allowing
> > my > > > > > callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a manner > > > > directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not
me,
> > have > > > > exceeded the limits of your rights.
> > >
> > > Please tell me what the limit is on stating my belief that your call
is > > > tacky.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > You can say it all you want. To demand change of me, for you, exceeds
the > > limits.

>
> I've demanded nothing of you, Kim. I've tried to explain to you why you > should change your call, not for me alone but for any who would be > offended by it and for the amateur radio service. As I pointed out to > James deLoach, I'd ask anyone with a similar call do the same. They > aren't all here. You are.
>
> Dave K8MN

I think it's been more of a demand, Dave. You are incessant about your desire to have me change my call, you say that it is for you and people like you. What about me, what about people like me? What about that, Dave? Why do I have to change for you?

Kim W5TIT

5694. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:55:09 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225115509.04546.00000458@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 28688

>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>From: k4yz@aol.com (Steve Robeson K4YZ)
>Date: 12/25/2001 8:03 AM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <20011225090336.10613.00000798@mb-cc.aol.com>
>
>>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>>From: "D. Stussy" kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org
>>Date: 12/24/2001 3:43 PM Central Standard Time
>>Message-id: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112242140370.1871-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
>
>>So a criminal conviction for violation of the Communications Act is not >>sufficient reason?
>
> The purpose and intent of our criminal justice system is to punish a
>person
>for non-compliance, allegedly rehabilitate them, then return them to >society...
>
> NOT keep on punishing them again and again and again.

Case in point...We allow DUI's back on the road, assuming they are not HABITUAL offenders.

So where does the FCC get the right to determine that since he got busted on OTHER laws, he's now ineligible for ANY license at all? Espeically the ONE that he HAS shown respect and care for?

73

Steve, K4YZ

5695. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:56:07 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <Hc2W7.310259$W8.11361729@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28689

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28AE5C.74F9C167@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > I already knew that no one at the FCC or
> > > the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls.
> >
> > From Webster's: "endorse - to inscribe with a title"
> >
> > The FCC endorsed Kim's callsign when they issued it.
> > Kim's official ARS title, endorsed by the FCC, is > > clearly printed on her amateur radio license.
>
> There is about thee a certain aura. 'tis the manner in which thou art > able to perform the dictionary equivalent of adding one and one and > arriving at an incorrect result. Thou silly, old man.
>
> Dave K8MN

You two are very close to being fed to Bozo*Flush

5696. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 16:57:13 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28AFF0.4C011B60@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28690

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C289053.64B8946B@earthlink.net...
> >
> > Do your research, Rick. You haven't proven anything at all by your > > speculative claims. Kim isn't a victim of anything other than her own > > poor judgement.
> >
>
> What poor judgement, Dave? Who died and made you the judge? You are really > getting ridiculously desperate to be right.

Gosh Kim, your actions are judged in comparison with what society generally agrees is appropriate behavior. Nobody has to die in order for me to make a judgement. I have to make judgements and to decide whether something is right or wrong each and every day of my life.

Y'know, I think you've been writing to Riley when you really needed to pen a note to "Dear Abbey" or to phone "Dr. Laura".

Dave K8MN

5697. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:00:58 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28B0D0.7119FA71@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28692

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I've demanded nothing of you, Kim. I've tried to explain to you why you > > should change your call, not for me alone but for any who would be > > offended by it and for the amateur radio service.
>
> And some of us have described how you are being offensive to us.
> Yet you choose to do absolutely nothing about it. Your double > standard is showing.

I wish I could take your seriously, you silly, old man. You are the same fellow who tried to elevate Kim to victimhood and the same fellow who accused me of harassment. Interesting that both you and Kim choose to continue to respond. The thread itself would likely die on the vine if not for those who assist in keeping it alive.

Dave K8MN

5698. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:04:05 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b27c_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28696

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C289D13.11372591@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2762A0.8F7704D2@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C2554A9.4CB2E346@earthlink.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > I also amused at Kim's idea that Larry and I should leave amateur
> > radio
> > > > > because she chooses to be vulgar and a part of ham radio.
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > > I bet you're not as amused as I am over the fact that you and Larry, et > > al,
> > > > think my callsign is vulgar.
> > >
> > > I think more than your callsign is vulgar, Kim. Your piece about what > > > you'd like to say to some woman at a social function was especially > > > enlightening. Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Oh? I now need and have your blessing for my actions? You are becoming > > as delusional as Larry.
>
> You don't need my blessing, Kim. It should be pretty apparent that you > wouldn't receive it and that you'd reject it if given. I see you as one > who pretty much rejects society and civility. I see you as someone who > has been snubbed at some point (and maybe on numerous occasions) and who > has been so hurt by it that she has decided to make folks pay in some > manner. I'm not sure if your call is a way to get even or just a way to > draw attention to yourself.
>
> Dave K8MN
>
```

Oh, good grief, Dave. You are absolutely astounding. To have a callsign such as mine is as grand as to "reject society and civility." I think you are also the one who started with the idea that my callsign has become a "situation." I also think I've seen you attempt to chide others for being "armchair psychiatrists." But, you are allowed, right? Dave, we've all (even you) been snubbed at one time or another in our lives...probably many as you say. If you deny it, you deny only yourself--because I think challenges such as that happen. More in childhood than adulthood, I think. I also think for some people it can be dramatic. It was when I was young and I thought everyone had to like me.

It used to really bother me that I could be friends with the cheerleaders only when I was with them, and friends with the "bad girls" only when I was with them. And, neither group would have anything to do with me if I wanted both entities together--you know, for things like birthday parties and such. Isn't that strange? Let's weigh that: one group is your friend only when you're with them. The other group is your friend only when your with them. Doesn't that make both groups pretty much the idiot? Yeah, I'd say. But maybe you think things like that are so dramatic as to have some kind of detrimental impact on one's life. My answer to it is simply to tell people that if they're acting like that, they're idiots and I don't need to be a part of it. That when they have figured out what life is really all about, get back to me. In the meantime, call it being so hurt if you want, but I am living truthfully, without the pandering of idiots, and am quite happy. In sum: life is way, way too short to play games like that. At least for me, it is. Now, if you want to get in the trenches with me no matter where I am, then I'm tickled--for you, not for me.

Kim W5TIT

5699. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:04:11 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28B191.2192D6B0@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28694

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C289206.D0CE47C6@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> > > news:3C269932.EDC9FF8C@townsqr.com...
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > > > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > How many times?
> > > > >
> > > > > As many times as it takes to convince her and you.
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > > Ever hear the phrase "falling on deaf ears"?
> > >
> > > While I've long suspected that you are incapable of telling the > > > difference between right and wrong, good taste and poor taste and poetry
> > > compared to Rod McKuen, I've always had hope that you could be persuaded > > > that you've done something rather stupid.
> > >
> > > I maintain that hope.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > OK, Larry. OH, it's Dave who echoes Larry's thoughts now. Isn't that just > > so cute? Now you wish to determine what someone's idea of poetry is. Do > > you advocate judging how everyone shall live, what art they shall also > > believe is beautiful, what political thoughts are correct?
> >
> > You are quite the follower, Davey. Here's a Christmas present for you: get > > some gristle to your personality--step out of the cramped, deplorable box > > you live in and dare, just dare, to take life on.

Strive for the best in life, Kim instead of going for the lowest cheap restroom wall yuk you can get. "Tacky" is not a virtue.

Dave K8MN

5700. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:05:19 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b2c7_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28697

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C289DE0.9CCDE8AB@earthlink.net...
> >
> > Where do I need protection, Dick? And, I have never been ridiculed for
my > > callsign. Sorry to burst your bubble.
>
> You've been ridiculed for your callsign any number of times here alone.
>
> Dave K8MN

I don't know when, Dave. I've never felt ridiculed. I think you're allowing yourself far more power than you have.

Kim W5TIT

5701. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:05:53 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b2ea_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28698

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C289E2D.D0DA3058@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > news:3C27852D.2B6D0DAA@IEEE.org...
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.
> > >
> > > It is you who is thumbing your nose at the world, Dave.
> > > Come down from your ivory tower, join the world, and > > > enjoy life instead of being such an elitist grinch.
> > > --
> > > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
> > >
> > >
> >
> > He'd need to pull the silver spoon out of his...er...well, you get the idea.
>
> I've asked several times, Kim. What's with the silver spoon stuff?
>
> Dave K8MN

It's my little secret, Dave. All mine. ;)

Kim W5TIT

5702. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:06:51 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b322$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28700

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C280A88.B3FD8193@IEEE.org...
> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > However, perhaps by posting here in the future,
> > and explaining to people that they can pass a code test like a Ferrari
passing > > a Yugo in second gear, then you can take ham radio one step further from > > extinction.
>
> Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed the > 5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what response?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

It's maddening, isn't it? LOL

Kim W5TIT

5703. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:08:15 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28B284.6D7585C4@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28695

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Silly me! Of course that is it. It couldn't be that the folks at > > Earthlink think guys like you and Rick cling to absurd ideas. They > > mustn't care much that I believe Kim's choice of vanity call is lacking > > in decorum.
>
> What you think is not the problem, Dave. The volume of postings telling > us what you think is extreme overkill and meets the definition of harassment.
> Any rational person would realize that. Methinks thou protesteth too much.

Youthinks wrong. Now you'd set a limit on how much I can protest?
It'd be interesting to compare my total volume of posts in this newsgroup to your total volume--your expression of opinion on any number of subjects. How many times can you post your opinion on morse testing?
How many times can you attempt to equate morse testing with racism?
My postings only represent YOUR definition of harassment. Yours is a silly old man's attempt at creating a new victim. It fails.

Dave K8MN

5704. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:08:49 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b398$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28702

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C28A650.69A61229@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I've demanded nothing of you, Kim. I've tried to explain to you why you > > should change your call, not for me alone but for any who would be > > offended by it and for the amateur radio service.
>
> And some of us have described how you are being offensive to us.
> Yet you choose to do absolutely nothing about it. Your double > standard is showing.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

And, a big huge double it is...

Kim W5TIT

5705. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:10:48 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b410_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28703

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C28AD31.3E38404A@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C288304.2F63B5B@earthlink.net...
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > A comedian is only funny if the audience laughs. Kim falls short.
> > > > >
> > > > > Given the choice between your brand of misery and Kim's brand of > > > > > humor, guess who gets my vote?
> > > >
> > > > Who said you get a vote on what I find funny?
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > And, conversely Dave, who said you get a vote on what Cecil finds > funny?
> > > For God's sake, why, why, why is it only you who you think should count?
> >
> > My point was that I don't find you to be intentionally funny.
> >
> > Dave K8MN

I would worry if you did, Dave.

Kim W5TIT

5706. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:11:36 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b440_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28705

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28ADBB.8BC1CF7B@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C28845C.7EFC91B9@earthlink.net...
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > Earthlink has not contacted me about my alleged violations--probably > > > > > because Kim is not a victim of harrassment.
> > > >
> > > > Probably because Kim is a nice person and doesn't want to get > > > > you into trouble.
> > >
> > > Silly me! Of course that is it. It couldn't be that the folks at > > > Earthlink think guys like you and Rick cling to absurd ideas. They > > > mustn't care much that I believe Kim's choice of vanity call is lacking
> > > in decorum.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Ya finally get close to something that is probably right. I doubt there
are > > many at all who care what you believe, Dave.
>
> Certainly not folks at Earthlink. You, on the other hand, certainly > care. Otherwise you'd not bother to continue your replies to my > responses to the posts of others.
>
> Dave K8MN

It is no wonder you seem to live life in such a confused state.

Kim W5TIT
```

5707. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:12:20 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28B37A.AE7A62C1@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28699

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > I'd think you'd have to be able to tell > > the difference between what is right and wrong, what is proper and > > improper, what is socially acceptable and socially unacceptable for > > those feelings to take effect.
>
> Since you are unable to tell the difference between right and wrong, > you are trying to hold Kim to a double standard. Your harassment > is wrong, Dave, and I hope you are rational enough to realize that.

That's funny. I'd think you'd be able to tell the difference in manufactured victimhood and reality, Cecil. I think you are part of the problem. Rather than extending any effort to let the thread die a death of its own, you help to prolong it. Your silly attempts to paint Kim the "victim" of harassment prolong it. Your attempts to defend Kim's thumbing her nose at the world prolong it. Are you rational enough to realize it?

Dave K8MN

5708. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:13:07 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28B3A8.F976904D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28701

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > While I've long suspected that you are incapable of telling the > > difference between right and wrong, good taste and poor taste and poetry
> > compared to Rod McKuen, I've always had hope that you could be persuaded > > that you've done something rather stupid.
>
> The most stupid thing on this newsgroup is your harassment of Kim for > possessing a callsign endorsed by the FCC.

Allow me to hold this mirror so that you might better see yourself, you silly old man.

Dave K8MN

5709. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:16:08 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b550_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28707

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28AFF0.4C011B60@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C289053.64B8946B@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > Do your research, Rick. You haven't proven anything at all by your > > > speculative claims. Kim isn't a victim of anything other than her own > > > poor judgement.
> > >
> >
> > What poor judgement, Dave? Who died and made you the judge? You are really > > getting ridiculously desperate to be right.
>
> Gosh Kim, your actions are judged in comparison with what society > generally agrees is appropriate behavior.
>

You are judging the callsign of a radio amateur--in a grouping of some measley slight percentage of the entire population of the world--as being somehow related to an entire society?! Look at television shows, comedic acts, workplaces, billboards, media, songs, art, theater, and then get back to me about the "standards" of society, Dave. You'll have to get electricity first, so you can turn all those things on.

>
> Nobody has to die in order for > me to make a judgement.
>

That's almost too scarey to respond to. In fact, it is too scarey to respond to.

>
> I have to make judgements and to decide whether > something is right or wrong each and every day of my life.
>

Wow, me too. And I think we do it individually, Dave.

>
> Y'know, I think you've been writing to Riley when you really needed to > pen a note to "Dear Abbey" or to phone "Dr. Laura".
>

> Dave K8MN
>

Dear Abbey is as good as reading Dagwood and Dr. Laura needs to have good sex.

Kim W5TIT

5710. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:17:10 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28B49C.BF3225F@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28704

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C28958B.5F6B0750@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > > Aw, that's OK, Rick. Dave H., Larry R., Dick C., etc., all are > > > nothing more than armchair nitwits.
> > > They get to run their own personal little crusade on > > > a newsgroup. I don't think I've ever heard of one protest by any of > them on > > > the air with any of the other "distasteful" sets they've each spoken of
> at > > > one time or another. I'm an easy target for them...and they enjoy it.
> >
> > You'd have a hard time listening for an on-air discussion by any of us
> > if you are only listening to a couple of 2m FM repeaters in Texas. You > > probably have only to listen the folks you've honked off down there as a > > result of the clashes you've previously revealed with hams down your > > way.
> >
>
> Oh, Hell no. I assure you they are in the minority, Dave.
>
> > > At least I have them off the back of someone else. It's cute how they > > feel so connected to the ARS. Or, should I say, use the ARS as such an > excuse?
> >
> > You should say that if it is what you really meant. Maybe it is your > > own masochistic desire to be used as a newsgroup punching bag which > > brought you to begin posting your material about your clashes with > > League officials in your area, your reasoning in choosing a tacky vanity
> > call, your "what I'd like to say to some woman at a social function" and > > the like.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> You are getting desperate, Dave. Desperate. You want so bad to be so > right. Go open the Christmas present I gave to you. Liberate yourself, > please! You'll have so much more to be happy about.
>
> It cracks me up hysterically that you are so stuck on the word fuck. George
> Carlin is also one of my heroes.

Some folks believe that professional baseball players who sell autographs to kids are heroes. My heroes are genuine heroes.

You seem to have some peculiar idea in your head that I'm not happy. I'm happy as a clam, Kim. Right now I'm happy that the FCC doesn't yet issue four letter suffixes.

Dave K8MN

5711. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:17:49 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b5b7_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28708

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28B0D0.7119FA71@earthlink.net...
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > I've demanded nothing of you, Kim. I've tried to explain to you why
you
> > > should change your call, not for me alone but for any who would be > > > offended by it and for the amateur radio service.
> >
> > And some of us have described how you are being offensive to us.
> > Yet you choose to do absolutely nothing about it. Your double > > standard is showing.
>
> I wish I could take your seriously, you silly, old man. You are the > same fellow who tried to elevate Kim to victimhood and the same fellow > who accused me of harassment. Interesting that both you and Kim choose > to continue to respond. The thread itself would likely die on the vine > if not for those who assist in keeping it alive.
>
> Dave K8MN

I should probably remind you that you're right in there with us, Dave.
Being as defensive, as offensive, as ridiculous, as inane. It may be as close as you ever really get to real life. Pity.

Kim W5TIT

5712. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:18:34 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b5e2_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28709

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28B191.2192D6B0@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C289206.D0CE47C6@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C269932.EDC9FF8C@townsqr.com...
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > > > > And we have the right to tell her it is trashy.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > How many times?
> > > > >
> > > > > As many times as it takes to convince her and you.
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > > Ever hear the phrase "falling on deaf ears"?
> > >
> > > While I've long suspected that you are incapable of telling the > > > difference between right and wrong, good taste and poor taste and poetry > > > compared to Rod McKuen, I've always had hope that you could be persuaded > > > that you've done something rather stupid.
> >
> > I maintain that hope.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
> >
> > OK, Larry. OH, it's Dave who echoes Larry's thoughts now. Isn't that just > > so cute? Now you wish to determine what someone's idea of poetry is.
Do
> > you advocate judging how everyone shall live, what art they shall also > > believe is beautiful, what political thoughts are correct?
> >
> > You are quite the follower, Davey. Here's a Christmas present for you:
get
```

> > some gristle to your personality--step out of the cramped, deplorable box
> > you live in and dare, just dare, to take life on.
>
> Strive for the best in life, Kim instead of going for the lowest cheap > restroom wall yuk you can get. "Tacky" is not a virtue.
>
> Dave K8MN

Nope. Patience is a virtue.

Kim W5TIT

5713. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:21:35 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c28b696_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28710

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28B49C.BF3225F@earthlink.net...
>
> You seem to have some peculiar idea in your head that I'm not happy.
> I'm happy as a clam, Kim. Right now I'm happy that the FCC doesn't yet > issue four letter suffixes.
>
> Dave K8MN

Well, then I suppose I can delight in that you find some happiness through people like me after all.

Kim W5TIT

5714. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:27:45 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28B715.1498F3EB@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28711

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2896C8.159D318@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C2756DB.32A0F26A@earthlink.net...
> > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > K0HB wrote:
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > > > > > There is no quantity specified in the First Amendment.
> > > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > > The quantity is probably specified in the harassment laws.
> > > > > > > >
> > > > > > > > If you think I've exceeded the limit of time I'm allowed to > say
> > > > > > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign.", take me to court.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > "Kim picked a trashy vanity callsign." ...
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > "harass - to trouble by repeated attacks"
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Work on being able to apply those definitions.
> > > > > >
> > > > > OK, Kim is being repeatedly attacked on this newsgroup for her
> choice
> > > > > of a callsign legally issued by the FCC. That's harassment and you > > > > > are violating the contract you signed with your ISP.
> > > >
> > > > You are a silly old man, Cecil.
> > > >
> > > Kim is being chided, occasionally insulted and often undergoes
> derision
> > > for her choice of callsign.
> > >
```

> > >
> > > I have? Doesn't one need to "feel" these things in order for them to be > > > assessed in such a manner? I have never felt chided, have never felt > > > insulted. And, I surely feel no derision whatsoever. On the other > hand,
> > > Dave, I believe you are beginning to become as deluded as Larry. He > also > > > believes I am somehow affected as such by his opinion of my callsign.
> > >
> > > Maybe the two of you could pat each other on the back.
> >
> > Wow--quite an admission, Kim! There goes the great Cecil and Rick > > harassment theory.
> >
>
> Is it my responsibility to hold that up for you?

Not at all. I never for a minute subscribed to it.

> >
> > I don't hold with the notion that you'd have to feel > > chided, insulted or derided. I'd think you'd have to be able to tell > > the difference between what is right and wrong, what is proper and > > improper, what is socially acceptable and socially unacceptable for > > those feelings to take effect.
> >
>
> You live in such a tight box, and have been so directed your entire life, > Dave, that you just don't know anything about living. That is my opinion of > you. And, I think you lead a dreadfully, dreadfully boring life. But, do I > lose sleep or care about how you choose to live? Hell no. I just feel > really sorry for people like you.

Your guesses could not be more incorrect. Maybe your mental picture somehow comforts you. You made a choice to obtain a tacky callsign for the effect it would generate. Your choice has offended some folks. You certainly had to guess that this would be the case when you made your choice. You indicate that you don't care what others think and that you can live with negative reaction. Now you are being forced to do just that--live with it. I don't see much you can do about folks letting you know that they find your choice of vanity call tasteless.

> >
> > Yet you are somehow "affected" since > > you'd likely not respond to posts concerning the issue unless some > > emotion bubbled to the surface.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> I have a blast with these types of posts, Dave. It always amazes me that > there are people like you, and Larry, and Dick C., and a couple of others > that I can think of. It really does amaze me that you sit there, > pontificating about someone's choice of a callsign and the only retort that > I've ever offered was in response to your judgementalism--yet there are the > many claims of how I am the one who is being selfish, I am the one who > is dictating to the world how the world must be, I am the one who must > yield to the desires of others with whom I disagree, ad nauseum.

>
> It simply amazes me.

That's largely because you don't seem to have understood how your choices might offend people. We now know about your amazement. I'm waiting for the part where you reach enlightenment.

Dave K8MN

5715. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:30:33 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28B7BD.9BEE9175@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28712

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2897CD.E53C98D2@earthlink.net...
> >
> > I'm fine with reality, Kim. I already knew that no one at the FCC or > > the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls. So you've come to > > think of your call as "racey", have you?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> What kind of dark closet do you live in?! Of course I think it's racey, > different, fun, daring, non-conformist, dignified, respectable and naughty > all at the same time. It's my callsign, Dave. It is to me what I wish it > to be. It is to you whatever you wish it to be. And, I accept every single > bit of it.

Then I'd assume that you're getting used to the cat calls you've garnered that you're likely becoming accustomed to your newly found notoriety.

Dave K8MN

5716. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 17:58:14 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28BE16.9B5CD14E@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28713

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C289A48.3E39B90C@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C275D4A.BB14655B@earthlink.net...
> > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message > > > > > news:3C25044C.4766B089@earthlink.net...

> > >
> > > Not that I ever would, but how 'bout if I request that you come out and > get > > > a little nasty for me?
> >
> > Is that your standard? Should the world stoop to the lowest possible > > standard?
> >
>
> I didn't ask the world to, Dave, only you. And, no, you do not have to meet > my standard. Nor do I have to meet yours. WHY do you insist that I must > meet yours? Huh?

I don't believe in the lowest possible standard, Kim. I believe in the highest possible standard.

> >
> > Should we totally do away with any concept of accomodating
> > the sensibilities and values of others or do we all simply do what we > > want regardless of who we offend?
> >
>
> Like I said to you. We all (those of us who live the way I do, anyway) have > our limitations. I will conform where I believe it is utmost for me to do > so.

Be honest with us and with yourself, Kim. I don't believe that you conform unless it is absolutely necessary to do so. You wear your non-conformity like a badge and feel it necessary to shock people.

> I don't think places like the ARS is one of those situations. If you > believe it is, and if I am so damned insulting to you, then cease and > desist with recognition of me, Dave.

I do believe that amateur radio does not need offensive folks whether they take the form of shock-value callsigns, on air obscenity or racism or argument of religious or political views.

> Go on with your life and let me have and live > mine. Of course, I'm going to do that anyway, and it simply amazes me that > you--one who would have the world believe you are so dignified and > intelligent--spend your time arguing such innane things as are here in this > newsgroup. Good grief, you're no more grand than any of us here--it's > Christmas Day and you are posting to a fucking newsgroup, Dave. What's > YOUR excuse?

I don't know what kind of newsgroup you're posting to, Kim but your stuff is appearing in an amateur radio newsgroup. Right now I'm posting here as I wait for dinner. I posted earlier in the day after participating in a 6m opening to Europe and the Caribbean.

> >
> > I don't want to live in a world like > > that, Kim, nor do I know many folks who do.
> >
>
> And, for God's sake would you finally get this....NO ONE (most of all me) > says you have to. BUT, why do you wish me, demand nearly of me, that I must > abide by your lifestyle? WHY? The grand scale of the ARS, in my humblest > of opinions, is not one of the places where I believe accommodation is > necessary.

You are, of course, absolutely correct that the amateur radio service is one place where accommodation is necessary. Your callsign does not meet that accommodation. Oh--did you mean that amateur radio must tolerate those who choose a call based on sexual innuendo and that we must all put up with it because you've found a new "right"? What you do in private with your life is indeed your business. What you do on the air in amateur radio and what you post here is most certainly not private.

> You may disagree with that, but it's too bad. I also don't > believe "accommodation" is mine to give at places like sports arenas, bars, > concerts, parades, and lots of other places. I do believe that > accommodation is allowable--for me--at times such as emergency nets in the > ARS, meetings, and lots of other places. But, if you think that a hobby is > the place for everyone to yield to each other, I am sorry. I will not > comply with your desire. I don't think it is. It is known as an impasse, > Dave. And, we either agree to disagree, or shut the Hell up about it. But > neither of us is going to yield on our thoughts about our position. And, > what is totally wrong--in my eyes--about you is that you nearly demand of > someone how they must behave. AND, added to that you almost make it sound > as though you'd think better of them if they do, maybe be their friend, > maybe respect them. How much more idealistic can that be, Dave? For you to > "make deals" so that people will have you like them? I couldn't care less > if you like me.

Liking you or disliking you isn't part of the issue, Kim. I might not like you even if you had a normal callsign. It is just that you wouldn't be offending me and others with a non-suggestive call.

I think you are confusing the words "accommodation" and "civility".
You believe that you should be pretty much able to shout an oath just about anywhere you choose. You can do that but you'll have to steel yourself against being treated like the bastard child at the family reunion. You've chosen a wink, nudge callsign and defend your choice as a "right". If others take offense, they have a "right" to snub you, tell you off or laugh at you.

> >
> > I see what you've done in > > the way I view the Howard Sterns of the world.
> >
>
> I happen to enjoy some of Howard Stern. I think he goes way overboard on > some things. I've never written him a letter telling him that I'll listen > more if he behaves. I simply don't listen to him when he's, to me, > boring. AND, I don't think in any circumstance that he should be off the > air.

Stern has been yanked from more stations than most hosts ever have the opportunity to work for. He may his right to an opinion but station management and ultimately the listeners have a right to pull the plug on him.

> >
> > You'd appear to do > > anything for shock value.
> >
>
> If that's what you believe, then you have fun believing it. Just don't > expect me to live up to all your expectations. I can meet all of them, but > am only willing to meet some of them.

Kim, you've not met any of my positive expectations. You have more than met some of my negative expectations.

> >
> > I already gave you my answer to your "WHY?"
> > question: Because it is the right thing to do. I think you already > > know that deep inside.
>
>
> Well, you're deluding yourself then. Because I don't believe it's the right > thing to do. I know you think it is, but I know that I do not. Again, you > have your right to your opinion. You even have your right to express it to > me. But, you don't have the right to demand that I be any different than > what I am. No one has that right. Well, let's put it this way...yes, I > suppose they do have that right. And I have the right to completely, > literally, and happily dismiss their opinion and desire--and I do.

I've made no demands at all upon you, Kim.

Dave K8MN

5717. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 18:07:17 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28C057.E538CE19@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28714

```
Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C289B72.93CC660A@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C2761A1.9C3109F7@earthlink.net...
> > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > > news:3C25074D.9742EA0B@earthlink.net...
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must
> be > > > > > > determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's > rights.
> > > > > > Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits to > every > > > > > > freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the > > > events
> > > > > > which have unfolded over the past several months.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > > >
> > > > > No, and neither are yours, Dave. The government, by virtue of > allowing
> > > my > > > > > callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a > manner > > > > > directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not
> me,
> > > have > > > > > exceeded the limits of your rights.
> > > >
> > > > Please tell me what the limit is on stating my belief that your call
> is > > > > tacky.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > You can say it all you want. To demand change of me, for you, exceeds
```

> the > > > limits.
> >
> > I've demanded nothing of you, Kim. I've tried to explain to you why you > > should change your call, not for me alone but for any who would be > > offended by it and for the amateur radio service. As I pointed out to > > James deLoach, I'd ask anyone with a similar call do the same. They > > aren't all here. You are.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> I think it's been more of a demand, Dave. You are incessant about your > desire to have me change my call, you say that it is for you and people like > you. What about me, what about people like me? What about that, Dave? Why > do I have to change for you?

You have not changed for me or for anyone. I believe that the right thing to do would be to obtain a call that isn't offensive to anyone.
I'd would like to think that you aren't one to go out of your way to offend anyone and that you care about the sensitivities of others.
There is no demand to that, Kim. At this point, the only person who can take any corrective step would be you.

Let's examine the scenario again. You have:

Kim - Who doesn't give a damn what anybody thinks of her or her call and who deliberately chose a call which was suggestive in order to achieve a desired effect.

Dave - Who has not chosen a call which would offend the sensitivities of anyone. His call was chosen as the "K" counterpart of a ham he greatly admired.

Dave K8MN

5718. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 18:08:17 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28C092.768275D5@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28715

```
Richard McCollum wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C28AE5C.74F9C167@earthlink.net...
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > I already knew that no one at the FCC or
> > > > the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls.
> > >
> > > From Webster's: "endorse - to inscribe with a title"
> > >
> > > The FCC endorsed Kim's callsign when they issued it.
> > > Kim's official ARS title, endorsed by the FCC, is > > > clearly printed on her amateur radio license.
> >
> > There is about thee a certain aura. 'tis the manner in which thou art
> > able to perform the dictionary equivalent of adding one and one and > > arriving at an incorrect result. Thou silly, old man.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> You two are very close to being fed to Bozo*Flush

Heh, maybe it is time to lighten up.

Dave K8MN
```

5719. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 18:12:24 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28C188.31B21058@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28716

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C289DE0.9CCDE8AB@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > Where do I need protection, Dick? And, I have never been ridiculed for
> my > > > callsign. Sorry to burst your bubble.
> >
> > You've been ridiculed for your callsign any number of times here alone.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> I don't know when, Dave. I've never felt ridiculed. I think you're > allowing yourself far more power than you have.

If a Kim falls victim to ridicule in the forest and there is no one to
to alert her, is she still ridiculed?

Dave K8MN

5720. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 18:13:28 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C28C1C9.76613834@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28717

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C289E2D.D0DA3058@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > > news:3C27852D.2B6D0DAA@IEEE.org...
> > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.
> > > > >
> > > > It is you who is thumbing your nose at the world, Dave.
> > > > Come down from your ivory tower, join the world, and > > > > enjoy life instead of being such an elitist grinch.
> > > > --
> > > > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
> > > >
> > > >
> > >
> > He'd need to pull the silver spoon out of his...er...well, you get the > idea.
> >
> > I've asked several times, Kim. What's with the silver spoon stuff?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> It's my little secret, Dave. All mine. ;)
>
> Kim W5TIT

It'd probably have more effect in the newsgroup if folks could make sense of it.

Dave K8MN

5721. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 18:34:13 UTC
From: Gary - KJ6Q <davison7@gte.net>
Message-ID: <FE3W7.275$8b4.40748@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 28718
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

'Tis said that if ya toss a brick into a pigpen, you can tell how many you hit by counting the squeals...

YOUR loud squeal is duly noted, tallied and acknowledged...

--
Gary - KJ6Q
****
Two things we'll never see:
1. Perpetual motion...
2. A liberal Democrat complaining about "Too much government"
"Middlefinger" <middlefinger4@home.com> wrote in message news:asMV7.328523$5A3.126444567@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com...
>
> "Gary - KJ6Q" <davison7@gte.net> wrote in message
> news:BrLV7.180$SX6.73233@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net...
> > I was explaining how pretty much anyone with a pulse these > > > days can pass the Amateur radio exams.
> >
> > So yer saying YOUR pulse is pretty weak these days?
>
> I did not say anything Gary thats your ASSumption so why would you say that > any basis for your comment or do you just like to look like a fool.
>
>
> >
> > >You have guys whoare illegal 11 metr
> > > ops and now they hold a fcc license.
> >
> > AHHhh - "a rose by any other name is STILL a rose"
>
> So what you are saying is now they are illegal Ham ops?
>
> > OR, to break it down into language even a CBer can comprehend -
>
> Gary, you whining jackass I am not a CBer are you?
>
>
>
> > obtaining a Ham License does NOT > > automatically, or instantly, transform a raving crude >IDIOT into a > useful, considerate and law

> > abiding operator.
>
> As noted by your actions.
>
>
> BUT, CBers entering the Ham ranks soon find that their former operating > habits
> > loom as objectional on the Ham bands as does a fart in church - and they > quickly either modify their
> > habits, or LEAVE...
>
> Says Who?
>
>
>
> > Ignorance is curable - but rank, dedicated >STUPIDITY is FOREVER!
>
> So is being a jackass and butting into a post when you have no idea what > your talking about ... a 66 yr old mental midget are ya.
>
>

5722. Re: PROOF THAT ILLEGAL CBERS ARE CRIMINALS

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 20:03:08 UTC
From: Middlefinger <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <0Y4W7.329822$5A3.127018529@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 28719
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

Strawman reply!

"Gary - KJ6Q" <davison7@gte.net> wrote in message
news:FE3W7.275$8b4.40748@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net...
> 'Tis said that if ya toss a brick into a pigpen, you can tell how many you hit by counting the > squeals...
>
> YOUR loud squeal is duly noted, tallied and acknowledged...
>
> --
> Gary - KJ6Q
> **********
> Two things we'll never see:
> 1. Perpetual motion...
> 2. A liberal Democrat complaining > about "Too much government"
> "Middlefinger" <middlefinger4@home.com> wrote in message > news:asMV7.328523$5A3.126444567@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com...
> >
> > "Gary - KJ6Q" <davison7@gte.net> wrote in message
> > news:BrLV7.180$SX6.73233@dfiatx1-snr1.gtei.net...
> > > I was explaining how pretty much anyone with a pulse these > > > > days can pass the Amateur radio exams.
> > >
> > > So yer saying YOUR pulse is pretty weak these days?
> >
> > I did not say anything Gary thats your ASSumption so why would you say
that > > any basis for your comment or do you just like to look like a fool.
> >
> >
> > >
> > > >You have guys whoare illegal 11 metr
> > > > ops and now they hold a fcc license.
> > >
> > > AHHhh - "a rose by any other name is STILL a rose"
> >
> > So what you are saying is now they are illegal Ham ops?
> >
> > > OR, to break it down into language even a CBer can comprehend -
> >
> > Gary, you whining jackass I am not a CBer are you?

> >
> >
> >
> > > obtaining a Ham License does NOT > > > automatically, or instantly, transform a raving crude >IDIOT into a > > useful, considerate and law
> > > abiding operator.
> >
> > As noted by your actions.
> >
> >
> > BUT, CBers entering the Ham ranks soon find that their former operating > > habits
> > > loom as objectional on the Ham bands as does a fart in church - and
they > > quickly either modify their > > > habits, or LEAVE...
> >
> > Says Who?
> >
> >
> >
> > > Ignorance is curable - but rank, dedicated >STUPIDITY is FOREVER!
> >
> > So is being a jackass and butting into a post when you have no idea what > > your talking about ... a 66 yr old mental midget are ya.
> >
> >
>

5723. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 20:06:09 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112252005210.3479-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 28720

On 25 Dec 2001, Steve Robeson K4YZ wrote:
>>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>>From: "D. Stussy" kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org
>>Date: 12/24/2001 3:43 PM Central Standard Time
>>Message-id: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112242140370.1871-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
>
>>So a criminal conviction for violation of the Communications Act is not >>sufficient reason?
>
> The purpose and intent of our criminal justice system is to punish a person >for non-compliance, allegedly rehabilitate them, then return them to society...
>
> NOT keep on punishing them again and again and again.
>
>>He has already proven that he cannot follow the rules. An >>amateur radio license is a privilege, not a right.
>
> You are absolutely right...he did not follow some rules (laws)...However >NONE of the rules he violated were in Part 97.
>
> Why is the FCC violating the Constitutional guarantees against punishment
>without due process?

He had due process. He was convicted by a court (presumedly a trial by jury).

5724. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 21:53:43 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <E9F262C0810A7565.CDAF9564C124251D.4EC4168890D1A0A6@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28721

On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 17:58:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Be honest with us and with yourself, Kim. I don't believe that you >conform unless it is absolutely necessary to do so. You wear your >non-conformity like a badge and feel it necessary to shock people.

Sometimes people NEED shocking, Dave. Non-conformity is the basis for change, conformity the basis for inertia. Off hand, I don't know of ANY system that can't profit from looking at itself from a different perspective and at least _considering_ change, can you?

>I do believe that amateur radio does not need offensive folks whether >they take the form of shock-value callsigns, on air obscenity or racism >or argument of religious or political views.

Dave, I can agree about obscenity and racism. But not discussing religion or politics on the air? What do you want, an ARS filled with people discussing their recent operations, their equipment, and each other's signal strength only? A great benefit of being a ham is the ability to talk with people in different cultures and to discuss the issues important to them--and, Dave, those issues are often religion and politics. Sorry, but if I--and, I suspect, many other hams--couldn't feel free to discuss meaningful topics on the air, there would be no reason to bother with amateur radio at all--the Usenet would be FAR more interesting--and despite the bigots, racists, homophobes, and self-righteous guardians of morality that infest the Internet, would inspire far more intelligent conversations as well.

Don't you ever get tired of exchanging signal reports or discussing such "vital" topics as your station, the weather, your family, and your job? Ham radio is about communications, Dave, not just technology--and communications _includes_ those topics that are controversial just as much as it does those that are far more mundane.

>I don't know what kind of newsgroup you're posting to, Kim but your >stuff is appearing in an amateur radio newsgroup. Right now I'm posting >here as I wait for dinner. I posted earlier in the day after >participating in a 6m opening to Europe and the Caribbean.

Funny how this becomes "an amateur radio newsgroup" when it comes to criticizing Kim, but when I (or someone else) point out that people here are demonstrating pretty poor behavior to potential hams,
I'm always told that "this is the Internet--not ham radio."

>You are, of course, absolutely correct that the amateur radio service is >one place where accommodation is necessary. Your callsign does not meet >that accommodation. Oh--did you mean that amateur radio must tolerate >those who choose a call based on sexual innuendo and that we must all >put up with it because you've found a new "right"? What you do in >private with your life is indeed your business. What you do on the air >in amateur radio and what you post here is most certainly not private.

Then, since you agree that what is posted here is as relevant as what is said on the air, I wonder how you can justify the harsh posts by you, Larry, Dick, and others about Kim's call sign. She merely USES the sign, the group of you pick it apart, insult her (and others), demonstrate a total lack of respect for other hams in the group, and in general make it clear that hams are NOT respectful, polite, courteous, and friendly people--but are biased, opinionated, self-righteous, and as capable of viciousness as any pit bull. How can you POSSIBLY claim that you believe in accommodation when it comes to public behavior, yet act as you do in this news group? YOU may not view yourself as a computer hobbiest--but many of us do, and your behavior here is no less offensive than the behavior of the freebanders in the lower end of 10m!

>Liking you or disliking you isn't part of the issue, Kim. I might not >like you even if you had a normal callsign. It is just that you >wouldn't be offending me and others with a non-suggestive call.
>
>I think you are confusing the words "accommodation" and "civility".
>You believe that you should be pretty much able to shout an oath just >about anywhere you choose. You can do that but you'll have to steel >yourself against being treated like the bastard child at the family >reunion. You've chosen a wink, nudge callsign and defend your choice >as a "right". If others take offense, they have a "right" to snub you, >tell you off or laugh at you.

But NOT to harass, insult, or attempt to intimidate her, Dave.
When something offends you, you make it clear that it IS offensive and, if nothing is done to change it you either ignore it or stop associating with the person giving the offense. In the case of a news group, that would mean just kill filing Kim so you wouldn't have to be exposed to her call sign at all.

What you are doing has nothing to do with expressing offense or making your position clear--it has everything to do with power. You insist that you have the right to determine what is best for Kim and for the ARS based on your personal values. Obviously, Kim and many others of us disagree with you. Rather than treating it as a case where you have to "agree to disagree" however, you seem fixated on asserting your "power" by pressuring Kim to change her sign. I hate to burst your bubble, Dave, but you don't have any power over anyone at
all.

>Stern has been yanked from more stations than most hosts ever have the >opportunity to work for. He may his right to an opinion but station >management and ultimately the listeners have a right to pull the plug on >him.

Typical.

Did you know, btw, that among the 100 most banned books in the United States are Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, The Age of Reason, Black Beauty, and The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin? Apparently, Kim's call sign isn't the only thing people like yourself find obscene and work to remove from society.

When will people like you learn that simply because something is personally offensive to you, it does NOT give you the right to demand that OTHERS who don't share your view be deprived of it?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5725. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 21:58:57 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <62A83595BCC82783.19615073450F0AB4.AEE9A5A033D1B8EF@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28722

On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 13:34:29 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>You are perhaps the ultimate hypocrite, Rick. You set yourself up as >judge of what constitutes harassment and as definer of TOS/COU >violations based only upon YOUR interpretations. You decry those who >would judge another's actions based on morality yet set yourself up to >decide who is honest, moral and ethical. Pretty pathetic stuff.

Funny--YOU'RE the one who is demanding that people live up to YOUR ethical and moral values. But when it comes to living up to your own commitments--something that nearly EVERYONE believes in doing--you feel it's no one else's business. Perhaps not--but then, CLEARLY, Kim's call sign is none of your own!

>I'll let you know when Earthlink advises me that I've violated our >agreement.

And Kim will let you know when the FCC advises her that she's violated her agreement with them.

Kim had the courage to write to the FCC and ASK about her call sign choice--and to post the response here, Dave. Do YOU have the courage to write to Earthlink, forward a few dozen of your posts from this thread so they can see what you have to say (and not just the ones where you talk to other moralists--the ones where you ridicule and insult Kim directly) and to post THEIR reply to this group? I doubt it--that takes courage not just a big mouth.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5726. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 22:07:43 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7193848D9B462F9F.21125963735E771B.BF74FCFE19553061@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28723

On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 13:44:21 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>There is only a violation based upon your own interpretation of what >Earthlink says so your argument holds no water. You don't need to prove >that I post in violation of Earthlink's policies. You aren't a factor >at all. Earthlink will let me know if they believe my posts violate >their policies. So far they've not done so. There is no indication >that they think my commenting Kim's lack of class in choosing a tacky >callsign is a problem.

Dave, even YOU aren't that stupid, are you?

You know perfectly well that unless someone specifically forwards your posts to Earthlink with a complaint they don't have the slightest idea WHAT you are posting at all!

What a completely absurd straw dog. That's like arguing that if you break into an empty house and steal the jewelry, you haven't broken the law since, if you had, the police would have arrested you!

>> No problem at all, Dave. While I might argue that defending >> against harassment is unlikely to be _viewed_ as harassment, it isn't >> really relevant since I don't obtain my news feed from an isp. My news >> feed comes from Airnews (Internet America) and my postings are subject >> to THEIR rules, not the TOU/COS in force at voyager.net where I >> receive some of my email (I also run my own servers on the three >> registered domains I maintain). According to Airnews own TOU/COS I am >> NOT in violation of my agreements, and thus unlike yourself, I'm not >> breaking my word by my posts here.
>
>That wouldn't matter, Rick. You'd still be harassing me whether you >violated TOU/COS with anyone you deal with. As to your "defending >against harassment"--Phhhhfffffffftttttttt! What a load of blarney!

Matters quite a bit, Dave. You're accusing me of doing what you are doing. Wrong. I'M not violating my contract with an isp or a news server. You are. One of us is dishonest in his dealings with a commercial firm, the other is not. Sorry you don't like being viewed as dishonest, but that's your decision not mine.

>> We ended up debating an area of Libertarian Party policy that >> we have very different views on--that of social support for the sick >> and poor. That, however, has nothing to do with libertarian >> philosophy, which limits itself to directly addressing the issues of >> rights and freedoms--and in that area, Cecil and I agree on most >> points and can agree to disagree on the few where we differ.

>
>Forgive me, Rick. I didn't know that you and Cecil had come to such an >agreement. It must have been done privately as it was not evident in >posts to the newsgroup.

I'll ask him.

Hey, Cecil--do you feel that with respect to our views on the Libertarian Party platform we have to "agree to disagree?" I'll be glad to do so if you feel it's appropriate.

Ok, I asked. Now how about making the same offer to Kim about her call sign?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5727. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 22:49:32 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29027C.D8064171@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28724

Dave Heil wrote:
> I don't believe in the lowest possible standard, Kim. I believe in the > highest possible standard.

Maybe for everyone else - obviously not for yourself.

> I do believe that amateur radio does not need offensive folks ...

Then why are you so offensive? The FCC has endorsed your callsign, my callsign, and Kim's callsign. That's all that matters.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5728. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 22:56:13 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29040D.FB400473@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28725

Rick Adams wrote:
> Hey, Cecil--do you feel that with respect to our views on the > Libertarian Party platform we have to "agree to disagree?" I'll be > glad to do so if you feel it's appropriate.

Any two people can find something upon which to disagree. I'll bet that you, Kim, Dave, and I agree on 95% of all subjects, e.g. smallpox is bad. No two people agree 100% on everything. Think how boring the world would be if everyone agreed on everything. This newsgroup would not exist.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5729. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:02:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C290582.83F0C0D7@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28726

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Uhhhhh, earth to Dave - it's my vote on what I find funny. Your > > malevolent view of reality is downright depressing. I have never > > even smiled at any of your postings.
>
> My best indicator of my stuff is whether others get a grin at any of my > responses to you.

You must be copying Nero who allegedly grined while Rome burned.
IMO, you are a sad example of humanity.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5730. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:07:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2906AE.5CF7406E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28727

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> For God's sake, why, why, why is it only you who you think should count?

Because Dave has an over exaggerated idea of his own importance and nobody else's opinion matters a tinker's damn to him.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5731. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:11:27 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29079F.73704568@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28728

Dave Heil wrote:
> Gosh Kim, your actions are judged in comparison with what society > generally agrees is appropriate behavior.

Have you polled society on Kim's callsign, Dave? I'll bet you elitists are in the very small minority. The origin of the word "vulgar" means that it comes from the common folk who outnumber your uppity kind by a large percentage.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5732. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:17:01 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2908ED.3751A909@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28729

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > From Webster's: "endorse - to inscribe with a title"
> >
> > The FCC endorsed Kim's callsign when they issued it.
> > Kim's official ARS title, endorsed by the FCC, is > > clearly printed on her amateur radio license.
>
> There is about thee a certain aura. 'tis the manner in which thou art
> able to perform the dictionary equivalent of adding one and one and > arriving at an incorrect result.

Too bad you don't realize that one plus one can have an infinite number of results depending on the phase angle between the ones.

I haven't seen Kim's amateur radio license but I'll bet it's printed on the same form as yours and mine and fully endorced by the "United States of America Federal Communications Commission".
Kim, is that what your license says?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5733. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:20:51 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2909D3.73B3CEE7@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28730

Dave Heil wrote:
> You are the > same fellow who tried to elevate Kim to victimhood and the same fellow > who accused me of harassment. Interesting that both you and Kim choose > to continue to respond.

Is it your advice that someone being harassed should do nothing about it?
Sorry, that lets the evil people win.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5734. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:24:45 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C290ABC.FB06EC82@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28731

Dave Heil wrote:
> Dave - Who has not chosen a call which would offend the > sensitivities of anyone. His call was chosen as the "K"
> counterpart of a
> ham he greatly admired.

Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are you going to do about it?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5735. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:28:31 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C290B9F.EB77E377@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28732

Dave Heil wrote:
> Now you'd set a limit on how much I can protest?

Not me, the government has set limits on how much you can protest.
You have stepped over that limit with your harassment.

> It'd be interesting to compare my total volume of posts in this > newsgroup to your total volume--

Not a fair comparison at all. There is a big difference between attacking a concept and viscously attacking a person as you have done.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5736. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:30:52 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C290C2C.D1F01252@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28733

Dave Heil wrote:
> Rather than extending any effort to let the thread die a death > of its own, you help to prolong it. Your silly attempts to paint Kim > the "victim" of harassment prolong it. Your attempts to defend Kim's > thumbing her nose at the world prolong it. Are you rational enough to > realize it?

If the conflict is not prolonged by the good guys, evil wins. What you are doing is evil, Dave, and I have faith that you will burn in hell for it.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5737. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:34:21 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C290CFD.4250B884@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28734

Dave Heil wrote:
> That's largely because you don't seem to have understood how your > choices might offend people. We now know about your amazement. I'm > waiting for the part where you reach enlightenment.

Dave, you must be the reincarnation of one of the priests who condemned Galileo to house arrest for asserting the earth was not the center of the universe. Enlightenment indeed. How can you know anything about enlightenment with your head buried in the sands of time?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5738. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:45:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C290F86.2F23E933@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28735

Dave Heil wrote:
> Allow me to hold this mirror so that you might better see yourself, you > silly old man.

Only 11 years older than you, Dave. That's not much. I just realized what your and my problem is. I'm an Aquarian, a clear-eyed seeker of wisdom and truth on the verge of the emerging Golden Age of Aquarius and you are a Pices left over from the decaying but lingering warlike Age of Pices which is, at this very moment, heaving its last ugly breath.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5739. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-25 23:56:59 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <fn8W7.240951$3d2.11696183@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28736

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2906AE.5CF7406E@IEEE.org...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > For God's sake, why, why, why is it only you who you think should count?
>
> Because Dave has an over exaggerated idea of his own importance and nobody > else's opinion matters a tinker's damn to him.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

It's tinkers dam, without the 'n', Cecil. Look that up in your Funk and Wagnalls

5740. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 00:27:26 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225192726.26499.00001606@mb-fo.aol.com>
Source record: 28737

>Hi everybody,
>
>I just wanted to take a moment to thank a few of the folks on r.r.a.p. for
>all >the help they gave me with my license upgrade. Ed Hare for never even >allowing >me to entertain the thought that I wouldn't lick the code test like a postage >stamp. Jerry Oxendine and Jim Hampton for encouraging me to "enjoy" the code >and giving me pointers in 'Conversational CW 101' so I wouldn't sound like a >horses you-know-what upon my first true AR CW QSO. Dick McCollum gets BIG
>TIME
>kudos for answering a multitude of questions with the patience of Job.
>Especially for telling me to "calm down," when, for reasons unknown to this >day, all my "Fast Farnsworth" practice flew out the window and I couldn't >copy
>5-wpm to save my life...on the day before the test.
>
>I'm forced to put Dick Carroll and Larry Roll in a separate paragraph because >they helped me with something other than the code...an attitude adjustment.
>Their self-made reputations as r.r.a.p. "toughies" are forever shattered in >this ham's eyes as they demonstrated that they would've gladly given me their >"lucky" shirts off their backs if it'd help me pass. Needless to say both >were >very happy to hear that I passed. BTW, if you study with the ARRL 'Fast >Farnsworth' CD's, the actual exam characters will feel like they're "floating
>in."
>
>I originally did not want to write this because I thought it might be >construed
>as a "congratulate me" post. I did so because I want to let anybody who might >be "put off" by what they perceive as an attitude know that these folks WANT
>to >help you...so stick around.
>
>I'd be remiss if I didn't mention one other guy, a non-ham. My college >certification professor, Mr. Cronk. He fixed it so that we could NOT earn our >sheepskins by just memorizing exam pool questions, hence the birth of the >infamous "Cronk screenings." The General was easy but the Extra required the >dusting off of some pretty deeply buried electronics theory. Thanks Professor >C.!
>
>If I failed to mention any of you who encouraged me along the way, forgive
>me.
>I just wanted to acknowledge the folks I leaned on the most. Thanks again. I >promise to pass it on to others. :-)

>
>73 de Bert
>KC2HMN

Congratulations, my friend. I always saw the invisible /AE behind your call.
Now you've made it official. Take care and 73.

Mark

5741. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 00:33:32 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225193332.26499.00001614@mb-fo.aol.com>
Source record: 28738

>> However, perhaps by posting here in the future, >> and explaining to people that they can pass a code test like a Ferrari
>passing >> a Yugo in second gear, then you can take ham radio one step further from >> extinction.
>
>Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed the >5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what response?
>--
>cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Attitude perhaps? Some pass the code begrudgingly while for others it is merely a "speed bump" on the road to bigger and better things. I think it's safe to say Bert belongs to the latter group. Take care and 73.

Mark

5742. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 01:56:26 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c292f17_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 28739

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011224100327.27168.00000589@mb-cb.aol.com...
> In article <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
> writes:
>
[snip]
>
> What is the difference between an FCC rule that says Morse skill is required to > use a particular part of the radio spectrum and a Park Service rule that says
> motor vehicles cannot be used in certain parks and wilderness areas?

The sort of Park Service rules that you refer to are intended to protect and preserve the environment. The FCC (and other rational entities) have recognized the fact that Morse proficiency doesn't "preserve the environment" (it doesn't, as some claim, serve as a "lid filter" ... see various FCC Report and Order documents for such findings.)

> >Another concept to consider is that "discipline" is a bit misused
in > >this application, IMHO. Are you talking about the concept that some > >have voiced that "It's (jumping through the Morse proficiency hoop) > >necessary to show 'committment'." ???
>
> Experience has shown what happens without such commitment.

And that is WHAT? Most of the no-code techs I've met are polite and concientious operators. MANY are far more technically competent than many fast-beepers ... and I view technical competence as FAR more valuable to the future
of amateur radio than being able to beep fast.

> >Showing"committment" also has no place in regulation.
>
> I would call it "responsibility".

One can operate and behave responsibly with no knowledge of Morse whatsoever ...

73,

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- --
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- --
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCkuRpe+N6+q84HiEQJ2JACfaX+7JSoayhAKcwuUx3K9vzJI1gIAn297
mIbDL9/MtsfIKBb8ZxTiyBOm =0q9T
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----

5743. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 02:32:14 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <OEaW7.198235$WW.11459138@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28740

"Mark Pearsal" <radiohead11m@aol.com> wrote in message news:20011225193332.26499.00001614@mb-fo.aol.com...
> >> However, perhaps by posting here in the future, > >> and explaining to people that they can pass a code test like a Ferrari
> >passing > >> a Yugo in second gear, then you can take ham radio one step further
from > >> extinction.
> >
> >Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed
the > >5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what response?
> >--
> >cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
>
> Attitude perhaps? Some pass the code begrudgingly while for others it is merely > a "speed bump" on the road to bigger and better things. I think it's safe to > say Bert belongs to the latter group. Take care and 73.
>
> Mark

Give that man a ceegar, a kim-sized kewpie doll, and a 3-lb wedge of Fatchamatta's Macaroni Cheese.

Bug Killer

5744. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 02:52:48 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C293B5C.84B12937@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28741

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 17:58:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Be honest with us and with yourself, Kim. I don't believe that you > >conform unless it is absolutely necessary to do so. You wear your > >non-conformity like a badge and feel it necessary to shock people.
>
> Sometimes people NEED shocking, Dave. Non-conformity is the > basis for change, conformity the basis for inertia. Off hand, I don't > know of ANY system that can't profit from looking at itself from a > different perspective and at least _considering_ change, can you?

You are talking about two very different things. Are you attempting to get me to agree that the key to re-examination is shock via vulgarity? That's not likely to happen. Your idea that people "NEED" shocking is self-advanced.

> >I do believe that amateur radio does not need offensive folks whether > >they take the form of shock-value callsigns, on air obscenity or racism > >or argument of religious or political views.
>
> Dave, I can agree about obscenity and racism. But not > discussing religion or politics on the air? What do you want, an ARS > filled with people discussing their recent operations, their > equipment, and each other's signal strength only? A great benefit of > being a ham is the ability to talk with people in different cultures
> and to discuss the issues important to them--and, Dave, those issues > are often religion and politics.

You are probably as aware as I am where such discussions lead--to an argument which no one wins and no one changes his mind.

> Sorry, but if I--and, I suspect, many > other hams--couldn't feel free to discuss meaningful topics on the > air, there would be no reason to bother with amateur radio at all--the > Usenet would be FAR more interesting--and despite the bigots, racists, > homophobes, and self-righteous guardians of morality that infest the > Internet, would inspire far more intelligent conversations as well.

I'm not suggesting that hams not have meaningful conversations, Rick. Funny that you'd read that into my statements. You are partially correct about the time-shifted "conversations" (or monologues placed end to end) of Usenet. They might be better than amateur radio for those who feel called upon to discuss offbeat topics for which the air waves are ill-suited.

> Don't you ever get tired of exchanging signal reports or > discussing such "vital" topics as your station, the weather, your > family, and your job? Ham radio is about communications, Dave, not > just technology--and communications _includes_ those topics that are > controversial just as much as it does those that are far more mundane.

How long have you been a ham, Rick? Do you think I need your advice about what ham radio is about? The word "communications" is a generic term with many meanings. Amateur radio may consist of the exchange of signal reports or the tale of a trip up the Orinoco River. It can include the discussion of the weather in Phoenix or may include formal message traffic. Avoiding controversial topics is plain old common sense. If you believe that it should include the controversial then perhaps you support the Liberty Net, K1MAN's broadcasts and the regular brawls which take place on 75m or on 14.313.

> >I don't know what kind of newsgroup you're posting to, Kim but your > >stuff is appearing in an amateur radio newsgroup. Right now I'm posting > >here as I wait for dinner. I posted earlier in the day after > >participating in a 6m opening to Europe and the Caribbean.
>
> Funny how this becomes "an amateur radio newsgroup" when it > comes to criticizing Kim, but when I (or someone else) point out that > people here are demonstrating pretty poor behavior to potential hams,
> I'm always told that "this is the Internet--not ham radio."

Go back and read what Kim stated (including her colorful and unneccessary adjective). Now read my response. You might want to attempt to tie the two together before clambering up on that soapbox. Otherwise you end up looking kind of silly.

> >You are, of course, absolutely correct that the amateur radio service is > >one place where accommodation is necessary. Your callsign does not meet > >that accommodation. Oh--did you mean that amateur radio must tolerate > >those who choose a call based on sexual innuendo and that we must all > >put up with it because you've found a new "right"? What you do in > >private with your life is indeed your business. What you do on the air > >in amateur radio and what you post here is most certainly not private.
>
> Then, since you agree that what is posted here is as relevant > as what is said on the air, I wonder how you can justify the harsh > posts by you, Larry, Dick, and others about Kim's call sign. She > merely USES the sign, the group of you pick it apart, insult her (and > others), demonstrate a total lack of respect for other hams in the > group, and in general make it clear that hams are NOT respectful, > polite, courteous, and friendly people--but are biased, opinionated, > self-righteous, and as capable of viciousness as any pit bull. How can > you POSSIBLY claim that you believe in accommodation when it comes to > public behavior, yet act as you do in this news group? YOU may not > view yourself as a computer hobbiest--but many of us do, and your > behavior here is no less offensive than the behavior of the > freebanders in the lower end of 10m!

"Hobbyist", Rick. No, I'm not a computer hobbyist. I'm a computer user. I don't post in computer hobbyist newsgroups. I post in amateur radio newsgroups. I just uses computers as a tool. I didn't agree with you about anything. I stated my belief that vulgarity is vulgarity here or on the air. Your statement attempting to compare my actions to those of freebanders are laughable.

> >Liking you or disliking you isn't part of the issue, Kim. I might not > >like you even if you had a normal callsign. It is just that you > >wouldn't be offending me and others with a non-suggestive call.
> >
> >I think you are confusing the words "accommodation" and "civility".
> >You believe that you should be pretty much able to shout an oath just > >about anywhere you choose. You can do that but you'll have to steel > >yourself against being treated like the bastard child at the family > >reunion. You've chosen a wink, nudge callsign and defend your choice > >as a "right". If others take offense, they have a "right" to snub you, > >tell you off or laugh at you.
>
> But NOT to harass, insult, or attempt to intimidate her, Dave.
> When something offends you, you make it clear that it IS offensive
> and, if nothing is done to change it you either ignore it or stop > associating with the person giving the offense. In the case of a news > group, that would mean just kill filing Kim so you wouldn't have to be > exposed to her call sign at all.

Insult, Rick? Sure I have that right. I don't harass and I don't intimidate. As long as Kim sees fit to argue the issue, I am free to respond. Don't like it? Killfile my stuff.

> What you are doing has nothing to do with expressing offense > or making your position clear--it has everything to do with power. You > insist that you have the right to determine what is best for Kim and > for the ARS based on your personal values. Obviously, Kim and many > others of us disagree with you. Rather than treating it as a case > where you have to "agree to disagree" however, you seem fixated on > asserting your "power" by pressuring Kim to change her sign. I hate to > burst your bubble, Dave, but you don't have any power over anyone at
> all.

Get off your high horse, Rick. You can attempt to paint it as whatever your leftist heart desires. The only thing is, you can't prove it. I don't see the "many" standing behind you. Where did they go?

> >Stern has been yanked from more stations than most hosts ever have the > >opportunity to work for. He may his right to an opinion but station > >management and ultimately the listeners have a right to pull the plug on > >him.
>

> Typical.

Your "typical" is typical.

> Did you know, btw, that among the 100 most banned books in the > United States are Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, The Age of Reason, > Black Beauty, and The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin? Apparently, > Kim's call sign isn't the only thing people like yourself find obscene > and work to remove from society.

I don't have any interest at all in banning books, Rick. For a book to enter my home, I have to bring it here. There is no tie to that and a call like Kim's on the public airwaves.

> When will people like you learn that simply because something > is personally offensive to you, it does NOT give you the right to > demand that OTHERS who don't share your view be deprived of it?

Probably about the time that "people like you" learn that the public airwaves are not a sewer and that the people are not obligated to submit to your idea of radio nirvana. "People like you" can do what they want in private. They can't force it upon those who find their actions offensive.

Dave K8MN

5745. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:01:08 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxap1p.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28742

On 24 Dec 2001 13:42:05 GMT, Steve Robeson K4YZ wrote:

>>His name has nothing to do with it. His conviction for cellular phone >>phreaking is the reason behind why he was found morally unfit.
>
>The FCC has no business deciding who is "morally fit" to do ANYTHING. He >did his time in the legal system.

Section 308(b) of the Communications Avt specifically charges the Commission to make a detrmination of wherher any applicant or licensee possesses the moral character to become or remain a licensee.

>The prosecutor himself has stated that he just doesn't like his "attitude"
>and is doing what he can to further prevent Mitnik from retruning to society.

Did you read the entire jistory of this case? This wasn't the first time.....and may not be his last, either.

>He screwed up, he know's it, he paid the price the courts put on him.

He is totally unrepentent.

>Time to tell the FCC and the courts to act like men, not sandlot whiners.

The FCC is doing what the law requires to yank this guy's privileges to operate a radio.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5746. Re: "...one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:02:55 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225220255.24724.00000530@mb-mr.aol.com>
Source record: 28743

In article <OtqVjwphBHA.1752@cpimsnntpa02>, "K0HB" <K0HB@bitbucket73.com>
writes:

>KE8HH says:
>
>> The ONLY reason for taking that position is because they are paying some >people >> more to do a given job than they are paying others for the same work. If >their pay >> scale was based on equal pay for equal work they wouldn't CARE if people >told >> others what they earned.

That's a nice concept but it rarely works out nice and clean. Who gets to gauge what is "equal work" when a job is not easily quantifiable? Engineering design is not like making widgets.

>Hogwash! People get paid what they get paid because of their value to their >employer.

In part, yes.

They also get paid what they get paid because of the employer's value to the employee. Money is not the only way an employer "pays" an employee. For many people, non-cash factors can have a bigger influence than the paycheck.

There's also the effect of an employee's negotiating skills. Some people can wheel and deal better than others.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5747. Re: latest NYC update

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:02:56 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225220256.24724.00000532@mb-mr.aol.com>
Source record: 28745

In article <de9751ca.0112211124.466d76e1@posting.google.com>, webdoc@mailandnews.com (Keith Hosman Red Cross Disaster Services) writes:

>For those who are interested, I will be driving home to ohio next >week, I will be outproccessing on wed 26th, and either driving out web >afternoon or thursday am, heading back to ohio.
>
>Keith Hosman

Keith,

Good to hear it! Stay safe and Godspeed on your trip home.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5748. Re: Could it be?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:02:56 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225220256.24724.00000531@mb-mr.aol.com>
Source record: 28747

In article <9vtg5701orp@enews3.newsguy.com>, "Kamatu" <admin@ahww.net> writes:

>I am so interested in finally getting my Technician's License that I have >studied and studied for weeks now. I have passed every sample test I can get >my hands on, and there is a real test in my area on January 17th, 2002.

GREAT!! Go for it! Try the other tests while you're there, too.
>
>But, I'm reading these messages and I'm starting to get the feeling that the >priviledges afforded to a Tech No Code gives access to frequencies that are >really no better to occupy than a Citizen Band radio would access.

I'm not sure what you mean. The Technician class license gives you all amateur radio privileges above 30 MHz - that's a lot of spectrum, lots of modes, lots of power.
>
>I'm reading about jamming, and this jerk that, that jerk this, kids, lids,
>space cadets...

This stuff exists, but it's the exception, not the rule. At least in the places
I've lived.

The character of Usenet groups varies all over the place, and amateur radio NGs are no exception. What you see is rarely a representative sample. I have found that the character of most amateur radio email reflectors is more to my liking.

>
>I wanted to get into Amateur Radio to get out of the 27Mhz Snake Pit and QSO >with some quality contacts.
>
>Am I really making a mistake? Is it too late for Ham Radio now?

A resounding "NO" to both questions!!
>
73 & good luck

Jim, N2EY

5749. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:02:57 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225220257.24724.00000534@mb-mr.aol.com>
Source record: 28744

Bert,

Congrats! Now be sure to USE the new license. It's what happens after it's earned that matters.

73 es seasons greetings,

Jim N2EY

5750. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:02:57 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225220257.24724.00000533@mb-mr.aol.com>
Source record: 28746

In article <20011224084205.08595.00001292@mb-fz.aol.com>, k4yz@aol.com (Steve Robeson K4YZ) writes:

>The FCC has no business deciding who is "morally fit" to do ANYTHING.

Actually, they do. A radio license is a special privilege to use the public airwaves, which are public property. For ham licenses, the FCC assumes that applicants are trustworthy unless proven otherwise. Communications-related criminal convictions are "proof otherwise".

>He did his time in the legal system.

Has he? Did he serve his entire sentence, or is he out on parole?
>
> The prosecutor himself has stated that he just doesn't like his >"attitude"
>and is doing what he can to further prevent Mitnik from retruning to society.

"Attitude" has everything to do with being granted a privilege.
>
> It's reasons like this that many people who might otherwise fit back in >to society wind up dropping back into less-than-desireable conduct. They >can't >get past the past, not because they want to, but becuase idiots like the >prosecutor don't want to let it go and let him get on with his life.

There's an old saying:

"Fool me once, shame on you. Fool me twice, shame on me."

If this guy has seriously violated communications law and been convicted of same, it's up to HIM to convince the govt. that he has changed his ways and has become trustworthy of the privilege of a license.
>
> He screwed up, he know's it, he paid the price the courts put on him.

One can say the same thing about Bill Clinton.

Does he admit he screwed up? Does he say "I've changed, it'll never happen again"?

> Time to tell the FCC and the courts to act like men, not sandlot >whiners.

What would "men" do?

73 de Jim, N2EY

5751. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:11:18 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2940dd_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28750

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28B7BD.9BEE9175@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2897CD.E53C98D2@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > I'm fine with reality, Kim. I already knew that no one at the FCC or > > > the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls. So you've come to > > > think of your call as "racey", have you?
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > What kind of dark closet do you live in?! Of course I think it's racey, > > different, fun, daring, non-conformist, dignified, respectable and naughty > > all at the same time. It's my callsign, Dave. It is to me what I wish it > > to be. It is to you whatever you wish it to be. And, I accept every single > > bit of it.
>
> Then I'd assume that you're getting used to the cat calls you've > garnered that you're likely becoming accustomed to your newly found > notoriety.
>
> Dave K8MN

I haven't heard any. I can get way past the negative responses, Dave, and get on with the fun about it. I didn't realize I'd reached any status of notoriety.

Kim W5TIT

5752. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:11:53 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C293FE4.82EFDCE4@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28748

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 13:34:29 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >You are perhaps the ultimate hypocrite, Rick. You set yourself up as > >judge of what constitutes harassment and as definer of TOS/COU > >violations based only upon YOUR interpretations. You decry those who > >would judge another's actions based on morality yet set yourself up to > >decide who is honest, moral and ethical. Pretty pathetic stuff.
>
> Funny--YOU'RE the one who is demanding that people live up to > YOUR ethical and moral values. But when it comes to living up to your > own commitments--something that nearly EVERYONE believes in doing--you > feel it's no one else's business. Perhaps not--but then, CLEARLY, > Kim's call sign is none of your own!

It's tough that I don't choose to accept your interpretation of an agreement I don't have with you. It's tough that I don't choose to base my actions on your definition of what constitutes harassment. My ISP has not contacted me or threatened me with closing my account. I have only the accusations of a couple of guys on the fringes of society. Your continued attempts to paint Kim as a victim are really a grin.

> >I'll let you know when Earthlink advises me that I've violated our > >agreement.
>
> And Kim will let you know when the FCC advises her that she's > violated her agreement with them.
>
> Kim had the courage to write to the FCC and ASK about her call > sign choice--and to post the response here, Dave. Do YOU have the > courage to write to Earthlink, forward a few dozen of your posts from > this thread so they can see what you have to say (and not just the > ones where you talk to other moralists--the ones where you ridicule > and insult Kim directly) and to post THEIR reply to this group? I > doubt it--that takes courage not just a big mouth.

You're starting to sound as silly as Cecil. Why would I find it necessary to do that? If you have the courage of your convictions, make your case to Earthlink. After all, I'm not accusing myself of harassment. Be sure to include some of Kim's greatest hits when you send those samples of material posted here. A few of your own would surely do wonders for your case.

You write of courage but I've seen nothing courageous of you. You write of freedoms but you champion only the excesses in the expression of freedom. In your posts I've found that you'd suppress the freedoms of those who are offended by the extremes. You even tried to play the Vietnam card with me in an effort to bully me with your "I've earned the right to..." stuff as if your service somehow gave you greater rights than the average citizen. That, of course, stopped when I identified myself as a Viet vet. What do you have other than a "big mouth"?

Dave K8MN

5753. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:13:39 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <DfbW7.241088$3d2.11707577@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28749

> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote

> > Because Dave has an over exaggerated idea of his own importance and > > nobody else's opinion matters a tinker's damn to him.

Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote

> It's tinkers dam, without the 'n', Cecil. Look that up in your Funk and > Wagnalls

Sorry... Richard... it tinker's damn OR tinker's dam but NEVER tinkers dam.

Rich

5754. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:20:58 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C294213.DDF3140B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28851

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 13:44:21 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >There is only a violation based upon your own interpretation of what > >Earthlink says so your argument holds no water. You don't need to prove > >that I post in violation of Earthlink's policies. You aren't a factor > >at all. Earthlink will let me know if they believe my posts violate > >their policies. So far they've not done so. There is no indication > >that they think my commenting Kim's lack of class in choosing a tacky > >callsign is a problem.
>
> Dave, even YOU aren't that stupid, are you?
>
> You know perfectly well that unless someone specifically > forwards your posts to Earthlink with a complaint they don't have the > slightest idea WHAT you are posting at all!

Rick, I don't think that even YOU are stupid enough to believe that Earthlink is going to terminate my service even if you DO attempt to make an issue of it. You are right that Earthlink has the slightest idea what I'm posting. Further, I don't think anyone at Earthlink cares a whit.

> What a completely absurd straw dog. That's like arguing that > if you break into an empty house and steal the jewelry, you haven't > broken the law since, if you had, the police would have arrested you!

Then, if you believe that I am in violation of my terms of service with Earthlink, feel free to make an issue. Earthlink will then decide if that is indeed the case. They won't and I won't take your word for it, Rick. Until that happens, you and Cecil are simply blowing smoke.

> >> No problem at all, Dave. While I might argue that defending > >> against harassment is unlikely to be _viewed_ as harassment, it isn't > >> really relevant since I don't obtain my news feed from an isp. My news > >> feed comes from Airnews (Internet America) and my postings are subject > >> to THEIR rules, not the TOU/COS in force at voyager.net where I > >> receive some of my email (I also run my own servers on the three > >> registered domains I maintain). According to Airnews own TOU/COS I am > >> NOT in violation of my agreements, and thus unlike yourself, I'm not > >> breaking my word by my posts here.
> >
> >That wouldn't matter, Rick. You'd still be harassing me whether you > >violated TOU/COS with anyone you deal with. As to your "defending > >against harassment"--Phhhhfffffffftttttttt! What a load of blarney!

>
> Matters quite a bit, Dave. You're accusing me of doing what > you are doing. Wrong. I'M not violating my contract with an isp or a > news server. You are. One of us is dishonest in his dealings with a > commercial firm, the other is not. Sorry you don't like being viewed > as dishonest, but that's your decision not mine.

...only by your definition, Rick. One of us is being dishonest in his claims of TOS violations. I'm likewise sorry that you don't like being viewed as a loon but don't you have some sunset calls to make down by the lake?

> >> We ended up debating an area of Libertarian Party policy that > >> we have very different views on--that of social support for the sick > >> and poor. That, however, has nothing to do with libertarian > >> philosophy, which limits itself to directly addressing the issues of > >> rights and freedoms--and in that area, Cecil and I agree on most > >> points and can agree to disagree on the few where we differ.
> >
> >Forgive me, Rick. I didn't know that you and Cecil had come to such an > >agreement. It must have been done privately as it was not evident in > >posts to the newsgroup.
>
> I'll ask him.
>
> Hey, Cecil--do you feel that with respect to our views on the > Libertarian Party platform we have to "agree to disagree?" I'll be > glad to do so if you feel it's appropriate.
>
> Ok, I asked. Now how about making the same offer to Kim about > her call sign?

Uh, I didn't make the claim that Kim and I had "agreed to disagree". You did make that claim regarding you and Cecil. No cigar.

Dave K8MN

5755. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:22:42 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29427B.C2F06B2@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28852

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Uhhhhh, earth to Dave - it's my vote on what I find funny. Your > > > malevolent view of reality is downright depressing. I have never > > > even smiled at any of your postings.
> >
> > My best indicator of my stuff is whether others get a grin at any of my > > responses to you.
>
> You must be copying Nero who allegedly grined while Rome burned.
> IMO, you are a sad example of humanity.

Then again, you can't be taken seriously.

Dave K8MN

5756. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:23:16 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29429D.59270CDA@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28853

CAM wrote:
>
> Rick Adams wrote:
> > Hey, Cecil--do you feel that with respect to our views on the > > Libertarian Party platform we have to "agree to disagree?" I'll be > > glad to do so if you feel it's appropriate.
>
> Any two people can find something upon which to disagree. I'll bet that > you, Kim, Dave, and I agree on 95% of all subjects, e.g. smallpox is > bad. No two people agree 100% on everything. Think how boring the > world would be if everyone agreed on everything. This newsgroup would > not exist.

Yet he provides no response to the query.

Dave K8MN

5757. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:26:01 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c294471_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28857

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28BE16.9B5CD14E@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C289A48.3E39B90C@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C275D4A.BB14655B@earthlink.net...
> > > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > > > news:3C25044C.4766B089@earthlink.net...
>
> > > > >
> > > > > Not that I ever would, but how 'bout if I request that you come out
and
> > get > > > > > a little nasty for me?
> > > >
> > > > Is that your standard? Should the world stoop to the lowest possible > > > standard?
> > > >
> > >
> > > I didn't ask the world to, Dave, only you. And, no, you do not have to meet > > my standard. Nor do I have to meet yours. WHY do you insist that I must > > meet yours? Huh?
>
> I don't believe in the lowest possible standard, Kim. I believe in the > highest possible standard.
>

And, where have I noted that you should do otherwise? I am asking you why
I must meet your standard(s), Dave. I am not saying that you need to believe any which way.

> > >
> > > Should we totally do away with any concept of accomodating
> > > the sensibilities and values of others or do we all simply do what we > > > want regardless of who we offend?
> > >
> >
```

> > Like I said to you. We all (those of us who live the way I do, anyway)
have > > our limitations. I will conform where I believe it is utmost for me to do
> > so.
>
> Be honest with us and with yourself, Kim. I don't believe that you > conform unless it is absolutely necessary to do so. You wear your > non-conformity like a badge and feel it necessary to shock people.
>

I do not strive for anything other than living life to its fullest, Dave.
What do you not understand about that there are places I conform and those where I relax and let my hair down?

> >
> > I don't think places like the ARS is one of those situations. If you > > believe it is, and if I am so damned insulting to you, then cease and > desist with recognition of me, Dave.
>
> I do believe that amateur radio does not need offensive folks whether > they take the form of shock-value callsigns, on air obscenity or racism > or argument of religious or political views.
>

And, I don't believe I am offensive. I believe you think I am. But I don't believe I am. And some of the best darned conversations I've had on HF (and even on 2M) have been those of religious and political views. You see, some people can actually have conversastions, disagree totally, and still conduct themselves with respect for others and in a diginified manner. That includes me, by the way.

> >
> > Go on with your life and let me have and live > > mine. Of course, I'm going to do that anyway, and it simply amazes me
that > > you--one who would have the world believe you are so dignified and > > intelligent--spend your time arguing such innane things as are here in this > > newsgroup. Good grief, you're no more grand than any of us here--it's > > Christmas Day and you are posting to a fucking newsgroup, Dave. What's > > YOUR excuse?
>
> I don't know what kind of newsgroup you're posting to, Kim but your > stuff is appearing in an amateur radio newsgroup. Right now I'm posting > here as I wait for dinner. I posted earlier in the day after > participating in a 6m opening to Europe and the Caribbean.
>
> > >
> > > I don't want to live in a world like > > > that, Kim, nor do I know many folks who do.

> > >
> >
> > And, for God's sake would you finally get this....NO ONE (most of all
me) > > says you have to. BUT, why do you wish me, demand nearly of me, that I must > > abide by your lifestyle? WHY? The grand scale of the ARS, in my humblest > > of opinions, is not one of the places where I believe accommodation is > > necessary.
>
> You are, of course, absolutely correct that the amateur radio service is > one place where accommodation is necessary.
>

You apparently misread what I wrote. I said "the grand scale of the ARS, in my humblest of opinions, is NOT one the places where I believe accommodation is necessary.

>
> Your callsign does not meet > that accommodation.
>

And, I'll remind you that I don't think the ARS is one of the places where accommodation need be conducted.

>
> Oh--did you mean that amateur radio must tolerate > those who choose a call based on sexual innuendo and that we must all > put up with it because you've found a new "right"? What you do in > private with your life is indeed your business. What you do on the air > in amateur radio and what you post here is most certainly not private.
>

No, it is not. It is not meant to be. What I wear in public is not private, what I do in public is not private, and I hope you know where I am going with this. It used to be, Dave, that women in anything but dresses to their ankles and some kind of horridly uncomfortable attire for swimming were considered vulgar. It used to be that women weren't supposed to vote.
It used to be that women did not accompany a man in a bar or pub. What I now do in public is far more acceptable than it was several years ago and will be nothing but ho hum in another 30-40.

> >
> > You may disagree with that, but it's too bad. I also don't > > believe "accommodation" is mine to give at places like sports arenas, bars,
> > concerts, parades, and lots of other places. I do believe that > > accommodation is allowable--for me--at times such as emergency nets in
the > > ARS, meetings, and lots of other places. But, if you think that a hobby

is > > the place for everyone to yield to each other, I am sorry. I will not > > comply with your desire. I don't think it is. It is known as an impasse,
> > Dave. And, we either agree to disagree, or shut the Hell up about it.
But
> > neither of us is going to yield on our thoughts about our position.
And,
> > what is totally wrong--in my eyes--about you is that you nearly demand
of > > someone how they must behave. AND, added to that you almost make it sound
> > as though you'd think better of them if they do, maybe be their friend, > > maybe respect them. How much more idealistic can that be, Dave? For you to > > "make deals" so that people will have you like them? I couldn't care less
> > if you like me.
>
> Liking you or disliking you isn't part of the issue, Kim. I might not > like you even if you had a normal callsign. It is just that you > wouldn't be offending me and others with a non-suggestive call.
>

Well, I am offended that you are offended.

>
> I think you are confusing the words "accommodation" and "civility".
> You believe that you should be pretty much able to shout an oath just > about anywhere you choose. You can do that but you'll have to steel > yourself against being treated like the bastard child at the family > reunion. You've chosen a wink, nudge callsign and defend your choice > as a "right". If others take offense, they have a "right" to snub you, > tell you off or laugh at you.
>

And, they're more than welcome to do it, Dave. Have I given you some kind of impression that I feel like a bastard child? Have I given you the idea that I feel wrongly snubbed, told off, or laughed at? Have you ever heard of the saying "with friends like you who would need enemies?" If you are that offended by a callsign, or even by my entire personality, it is not your approval that I would wish upon myself.

> > >
> > > I see what you've done in > > > the way I view the Howard Sterns of the world.
> > >
> >
> > I happen to enjoy some of Howard Stern. I think he goes way overboard
on > > some things. I've never written him a letter telling him that I'll listen

> > more if he behaves. I simply don't listen to him when he's, to me, > > boring. AND, I don't think in any circumstance that he should be off
the > > air.
>
> Stern has been yanked from more stations than most hosts ever have the > opportunity to work for. He may his right to an opinion but station > management and ultimately the listeners have a right to pull the plug on > him.
>

What's that got to do with anything?

> > >
> > > You'd appear to do > > > anything for shock value.
> > >
> >
> > If that's what you believe, then you have fun believing it. Just don't > > expect me to live up to all your expectations. I can meet all of them,
but
> > am only willing to meet some of them.
>
> Kim, you've not met any of my positive expectations. You have more than > met some of my negative expectations.
>
> > >
> > > I already gave you my answer to your "WHY?"
> > > question: Because it is the right thing to do. I think you already > > > know that deep inside.
> >
> >
> > Well, you're deluding yourself then. Because I don't believe it's the right > > thing to do. I know you think it is, but I know that I do not. Again,
you > > have your right to your opinion. You even have your right to express it
to > > me. But, you don't have the right to demand that I be any different than > > what I am. No one has that right. Well, let's put it this way...yes, I > > suppose they do have that right. And I have the right to completely, > > literally, and happily dismiss their opinion and desire--and I do.
>
> I've made no demands at all upon you, Kim.
>
> Dave K8MN

Call it what you wish, Dave. You see it one way, I see it another. As I said before, that is what makes life, diversity, and the world so fantastic.

Kim W5TIT

5758. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:26:04 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C294345.22DCB2BA@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28854

CAM wrote:
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > For God's sake, why, why, why is it only you who you think should count?
>
> Because Dave has an over exaggerated idea of his own importance and nobody > else's opinion matters a tinker's damn to him.

Here Cecil, wait while I drag this mirror over again. Can you see yourself in it? Has it dawned upon you that the same words could be used to describe you? Do you suppose that it has dawned upon Kim that the same words could be used to describe her? Should I take the mirror to where she can take a gander?

Dave K8MN

5759. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:27:28 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2944a7_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28858

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28C057.E538CE19@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C289B72.93CC660A@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C2761A1.9C3109F7@earthlink.net...
> > > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > > >
> > > > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > > > news:3C25074D.9742EA0B@earthlink.net...
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > Actually, it does not. The courts are full of cases where it must
> > be > > > > > > > determined whether one person's choices intrude upon another's > > rights.
> > > > > > > Slavery does not enter the equation at all. There are limits
to > > every > > > > > > > freedom we enjoy. You see some of the limits illustrated by the > > > > events
> > > > > > > which have unfolded over the past several months.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > Kim's "rights" are not without limits.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > > >
> > > > > > No, and neither are yours, Dave. The government, by virtue of > > allowing
> > > > > my > > > > > > > callsign, has given me the right to have it. You are acting in a > > manner
> > > > > > > directly contrary to what my government allows me to do. You, not
> > me,
> > > > > have
> > > > > > > exceeded the limits of your rights.
> > > > > >
```

> > > > > Please tell me what the limit is on stating my belief that your call
> > is
> > > > > > tacky.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > >
> > > > > You can say it all you want. To demand change of me, for you, exceeds
> > the > > > > > limits.
> > > >
> > > I've demanded nothing of you, Kim. I've tried to explain to you why
you
> > > should change your call, not for me alone but for any who would be > > > offended by it and for the amateur radio service. As I pointed out to > > > James deLoach, I'd ask anyone with a similar call do the same. They > > > aren't all here. You are.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > I think it's been more of a demand, Dave. You are incessant about your > > desire to have me change my call, you say that it is for you and people like > > you. What about me, what about people like me? What about that, Dave?
Why
> > do I have to change for you?
>
> You have not changed for me or for anyone. I believe that the right > thing to do would be to obtain a call that isn't offensive to anyone.
> I'd would like to think that you aren't one to go out of your way to > offend anyone and that you care about the sensitivities of others.
> There is no demand to that, Kim. At this point, the only person who can > take any corrective step would be you.
>
> Let's examine the scenario again. You have:
>
> Kim - Who doesn't give a damn what anybody thinks of her or her call
> and who deliberately chose a call which was suggestive in > order to achieve a desired effect.
>
> Dave - Who has not chosen a call which would offend the > sensitivities of anyone. His call was chosen as the "K"
> counterpart of a
> ham he greatly admired.
>
>
> Dave K8MN

And contrary to your way of thinking, Dave, both are wonderful calls.

Kim W5TIT

5760. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:27:42 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2943A6.275A38ED@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28855

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Gosh Kim, your actions are judged in comparison with what society > > generally agrees is appropriate behavior.
>
> Have you polled society on Kim's callsign, Dave? I'll bet you elitists > are in the very small minority. The origin of the word "vulgar" means > that it comes from the common folk who outnumber your uppity kind by a > large percentage.

No, but it sounds like another quest for you. We weren't playing a game of word origins. Perhaps you'd like to provide us a commonly used and current definition of the term.

Dave K8MN

5761. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:29:34 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c294527_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28861

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28C188.31B21058@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C289DE0.9CCDE8AB@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > Where do I need protection, Dick? And, I have never been ridiculed for
> > my > > > > callsign. Sorry to burst your bubble.
> > >
> > > You've been ridiculed for your callsign any number of times here alone.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > I don't know when, Dave. I've never felt ridiculed. I think you're > > allowing yourself far more power than you have.
>
> If a Kim falls victim to ridicule in the forest and there is no one to
> to alert her, is she still ridiculed?
>
> Dave K8MN

What a weak paradox, Dave. But, no, on either count. There is no sound if a tree falls in the woods and no one is around to hear it, either. And, it is a philosophical question, with no right or wrong answer.

Kim W5TIT

5762. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:29:42 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29441F.1400AF27@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28856

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > You are the > > same fellow who tried to elevate Kim to victimhood and the same fellow > > who accused me of harassment. Interesting that both you and Kim choose > > to continue to respond.
>
> Is it your advice that someone being harassed should do nothing about it?
> Sorry, that lets the evil people win.

Piffle.

Dave K8MN

5763. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:30:36 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c294570_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28863

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C28C1C9.76613834@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C289E2D.D0DA3058@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C27852D.2B6D0DAA@IEEE.org...
> > > > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > > > Just go on thumbing your nose at the world.
> > > > >
> > > > > It is you who is thumbing your nose at the world, Dave.
> > > > > Come down from your ivory tower, join the world, and
> > > > > enjoy life instead of being such an elitist grinch.
> > > > > --
> > > > > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > > He'd need to pull the silver spoon out of his...er...well, you get
the > > idea.
> > >
> > > I've asked several times, Kim. What's with the silver spoon stuff?
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > It's my little secret, Dave. All mine. ;)
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
> It'd probably have more effect in the newsgroup if folks could make > sense of it.
>
> Dave K8MN

I'm not looking for effect in the newsgroup, Dave. It is you who believes that our lives should be made up of things that have effects.

Kim W5TIT
```

5764. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:33:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29450C.4FCDCE26@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28859

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Dave - Who has not chosen a call which would offend the > > sensitivities of anyone. His call was chosen as the "K"
> > counterpart of a > > ham he greatly admired.
>
> Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are > you going to do about it?

You have no class, Cecil. My call was not chosen for suggestive impact nor does it spell anything, unless you find the abbreviation for Minnesota disturbing.

Dave K8MN

5765. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:36:06 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <GAbW7.310887$W8.11394890@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28860

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:DfbW7.241088$3d2.11707577@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote
>
> > > Because Dave has an over exaggerated idea of his own importance and > > > nobody else's opinion matters a tinker's damn to him.
>
> Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote
>
> > It's tinkers dam, without the 'n', Cecil. Look that up in your Funk
and > > Wagnalls
>
> Sorry... Richard... it tinker's damn OR tinker's dam but NEVER tinkers dam.
>
> Rich
>

Sorry, I don't own a Funk and Wagnalls

5766. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:36:22 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2945AF.FC782341@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28862

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Now you'd set a limit on how much I can protest?
>
> Not me, the government has set limits on how much you can protest.
> You have stepped over that limit with your harassment.

Let me know when the government places you in charge of Homeland
Harassment and provides you some authority.

> > It'd be interesting to compare my total volume of posts in this > > newsgroup to your total volume--
>
> Not a fair comparison at all. There is a big difference between > attacking a concept and viscously attacking a person as you > have done.

You don't really want me to start dredging up some of the things you've said to Dick Carroll and Larry have them come back to prove you a liar, do you?

Dave K8MN

5767. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:37:22 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2945EA.72C17A6D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28864

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Rather than extending any effort to let the thread die a death > > of its own, you help to prolong it. Your silly attempts to paint Kim > > the "victim" of harassment prolong it. Your attempts to defend Kim's > > thumbing her nose at the world prolong it. Are you rational enough to > > realize it?
>
> If the conflict is not prolonged by the good guys, evil wins. What you are > doing is evil, Dave, and I have faith that you will burn in hell for it.

Only if there is a choice between hell and Texas.

Dave K8MN

5768. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:37:58 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c29471e_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28867

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2908ED.3751A909@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > From Webster's: "endorse - to inscribe with a title"
> > >
> > > The FCC endorsed Kim's callsign when they issued it.
> > > Kim's official ARS title, endorsed by the FCC, is > > > clearly printed on her amateur radio license.
> >
> > There is about thee a certain aura. 'tis the manner in which thou art
> > able to perform the dictionary equivalent of adding one and one and > > arriving at an incorrect result.
>
> Too bad you don't realize that one plus one can have an infinite > number of results depending on the phase angle between the ones.
>
> I haven't seen Kim's amateur radio license but I'll bet it's > printed on the same form as yours and mine and fully endorced by > the "United States of America Federal Communications Commission".
> Kim, is that what your license says?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Uh, <giggle> I'd have to find, Cecil. But I bet you're right...LOL

Kim W5TIT

5769. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:40:13 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C294695.5D6E52D9@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28865

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > That's largely because you don't seem to have understood how your > > choices might offend people. We now know about your amazement. I'm > > waiting for the part where you reach enlightenment.
>
> Dave, you must be the reincarnation of one of the priests who > condemned Galileo to house arrest for asserting the earth was > not the center of the universe. Enlightenment indeed. How can > you know anything about enlightenment with your head buried > in the sands of time?

How can you know anything about my head with your head buried in the sands of Texas? It couldn't have been me. I know the great circle paths from here backward and forward. What was Galileo's tacky callsign?

Dave K8MN

5770. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:44:22 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29478E.D5E72FF8@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28866

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Allow me to hold this mirror so that you might better see yourself, you > > silly old man.
>
> Only 11 years older than you, Dave. That's not much. I just realized what > your and my problem is. I'm an Aquarian, a clear-eyed seeker of wisdom > and truth on the verge of the emerging Golden Age of Aquarius and you > are a Pices left over from the decaying but lingering warlike Age of > Pices which is, at this very moment, heaving its last ugly breath.

Eleven years is a long time, especially if you've wasted much of it.
Good thing for me that I'm a Pisces and not a subsciber to the beliefs of astrologers. I don't know what that "Pices" thing is. Once could be a typo but twice...

Dave K8MN

5771. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:48:42 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <uMbW7.241116$3d2.11709897@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28868

Congratulations, Bert! You had a doubt? One thing I am very happy about - you didn't simply memorize the Q&A pool. You have no idea how much you have helped yourself. You'll find you will be able to do a lot more about the problems which do crop up now and then when running on HF (or any other band, for that matter). You have the theory to deal with them. Again, congrats!

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim AA2QA

"Bert Craig" <kc2hmn@cs.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011224171540.14772.00001392@mb-bj.news.cs.com...
> Hi everybody,
>
> I just wanted to take a moment to thank a few of the folks on r.r.a.p. for
all > the help they gave me with my license upgrade. Ed Hare for never even allowing > me to entertain the thought that I wouldn't lick the code test like a postage > stamp. Jerry Oxendine and Jim Hampton for encouraging me to "enjoy" the code > and giving me pointers in 'Conversational CW 101' so I wouldn't sound like
a > horses you-know-what upon my first true AR CW QSO. Dick McCollum gets BIG TIME
> kudos for answering a multitude of questions with the patience of Job.
> Especially for telling me to "calm down," when, for reasons unknown to
this > day, all my "Fast Farnsworth" practice flew out the window and I couldn't copy
> 5-wpm to save my life...on the day before the test.
>
> I'm forced to put Dick Carroll and Larry Roll in a separate paragraph
because > they helped me with something other than the code...an attitude adjustment.
> Their self-made reputations as r.r.a.p. "toughies" are forever shattered
in > this ham's eyes as they demonstrated that they would've gladly given me
their
> "lucky" shirts off their backs if it'd help me pass. Needless to say both were > very happy to hear that I passed. BTW, if you study with the ARRL 'Fast > Farnsworth' CD's, the actual exam characters will feel like they're

"floating
> in."
>
> I originally did not want to write this because I thought it might be construed
> as a "congratulate me" post. I did so because I want to let anybody who might > be "put off" by what they perceive as an attitude know that these folks WANT to > help you...so stick around.
>
> I'd be remiss if I didn't mention one other guy, a non-ham. My college > certification professor, Mr. Cronk. He fixed it so that we could NOT earn our > sheepskins by just memorizing exam pool questions, hence the birth of the > infamous "Cronk screenings." The General was easy but the Extra required
the > dusting off of some pretty deeply buried electronics theory. Thanks Professor
> C.!
>
> If I failed to mention any of you who encouraged me along the way, forgive
me.
> I just wanted to acknowledge the folks I leaned on the most. Thanks again.
I
> promise to pass it on to others. :-)
>
> 73 de Bert
> KC2HMN

5772. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:49:22 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C2948C2.6052A62F@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 28869

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

>
>
> Wow! Maybe someday we could have the TIT club. Ooops, never mind...LOL

Would it be a bird watcher club? :-)

5773. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:50:16 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c294a47_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28875

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C293B5C.84B12937@earthlink.net...
> Rick Adams wrote:
> >
> > On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 17:58:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > wrote:
> >
> > >Be honest with us and with yourself, Kim. I don't believe that you > > >conform unless it is absolutely necessary to do so. You wear your > > >non-conformity like a badge and feel it necessary to shock people.
> >
> > Sometimes people NEED shocking, Dave. Non-conformity is the > > basis for change, conformity the basis for inertia. Off hand, I don't > > know of ANY system that can't profit from looking at itself from a > > different perspective and at least _considering_ change, can you?
>
> You are talking about two very different things. Are you attempting to > get me to agree that the key to re-examination is shock via vulgarity?
> That's not likely to happen. Your idea that people "NEED" shocking is > self-advanced.
>
> > >I do believe that amateur radio does not need offensive folks whether > > >they take the form of shock-value callsigns, on air obscenity or racism > > >or argument of religious or political views.
> >
> > Dave, I can agree about obscenity and racism. But not > > discussing religion or politics on the air? What do you want, an ARS > > filled with people discussing their recent operations, their > > equipment, and each other's signal strength only? A great benefit of > > being a ham is the ability to talk with people in different cultures > > and to discuss the issues important to them--and, Dave, those issues > > are often religion and politics.
>
> You are probably as aware as I am where such discussions lead--to an > argument which no one wins and no one changes his mind.
>

If there are people immature enough that they cannot discuss topics such as culture, religion, politics, etc., with each other without civility and respect, then there are those who would refrain from going any farther with the discussion. I hear folks on the air all the time talking about military strategies, governmental policies, religion, etc., and the conversations are exchanges of ideas, little argued. I join in on those. I hear other conversations that become as inflamed as they do here, and I refrain from those. It takes a few moments to figure out the good and bad, Dave, but I have faith you can do it.

> >
> > Sorry, but if I--and, I suspect, many > > other hams--couldn't feel free to discuss meaningful topics on the > > air, there would be no reason to bother with amateur radio at all--the > > Usenet would be FAR more interesting--and despite the bigots, racists, > > homophobes, and self-righteous guardians of morality that infest the > > Internet, would inspire far more intelligent conversations as well.
>
> I'm not suggesting that hams not have meaningful conversations, Rick.
> Funny that you'd read that into my statements. You are partially > correct about the time-shifted "conversations" (or monologues placed end > to end) of Usenet. They might be better than amateur radio for those > who feel called upon to discuss offbeat topics for which the air waves > are ill-suited.
>
> > Don't you ever get tired of exchanging signal reports or > > discussing such "vital" topics as your station, the weather, your > > family, and your job? Ham radio is about communications, Dave, not > > just technology--and communications _includes_ those topics that are > > controversial just as much as it does those that are far more mundane.
>
> How long have you been a ham, Rick? Do you think I need your advice > about what ham radio is about? The word "communications" is a generic > term with many meanings. Amateur radio may consist of the exchange of > signal reports or the tale of a trip up the Orinoco River. It can > include the discussion of the weather in Phoenix or may include formal > message traffic. Avoiding controversial topics is plain old common > sense. If you believe that it should include the controversial then > perhaps you support the Liberty Net, K1MAN's broadcasts and the regular > brawls which take place on 75m or on 14.313.
>

I support the idea that they have those discussions. I don't support that they would curse and swear, etc., because I don't think that is for ham radio. But to tell one group that their conversation is OK, while telling another that theirs is not is just so contrary to what I believe ham radio should be. I don't care if they're brawling. In fact, I listen sometimes and laugh hysterically.

> > >
> > >I don't know what kind of newsgroup you're posting to, Kim but your > > >stuff is appearing in an amateur radio newsgroup. Right now I'm posting
> > >here as I wait for dinner. I posted earlier in the day after > > >participating in a 6m opening to Europe and the Caribbean.
> >
> > Funny how this becomes "an amateur radio newsgroup" when it > > comes to criticizing Kim, but when I (or someone else) point out that > > people here are demonstrating pretty poor behavior to potential hams, > > I'm always told that "this is the Internet--not ham radio."

>
> Go back and read what Kim stated (including her colorful and > unneccessary adjective). Now read my response. You might want to > attempt to tie the two together before clambering up on that soapbox.
> Otherwise you end up looking kind of silly.
>
> > >You are, of course, absolutely correct that the amateur radio service
is > > >one place where accommodation is necessary. Your callsign does not meet
> > >that accommodation. Oh--did you mean that amateur radio must tolerate > > >those who choose a call based on sexual innuendo and that we must all > > >put up with it because you've found a new "right"? What you do in > > >private with your life is indeed your business. What you do on the air > > >in amateur radio and what you post here is most certainly not private.
> >
> > Then, since you agree that what is posted here is as relevant > > as what is said on the air, I wonder how you can justify the harsh > > posts by you, Larry, Dick, and others about Kim's call sign. She > > merely USES the sign, the group of you pick it apart, insult her (and > > others), demonstrate a total lack of respect for other hams in the > > group, and in general make it clear that hams are NOT respectful, > > polite, courteous, and friendly people--but are biased, opinionated, > > self-righteous, and as capable of viciousness as any pit bull. How can > > you POSSIBLY claim that you believe in accommodation when it comes to > > public behavior, yet act as you do in this news group? YOU may not > > view yourself as a computer hobbiest--but many of us do, and your > > behavior here is no less offensive than the behavior of the > > freebanders in the lower end of 10m!
>
>
> "Hobbyist", Rick. No, I'm not a computer hobbyist. I'm a computer > user. I don't post in computer hobbyist newsgroups. I post in amateur > radio newsgroups. I just uses computers as a tool. I didn't agree with > you about anything. I stated my belief that vulgarity is vulgarity here > or on the air. Your statement attempting to compare my actions to those > of freebanders are laughable.
>
> > >Liking you or disliking you isn't part of the issue, Kim. I might not > > >like you even if you had a normal callsign. It is just that you > > >wouldn't be offending me and others with a non-suggestive call.
> > >
> > >I think you are confusing the words "accommodation" and "civility".
> > >You believe that you should be pretty much able to shout an oath just > > >about anywhere you choose. You can do that but you'll have to steel > > >yourself against being treated like the bastard child at the family > > >reunion. You've chosen a wink, nudge callsign and defend your choice > > >as a "right". If others take offense, they have a "right" to snub you, > > >tell you off or laugh at you.

> >
> > But NOT to harass, insult, or attempt to intimidate her, Dave.
> > When something offends you, you make it clear that it IS offensive
> > and, if nothing is done to change it you either ignore it or stop > > associating with the person giving the offense. In the case of a news > > group, that would mean just kill filing Kim so you wouldn't have to be > > exposed to her call sign at all.
>
> Insult, Rick? Sure I have that right. I don't harass and I don't > intimidate. As long as Kim sees fit to argue the issue, I am free to > respond. Don't like it? Killfile my stuff.
>
> > What you are doing has nothing to do with expressing offense > > or making your position clear--it has everything to do with power. You > > insist that you have the right to determine what is best for Kim and > > for the ARS based on your personal values. Obviously, Kim and many > > others of us disagree with you. Rather than treating it as a case > > where you have to "agree to disagree" however, you seem fixated on > > asserting your "power" by pressuring Kim to change her sign. I hate to > > burst your bubble, Dave, but you don't have any power over anyone at
> > all.
>
> Get off your high horse, Rick. You can attempt to paint it as whatever > your leftist heart desires. The only thing is, you can't prove it.
> I don't see the "many" standing behind you. Where did they go?
>
> > >Stern has been yanked from more stations than most hosts ever have the > > >opportunity to work for. He may his right to an opinion but station > > >management and ultimately the listeners have a right to pull the plug
on > > >him.
> >
> > Typical.
>
> Your "typical" is typical.
>
> > Did you know, btw, that among the 100 most banned books in the > > United States are Tom Sawyer, Huckleberry Finn, The Age of Reason, > > Black Beauty, and The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin? Apparently, > > Kim's call sign isn't the only thing people like yourself find obscene > > and work to remove from society.
>
> I don't have any interest at all in banning books, Rick. For a book to > enter my home, I have to bring it here. There is no tie to that and a > call like Kim's on the public airwaves.
>
> > When will people like you learn that simply because something > > is personally offensive to you, it does NOT give you the right to > > demand that OTHERS who don't share your view be deprived of it?

>
> Probably about the time that "people like you" learn that the public > airwaves are not a sewer and that the people are not obligated to submit > to your idea of radio nirvana. "People like you" can do what they want > in private. They can't force it upon those who find their actions > offensive.
>
> Dave K8MN

It's easy in the newsgroup. Have you taken on the television, movie, and media industries also? Oh, they don't post here...pppphhhhhhfffttttttttt

Kim W5TIT

5774. RADIO LAW

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:51:45 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxe9vq.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28870

On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 11:54:44 UNDEFINED, Peter H. Proctor wrote:

>But if a company cannot take something apart, they cannot do the "
>reasonable examination " that is required to file a patent suit under >established case law..

Ah, you see the man behind the curtain....

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5775. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:53:30 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C2949BA.9D7066A1@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 28871

Dave Heil wrote:

> What was Galileo's tacky
> callsign?

I5TIT? :-)

5776. RADIO LAW

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:57:37 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxejhr.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28872

On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 13:23:10 -0500, Krell wrote:

>Judging from your "credibility" statement about 2600,

I've been dealing with "communication crooks" for decades. I "made my bones" in the "Captain Crunch" era.

>I doubt that your lawyer friend had to try very hard to convince you.

Not at all.

>If you want to find out >how quickly this law was rushed through congress without any challenge as to >its constitutionality, look up the congressional record to see how your >represenative and senators voted.

If it's so bad how come it sailed right through with no challenge?

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5777. RADIO LAW

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:57:38 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxekas.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28874

On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 13:54:28 GMT, N9NWO wrote:

>: If encryption is a "fast one" it sure is taking a long
>: time. The ability to encrypt has been around for
>: years...nothing new on that technology.
>
>Not cheaply and easily. Digital trunked radio >has made it very easily. Except that digital trunking
>has not worked out as well as they had hoped.

You noticed. One client of mine - a major LE agency - actually forced The Big Em to take their 800 system back and provide a WORKING 150 system in its place.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5778. RADIO LAW

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 03:57:42 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxel1t.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28873

On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 14:01:55 GMT, N9NWO wrote:

>Often someone overhears on site comments
>and makes it into a major political issue.

>They want to be able to cuss
>"in the heat of battle" without having to answer to every >anti cop and anti government group out there.
>
>Plus the average street cop will go >back to treating the radio as a CB where they all tell their >off colored stories about women and minorities. Or co-ordinate >the stories so that the last incident that went bad will look good >on paper.

After 50 years of being a ham, I've learned that one should NEVER say anything into a mivrophone (or a cell phone) that one would not want to see on Page One of the New Yorl Times the next day.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5779. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:03:03 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c294dd0_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28877

"Robert Casey" <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> wrote in message news:3C2948C2.6052A62F@ix.netcom.com...
>
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> >
> >
> > Wow! Maybe someday we could have the TIT club. Ooops, never mind...LOL
>
> Would it be a bird watcher club? :-)
>

It could be that among many things, I suppose. Have you ever seen flitting tits? That would be tits flitting all about.

Kim W5TIT

5780. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:09:29 UTC
From: Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C294D79.51CFE330@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 28876

>

Congrads. Get on HF, it's fun to DX to other continents and such. All you need is a used HF rig and an antenna as big as you can get up. I've used crude dipoles strung in attic crawl spaces and strung between trees. A rig with a good antenna tuner will take care of most SWR issues. Just ignore the idiots on 75 and 20. Plenty of reasonable hams out there.
I also do contests, but I don't compete. That is, I see contests as a steady supply of contacts to see how my rig and antenna are working. I can usually hear further than I can be heard.

5781. Re: PROOF that we are all BARKING MAD! CBERS.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:15:00 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112252015.25eedf94@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28878
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.antenna,rec.radio.swap

"Reg Edwards" <g4fgq.regp@btinternet.com> wrote in message news:<a08u81$9nk$1@helle.btinternet.com>...
> Dear Radiosam,
>
> An amendment :
>
> Place a full stop after "Mad" and delete "Cb-ers".
>
> Merry Xmas.
>
> Reg.
>
>
Good Lord Reg are things so boring over in .antannas these days that it's gotten down to surfing this toxic waste site to find some jollies?
>
>
w3rv

5782. The actual Tacoma Law

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:18:29 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxflk0.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28879

On 22 Dec 2001 05:03:15 GMT, N2EY wrote:

>One has to wonder what sparked the passage of such a law. Were >residents experiencing TVI or other problems? Somebody had to have a >reaosn to push this through.

That was the reason that Sen. Feingold pushed the bill through
The Congress giving away the FCC's jurisdiction to local entities.

The local worthies of Beloit whined that the FCC wouldn't do anything - most probably because it was audio rectification and/or fundamental overload which the FCC told them - rightfully - was curable only at the affected equipment.

Supposedly that's what happened in Tacoma. We'd be interested in hearing how this was applied to the "culprit" in question and what the results were.

"You can't make chicken stew out of chicken feathers."

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5783. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:21:44 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C295058.A3011D6B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28881

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Rick Adams wrote:
> > > Hey, Cecil--do you feel that with respect to our views on the > > > Libertarian Party platform we have to "agree to disagree?" I'll be > > > glad to do so if you feel it's appropriate.
> >
> > Any two people can find something upon which to disagree. I'll bet that > > you, Kim, Dave, and I agree on 95% of all subjects, e.g. smallpox is > > bad. No two people agree 100% on everything. Think how boring the > > world would be if everyone agreed on everything. This newsgroup would > > not exist.
>
> Yet he provides no response to the query.

The answer is there, Dave, for any rational person.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5784. RADIO LAW - TACOMA BANS NON FCC....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:23:32 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxftz1.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28880

On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 06:29:26 +0000 (UTC), Bill Nelson wrote:

>But put a physical education professor in with a >group of physicists, and the physical ed professor is going to >feel inadequate and out of place.

My ex-wife was a phys ed professor when I met her and she never felt inadequate and out of place with anyone.....nor did she permit anyone to regard her as such. (She earned a Master's Degree in Nursing and is now a nursing instructor at a major medical center.)

And on Mon, 24 Dec 2001 19:33:27 GMT, N9NWO wrote:

>Same with doctors. Ask nurses how doctors act like tin gods.

Anyone who tries that with my ex gets it back in spades. The docs actually ask her opinion in her specialty (respiratory problems of newborn babies).

Not bad for a lady who started out as a phys ed instructor for blind kids.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5785. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:25:17 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C294430.BD749740@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28882

CAM wrote:

> Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> > However, perhaps by posting here in the future,
> > and explaining to people that they can pass a code test like a Ferrari passing > > a Yugo in second gear, then you can take ham radio one step further from > > extinction.
>
> Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed the > 5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what response?

Notg a single NCTA will know. Every PCTA will.

5786. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:25:52 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C295150.25B1E690@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28885

Richard McCollum wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > Because Dave has an over exaggerated idea of his own importance and > > nobody else's opinion matters a tinker's damn to him.
>
> It's tinkers dam, without the 'n', Cecil. Look that up in your Funk and > Wagnalls

I did look it up in my Webster's Unabridged. Here's what it said:
"tinker's dam - see tinker's damn"
"tinker's damn - the least value"
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5787. Mistuh Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:28:02 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxfzu2.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28883

On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 13:06:06 -0600, Unclaimed Mysteries wrote:

>"In a five-page order released Friday, the US Federal Communications >Commission (FCC) claims that 38-year old convicted hacker Kevin Mitnick is >not morally fit to be a ham radio operator. "
>
>Mitnick isn't an A-rab name, is it?

Not at all. Kevin is a convicted felon who served time for computer and communications law crimes, and the Commish' is just following the procedure to yank his license.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5788. Mistuh Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:28:03 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxg183.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28884

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 00:16:47 -0500, Krell wrote:

>> "In a five-page order released Friday, the US Federal Communications >> Commission (FCC) claims that 38-year old convicted hacker Kevin Mitnick is >> not morally fit to be a ham radio operator. "
>
>Maybe this is how the FCC plans on dismantling the amateur radio service.
>They'll declare all current licensees morally unfit in some way, not renew >the license, and when the numbers have dwindled low enough, sell off the >spectrum to the highest commercial bidder.

Only if they are convicted felons.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5789. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:28:24 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2951E8.5F44B72D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28886

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > For God's sake, why, why, why is it only you who you think should count?
> >
> > Because Dave has an over exaggerated idea of his own importance and nobody > > else's opinion matters a tinker's damn to him.
>
> Here Cecil, wait while I drag this mirror over again. Can you see > yourself in it? Has it dawned upon you that the same words could be > used to describe you?

Has it dawned upon you that I present people with a mirror image of themselves so they can learn something from the exercise? I become you and respond to you as you would. Everything you say about me applies to you.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5790. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:30:02 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29524A.807E241A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28887

Dave Heil wrote:
> Perhaps you'd like to provide us a commonly used and > current definition of the term.

"term - a point in time assigned to something"
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5791. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:33:58 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C295336.E8BFFAED@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28889

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are > > you going to do about it?
>
> You have no class, Cecil. My call was not chosen for suggestive impact > nor does it spell anything, unless you find the abbreviation for > Minnesota disturbing.

Kim's call is one of 17K+ possible combinations of three letters and you find it offensive. Why don't I have exactly the same right to find your callsign offensive? And exactly what are you going to do about that offensive callsign of yours?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5792. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:35:45 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <F0035CA49B07E6B7.A2C1FE2D6EE4AE3C.AC1457A12A541813@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28888

On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 17:17:10 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Some folks believe that professional baseball players who sell >autographs to kids are heroes. My heroes are genuine heroes.

Who?

>You seem to have some peculiar idea in your head that I'm not happy.
>I'm happy as a clam, Kim. Right now I'm happy that the FCC doesn't yet >issue four letter suffixes.

Are you afraid that the urge to apply for k8dumb would be overpowering?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5793. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:37:24 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C295404.DB50EBF7@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28890

Dave Heil wrote:
> You don't really want me to start dredging up some of the things you've > said to Dick Carroll and Larry have them come back to prove you a liar,
> do you?

They started it, Dave. I merely defended myself.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5794. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:40:14 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2954AE.34992319@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28892

Dave Heil wrote:
> How can you know anything about my head with your head buried > in the sands of Texas? It couldn't have been me. I know the great > circle paths from here backward and forward. What was Galileo's tacky
> callsign?

In Galileo's case, it was a theory that the priests found tacky, just like you find Kim's callsign to be tacky. Come out of the closet, Dave.
If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5795. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:41:08 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2947E5.A74082F4@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28891
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

N9NWO wrote:

> : > There are a good deal of elitism out there.
> : > For whatever reason. The Marines teach
> : > it. So do the police academies.
> :
> : The police/Marines/doctors/professors etc ARE the elite, when it
> : comes to their areas of expertise. Outside that, they are no better
> : or worse than anyone else.
>
> There is the problem. Because they are elite > in their fields, they do transfer that attitude to > every other aspect of society. Because they > are competent, they tend that no one else is.
> And if they do not know how to do it, then
> no one else should be able to do so either.
> (Thus the desire to ban technology such as > guns or radios).

I don't buy it, N9MWO. There is and always has been elitgeism amongst the elite in any human endeavor, and that elitism has served for far more good than evil in free societies. I've known a lot of elite police officers in the past 40 years and darn few of them showed any tendency to transfer that to the sort constitutional violations you describe. Things change, and sometimes pretty fast, but if we're headed down that slippery slope, I haven't seen a lot of evidence of it. Of course I have seen some. One of he most gregarious cases was in New York Cit. In 1962 I watched a NYPD street cop give a guy an awful cussing in public while he stood with his hand on the butt of his revolver as if he dared the guy to respond in any way. The fellow' soffense was cuttting across one extra traffic lane to get to a (rare) parking spot. There was no safety reason for him not to do that, except the LEO noted his out of state license plate, and after all, some jerk behind who wanted the spot himself honked.....

5796. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 04:43:15 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011225234315.00833.00000842@mb-cs.aol.com>
Source record: 28893

>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>From: "D. Stussy" kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org
>Date: 12/25/2001 2:06 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112252005210.3479-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>

>He had due process. He was convicted by a court (presumedly a trial by >jury).

Granted. Now, please tell me WHERE in American law it is written that we keep ON punishing someone AFTER the sentence meted out by the court has been fulfilled?

This action to cancel his license has absolutely NOTHING to do with any misconduct as an Amateur licensee, and as far as I can remember, he never used his Amateur license in any of his previous misdeeds.

Steve

5797. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 05:02:58 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011226000258.01493.00000420@mb-mw.aol.com>
Source record: 28896

In article <V00V7.306655$W8.11077136@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> writes:

>The crux of this discussion is who to bar more than who to accept. There >is a secondary issue that results from allowing every kid with two >propellors on his beanie (Cecil, Jim, me) to get on and klutz around: how >to keep the newbie from becoming a real pain in the butt to your 20 meter >net, etc. So we developed the Class A, B, C structure before the war that >required a year before one could get off 40 meter CW or 160 and 10 meter >phone. Time becomes the standard legitimate or not. So the real issue is >how to blend newbies into the scenery with a minimum of fuss and feathers.

I agree 100% so far. And the old systems didn't depend just on time - they required more tests.
>
>With all due respect, legitimate standards are not going to come from the >world of electronics. It is nice to know Ohm's and Joule's Laws in their >permutations and even better if some of the implications dawn on the young >and inexperienced. But then they didn't dawn on the writer and publisher >of the infamous DDRR bent down at your local muffler shop that was >featured in the Handbook for several years. Much like my days coaching >middle school football, you had better expect some mistakes, some >colossal, when you set a bunch of sixth and seventh-graders loose on a >field; self-education can get real ugly.

"Experience varies directly with equipment ruined". Yeah, verily.

In fact the whole concept of LBMA (learning by messing around) is one of the prime reasons for the ARS to exist. One can study electrical engineering and radio propagaion till one is very schooled but the real education comes from doing.
>
>Even lowering the code thing to 5wpm has not had a major effect of any >kind simply because it serves the purpose of a small 'cooling off' period >between decision and actuality. If I want to be the Channel Master of >14.313 at least I have a week or two to come to my senses before hauling >out my credit card and ending up with a Frankensteen.

Would that it worked so well. One of the problems today is that some newcomers think they are experts in amateur radio because of experiences elsewhere.
Sometimes they are right and sometimes not. Arrogant disregard for the community standards of amateur radio is not a good thing, and one of the purposes of entry standards is to expose the newbies.

>To some extent the >Brits with their theory of gathering similar people (personifying the >enemy so to speak) in a room for eight hours in a spate of Morse >Appreciation ending in an open book, take all day code test may actually >have the problem right; I have been in corporate meetings less of a >purpose for much the same reason: keeping the landmines and barbed wire >down to a gentle, ladylike belch.

Maybe. The Brits are a different society, and their licensing has long been very different from ours. The Brits didn't have a Charlie Stewart back in 1910 so they even license receivers.

And all is not warm beer and skittles across the pond. Surf over to your favorite search engine and look up "UKRS" (United Kingdom Radio Society) Interesting stuff on their site about how the whole codetest thingie is being handled.
>
>Given the problem, translating a typical QSO into conversational Swahili >probably is as legitimate as anything so long as no one knows that making >the attempt is qualification enough.

Listen to the amateur bands in the USA and you don't hear much Swahili. But you do hear lots of Morse code.

>Course someone would immediately
>form No Swahili International.

Shall I dig out my Smith Chart rant again?

>So what do you view as legitimate standards???

One thing I note is that many people will give you "Zen" answers to that question - they'll tell you what is not a legitimate standard, but not what one is. Not much help.

I can give you a long discourse on the subject but it's late and you've seen it before.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5798. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 05:03:15 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011226000315.00833.00000845@mb-cs.aol.com>
Source record: 28895

>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>From: "Phil Kane" Phil.Kane@no.spam
>Date: 12/25/2001 9:01 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxap1p.pminews@or.news.verio.net>

> Section 308(b) of the Communications Avt specifically charges the > Commission to make a detrmination of wherher any applicant or > licensee possesses the moral character to become or remain a > licensee.

(1) Why wasn't this done at the time he was first convicted? If it had occured then, no one would have thought twice about it...But NOW it's just vengence. Vengence and justice are not necessarily synonymous.

(2) WHO in the FCC has ANY qualifications to make a determination on morality? The bureaucrats and lawyers...?!?! HA!!

>Did you read the entire jistory of this case? This wasn't the first > time.....and may not be his last, either.

Yes, I know about his "jistory". I also know that there has never been any allegation of misdeed as far as his Amateur license is concerned.

>>He screwed up, he know's it, he paid the price the courts put on him.
>
> He is totally unrepentent.

So...Mr FCC Lawyer...Unless they drop to thier knees, wallowing in tears, begging you to forgive them and "pretty pretty please don't take my license". they are unworthy of submitting to your (or your successors) whims?

A bit Napoleonic, aren't you?

>The FCC is doing what the law requires to yank this guy's privileges > to operate a radio.

Was the FCC REQUESTED to revoke his license? If so, WHY? Has he perpetrated a NEW act against the law?

Is the action in response to a violation of the regulations underwhich he is licensed?

Phil, I guess you can't see the forest for the trees, here, but your bureaucratic arrogance is showing here. Like a bonfire at midnight.

You may not like the guy's attitude, Phil, but he submitted to the courts, and he fulfilled the sentence imposed upon him. The FCC's present action has NOTHING to do with any violation of FCC regulations as it pertains to his Amatuer license, unless you have some sort of "super secret double probation" information you'd care to share?

Funnny...The FCC of your era just threw it's arms up and quit...Now they are taking every opportunity they can to be arrogant, abusive and totalitarian.

Seems your colleagues need to be reminded who they work for....Not vice versa.

5799. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 05:03:36 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxgpt8.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 28894

On 25 Dec 2001 14:03:36 GMT, Steve Robeson K4YZ wrote:

>Why is the FCC violating the Constitutional guarantees against punishment
>without due process?

He most certainly is getting due process. He was served with a statement of charges and has been given the opportunity to respond to them. He has been informed what he has to do if he wants a hearing to contest the PROPOSED action, and what will happen if he does not request or appear at that hearing.

What more do you consider "due process" ??

Does it bother you that the FCC is taking away his licemse? The reason that the court did not do that is that only the FCC has that jurisdiction.

Such "two step" actions are common in regulatory law. If a physician is convicted of a felony the state medical board can and usually does revoke his license to practice.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

5800. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 05:51:19 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <rzdW7.198422$WW.11474840@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28897

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011226000258.01493.00000420@mb-mw.aol.com...
> In article
<V00V7.306655$W8.11077136@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> writes:
>
> >The crux of this discussion is who to bar more than who to accept.
There
> >is a secondary issue that results from allowing every kid with two > >propellors on his beanie (Cecil, Jim, me) to get on and klutz around:
how > >to keep the newbie from becoming a real pain in the butt to your 20 meter
> >net, etc. So we developed the Class A, B, C structure before the war
that > >required a year before one could get off 40 meter CW or 160 and 10
meter
> >phone. Time becomes the standard legitimate or not. So the real issue
is > >how to blend newbies into the scenery with a minimum of fuss and feathers.
>
> I agree 100% so far. And the old systems didn't depend just on time -
they > required more tests.
> >
> >With all due respect, legitimate standards are not going to come from
the > >world of electronics. It is nice to know Ohm's and Joule's Laws in their > >permutations and even better if some of the implications dawn on the young > >and inexperienced. But then they didn't dawn on the writer and publisher
> >of the infamous DDRR bent down at your local muffler shop that was > >featured in the Handbook for several years. Much like my days coaching > >middle school football, you had better expect some mistakes, some > >colossal, when you set a bunch of sixth and seventh-graders loose on a > >field; self-education can get real ugly.
>
> "Experience varies directly with equipment ruined". Yeah, verily.
>
> In fact the whole concept of LBMA (learning by messing around) is one of
the > prime reasons for the ARS to exist. One can study electrical engineering

and > radio propagaion till one is very schooled but the real education comes from > doing.
> >
> >Even lowering the code thing to 5wpm has not had a major effect of any > >kind simply because it serves the purpose of a small 'cooling off'
period
> >between decision and actuality. If I want to be the Channel Master of > >14.313 at least I have a week or two to come to my senses before hauling
> >out my credit card and ending up with a Frankensteen.
>
> Would that it worked so well. One of the problems today is that some newcomers
> think they are experts in amateur radio because of experiences elsewhere.
> Sometimes they are right and sometimes not. Arrogant disregard for the > community standards of amateur radio is not a good thing, and one of the > purposes of entry standards is to expose the newbies.
>
> >To some extent the > >Brits with their theory of gathering similar people (personifying the > >enemy so to speak) in a room for eight hours in a spate of Morse > >Appreciation ending in an open book, take all day code test may actually > >have the problem right; I have been in corporate meetings less of a > >purpose for much the same reason: keeping the landmines and barbed wire > >down to a gentle, ladylike belch.
>
> Maybe. The Brits are a different society, and their licensing has long been > very different from ours. The Brits didn't have a Charlie Stewart back
in 1910
> so they even license receivers.
>
> And all is not warm beer and skittles across the pond. Surf over to your > favorite search engine and look up "UKRS" (United Kingdom Radio Society) > Interesting stuff on their site about how the whole codetest thingie is being > handled.
> >
> >Given the problem, translating a typical QSO into conversational Swahili
> >probably is as legitimate as anything so long as no one knows that making
> >the attempt is qualification enough.
>
> Listen to the amateur bands in the USA and you don't hear much Swahili.

But you
> do hear lots of Morse code.
>
> >Course someone would immediately
> >form No Swahili International.
>
> Shall I dig out my Smith Chart rant again?
>
> >So what do you view as legitimate standards???
>
> One thing I note is that many people will give you "Zen" answers to that > question - they'll tell you what is not a legitimate standard, but not what one > is. Not much help.
>
> I can give you a long discourse on the subject but it's late and you've seen it > before.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

This particular rant was in answer to Carl; I answered your question more directly in another post. But the theme is the same: when you have a hobby with 945 facets and traditions predating the Titanic not to mention international implications it is not something you throw at someone off the street or Channel 37 and expect either the newbie or the veteran to survive. There has to be some sort of 'aging' before the wine is drunk for the benefit of the hobby to be sure but also to the tyro himself or we will simply go thru recruits who don't re-up.

In my Novice days I lacked the real estate for an 80 meter dipole so I fired up on 7175 to find that Radio Moscow liked that freq as well. My mother probably still wonders where her nice plate glass mirror went; I used it and some Babo to get the crystal up to 7178 or so. For lack of anything better to do, I put in the plug-in coils for 15 and plugged in one of my dad's 40 cw rocks and fired up on 15 and worked a raft of DX in a very short time. To this day I like 15 far more than 20 for a far nicer group of derelicts. Then as antennas are prone to do in storms, I got to install it right this time. OK, learning by klutzing around.

The hobby does not need a steel gate but it sure as hell could use an airlock.

Dick NBK

5801. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 07:58:35 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <3CC96B2F008A864E.1BA7F5924A45FA74.2BA56C4C37F4932D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28898

On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 22:49:22 -0500, Robert Casey <wa2ise@ix.netcom.com> wrote:

>> Wow! Maybe someday we could have the TIT club. Ooops, never mind...LOL
>
>Would it be a bird watcher club? :-)

Only if you're British.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5802. Re: The actual Tacoma Law

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 11:40:22 UTC
From: w1rfi@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011226064022.28248.00000648@mb-cq.aol.com>
Source record: 28899

From: "Phil Kane" Phil.Kane@no.spam

> The local worthies of Beloit whined that the FCC wouldn't do > anything - most probably because it was audio rectification and/or > fundamental overload which the FCC told them - rightfully - was > curable only at the affected equipment.

Although that is technically quite correct, there is still plenty the FCC could have done if the source of the RF energy were not following its power rules. However, the real crux of the matter is that 95% of the time where a "CB" station is involved with an interference problem. there is some other rules violation involved (power, frequency) that could be enforced to eliminate the problem.

73,
Ed Hare, W1RFI

5803. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 11:42:43 UTC
From: w1rfi@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011226064243.28248.00000649@mb-cq.aol.com>
Source record: 28900

>Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed >the 5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what >response?

It appears quite simple. Those that sing Larry's praises on rrap are told they deserve congratulations for passing the 5 wpm test. Those that do not praise Larry receive the badmouth treatment.

It appears to me that in Larry's view, it really IS all about Larry.

73,
Ed Hare, W1RFI

5804. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 11:45:02 UTC
From: w1rfi@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011226064502.28248.00000650@mb-cq.aol.com>
Source record: 28801

From: Dick Carroll dixie@townsqr.com

>Notg a single NCTA will know. Every PCTA will.

Another way of saying that he doesn't know, either. :-)

73,
Ed Hare, W1RFI

5805. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 12:24:03 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C29B465.56D1FFF@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28802

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C289A48.3E39B90C@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C275D4A.BB14655B@earthlink.net...
> > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > > news:3C25044C.4766B089@earthlink.net...
> > > > > >
> > > > > > What's with this "silver spoon" stuff, Kim? This is perhaps the > third
> > > > > > or fourth time you've used it with me? What has it to do with my > > > > > > comment? Did you or did you not receive the positive response you > > > > > > sought from Riley?
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > > > >
> > > > > Dave, to have received any response at all from Riley was positive.
> But
> > > > > you refuse to understand that. I cannot beat you over the head
> with
> > > the > > > > > statements that a) I appreciate that Riley responded to my query, b)
> I > > > > > wholeheartedly accept everything Riley had to say but do not agree
> > > with > > > > > him that my callsign brings the ARS one step closer to extinction,
> c) I > > > > > don't believe Riley was speaking official FCC line--there is no way
> he > > > could > > > > > have, d) I do believe (because I know me so well) that the reason
> I
> > > sent > > > > > the note to Riley was to ask him a question as an official of the > FCC on > > > > > what he believed the policy should be coming from a government > > > > > organization.
> > > > >
> > > > Now, for you to insist that I think anything else about or from

> Riley,
> > > is > > > > > just your ignorant silver spoon flaring at you in your face. Get a > > > life,
> > > > > Dave.
> > > >
> > > > Again, you fail to explain the silver spoon stuff, Kim. You use it
> but > > > > don't attempt to explain what it is that you mean by it. It begins to > > > > sound even more peculiar when you write something like "ignorant > silver
> > > > spoon".
> > > >
> > > > Your response from Riley was no better than 50/50. The fact that you > > > > disagree with him (and thus reject the portion of the response) > > > > regarding his statement about your helping to bring the amateur
> service
> > > > "one step closer to extinction" shows that you lack any understanding
> of
> > > > the sensitivities of others who might be offended by your choice.
> > > >
> > >
> > > And, I'll ask you again, Dave, the question that you nor others like you > > > ever seem to quite answer. In fact, you all avoid it like the plague.
> > > WHY should one such as me change my ways for one such as you?
> WHAT
> > > makes your desire for me to change more important that my desire not to?
> > > WHO made it your world to force (or even request) that others change
> the > > > way they are for you? WHEN did the laws of human nature change such
> that > > > you've become more superior to me and therefore have more rights than
> me?
> > > WHERE do you get off pushing such crap on others?
> > >
> > > Not that I ever would, but how 'bout if I request that you come out and > get > > > a little nasty for me?
> >
> > Is that your standard? Should the world stoop to the lowest possible > > standard?
> >
>
> I didn't ask the world to, Dave, only you. And, no, you do not have to meet > my standard. Nor do I have to meet yours. WHY do you insist that I must > meet yours? Huh?
>
> >
> > Should we totally do away with any concept of accomodating
> > the sensibilities and values of others or do we all simply do what we > > want regardless of who we offend?

> >
>
> Like I said to you. We all (those of us who live the way I do, anyway) have > our limitations. I will conform where I believe it is utmost for me to do > so. I don't think places like the ARS is one of those situations. If you > believe it is, and if I am so damned insulting to you, then cease and desist > with recognition of me, Dave. Go on with your life and let me have and live > mine. Of course, I'm going to do that anyway, and it simply amazes me that > you--one who would have the world believe you are so dignified and > intelligent--spend your time arguing such innane things as are here in this > newsgroup. Good grief, you're no more grand than any of us here--it's > Christmas Day and you are posting to a fucking newsgroup, Dave. What's > YOUR excuse?
>
> >
> > I don't want to live in a world like > > that, Kim, nor do I know many folks who do.
> >
>
> And, for God's sake would you finally get this....NO ONE (most of all me) > says you have to. BUT, why do you wish me, demand nearly of me, that I must > abide by your lifestyle? WHY? The grand scale of the ARS, in my humblest > of opinions, is not one of the places where I believe accommodation is > necessary. You may disagree with that, but it's too bad. I also don't > believe "accommodation" is mine to give at places like sports arenas, bars, > concerts, parades, and lots of other places. I do believe that > accommodation is allowable--for me--at times such as emergency nets in the > ARS, meetings, and lots of other places. But, if you think that a hobby is > the place for everyone to yield to each other, I am sorry. I will not > comply with your desire. I don't think it is. It is known as an impasse, > Dave. And, we either agree to disagree, or shut the Hell up about it. But > neither of us is going to yield on our thoughts about our position. And, > what is totally wrong--in my eyes--about you is that you nearly demand of > someone how they must behave. AND, added to that you almost make it sound > as though you'd think better of them if they do, maybe be their friend, > maybe respect them. How much more idealistic can that be, Dave? For you to > "make deals" so that people will have you like them? I couldn't care less
> if you like me.
>
> >
> > I see what you've done in > > the way I view the Howard Sterns of the world.
> >
>
> I happen to enjoy some of Howard Stern. I think he goes way overboard on > some things. I've never written him a letter telling him that I'll listen > more if he behaves. I simply don't listen to him when he's, to me, > boring. AND, I don't think in any circumstance that he should be off the > air.

>
> >
> > You'd appear to do > > anything for shock value.
> >
>
> If that's what you believe, then you have fun believing it. Just don't > expect me to live up to all your expectations. I can meet all of them, but > am only willing to meet some of them.
>
> >
> > I already gave you my answer to your "WHY?"
> > question: Because it is the right thing to do. I think you already > > know that deep inside.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
> >
>
> Well, you're deluding yourself then. Because I don't believe it's the right > thing to do. I know you think it is, but I know that I do not. Again, you > have your right to your opinion. You even have your right to express it to > me. But, you don't have the right to demand that I be any different than > what I am. No one has that right. Well, let's put it this way...yes, I > suppose they do have that right. And I have the right to completely, > literally, and happily dismiss their opinion and desire--and I do.

I bet she calls her little granddaughter in to listen to her George Carlin and Howard Stern tapes with her.....

5806. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 12:50:40 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C29BAA5.36F47983@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28803

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Dave - Who has not chosen a call which would offend the > > sensitivities of anyone. His call was chosen as the "K"
> > counterpart of a > > ham he greatly admired.
>
> Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are > you going to do about it?

I'd imagine he'll make the futile suggestion that you work on cleaning up your thought process. Ya gott reach really way down there to come up with that crap.

5807. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 13:05:04 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C29BE05.3D9FA679@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28804

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C28B7BD.9BEE9175@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C2897CD.E53C98D2@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > I'm fine with reality, Kim. I already knew that no one at the FCC or > > > > the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls. So you've come to > > > > think of your call as "racey", have you?
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > What kind of dark closet do you live in?! Of course I think it's > racey,
> > > different, fun, daring, non-conformist, dignified, respectable and > naughty
> > > all at the same time. It's my callsign, Dave. It is to me what I > wish it > > > to be. It is to you whatever you wish it to be. And, I accept every > single > > > bit of it.
> >
> > Then I'd assume that you're getting used to the cat calls you've > > garnered that you're likely becoming accustomed to your newly found > > notoriety.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> I haven't heard any. I can get way past the negative responses, Dave, and > get on with the fun about it. I didn't realize I'd reached any status of > notoriety.

Yep. Topless. Nothin' above the neck

5808. Re: RADIO LAW - TACOMA BANS NON FCC....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 13:10:02 UTC
From: Steve Yodel <BAQ_Enterprises@arqwxz.com> Message-ID: <a0ci6r$9ih$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 28805

My ex-wife started out as dance instructor in the inner city. While teaching dance to pregnant teens, she earned 24 Doctorate degrees, ranging from exotic dance to nuclear physics. When testifying before Congress, she would put down sexist Congressman in a heart beat. I met her while we were special advisors to the President. In fact, the President so admired here that he would seek her advice before he made any major decision. Later, we got bored being on the President's national security team, so we both joined the Army Airborne Rangers. She earned 13 more Doctorate degrees, one while bailing out of a C-17 aircraft over hostile territory. The male troops would try to put her down, but that never stopped her.
In fact she went on to become a Navy Seal. Then we resigned from the armed forces, opened our own business selling rare comic books. Yes, quite a lady! She finally divorced me for spending too much time on Usenet and ran off with Bill Clinton, but their affair remains a secret, as the one thing my ex-wife does fear is Hillary Clinton. Ahhh, those were the years! Now all I have left in life is sitting here on Usenet trying to top the postings of other people and act superior to everyone else. Geronimo!
Up Up and away, to infinity!

Steve-The-Wonderful, a ham since 1926.

5809. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 13:35:10 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112260535.4c902b85@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28806

Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:<3C25D150.69216283@townsqr.com>...
> Bill Sohl wrote:
>
> > On Sat, 15 Dec 2001 17:45:34 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > wrote:
> > >A professional engineer should have aced the Extra test.
> >
> > Why? 1/4 or more of the questions involve totally > > non-technical subjects (VE credentials, amateur space > > operations rules, etc.)
>
> I aced the Extra test over 30 years ago, long before VE credential etc > questions, and I'm, not a degreed engineer. All that means what?
>
>
Precisely nothing as you well know.
>
>
If the life of ham radio depended on EEs our game woulda been long gone. If the life of ham radio depended on the the even more scarce EEs who are also PEs the game woulda been over even quicker. There is no correlation whatsoever among flavors of degrees and/or a lack thereof and/or the FCC passing out radio operator licenses and/or passing scores on the writtens and/or the individual's contributions to anything in ham radio.
>
>
Unless of course there is some perceived merit in gloming an Extra just for the bragging rights instead of actually putting it on the air in the Extra setasides.
>
>
If bragging rights is the name of the game then what the hell, thee me
and gazillions of others around here did the 20wpm thing at our neigborhood FCC offices which the lightweights around here will never do.
>
>
w3rv

5810. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 13:37:19 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c29d3ae_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28808

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C29B465.56D1FFF@townsqr.com...
>
> I bet she calls her little granddaughter in to listen to her George Carlin
and > Howard Stern tapes with her.....
>

No I don't, Dick. She's not old enough to understand the humor yet. As you aren't.

Kim W5TIT

5811. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 13:37:59 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c29d3cc$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28809

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C29BAA5.36F47983@townsqr.com...
>
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > Dave - Who has not chosen a call which would offend the > > > sensitivities of anyone. His call was chosen as the "K"
> > > counterpart of a > > > ham he greatly admired.
> >
> > Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are > > you going to do about it?
>
> I'd imagine he'll make the futile suggestion that you work on cleaning > up your thought process. Ya gott reach really way down there to come up > with that crap.
>

Just as you do, right?

Kim W5TIT

5812. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 13:38:41 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C29C5E6.C461E500@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28807

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> > You don't really want me to start dredging up some of the things you've
> > said to Dick Carroll and Larry have them come back to prove you a liar,
> > do you?
>
> They started it, Dave. I merely defended myself.

With lies, of course, which we see you're still doing.

5813. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 13:39:14 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c29d41d_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28810

```
"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C29BE05.3D9FA679@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C28B7BD.9BEE9175@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C2897CD.E53C98D2@earthlink.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > I'm fine with reality, Kim. I already knew that no one at the FCC
or > > > > > the ARRL would endorse your poor choice of calls. So you've come
to > > > > > think of your call as "racey", have you?
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > > What kind of dark closet do you live in?! Of course I think it's > > racey,
> > > > different, fun, daring, non-conformist, dignified, respectable and > > naughty
> > > > all at the same time. It's my callsign, Dave. It is to me what I > > wish it > > > > to be. It is to you whatever you wish it to be. And, I accept every > > single > > > > bit of it.
> > >
> > > Then I'd assume that you're getting used to the cat calls you've > > > garnered that you're likely becoming accustomed to your newly found > > > notoriety.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > I haven't heard any. I can get way past the negative responses, Dave,
and > > get on with the fun about it. I didn't realize I'd reached any status
of > > notoriety.
>
```

> Yep. Topless. Nothin' above the neck
>
>

At least I've got something below my waist.

Kim W5TIT

5814. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 13:52:43 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C29C931.4E75F75@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28811

W1RFI wrote:

> >Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed > >the 5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what > >response?
>
> It appears quite simple. Those that sing Larry's praises on rrap are told they > deserve congratulations for passing the 5 wpm test. Those that do not praise > Larry receive the badmouth treatment.
>
> It appears to me that in Larry's view, it really IS all about Larry.

Ed I would have expected a more intelligent analysis than that, given that you do work CW. But then again, you also work at ARRL HQ.....

5815. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 13:53:53 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C29C977.DC532D89@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28812

W1RFI wrote:

> From: Dick Carroll dixie@townsqr.com
>
> >Not a single NCTA will know. Every PCTA will.
>
> Another way of saying that he doesn't know, either. :-)

Well, we now know where that puts you.....

5816. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:05:22 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C29CC26.18A681D1@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28813

Brian Kelly wrote:

> Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:<3C25D150.69216283@townsqr.com>...
> > Bill Sohl wrote:
> >
> > > On Sat, 15 Dec 2001 17:45:34 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > > wrote:
> > > >A professional engineer should have aced the Extra test.
> > >
> > > Why? 1/4 or more of the questions involve totally > > > non-technical subjects (VE credentials, amateur space > > > operations rules, etc.)
> >
> > I aced the Extra test over 30 years ago, long before VE credential etc > > questions, and I'm, not a degreed engineer. All that means what?
> >
> >
> Precisely nothing as you well know.
> >
> >
> If the life of ham radio depended on EEs our game woulda been long > gone. If the life of ham radio depended on the the even more scarce > EEs who are also PEs the game woulda been over even quicker. There is > no correlation whatsoever among flavors of degrees and/or a lack > thereof and/or the FCC passing out radio operator licenses and/or > passing scores on the writtens and/or the individual's contributions > to anything in ham radio.
> >
> >
> Unless of course there is some perceived merit in gloming an Extra
> just for the bragging rights instead of actually putting it on the air > in the Extra setasides.
> >
> >
> If bragging rights is the name of the game then what the hell, thee me
> and gazillions of others around here did the 20wpm thing at our > neigborhood FCC offices which the lightweights around here will never > do.

BINGO!

5817. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:05:37 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112260605.2ea72102@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28814

"Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net> wrote in message news:<3c292f17_2@news7.fast.net>...
> -----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
> Hash: SHA1
>
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20011224100327.27168.00000589@mb-cb.aol.com...
> > In article <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson"
> <wa6vse@fast.net>
> > writes:
> >
> [snip]
> >
> > What is the difference between an FCC rule that says Morse skill is > required to > > use a particular part of the radio spectrum and a Park Service rule > that says
> > motor vehicles cannot be used in certain parks and wilderness areas?
>
> The sort of Park Service rules that you refer to are intended to > protect and preserve the environment.

Which means the govt. does have an interest in protecting the historic and traditional nature of some things, even if they are public property.

The end result is a "setaside" for "legacy modes of transportation"
like walking and horseback riding.

> The FCC (and other > rational entities) have recognized the fact that Morse proficiency > doesn't "preserve the environment" (it doesn't, as some claim, > serve as a "lid filter" ... see various FCC Report and Order
> documents for such findings.)

You're missing the point, Carl. The issue was about traditions and their preservation as a matter of law.

No test can serve perfectly as a "lid filter". That doesn't mean the tests have no effect on behavior.

The FCC decided long ago (1975) to push for code test elimination.
They have gradually but steadily eroded code testing over time, and are merely keeping 5 wpm because of S25.5. Doesn't mean the FCC is "right" or "rational", just that they decided on a course of action and are pursuing it.

FCC also decided that the written tests were to be reduced in size and number, too. The process has been going on for a long time and there's no end in sight. Does that make those of us who support better written testing irrational? Nope.
>
> > >Another concept to consider is that "discipline" is a bit misused
> in > > >this application, IMHO. Are you talking about the concept that > some > > >have voiced that "It's (jumping through the Morse proficiency hoop) > > >necessary to show 'committment'." ???
> >
> > Experience has shown what happens without such commitment.
>
> And that is WHAT?

A service that is a complete mess.

> Most of the no-code techs I've met are > polite and concientious operators.

Most of the hams I know, of all license classes, are polite, conscientious, skilled and technically-knowledgeable operators.

What I was referring to was what happened to the cb radio service, which has never required any sort of "commitment" other than getting a radio set and putting it on the air.

> MANY are far more
> technically competent than many fast-beepers ...

The reverse is also true. All depends who you hang out with and how you define "technical competence". Technical competence is also not a "lid filter", btw. Just check the FCC enforcement letters.

"Technical competence" is of no consequence unless an amateur actually does something with it. I've got BSEE and MSEE degrees - does that make me "FAR more valuable" to the ARS' future?

> and I view
> technical competence as FAR more valuable to the future
> of amateur radio than being able to beep fast.

Your opinion only. That's not a reason to force new modes and technologies down the throats of people who are not interested, nor to force new hams to jump through technical proficiency hoops to get a license.

All hams are free to develop their technical skills in whatever area they so desire, to whatever level they choose. No degree or specific class of license required. But in the decade since the dropping of the code test for the Technician, no revolution in amateur radio technology has occurred because of the code test changes.
>

> > >Showing"committment" also has no place in regulation.
> >
> > I would call it "responsibility".
>
> One can operate and behave responsibly with no knowledge > of Morse whatsoever ...

No doubt. That's not the point. One cannot operate and behave responsibly with no sense of responsibility, or commitment to the ARS.

--

Which still begs the questions: what do YOU consider "legitimate standards"? If/when the code test completely disappears, what should the US amateur radio license structure and requirements look like?

73 de Jim, N2EY

5818. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:23:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29DD7B.EFF001B3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28815

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are > > you going to do about it?
>
> I'd imagine he'll make the futile suggestion that you work on cleaning > up your thought process.

EXACTLY the point, Dick. You guys need to work on cleaning up your thought processes. Vulgarity is not in the call sign - it is in your and Larry's and Dave's minds. I'm glad you finally get it. Hey Kim, Dick finally gets it!
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5819. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:29:18 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c29dfd7_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28817

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C29DD7B.EFF001B3@IEEE.org...
> Dick Carroll wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are > > > you going to do about it?
> >
> > I'd imagine he'll make the futile suggestion that you work on cleaning > > up your thought process.
>
> EXACTLY the point, Dick. You guys need to work on cleaning up > your thought processes. Vulgarity is not in the call sign - it > is in your and Larry's and Dave's minds. I'm glad you finally > get it. Hey Kim, Dick finally gets it!
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

It won't last, Cecil. It won't last. He never does. ;)

Kim W5TIT

5820. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:29:24 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29DEC4.AB7B30A2@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28816

```
Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > You don't really want me to start dredging up some of the things you've
> > > said to Dick Carroll and Larry have them come back to prove you a liar,
> > > do you?
> > >
> > They started it, Dave. I merely defended myself.
>
> With lies, of course, which we see you're still doing.

Dick, most people can disagree without being disagreeable.
You are an exception. You are congenitally disagreeable.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5821. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:30:56 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c29e046_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28818

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C29C977.DC532D89@townsqr.com...
>
>
> W1RFI wrote:
>
> > From: Dick Carroll dixie@townsqr.com
> >
> > >Not a single NCTA will know. Every PCTA will.
> >
> > Another way of saying that he doesn't know, either. :-)
>
> Well, we now know where that puts you.....
>

Yep. In the know...

Kim W5TIT

5822. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:51:44 UTC
From: Frank Ney <n4zhg@icqmail.com>
Message-ID: <ftoj2uscc3uckro3ptsick2p5urmepa9hm@4ax.com>
Source record: 28819
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 17:02:33 -0500, an orbiting mind control laser caused
Jim Patterson <jrp32nospam@bellsouth.net> to write in talk.politics.guns :

>When quite young though in my memory, I was injured (turned out to be >just a broken collarbone) at a convention that my parents were attending >at a rural town park. Dad got me in his (then new) '55 Olds and had a >Legion buddy holding me down in the back seat. He later told me that we >were going over 100mph to the hospital. We were stopped by a highway >patrolman who in seconds was escorting us to the hospital, same speed, >with sirens going and that was the last heard from the police. To me,
>that is non-restrictive law at work.
>I wonder what would happen with the same circumstances today?

You would have a five-to-thirty minute delay while an ambulance was called,
then you'd be on your way to the hospital and your father would be on his way to jail for reckless endangerment.

Frank Ney N4ZHG WV/EMT-B LPWV NRA(L) ProvNRA GOA CCRKBA JPFO
--
"I believe a self-righteous liberal Democrat with a cause is more dangerous than a Hell's Angel with an attitude."
-- Ted Nugent
Just Say No to Gestapo Tactics http://reduce.to/justsayno/
Abuses by the BATF http://www.hamnet.net/~n4zhg/batfabus.html

5823. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:52:18 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112260652.5b0604bc@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28821

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2954AE.34992319@IEEE.org>...

> If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?

Nope. Nor to anyone else. Nor would I issue similar inappropriate callsigns.

Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5824. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:53:13 UTC
From: Frank Ney <n4zhg@icqmail.com>
Message-ID: <e2pj2uog3911df0f82akhpljvmn1hi4uhe@4ax.com>
Source record: 28820
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

On 24 Dec 2001 03:34:32 GMT, an orbiting mind control laser caused Moparholic@hotmailnospam.com to write in talk.politics.guns :

>> Here, there aren't any carry laws for law-abiding citizens.
>> There aren't any licences either, which is a double-edged sword.
>> I can carry anywhere in the state (other than the obvious places
>> - schools, courthouses...) no license required. OTOH, I can't >> get any benefit from reciprocal agreements either, since I have >> no permit. ..concealed or not.
>>
>> ----
>> Keith
>>
>You in Texas,Keith?

I was guessing Vermont.

Frank Ney N4ZHG WV/EMT-B LPWV NRA(L) ProvNRA GOA CCRKBA JPFO
--
"I believe a self-righteous liberal Democrat with a cause is more dangerous than a Hell's Angel with an attitude."
-- Ted Nugent
Just Say No to Gestapo Tactics http://reduce.to/justsayno/
Abuses by the BATF http://www.hamnet.net/~n4zhg/batfabus.html

5825. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 14:57:28 UTC
From: Frank Ney <n4zhg@icqmail.com>
Message-ID: <aapj2ugu78p240em937rp5dehc9phmkl61@4ax.com>
Source record: 28822
Cross-posted to: alt.military,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 04:41:09 GMT, an orbiting mind control laser caused
"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> to write in talk.politics.guns :

>>Hell, in Chicago the locals in some neighborhoods
>>would beat up the fire fighters and EMTs when >>they showed up. Then file complaints because >>they were not properly served!
>>
>>And the mayor, that great democrat, of Chicago >>has yet to settle with the police so that they can >>get a pay raise.
>
> Chi-town lives up to its reputation.....

Wrong direction.

Frank Ney N4ZHG WV/EMT-B LPWV NRA(L) ProvNRA GOA CCRKBA JPFO
--
"I believe a self-righteous liberal Democrat with a cause is more dangerous than a Hell's Angel with an attitude."
-- Ted Nugent
Just Say No to Gestapo Tactics http://reduce.to/justsayno/
Abuses by the BATF http://www.hamnet.net/~n4zhg/batfabus.html

5826. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:11:27 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29E8A5.8AA1D59B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28823

```
CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > For God's sake, why, why, why is it only you who you think should count?
> > >
> > > Because Dave has an over exaggerated idea of his own importance and nobody > > > else's opinion matters a tinker's damn to him.
> >
> > Here Cecil, wait while I drag this mirror over again. Can you see > > yourself in it? Has it dawned upon you that the same words could be > > used to describe you?
>
> Has it dawned upon you that I present people with a mirror image of > themselves so they can learn something from the exercise? I become > you and respond to you as you would. Everything you say about me > applies to you.

What has dawned on me is that you use my stuff as if you originated it.

Dave K8MN
```

5827. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:13:36 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29E926.AB353375@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28824

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are > > > you going to do about it?
> >
> > You have no class, Cecil. My call was not chosen for suggestive impact > > nor does it spell anything, unless you find the abbreviation for > > Minnesota disturbing.
>
> Kim's call is one of 17K+ possible combinations of three letters and > you find it offensive. Why don't I have exactly the same right to > find your callsign offensive? And exactly what are you going to > do about that offensive callsign of yours?

Your new quest, Don. Q., is to advise us on how many of the 17k+ spell something which could be viewed by others as vulgar.

Dave K8MN

5828. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:15:08 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29E982.49F34632@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28825

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 17:17:10 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Some folks believe that professional baseball players who sell > >autographs to kids are heroes. My heroes are genuine heroes.
>
> Who?

Folks other than professional baseball players who sell autographs to
kids.

> >You seem to have some peculiar idea in your head that I'm not happy.
> >I'm happy as a clam, Kim. Right now I'm happy that the FCC doesn't yet > >issue four letter suffixes.
>
> Are you afraid that the urge to apply for k8dumb would be > overpowering?

You thought of it. It's yours by right.

Dave K8MN

5829. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:16:53 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29E9EB.D916263F@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28826

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > You don't really want me to start dredging up some of the things you've
> > said to Dick Carroll and Larry have them come back to prove you a liar,
> > do you?
>
> They started it, Dave. I merely defended myself.

Awwww, Cecil. Maybe the other kids will quit pushing you down out in the playground.

Dave K8MN

5830. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:18:31 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C29EA4D.68E36264@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28827

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > How can you know anything about my head with your head buried > > in the sands of Texas? It couldn't have been me. I know the great > > circle paths from here backward and forward. What was Galileo's tacky > > callsign?
>
> In Galileo's case, it was a theory that the priests found tacky, just > like you find Kim's callsign to be tacky. Come out of the closet, > Dave.

Just what scientific theory has Kim come up with, Cecil?

> If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?

Isn't the answer apparent?

Dave K8MN

5831. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:18:32 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <cTlW7.241581$3d2.11746845@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28828

Just a quick comment, Dick; years before I obtained my first ticket (1962, WN2CJV), I built my first one tube regenerative receiver (didn't we all?). I got the tickler coil backwards, yet Radio Moscow came in just fine! Of course, I corrected the problem, but the strength of their signal always amazed me. I recall reading that they actually could adjust the take off angle of their signal, thereby maximizing their signal at the desired audience. My feelings about 15 meters are exactly the same as yours vs 'killowatt alley'. Thanks for the memories!

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim AA2QA

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:rzdW7.198422$WW.11474840@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20011226000258.01493.00000420@mb-mw.aol.com...
> > In article
> <V00V7.306655$W8.11077136@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
> > "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> writes:
> >
> > >The crux of this discussion is who to bar more than who to accept.
> There
> > > >is a secondary issue that results from allowing every kid with two > > > >propellors on his beanie (Cecil, Jim, me) to get on and klutz around:
> how > > > >to keep the newbie from becoming a real pain in the butt to your 20 > meter
> > > >net, etc. So we developed the Class A, B, C structure before the war
> that > > > >required a year before one could get off 40 meter CW or 160 and 10
> meter
> > > >phone. Time becomes the standard legitimate or not. So the real issue
> is > > > >how to blend newbies into the scenery with a minimum of fuss and > feathers.
> >
> > I agree 100% so far. And the old systems didn't depend just on time -
> they > > required more tests.
> > >
> > > >With all due respect, legitimate standards are not going to come from
> the > > > >world of electronics. It is nice to know Ohm's and Joule's Laws in > their > > >permutations and even better if some of the implications dawn on the > young > > >and inexperienced. But then they didn't dawn on the writer and > publisher

> > >of the infamous DDRR bent down at your local muffler shop that was > > >featured in the Handbook for several years. Much like my days coaching > > >middle school football, you had better expect some mistakes, some > > >colossal, when you set a bunch of sixth and seventh-graders loose on a > > >field; self-education can get real ugly.
> >
> > "Experience varies directly with equipment ruined". Yeah, verily.
> >
> > In fact the whole concept of LBMA (learning by messing around) is one of
> the > > prime reasons for the ARS to exist. One can study electrical engineering
> and > > radio propagaion till one is very schooled but the real education comes > from > > doing.
> > >
> > >Even lowering the code thing to 5wpm has not had a major effect of any > > >kind simply because it serves the purpose of a small 'cooling off'
> period > > >between decision and actuality. If I want to be the Channel Master of > > >14.313 at least I have a week or two to come to my senses before > hauling
> > >out my credit card and ending up with a Frankensteen.
> >
> > Would that it worked so well. One of the problems today is that some > newcomers
> > think they are experts in amateur radio because of experiences > elsewhere.
> > Sometimes they are right and sometimes not. Arrogant disregard for the > > community standards of amateur radio is not a good thing, and one of the > > purposes of entry standards is to expose the newbies.
> >
> > >To some extent the > > >Brits with their theory of gathering similar people (personifying the > > >enemy so to speak) in a room for eight hours in a spate of Morse > > >Appreciation ending in an open book, take all day code test may > actually > > >have the problem right; I have been in corporate meetings less of a > > >purpose for much the same reason: keeping the landmines and barbed wire > > >down to a gentle, ladylike belch.
> >
> > Maybe. The Brits are a different society, and their licensing has long > been > > very different from ours. The Brits didn't have a Charlie Stewart back

> in 1910
> > so they even license receivers.
> >
> > And all is not warm beer and skittles across the pond. Surf over to your > > favorite search engine and look up "UKRS" (United Kingdom Radio Society) > > Interesting stuff on their site about how the whole codetest thingie is > being > > handled.
> > >
> > >Given the problem, translating a typical QSO into conversational > Swahili
> > >probably is as legitimate as anything so long as no one knows that > making
> > >the attempt is qualification enough.
> >
> > Listen to the amateur bands in the USA and you don't hear much Swahili.
> But you
> > do hear lots of Morse code.
> >
> > >Course someone would immediately
> > >form No Swahili International.
> >
> > Shall I dig out my Smith Chart rant again?
> >
> > >So what do you view as legitimate standards???
> >
> > One thing I note is that many people will give you "Zen" answers to that > > question - they'll tell you what is not a legitimate standard, but not > what one > > is. Not much help.
> >
> > I can give you a long discourse on the subject but it's late and you've > seen it > > before.
> >
> > 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
> This particular rant was in answer to Carl; I answered your question more > directly in another post. But the theme is the same: when you have a > hobby with 945 facets and traditions predating the Titanic not to mention > international implications it is not something you throw at someone off > the street or Channel 37 and expect either the newbie or the veteran to > survive. There has to be some sort of 'aging' before the wine is drunk > for the benefit of the hobby to be sure but also to the tyro himself or we > will simply go thru recruits who don't re-up.
>
> In my Novice days I lacked the real estate for an 80 meter dipole so I > fired up on 7175 to find that Radio Moscow liked that freq as well. My > mother probably still wonders where her nice plate glass mirror went; I > used it and some Babo to get the crystal up to 7178 or so. For lack of > anything better to do, I put in the plug-in coils for 15 and plugged in > one of my dad's 40 cw rocks and fired up on 15 and worked a raft of DX in > a very short time. To this day I like 15 far more than 20 for a far nicer > group of derelicts. Then as antennas are prone to do in storms, I got to > install it right this time. OK, learning by klutzing around.

>
> The hobby does not need a steel gate but it sure as hell could use an > airlock.
>
> Dick N&#65533;BK
>
>

5832. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:20:34 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <6VlW7.241586$3d2.11747941@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28829

"W1RFI" <w1rfi@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011226064243.28248.00000649@mb-cq.aol.com...
> >Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed > >the 5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what > >response?
>
> It appears quite simple. Those that sing Larry's praises on rrap are told they > deserve congratulations for passing the 5 wpm test. Those that do not praise
> Larry receive the badmouth treatment.
>
> It appears to me that in Larry's view, it really IS all about Larry.
>
> 73,
> Ed Hare, W1RFI
>

Oh come now, Ed. You, me, Larry, and a host of others did what we could; there had to be a common characteristic somewhere. And the whole bloody gang has been in the Elmer seat before, I suspect many times. And if you have been there you know that you will meet a lot of the 'I am perfect already, don't try to change me' brigade. For these guys you do a quick Pontius Pilate act so you will have the time for the Berts of the world.

Reading Larry is akin to reading the mind of God, granted, and it is equally stupid to try in either case but grant for a moment that Larry might just be a sane if opinionated human being (as are we all). There is no basic conflict in welcoming those who pass the rules currently in effect while not having a lot of use for the rules currently in effect; gentlemen do not waste their spleen on underlings, children, and newbies who did not write the rules. It is far more likely that Larry is a gentleman rewarding the attitude and achievement than he is some petty tyrant.

I did 20 but believing that anything over 12 was stupid in 1972. When I had passed the 20 I felt that I could say it, before that you shut up. I, for one, am quite ready to go to the ends of the earth for someone who confronts reality, develops a plan for doing it, and executes the plan. And not just with respect to Amateur Radio.

In my middle school football coaching days I had occasion to check in with a shrink of my aquaintance (as a bridge player) and ask about how to at least 'do no damage' to 12-13 year-olds. He told me that a 13 year-old lacked three things of being a functioning adult male: experience, an identity separate from the pack, and the ability to handle situations where long term goals required short term sacrifices - the latter being required to be a father. He basically told me to let the game do the teaching and don't be afraid to challenge the troops. Good advice.

So I read Larry as simply preferring to deal with adult men and not oversize boys.

Pretty well sums up my attitude as well.

Dick N&#65533;BK

5833. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:33:06 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28830

N2EY wrote:
> Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.

Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.

Do you refuse to use words, parts of which spell a vulgar word? e.g. assume, harass? If you use words, parts of which spell a vulgar word, why bar callsigns, parts of which spell
vulgar words? It's exactly the same concept.

What message are we sending to our youth when we tell them to avoid any word that starts or ends with "ass"? The same thing applies to callsigns. A vulgar callsign is an opportunity to teach youngsters about random groupings
of alpha-numeric characters.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5834. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:35:56 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29EE5C.87AF75AC@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28831

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Has it dawned upon you that I present people with a mirror image of > > themselves so they can learn something from the exercise? I become > > you and respond to you as you would. Everything you say about me > > applies to you.
>
> What has dawned on me is that you use my stuff as if you originated it.

You originate the crap, Dave, and I mirror it back at you. I've been doing that to crappy people since I learned it as a teaching technique in 1962.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5835. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:40:43 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <%bmW7.241611$3d2.11749934@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28832

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C29EE5C.87AF75AC@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Has it dawned upon you that I present people with a mirror image of > > > themselves so they can learn something from the exercise? I become > > > you and respond to you as you would. Everything you say about me > > > applies to you.
> >
> > What has dawned on me is that you use my stuff as if you originated
it.
>
> You originate the crap, Dave, and I mirror it back at you. I've > been doing that to crappy people since I learned it as a teaching > technique in 1962.
> --
> cheers, CAM, W5DXP

And an awful lot of wives become ex-wives that way.

5836. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:48:16 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29F140.4262FB8D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28833

Dave Heil wrote:
> Your new quest, Don. Q., is to advise us on how many of the 17k+ spell > something which could be viewed by others as vulgar.

That's easy, Dave. Everyone is perfectly free to view each and every callsign as being vulgar. Vulgarity is in the mind of the reader. Vulgarity doesn't exist independently in any
callsign.

Non-English speaking people would have to have it explained to them before they could possibly find it vulgar. Seems that proves the word is not objectively vulgar. All you have to do to solve the problem is, instead of morbidly looking for vulgarity everywhere 24 hours a day, try looking for goodness, kindness, love, and mercy. Most of your vulgar thoughts would disappear.

Dave, you are like the unfortunate soul who sees vulgar pictures in ink blots. It is all in your mind. Try switching from vulgar thoughts to beautiful thoughts and thus make the world a better place instead of the cesspool in which you live.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5837. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:52:23 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29F237.8CA9DA36@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28835

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?
>
> Isn't the answer apparent?

Yes it is, Dave, and that's why we have a Bill of Rights to protect us from statists like you who would deny us our inalienable rights.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5838. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:53:25 UTC
From: Frank Ney <n4zhg@icqmail.com>
Message-ID: <gbsj2uk4nhkv4t8bqd02vis6a75uo37quf@4ax.com>
Source record: 28834
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 09:25:16 GMT, an orbiting mind control laser caused Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> to write in talk.politics.guns :

> That wasn't my experience. Most of the cops I knew were ok with gun ownership >by citizens, and there were a few who had been helped outof a bad spot by armed >citizens. It was not that unusual for a citizen who had heard a police dispatch >on a scanner to contribute useful information on a case.

I got to help get a drunk driver off the road that way once on I-95. I had heard the report on the MDSP frequency, and not 30 seconds later there he was in front of me. Got on Channel 9, which was the only "interagency" radio I had and reported the guy. Three minutes later, I had two trooper cars pulling him over. Blew a .23 -- I'm surprised he was staying on the road, never mind between the lines.

But it was a darn good thing I had a ham ticket to go with the scanner.

Frank Ney N4ZHG WV/EMT-B LPWV NRA(L) ProvNRA GOA CCRKBA JPFO
--
"I believe a self-righteous liberal Democrat with a cause is more dangerous than a Hell's Angel with an attitude."
-- Ted Nugent
Just Say No to Gestapo Tactics http://reduce.to/justsayno/
Abuses by the BATF http://www.hamnet.net/~n4zhg/batfabus.html

5839. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 15:57:30 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C29F36A.2B0A7A03@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28836

Richard McCollum wrote:
> There is > no basic conflict in welcoming those who pass the rules currently in > effect while not having a lot of use for the rules currently in effect;

Unfortunately, Larry is not that way. He has bitched loud and long about post-restructuring extras not deserving their privileges.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5840. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 16:24:29 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <1RmW7.198773$WW.11506255@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28837

"Brian Kelly" <kelly@dvol.com> wrote

> If bragging rights is the name of the game then what the hell, thee me
> and gazillions of others around here did the 20wpm thing at our > neigborhood FCC offices which the lightweights around here will never
> do.

Gazillions??? Stick to the facts. All of you people who did do the 20 wpm thing at your neighborhood FCC offices had the proclivity and predilection to accomplish morse code at a reasonably rapid rate and you should be commended for that. Although, just as you or your buddy will only attain a certain speed and will never approach the speed operators who break records of > 60 wpm. There are plenty of people who because of their own proclivity and predilection will never be able to approach 12 wpm.

The ARS is full of operators selected from society who could, in fact, attain those speeds. This was a good thing in the past when CW operators were needed throughout the services but these days it's just flat out not needed. The skills sets needed has shifted. Deal with it.

When you call people lightweights are you REALLY in the belief that you are superior? You are when it comes to beeping fast... granted... but that's as far as it goes.

5841. Re: Mistuh Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 16:39:11 UTC
From: bob.weiss@verizon.net
Message-ID: <cd11d464.0112260839.2156736e@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28838

General Electric has been convicted of defrauding the US government on several defense contracts. They are also the largest producer of EPA superfund sites, IIRC. So when is the FCC going to cancel all of the broadcast licenses held by GE (owner of NBC)?

Or are computer hackers subject to a different set of laws than corporate criminals?

Bob Weiss N2IXK

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message
news:<cuvyxnansvbet.goxg183.pminews@or.news.verio.net>...
> On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 00:16:47 -0500, Krell wrote:
>
> >> "In a five-page order released Friday, the US Federal Communications > >> Commission (FCC) claims that 38-year old convicted hacker Kevin Mitnick is > >> not morally fit to be a ham radio operator. "
> >
> >Maybe this is how the FCC plans on dismantling the amateur radio service.
> >They'll declare all current licensees morally unfit in some way, not renew > >the license, and when the numbers have dwindled low enough, sell off the > >spectrum to the highest commercial bidder.
>
> Only if they are convicted felons.

5842. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 16:45:21 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112260845.55b40b1d@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28839

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:<qAQV7.196255$WW.11390036@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
> > What should be discussed NOW is what the US license structure will become > > if/when S25.5 goes away. Some folks want just one class of license, while > > others want two classes at most. Some say "just drop Element 1 and leave
> the > > rest alone". Lots of ideas and possibilities, but I don't see much real > > discussion about the subject.
>
> > General question to all: What are YOUR ideas?
>
> Ok Jim... herre's my ideas.
>
> First, consider this, we have two 'kinds' of licenses. Those which can be > granted and those which can't.

"Current" vs. "heritage", as it were. Novices, Tech Pluses and Advanceds are in the latter category.

> I believe this must be solved before or > during whatever else is done.

Not to be argumentative, but - why "must" it be solved? If the license structure is radically changed, a solution should be incorporated.
If/when Element 1 disappears, there will be no reason to distinguish Techs from Tech Pluses, and all of them should get Tech Plus privs, such as they are.

From Jan 1952 to Nov 1967 (approximately) the FCC issued zero new Advanced licenses, but allowed the ~40K hams who held Advanceds to renew and modify them. When the changes of Nov 1968 came, those folks were mighty happy they'd not been mixed in with the Generals.
>
> So, when the morse requirements are gone we have six licenses most with a > different count for written elements completed.

Yup. We even have some folks with the same license (Tech Plus) but with different written credits (pre Mar 21, 1987 vs. post that date).
Watta mess!
>
> Technician and Technician Plus have passed the same written elements.

Most of them have, but pre Mar 21 Techs have General class written credit.

> If the > Novice is promoted to this class by simply waiving element 2 then the > situation becomes much clearer.

Yup - but is it right to give away upgrades like that?

ARRL proposed simply upgrading Novices and Tech Pluses to General, and the FCC said no way.

>Call this Technician class.

Alrighty.
>
> The General Class remains as is.

I presume holders of "old" Tech Pluses could get instant upgrades to General, same as today. Just present the documentation, a 605 and the fee.
>
> The difference between Advanced and Amateur Extra is element 4(B) so waive
> it.

I understand it's Christmas, but that's a lot of giveaway.

>Call this Amateur Extra Class.
>
> Now, we have only three license classes all available for growth.

Yup. But will the FCC and the amateur radio community accept it? FCC has already rejected all forms of upgrade giveaways. Why should they accept them now?
>
> This simplifies the existing band plans. I've listed the changes resulting > from the above action.
>
> 1) The entire bands above 30 MHz are open to all licensees.

Full power and all modes, I presume.

> 2) Novice subbands on 1.25 meters and 23 centimeters disappear.
> 3) Technicians get 200W 28.100 to 28.300 on 10 meters.
> 4) Technicians get 200W CW and SSB only 28.300 to 28.500 on 10 meters.
> 5) Technicians get 200W CW only subbands on 15, 40, and 80 meters.
> 6) Advanced Class subbands on 80, 40, 20, and 15 meters disappear.

All logical consequences from the combinations suggested.
>
> All this is accomplished by waiving Element 2 for Novices and waiving > Element 4(B) for Advanced. I think this is a very tiny price to pay in order > to have a structure which can have some basic adjustments applied for better > transitioning of everyone throughout the ARS experience.

I see your point, but others may be outraged and the FCC may nix the whole free upgrade idea. Without those giveaways, we're back to all those subbands.

>
> I now add my thoughts on the 'adjustments'... ;-)
>
> One, give the Technicians 10 meters because in light of the infringement of > freebanders it's better to have plenty of licenced operators squatting there > trying to maintain control of the band. There is no sense in being > exclusionary to your fellow hams. I say get the freeband candidates licensed > and accountable. This would eliminate the subband on 10 meters which I view > a good thing. As far as I'm concerned limit everyone on the band to 200 > watts and go after the jerks.

I agree in part. Give everyone all of 10 meters - just limit Techs to 200W. (To do otherwise takes away privileges from higher class licenses).
>
> Two, give the Technicians 200 W CW only operation on the General subands.

I agree 100%. But this was proposed formally to the FCC and they shot it down. An ARRL committee is proposing virtually the same thing, (good) plus widening the 'phone slots on those bands (bad). But why should the FCC reverse itself from its previous refusal of AH0A's very reasonable idea? FCC's answer was essentially "let them take Element 3 and get Generals".

> you want them to learn CW then put the horse before cart and the carrot in > front of the horse. This would eliminate the CW only subbands on 15, 40, and > 80 meters.

I think you mean "Novice/TechPlus subbands".
>
> As Red Green would say... "We're all in this together"... ;-)

Yup!

The main problems I see are:

1) the FCC has already shot down many of your ideas
2) free upgrades may not get much support from other hams
3) the big opportunities of the post-2003 era are not being addressed adequately.

How about this:

Right now:

1) Give all Novices and Tech Pluses 200 W CW only on all nonphone
General HF/MF bands, 160-10. (FCC will probably balk at this)

2) Allow all "old" Tech Pluses to get Generals by a simple mail or online procedure, instead of forcing them to attend VE sessions. (FCC will hate this one, too).

3) Resolve the 40 meter mess at WRC 2003 to get a worldwide exclusive
amateur allocation, even if it gives away spectrum. 7000-7200

worldwide exclusive amateur is better for everyone than 7000-7300 in Region 2 and 7000-7100 everywhere else.

4) Develop bandplans for all HF/MF that separate CW, digital and analog voice/image modes.

After S25.5 is gone:

1) Three classes of license: Basic, Intermediate, Full (change the names if you don't like them)

2) HF/MF bands split into subbands by mode and split again by license class. (Some bands, like 10 and the WARC bands, may be split by mode only).

3) Basic license test is simple 20-25 question exam on regs, procedures, and safety. Very little technical and RF exposure stuff, main purpose is to keep Basics out of trouble. Basics get 100-150 watts on HF/MF and 25 watts or so on VHF/UHF (determined by RF exposure limits). Modes are CW, SSB, FM, PSK31 and maybe some of the other common data modes like packet. Basics cannot be VEs, control ops for repeaters, or be club trustees. Basics get all VHF/UHF and about half of HF/MF spectrum. Basic is meant as the entry level.

4) Intermediate license test is more complex 50-60 question exam on regs, procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical and RF exposure stuff, with some regs to cover expanded privs. Intermediates get 300-400 watts on all bands, all modes. Intermediates can be VEs after qualification (see below), control ops for repeaters, and club trustees. Intermediates get all VHF/UHF and about three quarters (or more) of HF/MF spectrum. Intermediate requires at least one year experience as a Basic.

5) Full license test is quite complex 100-120 question exam on regs, procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical, with some regs to cover expanded privs. Fulls get all privileges, modes, bands, etc. except that Fulls can be VEs only after qualification (see below). Full license requires ar least one year (preferably two years) as an Intermediate.

6) All licenses are 10 year and fully renewable/modifiable.

7) Basics have six-character calls, Intermediates have five- or six-character calls, and Fulls have four-, five-, or six-character calls.

8) There is a separate 30-35 question test for VE qualification, open to Intermediates and Fulls, which allows them to be VEs.

9) Existing Novices become Basics, existing Techs, Tech Pluses, Generals and Advanceds become Intermediates, and existing Extras become Fulls. Experience requirement is not waived for existing hams to upgrade.

End result is a system that is easy to get into (Basic is envisioned as a 21st century version of the Novice) and has reasonable but meaningful steps to reach full privileges.

Of course this probably has even less chance than your ideas, Rich.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5843. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 17:11:23 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112260911.3c2a6908@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28840

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org>...
> N2EY wrote:
> > Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.
>
> Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.

There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
>
> Do you refuse to use words, parts of which spell a vulgar > word? e.g. assume, harass? If you use words, parts of which > spell a vulgar word, why bar callsigns, parts of which spell
> vulgar words? It's exactly the same concept.

Not at all. A callsign is not a word. Some callsigns are chosen to resemble words, (K1MMY, W1NDY, K0OL) but the callsign in question is not one of them.
>
> What message are we sending to our youth when we tell them
> to avoid any word that starts or ends with [expletive deleted]

>?

A callsign is not a word. See above

>The
> same thing applies to callsigns.

Nope.

>A vulgar callsign is an > opportunity to teach youngsters about random groupings
> of alpha-numeric characters.

Nonsense.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5844. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 18:13:22 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A1342.1587B4EF@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28841

N2EY wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
>
> There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.

It doesn't matter unless you are trying to mimic "1984"'s thought police. W5TIT is a valid callsign. It doesn't matter objectively
if it was chosen or issued at random. W5TIT is NOT a word!!!
If you are going to prohibit callsigns where a part of the
callsign spells something, then you need to prohibit words
where a part of the word spells something.

What is wrong with issuing the callsign and then allowing everyone to choose to think what they choose to think about it?
Choosing to think dirty thoughts is a choice freely made by the thinker. Nobody's forcing you to think those dirty thoughts.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5845. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 18:16:10 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <6D854230DC4FCB47.9018BEE47C3D4B85.A58090EAD5AF6427@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28842

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 15:15:08 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>>
>> On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 17:17:10 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
>> wrote:
>>
>> >Some folks believe that professional baseball players who sell >> >autographs to kids are heroes. My heroes are genuine heroes.
>>
>> Who?
>
>Folks other than professional baseball players who sell autographs to >kids.

That means Ted Bundy, Charles Manson, Adolph Hitler, Saddam
Hussein, and Osama bin Laden are among your heros.

And you pretend to have enough taste to appraise Kim's call sign?

Sheesh!

>> >You seem to have some peculiar idea in your head that I'm not happy.
>> >I'm happy as a clam, Kim. Right now I'm happy that the FCC doesn't yet >> >issue four letter suffixes.
>>
>> Are you afraid that the urge to apply for k8dumb would be >> overpowering?
>
>You thought of it. It's yours by right.

I'll forfeit it for you Dave--you deserve it so much more than
I ever will.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5846. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 18:23:06 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <D7963D64694DFC99.EAED21104D6F9632.B6F403C4270D682D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28843

On 26 Dec 2001 06:52:18 -0800, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2954AE.34992319@IEEE.org>...
>
>> If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?
>
>Nope. Nor to anyone else. Nor would I issue similar inappropriate callsigns.
>
>Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.

In other words, simply because the law would require you to do something, you would refuse anyway because it "isn't right" in your mind?

And you wonder why many of us think you aren't playing with a full deck!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5847. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 18:42:20 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <WNoW7.62569$BX4.4334364@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 28845
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

Hi Dick,

When I got my driver's license in 1964, there was an NCHP trooper in that county that did everything he could to make certain teen drivers got tickets. He would check DMV records to see who was newly licensed and deliberately stalk and follow them--sometimes so closely that one could not even see his headlights. He absolutely HATED anyone under 21 years old--even though he wasn't very old himself. He was arrogant, self-centered, egotistical, and a real SOB.
Not long after I was licensed at 16, sure enough, he appeared at a local store lot, and when I turned onto the main highway, he immediately got right on my bumper and held his handset up to his ear as tho he was calling in my tag #. I had been warned by the other kids about this, so I wasn't concerned except for his dangerous tailgating. He did this to me several times. My Dad reported him to the Sergeant to no avail. Another day, I started to town on an errand assigned by my Mom, and he began tailing me. I found a wide shoulder, signaled and pulled off the road. I got out and pretended to be looking at the car as if something were wrong. Finding nothing, I got back in and continued. Corporal C had stopped just a few yards behind, making no effort to hide his harassment. I drove a couple more miles and pulled off, again pretending to inspect the car for a problem totally ignoring Coporal C who, again, had stopped as well. I continued to do this every few miles until finally, when I signalled to pull off again, he turned on his light and stopped right behind me. He gruffly asked me what was wrong. I calmly said the car was making a "squeaking noise" like there was a bad bearing or something. He looked at the car and, finding nothing (of course!) he, pointed his finger at me and said, "You BETTER be having trouble, boy, or I'll run you in!" Huh? He then left quickly. I was pretty sure there was nothing he could do to me because there was no law against "suspecting" there is something wrong with one's car. I think maybe he caught onto what I was really doing, and it made him mad that a kid was making a fool out of him.

I heard that he pulled over a football player (senior, 6' 5" and 260lbs) and started cussing him out for swerving to dodge a pothole. The kid didn't hesitate and knocked Corporal C down into a ditch (full of water) and out cold. Richie (not his real name) drove away and left the muddy, sopping trooper to wake up alone. The odd thing was, Richie never heard anything from it...even though he expected a yard full of NCHP cars at any moment for the next couple weeks! Did ole "C" KNOW he was out of line, but just enjoyed hassling teenagers? Maybe this story was a bit enhanced--I don't know----, BUT there WAS another witness that said he saw trooper C climbing out of the ditch with mud from head to toe, and he didn't know why because there was nobody around except the now VERY wet trooper and a lonely Ford patrol car with blue lights blinking. He didn't stop because, "I HATE that sonuvabitch"!

Trooper C, I heard after I moved away, got into deep doo doo when he began to harass a young girl. I'm told she was quite the looker, JV Queen, Cheerleader, etc. His interest became MORE than giving her tickets--he became obsessed with this one girl. He followed her, both in and out of his patrol car, he harassed and threatened her steady boyfriend, and finally tried to force her to do "things" with him in exchange for dropping "charges" that were bogus to begin with. Her Dad's brother was a State Representative. He pulled a few strings and they had her wear a wire (bug). They got what they needed, and Trooper C found himself facing charges-- to the laughter and delight of all--especially the high school kids he had been such grief to.
It couldn't have happened to a 'more deserving' fellow! LOL!

73

Jerry
K4KWH

Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C2947E5.A74082F4@townsqr.com...
>
>
> N9NWO wrote:
>
> > : > There are a good deal of elitism out there.
> > : > For whatever reason. The Marines teach
> > : > it. So do the police academies.
> > :
> > : The police/Marines/doctors/professors etc ARE the elite, when it
> > : comes to their areas of expertise. Outside that, they are no better
> > : or worse than anyone else.
> >
> > There is the problem. Because they are elite > > in their fields, they do transfer that attitude to > > every other aspect of society. Because they > > are competent, they tend that no one else is.

> > And if they do not know how to do it, then
> > no one else should be able to do so either.
> > (Thus the desire to ban technology such as > > guns or radios).
>
> I don't buy it, N9MWO. There is and always has been elitgeism amongst > the elite in any human endeavor, and that elitism has served for far more > good than evil in free societies. I've known a lot of elite police > officers in the past 40 years and darn few of them showed any tendency to > transfer that to the sort constitutional violations you describe.
> Things change, and sometimes pretty fast, but if we're headed down that > slippery slope, I haven't seen a lot of evidence of it. Of course I have > seen some. One of he most gregarious cases was in New York Cit. In 1962 I > watched a NYPD street cop give a guy an awful cussing in public while he > stood with his hand on the butt of his revolver as if he dared the guy to > respond in any way. The fellow' soffense was cuttting across one extra > traffic lane to get to a (rare) parking spot. There was no safety reason > for him not to do that, except the LEO noted his out of state license > plate, and after all, some jerk behind who wanted the spot himself > honked.....
>

5848. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 18:43:50 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <GToW7.311496$W8.11444280@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28844

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:9f4bfe89.0112260911.3c2a6908@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org>...
> > N2EY wrote:
> > > Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.
> >
> > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
>
> There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
> >
> > Do you refuse to use words, parts of which spell a vulgar > > word? e.g. assume, harass? If you use words, parts of which > > spell a vulgar word, why bar callsigns, parts of which spell > > vulgar words? It's exactly the same concept.
>
> Not at all. A callsign is not a word. Some callsigns are chosen to > resemble words, (K1MMY, W1NDY, K0OL) but the callsign in question is > not one of them.
> >
> > What message are we sending to our youth when we tell them
> > to avoid any word that starts or ends with
>
> [expletive deleted]
>
> >?
>
> A callsign is not a word. See above
>
> >The
> > same thing applies to callsigns.
>
> Nope.
>
> >A vulgar callsign is an > > opportunity to teach youngsters about random groupings
> > of alpha-numeric characters.
>
> Nonsense.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

I don't know, Jim. Because the FCC lady turned the 610s around I got BK rather than BJ. All things considered, Butt Kiss is one hell of an improvement over what it could have been. The late Norm Fowler was welcome to it.

5849. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 18:49:06 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112261049.70af3e32@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28846

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:<lGIV7.239252$3d2.11593385@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20011224100327.27168.00000589@mb-cb.aol.com...
> > In article <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson"
> <wa6vse@fast.net>
> > writes:
> >
> > What should be discussed NOW is what the US license structure will > become > > if/when S25.5 goes away. Some folks want just one class of license, > while > > others want two classes at most. Some say "just drop Element 1 and leave
> the > > rest alone". Lots of ideas and possibilities, but I don't see much real > > discussion about the subject.
> >
> > General question to all: What are YOUR ideas?
> >
> > 73 de Jim, N2EY

This is the post I shoulda answered first....
> >
>
> The trick is and always has been bringing in the newbies and letting them > soak in the sauce until they can go on to 20 meters without stirring up > the OTs or develop a skin thick enough to withstand a W2OY.

20 meters or 2 meters...

> It is not so > much keeping them off as keeping them from being roasted before their > time. So we have seen over the years time gaps between classes which to > my mind is more an act of mercy to the newbie than a barrier. You can > test til your butt sucks wind but no one is prepared for the > rough-and-tumble of a good pile up, encountering some net that thinks it > is sanctioned, or the crochety old fart.

Plus all the reverse.

> And there is and continues to be
> the need to show a good face to the rest of the world.

That most of all. One thing to keep in mind at all times when on the air is "what if an enemy of ham radio is taping this to play as an example of why hams should lose their allocations?"

>
> So in principle at least I would favor a three class system: a > bread-and-milk Tech much like we have now but give them 28.1-28.5, cut the > power limit to 50 max. and keep them out of non-channelized VHF/UHF/SHF,

See other posts by me this date this thread.

> an entry-level ticket resembling the present General with 200 watts max, > and a senior ticket much like the Extra but with a one-year waiting > period.

Three levels, yeah, but more differentiation.

> The present structure is not really half bad except that it is > unkind to those passing the Extra more or less out of the box. The junior > ticket has to include regs both U. S. and International and the usual > safety and regulatory stuff so I doubt if Element 3 would change a whole > lot. The trick is Element 4.

Yup.
>
> Just how technical is technical? Damfino. The real thing with Element 4 > is a proper ceremony for pontification so one should probably deal with > impedence matching, Ohm's or Joule's laws in various permutations, a bit > on angle modulation, non-linearity and how to detect and prevent it, and > the inevitable VE questions.

Maybe. What happens when No Charts International gets going?
>
> The issue is not whom to keep out although we all have our candidates but > how to blend the newbie into a hobby with traditions that predate the > Titanic partially to keep him from being a major pain in the butt but > mostly to give him time to orient himself for the long haul; marching > people thru the hobby and out looks good on paper but does not in the long > run accomplish a hell of a lot.

I agree 100%.

> I suspect that the aging vat effect is > one reason that the 5wpm restructuring was largely a wet firecracker.

Nah. Lots of other stuff going on.

The bread-and-milk ("honeydo") attraction of amateur VHF/UHF that drove much of the '80s growth is all but gone with cellphones. Yes, there are areas where cellphones don't work and they do cost money but most people nowadays have one anyway so they get a familytalk plan and done. FRS and GMRS suck up a lot of that sorta stuff, too.

Those who simply want cheap longdistance electronic communication have email and newsgroups and websites. The odea that some sort of amateur wireless internet will compete with AOL or Earthlink is simply misguided.

What's left are those who want RADIO, for whatever reason. Medium is the message and all that.

> It > is known among marketers and has been for 30 years that the average CBer > buys five rigs before the last one goes into the garage and to a large > extent we have seen that when the Tech is touted as entry-level which it > presently is not but is rather a dirty trick played by the FCC and ARRL.

Actually the FCC did an end-around on the League back in 1990 anyway.
The trend towards entry-by-VHF was in place by then anyway.

One real problem nobody talks about much is the addytoods of those who come to ham radio with "experience" in other services.
>
> Sum and substance: does the hobby need protection from the newbie or the > newbie need a bit of protection from a hobby that can eat one up?

Both.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5850. Re: RADIO LAW vs law enforcement practices.

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 18:56:08 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <45pW7.283555$er5.5432979@e3500-atl2.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 28847
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,alt.military,talk.politics.guns

This happened to me when I was 17. A neighbor with conjestive heart failure had an attack and was near death. I had a 1961 Chevrolet with a pretty "peppy" engine. We got Mr. Parham in the car and started out to the hospital. I was driving at around 85 MPH with flashers and lights on. NCHP caught up alongside and I pointed at my passenger whose head was lolling back on the seat and made the "cutthroat" sign. The trooper nailed that Plymouth and led us to the hospital at 85-95 MPH. He made certain that we DID have an emergency, and that done, there were no ramifications. We lived at that time a full 12 miles from town-- out in the boonies. To wait for an ambulance would've meant certain death for our neighbor because there just weren't any rescue squads out there. It was the one time I got to drive at a high rate of speed (I am not thrilled by that anymore) without being ticketed. I do remember the sound of that Quadra-jet moaning as we raced to the hospital.

73
Jerry
Frank Ney <n4zhg@icqmail.com> wrote in message news:ftoj2uscc3uckro3ptsick2p5urmepa9hm@4ax.com...
> On Fri, 21 Dec 2001 17:02:33 -0500, an orbiting mind control laser caused > Jim Patterson <jrp32nospam@bellsouth.net> to write in talk.politics.guns :
>
> >When quite young though in my memory, I was injured (turned out to be > >just a broken collarbone) at a convention that my parents were attending > >at a rural town park. Dad got me in his (then new) '55 Olds and had a > >Legion buddy holding me down in the back seat. He later told me that we > >were going over 100mph to the hospital. We were stopped by a highway > >patrolman who in seconds was escorting us to the hospital, same speed, > >with sirens going and that was the last heard from the police. To me,
> >that is non-restrictive law at work.
> >I wonder what would happen with the same circumstances today?
>
> You would have a five-to-thirty minute delay while an ambulance was called,
> then you'd be on your way to the hospital and your father would be on his > way to jail for reckless endangerment.
>
>
> Frank Ney N4ZHG WV/EMT-B LPWV NRA(L) ProvNRA GOA CCRKBA JPFO

> --
> "I believe a self-righteous liberal Democrat with a cause is > more dangerous than a Hell's Angel with an attitude."
> -- Ted Nugent
> Just Say No to Gestapo Tactics http://reduce.to/justsayno/
> Abuses by the BATF http://www.hamnet.net/~n4zhg/batfabus.html

5851. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 19:18:44 UTC
From: no.email@available.com Message-ID: <3c2a21b5.103550406@news.iaxs.net>
Source record: 28848
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

On 22 Dec 2001 20:44:48 -0800, SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com (SD SpecialDelivery Jones) wrote:

>"john" <w9jcm@arrl.net> wrote in message
news:<vI8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net>...
>> Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
>> "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
>> news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
>> > I like it!
>> >
>> >
>> > IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
>> > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
>> > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
>> > >
>> > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
>> >
>> >
>
>oh cool ....move over hammies.......its called corporate >expansion.....i told you...we are in the appropriation business....if >you don't use it you loose it.......remember????

Excuse me? The old 11M band was swiped from us HAMS back in the 1950s and was VERY well used and liked by hams across the globe. Would you like a history lession?
The FCC has no intention of giving CBers anymore bandwidth in the USA,
get a clue and 42

Running above 27.405 is aganst the law and considered a federal crime.
Next issue

5852. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 19:40:46 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a2737_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28849

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org...
>
> A vulgar callsign is an > opportunity to teach youngsters about random groupings
> of alpha-numeric characters.
> --
> cheers, CAM, W5DXP
>
>

I don't think my callsign is vulgar, as I believe there is nothing vulgar about parts of the body, nothing vulgar about the physical expression of love between two people, nothing vulgar about language or its expression in general. (I know you knew that, Cecil, but had to say it anyway).

I think that if a kid recognizes anything in my callsign (and I think kids' and young adults' minds are much cleaner than those of the supposed "gentlemen" on this newsgroup) that is "dirty" or "vulgar" or "nasty" then it is probably an extension of what they have learned from adults closest to them. When my brother and I used to giggle at pictures in the National Geographic magazine, it was our mom or dad that would ask us what did we find so amusing about the human body? My brother would usually laugh and point at a picture of some nude woman and state, "that is nasty." At which point my mother would explain to him all the reasons why it wasn't nasty at all. It gave us something to think about.

Dave, Larry, Dick C., and people like them would probably see nothing but "nasty" in a person walking on a beach in the nude, or nothing but "nasty" in a woman who nurses her child in public, or nothing but "nasty" at the idea of a man and woman making love together. They miss opportunities to see beauty when it is all around them. My callsign is intended for fun--and that does not have to include nasty. Nasty is in their minds, not mine. And, it is also not in the minds of many, many people I have talked to on the air.

To believe that my callsign is vulgar, does not belong in the ARS, and should not have been requested by me and/or issued by the FCC is to focus on "nasty" or "vulgar" ideas of what my callsign is. I choose to ignore the "nasty" or "vulgar" minded, because my callsign isn't.

Kim W5TIT

5853. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 19:46:47 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a2894_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28850

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C29F36A.2B0A7A03@IEEE.org...
> Richard McCollum wrote:
> > There is > > no basic conflict in welcoming those who pass the rules currently in > > effect while not having a lot of use for the rules currently in effect;
>
> Unfortunately, Larry is not that way. He has bitched loud and long > about post-restructuring extras not deserving their privileges.
> --
> cheers, CAM, W5DXP
>
>

I think Dick has missed most of those posts...

Kim W5TIT

5854. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 19:49:54 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a295a_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28751

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:9f4bfe89.0112260911.3c2a6908@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org>...
> > N2EY wrote:
> > > Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.
> >
> > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
>
> There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
> >

Giggle value. Not shock.

> >
> > Do you refuse to use words, parts of which spell a vulgar > > word? e.g. assume, harass? If you use words, parts of which > > spell a vulgar word, why bar callsigns, parts of which spell > > vulgar words? It's exactly the same concept.
>
> Not at all. A callsign is not a word. Some callsigns are chosen to > resemble words, (K1MMY, W1NDY, K0OL) but the callsign in question is > not one of them.
> >

That is correct. When I say "W5TIT" on the air, it either takes some thinking or writing it down before it is even recognized as having a twist to it. There are many folks I've talked to on the air who never even say a word or indicate in any way that they take for anything but a callsign.

> >
> > What message are we sending to our youth when we tell them
> > to avoid any word that starts or ends with
>
> [expletive deleted]
>
> >?
>
> A callsign is not a word. See above
>
> >The
> > same thing applies to callsigns.
>

> Nope.
>
> >A vulgar callsign is an > > opportunity to teach youngsters about random groupings
> > of alpha-numeric characters.
>
> Nonsense.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

I don't think so, but that's our difference.

Kim W5TIT

5855. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 19:51:40 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a29be_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28752

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2A1342.1587B4EF@IEEE.org...
> N2EY wrote:
> >
> > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> > > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
> >
> > There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> > They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
>
> It doesn't matter unless you are trying to mimic "1984"'s thought > police. W5TIT is a valid callsign. It doesn't matter objectively
> if it was chosen or issued at random. W5TIT is NOT a word!!!
> If you are going to prohibit callsigns where a part of the
> callsign spells something, then you need to prohibit words
> where a part of the word spells something.
>
> What is wrong with issuing the callsign and then allowing
> everyone to choose to think what they choose to think about it?
> Choosing to think dirty thoughts is a choice freely made by > the thinker. Nobody's forcing you to think those dirty thoughts.
> --
> cheers, CAM, W5DXP
>
>

Precisely.

Kim W5TIT

5856. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 19:58:47 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <XZpW7.242101$3d2.11769921@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28753

> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote

> > > if/when S25.5 goes away.

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote

> > First, consider this, we have two 'kinds' of licenses. Those which can be > > granted and those which can't.

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote

> "Current" vs. "heritage", as it were. Novices, Tech Pluses and > Advanceds are in the latter category.

> > I believe this must be solved before or > > during whatever else is done.

> Not to be argumentative, but - why "must" it be solved?

Because, simply said, the ARS is in need of cleaning up. There is no good reason why there needs to be 6 license classes.

My thought is that when the S25.5 foes away the only distinguishing marks on a particular license is... "Which written elements have been passed and when?"

I know that's cruel to say but that's the fact. Very few people including the FCC want 6 license classes and 4 or 5 license classes have very little support either. So, Jim, my proposal is not very much concerned with what the FCC has done in the past. or what the ARRL has done in the past. They both have indicated lately that feelings have shifted dramatically.

> If the license
> structure is radically changed, a solution should be incorporated.
> If/when Element 1 disappears, there will be no reason to distinguish > Techs from Tech Pluses, and all of them should get Tech Plus privs, > such as they are.

True...

> From Jan 1952 to Nov 1967 (approximately) the FCC issued zero new > Advanced licenses, but allowed the ~40K hams who held Advanceds to > renew and modify them. When the changes of Nov 1968 came, those folks > were mighty happy they'd not been mixed in with the Generals.

You and anyone else who has a heartbeat knows that no matter what happens, no one will lose privileges. If the FCC doesn't see a significant number of people request/condone something then the FCC will not do it.

> > So, when the morse requirements are gone we have six licenses most with
a > > different count for written elements completed.

> Yup. We even have some folks with the same license (Tech Plus) but > with different written credits (pre Mar 21, 1987 vs. post that date).
> Watta mess!

> > Technician and Technician Plus have passed the same written elements.

> Most of them have, but pre Mar 21 Techs have General class written > credit.

Oh... have they passed 3(B)? If so then they are General class.

> > If the > > Novice is promoted to this class by simply waiving element 2 then the > > situation becomes much clearer.

> Yup - but is it right to give away upgrades like that?

Well, yes, it is because they have been law abiding hams for years, possibly decades and granting them Element 2 is not going to ire anyone.

> ARRL proposed simply upgrading Novices and Tech Pluses to General, and
> the FCC said no way.

This was back when things were clouded by the morse requirements. In 2003 morse requirements and morse accomplishments are null and void.

> >Call this Technician class.

> Alrighty.

> > The General Class remains as is.

> I presume holders of "old" Tech Pluses could get instant upgrades to > General, same as today. Just present the documentation, a 605 and the > fee.

No... I think it should be automatic... they should have that now. They ARE Generals.

At any rate, the FCC should be reclassifying everyone automatically if the FCC is killing the license classes.

> > The difference between Advanced and Amateur Extra is element 4(B) so waive
> > it.

> I understand it's Christmas, but that's a lot of giveaway.

What are you giving away? Yes, you are waiving 4(B) but the code thingy is gone. Do Advanced have the same level of VE status as Amateur Extra?

> >Call this Amateur Extra Class.

> > Now, we have only three license classes all available for growth.

> Yup. But will the FCC and the amateur radio community accept it? FCC > has already rejected all forms of upgrade giveaways. Why should they > accept them now?

Not quite... the FCC has waived things in the past. OK, Jim, think about it, do you believe that newbies can pass a bunch of writtens to attain the same class as you but that there is no way an Advanced class ham could 'clep' a written? That's what I'm talking about.

> > This simplifies the existing band plans. I've listed the changes resulting > > from the above action.
> >
> > 1) The entire bands above 30 MHz are open to all licensees.
>
> Full power and all modes, I presume.

I really think that, yes, there is no reason to hold the power down for the ex-Novices when the new person off the street gets full power.

If you want to somehow limit power up there then what should be done is that a limit should be the norm and an additional endorsement should be given to ONLY those people who actually need/want to use excessive power. This endorsement is separate from license classes and that way you aren't handing out excessive power endorsements by rote. But this is another discussion. ;-)

> > 2) Novice subbands on 1.25 meters and 23 centimeters disappear.
> > 3) Technicians get 200W 28.100 to 28.300 on 10 meters.
> > 4) Technicians get 200W CW and SSB only 28.300 to 28.500 on 10 meters.
> > 5) Technicians get 200W CW only subbands on 15, 40, and 80 meters.
> > 6) Advanced Class subbands on 80, 40, 20, and 15 meters disappear.

> All logical consequences from the combinations suggested.

> > All this is accomplished by waiving Element 2 for Novices and waiving > > Element 4(B) for Advanced. I think this is a very tiny price to pay in order > > to have a structure which can have some basic adjustments applied for better
> > transitioning of everyone throughout the ARS experience.

> I see your point, but others may be outraged and the FCC may nix the > whole free upgrade idea.

Frankly, my dear... I don't give a damn... ;-)

No, really, if people are outraged fine. They can 'lobby' for they're own 'vision' of what the ARS of the future should be. The FCC will do whatever they perceive the shift to be.

> Without those giveaways, we're back to all those subbands.

The FCC should also take a look at any other nation to find out that SIX CLASSES ARE ABSOLUTELY NOT WANTED OR NEEDED if the FCC had to write a proposal on organizing an ARS from scratch they (or anyone else) could not justify starting out with six classes.

> > I now add my thoughts on the 'adjustments'... ;-)
> >
> > One, give the Technicians 10 meters because in light of the infringement of > > freebanders it's better to have plenty of licenced operators squatting there > > trying to maintain control of the band. There is no sense in being > > exclusionary to your fellow hams. I say get the freeband candidates licensed > > and accountable. This would eliminate the subband on 10 meters which I view > > a good thing. As far as I'm concerned limit everyone on the band to 200 > > watts and go after the jerks.
>
> I agree in part. Give everyone all of 10 meters - just limit Techs to > 200W. (To do otherwise takes away privileges from higher class > licenses).

That's seems fair but I think that what you have to do is think about the HIGH POWER endorsement. and limit EVERYONE to 200 watts on 10 meters. I am treating 10 meters as a completely different animal here because of the state of affairs there and I'm worried about where it will be in 10 years.

> > Two, give the Technicians 200 W CW only operation on the General subands.

> I agree 100%. But this was proposed formally to the FCC and they shot > it down.

In a post code testing era they won't shoot it down, they will look for consensus on how to allow it.

> An ARRL committee is proposing virtually the same thing,
> (good) plus widening the 'phone slots on those bands (bad).

I agree with you here, also.

> But why > should the FCC reverse itself from its previous refusal of AH0A's very > reasonable idea? FCC's answer was essentially "let them take Element 3
> and get Generals".

Don't do it... personally, I couldn't care less. ;-)
(this is NOT my fight) just a suggestion.

> > you want them to learn CW then put the horse before cart and the carrot in > > front of the horse. This would eliminate the CW only subbands on 15, 40, and > > 80 meters.

> I think you mean "Novice/TechPlus subbands".

They are CW only subbands on my chart. I was avoiding using the words Novice and Technician Plus in my post S25.5 world. Besides, you know what I meant.

> The main problems I see are:

> 1) the FCC has already shot down many of your ideas

Tough, they'll have to have good reasons to shoot them down, again. As a package the whole thing is pure and simple. If they can't handle that and they insist on helter skelter then they can save their cab fare... they're already there.

> 2) free upgrades may not get much support from other hams

I think other hams see what's happening... the new ones come in and get to general and extra very quickly and the elders are being 'corraled' out in their pastures.

> 3) the big opportunities of the post-2003 era are not being addressed > adequately.

I didn't meant to imply my adjustments where all that is needed. ;-)

> How about this:

> Right now:

> 1) Give all Novices and Tech Pluses 200 W CW only on all nonphone
> General HF/MF bands, 160-10. (FCC will probably balk at this)

FCC will go with the consensus... build a consensus... what does the ARRL say what does NCI and the Quarter Century folks and the VE orgs say???? This would happen if the pressure comes from everywhere.

> 2) Allow all "old" Tech Pluses to get Generals by a simple mail or > online procedure, instead of forcing them to attend VE sessions. (FCC > will hate this one, too).

This should be automatic. The FCC should realize they ARE GENERALS!!!! The FCC should issue the licenses. Much cleaner and simpler if they run the computers to cough up the licenses and issue them. Oh and don't bring up their budget. It'd be much cheaper also.

> 3) Resolve the 40 meter mess at WRC 2003 to get a worldwide exclusive
> amateur allocation, even if it gives away spectrum. 7000-7200 > worldwide exclusive amateur is better for everyone than 7000-7300 in > Region 2 and 7000-7100 everywhere else.

No question about this one!!!!

> 4) Develop bandplans for all HF/MF that separate CW, digital and > analog voice/image modes.

Jim, I'm confused, the sentence doesn't make sense. Do you mean separate digital from analog... voice from image...

> After S25.5 is gone:

> 1) Three classes of license: Basic, Intermediate, Full (change the > names if you don't like them)

I would think about a high power endorsement in ALL three classes. Maybe the endorsement is awarded to all existing licensees and all future would have to earn them. I believe, going foward, the handing out willy nilly high power should be avoided.

> 2) HF/MF bands split into subbands by mode and split again by license > class. (Some bands, like 10 and the WARC bands, may be split by mode > only).

> 3) Basic license test is simple 20-25 question exam on regs, > procedures, and safety. Very little technical and RF exposure stuff, > main purpose is to keep Basics out of trouble. Basics get 100-150 > watts on HF/MF and 25 watts or so on VHF/UHF (determined by RF > exposure limits). Modes are CW, SSB, FM, PSK31 and maybe some of the > other common data modes like packet. Basics cannot be VEs, control ops > for repeaters, or be club trustees. Basics get all VHF/UHF and about > half of HF/MF spectrum. Basic is meant as the entry level.

Perhaps, the bands could be 10, 12, 17, and 30 meters. What do you think?

The power limit should be high enough that using the normal HF rigs that do approximately 100 watts or so are totally legal for the newbies not have to worry. Same in the UHF normal rigs as built now should be allowed.

What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???

By SSB do you mean the same as I have on 10 meter now...
J3E single-sideband supressed carrier
R3E single sideband reduced carrier
but excluding the other 25 phone modes, including AM (which CB'ers have), single sideband full carrier, and MCW "for providing telegraphy practice interspersed with speech" as excluded in Part 97 now for no good reason???

Oh... I see you arbitrarily included FM.

I don't think you could subdivide 'data' the modes aren't even invented; yet, you want to exclude them... now THAT'S arbitrary... ;-)

> 4) Intermediate license test is more complex 50-60 question exam on > regs, procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical and RF > exposure stuff, with some regs to cover expanded privs. Intermediates > get 300-400 watts on all bands, all modes. Intermediates can be VEs > after qualification (see below), control ops for repeaters, and club > trustees. Intermediates get all VHF/UHF and about three quarters (or > more) of HF/MF spectrum. Intermediate requires at least one year > experience as a Basic.

Incrementing the power is a good way to not just grant the high power willy nilly.

> 5) Full license test is quite complex 100-120 question exam on regs, > procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical, with some > regs to cover expanded privs. Fulls get all privileges, modes, bands, > etc. except that Fulls can be VEs only after qualification (see > below). Full license requires ar least one year (preferably two years) > as an Intermediate.

Sounds reasonable to me.

> 6) All licenses are 10 year and fully renewable/modifiable.
> 7) Basics have six-character calls, Intermediates have five- or > six-character calls, and Fulls have four-, five-, or six-character > calls.
> 8) There is a separate 30-35 question test for VE qualification, open > to Intermediates and Fulls, which allows them to be VEs.
> 9) Existing Novices become Basics, existing Techs, Tech Pluses,
> Generals and Advanceds become Intermediates, and existing Extras > become Fulls. Experience requirement is not waived for existing hams > to upgrade.

> End result is a system that is easy to get into (Basic is envisioned > as a 21st century version of the Novice) and has reasonable but > meaningful steps to reach full privileges.

> Of course this probably has even less chance than your ideas, Rich.

There is a problem with telling Advanced and Generals that you're reducing their power limits arbitrarily across the board. but that's your sell, not mine... ;-)

I'll take one more stab at it later. I'll take my ideas and your class names and quite a few of your ideas. Now, be more specific on which MF/HF bands Basic gets and which modes should be kept away from the basics, and why... ;-)

Another go-round and we should have something solid. Then a look around to see if it aligns with some other groups/advocates to see if it couldn't be presented to the powers that be with some backing. Hey, who knows....

Rich

5857. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 20:02:47 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <H1qW7.198934$WW.11520820@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28754

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message news:9f4bfe89.0112261049.70af3e32@posting.google.com...
> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:<lGIV7.239252$3d2.11593385@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> > news:20011224100327.27168.00000589@mb-cb.aol.com...
> > > In article <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson"
> > <wa6vse@fast.net>
> > > writes:
> > >
> > > What should be discussed NOW is what the US license structure will > > become > > > if/when S25.5 goes away. Some folks want just one class of license, > > while > > > others want two classes at most. Some say "just drop Element 1 and leave
> > the > > > rest alone". Lots of ideas and possibilities, but I don't see much real > > > discussion about the subject.
> > >
> > > General question to all: What are YOUR ideas?
> > >
> > > 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
> This is the post I shoulda answered first....
> > >
> >
> > The trick is and always has been bringing in the newbies and letting them
> > soak in the sauce until they can go on to 20 meters without stirring up
> > the OTs or develop a skin thick enough to withstand a W2OY.
>
> 20 meters or 2 meters...
>
> > It is not so > > much keeping them off as keeping them from being roasted before their > > time. So we have seen over the years time gaps between classes which
to > > my mind is more an act of mercy to the newbie than a barrier. You can > > test til your butt sucks wind but no one is prepared for the > > rough-and-tumble of a good pile up, encountering some net that thinks
it

> > is sanctioned, or the crochety old fart.
>
> Plus all the reverse.
>
> > And there is and continues to be > > the need to show a good face to the rest of the world.
>
> That most of all. One thing to keep in mind at all times when on the > air is "what if an enemy of ham radio is taping this to play as an > example of why hams should lose their allocations?"
> >
> > So in principle at least I would favor a three class system: a > > bread-and-milk Tech much like we have now but give them 28.1-28.5, cut
the > > power limit to 50 max. and keep them out of non-channelized VHF/UHF/SHF,
>
> See other posts by me this date this thread.
>
> > an entry-level ticket resembling the present General with 200 watts max,
> > and a senior ticket much like the Extra but with a one-year waiting > > period.
>
> Three levels, yeah, but more differentiation.
>
> > The present structure is not really half bad except that it is > > unkind to those passing the Extra more or less out of the box. The junior > > ticket has to include regs both U. S. and International and the usual > > safety and regulatory stuff so I doubt if Element 3 would change a whole > > lot. The trick is Element 4.
>
> Yup.
> >
> > Just how technical is technical? Damfino. The real thing with Element 4 > > is a proper ceremony for pontification so one should probably deal
with > > impedence matching, Ohm's or Joule's laws in various permutations, a bit > > on angle modulation, non-linearity and how to detect and prevent it,
and
> > the inevitable VE questions.
>
> Maybe. What happens when No Charts International gets going?
> >
> > The issue is not whom to keep out although we all have our candidates
but

> > how to blend the newbie into a hobby with traditions that predate the > > Titanic partially to keep him from being a major pain in the butt but > > mostly to give him time to orient himself for the long haul; marching > > people thru the hobby and out looks good on paper but does not in the long > > run accomplish a hell of a lot.
>
> I agree 100%.
>
> > I suspect that the aging vat effect is > > one reason that the 5wpm restructuring was largely a wet firecracker.
>
> Nah. Lots of other stuff going on.
>
> The bread-and-milk ("honeydo") attraction of amateur VHF/UHF that > drove much of the '80s growth is all but gone with cellphones. Yes, > there are areas where cellphones don't work and they do cost money but > most people nowadays have one anyway so they get a familytalk plan and > done. FRS and GMRS suck up a lot of that sorta stuff, too.
>
> Those who simply want cheap longdistance electronic communication have > email and newsgroups and websites. The odea that some sort of amateur > wireless internet will compete with AOL or Earthlink is simply > misguided.
>
> What's left are those who want RADIO, for whatever reason. Medium is > the message and all that.
>
> > It > > is known among marketers and has been for 30 years that the average CBer
> > buys five rigs before the last one goes into the garage and to a large > > extent we have seen that when the Tech is touted as entry-level which
it > > presently is not but is rather a dirty trick played by the FCC and ARRL.
>
> Actually the FCC did an end-around on the League back in 1990 anyway.
> The trend towards entry-by-VHF was in place by then anyway.
>
> One real problem nobody talks about much is the addytoods of those who > come to ham radio with "experience" in other services.
> >
> > Sum and substance: does the hobby need protection from the newbie or
the > > newbie need a bit of protection from a hobby that can eat one up?
>
> Both.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

That attitude is precisely why we really do need to establish a time-in-grade standard for VEing if nothing else. As it sits, Unit 437 could gun up and pass the Extra bringing the Velvet Jockstrap and Dingleberry 42 into the fold and have all the buds on the air in six months. When they run a test session at the BARF convention and CB keydowns we are doomed.

The bread-and-milk ticket is mostly for the convenience of a ham's family given that the gear usually exists anyway. I remember well being asked why a guy with an Extra, a First Phone, etc could not be contacted for a gallon of milk. The alternative is some sort of sponsored use where N&#65533;BK/Spouse calls N&#65533;BK on the repeater to report that N&#65533;BK/Kid1 needs a ride home after the police investigation. Good family usage also means a better gear budget.

I have been jacked up by the lifer-Tech repeater trolls myself but generally do not take them too seriously but 46 years licensed does tend to develop a non-serious approach. Seabag lawyering is an ancient tradition going back to about the time bitching became the right of the enlisted man. They can usually be bafflegabbed into submission.

So the object of testing is an attitude adjustment period whatever it might be called and for whatever reason it might be necessary. A year is probably about right. Band privleges as they are currently constituted between General and Extra are pretty close to right. I am of several minds at the moment re the old Novice bands. One might drop the phone band to 21.15 and the ten meter to 28.2 but there is something to be said for providing room to do a new mode or engage in some QRP or code practice without conflicting with the big boys and, of course, giving the rest of the world a place to hide from Americans. Some of the NCI jocks would have it wall-to-wall SSB without ever having a clue about how and why the allocations got that way; amazing how CW hatred permeates every thought, isn't it. Bad things happen when institutional memory is lost.

So we return to element 4. Antenna theory is fruitful including such items as Cecil's how-to-tap open feeders for a 50 ohm match but coax length, contrary to CB legend, means zilch. It might be useful to calculate the voltage at the end of a dipole with 200 watts to keep the fires to a ladylike belch and not give dogs whizzing on your downspout the thrill of a lifetime. Proper use of GDOs and noise bridges might be fruitful. If one is now going to get to run a linear it might be nice if a non-linearity detection circuit could be recognized and the very existence of such things noted. Some passing familiarity with FSK and PSK techniques could be noted and the inevitable what deviation allows one to operate in a 10, 12.5, or 15 kHz channel without being a pain in the drain. Personally, orientation toward how not to be a major nincompoop seems more useful than how to be the big winner.

The unanswered question is how much idiocy to allow and how long to allow it. Self-education is not pretty but some of the frequency wars need to be sat upon by a major elephant. Even middle school football teams need the zebras.

In general however, I am far more interested in protecting the newbie who knows he is a newbie than I am in protecting the terminal know-it-all from finding that he doesn't. It is just the coach in my soul.

Dick, Bug Killer.

As if Cornhusker isn't fruitloop enough, the team was originally called Bug Eaters.

5858. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 20:11:52 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A2F08.8436E4D0@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28755
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Atomic Punk wrote:
> Running above 27.405 is aganst the law and considered a federal crime.

Oh No! I was on 28.4 on Christmas Day. Am I in trouble?

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
------== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5859. Re: RADIO LAW

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 20:14:32 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <IcqW7.242113$3d2.11769870@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28756

Or page one of a NAL! :-)

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim AA2QA

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message
news:cuvyxnansvbet.goxel1t.pminews@or.news.verio.net...
> On Sat, 22 Dec 2001 14:01:55 GMT, N9NWO wrote:
>
> >Often someone overhears on site comments
> >and makes it into a major political issue.
>
> >They want to be able to cuss
> >"in the heat of battle" without having to answer to every > >anti cop and anti government group out there.
> >
> >Plus the average street cop will go > >back to treating the radio as a CB where they all tell their > >off colored stories about women and minorities. Or co-ordinate
> >the stories so that the last incident that went bad will look good > >on paper.
>
> After 50 years of being a ham, I've learned that one should NEVER > say anything into a mivrophone (or a cell phone) that one would not > want to see on Page One of the New Yorl Times the next day.
>
> --
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane
>
>
>
>

5860. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 20:14:57 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A2FC1.1A3A7D47@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28757

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> I don't think my callsign is vulgar, as I believe there is nothing vulgar > about parts of the body, nothing vulgar about the physical expression of > love between two people, nothing vulgar about language or its expression in > general. (I know you knew that, Cecil, but had to say it anyway).

I'm using the dictionary definition of "vulgar", Kim, as being of the common folk. Vulgar Latin is what the commoners spoke during the Roman Empire.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5861. Re: Mistuh Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 20:17:57 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112262014590.5233-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 28758

On 26 Dec 2001, Bob Weiss wrote:
>General Electric has been convicted of defrauding the US government on >several defense contracts. They are also the largest producer of EPA >superfund sites, IIRC. So when is the FCC going to cancel all of the >broadcast licenses held by GE (owner of NBC)?
>
>Or are computer hackers subject to a different set of laws than >corporate >criminals?

Natural persons and corporations are treated differently under criminal statute.

Secondly, the "yanking of his license" (by denying renewal, since that is how this has come about) is not a punishment because the license does not represent [expression of] a right.

Thirdly, licensing matters are civil in nature, not criminal, and thus take a separate track through the law. The government is not barred from taking the action simply because it hadn't taken it concurrent with the criminal matter.

5862. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 20:18:57 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <RgqW7.198949$WW.11519992@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28759
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

"Atomic Punk" <no.email@available.com> wrote in message news:3c2a21b5.103550406@news.iaxs.net...
> On 22 Dec 2001 20:44:48 -0800, SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com (SD > SpecialDelivery Jones) wrote:
>
> >"john" <w9jcm@arrl.net> wrote in message
news:<vI8V7.5825$6t1.11077@newsfeed.intelenet.net>...
> >> Just another attempt to start up a big argument on here.
> >> "Train" <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com> wrote in message
> >> news:Rw8V7.142409$bs2.23713117@news02.optonline.net...
> >> > I like it!
> >> >
> >> >
> >> > IllegalCBersMustGO <keyclownslappa@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> >> > news:ce9e428e.0112221512.73aac040@posting.google.com...
> >> > > DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
> >> > >
> >> > > http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
> >> >
> >> >
> >
> >oh cool ....move over hammies.......its called corporate > >expansion.....i told you...we are in the appropriation business....if > >you don't use it you loose it.......remember????
>
>
> Excuse me? The old 11M band was swiped from us HAMS back in the 1950s > and was VERY well used and liked by hams across the globe. Would you > like a history lession?
> The FCC has no intention of giving CBers anymore bandwidth in the USA, > get a clue and 42
>

Excuse me all to hell but 11 meters was given to the Amateur Service in Region 2 after the 1947 WARC cut 20 meters; it was never a treaty band and was never available in Region 1 (Europe and Africa). When 15 meters, a treaty band out of the same WARC, was cleared of its Marine occupants in the early 50s, 11 became a wasteland and was returned to Land Mobile in the late 50s. I was on 11 in 1957-58 fiddling with A4 when 11 was the only legal place to do it and believe me it was e-m-p-t-y. As the good Baron put it, I vas dere Sharlie. We did not lose a thing anyone cared about.

You might also note that being a treaty band, the FCC lacks the authority to redesignate ten meters in any case.

Dick N&#65533;BK, Omaha

5863. Re: RADIO LAW - TACOMA BANS NON FCC....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 20:21:26 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <ajqW7.242118$3d2.11771533@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28760

Yep, and I have 98 degrees myself. Sometimes, however, if I am sick, I have 103 degrees; then I see a doctorate.

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim AA2QA

ps - Phil, do I detect a bit of jelousy in the post I am responding to?

"Steve Yodel" <BAQ_Enterprises@arqwxz.com> wrote in message news:a0ci6r$9ih$0@pita.alt.net...
> My ex-wife started out as dance instructor in the inner > city. While teaching dance to pregnant teens, she earned > 24 Doctorate degrees, ranging from exotic dance to nuclear > physics. When testifying before Congress, she would put > down sexist Congressman in a heart beat. I met her while we > were special advisors to the President. In fact, the President > so admired here that he would seek her advice before he made > any major decision. Later, we got bored being on the President's > national security team, so we both joined the Army Airborne > Rangers. She earned 13 more Doctorate degrees, one while > bailing out of a C-17 aircraft over hostile territory. The male > troops would try to put her down, but that never stopped her.
> In fact she went on to become a Navy Seal. Then we resigned > from the armed forces, opened our own business selling rare > comic books. Yes, quite a lady! She finally divorced me for > spending too much time on Usenet and ran off with Bill Clinton, > but their affair remains a secret, as the one thing my ex-wife does > fear is Hillary Clinton. Ahhh, those were the years! Now all I have > left in life is sitting here on Usenet trying to top the postings of > other people and act superior to everyone else. Geronimo!
> Up Up and away, to infinity!
>
> Steve-The-Wonderful, a ham since 1926.
>
>
>
>

5864. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 20:22:12 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a30e5_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28761

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2A2FC1.1A3A7D47@IEEE.org...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > I don't think my callsign is vulgar, as I believe there is nothing vulgar
> > about parts of the body, nothing vulgar about the physical expression of > > love between two people, nothing vulgar about language or its expression
in > > general. (I know you knew that, Cecil, but had to say it anyway).
>
> I'm using the dictionary definition of "vulgar", Kim, as being of the > common folk. Vulgar Latin is what the commoners spoke during the > Roman Empire.
> --
> cheers, CAM, W5DXP
>
>

Ah. I speak pretty vulgar Latin, also. :)

Kim W5TIT

5865. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 20:30:41 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <RrqW7.198971$WW.11523205@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28762

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message news:XZpW7.242101$3d2.11769921@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
>
> > > > if/when S25.5 goes away.
>
> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote
>
> > > First, consider this, we have two 'kinds' of licenses. Those which can
> be > > > granted and those which can't.
>
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
>
> > "Current" vs. "heritage", as it were. Novices, Tech Pluses and > > Advanceds are in the latter category.
>
> > > I believe this must be solved before or > > > during whatever else is done.
>
> > Not to be argumentative, but - why "must" it be solved?
>
> Because, simply said, the ARS is in need of cleaning up. There is no
good > reason why there needs to be 6 license classes.
>
> My thought is that when the S25.5 foes away the only distinguishing marks on > a particular license is... "Which written elements have been passed and > when?"
>
> I know that's cruel to say but that's the fact. Very few people including > the FCC want 6 license classes and 4 or 5 license classes have very little > support either. So, Jim, my proposal is not very much concerned with what
> the FCC has done in the past. or what the ARRL has done in the past.
They
> both have indicated lately that feelings have shifted dramatically.
>
> > If the license
> > structure is radically changed, a solution should be incorporated.

> > If/when Element 1 disappears, there will be no reason to distinguish > > Techs from Tech Pluses, and all of them should get Tech Plus privs, > > such as they are.
>
> True...
>
> > From Jan 1952 to Nov 1967 (approximately) the FCC issued zero new > > Advanced licenses, but allowed the ~40K hams who held Advanceds to > > renew and modify them. When the changes of Nov 1968 came, those folks > > were mighty happy they'd not been mixed in with the Generals.
>
> You and anyone else who has a heartbeat knows that no matter what happens, > no one will lose privileges. If the FCC doesn't see a significant number
of > people request/condone something then the FCC will not do it.
>
> > > So, when the morse requirements are gone we have six licenses most
with
> a > > > different count for written elements completed.
>
> > Yup. We even have some folks with the same license (Tech Plus) but > > with different written credits (pre Mar 21, 1987 vs. post that date).
> > Watta mess!
>
> > > Technician and Technician Plus have passed the same written elements.
>
> > Most of them have, but pre Mar 21 Techs have General class written > > credit.
>
> Oh... have they passed 3(B)? If so then they are General class.
>
> > > If the > > > Novice is promoted to this class by simply waiving element 2 then
the > > > situation becomes much clearer.
>
> > Yup - but is it right to give away upgrades like that?
>
> Well, yes, it is because they have been law abiding hams for years, possibly > decades and granting them Element 2 is not going to ire anyone.
>
> > ARRL proposed simply upgrading Novices and Tech Pluses to General, and
> > the FCC said no way.
>
> This was back when things were clouded by the morse requirements. In 2003 > morse requirements and morse accomplishments are null and void.

>
> > >Call this Technician class.
>
> > Alrighty.
>
> > > The General Class remains as is.
>
> > I presume holders of "old" Tech Pluses could get instant upgrades to > > General, same as today. Just present the documentation, a 605 and the > > fee.
>
> No... I think it should be automatic... they should have that now. They
ARE > Generals.
>
> At any rate, the FCC should be reclassifying everyone automatically if
the > FCC is killing the license classes.
>
> > > The difference between Advanced and Amateur Extra is element 4(B) so > waive
> > > it.
>
> > I understand it's Christmas, but that's a lot of giveaway.
>
> What are you giving away? Yes, you are waiving 4(B) but the code thingy
is > gone. Do Advanced have the same level of VE status as Amateur Extra?
>
> > >Call this Amateur Extra Class.
>
> > > Now, we have only three license classes all available for growth.
>
> > Yup. But will the FCC and the amateur radio community accept it? FCC > > has already rejected all forms of upgrade giveaways. Why should they > > accept them now?
>
> Not quite... the FCC has waived things in the past. OK, Jim, think about
it, > do you believe that newbies can pass a bunch of writtens to attain the same > class as you but that there is no way an Advanced class ham could 'clep'
a > written? That's what I'm talking about.
>
> > > This simplifies the existing band plans. I've listed the changes > resulting > > > from the above action.
> > >

> > > 1) The entire bands above 30 MHz are open to all licensees.
> >
> > Full power and all modes, I presume.
>
> I really think that, yes, there is no reason to hold the power down for
the > ex-Novices when the new person off the street gets full power.
>
> If you want to somehow limit power up there then what should be done is
that > a limit should be the norm and an additional endorsement should be given
to > ONLY those people who actually need/want to use excessive power. This > endorsement is separate from license classes and that way you aren't handing > out excessive power endorsements by rote. But this is another discussion.
> ;-)
>
> > > 2) Novice subbands on 1.25 meters and 23 centimeters disappear.
> > > 3) Technicians get 200W 28.100 to 28.300 on 10 meters.
> > > 4) Technicians get 200W CW and SSB only 28.300 to 28.500 on 10
meters.
> > > 5) Technicians get 200W CW only subbands on 15, 40, and 80 meters.
> > > 6) Advanced Class subbands on 80, 40, 20, and 15 meters disappear.
>
> > All logical consequences from the combinations suggested.
>
> > > All this is accomplished by waiving Element 2 for Novices and waiving
> > > Element 4(B) for Advanced. I think this is a very tiny price to pay
in > order > > > to have a structure which can have some basic adjustments applied
for > better
> > > transitioning of everyone throughout the ARS experience.
>
> > I see your point, but others may be outraged and the FCC may nix the > > whole free upgrade idea.
>
> Frankly, my dear... I don't give a damn... ;-)
>
> No, really, if people are outraged fine. They can 'lobby' for they're own
> 'vision' of what the ARS of the future should be. The FCC will do whatever > they perceive the shift to be.
>
> > Without those giveaways, we're back to all those subbands.

>
> The FCC should also take a look at any other nation to find out that SIX
> CLASSES ARE ABSOLUTELY NOT WANTED OR NEEDED if the FCC had to write a > proposal on organizing an ARS from scratch they (or anyone else) could
not > justify starting out with six classes.
>
> > > I now add my thoughts on the 'adjustments'... ;-)
> > >
> > > One, give the Technicians 10 meters because in light of the infringement
> of > > > freebanders it's better to have plenty of licenced operators squatting
> there > > > trying to maintain control of the band. There is no sense in being > > > exclusionary to your fellow hams. I say get the freeband candidates > licensed > > > and accountable. This would eliminate the subband on 10 meters which I
> view
> > > a good thing. As far as I'm concerned limit everyone on the band to 200 > > > watts and go after the jerks.
> >
> > I agree in part. Give everyone all of 10 meters - just limit Techs to > > 200W. (To do otherwise takes away privileges from higher class > > licenses).
>
> That's seems fair but I think that what you have to do is think about
the > HIGH POWER endorsement. and limit EVERYONE to 200 watts on 10 meters. I am > treating 10 meters as a completely different animal here because of the > state of affairs there and I'm worried about where it will be in 10 years.
>
> > > Two, give the Technicians 200 W CW only operation on the General > subands.
>
> > I agree 100%. But this was proposed formally to the FCC and they shot > > it down.
>
> In a post code testing era they won't shoot it down, they will look for > consensus on how to allow it.
>
> > An ARRL committee is proposing virtually the same thing, > > (good) plus widening the 'phone slots on those bands (bad).
>
> I agree with you here, also.

>
> > But why > > should the FCC reverse itself from its previous refusal of AH0A's very > > reasonable idea? FCC's answer was essentially "let them take Element 3 > > and get Generals".
>
> Don't do it... personally, I couldn't care less. ;-)
> (this is NOT my fight) just a suggestion.
>
> > > you want them to learn CW then put the horse before cart and the carrot
> in > > > front of the horse. This would eliminate the CW only subbands on 15, 40,
> and > > > 80 meters.
>
> > I think you mean "Novice/TechPlus subbands".
>
> They are CW only subbands on my chart. I was avoiding using the words
Novice
> and Technician Plus in my post S25.5 world. Besides, you know what I meant.
>
> > The main problems I see are:
>
> > 1) the FCC has already shot down many of your ideas
>
> Tough, they'll have to have good reasons to shoot them down, again. As a > package the whole thing is pure and simple. If they can't handle that
and > they insist on helter skelter then they can save their cab fare... they're > already there.
>
> > 2) free upgrades may not get much support from other hams
>
> I think other hams see what's happening... the new ones come in and get
to > general and extra very quickly and the elders are being 'corraled' out
in > their pastures.
>
> > 3) the big opportunities of the post-2003 era are not being addressed > > adequately.
>
> I didn't meant to imply my adjustments where all that is needed. ;-)
>
> > How about this:
>

> > Right now:
>
> > 1) Give all Novices and Tech Pluses 200 W CW only on all nonphone
> > General HF/MF bands, 160-10. (FCC will probably balk at this)
>
> FCC will go with the consensus... build a consensus... what does the ARRL
> say what does NCI and the Quarter Century folks and the VE orgs say????
This
> would happen if the pressure comes from everywhere.
>
> > 2) Allow all "old" Tech Pluses to get Generals by a simple mail or > > online procedure, instead of forcing them to attend VE sessions. (FCC > > will hate this one, too).
>
> This should be automatic. The FCC should realize they ARE GENERALS!!!!
The
> FCC should issue the licenses. Much cleaner and simpler if they run the > computers to cough up the licenses and issue them. Oh and don't bring up > their budget. It'd be much cheaper also.
>
> > 3) Resolve the 40 meter mess at WRC 2003 to get a worldwide exclusive
> > amateur allocation, even if it gives away spectrum. 7000-7200
> > worldwide exclusive amateur is better for everyone than 7000-7300 in > > Region 2 and 7000-7100 everywhere else.
>
> No question about this one!!!!
>
> > 4) Develop bandplans for all HF/MF that separate CW, digital and > > analog voice/image modes.
>
> Jim, I'm confused, the sentence doesn't make sense. Do you mean separate > digital from analog... voice from image...
>
> > After S25.5 is gone:
>
> > 1) Three classes of license: Basic, Intermediate, Full (change the > > names if you don't like them)
>
> I would think about a high power endorsement in ALL three classes. Maybe
the > endorsement is awarded to all existing licensees and all future would
have > to earn them. I believe, going foward, the handing out willy nilly high > power should be avoided.
>
> > 2) HF/MF bands split into subbands by mode and split again by license > > class. (Some bands, like 10 and the WARC bands, may be split by mode > > only).
>

> > 3) Basic license test is simple 20-25 question exam on regs, > > procedures, and safety. Very little technical and RF exposure stuff, > > main purpose is to keep Basics out of trouble. Basics get 100-150 > > watts on HF/MF and 25 watts or so on VHF/UHF (determined by RF > > exposure limits). Modes are CW, SSB, FM, PSK31 and maybe some of the > > other common data modes like packet. Basics cannot be VEs, control ops > > for repeaters, or be club trustees. Basics get all VHF/UHF and about > > half of HF/MF spectrum. Basic is meant as the entry level.
>
> Perhaps, the bands could be 10, 12, 17, and 30 meters. What do you think?
>
> The power limit should be high enough that using the normal HF rigs that
do > approximately 100 watts or so are totally legal for the newbies not have
to > worry. Same in the UHF normal rigs as built now should be allowed.
>
> What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???
>
> By SSB do you mean the same as I have on 10 meter now...
> J3E single-sideband supressed carrier
> R3E single sideband reduced carrier > but excluding the other 25 phone modes, including AM (which CB'ers
have),
> single sideband full carrier, and MCW "for providing telegraphy practice > interspersed with speech" as excluded in Part 97 now for no good reason???
>
> Oh... I see you arbitrarily included FM.
>
> I don't think you could subdivide 'data' the modes aren't even invented;
> yet, you want to exclude them... now THAT'S arbitrary... ;-)
>
> > 4) Intermediate license test is more complex 50-60 question exam on > > regs, procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical and RF > > exposure stuff, with some regs to cover expanded privs. Intermediates > > get 300-400 watts on all bands, all modes. Intermediates can be VEs
> > after qualification (see below), control ops for repeaters, and club > > trustees. Intermediates get all VHF/UHF and about three quarters (or > > more) of HF/MF spectrum. Intermediate requires at least one year > > experience as a Basic.
>
> Incrementing the power is a good way to not just grant the high power willy > nilly.
>
> > 5) Full license test is quite complex 100-120 question exam on regs, > > procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical, with some > > regs to cover expanded privs. Fulls get all privileges, modes, bands, > > etc. except that Fulls can be VEs only after qualification (see > > below). Full license requires ar least one year (preferably two years)

> > as an Intermediate.
>
> Sounds reasonable to me.
>
> > 6) All licenses are 10 year and fully renewable/modifiable.
> > 7) Basics have six-character calls, Intermediates have five- or > > six-character calls, and Fulls have four-, five-, or six-character > > calls.
> > 8) There is a separate 30-35 question test for VE qualification, open > > to Intermediates and Fulls, which allows them to be VEs.
> > 9) Existing Novices become Basics, existing Techs, Tech Pluses, > > Generals and Advanceds become Intermediates, and existing Extras > > become Fulls. Experience requirement is not waived for existing hams > > to upgrade.
>
> > End result is a system that is easy to get into (Basic is envisioned > > as a 21st century version of the Novice) and has reasonable but > > meaningful steps to reach full privileges.
>
> > Of course this probably has even less chance than your ideas, Rich.
>
> There is a problem with telling Advanced and Generals that you're reducing > their power limits arbitrarily across the board. but that's your sell,
not > mine... ;-)
>
> I'll take one more stab at it later. I'll take my ideas and your class names > and quite a few of your ideas. Now, be more specific on which MF/HF bands
> Basic gets and which modes should be kept away from the basics, and why...
> ;-)
>
> Another go-round and we should have something solid. Then a look around
to > see if it aligns with some other groups/advocates to see if it couldn't
be > presented to the powers that be with some backing. Hey, who knows....
>
> Rich
>
>
>

I have a better idea. On the day, freeze all the Classes and start with AB and C. And issue distinguished callsigns. So a brand new instant Extra could be KA42BK. Existing Techs and Plusses without the moxie to upgrade would be given punctuation as well. There is something to be said for " Hi, this is Rich N41 Interrobang Quebec Juliet Xray.

Serves you right for the cleanliness fetish.

Dick N&#65533;BK

5866. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 21:16:35 UTC
From: "James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <7ldk2uklq7qh0pn8vmi718luvi3nv7ha89@4ax.com>
Source record: 28763

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 13:40:46 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
>news:3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org...
>>
>> A vulgar callsign is an >> opportunity to teach youngsters about random groupings
>> of alpha-numeric characters.
>> --
>> cheers, CAM, W5DXP
>>
>>
>
>I don't think my callsign is vulgar, as I believe there is nothing vulgar
>about parts of the body, nothing vulgar about the physical expression of >love between two people, nothing vulgar about language or its expression in >general. (I know you knew that, Cecil, but had to say it anyway).
>
>I think that if a kid recognizes anything in my callsign (and I think kids'
>and young adults' minds are much cleaner than those of the supposed
>"gentlemen" on this newsgroup) that is "dirty" or "vulgar" or "nasty" then >it is probably an extension of what they have learned from adults closest to >them. When my brother and I used to giggle at pictures in the National >Geographic magazine, it was our mom or dad that would ask us what did we >find so amusing about the human body? My brother would usually laugh and >point at a picture of some nude woman and state, "that is nasty." At which >point my mother would explain to him all the reasons why it wasn't nasty at >all. It gave us something to think about.
>
>Dave, Larry, Dick C., and people like them would probably see nothing but >"nasty" in a person walking on a beach in the nude, or nothing but "nasty" >in a woman who nurses her child in public, or nothing but "nasty" at the >idea of a man and woman making love together. They miss opportunities to >see beauty when it is all around them. My callsign is intended for fun--and >that does not have to include nasty. Nasty is in their minds, not mine.
>And, it is also not in the minds of many, many people I have talked to on >the air.
>
>To believe that my callsign is vulgar, does not belong in the ARS, and >should not have been requested by me and/or issued by the FCC is to focus on
>"nasty" or "vulgar" ideas of what my callsign is. I choose to ignore the
>"nasty" or "vulgar" minded, because my callsign isn't.
>

>Kim W5TIT
>
Kim, there is nothing wrong with your callsign. I can't believe these dirty old men are making such a fuss over it. Enjoy your callsign. There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose. I think it's great if you like it and that's all that really matters. Only in America are we FREE to choose what we like or dislike about things, people, etc. etc.
As I saw in another message that someone posted, your callsign is made up of letters, not words. In your case it just happens to spell a slang word for a part of the human body (breast), that both men and women have. The attitude of these people is part of what is wrong with this country now days. The best way to handle these people is to just ignore them like we do the "dead keyers" on the repeaters. When they realize that they are not antagonizing anyone, they will go away and find something else to complain about.

You and I don't live that far from each other. Your on the east side of Dallas and I live just to the north of Dallas in Richardson.

James N5SKU
Regards,

James

Note: To reply by email, remove the "X" in the reply to address.

5867. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 21:25:21 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A4049.1E3F11FA@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28764

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Your new quest, Don. Q., is to advise us on how many of the 17k+ spell > > something which could be viewed by others as vulgar.
>
> That's easy, Dave. Everyone is perfectly free to view each and > every callsign as being vulgar. Vulgarity is in the mind of > the reader. Vulgarity doesn't exist independently in any
> callsign.

So where I see a few vulgar calls, you see only an opportunity for 17k+ vulgar calls. That is certainly an interesting concept.

> Non-English speaking people would have to have it explained > to them before they could possibly find it vulgar. Seems that > proves the word is not objectively vulgar. All you have to do to > solve the problem is, instead of morbidly looking for vulgarity > everywhere 24 hours a day, try looking for goodness, kindness, > love, and mercy. Most of your vulgar thoughts would disappear.

Just how many non-English speaking hams have licenses issued by the FCC, Cecil?

> Dave, you are like the unfortunate soul who sees vulgar pictures > in ink blots. It is all in your mind. Try switching from vulgar > thoughts to beautiful thoughts and thus make the world a better > place instead of the cesspool in which you live.

Cecil, this newsgroup is about as close as I get to a cesspool. You haven't even guessed right in your comparison of me to a fellow who sees vulgar pictures in ink blot tests. I'm more likely to see a buffalo hide drying on a tepee wall.

Dave K8MN

5868. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 21:26:46 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A409E.59FF6E67@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28765

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?
> >
> > Isn't the answer apparent?
>
> Yes it is, Dave, and that's why we have a Bill of Rights to > protect us from statists like you who would deny us our > inalienable rights.

Well, my foggy friend, you don't even have an inalienable right to an amateur radio license so I don't know how you'd have one for a call of choice. Darn! Another perfectly good rant ruined.

Dave K8MN

5869. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 21:35:14 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A429A.F705F990@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28766

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On 26 Dec 2001 06:52:18 -0800, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
> >CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2954AE.34992319@IEEE.org>...
> >
> >> If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?
> >
> >Nope. Nor to anyone else. Nor would I issue similar inappropriate callsigns.
> >
> >Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.
>
> In other words, simply because the law would require you to do > something, you would refuse anyway because it "isn't right" in your > mind?
>
> And you wonder why many of us think you aren't playing with a > full deck!

You'll note, Jim, that this is the kindly prof who only responds in kind. He never throws the first stone and he is as supportive of your right to express an opinion as he is supportive of Kim's ideas. How do we know these things? Because he told us so.

Dave K8MN

5870. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 21:37:30 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A4322.1600E2F7@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28767

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 15:15:08 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Rick Adams wrote:
> >>
> >> On Tue, 25 Dec 2001 17:17:10 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> >> wrote:
> >>
> >> >Some folks believe that professional baseball players who sell > >> >autographs to kids are heroes. My heroes are genuine heroes.
> >>
> >> Who?
> >
> >Folks other than professional baseball players who sell autographs to > >kids.
>
> That means Ted Bundy, Charles Manson, Adolph Hitler, Saddam
> Hussein, and Osama bin Laden are among your heros.

It does? What a perfectly peculiar and illogical thing to say!

> And you pretend to have enough taste to appraise Kim's call > sign?
>
> Sheesh!

You're babbling again.

> >> >You seem to have some peculiar idea in your head that I'm not happy.
> >> >I'm happy as a clam, Kim. Right now I'm happy that the FCC doesn't yet > >> >issue four letter suffixes.
> >>
> >> Are you afraid that the urge to apply for k8dumb would be > >> overpowering?
> >
> >You thought of it. It's yours by right.
>
> I'll forfeit it for you Dave--you deserve it so much more than
> I ever will.

I've not indicated any desire to change my call. You had previously mentioned on several occasions that you might change yours. Go for it and don't be too sure of yourself on whether or not you deserve the call.

Dave K8MN

5871. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 21:40:18 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A43C9.5B613C6@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28768

N2EY wrote:
>
> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:<lGIV7.239252$3d2.11593385@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> > news:20011224100327.27168.00000589@mb-cb.aol.com...
> > > In article <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson"
> > <wa6vse@fast.net>
> > > writes:
> > >
> > > What should be discussed NOW is what the US license structure will > > become > > > if/when S25.5 goes away. Some folks want just one class of license, > > while > > > others want two classes at most. Some say "just drop Element 1 and leave
> > the > > > rest alone". Lots of ideas and possibilities, but I don't see much real > > > discussion about the subject.
> > >
> > > General question to all: What are YOUR ideas?
> > >
> > > 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
> This is the post I shoulda answered first....
> > >
> >
> > The trick is and always has been bringing in the newbies and letting them
> > soak in the sauce until they can go on to 20 meters without stirring up > > the OTs or develop a skin thick enough to withstand a W2OY.
>
> 20 meters or 2 meters...
>
> > It is not so > > much keeping them off as keeping them from being roasted before their > > time. So we have seen over the years time gaps between classes which to > > my mind is more an act of mercy to the newbie than a barrier. You can > > test til your butt sucks wind but no one is prepared for the > > rough-and-tumble of a good pile up, encountering some net that thinks it > > is sanctioned, or the crochety old fart.
>
> Plus all the reverse.
>
> > And there is and continues to be > > the need to show a good face to the rest of the world.

>
> That most of all. One thing to keep in mind at all times when on the > air is "what if an enemy of ham radio is taping this to play as an > example of why hams should lose their allocations?"
> >
> > So in principle at least I would favor a three class system: a > > bread-and-milk Tech much like we have now but give them 28.1-28.5, cut the > > power limit to 50 max. and keep them out of non-channelized VHF/UHF/SHF,
>
> See other posts by me this date this thread.
>
> > an entry-level ticket resembling the present General with 200 watts max, > > and a senior ticket much like the Extra but with a one-year waiting > > period.
>
> Three levels, yeah, but more differentiation.
>
> > The present structure is not really half bad except that it is > > unkind to those passing the Extra more or less out of the box. The junior > > ticket has to include regs both U. S. and International and the usual > > safety and regulatory stuff so I doubt if Element 3 would change a whole > > lot. The trick is Element 4.
>
> Yup.
> >
> > Just how technical is technical? Damfino. The real thing with Element 4
> > is a proper ceremony for pontification so one should probably deal with > > impedence matching, Ohm's or Joule's laws in various permutations, a bit > > on angle modulation, non-linearity and how to detect and prevent it, and > > the inevitable VE questions.
>
> Maybe. What happens when No Charts International gets going?
> >
> > The issue is not whom to keep out although we all have our candidates but > > how to blend the newbie into a hobby with traditions that predate the > > Titanic partially to keep him from being a major pain in the butt but > > mostly to give him time to orient himself for the long haul; marching > > people thru the hobby and out looks good on paper but does not in the long > > run accomplish a hell of a lot.
>
> I agree 100%.
>
> > I suspect that the aging vat effect is > > one reason that the 5wpm restructuring was largely a wet firecracker.
>
> Nah. Lots of other stuff going on.
>
> The bread-and-milk ("honeydo") attraction of amateur VHF/UHF that > drove much of the '80s growth is all but gone with cellphones. Yes, > there are areas where cellphones don't work and they do cost money but > most people nowadays have one anyway so they get a familytalk plan and > done. FRS and GMRS suck up a lot of that sorta stuff, too.

>
> Those who simply want cheap longdistance electronic communication have > email and newsgroups and websites. The odea that some sort of amateur > wireless internet will compete with AOL or Earthlink is simply > misguided.
>
> What's left are those who want RADIO, for whatever reason. Medium is > the message and all that.
>
> > It
> > is known among marketers and has been for 30 years that the average CBer > > buys five rigs before the last one goes into the garage and to a large > > extent we have seen that when the Tech is touted as entry-level which it > > presently is not but is rather a dirty trick played by the FCC and ARRL.
>
> Actually the FCC did an end-around on the League back in 1990 anyway.
> The trend towards entry-by-VHF was in place by then anyway.
>
> One real problem nobody talks about much is the addytoods of those who > come to ham radio with "experience" in other services.
> >
> > Sum and substance: does the hobby need protection from the newbie or the > > newbie need a bit of protection from a hobby that can eat one up?
>
> Both.

McCollum sometimes has a way with a phrase, doesn't he? I like it.

Dave K8MN

5872. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 21:42:02 UTC
From: N2EY@aol.com
Message-ID: <975b4ea9.0112261342.5c545886@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28769

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2A1342.1587B4EF@IEEE.org>...
> N2EY wrote:
> >
> > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> > > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
> >
> > There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> > They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
>
> It doesn't matter unless you are trying to mimic "1984"'s thought > police.

Yes, it does matter. If there is no choice, the licensee bears no repsonsibility. But Kim specifically chose that call for reasons that have nothing to do with the good of the ARS.

[Kim's call]

>is a valid callsign.

Only because the FCC has made a mistake in issuing it. Do you believe the FCC is infallible, Cecil?

> It doesn't matter objectively
> if it was chosen or issued at random.

Yes, it does. The person who makes a choice has to take some responsibility for the choice.

The FCC does NOT issue that particular suffix (and others) in sequence or at random. It must be specifically requested through the vanity call program.

[Kim's call]

>is NOT a word!!!

Exactly. So your rant about "parts of words" doesn't apply. QED.

> If you are going to prohibit callsigns where a part of the
> callsign spells something, then you need to prohibit words
> where a part of the word spells something.

Nope. Since Kim's call is not a word (you say so yourself) your claim is baseless. Illogical. Does not apply.
>
> What is wrong with issuing the callsign and then allowing

> everyone to choose to think what they choose to think about it?

The image of the ARS is damaged. It's an inappropriate callsign.

> Choosing to think dirty thoughts is a choice freely made by > the thinker.

Who said anyhting about "dirty" thoughts? Not me.

Look through my posts, and you will see that I have not referred to Kim's callsign as dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy. Nor have I described Kim or anyone else in those terms. The term I use for the callsign is "inappropriate".

What's wrong with choosing a callsign that is appropriate to the community standards of the amateur radio service and reflects positively upon that service?

> Nobody's forcing you to think those dirty thoughts.

What "dirty thoughts"? I challenge you to produce a post where I say that I have "dirty thoughts" because of any callsign. (maybe KD1RT would have that effect....)

73 de Jim, N2EY

5873. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 21:50:07 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A4617.1B81193A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28770

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org...
> >
> > A vulgar callsign is an > > opportunity to teach youngsters about random groupings
> > of alpha-numeric characters.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
> >
> >
>
> I don't think my callsign is vulgar, as I believe there is nothing vulgar
> about parts of the body, nothing vulgar about the physical expression of > love between two people, nothing vulgar about language or its expression in > general. (I know you knew that, Cecil, but had to say it anyway).
>
> I think that if a kid recognizes anything in my callsign (and I think kids'
> and young adults' minds are much cleaner than those of the supposed
> "gentlemen" on this newsgroup) that is "dirty" or "vulgar" or "nasty" then > it is probably an extension of what they have learned from adults closest to > them. When my brother and I used to giggle at pictures in the National > Geographic magazine, it was our mom or dad that would ask us what did we > find so amusing about the human body? My brother would usually laugh and > point at a picture of some nude woman and state, "that is nasty." At which > point my mother would explain to him all the reasons why it wasn't nasty at > all. It gave us something to think about.
>
> Dave, Larry, Dick C., and people like them would probably see nothing but
> "nasty" in a person walking on a beach in the nude,

Kim, about the only thing nastier than ME walking nude on a beach would be the thought of YOU walking nude on a beach. We're both past our expiration date. There would likely be folks willing to pay us just to avoid seeing us nude on a beach. Keep talking about it and I'm sure someone will take up a collection beginning right about now.

> or nothing but "nasty"
> in a woman who nurses her child in public, or nothing but "nasty" at
> the idea of a man and woman making love together.

Oh, horse hockey, Kim. I don't believe that any of us any problem with an idea of people making love. I don't won't it broadcast via ATV and don't think we need an audio book version on 20m.

> They miss opportunities to > see beauty when it is all around them. My callsign is intended for > fun--and > that does not have to include nasty. Nasty is in their minds, not > mine.

Sure, Kim. That's why you chose your call over W5FAT, K5LID or N5DOH.
It wasn't for the shock value, it was purely for the "fun".

> And, it is also not in the minds of many, many people I have talked to on
> the air.

How do you know? Do you e-mail all of them or just ask them at the beginning or end of each QSO?

> To believe that my callsign is vulgar, does not belong in the ARS, and > should not have been requested by me and/or issued by the FCC is to focus on
> "nasty" or "vulgar" ideas of what my callsign is. I choose to ignore the
> "nasty" or "vulgar" minded, because my callsign isn't.

Right. You're all about butterflies and sunrises. That's not why you chose your call according to your own admission.

Dave K8MN

5874. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 21:56:27 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A4793.B99A5AAA@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28771

CAM wrote:
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > I don't think my callsign is vulgar, as I believe there is nothing vulgar
> > about parts of the body, nothing vulgar about the physical expression of > > love between two people, nothing vulgar about language or its expression in > > general. (I know you knew that, Cecil, but had to say it anyway).
>
> I'm using the dictionary definition of "vulgar", Kim, as being of the > common folk. Vulgar Latin is what the commoners spoke during the > Roman Empire.

Naw, you're not. You are using a word origin and not the common, modern definition of the word. It was fairly evident that when anyone here referred to Kim's call as vulgar, he was not making a statement to the effect that it was common or that is was intoned in Latin.

You can do better.

Dave K8MN

Dave K8MN

5875. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:00:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A486C.2AF12EBE@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28773

Dave Heil wrote:
> You haven't even guessed right in your comparison of me to a fellow who > sees vulgar pictures in ink blot tests. I'm more likely to see a > buffalo hide drying on a tepee wall.

Too bad you cannot extend that lack of vulgarity to this newsgroup.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5876. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:00:35 UTC
From: "Jim Bromley, K7JEB" <j.e.bromley@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <7MrW7.242256$3d2.11779071@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28772

Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net> wrote:

> It could be that among many things, I suppose. Have you ever seen flitting > tits? That would be tits flitting all about.

That reminds me of a story I heard about Earl Stanley Gardner, creator of "Perry Mason".

It seems he was traveling around the world and found himself in a large African city for a few days. News of the presence of this well-known author spread rapidly and he was invited to attend a dramatization of the climatic courtroom scene from one of his books by the director of the local theatrical troupe.

The play followed the book closely for about 15 or 20 minutes.
But right in the middle of an exchange between the Perry Mason
character and District Attorney Burger, a bare-breasted woman ran through the "courtroom" screaming incoherently and waving her arms. The play then proceeded normally, but this interruption happened several more times during the course of the presentation.

Gardner mentioned these occurrences to the director and commented about remaining true to his work. The director assured him that they had been assiduously faithful in their adaptation.
He opened the book and pointed to a sentence that said:

"Upon Mason's asking the question, a nervous titter ran through the courtroom".

--
Jim Bromley, K7JEB k7jeb@arrl.net
Glendale, Arizona

5877. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:02:02 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A48DA.C573077@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28774

Dave Heil wrote:
> Well, my foggy friend, you don't even have an inalienable right to an > amateur radio license so I don't know how you'd have one for a call of > choice.

I'm sure vanity callsigns are covered by the First Amendment. Why else would the FCC issue callsigns that they consider vulgar?
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5878. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:03:44 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A4948.B0257262@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28775

James R. DeLoach wrote:

> Kim, there is nothing wrong with your callsign. I can't believe these > dirty old men are making such a fuss over it. Enjoy your callsign.
> There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would > have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.

But she didn't choose one of 'em. Oh--you must've meant THAT kind of
call!

> I think it's great if you like it and that's all that really matters.
> Only in America are we FREE to choose what we like or dislike about > things, people, etc. etc.
> As I saw in another message that someone posted, your callsign is > made up of letters, not words. In your case it just happens to spell > a slang word for a part of the human body (breast), that both men and > women have. The attitude of these people is part of what is wrong > with this country now days. The best way to handle these people > is to just ignore them like we do the "dead keyers" on the repeaters.
> When they realize that they are not antagonizing anyone, they will > go away and find something else to complain about.

Repeaters? We don't need no steenking repeaters! Actually, the best way for Kim to handle it would have been not to begin braying about her nudge wink reasons for obtaining her call and to clam up about it.
Kim doesn't clam up for anyone or anything.

Dave K8MN

5879. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:04:06 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <57315826F822BCE4.7ADDC31F767911FD.5F14774AD700FDEB@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28776

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:37:30 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>> >> >Some folks believe that professional baseball players who sell >> >> >autographs to kids are heroes. My heroes are genuine heroes.
>> >>
>> >> Who?
>> >
>> >Folks other than professional baseball players who sell autographs to >> >kids.
>>
>> That means Ted Bundy, Charles Manson, Adolph Hitler, Saddam
>> Hussein, and Osama bin Laden are among your heros.
>
>It does? What a perfectly peculiar and illogical thing to say!

On the contrary--it's COMPLETELY logical. Here:

Let P represent the set of all professional baseball players.

Let N represent the set of all people who are NOT professional baseball players.

Let K represent the subset of N who are serial killers.

Then it follows that NOT P=N.

Given (above) you find NOT P to be your heros, it follows that you find N to be your heros. And since K is a subset of N, it also follows that you find K to be your heros.

Therefore, because all the individuals named above are members of the subset K, it follows that all of them are your heros and the argument is proven.

I agree that it's peculiar--most of us don't wish to emulate
Ted Bundy (although you may personally wish to when it comes to Cecil, Kim, and myself, but . . .) or view him as our "hero" but while it's peculiar (come to think of it, so are most of your statements) it certainly isn't illogical.

>> And you pretend to have enough taste to appraise Kim's call >> sign?
>>
>> Sheesh!
>
>You're babbling again.

Really?

Where?

>I've not indicated any desire to change my call. You had previously >mentioned on several occasions that you might change yours.

Yup!

And if you'll recall ALL my choices were 1x3s--which happens to be my preferred format for a new call sign (I have no desire for a 1x2, a 2x1, or another 2x2). Sorry, but a 1x4 would be as ackward as my wife's 2x3 to use.

Besides, keeping that sign from you would be cruel. What sign could _possibly_ fit you better (well, maybe W8ASS, but you don't like expressive call signs).

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5880. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:05:15 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A49A3.AE2E5363@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28777

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > You haven't even guessed right in your comparison of me to a fellow who > > sees vulgar pictures in ink blot tests. I'm more likely to see a > > buffalo hide drying on a tepee wall.
>
> Too bad you cannot extend that lack of vulgarity to this newsgroup.

I can't stop you from posting so there is little I can do about it.

Dave K8MN

5881. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:06:26 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A49EA.329BF0B5@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28778

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Well, my foggy friend, you don't even have an inalienable right to an > > amateur radio license so I don't know how you'd have one for a call of > > choice.
>
> I'm sure vanity callsigns are covered by the First Amendment. Why > else would the FCC issue callsigns that they consider vulgar?

Dodge ball. No one has a inalienable right to a call or a license.

Dave K8MN

5882. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:06:39 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2E98927437F3EEA0.65CC15F63BAA64F9.0F69929B54EF7593@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28779

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:25:21 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Cecil, this newsgroup is about as close as I get to a cesspool.

Really?

Is that why you like it here so much--seems "homey?"

>You haven't even guessed right in your comparison of me to a fellow who >sees vulgar pictures in ink blot tests. I'm more likely to see a >buffalo hide drying on a tepee wall.

Depending on the Rorschach blot you saw it in, you could be revealing quite a bit about your inner feelings there, Dave. Are you sure you mean that?

Rick<--who DOESN'T see buffalo hides on card 07a

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5883. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:11:09 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A4AFD.CDA3172E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28781

N2EY wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote: > >is a valid callsign.
>
> Only because the FCC has made a mistake in issuing it. Do you believe > the FCC is infallible, Cecil?

Well, maybe you should be ragging on the FCC instead of Kim.

> The FCC does NOT issue that particular suffix (and others) in sequence > or at random. It must be specifically requested through the vanity
> call program.

But in the process of issuing any amateur radio callsign, the FCC endorses that callsign as suitable and appropriate for identification on the ham bands.

> The image of the ARS is damaged. It's an inappropriate callsign.

Pure unadulterated BS. Your dirty mind is the problem, not Kim's call.

> Who said anyhting about "dirty" thoughts? Not me.

You are the one choosing to think dirty thoughts when you see Kim's
callsign.

> What's wrong with choosing a callsign that is appropriate to the > community standards of the amateur radio service and reflects > positively upon that service?

Kim's callsign is definitely appropriate to the community standards here in Texas. Texas women have beautiful tits.

> > Nobody's forcing you to think those dirty thoughts.
>
> What "dirty thoughts"?

The thought that Kim's callsign is dirty. The reason that you think it is inappropriate is that you think it is dirty. You don't think my callsign is dirty - therefore you are not complaining about mine.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

5884. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:11:35 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <74B09328A5F1AE72.C0D56E19E0A29FB0.2848A208328290AC@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28780

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 13:49:54 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>That is correct. When I say "W5TIT" on the air, it either takes some >thinking or writing it down before it is even recognized as having a twist >to it. There are many folks I've talked to on the air who never even say a >word or indicate in any way that they take for anything but a callsign.

Perhaps that's the problem here, Kim.

Nearly everyone who is riding you about your call sign is also a cw buff (or at least I _believe_ that to be the case). Perhaps they tend to think in abbreviations and letter combinations where the rest of us think in terms of spoken words.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5885. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:12:27 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A4B51.95EB76AC@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28782

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:37:30 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >> >> >Some folks believe that professional baseball players who sell > >> >> >autographs to kids are heroes. My heroes are genuine heroes.
> >> >>
> >> >> Who?
> >> >
> >> >Folks other than professional baseball players who sell autographs to > >> >kids.
> >>
> >> That means Ted Bundy, Charles Manson, Adolph Hitler, Saddam
> >> Hussein, and Osama bin Laden are among your heros.
> >
> >It does? What a perfectly peculiar and illogical thing to say!
>
> On the contrary--it's COMPLETELY logical. Here:
>
> Let P represent the set of all professional baseball players.
>
> Let N represent the set of all people who are NOT professional > baseball players.
>
> Let K represent the subset of N who are serial killers.
>
> Then it follows that NOT P=N.
>
> Given (above) you find NOT P to be your heros, it follows that > you find N to be your heros. And since K is a subset of N, it also > follows that you find K to be your heros.
>
> Therefore, because all the individuals named above are members > of the subset K, it follows that all of them are your heros and the > argument is proven.
>
> I agree that it's peculiar--most of us don't wish to emulate
> Ted Bundy (although you may personally wish to when it comes to Cecil, > Kim, and myself, but . . .) or view him as our "hero" but while it's > peculiar (come to think of it, so are most of your statements) it > certainly isn't illogical.

I guess you failed logic in school as you've failed it here. Look at my statement. Do you see the word "all" in front of the word "folks"? You're right, I don't see it either. You must feel like a complete fool.

> >> And you pretend to have enough taste to appraise Kim's call > >> sign?
> >>
> >> Sheesh!
> >
> >You're babbling again.
>
> Really?
>
> Where?

Right here--same place as usual.

> >I've not indicated any desire to change my call. You had previously > >mentioned on several occasions that you might change yours.
>
> Yup!
>
> And if you'll recall ALL my choices were 1x3s--which happens > to be my preferred format for a new call sign (I have no desire for a > 1x2, a 2x1, or another 2x2). Sorry, but a 1x4 would be as ackward as > my wife's 2x3 to use.
>
> Besides, keeping that sign from you would be cruel. What sign > could _possibly_ fit you better (well, maybe W8ASS, but you don't like > expressive call signs).

You must have missed it. I've indicated no desire to change my call.

> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

I'm pondering this one.

Dave K8MN

5886. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:16:01 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2A4C29.7B58B263@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28783

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:25:21 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Cecil, this newsgroup is about as close as I get to a cesspool.
>
> Really?
>
> Is that why you like it here so much--seems "homey?"

What is your particular reason for being here? You seem to enjoy it.

> >You haven't even guessed right in your comparison of me to a fellow who > >sees vulgar pictures in ink blot tests. I'm more likely to see a > >buffalo hide drying on a tepee wall.
>
> Depending on the Rorschach blot you saw it in, you could be > revealing quite a bit about your inner feelings there, Dave. Are you > sure you mean that?

Just on a few, Rick. On some, I see pancakes drizzled with maple syrup and melted butter. On others I can see rain puddling on the floor below an old yellow rain slicker. Then there is the one with Oprah.

> Rick<--who DOESN'T see buffalo hides on card 07a

That's Oprah.

Dave K8MN

5887. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:36:45 UTC
From: w1rfi@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011226173645.00794.00000989@mb-cv.aol.com>
Source record: 28784

From: Dick Carroll dixie@townsqr.com

>> It appears quite simple. Those that sing Larry's praises on rrap are told >>they deserve congratulations for passing the 5 wpm test. Those that do not >>praise Larry receive the badmouth treatment.

>> It appears to me that in Larry's view, it really IS all about Larry.

>Ed I would have expected a more intelligent analysis than that, given that >you do >work CW. But then again, you also work at ARRL HQ.....

You know, it does appear that you are not capable of offering much of meaning past "I know but I am not going to tell" and "he only says that because he works at ARRL HQ." Didn't we have this same non-conversation a few months ago?

73,
Ed Hare, W1RFI

5888. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:41:56 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a5376_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28785

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2A4617.1B81193A@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > news:3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org...
> > >
> > > A vulgar callsign is an > > > opportunity to teach youngsters about random groupings
> > > of alpha-numeric characters.
> > > --
> > > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
> > >
> > >
> >
> > I don't think my callsign is vulgar, as I believe there is nothing vulgar
> > about parts of the body, nothing vulgar about the physical expression of > > love between two people, nothing vulgar about language or its expression
in > > general. (I know you knew that, Cecil, but had to say it anyway).
> >
> > I think that if a kid recognizes anything in my callsign (and I think
kids'
> > and young adults' minds are much cleaner than those of the supposed > > "gentlemen" on this newsgroup) that is "dirty" or "vulgar" or "nasty"
then > > it is probably an extension of what they have learned from adults closest to > > them. When my brother and I used to giggle at pictures in the National > > Geographic magazine, it was our mom or dad that would ask us what did we > > find so amusing about the human body? My brother would usually laugh
and > > point at a picture of some nude woman and state, "that is nasty." At which > > point my mother would explain to him all the reasons why it wasn't nasty
at > > all. It gave us something to think about.
> >
> > Dave, Larry, Dick C., and people like them would probably see nothing
but
> > "nasty" in a person walking on a beach in the nude,
>
> Kim, about the only thing nastier than ME walking nude on a beach would > be the thought of YOU walking nude on a beach. We're both past our > expiration date. There would likely be folks willing to pay us just to > avoid seeing us nude on a beach. Keep talking about it and I'm sure > someone will take up a collection beginning right about now.
```

>

Well at least you show some humor, above. But, I don't think anyone who is the kind of human being I'd admire would be running from either of us.

> >
> > or nothing but "nasty"
> > in a woman who nurses her child in public, or nothing but "nasty" at > > the idea of a man and woman making love together.
>
> Oh, horse hockey, Kim. I don't believe that any of us any problem with > an idea of people making love. I don't won't it broadcast via ATV and > don't think we need an audio book version on 20m.
>

So, don't broadcast it. We have movies for the satisfaction of voyeurism.

> >
> > They miss opportunities to > > see beauty when it is all around them. My callsign is intended for > fun--and > > that does not have to include nasty. Nasty is in their minds, not > mine.
>
> Sure, Kim. That's why you chose your call over W5FAT, K5LID or N5DOH.
> It wasn't for the shock value, it was purely for the "fun".
>

I like the N5DOH.

> >
> > And, it is also not in the minds of many, many people I have talked to
on > > the air.
>
> How do you know? Do you e-mail all of them or just ask them at the > beginning or end of each QSO?
>

Their non-asking is enough for me. Do you spend a lot of time emailing, Dave, to see if people thought you were offensive on the air? Can't you just take it for granted that if they don't say you were offensive, you probably weren't?

> >
> > To believe that my callsign is vulgar, does not belong in the ARS, and > > should not have been requested by me and/or issued by the FCC is to focus on
> > "nasty" or "vulgar" ideas of what my callsign is. I choose to ignore

the
> > "nasty" or "vulgar" minded, because my callsign isn't.
>
>
> Right. You're all about butterflies and sunrises. That's not why you > chose your call according to your own admission.
>
> Dave K8MN

You mean butterflies and sunrises can't be fun? Gosh.

Kim W5TIT

5889. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:45:52 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a545a_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28786

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2A4948.B0257262@earthlink.net...
> James R. DeLoach wrote:
>
> > Kim, there is nothing wrong with your callsign. I can't believe these > > dirty old men are making such a fuss over it. Enjoy your callsign.
> > There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would > > have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.
>
> But she didn't choose one of 'em. Oh--you must've meant THAT kind of
> call!
>
> > I think it's great if you like it and that's all that really matters.
> > Only in America are we FREE to choose what we like or dislike about > > things, people, etc. etc.
> > As I saw in another message that someone posted, your callsign is > > made up of letters, not words. In your case it just happens to spell
> > a slang word for a part of the human body (breast), that both men and > > women have. The attitude of these people is part of what is wrong > > with this country now days. The best way to handle these people > > is to just ignore them like we do the "dead keyers" on the repeaters.
> > When they realize that they are not antagonizing anyone, they will > > go away and find something else to complain about.
>
> Repeaters? We don't need no steenking repeaters! Actually, the best > way for Kim to handle it would have been not to begin braying about her > nudge wink reasons for obtaining her call and to clam up about it.
> Kim doesn't clam up for anyone or anything.
>
> Dave K8MN

Check the timelines, Dave. I am not the one who brings my callsign up in conversations on this newsgroup. It is usually brought up when one of you gets stung over something I say--Larry being the most common responder of
same.

I also don't argue my callsign--if you'll read between the lines...and you don't and haven't so far. I argue that the reactions to my callsign are less than admirable.

Kim W5TIT

5890. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:52:49 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a55f9_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28787

"James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com> wrote in message news:7ldk2uklq7qh0pn8vmi718luvi3nv7ha89@4ax.com...
> >
> Kim, there is nothing wrong with your callsign.
>

I don't think so either, James.

>
> I can't believe these > dirty old men are making such a fuss over it.

'Cuz they're dirty old men? ;p

>
> Enjoy your callsign.
> There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would > have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.
>

Yeah. How 'bout _5BAL, _5WOM, _5BAB, _5SEX, _5CNT (that idea was actually given to me by this little old lady ham that giggled all night at a Christmas party when she thought of it. I told her to go for it and she said she probably would if her husband wouldn't yell...LOL), and so on.

>
> I think it's great if you like it and that's all that really matters.
> Only in America are we FREE to choose what we like or dislike about > things, people, etc. etc.
>

Absolutely.

>
> As I saw in another message that someone posted, your callsign is > made up of letters, not words. In your case it just happens to spell > a slang word for a part of the human body (breast), that both men and > women have.
>

Thank goodness. Imagine if it was only us women that had them.

>
> The attitude of these people is part of what is wrong > with this country now days. The best way to handle these people > is to just ignore them like we do the "dead keyers" on the repeaters.
> When they realize that they are not antagonizing anyone, they will > go away and find something else to complain about.

>

True. But they are so much fun.

>
> You and I don't live that far from each other. Your on the east side > of Dallas and I live just to the north of Dallas in Richardson.
>
>
> James N5SKU
> Regards,
>
> James
>

I bet we've met.?

Kim W5TIT

5891. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 22:54:30 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a565e_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28788

"Jim Bromley, K7JEB" <j.e.bromley@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:7MrW7.242256$3d2.11779071@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
>
> Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net> wrote:
>
> > It could be that among many things, I suppose. Have you ever seen flitting > > tits? That would be tits flitting all about.
>
>
> That reminds me of a story I heard about Earl Stanley Gardner, > creator of "Perry Mason".
>
> It seems he was traveling around the world and found himself > in a large African city for a few days. News of the presence > of this well-known author spread rapidly and he was invited > to attend a dramatization of the climatic courtroom scene > from one of his books by the director of the local theatrical > troupe.
>
> The play followed the book closely for about 15 or 20 minutes.
> But right in the middle of an exchange between the Perry Mason
> character and District Attorney Burger, a bare-breasted woman > ran through the "courtroom" screaming incoherently and waving
> her arms. The play then proceeded normally, but this > interruption happened several more times during the course of > the presentation.
>
> Gardner mentioned these occurrences to the director and commented > about remaining true to his work. The director assured him > that they had been assiduously faithful in their adaptation.
> He opened the book and pointed to a sentence that said:
>
> "Upon Mason's asking the question, a nervous titter ran through > the courtroom".
>
>
> --
> Jim Bromley, K7JEB k7jeb@arrl.net
> Glendale, Arizona
>

ROFLMAO...NO way!!! Is that really a true story?! Great!

Kim W5TIT

5892. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 23:02:58 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a5869_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28789

"N2EY" <N2EY@aol.com> wrote in message
news:975b4ea9.0112261342.5c545886@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2A1342.1587B4EF@IEEE.org>...
> > N2EY wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> > > > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
> > >
> > > There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> > > They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
> >
> > It doesn't matter unless you are trying to mimic "1984"'s thought > > police.
>
> Yes, it does matter. If there is no choice, the licensee bears no > repsonsibility. But Kim specifically chose that call for reasons that > have nothing to do with the good of the ARS.
>

I beg to differ. This callsign has been immediately recognizable in many situations, emergency and otherwise. I think this callsign would also be highly illadvised to used by a LID, since it carries some reputation with it. Most times, when I key up on any local repeater, it is known who I am, and it is known that despite the un-seriousness of my callsign, I am a quite capable and serious ham. You guys don't know that, but it's known around here. Even people who don't like me--if they are telling the truth and most do--will say that I am a serious ham. I encourage youngsters, love the hobby, am fairly dedicated to public service (that has been falling off lately), will help in any way I can and am able to--even people and clubs I don't like because I can see the greater good. Now, the callsign, true, has nothing to do with that--but the callsign of Kim Walker is instantly recognized and there's no doubt who is on the other end of it. There's lots more reasons to do with the good of the ARS.

>
> [Kim's call]
>
> >is a valid callsign.
>
> Only because the FCC has made a mistake in issuing it. Do you believe > the FCC is infallible, Cecil?
>

We'd better tell them they made a mistake.

> >
> > It doesn't matter objectively
> > if it was chosen or issued at random.
>
> Yes, it does. The person who makes a choice has to take some > responsibility for the choice.
>

And, I do.

>
> The FCC does NOT issue that particular suffix (and others) in sequence > or at random. It must be specifically requested through the vanity > call program.
>
> [Kim's call]
>
> >is NOT a word!!!
>
> Exactly. So your rant about "parts of words" doesn't apply. QED.
>
> > If you are going to prohibit callsigns where a part of the
> > callsign spells something, then you need to prohibit words > > where a part of the word spells something.
>
> Nope. Since Kim's call is not a word (you say so yourself) your claim > is baseless. Illogical. Does not apply.
> >
> > What is wrong with issuing the callsign and then allowing > > everyone to choose to think what they choose to think about it?
>
> The image of the ARS is damaged. It's an inappropriate callsign.
>

It's an interesting contrast. Most people believe as you. But, for the reasons I mention above, my callsign is immediately rejected, then warmed up to most of the time.

> >
> > Choosing to think dirty thoughts is a choice freely made by > > the thinker.
>
> Who said anyhting about "dirty" thoughts? Not me.
>

Then, what's the problem?

>
> Look through my posts, and you will see that I have not referred to > Kim's callsign as dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy. Nor have > I described Kim or anyone else in those terms. The term I use for the > callsign is "inappropriate".

>

A rose by any other name is still a rose...at least it goes something like that. Why is the callsign inappropriate, then, Jim?

>
> What's wrong with choosing a callsign that is appropriate to the > community standards of the amateur radio service and reflects > positively upon that service?
>
> > Nobody's forcing you to think those dirty thoughts.
>
> What "dirty thoughts"? I challenge you to produce a post where I say > that I have "dirty thoughts" because of any callsign. (maybe KD1RT > would have that effect....)
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

Ew, like it. I like that.

Kim W5TIT

5893. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 23:04:58 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a6648_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28791

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:74B09328A5F1AE72.C0D56E19E0A29FB0.2848A208328290AC@lp.airnews.net...
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 13:49:54 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> wrote:
>
> >That is correct. When I say "W5TIT" on the air, it either takes some > >thinking or writing it down before it is even recognized as having a twist > >to it. There are many folks I've talked to on the air who never even say
a > >word or indicate in any way that they take for anything but a callsign.
>
> Perhaps that's the problem here, Kim.
>
> Nearly everyone who is riding you about your call sign is also > a cw buff (or at least I _believe_ that to be the case). Perhaps they > tend to think in abbreviations and letter combinations where the rest > of us think in terms of spoken words.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

It's a thought...

Kim W5TIT

5894. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-26 23:25:20 UTC
From: "James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com>
Message-ID: <0emk2uc50ugubos831vh9o56l8fko9e9e2@4ax.com>
Source record: 28790

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 16:52:49 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>> There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would >> have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.
>>
>
>Yeah. How 'bout _5BAL, _5WOM, _5BAB, _5SEX, _5CNT (that idea was actually >given to me by this little old lady ham that giggled all night at a >Christmas party when she thought of it. I told her to go for it and she >said she probably would if her husband wouldn't yell...LOL), and so on.
>
The callsigns that I was thinking of were _?SEX. Looks like most of the W_SEX callsigns have been taken. I noticed that in the ARRL Repeater directory that there are some repeaters in the mid-west and on the east coast that have _?SEX callsigns.

I bet Dave thinks these callsigns are dirty as well.

>I bet we've met.?

We may have. I'll have to keep you in mind the next time I head out east of Dallas and give you a shout on the repeater.
>

James N5SKU

5895. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 00:14:14 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a6764_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28792

"James R. DeLoach" <jasd-49X@attbi.com> wrote in message news:0emk2uc50ugubos831vh9o56l8fko9e9e2@4ax.com...
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 16:52:49 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> wrote:
>
>
> >> There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would > >> have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.
> >>
> >
> >Yeah. How 'bout _5BAL, _5WOM, _5BAB, _5SEX, _5CNT (that idea was actually
> >given to me by this little old lady ham that giggled all night at a > >Christmas party when she thought of it. I told her to go for it and she > >said she probably would if her husband wouldn't yell...LOL), and so on.
> >
> The callsigns that I was thinking of were _?SEX. Looks like most of > the W_SEX callsigns have been taken. I noticed that in the ARRL > Repeater directory that there are some repeaters in the mid-west and > on the east coast that have _?SEX callsigns.
>
> I bet Dave thinks these callsigns are dirty as well.
>

Hey, I hear tell of a Red River club (not Red River up at the border--I think this was Red River over in South Carolina or something like that), where the callsign was K0TEX. WHEW....!!

> >
> >I bet we've met.?
>
> We may have. I'll have to keep you in mind the next time I head out > east of Dallas and give you a shout on the repeater.
> >
>
> James N5SKU

Check out Billy's Big Machine in Big D, 145.190. We are a great bunch, but hard to define. There are a couple of guys who are neat guys, but hanker around a lot early morning. If I am on, it would be between about 6:30a-7:15a and I was on a couple of mornings last week. I've got a new truck with nice sound system...so I've been listening to lots of music and NPR.

Kim W5TIT

5896. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 00:16:19 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a67dc_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28793

"W1RFI" <w1rfi@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011226173645.00794.00000989@mb-cv.aol.com...
> From: Dick Carroll dixie@townsqr.com
>
> >> It appears quite simple. Those that sing Larry's praises on rrap are told > >>they deserve congratulations for passing the 5 wpm test. Those that do
not > >>praise Larry receive the badmouth treatment.
>
> >> It appears to me that in Larry's view, it really IS all about Larry.
>
> >Ed I would have expected a more intelligent analysis than that, given
that > >you do > >work CW. But then again, you also work at ARRL HQ.....
>
> You know, it does appear that you are not capable of offering much of meaning
> past "I know but I am not going to tell" and "he only says that because he > works at ARRL HQ." Didn't we have this same non-conversation a few months ago?
>
>
> 73,
> Ed Hare, W1RFI
>

Dick (and a few others) have been having quite a few non-conversations for over a year now...wait 'til you backread his stuff on Islam, if you do...LOL

Kim W5TIT

5897. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 00:22:37 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A69CD.C0F068A2@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28794

Rick Adams wrote:
> Nearly everyone who is riding you about your call sign is also > a cw buff (or at least I _believe_ that to be the case).

To illustrate just how ridiculous their objections are, consider the difference between 'tit' and 'x' in CW. Would you believe that a couple of dead spaces can change an 'x' into something vulgar?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5898. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 00:25:51 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A6A8F.C1DE563@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28795

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > I'm using the dictionary definition of "vulgar", Kim, as being of the > > common folk. Vulgar Latin is what the commoners spoke during the > > Roman Empire.
>
> Naw, you're not. You are using a word origin and not the common, modern > definition of the word.

Seems you would crack open a dictionary before embarrassing yourself, Dave.
From Webster's: "vulgar - of or relating to the common people"
It doesn't say a thing about that definition not being common and modern.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5899. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 00:29:44 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A6B78.F5CD46C1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28796

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> You mean butterflies and sunrises can't be fun? Gosh.

Fun is what Dave commands fun to be. Any other kind of fun is evil.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5900. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 00:34:35 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2A6C9B.C594AF34@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28797

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > Well, my foggy friend, you don't even have an inalienable right to an > > > amateur radio license so I don't know how you'd have one for a call of > > > choice.
> >
> > I'm sure vanity callsigns are covered by the First Amendment. Why > > else would the FCC issue callsigns that they consider vulgar?
>
> No one has a inalienable right to a call or a license.

Everyone who qualifies for a call or a license has a right to it/them.
It is against the law for the FCC to refuse a license or a call to individuals who have met all the qualifications. What would it take for you to comprehend that this is a nation of laws, not a nation of arbitrary royal whims. Your Royal Hinee will likely get spanked for that.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5901. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 02:08:26 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011226210826.27103.00000569@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 28798

>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>From: "Phil Kane" Phil.Kane@no.spam
>Date: 12/25/2001 11:03 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxgpt8.pminews@or.news.verio.net>

> He most certainly is getting due process. He was served with a > statement of charges and has been given the opportunity to respond > to them. He has been informed what he has to do if he wants a > hearing to contest the PROPOSED action, and what will happen if he > does not request or appear at that hearing.

Years after the initial conviction, and in the absence of any other validating excuse, it's nothing but bitter vengence.

I consider it harrassment. Pure and simple.

>What more do you consider "due process" ??

Not dragging him back into court years after the original hearings.
Again, it's harassment.

Answer me THIS, Phil...WHERE was the FCC when the convictions occured?
Are you telling me the FCC had no interest in this at all? Did they not have the opportunity to address this years ago?

>Does it bother you that the FCC is taking away his licemse? The > reason that the court did not do that is that only the FCC has that > jurisdiction.

It bothers me that it's happening years after the fact, and that NO violation of RELEVENT regulations has occured vis-a-vis Part 97.

They could have done this when he was found guilty of the other charges.
Now, it's harrassment.

Period.

>Such "two step" actions are common in regulatory law. If a > physician is convicted of a felony the state medical board can and > usually does revoke his license to practice.

Not always, Phil, and you know it. Many Physicians have been found guilty of crimes NOT RELATED to the practice of medicine, and have suffered little if any sanction of their medical license.

Steve, K4YZ

5902. Re: Mistuh Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 02:11:25 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011226211125.27103.00000571@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 28799

>Subject: Mistuh Mitnick...
>From: "Phil Kane" Phil.Kane@no.spam
>Date: 12/25/2001 10:28 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxfzu2.pminews@or.news.verio.net>

>Not at all. Kevin is a convicted felon who served time for computer > and communications law crimes, and the Commish' is just following
> the procedure to yank his license

At the time it happened, it was due process....Years after the fact and in matters NOT related to the offenses he was convicted of, it is harrassment.

More assinine bureaucrats looking for ways to justify their parasitic employment.

5903. really dumb SW radio pirate

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 02:44:18 UTC
From: "Kaa B." <erielacaw400@aol.com>
Message-ID: <6WvW7.17814$PO5.2724976@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net>
Source record: 28800
Cross-posted to:
alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.scanner,rec.radio.shortwave

Found in alt.radio.pirate:

A radio pirate in the Barnes Road area of St. John's, Newfoundland, Canada has had his equipment confiscated by Industry Canada. The pirate, who, they describe as 'not too bright' and dressed in woman's clothing was awakened from his sleep by a squad of agents, who searched the house and seized thousands of dollars of radio transmitting equipment. The pirate was caught when while under the influence of alcohol, mistakenly broadcast his address on the air, while soliciting free beer from listeners. Charges are pending.

Wonder if he also operated on 14.313 and fancied an "erotic exotic relationship" with a certain ham in Vermont? ;)

5904. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 03:03:43 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <54D07669EC922BFA.142CD3270585C5B1.7654CCDCA5A74FFF@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28902

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:26:46 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Well, my foggy friend, you don't even have an inalienable right to an >amateur radio license so I don't know how you'd have one for a call of >choice. Darn! Another perfectly good rant ruined.

On the contrary, Dave, he _does_ have an inalienable right to one--so long as amateur radio licenses are administered by the federal government (they are, obviously), so long as Cecil or anyone else
meets the legal requirements for licensure it is illegal for the FCC to _refuse_ to issue such a license. Were he not to have that right it would mean that the FCC could "pick and choose" whoever they wished to issue a license to and could refuse to license anyone they wished on any grounds including race, creed, nation of origin, sex or sexual orientation--something the clearly canNOT do.

Darn!

Another perfectly good inaccuracy revealed!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5905. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 03:03:46 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <5258EFEA73020D34.5DBFF5A4130EAE85.A21CF0D706D8A164@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28901

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:35:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Rick Adams wrote:
>>
>> On 26 Dec 2001 06:52:18 -0800, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>>
>> >CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2954AE.34992319@IEEE.org>...
>> >
>> >> If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?
>> >
>> >Nope. Nor to anyone else. Nor would I issue similar inappropriate callsigns.
>> >
>> >Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.
>>
>> In other words, simply because the law would require you to do >> something, you would refuse anyway because it "isn't right" in your >> mind?
>>
>> And you wonder why many of us think you aren't playing with a >> full deck!
>
>You'll note, Jim, that this is the kindly prof who only responds in >kind. He never throws the first stone and he is as supportive of your >right to express an opinion as he is supportive of Kim's ideas. How do >we know these things? Because he told us so.

Actually, that was an error, Dave. I thought I was responding to one of your own tirades. In Jim's case, he can delete the last line of my response (about playing with a full deck)--that was meant to apply to you, not to more normal people.

My apologies, Jim, I would hate to accidently put anyone in Dave's class--that would be far more insulting than you deserve.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5906. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 03:09:45 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2A8403.59FABAFB@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28903

CAM wrote:

> Dick Carroll wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are > > > you going to do about it?
> >
> > I'd imagine he'll make the futile suggestion that you work on cleaning > > up your thought process.
>
> EXACTLY the point, Dick. You guys need to work on cleaning up > your thought processes. Vulgarity is not in the call sign - it > is in your and Larry's and Dave's minds. I'm glad you finally > get it. Hey Kim, Dick finally gets it!

Oh, I've had it all along. You're a lying, scheming, conniving dipschit who wouldn't recognize truth if it jumped up and bit your butt.

5907. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 03:16:54 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <AB2B95A72AF373C0.EC8796E96C52EBAA.5836D96CE6B77A73@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28904

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 22:12:27 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>> >> >Folks other than professional baseball players who sell autographs to >> >> >kids.
>> >>
>> >> That means Ted Bundy, Charles Manson, Adolph Hitler, Saddam
>> >> Hussein, and Osama bin Laden are among your heros.
>> >
>> >It does? What a perfectly peculiar and illogical thing to say!
>I guess you failed logic in school as you've failed it here. Look at my >statement. Do you see the word "all" in front of the word "folks"?
>You're right, I don't see it either. You must feel like a complete >fool.

Let's see:

Let F stand for Folks other than professional baseball players who sell autographs to kids.

Let P stand for professional baseball players who sell
autographs to kids.

Then F=NOT P

Because you make no provision for subsets in your statement above it is inclusive and thus your set of heros DOES include serial killers (unless they are also professional baseball players who sell autographs to kids).

Had you wished to exclude subsets, you would have modified your "Folks other than . . ." to read "Certain folks other than . . ."
or "My heros do NOT include professional baseball . . ." either of which could be taken to exclude unnamed subsets.

Sorry, Dave, I not only passed logic, I got a 4.0 in it!

And as usual you were wrong in more than one way. I don't feel like a fool, either. But you should, if you have been making so-called logical statements that are clearly so poorly constructed.

>> >You're babbling again.
>>
>> Really?
>>
>> Where?
>

>Right here--same place as usual.

But, Dave.

I'm not there--I'm here. YOU'RE there. If babbling is occurring there (you DO state it is occurring "Right here...") it must be your own, as usual.

>> Besides, keeping that sign from you would be cruel. What sign >> could _possibly_ fit you better (well, maybe W8ASS, but you don't like >> expressive call signs).
>
>You must have missed it. I've indicated no desire to change my call.

Perhaps you should. By now, people are bound to be starting to recognize your current one--and it would be a shame to have a large investment in radio equipment if no one will communicate with you.

>> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
>> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
>I'm pondering this one.

I was hoping you would. Perhaps it will help.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5908. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 03:25:07 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <nwwW7.29$8M.494921@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net>
Source record: 28905
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

: > : > There are a good deal of elitism out there.
: > : > For whatever reason. The Marines teach
: > : > it. So do the police academies.
: > :
: > : The police/Marines/doctors/professors etc ARE the elite, when it
: > : comes to their areas of expertise. Outside that, they are no better
: > : or worse than anyone else.
: >
: > There is the problem. Because they are elite
: > in their fields, they do transfer that attitude to
: > every other aspect of society. Because they
: > are competent, they tend that no one else is.
: > And if they do not know how to do it, then
: > no one else should be able to do so either.
: > (Thus the desire to ban technology such as : > guns or radios).
:
: I don't buy it, N9MWO. There is and always has been elitgeism amongst
: the elite in any human endeavor, and that elitism has served for far more
: good than evil in free societies. I've known a lot of elite police
: officers in the past 40 years and darn few of them showed any tendency to
: transfer that to the sort constitutional violations you describe.
: Things change, and sometimes pretty fast, but if we're headed down that
: slippery slope, I haven't seen a lot of evidence of it. Of course I have
: seen some. One of he most gregarious cases was in New York Cit. In 1962 I
: watched a NYPD street cop give a guy an awful cussing in public while he
: stood with his hand on the butt of his revolver as if he dared the guy to
: respond in any way. The fellow' soffense was cuttting across one extra
: traffic lane to get to a (rare) parking spot. There was no safety reason
: for him not to do that, except the LEO noted his out of state license
: plate, and after all, some jerk behind who wanted the spot himself
: honked.....

While I do agree with you that elitism has been more good than bad as our country was founded on elitism (our Founders were men of learning and property, to even vote required that one had to own land). And also the French ideal of equality has created more suffering than good (the French revolution was at the root of a good deal of the wars since then).
However, what I have a problem with is that so many in the US just can not accept that someone might be better than they.

And elitism can be carried too far. One of my friends is Purdue cop. He had been a Lafayette officer. He told me of how one of the Lieuteants on the LPD and he were coming out of city hall.
the LT spotted a local bum (drunk), called him over and asked to look at something. When the bum looked over to see, the LT just beat the hell out of him then turned to my friend and ordered him to write it up and charge the bum with something.
My friend refused, because there was not way
for them to force him to. But from that time on he was labeled a troublemaker.

And remember this is a college town.

Oh, the west side cops have a little technique where they get a mouthy college student on the ground, bring his arms up behind him then twist
(it is an old wrestling move). They call it "imprinting" as it tears the muscles and the kid will always have pain. Hard to prove in court.

5909. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 03:37:55 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <CE1185DDA6C99715.7617DAF3DD82CDB7.F157B5CC131CC9A7@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28906

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 22:16:01 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>What is your particular reason for being here? You seem to enjoy it.

I do.

This is recreation from more serious intellectual exercises such as teaching and writing. Here I can kid with friends, annoy the narrow minded, and enrage the intolerant.

In my classes, I have to demonstrate respect for the views of my students, even if some of them are diametrically opposed to my own
(the only areas I can legitimately oppose in a class room are those which contradict science and those which represent racism or sexism, both of which are prohibited by the school honor code), and even then
I have to do so in a way that won't offend the student, since I'm in a power position with respect to them.

Here, on the other hand, I have no such restraints--I'm perfectly free to call an idiot an idiot and a bigot a bigot without abusing my position. I have no authority here at all, which means I don't have to worry about power differentials (unless you include intellectual ones--it's amazing how few bigots and moralists are even the intellectual equals of the average public High School student) and can respond however I wish with no concern for the effect of my words on the person I'm communicating with. And since I take what people say to (or about) me here about as seriously as I take Dan Quayle's assurances that there was intelligent life on Mars or President Wimpus' assurances that he believes in freedom, responses like yours are at best amusing and at worst frustrating to read since they so often are written in a self-righteous, confused, manner rather than precisely and clearly--and even that isn't a major problem, I have first year students who write almost as poorly so I'm used to it.

Now that I've answered your question, why are YOU here (Simple masochism? A sincere need to be viewed as a prig? Not allowed to post in adult news groups? Lost your access to www.hate.com?)?

>> Depending on the Rorschach blot you saw it in, you could be >> revealing quite a bit about your inner feelings there, Dave. Are you >> sure you mean that?
>
>Just on a few, Rick. On some, I see pancakes drizzled with maple syrup >and melted butter. On others I can see rain puddling on the floor below >an old yellow rain slicker. Then there is the one with Oprah.

If you're serious about that (which I doubt--you usually don't mean what you say) you really need to talk to a therapist. NOT seeing sexual images in a Rorschach test is as diagnostic as an over-emphasis on them--perhaps even more so as it indicates a serious repression of sexual desire. Of course, you may just be a homosexual in denial but you could also have far more serious sexual problems that could lead to major identity and relationship problems in the future (serious enough ones that even your Viagra won't help you conquer any more).

It DOES explain why you are so offended by Kim's call however--you've fixated on the "TIT" part and are sickened by the thought of sex that your fixation engenders in you.

>> Rick<--who DOESN'T see buffalo hides on card 07a
>
>That's Oprah.

Amazing.

There IS no card 07a--the "a" was a typo.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5910. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 03:41:38 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2a9897_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 28936

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:9f4bfe89.0112260605.2ea72102@posting.google.com...
> "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net> wrote in message
news:<3c292f17_2@news7.fast.net>...
> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> > news:20011224100327.27168.00000589@mb-cb.aol.com...
> > > In article <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson"
> > <wa6vse@fast.net>
> > > writes:
> > >
> > [snip]
> > >
> > > What is the difference between an FCC rule that says Morse skill
is > > required to > > > use a particular part of the radio spectrum and a Park Service rule
> > that says
> > > motor vehicles cannot be used in certain parks and wilderness areas?
> >
> > The sort of Park Service rules that you refer to are intended to > > protect and preserve the environment.
>
> Which means the govt. does have an interest in protecting the historic > and traditional nature of some things, even if they are public > property.

That's not the point at all ... the prohibition on motor vehicles is to protect the environment ... that doesn't correlate to the spectrum, which is more resiliant, in the sense that when lids stop acting up, there is no permanent, residual damage to the spectrum.

> The end result is a "setaside" for "legacy modes of transportation"
> like walking and horseback riding.

That is an incidental side effect of prohibiting uses which could cause long-term damage to the environment.

> > The FCC (and other > > rational entities) have recognized the fact that Morse proficiency
```

> > doesn't "preserve the environment" (it doesn't, as some claim, > > serve as a "lid filter" ... see various FCC Report and Order > > documents for such findings.)
>
> You're missing the point, Carl. The issue was about traditions and > their preservation as a matter of law.

And preserving traditions is NOT a legitimate purpose of regulation.

> No test can serve perfectly as a "lid filter". That doesn't mean the > tests have no effect on behavior.

The FCC has explicitly determined and stated that Morse
proficency (as demonstrated through testing requirements) demonstrates NOTHING about how an applicant will behave.

> The FCC decided long ago (1975) to push for code test elimination.
> They have gradually but steadily eroded code testing over time, and > are merely keeping 5 wpm because of S25.5. Doesn't mean the FCC is > "right" or "rational", just that they decided on a course of action
> and are pursuing it.

I've had detailed conversations with numerous FCC officials.
I find them quite rational about the purpose of their rules.
(and some of them are long-term 20 wpm extras who operate
CW almost exclusively ... but they still recognize that Morse testing has no place in FCC rules ...)

> FCC also decided that the written tests were to be reduced in size
and > number, too.

Give me a break ... the number of questions and the breadth of material has increased over the years ... ask Ed about how he passed his General many years ago after studying a FOUR PAGE
ARRL study guide ... now they have to send you a book of about 200 pages to cover it all ...

This entire assertion that the written tests have been "dumbed down" is JUST PLAIN INACCURATE.

> The process has been going on for a long time and there's > no end in sight. Does that make those of us who support better written > testing irrational? Nope.

I'll agree with you that the written tests could be improved.
I've found a number of question/answer sets that could be better written (or outright corrected) ... I intend to spend some time reviewing the new pools as they are released and sending suggested improvements and corrections to the QPC.

> > > >Another concept to consider is that "discipline" is a bit misused
> > in > > > >this application, IMHO. Are you talking about the concept that > > some > > > >have voiced that "It's (jumping through the Morse proficiency hoop)
> > > >necessary to show 'committment'." ???
> > >
> > > Experience has shown what happens without such commitment.
> >
> > And that is WHAT?
>
> A service that is a complete mess.

Excuse me, but that's a pile ... many of the worst offenders are 20 wpm long-term extras, or crotchety old generals who think "real radios glow in the dark" and couldn't pass a test on modern technology if their lives depended on it ...

Bad behavior has been the result of two factors:
1) lack of enforcement (until Riley, at least, thank God
for Riley ...)
2) too damned many hams think they're God's gift to the spectrum because they've been licensed a long time and can beep real fast and have as their major goal to put down (and try to keep/drive out) newbies
"who shouldn't be crowding 'their' bands" ... those are the types of lids who jam, use bad language on the air, make rude, insulting comments to "lesser hams," etc.

[snip]

> What I was referring to was what happened to the cb radio service, > which has never required any sort of "commitment" other than getting
a > radio set and putting it on the air.

If you were to study the history, CB was pretty well-behaved until the "Smokey and the Bandit" and "Convoy" era ... then things got out of hand and the FCC threw up its hands and made it a completely unlicensed service because they couldn't enforce against tens of millions of people who chose not to behave ...

But "committment" (of work to jump through stupid hoops)
has never been a factor in promoting good behavior on the ham bands ...

[snip]

> Which still begs the questions: what do YOU consider "legitimate > standards"? If/when the code test completely disappears, what should > the US amateur radio license structure and requirements look like?

With some improvements in the written tests (more in terms of modernization, editorial/technical correctness, etc., NOT in terms of "making them harder to pass"), I'm pretty happy with the standards we have today.

The one exception would be that I don't think that the "tech"
written exam is technically adequate to convey 1.5 kW power privileges with unlimited antenna gain at frequencies that cook meat ...

73,

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- --
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- --
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCqYZpe+N6+q84HiEQKLPQCg4VfUZ32RTluPiXVcDVEPlGcwTrwAoJEi
KmlKcG4KcHaQLWMnUFStebAE
=VYYs
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----

5911. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 03:55:08 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <3C727E9BE6E1611B.232A23DC372EC3D1.B44A3FCD334935B9@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28907

On 26 Dec 2001 13:42:02 -0800, N2EY@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Yes, it does matter. If there is no choice, the licensee bears no >repsonsibility. But Kim specifically chose that call for reasons that >have nothing to do with the good of the ARS.

Would you care to try to identify any hams who DID specifically choose their vanity calls for "the good of the ARS?"

To the best of my knowledge, every ham who has a vanity call has it either because the call commemorates a PERSON they respected (not the ARS--an individual ham) or (far more common) because they like the sound of the call or it contains their initials or nickname (i.e., W8RIC, W8RAA, etc. for myself). I doubt very many--if any--hams stop to consider whether the vanity call they are applying for is for "the good of the ARS."

>[Kim's call]
>
>>is a valid callsign.
>
>Only because the FCC has made a mistake in issuing it. Do you believe >the FCC is infallible, Cecil?

Do you believe YOU are?

Or Dave Heil, Larry Roll, or Dick Carroll?

If so, justify that absurd belief. If not, then why do you feel that the four of you have any more legitimacy in determining whether a call should be issued or not than does Kim herself?

>> It doesn't matter objectively
>> if it was chosen or issued at random.
>
>Yes, it does. The person who makes a choice has to take some >responsibility for the choice.

Kim DOES take responsibility for her choice. The trouble is, several people here don't feel she had a right to MAKE that choice, and want to make a new one FOR her.

>The FCC does NOT issue that particular suffix (and others) in sequence >or at random. It must be specifically requested through the vanity >call program.

I see.

Because a suffix is not issued sequentially or randomly by the FCC it is vulgar, tasteless, or immoral and it's use will contribute to taking the ARS "one step closer to extinction" right?

I guess that "GOD" is vulgar, tasteless, or immoral then--it isn't issued sequentially or randomly, either.

Hmmmmm mm . . .

>>is NOT a word!!!
>
>Exactly. So your rant about "parts of words" doesn't apply. QED.

Nor do your claims that it's vulgar or tasteless!

>> If you are going to prohibit callsigns where a part of the
>> callsign spells something, then you need to prohibit words
>> where a part of the word spells something.
>
>Nope. Since Kim's call is not a word (you say so yourself) your claim >is baseless. Illogical. Does not apply.

And thus, by your own statement, Kim's call is nothing but a collection of letters grouped in a manner specified by regulation. So is yours, Dave's, Larry's, Dick's, or mine.

But if that's the case, you have absolutely no reason to oppose her call at all since it has no meaning and is just as acceptable as your own.

>> What is wrong with issuing the callsign and then allowing >> everyone to choose to think what they choose to think about it?
>
>The image of the ARS is damaged. It's an inappropriate callsign.

But you just stated it isn't a word. How can a grouping of letters that are not a word be inappropriate so long as they meet the criteria for a legal call sign (i.e., 1x3, 1x2, 2x2, 2x1, 2x3, appropriate prefix, etc.)--which Kim's clearly does?

You can't have it both ways, Jim. Either it's a word or it isn't. If it is, you admit to Cecil's claim above. If not you admit to mine.

>Who said anyhting about "dirty" thoughts? Not me.
>
>Look through my posts, and you will see that I have not referred to >Kim's callsign as dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy. Nor have >I described Kim or anyone else in those terms. The term I use for the >callsign is "inappropriate".
>
>What's wrong with choosing a callsign that is appropriate to the >community standards of the amateur radio service and reflects >positively upon that service?

But who is DEFINING those "community standards?" On any rational basis, "Community standards" are set by members of the community as a whole, not by a few individuals or by a government agency. And, despite the convictions of a few people here, I doubt seriously that if you took a survey of a representative sample of hams (which this news group is NOT) you would find any consensus that Kim's call sign is inappropriate. I suspect quite strongly that the reverse would be true--most hams would find it either amusing or irrelevant and very few would find it in any way detrimental to the ARS.

When you--or someone else in this news group--has actually conducted such a study--and documented it so we can verify your results--if that survey demonstrates that "most hams" find the sign inappropriate you will have proven your point--otherwise it represents only one opinion and there is absolutely no reason for Kim or anyone else to believe that it represents the opinion of a significant number of hams.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5912. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 04:05:55 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A17D53CE133D6D39.5F6E437A9BAFA70A.F74698D962F766B7@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28908

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 22:03:44 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Repeaters? We don't need no steenking repeaters! Actually, the best >way for Kim to handle it would have been not to begin braying about her >nudge wink reasons for obtaining her call and to clam up about it.
>Kim doesn't clam up for anyone or anything.

Maybe that's the entire problem, Dave.

You, Dick, and Larry all feel that a woman should behave differently than a man in public (and probably in private as well) and that she has an obligation to appear demure, innocent, and moral. When a woman demonstrates that she is as much a whole person as a man is and isn't willing to defer to your "superior" male values, you go ape and can't allow her decisions to go unchallenged.

It isn't a question of Kim's call sign bothering you--it's just that you don't think she knows her place!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5913. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 04:17:01 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2aa1eb_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28910

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:A17D53CE133D6D39.5F6E437A9BAFA70A.F74698D962F766B7@lp.airnews.net...
>
> It isn't a question of Kim's call sign bothering you--it's > just that you don't think she knows her place!
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH
> adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
> Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

Now the crosshairs are on the target. That's what I think about their protests to my callsign. It is more that they "just don't like me" and couldn't, originally, come up with something that honest. ;)

Kim W5TIT

5914. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 04:19:12 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <71035F948257A84E.6161DB3A11624B25.BFCB3BD5CFEA81E8@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28909

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:50:07 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Kim, about the only thing nastier than ME walking nude on a beach would >be the thought of YOU walking nude on a beach. We're both past our >expiration date. There would likely be folks willing to pay us just to >avoid seeing us nude on a beach. Keep talking about it and I'm sure >someone will take up a collection beginning right about now.

Actually, Dave, quite a number of the people at nude beaches and nudist/naturist resorts are between 45 and 65 with a good number much older than that. Unlike "textile" beaches, people at nude beaches don't go to "ogle" the bodies of others--only to enjoy the beach.

Sorry that you judge people on their physical appearance--most adults have matured past that point--or at least the ones who go to nude recreational sites have done so.

BTW, the amateur "Nude Net" meets on HF on Saturdays as I recall. You might want to tune it in sometime and note the age of some of the participants.

>> or nothing but "nasty"
>> in a woman who nurses her child in public, or nothing but "nasty" at
>> the idea of a man and woman making love together.

>Oh, horse hockey, Kim. I don't believe that any of us any problem with >an idea of people making love. I don't won't it broadcast via ATV and >don't think we need an audio book version on 20m.

Given the lack of knowledge of human sexuality among American youths, I wish they WOULD provide them an audio book version--it might prevent a lot of unwanted pregnancies and STD infections.

>Sure, Kim. That's why you chose your call over W5FAT, K5LID or N5DOH.
>It wasn't for the shock value, it was purely for the "fun".

Kim (correctly, btw) doesn't see herself as "Fat," a "LID," or representative of the kind of person for whom "DOH" is appropriate.
She sees herself as a woman and chose a different defining characteristic to use in her sign. Too bad that you find a "TIT" any more inappropriate than a "LEG" or an "ARM." That isn't her fault--it's yours!

>How do you know? Do you e-mail all of them or just ask them at the >beginning or end of each QSO?

How many have YOU surveyed to determine that they find Kim's call offensive or inappropriate? From what I've seen here, there are more hams supporting her decision than opposing it.

>Right. You're all about butterflies and sunrises. That's not why you >chose your call according to your own admission.

She feels positive about butterflies and sunrises. She also feels positive about her tits. W5BUTTERFLY and W5SUNRISE aren't valid call signs. W5TIT is.

You really SHOULD consider applying for K8DUM!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5915. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 04:19:51 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2aa19b_1@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 28937

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message news:9f4bfe89.0112260845.55b40b1d@posting.google.com...
> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:<qAQV7.196255$WW.11390036@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
> How about this:
>
> Right now:
>
> 1) Give all Novices and Tech Pluses 200 W CW only on all nonphone
> General HF/MF bands, 160-10. (FCC will probably balk at this)

Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern digital modes as well?

This is a "no-reward reward" ... if they aren't interested in using CW now, they won't be under your proposal either ... you can't force it down their throats because they don't like the taste.

Again ... Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern digital modes as well?

> 2) Allow all "old" Tech Pluses to get Generals by a simple mail or > online procedure, instead of forcing them to attend VE sessions.
(FCC
> will hate this one, too).

This would seem reasonable ... since it's just an administrative update ... however, since the FCC is set up now to take all input from the VECs, you're probably right that they wouldn't like this idea (it would probably require changes to their system and more work for already under-budgeted FCC staff).

> 3) Resolve the 40 meter mess at WRC 2003 to get a worldwide exclusive
> amateur allocation, even if it gives away spectrum. 7000-7200
> worldwide exclusive amateur is better for everyone than 7000-7300 in > Region 2 and 7000-7100 everywhere else.

- From reports I've heard in WRC-03 preparatory meetings,
things may actually be looking better for 7000-7300 worldwide,
but even if it's agreed at WRC-03 it could be 5-10 years before it becomes reality ... all the broadcasters in R1 and R3 won't move overnight.

> 4) Develop bandplans for all HF/MF that separate CW, digital and > analog voice/image modes.

If you're talking about FCC-rules-mandated separation of that type, I wouldn't hold my breath ... it takes too long to change FCC rules ... such rules would be too limiting in terms of us being able to flexibly take advantage of new modes in the future (something the FCC really WANTS to see us do ...)

(Read Dale Hatfield's comments and Bill Cross's comments
... links to on-line versions can be found on the NCI website on the "Articles" page ...)

> After S25.5 is gone:
>
> 1) Three classes of license: Basic, Intermediate, Full (change the > names if you don't like them)

We have that now ... tech, general, extra ... the main problem is that techs get screwed on HF.

> 2) HF/MF bands split into subbands by mode and split again by
license
> class. (Some bands, like 10 and the WARC bands, may be split by mode
> only).

GAG!!!!!!!!! Such "balkanization" is a VERY BAD IDEA ... people need to mix and intermingle ... isolating newbies into "ghettos"
is NOT the way to educate and socialize them ... all it does is breed ill will (and to the extent that some "better hams" are contemptuous of the newbies, it breeds contempt for the higher class licensees who have the knowedge and experience to educate and socialize
the newbies)... making such efforts by the (majority?) of higher class licensees who DON'T have an attitude problem more difficult.

It also, again will be too limiting of our ability to respond to changes
in technology, promoting the technological stagnation that the ARS has suffered from more or less since SSB and FM came into common use.

> 3) Basic license test is simple 20-25 question exam on regs, > procedures, and safety. Very little technical and RF exposure stuff,
> main purpose is to keep Basics out of trouble. Basics get 100-150 > watts on HF/MF and 25 watts or so on VHF/UHF (determined by RF > exposure limits). Modes are CW, SSB, FM, PSK31 and maybe some of the > other common data modes like packet. Basics cannot be VEs, control ops
> for repeaters, or be club trustees. Basics get all VHF/UHF and about > half of HF/MF spectrum. Basic is meant as the entry level.

A little TOO basic for my taste ... and there's that balkanization by class again ...

> 4) Intermediate license test is more complex 50-60 question exam on > regs, procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical and RF
> exposure stuff, with some regs to cover expanded privs.
Intermediates
> get 300-400 watts on all bands, all modes. Intermediates can be VEs
> after qualification (see below), control ops for repeaters, and club > trustees. Intermediates get all VHF/UHF and about three quarters (or > more) of HF/MF spectrum. Intermediate requires at least one year > experience as a Basic.

While I personally think that power limits based on tecnical level are entirely appropriate (and make FAR more sense than sub-band balkinization by license the generals, paraticularly many of the older ones, will skin you alive if you try to take their "California kilowats"
away from them ... so many seem to think that the "minimum power rule" was intended for everyone but them and their cronies and that it's their God-given right to run full legal limit (or more)
to talk across town and compliment each other on being 40-60 over
S9.

Also, there's that balkanization by class again ... bad idea ...

And the "time in grade" idea REALLY SUCKS!!! If someone can pass the test, they're qualified and deserve their license,
period.

> 5) Full license test is quite complex 100-120 question exam on regs, > procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical, with some > regs to cover expanded privs. Fulls get all privileges, modes,
bands,
> etc. except that Fulls can be VEs only after qualification (see > below). Full license requires ar least one year (preferably two years)
> as an Intermediate.

You want 100-120 questions ... fine by me ... but many others will bitch that it's too much.

Also, there's that balkanization by class again ... bad idea ...

And the "time in grade" idea REALLY SUCKS!!! If someone can pass the test, they're qualified and deserve their license,
period.

> 6) All licenses are 10 year and fully renewable/modifiable.

That's what we have now ...

> 7) Basics have six-character calls, Intermediates have five- or > six-character calls, and Fulls have four-, five-, or six-character > calls.

The "vanity call" system is too entrenched ... trying to take away
"prefered" calls from those who have them will also get you tarred and feathered (or worse ...)

> 8) There is a separate 30-35 question test for VE qualification, open
> to Intermediates and Fulls, which allows them to be VEs.

I have no problem with the idea of a separate VE test ...

> 9) Existing Novices become Basics, existing Techs, Tech Pluses,
> Generals and Advanceds become Intermediates, and existing Extras > become Fulls. Experience requirement is not waived for existing hams > to upgrade.

This gives too much to tech/tech plus without a sufficent technical exam ... as you pointed out in a previous post, the FCC rejected the ARRL's idea of "grandfather" tech+ to general ... and so did the NCVECs and NCI and many others ...

And the "time in grade" idea REALLY SUCKS!!! If someone can pass the test, they're qualified and deserve their license,
period.

> End result is a system that is easy to get into (Basic is envisioned > as a 21st century version of the Novice) and has reasonable but > meaningful steps to reach full privileges.

I don't see how this is really any different than a "codeless" version of what we have now ... except that the basic sounds even more basic than the current tech, you want to take amps away from generals, you want to screw around with everyone's callsigns, and you want that stupid "time in grade" thing ...

> Of course this probably has even less chance than your ideas, Rich.

I think it's DOA for the reasons I've outlined above ...

73,

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- --
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL

- --
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCqg85e+N6+q84HiEQJHVQCff7Sxt014nfpTa8grgel+fCXfTU4AnROM pAUjOtyysBhV/fmAb7MglaQY =of3d
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----

5916. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 04:28:50 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <E5996A57FDF305B8.3263D2BADB80AAC2.EE5B85E6A7868876@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28911

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 03:09:45 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
wrote:

>
>
>CAM wrote:
>
>> Dick Carroll wrote:
>> >
>> > CAM wrote:
>> > > Your "Kevin Ate Mary's Nookie" call offends me, Dave. What are >> > > you going to do about it?
>> >
>> > I'd imagine he'll make the futile suggestion that you work on cleaning >> > up your thought process.
>>
>> EXACTLY the point, Dick. You guys need to work on cleaning up >> your thought processes. Vulgarity is not in the call sign - it >> is in your and Larry's and Dave's minds. I'm glad you finally >> get it. Hey Kim, Dick finally gets it!
>
> Oh, I've had it all along. You're a lying, scheming, conniving dipschit who >wouldn't recognize truth if it jumped up and bit your butt.

Sorry, Cecil--he obviously doesn't get it after all.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5917. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:03:13 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011227000313.05154.00000644@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 28913

In article <3C2A48DA.C573077@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>I'm sure vanity callsigns are covered by the First Amendment.

They're not. The vanity callsign program is an option offered by the FCC, not a right. For most of the history of ham radio, the vanity callsign program either did not exist or was extremely limited. I remember when the only vanity call program was that hams who'd been Extras for 20 years could get a sequentially-isued 1X2.

>Why else would the FCC issue callsigns that they consider vulgar?

Several reasons (assuming that the FCC actually considers them vulgar):

1) The FCC is mistaken in issuing them
2) The FCC doesn't have the resources, or doesn't want to spend them, arguing with hams who want the callsigns.
3) The FCC doesn't care if some hams damage the image of the ARS
4) The FCC wants to end the vanity callsign program, and every inappropriate call requested is another bit of evidence they can use to say "See what some hams do when allowed to choose their calls?"
5) The FCC doesn't want to get involved in a long debate over dictionary definitons of "vulgar", "profane", etc.

Note that I'm not saying here that any callsign is vulgar.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5918. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:03:14 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011227000314.05154.00000645@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 28912

In article <3C2A4C29.7B58B263@earthlink.net>, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
writes:

>On some, I see pancakes drizzled with maple syrup
>and melted butter.

yummmm.....

>On others I can see rain puddling on the floor below
>an old yellow rain slicker.

rainy day in spring.....ahhhhhhhhh

> Then there is the one with Oprah.

AHHHHHHH!!!! MY EYES!!!!!!!

73 de (whew! that was close) Jim, N2EY

5919. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:05:28 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0ea4f022p3@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28917

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C29F36A.2B0A7A03@IEEE.org...
> Richard McCollum wrote:
> > There is > > no basic conflict in welcoming those who pass the rules currently in > > effect while not having a lot of use for the rules currently in effect;
>
> Unfortunately, Larry is not that way. He has bitched loud and long > about post-restructuring extras not deserving their privileges.
> --
> cheers, CAM, W5DXP

I'm surprised that he didn't reply that the new licensee should raise his code speed to 40 WPM so that he could be considered a real ham despite the new regs.

5920. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:24:27 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2AA396.4CB9C7B2@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28914

Richard McCollum wrote:

> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C29EE5C.87AF75AC@IEEE.org...
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > > Has it dawned upon you that I present people with a mirror image of > > > > themselves so they can learn something from the exercise? I become > > > > you and respond to you as you would. Everything you say about me > > > > applies to you.
> > >
> > > What has dawned on me is that you use my stuff as if you originated
> it.
> > >
> > > You originate the crap, Dave, and I mirror it back at you. I've > > > been doing that to crappy people since I learned it as a teaching > > > technique in 1962.
> > > --
> > > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
> >
> And an awful lot of wives become ex-wives that way.

Could it be that Cecil may be familiar with the concept on a personal level?

5921. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:26:50 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2AA424.A8BDDBA3@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28915

CAM wrote:

> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Your new quest, Don. Q., is to advise us on how many of the 17k+ spell > > something which could be viewed by others as vulgar.
>
> That's easy, Dave. Everyone is perfectly free to view each and > every callsign as being vulgar. Vulgarity is in the mind of > the reader. Vulgarity doesn't exist independently in any
> callsign.
>
> Non-English speaking people would have to have it explained > to them before they could possibly find it vulgar. Seems that > proves the word is not objectively vulgar. All you have to do to > solve the problem is, instead of morbidly looking for vulgarity > everywhere 24 hours a day, try looking for goodness, kindness, > love, and mercy. Most of your vulgar thoughts would disappear.
>
> Dave, you are like the unfortunate soul who sees vulgar pictures > in ink blots. It is all in your mind. Try switching from vulgar > thoughts to beautiful thoughts and thus make the world a better > place instead of the cesspool in which you live.

Wow! You go deeper into lunacy with each post!

5922. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:33:22 UTC
From: Roger Halstead <rdhalste@tm.net>
Message-ID: <CoyW7.1399$DI1.693885@monger.newsread.com>
Source record: 28916
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

One more troll!

Roger (K8RI)

"Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message news:e9de0154.0112201650.5423f9f0@posting.google.com...

5923. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:42:20 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <ONz0$ipjBHA.1236@cpimsnntpa02>
Source record: 28944

N9NWO had the grapes to say:

> However, what I have a problem with is that > so many in the US just can not accept that someone > might be better than they.

Well sweetheart, you have a huge problem with me
then.

I do not accept that anyone is "better" than I, and I especially do not accept that a uniform, badge,
or election results makes them better.

Our founding fathers, whom you are so proud to cite, seemed to feel a lot like me when they said.... "We hold these truths to be self-evident...
...that all men are created equal...."

Take your superiority drivel over to alt.skinheads or some similarly deluded crowd of losers. Sounds to me like you've been "imprinted" by some really insecure personalities!

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

5924. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:42:39 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2AA7D9.35A6A66A@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28918

CAM wrote:

> N2EY wrote:
> >
> > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> > > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
> >
> > There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> > They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
>
> It doesn't matter unless you are trying to mimic "1984"'s thought
> police

OM you're running just ahead of the idiot police.

5925. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:42:53 UTC
From: ROCK <rock1@antisocial.com>
Message-ID: <xxyW7.12069$uM.141230@rwcrnsc54>
Source record: 28919
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Okay lets all just take it 1 Jan 2002 19:00hrs (est) everybody just meet on 28.500 and we will all have one big key down LoL, just take it over and everybody will be happy.

5926. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 05:49:38 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2AA97B.D6291637@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28920

N2EY wrote:

>One real problem nobody talks about much is the addytoods of those who > come to ham radio with "experience" in other services.

> >

Well, I sure did and you saw what happened. Cecil and his pals the jackels at NCI tried to eat me alive.

5927. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:00:07 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2AABED.497C6FC2@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28921

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C2A1342.1587B4EF@IEEE.org...
> > N2EY wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> > > > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
> > >
> > > There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> > > They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
> >
> > It doesn't matter unless you are trying to mimic "1984"'s thought > > police. W5TIT is a valid callsign. It doesn't matter objectively
> > if it was chosen or issued at random. W5TIT is NOT a word!!!
> > If you are going to prohibit callsigns where a part of the
> > callsign spells something, then you need to prohibit words > > where a part of the word spells something.
> >
> > What is wrong with issuing the callsign and then allowing
> > everyone to choose to think what they choose to think about it?
> > Choosing to think dirty thoughts is a choice freely made by > > the thinker. Nobody's forcing you to think those dirty thoughts.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
> >
> >
>
> Precisely.
>
> Kim W5TIT

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C2A1342.1587B4EF@IEEE.org...
> > N2EY wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > > > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> > > > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
> > >
> > > There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> > > They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.

> >
> > It doesn't matter unless you are trying to mimic "1984"'s thought > > police. W5TIT is a valid callsign. It doesn't matter objectively
> > if it was chosen or issued at random. W5TIT is NOT a word!!!
> > If you are going to prohibit callsigns where a part of the
> > callsign spells something, then you need to prohibit words > > where a part of the word spells something.
> >
> > What is wrong with issuing the callsign and then allowing
> > everyone to choose to think what they choose to think about it?
> > Choosing to think dirty thoughts is a choice freely made by > > the thinker. Nobody's forcing you to think those dirty thoughts.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
> >
> >
>
> Precisely.
>
> Kim W5TIT

What a bunch of loons. Society decides what is considered vulgar and what is most every other category. Delude yourselves as you wish.

If you want to go around fourishing your tits in private no on will care a damn. Do it publically, as in choosing, using and displaying it on your han radio callsign and you may as well expect to get a very negative reaction from the majority. You have no choice but to live with it.

5928. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:07:25 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2AADA7.33136270@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28922

Richard McCollum wrote:

> > > Sum and substance: does the hobby need protection from the newbie or
> the > > > newbie need a bit of protection from a hobby that can eat one up?
> >
> > Both.
> >
> > 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
> That attitude is precisely why we really do need to establish a > time-in-grade standard for VEing if nothing else. As it sits, Unit 437 > could gun up and pass the Extra bringing the Velvet Jockstrap and > Dingleberry 42 into the fold and have all the buds on the air in six > months. When they run a test session at the BARF convention and CB > keydowns we are doomed.

And from all indications FCC couldn't care less.
It's very, very easy to view it all as a totally lost cause.

5929. Re: I made it home alive

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:25:28 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7C4CAFBD8958B318.3FFFD9E662580877.0065D9629641CB69@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 28924

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 01:34:11 -0500, "WebDoc REACT Unit #602"
<arcweb@bnnorth.net> wrote:

>Well all I am back home, I left Brooklyn at 1:30 PM and arrived in my >driveway at 11:30 PM, and wouldn't you know..... I can't sleep. So I am >practicing copying code, I missed the test date in NYC by about 20 >minutes..... I got lost at the 59th st / Columbus Circle transfer from the >A train to the 1 train..... Oh well, there is an exam coming up in >Toledo OH.

Keith, where on earth do you live that your choice of testing sites is NYC and Toledo--or that you have to travel 10 hours each way for testing?

Nearly ever middle sized city in the US has regular testing.
If you are between NYC and Toledo, what about Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philly, Syracuse, or Albany? Or any of the dozens of smaller cities in Pennsylvania, New York, or Ohio for that matter?

Unless you have a reason to prefer testing in a major city it would seem a LOT more relaxing (and far less stressful--which can lead to better test results, of course) to take your test locally instead of traveling as far as you have. At one time you had to go to a major center for testing--my first license and my upgrade to Advanced were taken at FCC regional offices [Las Vegas and San Francisco, respectively] but my Extra came from a testing site only 50 miles from my home in the rural midwest--you should be able to do the same in your own area.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

5930. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:33:52 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AC0D6.F4D8BF9D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28925

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2A4617.1B81193A@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> > > Dave, Larry, Dick C., and people like them would probably see nothing
> but
> > > "nasty" in a person walking on a beach in the nude,
> >
> > Kim, about the only thing nastier than ME walking nude on a beach would > > be the thought of YOU walking nude on a beach. We're both past our > > expiration date. There would likely be folks willing to pay us just to > > avoid seeing us nude on a beach. Keep talking about it and I'm sure > > someone will take up a collection beginning right about now.
> >
>
> Well at least you show some humor, above. But, I don't think anyone who is > the kind of human being I'd admire would be running from either of us.

No, not the kind of person you'd admire--just the kind with plain old common sense.

> > >
> > > or nothing but "nasty"
> > > in a woman who nurses her child in public, or nothing but "nasty" at > > > the idea of a man and woman making love together.
> >
> > Oh, horse hockey, Kim. I don't believe that any of us any problem with > > an idea of people making love. I don't won't it broadcast via ATV and > > don't think we need an audio book version on 20m.
> >
>
> So, don't broadcast it. We have movies for the satisfaction of voyeurism.

I don't broadcast it. You, if you'll remember, brought up that the "idea" of two people making love would seem nasty to several of us.
I pointed out that the idea isn't nasty to me.

> > >
> > > They miss opportunities to > > > see beauty when it is all around them. My callsign is intended for > > fun--and > > > that does not have to include nasty. Nasty is in their minds, not > > mine.
> >

> > Sure, Kim. That's why you chose your call over W5FAT, K5LID or N5DOH.
> > It wasn't for the shock value, it was purely for the "fun".
> >
>
> I like the N5DOH.
>
> > >
> > > And, it is also not in the minds of many, many people I have talked to
> on > > > the air.
> >
> > How do you know? Do you e-mail all of them or just ask them at the > > beginning or end of each QSO?
> >
>
> Their non-asking is enough for me. Do you spend a lot of time emailing, > Dave, to see if people thought you were offensive on the air? Can't you > just take it for granted that if they don't say you were offensive, you > probably weren't?

I'm not the one with the suggestive call, Kim.

> > >
> > > To believe that my callsign is vulgar, does not belong in the ARS, and > > > should not have been requested by me and/or issued by the FCC is to > focus on
> > > "nasty" or "vulgar" ideas of what my callsign is. I choose to ignore
> the
> > > "nasty" or "vulgar" minded, because my callsign isn't.
> >
> >
> > Right. You're all about butterflies and sunrises. That's not why you > > chose your call according to your own admission.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> You mean butterflies and sunrises can't be fun? Gosh.

Sure they can. That's not the kind of fun you sought when choosing your call though.

Dave K8MN

5931. I made it home alive

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:34:11 UTC
From: WebDoc REACT Unit #602 <arcweb@bnnorth.net>
Message-ID: <DXyW7.12814$_K.1636006@cletus.bright.net>
Source record: 28923

Well all I am back home, I left Brooklyn at 1:30 PM and arrived in my driveway at 11:30 PM, and wouldn't you know..... I can't sleep. So I am practicing copying code, I missed the test date in NYC by about 20 minutes..... I got lost at the 59th st / Columbus Circle transfer from the A train to the 1 train..... Oh well, there is an exam coming up in Toledo OH.

Hope everyone had a good holiday.

73's
Keith Hosman

5932. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:37:01 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AC193.4B63C856@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28926

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2A4948.B0257262@earthlink.net...
> > James R. DeLoach wrote:
> >
> > > Kim, there is nothing wrong with your callsign. I can't believe these > > > dirty old men are making such a fuss over it. Enjoy your callsign.
> > > There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would > > > have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.
> >
> > But she didn't choose one of 'em. Oh--you must've meant THAT kind of
> > call!
> >
> > > I think it's great if you like it and that's all that really matters.
> > > Only in America are we FREE to choose what we like or dislike about > > > things, people, etc. etc.
> > > As I saw in another message that someone posted, your callsign is > > > made up of letters, not words. In your case it just happens to spell
> > > a slang word for a part of the human body (breast), that both men and > > > women have. The attitude of these people is part of what is wrong > > > with this country now days. The best way to handle these people > > > is to just ignore them like we do the "dead keyers" on the repeaters.
> > > When they realize that they are not antagonizing anyone, they will > > > go away and find something else to complain about.
> >
> > Repeaters? We don't need no steenking repeaters! Actually, the best > > way for Kim to handle it would have been not to begin braying about her > > nudge wink reasons for obtaining her call and to clam up about it.
> > Kim doesn't clam up for anyone or anything.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Check the timelines, Dave. I am not the one who brings my callsign up in > conversations on this newsgroup. It is usually brought up when one of you > gets stung over something I say--Larry being the most common responder of > same.
>
> I also don't argue my callsign--if you'll read between the lines...and you > don't and haven't so far. I argue that the reactions to my callsign are > less than admirable.

Less than admirable in this case means you aren't having the "fun" you thought you'd have with it. You can say you argue reactions if it helps you to rationalize your responses. In either case, you simply fan the flames.

Dave K8MN

5933. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:38:59 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2AB50D.6DE58CD4@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28927

W1RFI wrote:

> From: Dick Carroll dixie@townsqr.com
>
> >> It appears quite simple. Those that sing Larry's praises on rrap are told > >>they deserve congratulations for passing the 5 wpm test. Those that do not > >>praise Larry receive the badmouth treatment.
>
> >> It appears to me that in Larry's view, it really IS all about Larry.
>
> >Ed I would have expected a more intelligent analysis than that, given that
> >you do > >work CW. But then again, you also work at ARRL HQ.....
>
> You know, it does appear that you are not capable of offering much of meaning > past "I know but I am not going to tell" and "he only says that because he > works at ARRL HQ." Didn't we have this same non-conversation a few months ago?

You really should learn to drop the selective reading and try to get at what's
there.
I said "I knew all along you (Bert) could and would do it" and that was because of what Mark said- it's all in the attitude one brings to the project. Guess you missed all you didn't want to see.

Henry Ford gets credit for saying "Think you can, think you can't, either way you're right". When a young fellow shows up expressing the attitude that he WILL do whatever it takes, that seemingly difficult tasks are just another job to be done, one that WILL be done, then I for one take notice. No PC necessary.
I remember being that way in 1956.

5934. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:42:00 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AC2BF.7632A0ED@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28928

James R. DeLoach wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 16:52:49 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> wrote:
>
> >> There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would > >> have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.
> >>
> >
> >Yeah. How 'bout _5BAL, _5WOM, _5BAB, _5SEX, _5CNT (that idea was actually
> >given to me by this little old lady ham that giggled all night at a > >Christmas party when she thought of it. I told her to go for it and she > >said she probably would if her husband wouldn't yell...LOL), and so on.
> >
> The callsigns that I was thinking of were _?SEX. Looks like most of > the W_SEX callsigns have been taken. I noticed that in the ARRL > Repeater directory that there are some repeaters in the mid-west and > on the east coast that have _?SEX callsigns.
>
> I bet Dave thinks these callsigns are dirty as well.

Do your homework before engaging the keyboard, James. I've never stated that Kim's call is "dirty". It is tacky. It is tasteless. It demonstrates a lack of good judgement.

Dave K8MN

5935. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:43:42 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AC325.7AC43F65@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28929

CAM wrote:
>
> Rick Adams wrote:
> > Nearly everyone who is riding you about your call sign is also > > a cw buff (or at least I _believe_ that to be the case).
>
> To illustrate just how ridiculous their objections are, consider the > difference between 'tit' and 'x' in CW. Would you believe that a > couple of dead spaces can change an 'x' into something vulgar?

Not if the dead spaces are, as in your case, between the cans.

Dave K8MN

5936. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:45:07 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AC379.6B1A598B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28930

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > I'm using the dictionary definition of "vulgar", Kim, as being of the > > > common folk. Vulgar Latin is what the commoners spoke during the > > > Roman Empire.
> > >
> > > Naw, you're not. You are using a word origin and not the common, modern > > > definition of the word.
>
> Seems you would crack open a dictionary before embarrassing yourself, Dave.
> From Webster's: "vulgar - of or relating to the common people"
> It doesn't say a thing about that definition not being common and modern.

Get back to me when you finally figure out how a dictionary is arranged.
If you keep this up, you'll look as dim as you did over the difference between "church" and "Church".

Dave K8MN

5937. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:48:24 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AC43E.679C49B5@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28931

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > > Well, my foggy friend, you don't even have an inalienable right to an > > > > amateur radio license so I don't know how you'd have one for a call of > > > > choice.
> > >
> > > I'm sure vanity callsigns are covered by the First Amendment. Why > > > else would the FCC issue callsigns that they consider vulgar?
> >
> > No one has a inalienable right to a call or a license.
>
> Everyone who qualifies for a call or a license has a right to it/them.
> It is against the law for the FCC to refuse a license or a call to > individuals who have met all the qualifications. What would it take > for you to comprehend that this is a nation of laws, not a nation of > arbitrary royal whims. Your Royal Hinee will likely get spanked for that.

Perhaps you'd like to argue my statement, Don Q.:

Nobody has an inalienable right to an amateur radio license or a callsign--especially a particular callsign. Chew that over for a spell.

Good luck with this latest quest.

Dave K8MN

5938. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:48:50 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2AB75B.567A9391@townsqr.com>
Source record: 28932
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

N9NWO wrote:

> : > : > There are a good deal of elitism out there.
> : > : > For whatever reason. The Marines teach
> : > : > it. So do the police academies.
> : > :
> : > : The police/Marines/doctors/professors etc ARE the elite, when it
> : > : comes to their areas of expertise. Outside that, they are no better
> : > : or worse than anyone else.
> : >
> : > There is the problem. Because they are elite
> : > in their fields, they do transfer that attitude to
> : > every other aspect of society. Because they
> : > are competent, they tend that no one else is.
> : > And if they do not know how to do it, then
> : > no one else should be able to do so either.
> : > (Thus the desire to ban technology such as > : > guns or radios).
> :
> : I don't buy it, N9MWO. There is and always has been elitgeism amongst
> : the elite in any human endeavor, and that elitism has served for far more
> : good than evil in free societies. I've known a lot of elite police
> : officers in the past 40 years and darn few of them showed any tendency to
> : transfer that to the sort constitutional violations you describe.
> : Things change, and sometimes pretty fast, but if we're headed down that
> : slippery slope, I haven't seen a lot of evidence of it. Of course I have
> : seen some. One of he most gregarious cases was in New York Cit. In 1962 I
> : watched a NYPD street cop give a guy an awful cussing in public while he
> : stood with his hand on the butt of his revolver as if he dared the guy to
> : respond in any way. The fellow' soffense was cuttting across one extra
> : traffic lane to get to a (rare) parking spot. There was no safety reason
> : for him not to do that, except the LEO noted his out of state license
> : plate, and after all, some jerk behind who wanted the spot himself
> : honked.....
>
> While I do agree with you that elitism has > been more good than bad as our country
> was founded on elitism (our Founders were > men of learning and property, to even vote > required that one had to own land). And also > the French ideal of equality has created more > suffering than good (the French revolution was > at the root of a good deal of the wars since then).

> However, what I have a problem with is that > so many in the US just can not accept that someone > might be better than they.
>
> And elitism can be carried too far. One of my > friends is Purdue cop. He had been a Lafayette > officer. He told me of how one of the Lieuteants > on the LPD and he were coming out of city hall.
> the LT spotted a local bum (drunk), called him
> over and asked to look at something. When the > bum looked over to see, the LT just beat the hell
> out of him then turned to my friend and ordered > him to write it up and charge the bum with something.
> My friend refused, because there was not way
> for them to force him to. But from that time > on he was labeled a troublemaker.
>
> And remember this is a college town.
>
> Oh, the west side cops have a little technique
> where they get a mouthy college student on the > ground, bring his arms up behind him then twist
> (it is an old wrestling move). They call it "imprinting"
> as it tears the muscles and the kid will always > have pain. Hard to prove in court.

Usually impossible to prove. And cops who do that stuff will be protected from the discipline (and removal from the force) that they deserve by the "code".
That should not be, and sometimes it blows up on them, big time. Seen it happen.

5939. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:52:20 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AC52A.6CEAA947@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28933

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:26:46 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Well, my foggy friend, you don't even have an inalienable right to an > >amateur radio license so I don't know how you'd have one for a call of > >choice. Darn! Another perfectly good rant ruined.
>
> On the contrary, Dave, he _does_ have an inalienable right to > one--so long as amateur radio licenses are administered by the federal > government (they are, obviously), so long as Cecil or anyone else
> meets the legal requirements for licensure it is illegal for the FCC > to _refuse_ to issue such a license. Were he not to have that right it > would mean that the FCC could "pick and choose" whoever they wished to > issue a license to and could refuse to license anyone they wished on > any grounds including race, creed, nation of origin, sex or sexual > orientation--something the clearly canNOT do.
>
> Darn!
>
> Another perfectly good inaccuracy revealed!
>
> Rick

Yeah, on your part. Been reading the Kevin Mitnick thread? There is no constitutional guarantee of a radio license or of a particular callsign. So you mean folks would have to actually meet the qualifications for a license in order to obtain an amateur radio license. Man, who knew????

Dave K8MN

5940. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 06:53:43 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AC57C.94E91244@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28934

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:35:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Rick Adams wrote:
> >>
> >> On 26 Dec 2001 06:52:18 -0800, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
> >>
> >> >CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2954AE.34992319@IEEE.org>...
> >> >
> >> >> If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?
> >> >
> >> >Nope. Nor to anyone else. Nor would I issue similar inappropriate callsigns.
> >> >
> >> >Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.
> >>
> >> In other words, simply because the law would require you to do > >> something, you would refuse anyway because it "isn't right" in your > >> mind?
> >>
> >> And you wonder why many of us think you aren't playing with a > >> full deck!
> >>
> >You'll note, Jim, that this is the kindly prof who only responds in > >kind. He never throws the first stone and he is as supportive of your > >right to express an opinion as he is supportive of Kim's ideas. How do > >we know these things? Because he told us so.
>
> Actually, that was an error, Dave. I thought I was responding > to one of your own tirades. In Jim's case, he can delete the last line > of my response (about playing with a full deck)--that was meant to > apply to you, not to more normal people.
>
> My apologies, Jim, I would hate to accidently put anyone in > Dave's class--that would be far more insulting than you deserve.

A tad too late. That particular horse already departed the area of the barn.

Dave K8MN

5941. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 07:10:19 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AC933.265EB9B3@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28935

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 22:12:27 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >> >> >Folks other than professional baseball players who sell autographs to > >> >> >kids.
> >> >>
> >> >> That means Ted Bundy, Charles Manson, Adolph Hitler, Saddam
> >> >> Hussein, and Osama bin Laden are among your heros.
> >> >
> >> >It does? What a perfectly peculiar and illogical thing to say!
> >I guess you failed logic in school as you've failed it here. Look at my > >statement. Do you see the word "all" in front of the word "folks"?
> >You're right, I don't see it either. You must feel like a complete > >fool.
>
> Let's see:
>
> Let F stand for Folks other than professional baseball players > who sell autographs to kids.
>
> Let P stand for professional baseball players who sell > autographs to kids.
>
> Then F=NOT P
>
> Because you make no provision for subsets in your statement
> above it is inclusive and thus your set of heros DOES include serial > killers (unless they are also professional baseball players who sell > autographs to kids).
>
> Had you wished to exclude subsets, you would have modified > your "Folks other than . . ." to read "Certain folks other than . . ."
> or "My heros do NOT include professional baseball . . ." either of > which could be taken to exclude unnamed subsets.
>
> Sorry, Dave, I not only passed logic, I got a 4.0 in it!
>
> And as usual you were wrong in more than one way. I don't feel > like a fool, either. But you should, if you have been making so-called > logical statements that are clearly so poorly constructed.

No logical mind could read the statement I made and come to the conclusion to which you've arrived. Only a fool or a dishonest person would make such an accusation. Which are you?
> >> >You're babbling again.

> >>
> >> Really?
> >>
> >> Where?
> >
> >Right here--same place as usual.
>
> But, Dave.
>
> I'm not there--I'm here. YOU'RE there. If babbling is > occurring there (you DO state it is occurring "Right here...") it must > be your own, as usual.

Nope. I'm over there. And I couldn't be here by the time you read this unless the laws of physics are repealed.

> >> Besides, keeping that sign from you would be cruel. What sign > >> could _possibly_ fit you better (well, maybe W8ASS, but you don't like > >> expressive call signs).
> >
> >You must have missed it. I've indicated no desire to change my call.
>
> Perhaps you should. By now, people are bound to be starting to > recognize your current one--and it would be a shame to have a large > investment in radio equipment if no one will communicate with you.

I'll let this third time be the final. I h a v e e x p r e s s e d n o i n t e r e s t i n c h a n g i n g m y c a l l. As far as the rest of your drivel, I don't recall ever hearing you or working you on the air. To be certain, I checked my logs. My K8MN log contains about 35,000 QSOs. My J52US log runs to about 75,000. There are more than 60,000 QSOs in my 9L1US log. My A22MN log contains roughly 55,000 QSOs. My OH0 and OH2 logs run to about 15,000 QSOs.
You aren't in any of 'em on any band using any mode. By the way, when do suppose all this shunning of me is going to take place?

> >> "... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
> >> will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
> >
> >I'm pondering this one.
>
> I was hoping you would. Perhaps it will help.

It is a pretty poignant bit of fluff coming from a guy who comes off pretty much as a smart mouth.

Dave K8MN

5942. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 07:31:50 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2ACE4E.5D4A3308@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28938

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 22:16:01 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >What is your particular reason for being here? You seem to enjoy it.
>
> I do.
>
> This is recreation from more serious intellectual exercises > such as teaching and writing. Here I can kid with friends, annoy the > narrow minded, and enrage the intolerant.
>
> In my classes, I have to demonstrate respect for the views of > my students, even if some of them are diametrically opposed to my own
> (the only areas I can legitimately oppose in a class room are those > which contradict science and those which represent racism or sexism, > both of which are prohibited by the school honor code), and even then
> I have to do so in a way that won't offend the student, since I'm in a > power position with respect to them.
>
> Here, on the other hand, I have no such restraints--I'm > perfectly free to call an idiot an idiot and a bigot a bigot without > abusing my position. I have no authority here at all, which means I > don't have to worry about power differentials (unless you include > intellectual ones--it's amazing how few bigots and moralists are even
> the intellectual equals of the average public High School student) and > can respond however I wish with no concern for the effect of my words > on the person I'm communicating with. And since I take what people say > to (or about) me here about as seriously as I take Dan Quayle's > assurances that there was intelligent life on Mars or President > Wimpus' assurances that he believes in freedom, responses like yours
> are at best amusing and at worst frustrating to read since they so > often are written in a self-righteous, confused, manner rather than > precisely and clearly--and even that isn't a major problem, I have > first year students who write almost as poorly so I'm used to it.

It'd seem that you have a rough time getting a hat on that noggin of yours. Your ego knows no bounds. If you have trouble understanding my stuff, I'll be happy to write in such a manner that even y o u c a n u n d e r s t a n d i t.

> Now that I've answered your question, why are YOU here (Simple > masochism? A sincere need to be viewed as a prig? Not allowed to post > in adult news groups? Lost your access to www.hate.com?)?

Probably because I don't want to see amateur radio sink any deeper into bedlam and chaos than it already has. Kim's call is only one issue which interests me.

> >> Depending on the Rorschach blot you saw it in, you could be > >> revealing quite a bit about your inner feelings there, Dave. Are you > >> sure you mean that?
> >
> >Just on a few, Rick. On some, I see pancakes drizzled with maple syrup > >and melted butter. On others I can see rain puddling on the floor below > >an old yellow rain slicker. Then there is the one with Oprah.
>
> If you're serious about that (which I doubt--you usually don't > mean what you say) you really need to talk to a therapist. NOT seeing > sexual images in a Rorschach test is as diagnostic as an over-emphasis > on them--perhaps even more so as it indicates a serious repression of > sexual desire. Of course, you may just be a homosexual in denial but > you could also have far more serious sexual problems that could lead > to major identity and relationship problems in the future (serious > enough ones that even your Viagra won't help you conquer any more).

Really, you thought I was kidding? Are you serious about the homosexuality? Maybe you and I could do some winter camping and discuss the issue. Maybe you could spin some of your Vietnam tales for me and go over your spiffy theories about sexual repression. Do you use Viagra? Were you under the impression that most men over 50 need it?

> It DOES explain why you are so offended by Kim's call > however--you've fixated on the "TIT" part and are sickened by the > thought of sex that your fixation engenders in you.

I have to admit, your supply of absurd statements is seemingly endless. Kim's call is in poor taste. I'm "fixated" on that. On second thought, the camping trip is off! You'll have to find another guy to play "Let's analyze the ink blots".

> >> Rick<--who DOESN'T see buffalo hides on card 07a
> >
> >That's Oprah.
>
> Amazing.
>
> There IS no card 07a--the "a" was a typo.

Too bad, I still see Oprah.

Rick, I know even less about Rorshach tests than you do about ACP-127 format, Niact cables, playing the guitar, maintaining a classified local area network or about any number of ham radio operating activities. I do know a great line of self-important manure when I read it. You da man!

Dave K8MN

5943. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 07:37:08 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2ACFAA.BB5CA091@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28939

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 22:03:44 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Repeaters? We don't need no steenking repeaters! Actually, the best > >way for Kim to handle it would have been not to begin braying about her > >nudge wink reasons for obtaining her call and to clam up about it.
> >Kim doesn't clam up for anyone or anything.
>
> Maybe that's the entire problem, Dave.
>
> You, Dick, and Larry all feel that a woman should behave > differently than a man in public (and probably in private as well) and > that she has an obligation to appear demure, innocent, and moral. When > a woman demonstrates that she is as much a whole person as a man is
> and isn't willing to defer to your "superior" male values, you go ape > and can't allow her decisions to go unchallenged.
>
> It isn't a question of Kim's call sign bothering you--it's > just that you don't think she knows her place!
>
No, Rick. Those are ideas and words which you came up with. They don't express my thoughts at all. Thusly, poof they are dismissed. I identified a trait in Kim. I stated my belief that she is a contributor to the continuation of the thread. Even you are a contributor to the continuation of the thread. You'd like to argue the issue. She wants to argue the issue.

Dave K8MN

5944. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 07:38:24 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2ACFF6.446731CD@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28940

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
> news:A17D53CE133D6D39.5F6E437A9BAFA70A.F74698D962F766B7@lp.airnews.net...
> >
> > It isn't a question of Kim's call sign bothering you--it's > > just that you don't think she knows her place!
> >

>
> Now the crosshairs are on the target. That's what I think about their > protests to my callsign. It is more that they "just don't like me" and > couldn't, originally, come up with something that honest. ;)

Kim, in my book you are a real man.

Dave K8MN

5945. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 07:46:14 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AD1CC.53A6385D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28941

Rick Adams wrote:
>
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 21:50:07 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Kim, about the only thing nastier than ME walking nude on a beach would > >be the thought of YOU walking nude on a beach. We're both past our > >expiration date. There would likely be folks willing to pay us just to > >avoid seeing us nude on a beach. Keep talking about it and I'm sure > >someone will take up a collection beginning right about now.
>
> Actually, Dave, quite a number of the people at nude beaches > and nudist/naturist resorts are between 45 and 65 with a good number > much older than that. Unlike "textile" beaches, people at nude beaches > don't go to "ogle" the bodies of others--only to enjoy the beach.

Then I'd rather go to a beach where I'm unable to avoid seeing all of that flesh. It would dramatically increase my enjoyment of the beach.

> Sorry that you judge people on their physical appearance--most > adults have matured past that point--or at least the ones who go to > nude recreational sites have done so.

Don't be sorry, Rick. All normal folks make some judgements about others based upon appearance. Most adults who claim otherwise could benefit from seeing a good therapist.

> BTW, the amateur "Nude Net" meets on HF on Saturdays as I > recall. You might want to tune it in sometime and note the age of some > of the participants.

Yeah, I'm certain I'd have a rollicking good time.

> >> or nothing but "nasty"
> >> in a woman who nurses her child in public, or nothing but "nasty" at > >> the idea of a man and woman making love together.
>
> >Oh, horse hockey, Kim. I don't believe that any of us any problem with > >an idea of people making love. I don't won't it broadcast via ATV and > >don't think we need an audio book version on 20m.
>
> Given the lack of knowledge of human sexuality among American > youths, I wish they WOULD provide them an audio book version--it might > prevent a lot of unwanted pregnancies and STD infections.

Great idea, Rick. Let's have it replace the K1MAN broadcasts or perhaps you could talk Glenn into carrying it.

> >Sure, Kim. That's why you chose your call over W5FAT, K5LID or N5DOH.
> >It wasn't for the shock value, it was purely for the "fun".
>
> Kim (correctly, btw) doesn't see herself as "Fat," a "LID," or > representative of the kind of person for whom "DOH" is appropriate.
> She sees herself as a woman and chose a different defining > characteristic to use in her sign. Too bad that you find a "TIT" any > more inappropriate than a "LEG" or an "ARM." That isn't her > fault--it's yours!

C'mon, Rick. It's all for FUN according to Kim. Let's have some FUN!

> >How do you know? Do you e-mail all of them or just ask them at the > >beginning or end of each QSO?
>
> How many have YOU surveyed to determine that they find Kim's > call offensive or inappropriate? From what I've seen here, there are > more hams supporting her decision than opposing it.

I don't believe you.

> >Right. You're all about butterflies and sunrises. That's not why you > >chose your call according to your own admission.
>
> She feels positive about butterflies and sunrises. She also > feels positive about her tits. W5BUTTERFLY and W5SUNRISE aren't valid
> call signs. W5TIT is.

W5TIT is a tacky callsign.

> You really SHOULD consider applying for K8DUM!

See my earlier post.

Dave K8MN

5946. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 07:48:25 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2AD24F.651C30D4@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28942

N2EY wrote:
>
> In article <3C2A4C29.7B58B263@earthlink.net>, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> writes:
>
> >On some, I see pancakes drizzled with maple syrup
> >and melted butter.
>
> yummmm.....
>
> >On others I can see rain puddling on the floor below
> >an old yellow rain slicker.
>
> rainy day in spring.....ahhhhhhhhh
>
> > Then there is the one with Oprah.
>
> AHHHHHHH!!!! MY EYES!!!!!!!
>
> 73 de (whew! that was close) Jim, N2EY

Be very, very careful what you say, Jim. You could need therapy.

Dave K8MN

5947. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 08:50:29 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <phBW7.242731$3d2.11838369@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 28943

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2AABED.497C6FC2@townsqr.com...
>
>
> What a bunch of loons. Society decides what is considered vulgar and > what is most every other category. Delude yourselves as you wish.
>
> If you want to go around fourishing your tits in private no on will care > a damn. Do it publically, as in choosing, using and displaying it on your > han radio callsign and you may as well expect to get a very negative > reaction from the majority. You have no choice but to live with it.
>

Dick, the very concept of actions having consequences has never dawned on Kim, is considered debatable by Rick, will be firmly driven into the ground by Dave, and semantically parsed by Cecil. A juvenile act will be defended by juveniles in a juvenile manner; you have no choice but to live with it -- or become a juvenile.

Dick, Bug Killer

5948. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 12:49:14 UTC
From: w1rfi@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011227074914.11823.00001933@mb-fx.aol.com>
Source record: 28945

From: Dick Carroll dixie@townsqr.com

>> You know, it does appear that you are not capable of offering much of >meaning
>> past "I know but I am not going to tell" and "he only says that because he >> works at ARRL HQ." Didn't we have this same non-conversation a few months >ago?

> You really should learn to drop the selective reading and try to get at >what's there.

>I said "I knew all along you (Bert) could and would do it" and that was >because of what Mark said- it's all in the attitude one brings to the project.

>Guess you missed all you didn't want to see.

I read that, Dick. I was responding to what you had said just prior to the post I responded to, not several posts ago. I am pretty good about quoting what post I am responding to, but if you get confused again, I will be glad to set you straight.

To help you keep track of what is going on, just prior to the post I responded to, you had said something to the effect that every PCTA would know why Larry was cruel to some who pass the code test and offered praise to others. That is what I summarized as "I know, but I am not going to tell." You then followed up by something that said that I was stupid because I worked for ARRL HQ, or words to that effect.

Have it all straight in your mind now, Dick? I will be glad to help explain the threads any time you lose them.

73,
Ed Hare, W1RFI

> Henry Ford gets credit for saying "Think you can, think you can't, either
>way >you're right". When a young fellow shows up expressing the attitude that he >WILL do >whatever it takes, that seemingly difficult tasks are just another job to be >done,
>one that WILL be done, then I for one take notice. No PC necessary.
> I remember being that way in 1956.
>
>
>
>
>

>
>

5949. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 13:40:58 UTC
From: Ed Cregger <nm2k@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <u2m8vs8ka1b06e@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 28946
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

They can have it. Ten meters was trashed years ago.

Ed Cregger
nm2k@adoublerl.net

"ROCK" <rock1@antisocial.com> wrote in message
news:xxyW7.12069$uM.141230@rwcrnsc54...
> Okay lets all just take it 1 Jan 2002 19:00hrs (est)
everybody just meet on > 28.500 and we will all have one big key down LoL, just take it over and > everybody will be happy.
>
>

5950. Re: Roger DOES have a social life!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 13:43:21 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0fche$q4t$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 28957
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.2600,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Big Al" <Big_Al@38945BossHog.com> wrote in message news:a0f5ab$4u7$0@pita.alt.net...
> Things are not going well for [Cocaine-induced babble]

Oraasssss, you been pimping those retarded daughters of yours?

5951. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 13:47:49 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b25fd_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28947

```
"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2AC0D6.F4D8BF9D@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2A4617.1B81193A@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> > > > Dave, Larry, Dick C., and people like them would probably see nothing
> > but
> > > > > "nasty" in a person walking on a beach in the nude,
> > >
> > > Kim, about the only thing nastier than ME walking nude on a beach would > > > be the thought of YOU walking nude on a beach. We're both past our > > > expiration date. There would likely be folks willing to pay us just
to > > > avoid seeing us nude on a beach. Keep talking about it and I'm sure > > > someone will take up a collection beginning right about now.
> > >
> >
> > Well at least you show some humor, above. But, I don't think anyone who
is > > the kind of human being I'd admire would be running from either of us.
>
> No, not the kind of person you'd admire--just the kind with plain old > common sense.
>

You mean you feel it is common sense to truly judge someone by the way they look? And, you mean your wife or a woman near your age is no longer attractive to you? Goodness...my darlin' reminds me all the time of how beautiful I look to him--even as we grow older together.

> > > >
> > > > or nothing but "nasty"
> > > > in a woman who nurses her child in public, or nothing but "nasty" at > > > > the idea of a man and woman making love together.
> > >
> > > Oh, horse hockey, Kim. I don't believe that any of us any problem
with > > > an idea of people making love. I don't won't it broadcast via ATV and > > > don't think we need an audio book version on 20m.
> > >
```

> >
> > So, don't broadcast it. We have movies for the satisfaction of voyeurism.
>
> I don't broadcast it. You, if you'll remember, brought up that the > "idea" of two people making love would seem nasty to several of us.
> I pointed out that the idea isn't nasty to me.
>

Yes, yes I did. And you are the one who made some comment about how you don't intend or like to broadcast it. I pointed out that you then shouldn't.

> > > >
> > > > They miss opportunities to > > > > see beauty when it is all around them. My callsign is intended for
>
> > fun--and > > > > that does not have to include nasty. Nasty is in their minds, not > > > mine.
> > >
> > > Sure, Kim. That's why you chose your call over W5FAT, K5LID or N5DOH.
> > > It wasn't for the shock value, it was purely for the "fun".
> > >
> >
> > I like the N5DOH.
> >
> > > > >
> > > > And, it is also not in the minds of many, many people I have talked
to
> > on > > > > the air.
> > >
> > > How do you know? Do you e-mail all of them or just ask them at the > > > beginning or end of each QSO?
> > >
> >
> > Their non-asking is enough for me. Do you spend a lot of time emailing, > > Dave, to see if people thought you were offensive on the air? Can't you > > just take it for granted that if they don't say you were offensive, you > > probably weren't?
>
> I'm not the one with the suggestive call, Kim.
>

And, the callsign certainly isn't "suggestive" at all, Dave. You like to think it is. I don't think it is.

> > > >
> > > > To believe that my callsign is vulgar, does not belong in the ARS,
and > > > > should not have been requested by me and/or issued by the FCC is to > > focus on

> > > > "nasty" or "vulgar" ideas of what my callsign is. I choose to ignore
> > the
> > > > "nasty" or "vulgar" minded, because my callsign isn't.
> > >
> > >
> > > Right. You're all about butterflies and sunrises. That's not why you > > > chose your call according to your own admission.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > You mean butterflies and sunrises can't be fun? Gosh.
>
> Sure they can. That's not the kind of fun you sought when choosing your > call though.
>
> Dave K8MN

How do you know? Now you read my mind?

Kim W5TIT

5952. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 13:48:43 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b2632$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28948

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2AC193.4B63C856@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2A4948.B0257262@earthlink.net...
> > > James R. DeLoach wrote:
> > >
> > > > Kim, there is nothing wrong with your callsign. I can't believe these > > > > dirty old men are making such a fuss over it. Enjoy your callsign.
> > > > There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would > > > > have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.
> > >
> > > But she didn't choose one of 'em. Oh--you must've meant THAT kind of
> > > call!
> > >
> > > > I think it's great if you like it and that's all that really matters.
> > > > Only in America are we FREE to choose what we like or dislike about > > > > things, people, etc. etc.
> > > > As I saw in another message that someone posted, your callsign is > > > > made up of letters, not words. In your case it just happens to spell
> > > > a slang word for a part of the human body (breast), that both men
and > > > > women have. The attitude of these people is part of what is wrong > > > > with this country now days. The best way to handle these people > > > > is to just ignore them like we do the "dead keyers" on the repeaters.
> > > > When they realize that they are not antagonizing anyone, they will > > > > go away and find something else to complain about.
> > >
> > > Repeaters? We don't need no steenking repeaters! Actually, the best > > > way for Kim to handle it would have been not to begin braying about her
> > > nudge wink reasons for obtaining her call and to clam up about it.
> > > Kim doesn't clam up for anyone or anything.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Check the timelines, Dave. I am not the one who brings my callsign up
in > > conversations on this newsgroup. It is usually brought up when one of you > > gets stung over something I say--Larry being the most common responder

of
> > same.
> >
> > I also don't argue my callsign--if you'll read between the lines...and
you > > don't and haven't so far. I argue that the reactions to my callsign are > > less than admirable.
>
>
> Less than admirable in this case means you aren't having the "fun" you > thought you'd have with it. You can say you argue reactions if it helps > you to rationalize your responses. In either case, you simply fan the > flames.
>
> Dave K8MN

And, I suppose now you'd tell me that you don't?

Kim W5TIT

5953. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 13:49:24 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b265b_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28949

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2AC2BF.7632A0ED@earthlink.net...
> James R. DeLoach wrote:
> >
> > On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 16:52:49 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> > wrote:
> >
> > >> There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would > > >> have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.
> > >>
> > >
> > >Yeah. How 'bout _5BAL, _5WOM, _5BAB, _5SEX, _5CNT (that idea was actually
> > >given to me by this little old lady ham that giggled all night at a > > >Christmas party when she thought of it. I told her to go for it and she > > >said she probably would if her husband wouldn't yell...LOL), and so on.
> > >
> > The callsigns that I was thinking of were _?SEX. Looks like most of > > the W_SEX callsigns have been taken. I noticed that in the ARRL > > Repeater directory that there are some repeaters in the mid-west and > > on the east coast that have _?SEX callsigns.
> >
> > I bet Dave thinks these callsigns are dirty as well.
>
> Do your homework before engaging the keyboard, James. I've never stated > that Kim's call is "dirty". It is tacky. It is tasteless. It > demonstrates a lack of good judgement.
>
> Dave K8MN

Yep. And Dave has none of the above.

Kim W5TIT

5954. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 13:52:37 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b2721_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28950

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2AC933.265EB9B3@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > >You must have missed it. I've indicated no desire to change my call.
> >
> > Perhaps you should. By now, people are bound to be starting to > > recognize your current one--and it would be a shame to have a large > > investment in radio equipment if no one will communicate with you.
>
> I'll let this third time be the final. I h a v e e x p r e s s e d > n o i n t e r e s t i n c h a n g i n g m y c a l l. As > far as the rest of your drivel, I don't recall ever hearing you or > working you on the air. To be certain, I checked my logs. My K8MN log > contains about 35,000 QSOs. My J52US log runs to about 75,000. There > are more than 60,000 QSOs in my 9L1US log. My A22MN log contains > roughly 55,000 QSOs. My OH0 and OH2 logs run to about 15,000 QSOs.
> You aren't in any of 'em on any band using any mode. By the way, when > do suppose all this shunning of me is going to take place?
>

And you know what that means to a DXer. ;)

Kim W5TIT

5955. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 13:57:00 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b2823_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28951

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2ACFAA.BB5CA091@earthlink.net...
>
> Rick Adams wrote:
> > It isn't a question of Kim's call sign bothering you--it's > > just that you don't think she knows her place!
> >
> No, Rick. Those are ideas and words which you came up with. They don't > express my thoughts at all. Thusly, poof they are dismissed. I > identified a trait in Kim. I stated my belief that she is a contributor > to the continuation of the thread. Even you are a contributor to the > continuation of the thread. You'd like to argue the issue. She wants > to argue the issue.
>
> Dave K8MN

I do? I'll let you know right now, that I don't want to argue that at all.
I am pretty sure I can get this thread to last until around March. I've said that. It's pretty much the only thread I'm really paying any attention to. I don't know what I am supposed to be arguing...but it sounds to me like you are trying to be a visionary again.

Kim W5TIT

5956. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 13:57:53 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b2858_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28952

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2ACFF6.446731CD@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
> >
news:A17D53CE133D6D39.5F6E437A9BAFA70A.F74698D962F766B7@lp.airnews.net...
> > >
> > > It isn't a question of Kim's call sign bothering you--it's > > > just that you don't think she knows her place!
> > >
> >
> > > Now the crosshairs are on the target. That's what I think about their > > > protests to my callsign. It is more that they "just don't like me" and > > > couldn't, originally, come up with something that honest. ;)
> >
> > Kim, in my book you are a real man.
> >
> > Dave K8MN

Thanks!

Kim W5TIT

5957. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 14:00:36 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b28fb$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28953

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C2AD1CC.53A6385D@earthlink.net...
>
> W5TIT is a tacky callsign.
>

It must not be as tacky as f_ _ _. You typed my callsign all the way. I think that is probably a Freudian slip that you actually don't see as much in my callsign as you think you do. :o

Kim W5TIT

5958. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 14:05:51 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b2a36_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28954

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2AABED.497C6FC2@townsqr.com...
>
> What a bunch of loons. Society decides what is considered vulgar and > what is most every other category. Delude yourselves as you wish.
>

Are you the only member of society, Dick? Let me suggest to you that you take a look around you at some of the most popular music, comedic acts, movies, books, discussions on the internet, etc., today. You'll find, I think, that your idea of society is quite different from what is really out there.

>
> If you want to go around fourishing your tits in private no on will care > a damn.
>

Gotta hand it to you, you definitely are imaginative.

>
> Do it publically, as in choosing, using and displaying it on your > han radio callsign and you may as well expect to get a very negative > reaction from the majority. You have no choice but to live with it.
>

I didn't expect a negative reaction from the majority, and I haven't gotten a negative reaction from the majority. I'll clue you in...most people, even hams, are far above even getting involved with something this petty, Dick. I wonder if you were directing your "you have no choice but to live with it" comment to me. If so, I am living with it, nicely thank you.

Kim W5TIT

5959. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 14:10:53 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b2b64_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28955

"Krell" <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message
news:a0ea4f022p3@enews2.newsguy.com...
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C29F36A.2B0A7A03@IEEE.org...
> > Richard McCollum wrote:
> > > There is > > > no basic conflict in welcoming those who pass the rules currently in > > > effect while not having a lot of use for the rules currently in effect;
> >
> > Unfortunately, Larry is not that way. He has bitched loud and long > > about post-restructuring extras not deserving their privileges.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM, W5DXP
>
> I'm surprised that he didn't reply that the new licensee should raise his > code speed to 40 WPM so that he could be considered a real ham despite the > new regs.
>
>

He can't. He can't do that fast...LOL

Kim W5TIT

5960. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 14:18:22 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112270618.1febab84@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28956

"Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net> wrote in message news:<3c2a9897_2@news7.fast.net>...

(N2EY wrote):
> > > > What is the difference between an FCC rule that says Morse skill
> is > required to > > > > > use a particular part of the radio spectrum and a Park Service > rule
> that says
> > > > > motor vehicles cannot be used in certain parks and wilderness > areas?
> > > >
> > > > The sort of Park Service rules that you refer to are intended to > > > > protect and preserve the environment.
> > >
> > Which means the govt. does have an interest in protecting the > historic > > > and traditional nature of some things, even if they are public > > > property.
> >
> That's not the point at all ...

Yes, it is.

> the prohibition on motor vehicles > is to protect the environment ...

Part of "protect the environment" is to preserve the character of the place. Ever been to Colonial Williamsburg? No motor vehicles are allowed because they would detract from the character of the place.
The same is true in many parks and wilderness areas.

> that doesn't correlate to > the spectrum, which is more resiliant, in the sense that when > lids stop acting up, there is no permanent, residual damage > to the spectrum.

Actually, it does correlate. When "lids act up" they leave a negative impression on at least some of those listening. While the EM spectrum may not be "damaged", the image of the service to whom that spectrum is allocated sure can be.

I've seen this effect in real life. Coupla new hams with bad addytoods and habits showed up on a local repeater, carried on in all sorts of inappropriate ways. Control ops shut down the repeater whenever they would act up, and eventually they were sent letters by certified mail telling them they were not welcome - which only made things worse.

Only after they discovered that the repeater would shut down whenever they tried to use it did they go elsewhere.

Trouble is, all of this was being monitored by some scanner enthusiasts in the area. They were turned off to ham radio by the whole mess. I recall in particular one family that were all very interested in getting licenses until those guys showed up. We lost at least a half dozen potential hams in that one family alone.

Guess what license class the hams with bad addytoods had.
>
> > The end result is a "setaside" for "legacy modes of transportation"
> > like walking and horseback riding.
>
> That is an incidental side effect of prohibiting uses which > could cause long-term damage to the environment.

AND an attempt to contorl the character of the place.
>
> > > The FCC (and other
> > > rational entities) have recognized the fact that Morse proficiency > > > doesn't "preserve the environment" (it doesn't, as some claim, > > > serve as a "lid filter" ... see various FCC Report and Order > > > documents for such findings.)
> >
> > You're missing the point, Carl. The issue was about traditions and > > their preservation as a matter of law.
>
> And preserving traditions is NOT a legitimate purpose of > regulation.

Yes, it is. That's one of the reasons we have a park system and historical place designations.
>
> > No test can serve perfectly as a "lid filter". That doesn't mean the > > tests have no effect on behavior.
>
> The FCC has explicitly determined and stated that Morse
> proficency (as demonstrated through testing requirements) > demonstrates NOTHING about how an applicant will behave.

So? that simply means the FCC doesn't accept the "lid filter" argument for code testing. Did they publish a report on how they made their determination? I don't think so.

Besides, the test is a dead issue. FCC and other agencies want it gone, and it's all but gone now.

The important point is that the NALs are practically all issued to hams using 'phone modes.
>

> > The FCC decided long ago (1975) to push for code test elimination.
> > They have gradually but steadily eroded code testing over time, and > > are merely keeping 5 wpm because of S25.5. Doesn't mean the FCC is > > "right" or "rational", just that they decided on a course of action > > and are pursuing it.
>
> I've had detailed conversations with numerous FCC officials.

That's nice.

> I find them quite rational about the purpose of their rules.

Because they agree with you.

> (and some of them are long-term 20 wpm extras who operate
> CW almost exclusively ... but they still recognize that Morse > testing has no place in FCC rules ...)

Just their opinions.
>
> > FCC also decided that the written tests were to be reduced in size
> and > > number, too.
>
> Give me a break ... the number of questions and the breadth of > material has increased over the years ...

The breadth of material has increased but the depth has decreased. The number of questions has decreased and the nature of the test has changed.

Here's proof:

Written test requirements before April 15, 2000:

Novice: 1 test, 30 questions
Tech/Tech Plus: 2 tests, 30/35 questions (65 total)
General: 3 tests, 30/35/35 questions (100 total)
Advanced: 4 tests, 30/35/35/50 questions (150 total)
Extra: 5 tests, 30/35/35/50/40 questions (190 total)

Written test requirements after April 15, 2000:

Tech: 1 test, 35 questions
General: 2 tests, 35/35 questions (70 total)
Extra: 3 tests, 35/35/50 questions (120 total)

I did this from memory so the number of questions may not be perfect, but the trend is very clear. Fewer tests and fewer questions across the board.

Back when I took the exams (1967-1970) the Novice was about 20 questions, and all of the other classes about 50 questions each. About 170 total questions. The exact number of questions on the test was not known in advance back then, nor were the exact Q&A.

The number of questions HAS NOT increased - the trend is exactly the other way.

> ask Ed about how he > passed his General many years ago after studying a FOUR PAGE
> ARRL study guide ... now they have to send you a book of about > 200 pages to cover it all ...

You are mistaken again, Carl.

The "four page study guide" story refers to the Novice exam, not the General. It refers to the pages of the License Manual devoted to the Novice license, as if that were all a prospective ham had to study. The "200 page book" refers to the Tech Q&A book of the pre-2000-restructuring era.

The trouble with the story is that it's an apples-and-oranges comparison. The old LM "study guides" were simply the FCC sample essay questions reprinted. The exact Q&A were NOT given. The answers were not detailed explanations of theory or rules, either. The rest of the LM was instructions on exam procedure and a complete reprint of the regs, which had to be studied in addition to the guide.

The "200 page book" is a complete manual, listing all of the exact Q&A, with explanations. And lots of other stuff.

On top of this, the 1963 Novice was a very limited license that was good for one year and then gone forever. 75 watts of xtal-controlled CW on tiny slices of 80, 40 and 15, plus the same power/xtal on 145-147 CW and AM. The Tech is a completely different animal. ALL amateur privileges above 30 MHz for just a 35 question multiple choice written - and the EXACT Q&A pool is easily available as a book or a free download.
>
> This entire assertion that the written tests have been "dumbed
> down" is JUST PLAIN INACCURATE.

Do the math, Carl. Is 190 questions in 5 tests more than 120 questions in 3 tests? Has the testing for any of the license classes been increased? Have the nature of the questions or the method of testing changed? A big "NO" on all counts.
>
> > The process has been going on for a long time and there's > > no end in sight. Does that make those of us who support better > written > > testing irrational? Nope.
>
> I'll agree with you that the written tests could be improved.
> I've found a number of question/answer sets that could be > better written (or outright corrected) ... I intend to spend some > time reviewing the new pools as they are released and

> sending suggested improvements and corrections to the QPC.

Three questions on the new Extra pool have already been tossed because of mistakes - even though they'd been reviewed by the QPC and APPROVED by the FCC.

> > > > Experience has shown what happens without such commitment.
> > >
> > > And that is WHAT?
> >
> > A service that is a complete mess.
>
> Excuse me, but that's a pile

cb is not a mess? Why do you ASSUME I'm talking about the ARS?

>... many of the worst offenders > are 20 wpm long-term extras, or crotchety old generals

Name some. Look at the enforcement letters and tell us what the offenses are and who are doing them.

They are spread out over license class, but they concentrate on two things: the offenders tend to be of a certain age and they mostly use 'phone modes.

> who > think "real radios glow in the dark" and couldn't pass a test > on modern technology if their lives depended on it ...

HOW do you know any of that?
>
> Bad behavior has been the result of two factors:
> 1) lack of enforcement (until Riley, at least, thank God
> for Riley ...)

Riley is the direct result of constant requests for more enforcement by the ARRL and "old fashioned" hams who saw the service going downhill.

> 2) too

[expletive deleted]

> many hams think they're God's gift to > the spectrum because they've been licensed
> a long time and can beep real fast and have as their > major goal to put down (and try to keep/drive out) newbies
> "who shouldn't be crowding 'their' bands" ... those are > the types of lids who jam, use bad language on the air,
> make rude, insulting comments to "lesser hams," etc.

Where in the world do you get that stuff? Look at the enforcement letters and tell us where any of that comes from. You're saying that new hams and those who have not passed "real fast" code tests don't do any of these things.

>
> > What I was referring to was what happened to the cb radio service, > > which has never required any sort of "commitment" other than getting
> a > > radio set and putting it on the air.
>
> If you were to study the history, CB was pretty well-behaved > until the "Smokey and the Bandit" and "Convoy" era

I know the history. 27 MHz CB started in 1958, and was pretty civilized until the mid-60s. I knew plenty of cbers in the mid-60s, and listen to them sometimes. It was a mess then, and has only gotten worse.

>... then > things got out of hand and the FCC threw up its hands and > made it a completely unlicensed service because they couldn't > enforce against tens of millions of people who chose not to > behave ...

The important question is WHY they chose not to behave. They were not committed to an orderly service or following the rules.
>
> But "committment" (of work to jump through stupid hoops)
> has never been a factor in promoting good behavior on
> the ham bands ...

The commitment and responsibility of hams to an orderly service and following the rules is THE major factor in keeping the ARS from being just like cb. How that commitment and sense of responsibility comes about is a major concern in preserving and improving the ARS.
>
> > Which still begs the questions: what do YOU consider "legitimate > > standards"? If/when the code test completely disappears, what should > > the US amateur radio license structure and requirements look like?
>
> With some improvements in the written tests (more in terms > of modernization, editorial/technical correctness, etc., NOT > in terms of "making them harder to pass"), I'm pretty happy > with the standards we have today.

So the written test reductions of April 2000 are OK with you.
>
> The one exception would be that I don't think that the "tech"
> written exam is technically adequate to convey 1.5 kW power > privileges with unlimited antenna gain at frequencies that > cook meat ...

But the FCC sure does! In fact, they recently CUT the testing requirements for the Tech license almost in HALF. You say they are quite rational in the reasons for their rules, so they must rationally think that the current single 35 question multiple choice written test from a published pool is perfectly adequate to license someone for full 1.5 kW output power on all amateur frequencies and modes above 30 MHz. Even though a person could get all of the questions on RF safety wrong and still pass. Who are you and I to question them on this?

On the other hand, operating a 1.5 kW transmitter on amateur frequencies below 30 MHz requires additional written testing. And full privileges requires still more written testing.

Why is it OK with you to make hams "jump through stupid hoops" of additional written tests to get HF/MF privileges that match their VHF/UHF privileges? You say you are "pretty happy with the standards we have today", which means the current system, sans code test and with some tweaking of the Tech, is OK with you.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5961. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 14:53:26 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0fct1$h05$1@slb7.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28958

"Brian Kelly" <kelly@dvol.com> wrote in message news:d22b54c3.0112260535.4c902b85@posting.google.com...
> Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:<3C25D150.69216283@townsqr.com>...
> > Bill Sohl wrote:
> >
> > > On Sat, 15 Dec 2001 17:45:34 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> > > wrote:
> > > >A professional engineer should have aced the Extra test.
> > >
> > > Why? 1/4 or more of the questions involve totally > > > non-technical subjects (VE credentials, amateur space > > > operations rules, etc.)
> >
> > I aced the Extra test over 30 years ago, long before VE credential etc > > questions, and I'm, not a degreed engineer. All that means what?
> >
> Precisely nothing as you well know.
> >
> If the life of ham radio depended on EEs our game woulda been long > gone. If the life of ham radio depended on the the even more scarce > EEs who are also PEs the game woulda been over even quicker. There is > no correlation whatsoever among flavors of degrees and/or a lack > thereof and/or the FCC passing out radio operator licenses and/or > passing scores on the writtens and/or the individual's contributions > to anything in ham radio.
> >
> >
> Unless of course there is some perceived merit in gloming an Extra
> just for the bragging rights instead of actually putting it on the air > in the Extra setasides.

Brian,
I passed the Extra so I have the "option" of operating anywhere in the ham bands/modes authorized for a USA ham. I almost never operate in Extra subbands....BUT I always have the option if I want to. Additionally, Extra allows me to be a VE for any level testing.

> If bragging rights is the name of the game then what the hell, thee me
> and gazillions of others around here did the 20wpm thing at our > neigborhood FCC offices which the lightweights around here will never
> do.

If it makes you feel good, feel free to brag all you want.

Cheers and Happy Holidays
Bill K2UNK

5962. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 15:16:07 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0fe7k$fh4$1@nntp9.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 28959

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:9f4bfe89.0112260605.2ea72102@posting.google.com...
> "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net> wrote in message
news:<3c292f17_2@news7.fast.net>...
> > -----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
> >
> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> > news:20011224100327.27168.00000589@mb-cb.aol.com...
> > > In article <3c247df9_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson"
> > > writes:
> > >
> > [snip]
> > >
> > > What is the difference between an FCC rule that says Morse skill is > > required to > > > use a particular part of the radio spectrum and a Park Service rule > > that says
> > > motor vehicles cannot be used in certain parks and wilderness areas?
> >
> > The sort of Park Service rules that you refer to are intended to > > protect and preserve the environment.
>
> Which means the govt. does have an interest in protecting the historic > and traditional nature of some things, even if they are public > property.

Not at all...the protection is not for the "mode" but rather the avoidance of the PERMANENT damage to the environment IF motor vehicles were allowed. NO such damage can happen where other radio modes coexist with CW.

> The end result is a "setaside" for "legacy modes of transportation"
> like walking and horseback riding.

Again, it isn't for "tradition", but rather to avoid changing the landscape.

> > The FCC (and other > > rational entities) have recognized the fact that Morse proficiency > > doesn't "preserve the environment" (it doesn't, as some claim, > > serve as a "lid filter" ... see various FCC Report and Order > > documents for such findings.)
>
> You're missing the point, Carl. The issue was about traditions and > their preservation as a matter of law.

And the ONLY thing that you are arguing here now IS tradition.

> No test can serve perfectly as a "lid filter". That doesn't mean the > tests have no effect on behavior.

The intent of any LID filter can be accomplished with almost any effort based exam. The intent, however, of FCC amateur test requirements is not now, nor has it ever been, to serve as a LID filter or determination of effort/commitment by the applicant.

> The FCC decided long ago (1975) to push for code test elimination.
> They have gradually but steadily eroded code testing over time, and > are merely keeping 5 wpm because of S25.5. Doesn't mean the FCC is > "right" or "rational", just that they decided on a course of action
> and are pursuing it.

However, not ONE rational argument has been raised that can counter the FCC position. If it did, there'd at least be some legal basis to claim the FCC was acting "wrong" or "irrationally."

> FCC also decided that the written tests were to be reduced in size and > number, too. The process has been going on for a long time and there's > no end in sight. Does that make those of us who support better written > testing irrational? Nope.
>
> > > >Another concept to consider is that "discipline" is a bit misused
> > in > > > > >this application, IMHO. Are you talking about the concept that > > some > > > > >have voiced that "It's (jumping through the Morse proficiency hoop) > > > > >necessary to show 'committment'." ???
> > > >
> > > > Experience has shown what happens without such commitment.
> > >
> > > And that is WHAT?
> >
> A service that is a complete mess.

Yet that is not the case at all. All the doom and gloom predictions are nothing but bull.

> > Most of the no-code techs I've met are > > polite and concientious operators.
> >
> Most of the hams I know, of all license classes, are polite, > conscientious, skilled and technically-knowledgeable operators.

EXACTLY!

> What I was referring to was what happened to the cb radio service, > which has never required any sort of "commitment" other than getting a > radio set and putting it on the air.

And how does that compare to ham radio. Last I checked we DO have licensing and testing. Indeed, as a comparison, CB NEVER had testing of ANY sort and only minimal licensing that was abondoned as useless effort.

> > MANY are far more
> > technically competent than many fast-beepers ...
>
> The reverse is also true. All depends who you hang out with and how > you define "technical competence". Technical competence is also not a > "lid filter", btw. Just check the FCC enforcement letters.

True...so what? The point is that morse DOSE NOT equal technical competency anymore than many other things.

> "Technical competence" is of no consequence unless an amateur actually > does something with it. I've got BSEE and MSEE degrees - does that > make me "FAR more valuable" to the ARS' future?

Depends on how you consider use of such competency.
I'd say anyione that serves as a mentor, teacher and/or lends their competency to others does just that. You don't have to "invent" or write tech articles for QST to apply your technical competency to amateur radio.

> > and I view
> > technical competence as FAR more valuable to the future > > of amateur radio than being able to beep fast.
>
> Your opinion only. That's not a reason to force new modes and > technologies down the throats of people who are not interested, nor to > force new hams to jump through technical proficiency hoops to get a > license.

And neither of those has happened to any degree that the morse test requirement has done for decades.
All hams are free to use or not use any modes authorized by the rules.

> All hams are free to develop their technical skills in whatever area > they so desire, to whatever level they choose. No degree or specific > class of license required. But in the decade since the dropping of the > code test for the Technician, no revolution in amateur radio > technology has occurred because of the code test changes.

Your point?

> > > >Showing"committment" also has no place in regulation.
> > >

> > > I would call it "responsibility".
> >
> > One can operate and behave responsibly with no knowledge > > of Morse whatsoever ...
>
> No doubt. That's not the point. One cannot operate and behave > responsibly with no sense of responsibility, or commitment to the ARS.
>
> --
> Which still begs the questions: what do YOU consider "legitimate > standards"? If/when the code test completely disappears, what should > the US amateur radio license structure and requirements look like?

The same as it does now (IMHO) except with no code test at all.
I see no reason for any radical chnage due to an end of all code testing... nor do I expect the FCC to embark on any such path. The FCC was pretty clear that the 5wpm test is just a treaty element and is an appendage that can easily be dropped with no real need to alter any other aspect of the licensing structure or exams.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

5963. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 15:22:59 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0fe970aje@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28963

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:phBW7.242731$3d2.11838369@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> Dick, the very concept of actions having consequences has never dawned on > Kim, is considered debatable by Rick, will be firmly driven into the > ground by Dave, and semantically parsed by Cecil. A juvenile act will be > defended by juveniles in a juvenile manner; you have no choice but to live > with it -- or become a juvenile.
>
> Dick, Bug Killer

So who decides what is juvenile?

5964. Re: really dumb SW radio pirate

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 15:23:27 UTC
From: Dave Holford <holford@sympatico.ca>
Message-ID: <3C2B3CEF.C9BEA96@sympatico.ca>
Source record: 28960
Cross-posted to:
alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.scanner,rec.radio.shortwave

Industry Canada actually has a "squad of agents" in Newfoundland?

Dave

"Kaa B." wrote:
>
> Found in alt.radio.pirate:
>
> A radio pirate in the Barnes Road area of St. John's, Newfoundland, > Canada has had his equipment confiscated by Industry Canada. The > pirate, who, they describe as 'not too bright' and dressed in woman's > clothing was awakened from his sleep by a squad of agents, who > searched the house and seized thousands of dollars of radio > transmitting equipment. The pirate was caught when while under the > influence of alcohol, mistakenly broadcast his address on the air, > while soliciting free beer from listeners. Charges are pending.
>
> Wonder if he also operated on 14.313 and fancied an "erotic exotic > relationship" with a certain ham in Vermont? ;)

5965. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 15:32:05 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0feq90bat@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 28967

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011227000313.05154.00000644@mb-fm.aol.com...

> Note that I'm not saying here that any callsign is vulgar.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

Here's one that could go with Kim's, although it's missing a "p" - N1PLE, held by Kevin Culverhouse. We should tell him that his callsign is vulgar.

5966. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 15:44:03 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B41C3.BB8EC1FF@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28961

```
Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Dave, you are like the unfortunate soul who sees vulgar pictures > > in ink blots. It is all in your mind. Try switching from vulgar > > thoughts to beautiful thoughts and thus make the world a better > > place instead of the cesspool in which you live.
>
> Wow! You go deeper into lunacy with each post!

I'm not surprised that you have never had a beautiful thought in your entire life, Dick.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5967. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 15:45:53 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B4231.C6B6A9F2@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28962

```
Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > EXACTLY the point, Dick. You guys need to work on cleaning up > > your thought processes. Vulgarity is not in the call sign - it > > is in your and Larry's and Dave's minds. I'm glad you finally > > get it. Hey Kim, Dick finally gets it!
>
> Oh, I've had it all along. You're a lying, scheming, conniving dipschit who > wouldn't recognize truth if it jumped up and bit your butt.

Don't you just love it when Dick waxes intellectual.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5968. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 15:48:14 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B42BE.400CBDD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28964

Rick Adams wrote:
> Sorry, Cecil--he obviously doesn't get it after all.

Oh, he got it all right - but he lost it. Dick wakes up in a new world every morning, thinking dirty thoughts and looking for someone to bully.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5969. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 15:54:06 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B441E.7CA76819@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28965

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> N2EY wrote:
>
> >One real problem nobody talks about much is the addytoods of those who > > come to ham radio with "experience" in other services.
>
> Well, I sure did and you saw what happened. Cecil and his pals the jackels at NCI tried to eat me alive.

Well Dick, your false statements and gross ignorance could not be left unchallenged. Look at the bright side. You learned about Shannon's Theorem.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5970. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 15:55:57 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28966

"Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern
> digital modes as well?

Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will learn Morse code?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5971. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 16:05:42 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B46D6.75888B66@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28968

Dick Carroll wrote:
> What a bunch of loons. Society decides what is considered vulgar and > what is most every other category. Delude yourselves as you wish.

I do not believe that society finds the word "tit" to be obscene, Dick. In fact, folks around here think "breast" is risque' and everyone in my family prefers "titty" to "breast". Do you have any proof of your assertion? Please don't come back with your "everyone knows" argumentum ad populum.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5972. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 16:11:41 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B483D.D00B4537@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28969

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> I didn't expect a negative reaction from the majority, and I haven't gotten > a negative reaction from the majority.

Maybe "tit" means something different to Yankees, Kim. When referring to the human breast, most folks around Madison County, TX say "titty" which is considered to be "baby talk" and is certainly not obscene.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5973. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 16:13:13 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B4899.3AF4B355@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28970

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > It doesn't matter unless you are trying to mimic "1984"'s thought > > police
>
> OM you're running just ahead of the idiot police.

Dick, when are you going to take responsibility for YOUR dirty thoughts that originate in YOUR dirty mind?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5974. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 16:15:36 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B4928.F14375F9@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28972

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > >
> > > CAM wrote:
> > > > I'm using the dictionary definition of "vulgar", Kim, as being of the > > > > common folk. Vulgar Latin is what the commoners spoke during the > > > > Roman Empire.
> > >
> > > Naw, you're not. You are using a word origin and not the common, modern > > > definition of the word.
> >
> > Seems you would crack open a dictionary before embarrassing yourself, Dave.
> > From Webster's: "vulgar - of or relating to the common people"
> > It doesn't say a thing about that definition not being common and modern.
>
> Get back to me when you finally figure out how a dictionary is arranged.
> If you keep this up, you'll look as dim as you did over the difference > between "church" and "Church".

Dave, I used the word so I get to pick the definition. When are you going to realize that you are NOT omnipotent and don't have control over the words I choose to use even though you are deluded enough to think you do.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5975. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 16:17:36 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B49A0.2874B1D4@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28971

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote:
> > In either case, you simply fan the flames.

> And, I suppose now you'd tell me that you don't?

Dave wouldn't do that. He just pours gasoline on it.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5976. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 16:22:56 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B4AE0.EFF43B89@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28973

Dave Heil wrote:
> Do your homework before engaging the keyboard, James. I've never stated > that Kim's call is "dirty". It is tacky. It is tasteless. It > demonstrates a lack of good judgement.

All definitions of "dirty" when used in that context. From Webster's:
"dirty - undesirable or unpleasant, very unfortunate or regrettable"
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5977. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 16:27:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B4BE0.F87C6315@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28975

Dave Heil wrote:
> Nobody has an inalienable right to an amateur radio license or a > callsign--especially a particular callsign. Chew that over for a > spell.

Kim has just as much of a right to her callsign as you do to yours,
Dave. The FCC has endorsed both as legal and proper for identification on the ham bands. I know that chaps your ass, but that's reality.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5978. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 16:29:35 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112270829.5e0259df@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28974

Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:<D7963D64694DFC99.EAED21104D6F9632.B6F403C4270D682D@lp.airnews.net>...
> On 26 Dec 2001 06:52:18 -0800, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
> >CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2954AE.34992319@IEEE.org>...
> >
> >> If you were running the FCC, would you issue W5TIT to Kim?
> >
> >Nope. Nor to anyone else. Nor would I issue similar inappropriate callsigns.
> >
> >Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.
>
> In other words, simply because the law would require you to do > something, you would refuse anyway because it "isn't right" in your > mind?

I don't understand your question.

The question asks what I would do if I were "running the FCC".
Actually, as I understand the situation no single person "runs the FCC", so we're dealing with a completely hypothetical situation where one person (me) DID "run the FCC".

In that case, I would not issue certain calls to amateurs because they are inappropriate. It would not be against the law because there is no law that says the FCC MUST issue anyone a particular callsign. In fact, no law says that the FCC must have a vanity call sign program at
all.

Related story:

Way back in 1977 I traded in WA3IYC for N2EY when I moved to Wayne County, New York. Back then an Extra could get a 1X2 or 2X1 upon request - but NO CHOICE as to what call you got. I'd had an Extra for seven years at that point and since I thought the move to NY was permanent I got one of the first "N" calls.

Two years later I moved back to 3-land but the regs had changed. FCC had decided that they were not going to issue any more 1X2 calls but those who had them could keep them. Instead, they would issue 2X1s to Extras who asked, but again no choice. The reason they decided to stop issuing the 1X2s was that it generated a lot of admin work for them.
Although N3EY was available, neither I nor anyone else could have it.
If I gave up N2EY, nobody else would get it. The supply of 1X2 and 2X1 calls in any call district is very limited, and if I got a new 3 land 2X1 I'd be depriving some other ham from having a short callsign. End result was that I kept N2EY, and by the time the vanity program changed it was such an old friend there was no reason to change it. Somebody else finally got N3EY. More power to him.

> And you wonder why many of us think you aren't playing with a > full deck!

All I did was answer Cecil's question. I know you meant the above remark for my friend Dave, K8MN, but that changes nothing. I think Dave would answer the question about the same way I did.

Sounds like you think anyone with an electro-politically incorrect opinion "isn't playing with a full deck". Interesting.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5979. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 16:30:44 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B4CB4.6ED714@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28976

N2EY wrote:
> The vanity callsign program is an option offered by the FCC, not a > right.

As long as they are offered by the FCC, Kim has the same RIGHT to her callsign as you do to yours, i.e. Kim is not a second-class citizen compared to you, i.e. you are not Ham Radio Royalty.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5980. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 17:40:04 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B5CF8.FD602FC@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28977

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2AC0D6.F4D8BF9D@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C2A4617.1B81193A@earthlink.net...
> > > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > > > Dave, Larry, Dick C., and people like them would probably see > nothing
> > > but
> > > > > "nasty" in a person walking on a beach in the nude,
> > > >
> > > > Kim, about the only thing nastier than ME walking nude on a beach
> would > > > > be the thought of YOU walking nude on a beach. We're both past our > > > > expiration date. There would likely be folks willing to pay us just
> to > > > > avoid seeing us nude on a beach. Keep talking about it and I'm sure > > > > someone will take up a collection beginning right about now.
> > > >
> > >
> > > Well at least you show some humor, above. But, I don't think anyone who
> is > > > the kind of human being I'd admire would be running from either of us.
> >
> > No, not the kind of person you'd admire--just the kind with plain old > > common sense.
> >
>
> You mean you feel it is common sense to truly judge someone by the way they > look? And, you mean your wife or a woman near your age is no longer > attractive to you? Goodness...my darlin' reminds me all the time of how > beautiful I look to him--even as we grow older together.

I mean that it is common sense to choose not to view something which is past its prime and which would generall detract from what would otherwise be a lovely setting. My wife isn't near my age. Her view isn't as good as mine. She receives extra credit. There are women my age who look attractive. There are women my age who do not look attractive. I make those judgements. I do not see any of those women, attractive or unattractive nude.

> > > > >
> > > > > or nothing but "nasty"
> > > > > in a woman who nurses her child in public, or nothing but "nasty" at > > > > > the idea of a man and woman making love together.
> > > > >
> > > > Oh, horse hockey, Kim. I don't believe that any of us any problem
> with > > > > an idea of people making love. I don't won't it broadcast via ATV and > > > > don't think we need an audio book version on 20m.
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > So, don't broadcast it. We have movies for the satisfaction of > voyeurism.
> >
> > I don't broadcast it. You, if you'll remember, brought up that the > > "idea" of two people making love would seem nasty to several of us.
> > I pointed out that the idea isn't nasty to me.
> >
>
> Yes, yes I did. And you are the one who made some comment about how you > don't intend or like to broadcast it. I pointed out that you then > shouldn't.

I said nothing at all about my having any intention of broadcasting it, only that I didn't think it should be something on the airwaves. so your point was superfluous.

> > > > >
> > > > > They miss opportunities to > > > > > see beauty when it is all around them. My callsign is intended for
> >
> > > fun--and > > > > > that does not have to include nasty. Nasty is in their minds, not > > > > mine.
> > > > >
> > > > Sure, Kim. That's why you chose your call over W5FAT, K5LID or N5DOH.
> > > > It wasn't for the shock value, it was purely for the "fun".
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > I like the N5DOH.
> > >
> > > > > > And, it is also not in the minds of many, many people I have talked
> to
> > > on
> > > > > > the air.
> > > > >
> > > > How do you know? Do you e-mail all of them or just ask them at the > > > > beginning or end of each QSO?
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > Their non-asking is enough for me. Do you spend a lot of time emailing,

> > > Dave, to see if people thought you were offensive on the air? Can't you > > > just take it for granted that if they don't say you were offensive, you > > > probably weren't?
> >
> > I'm not the one with the suggestive call, Kim.
> >
>
> And, the callsign certainly isn't "suggestive" at all, Dave. You like to > think it is. I don't think it is.

Sure it is, Kim. You told us so in your explanation of the "fun" you could have with it. If it didn't suggest something, you couldn't achieve nudge wink reaction to it.

> > > > >
> > > > > To believe that my callsign is vulgar, does not belong in the ARS,
> and > > > > > should not have been requested by me and/or issued by the FCC is to > > > focus on
> > > > > "nasty" or "vulgar" ideas of what my callsign is. I choose to > ignore
> > > the
> > > > > "nasty" or "vulgar" minded, because my callsign isn't.
> > > >
> > > >
> > > > Right. You're all about butterflies and sunrises. That's not why you > > > > chose your call according to your own admission.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > You mean butterflies and sunrises can't be fun? Gosh.
> >
> > Sure they can. That's not the kind of fun you sought when choosing your > > call though.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> How do you know? Now you read my mind?

It isn't even that complicated. I read your posts here.

Dave K8MN

5981. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 17:42:07 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B5D74.A72B0030@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28978

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2AC193.4B63C856@earthlink.net...

> > Less than admirable in this case means you aren't having the "fun" you > > thought you'd have with it. You can say you argue reactions if it helps > > you to rationalize your responses. In either case, you simply fan the > > flames.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> And, I suppose now you'd tell me that you don't?

No, I'm not going to tell you any such thing. I'm going to tell you that it is my intent to fan the flames. You're assisting me.

Dave K8MN

5982. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 17:43:37 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B5DCE.C331581D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28979

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2AC2BF.7632A0ED@earthlink.net...
> > James R. DeLoach wrote:
> > >
> > > On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 16:52:49 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> > > wrote:
> > >
> > > >> There are other callsigns that you could have chosen that would > > > >> have been just as funny/different for a woman than the one you chose.
> > > >>
> > > >
> > > >Yeah. How 'bout _5BAL, _5WOM, _5BAB, _5SEX, _5CNT (that idea was > actually
> > > >given to me by this little old lady ham that giggled all night at a > > > >Christmas party when she thought of it. I told her to go for it and > she > > > >said she probably would if her husband wouldn't yell...LOL), and so on.
> > > >
> > > The callsigns that I was thinking of were _?SEX. Looks like most of > > > the W_SEX callsigns have been taken. I noticed that in the ARRL > > > Repeater directory that there are some repeaters in the mid-west and > > > on the east coast that have _?SEX callsigns.
> > >
> > > I bet Dave thinks these callsigns are dirty as well.
> >
> > Do your homework before engaging the keyboard, James. I've never stated > > that Kim's call is "dirty". It is tacky. It is tasteless. It > > demonstrates a lack of good judgement.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Yep. And Dave has none of the above.

You may win this round, Kim. I have no tacky. I have no tasteless and I have no demonstrates.

Dave K8MN

5983. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 17:44:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B5E0C.35DE5F59@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28980

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2AC933.265EB9B3@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > >You must have missed it. I've indicated no desire to change my call.
> > >
> > > Perhaps you should. By now, people are bound to be starting to > > > recognize your current one--and it would be a shame to have a large > > > investment in radio equipment if no one will communicate with you.
> >
> > I'll let this third time be the final. I h a v e e x p r e s s e d > > n o i n t e r e s t i n c h a n g i n g m y c a l l. As > > far as the rest of your drivel, I don't recall ever hearing you or > > working you on the air. To be certain, I checked my logs. My K8MN log > > contains about 35,000 QSOs. My J52US log runs to about 75,000. There > > are more than 60,000 QSOs in my 9L1US log. My A22MN log contains > > roughly 55,000 QSOs. My OH0 and OH2 logs run to about 15,000 QSOs.
> > You aren't in any of 'em on any band using any mode. By the way, when > > do suppose all this shunning of me is going to take place?
> >
>
> And you know what that means to a DXer. ;)

No, I don't. What is your big secret to DX enlightenment?

Dave K8MN

5984. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 17:55:40 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B60A0.699E767E@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28981

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > >
> > > > CAM wrote:
> > > > > I'm using the dictionary definition of "vulgar", Kim, as being of the > > > > > common folk. Vulgar Latin is what the commoners spoke during the > > > > > Roman Empire.
> > > >
> > > > Naw, you're not. You are using a word origin and not the common, modern > > > > definition of the word.
> > >
> > > Seems you would crack open a dictionary before embarrassing yourself, Dave.
> > > From Webster's: "vulgar - of or relating to the common people"
> > > It doesn't say a thing about that definition not being common and modern.
> >
> > Get back to me when you finally figure out how a dictionary is arranged.
> > If you keep this up, you'll look as dim as you did over the difference > > between "church" and "Church".
>
> Dave, I used the word so I get to pick the definition. When are you > going to realize that you are NOT omnipotent and don't have control > over the words I choose to use even though you are deluded enough to > think you do.

Actually, Cecil, I don't believe you were the first to use that word.
Even if you were, your ignorance of how a dictionary's multiple definitions for a single word are arranged is a definite handicap for you. That has to be true unless you are the kind of individual who attempts to find a definition which better supports his rather weak hand.

Dave K8MN

5985. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 17:58:28 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B6149.599A318F@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28982

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Do your homework before engaging the keyboard, James. I've never stated > > that Kim's call is "dirty". It is tacky. It is tasteless. It > > demonstrates a lack of good judgement.
>
> All definitions of "dirty" when used in that context. From Webster's:
> "dirty - undesirable or unpleasant, very unfortunate or regrettable"

Wow--you're something like Oh-for-three in this latest string of dictionary diggings. I didn't see "tacky", "tasteless" or anything about demonstrating a lack of good judgement in your latest quote from Webster's under the word "dirty".

Dave K8MN

5986. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 17:59:36 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B618C.8F946704@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28983

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Nobody has an inalienable right to an amateur radio license or a > > callsign--especially a particular callsign. Chew that over for a > > spell.
>
> Kim has just as much of a right to her callsign as you do to yours,
> Dave. The FCC has endorsed both as legal and proper for identification > on the ham bands. I know that chaps your ass, but that's reality.

You still haven't been able to deny my statement, have you Cecil?

Dave K8MN

5987. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:03:18 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B626B.817F3A2E@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28984

CAM wrote:
>
> N2EY wrote:
> > The vanity callsign program is an option offered by the FCC, not a > > right.
>
> As long as they are offered by the FCC, Kim has the same RIGHT
> to her callsign as you do to yours, i.e. Kim is not a second-class > citizen compared to you, i.e. you are not Ham Radio Royalty.

Just what is "Ham Radio Royalty", Cecil? How do you know that Jim isn't a part of it?

Dave K8MN

5988. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:09:46 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <9f4bfe89.0112271009.1d79eede@posting.google.com>
Source record: 28985

"Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net> wrote in message news:<3c2aa19b_1@news7.fast.net>...

> > > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
> > How about this:
> >
> > Right now:
> >
> > 1) Give all Novices and Tech Pluses 200 W CW only on all nonphone
> > General HF/MF bands, 160-10. (FCC will probably balk at this)
>
> Why limit them to CW?

Because of the written testing they have passed. The idea of the above change is to eliminate the Novice/Tech Plus subbands on HF.

> Why not allow them to use modern digital modes as well?

What digital modes qualify as "modern"?

Why do you suggest digital modes but not voice modes?

Any current Novice or Tech Plus can get full General privileges by simply passing the required writtens. For Novices it's two 35 question writtens and for post-March-21-1987 Tech Pluses it's one 35 question written.

> This is a "no-reward reward" .

Who is talking about a "reward"? Reward for what?

>.. if they aren't interested
> in using CW now, they won't be under your proposal > either ...

How do you know? One of the problems with the current Novice and Tech Plus HF privs is that they are on a few slivers of a few bands. Let's take a look:

80 meters: Many hams can't put up a decent 80 meter antenna
40 meters: 7100-7150 is full of high powered SWBC during the evening.
15 meters: Great when it's open, useless when it's not.

By opening up parts of ALL HF/MF bands to Novices and Tech Pluses, they will have more opportunities that match their resources.

> you can't force it down their throats because > they don't like the taste.

Same goes for "modern digital modes". btw, giving hams more spectrum isn't forcing anything on them.
>
> Again ... Why limit them to CW?

Again - Written testing.

> Why not allow them to > use modern digital modes as well?
>
See above. Why not just give 'em all modes, then?

> > 2) Allow all "old" Tech Pluses to get Generals by a simple mail or > > online procedure, instead of forcing them to attend VE sessions.
> (FCC
> > will hate this one, too).
>
> This would seem reasonable ... since it's just an administrative > update ... however, since the FCC is set up now to take all > input from the VECs, you're probably right that they wouldn't > like this idea (it would probably require changes to their > system and more work for already under-budgeted FCC staff).

Probably true. Plus most of the "old" Tech Pluses that have any interest have probably already upgraded this way. In another thread I have documented the changes in license numbers, and Tech Plus is dropping fastest of all.
>
> > 3) Resolve the 40 meter mess at WRC 2003 to get a worldwide
> exclusive
> > amateur allocation, even if it gives away spectrum. 7000-7200
> > worldwide exclusive amateur is better for everyone than 7000-7300 in > > Region 2 and 7000-7100 everywhere else.
>
> - From reports I've heard in WRC-03 preparatory meetings,
> things may actually be looking better for 7000-7300 worldwide,
> but even if it's agreed at WRC-03 it could be 5-10 years > before it becomes reality ... all the broadcasters in R1 and R3 > won't move overnight.

The point is that it's better to have a smaller exclusive-amateur band there than a bigger shared one - 'specially when the other folks have tens and hundreds of kW and huge arrays.
>
> > 4) Develop bandplans for all HF/MF that separate CW, digital and > > analog voice/image modes.
>
> If you're talking about FCC-rules-mandated separation of that > type, I wouldn't hold my breath ... it takes too long to change > FCC rules ...

I'm talking about having part of each band for CW, part for digital and part for analog voice/image. If it takes a while for FCC action, fine, that simply means we should act now.

> such rules would be too limiting in terms of us > being able to flexibly take advantage of new modes in the > future

How would it be "too limiting"? "New modes" would have a place in their respective subbands.

Of course if somebody wants to run DSSS on HF and raise the noise floor of every other amatuer on the band for miles around by tens of dB, those rules would be kinda limiting.

> > After S25.5 is gone:
> >
> > 1) Three classes of license: Basic, Intermediate, Full (change the > > names if you don't like them)
>
> We have that now ... tech, general, extra ...

Names were chosen to avoid confusion between current classes of license and new ones.

> the main problem > is that techs get [expletive deleted]

> on HF.

Which is why the proposed changes.

The current system tends to "force VHF/UHF down newbies throats".....;-)
>
> > 2) HF/MF bands split into subbands by mode and split again by
> license
> > class. (Some bands, like 10 and the WARC bands, may be split by mode > > only).
>
> GAG!!!!!!!!! Such "balkanization" is a VERY BAD IDEA ... people > need to mix and intermingle ... isolating newbies into "ghettos"
> is NOT the way to educate and socialize them ... all it does is breed > ill will (and to the extent that some "better hams" are contemptuous
> of the newbies, it breeds contempt for the higher class licensees
> who have the knowedge and experience to educate and socialize
> the newbies)... making such efforts by the (majority?) of higher class
> licensees who DON'T have an attitude problem more difficult.

What ARE you talking about, Carl?

Would you simply give all frequencies and modes to all classes of license? If so, you eliminate two of the most important reasons to upgrade.

>
> It also, again will be too limiting of our ability to respond to > changes
> in technology, promoting the technological stagnation that the ARS > has suffered from more or less since SSB and FM came into common > use.

How will it be limiting? Each mode would have its bandspace.

As for "technological stagnation", nobody is stopping anyone from developing new modes and technologies. PSK31, Pactor 1 and 2, MFSK, APRS, to name just a few...new modes all over the place. New technology, too - you ever use an FT-1000 or even a K2? They "glow in the dark", btw...
>
> > 3) Basic license test is simple 20-25 question exam on regs, > > procedures, and safety. Very little technical and RF exposure > stuff,
> > main purpose is to keep Basics out of trouble. Basics get 100-150 > > watts on HF/MF and 25 watts or so on VHF/UHF (determined by RF > > exposure limits). Modes are CW, SSB, FM, PSK31 and maybe some of the > > other common data modes like packet. Basics cannot be VEs, control > ops
> > for repeaters, or be club trustees. Basics get all VHF/UHF and about > > half of HF/MF spectrum. Basic is meant as the entry level.
>
> A little TOO basic for my taste ...

Why? The idea is to have a license that's easy for anyone to get and gives a good assortment of privileges. But the power level is kept low enough that lots of RF exposure questions aren't needed. The test is simple enough that people with non-technical backgrounds don't "need to learn a 200 page book to use an HT".

N0MHS and W5YI want something like this. The UK already has a version of it in their "Foundation" license. Note that there would be NO restrictions on homebrewing for Basics, unlike the UK's "Foundation".

> and there's that balkanization by class again ...

Not at all. Basics would have HALF of HF and ALL of VHF/UHF. What would YOU do - give them all frequencies?

> > 4) Intermediate license test is more complex 50-60 question exam on > > regs, procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical and > RF
> > exposure stuff, with some regs to cover expanded privs.
> Intermediates
> > get 300-400 watts on all bands, all modes. Intermediates can be VEs
> > after qualification (see below), control ops for repeaters, and club > > trustees. Intermediates get all VHF/UHF and about three quarters (or > > more) of HF/MF spectrum. Intermediate requires at least one year > > experience as a Basic.

> While I personally think that power limits based on tecnical level
> are entirely appropriate (and make FAR more sense than sub-band > balkinization by license the generals, paraticularly many of the > older > ones, will skin you alive if you try to take their "California
> kilowats"
> away from them ... so many seem to think that the "minimum > power rule" was intended for everyone but them and their cronies > and that it's their God-given right to run full legal limit (or more)
> to > talk across town and compliment each other on being 40-60 over
> S9.

Gee, what a rant.

Seems to me that the only thing you want to limit is power output.
>
> Also, there's that balkanization by class again ... bad idea ...

What would you offer as an incentive to upgrade? More power? If so, those who are satisfied with 100 W can stay Basics forever.

> And the "time in grade" idea REALLY SUCKS!!!

FCC didn't think so for many years. Useta be 1 year for Advanced and 2 for Extra.

But that was before your time, so it MUST be "bad". ;-)

> If someone > can pass the test, they're qualified and deserve their license,
> period.

I disagree. Book learning is one thing, experience is another.
>
> > 5) Full license test is quite complex 100-120 question exam on regs, > > procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical, with some > > regs to cover expanded privs. Fulls get all privileges, modes,
> bands,
> > etc. except that Fulls can be VEs only after qualification (see > > below). Full license requires ar least one year (preferably two > years)
> > as an Intermediate.
>
> You want 100-120 questions ... fine by me ... but many others > will bitch that it's too much.

It is about the same written testing than was required for full privileges before April 2000.
>
> Also, there's that balkanization by class again ... bad idea ...

So what's your alternative?
>
> And the "time in grade" idea REALLY SUCKS!!! If someone > can pass the test, they're qualified and deserve their license,
> period.

Experience, my boy, experience.
>
> > 6) All licenses are 10 year and fully renewable/modifiable.
>
> That's what we have now ...

No reason to change it.
>
> > 7) Basics have six-character calls, Intermediates have five- or > > six-character calls, and Fulls have four-, five-, or six-character > > calls.
>
> The "vanity call" system is too entrenched ... trying to take away
> "prefered" calls from those who have them will also get you
> tarred and feathered (or worse ...)

You obviously don't understand the callsign system, Carl.

The only people affected by the above proposed change would be a few non-Extras with 1X2 callsigns. They could be allowed to keep them.
>
> > 8) There is a separate 30-35 question test for VE qualification, > open
> > to Intermediates and Fulls, which allows them to be VEs.
>
> I have no problem with the idea of a separate VE test ...

The idea is to free up space in the tests for non-VE questions.
>
> > 9) Existing Novices become Basics, existing Techs, Tech Pluses, > > Generals and Advanceds become Intermediates, and existing Extras > > become Fulls. Experience requirement is not waived for existing hams > > to upgrade.
>
> This gives too much to tech/tech plus without a sufficent technical > exam ...

How so? Earlier on you wanted to give them "modern digital modes" on HF right now. Why are they qualified to run those modes now but not voice modes in the future?

Seems like you want to force "modern digital modes" down their throats but not allow them analog voice or a power beyond a few hundred watts.

> as you pointed out in a previous post, the FCC rejected
> the ARRL's idea of "grandfather" tech+ to general ... and so did > the NCVECs and NCI and many others ...

Doesn't mean it was a bad idea, just that a few folks didn't like it.
NCI represents how many hams - 2000?

> > End result is a system that is easy to get into (Basic is envisioned > > as a 21st century version of the Novice) and has reasonable but > > meaningful steps to reach full privileges.
>
> I don't see how this is really any different than a "codeless" > version of what we have now ...

A codeless version of what we have now has the following problems:

1)Three classes of license that are no longer available to new applicants but are kept on the regs and in the database for some unexplained reason.

2)Subbands and mode/power restrictions that match the above. For example, on 80 meters alone there's the Extra cw/data subband, the General cw/data subband, the Novice/Tech Plus CW subband (with its power restriction), the Extra phone subband, the Advanced phone subband and the General phone subband. Talk about "balkanization"!! SIX subbands, at least two of which are for licenses no longer issued.

3)The "entry level" class of license allows full privs above 30 MHz but almost nothing below 30 MHz. Its test is inadequate for the privs given and at the same time too much to expect all newcomers to understand in a single step.

4)The only incentive to upgrade is more spectrum.

> except that the basic sounds > even more basic than the current tech,

Is that bad?

> you want to take amps
> away from generals,

Not at all. The power levels are set about an S unit apart. A "small" amp will still be OK.

Or perhaps existing hams could keep their calls AND their amplifiers.

> you want to screw around with everyone's
> callsigns,

Nope. Tell me which hams would be forced to give up their curent callsigns.

>and you want that stupid "time in grade" thing ...

Experience, my boy, experience. There are some things ya don't learn from study guides. Calling my ideas "stupid" doesn't make you look any smarter.
>
> > Of course this probably has even less chance than your ideas, Rich.

>
> I think it's DOA for the reasons I've outlined above ...

So what's YOUR alternative? Simply limp along with six license classes and the patched-up remnants of a system originally designed 50 years ago? Sell that to my friend Mr. Plourde! Or perhaps W5YI will carry the day, and we'll have a "Foundation" class here in the USA. Or would you rather just have a single class of license for all?

Criticizing is easy. Creating isn't.

73 de Jim, N2EY

5989. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:18:17 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B65E9.E54C277F@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28986

N2EY wrote:
> Or perhaps W5YI will carry > the day, and we'll have a "Foundation" class here in the USA. Or would > you rather just have a single class of license for all?

IMO, a "Foundation" class and a "General" class license is all we need.
It was almost like that when I first got into ham radio in the early 50's when there were only three levels of privileges. 50's techs now qualify for general privileges.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5990. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:32:40 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B6948.E5EB7688@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28987

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Dave, I used the word so I get to pick the definition. When are you > > going to realize that you are NOT omnipotent and don't have control > > over the words I choose to use even though you are deluded enough to > > think you do.
>
> Actually, Cecil, I don't believe you were the first to use that word.

I didn't say I was the first to use the word. But I have posted the definition of "vulgar" that I am using multiple times on this newsgroup.
Here it is again: "vulgar - of or relating to the common people". That's what educated people mean when they use the word "vulgar". Your definition of "vulgar" is, well, vulgar, by definition.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5991. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:36:29 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B6A2D.7997C67C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28988

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > From Webster's:
> > "dirty - undesirable or unpleasant, very unfortunate or regrettable"
>
> Wow--you're something like Oh-for-three in this latest string of > dictionary diggings. I didn't see "tacky", "tasteless" or anything > about demonstrating a lack of good judgement in your latest quote from > Webster's under the word "dirty".

Are you denying that you find Kim's callsign "undesirable or unpleasant, very unfortunate or regrettable"? If so, why are you continuing to act as if you find Kim's callsign "undesirable or unpleasant, very unfortunate and regrettable"?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5992. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:41:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B6B56.625B19EC@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28989

Dave Heil wrote:
> You still haven't been able to deny my statement, have you Cecil?

And you haven't been able to deny my statement that smallpox is bad.
So what?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

5993. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:43:29 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B6BD1.99A82341@IEEE.org>
Source record: 28990

```
Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> >
> > N2EY wrote:
> > > The vanity callsign program is an option offered by the FCC, not a > > > right.
> >
> > As long as they are offered by the FCC, Kim has the same RIGHT
> > to her callsign as you do to yours, i.e. Kim is not a second-class > > citizen compared to you, i.e. you are not Ham Radio Royalty.
>
> Just what is "Ham Radio Royalty", Cecil?

Ham Radio Royalty is the collection of hams, including you, who think they should be able to violate the rights of other hams and completely dominate the hobby.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

5994. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:46:17 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b6bf1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28991

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2B483D.D00B4537@IEEE.org...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > I didn't expect a negative reaction from the majority, and I haven't gotten
> > a negative reaction from the majority.
>
> Maybe "tit" means something different to Yankees, Kim. When referring > to the human breast, most folks around Madison County, TX say "titty" > which is considered to be "baby talk" and is certainly not obscene.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

It may be that the word means something different to them, or the only thing they think of when they hear or see the word, is something dirty or filthy. I got the call for fun...but really never expected that someone would think it was an XXX-rated call...for goodness sake. I guess one person's XXX is another's G.

Kim W5TIT

5995. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:48:11 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b6c63_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28992

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2B4BE0.F87C6315@IEEE.org...
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > Nobody has an inalienable right to an amateur radio license or a > > callsign--especially a particular callsign. Chew that over for a > > spell.
>
> Kim has just as much of a right to her callsign as you do to yours,
> Dave. The FCC has endorsed both as legal and proper for identification > on the ham bands. I know that chaps your ass, but that's reality.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

I've got more right :o I paid for mine...LOL

Kim W5TIT

5996. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:56:19 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b6e51_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28993

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2B5CF8.FD602FC@earthlink.net...
> >
> > You mean you feel it is common sense to truly judge someone by the way
they > > look? And, you mean your wife or a woman near your age is no longer > > attractive to you? Goodness...my darlin' reminds me all the time of how > > beautiful I look to him--even as we grow older together.
>
> I mean that it is common sense to choose not to view something which is > past its prime and which would generall detract from what would > otherwise be a lovely setting.
>

OHMYGAWD...you just will never know beauty, Dave. Some people, granted, are scarey at the thought of being in the nude. But we are discussing the normal, every day process of getting older...and there is nothing ugly about that. Well, at least not to me. I can't believe you'd comfortably say to your wife, "Dear, please be sure you are clothed when in front of me; I prefer to remember you when you were lovely.

>
> My wife isn't near my age. Her view > isn't as good as mine. She receives extra credit. There are women my > age who look attractive. There are women my age who do not look > attractive. I make those judgements.
>

And you are, as I've said before and you've denied, a very judgemental person. It's no wonder you're so dry and lifeless.

>
> I do not see any of those > women, attractive or unattractive nude.
>

That would be their blessing.

[SNIP]

> >
> > And, the callsign certainly isn't "suggestive" at all, Dave. You like
to > > think it is. I don't think it is.
>
> Sure it is, Kim. You told us so in your explanation of the "fun" you > could have with it. If it didn't suggest something, you couldn't > achieve nudge wink reaction to it.

>

Dave, the nudge wink part is where disbelief that such a call can be had becomes self-evident. I hate drawing pictures. I'll remind you, again, that it is your mind that took the nudge wink idea to be "dirty" or, how do you put it: tacky?

[SNIP]

>
> It isn't even that complicated. I read your posts here.
>
> Dave K8MN
>

No, you don't Dave. You judge them here. You don't read and comprehend at all.

Kim W5TIT

5997. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 18:58:27 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b6ecb_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28994

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2B5DCE.C331581D@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > Do your homework before engaging the keyboard, James. I've never stated
> > > that Kim's call is "dirty". It is tacky. It is tasteless. It > > > demonstrates a lack of good judgement.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Yep. And Dave has none of the above.
>
> You may win this round, Kim. I have no tacky. I have no tasteless and I > have no demonstrates.
>
> Dave K8MN

I had actually included judgement in my thoughts originally. But, now that I see you would judge a woman's beauty by how young and shapely she is, I did miss the target. You do have judgement. Lots of it.

Kim W5TIT

5998. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:00:36 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b6f4d_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 28995

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2B5E0C.35DE5F59@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2AC933.265EB9B3@earthlink.net...
> > > > > >
> > > > > >You must have missed it. I've indicated no desire to change my
call.
> > > > >
> > > > > Perhaps you should. By now, people are bound to be starting
to > > > > > recognize your current one--and it would be a shame to have a large > > > > > investment in radio equipment if no one will communicate with you.
> > > >
> > > > I'll let this third time be the final. I h a v e e x p r e s s e d
> > > > n o i n t e r e s t i n c h a n g i n g m y c a l l. As > > > > far as the rest of your drivel, I don't recall ever hearing you or > > > > working you on the air. To be certain, I checked my logs. My K8MN log > > > > contains about 35,000 QSOs. My J52US log runs to about 75,000. There > > > > are more than 60,000 QSOs in my 9L1US log. My A22MN log contains > > > > roughly 55,000 QSOs. My OH0 and OH2 logs run to about 15,000 QSOs.
> > > > You aren't in any of 'em on any band using any mode. By the way, when > > > > do suppose all this shunning of me is going to take place?
> > > >
> > >
> > > And you know what that means to a DXer. ;)
> >
> > No, I don't. What is your big secret to DX enlightenment?
> >
> > Dave K8MN

Those of us who know, don't need explanation, Dave.

Kim W5TIT

5999. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:13:27 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B72D9.257878BA@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28997

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > Dave, I used the word so I get to pick the definition. When are you > > > going to realize that you are NOT omnipotent and don't have control > > > over the words I choose to use even though you are deluded enough to > > > think you do.
> >
> > Actually, Cecil, I don't believe you were the first to use that word.
>
> I didn't say I was the first to use the word. But I have posted the > definition of "vulgar" that I am using multiple times on this newsgroup.
> Here it is again: "vulgar - of or relating to the common people". That's > what educated people mean when they use the word "vulgar". Your definition > of "vulgar" is, well, vulgar, by definition.

Naw Cecil, your latest just shows that it doesn't matter how good the dictionary is if you've not learned how to use it. Wish I could take your stuff seriously.

Dave K8MN

6000. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:13:43 UTC
From: Frank Ney <n4zhg@icqmail.com>
Message-ID: <i5rm2ug3juk9ud51hca2tv30m1vps427cr@4ax.com>
Source record: 28996
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

On Sun, 23 Dec 2001 08:49:42 -0500, an orbiting mind control laser caused
"Scout" <scout@monumental.com> to write in talk.politics.guns :

>> But it is not in your job description that you >> MUST risk your life as part of your job.
>
>Life is risk, and ALL jobs require a certain level of risk acceptance to >perform. Miners must risk their lives to perform their jobs.....they know >the hazards and the rate of death in their industry, yet they accept that
>and continue to work.

True, but the main difference is that coal miners' risks are pretty much physical force-of-nature types that can be alleviated but not completely controlled. A police officer's risks are primarily ones of social interaction, and they've got that big hunk of iron on their hips to control it. This leads to "shoot first, shoot second, shoot until the clip is empty" mentalities that result in a black man with no rap sheet dying on his own porch for handing over his wallet to (what he probably thought) were a bunch of muggers.

In the big city, a cop's first duty is to make it to the end of the shift alive. "Protect and Serve" is nothing but a big PR gag -- no citizen can legally expect either as a matter of law and precedent.

And it doesn't get any better when it is well known that people who score too high on intelligence tests will be washed out of the hiring process, quite legitimately and legally (actual court case in CT about two years ago).

Long gone, in this nation at least, are Sir Robert Peel's 9 Principles:

The basic mission for which the police exist is to prevent crime and disorder.

The ability of the police to perform their duties is dependent upon public approval of police actions.

Police must secure the willing co-operation of the public in voluntary observance of the law to be able to secure and maintain the respect of the public.

The degree of co-operation of the public that can be secured diminishes proportionately to the necessity of the use of physical force.

Police seek and preserve public favour not by catering to public opinion but by constantly demonstrating absolute impartial service to the law.

Police use physical force to the extent necessary to secure observance of the law or to restore order only when the exercise of persuasion, advice and warning is found to be insufficient.

Police, at all times, should maintain a relationship with the public that gives reality to the historic tradition that the police are the public and the public are the police; the police being only members of the public who are paid to give full-time attention to duties which are incumbent on every citizen in the interests of community welfare and existence.

Police should always direct their action strictly towards their functions and never appear to usurp the powers of the judiciary.

The test of police efficiency is the absence of crime and disorder, not the visible evidence of police action in dealing with it.

Frank Ney N4ZHG WV/EMT-B LPWV NRA(L) ProvNRA GOA CCRKBA JPFO
--
"I believe a self-righteous liberal Democrat with a cause is more dangerous than a Hell's Angel with an attitude."
-- Ted Nugent
Just Say No to Gestapo Tactics http://reduce.to/justsayno/
Abuses by the BATF http://www.hamnet.net/~n4zhg/batfabus.html

6001. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:15:48 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B7366.58ADD93B@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28998

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > > From Webster's:
> > > "dirty - undesirable or unpleasant, very unfortunate or regrettable"
> >
> > Wow--you're something like Oh-for-three in this latest string of > > dictionary diggings. I didn't see "tacky", "tasteless" or anything > > about demonstrating a lack of good judgement in your latest quote from > > Webster's under the word "dirty".
>
> Are you denying that you find Kim's callsign "undesirable or unpleasant, > very unfortunate or regrettable"? If so, why are you continuing to act > as if you find Kim's callsign "undesirable or unpleasant, very > unfortunate and regrettable"?

We both know very well that you are attempting to attribute to me something that I've not said. If you'd like to make such a statement, then by all means, you make it. What you can't do is pretend that I've said it. Your dictionary definition can't be made to say something it doesn't say.

Dave K8MN

6002. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:19:57 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B745F.7BCB4D27@earthlink.net>
Source record: 28999

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> > You still haven't been able to deny my statement, have you Cecil?
>
> And you haven't been able to deny my statement that smallpox is bad.
> So what?

I've neither tried to deny your statement or to acknowledge that it has anything to do with the discussion of Kim's tacky call. To my knowledge, you don't have Smallpox, Kim doesn't have smallpox nor does any other individual posting here have Smallpox.

Me: "Kim's choice of call shows a lack of good judgement."

You: "Smallpox is bad".

If you'd like to be a Crazy Eight Ball, be my guest.

Dave K8MN
Dave K8MN

6003. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:21:50 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B74D0.94E7E819@earthlink.net>
Source record: 29000

CAM wrote:
>
> Dave Heil wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> > >
> > > N2EY wrote:
> > > > The vanity callsign program is an option offered by the FCC, not a > > > > right.
> > >
> > > As long as they are offered by the FCC, Kim has the same RIGHT
> > > to her callsign as you do to yours, i.e. Kim is not a second-class > > > citizen compared to you, i.e. you are not Ham Radio Royalty.
> >
> > Just what is "Ham Radio Royalty", Cecil?
>
> Ham Radio Royalty is the collection of hams, including you, who > think they should be able to violate the rights of other hams
> and completely dominate the hobby.

Do we sit in the back of the bus or the front? Are we all capable of having babies? What dimension do we live in? How about basketball dunking--can we do that too? Phhhhhhfffffffft!

Dave K8MN

6004. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:23:21 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B752A.B38B6426@earthlink.net>
Source record: 29051

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C2B483D.D00B4537@IEEE.org...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > I didn't expect a negative reaction from the majority, and I haven't > gotten
> > > a negative reaction from the majority.
> >
> > Maybe "tit" means something different to Yankees, Kim. When referring > > to the human breast, most folks around Madison County, TX say "titty" > > which is considered to be "baby talk" and is certainly not obscene.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
>
> It may be that the word means something different to them, or the only thing > they think of when they hear or see the word, is something dirty or filthy.
> I got the call for fun...but really never expected that someone would think > it was an XXX-rated call...for goodness sake. I guess one person's XXX is > another's G.

It isn't dirty or filty, Kim. It is tasteless. It isn't necessary for it to be dirty or filthy to be tacky.

Dave K8MN

6005. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:24:11 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B755D.254E2C1A@earthlink.net>
Source record: 29052

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C2B4BE0.F87C6315@IEEE.org...
> > Dave Heil wrote:
> > > Nobody has an inalienable right to an amateur radio license or a > > > callsign--especially a particular callsign. Chew that over for a > > > spell.
> >
> > Kim has just as much of a right to her callsign as you do to yours,
> > Dave. The FCC has endorsed both as legal and proper for identification > > on the ham bands. I know that chaps your ass, but that's reality.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
>
> I've got more right :o I paid for mine...LOL

You RENTED it. See what happens if you don't keep up the payments.

Dave K8MN

6006. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:33:49 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B779E.B615C61D@earthlink.net>
Source record: 29053

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2B5CF8.FD602FC@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > You mean you feel it is common sense to truly judge someone by the way
> they > > > look? And, you mean your wife or a woman near your age is no longer > > > attractive to you? Goodness...my darlin' reminds me all the time of how > > > beautiful I look to him--even as we grow older together.
> >
> > I mean that it is common sense to choose not to view something which is > > past its prime and which would generall detract from what would > > otherwise be a lovely setting.
> >
>
> OHMYGAWD...you just will never know beauty, Dave. Some people, granted, are > scarey at the thought of being in the nude. But we are discussing the > normal, every day process of getting older...and there is nothing ugly about > that. Well, at least not to me. I can't believe you'd comfortably say to > your wife, "Dear, please be sure you are clothed when in front of me; I > prefer to remember you when you were lovely.

Naw, we weren't discussing anything of the kind. I brought up nude older folks in a humorous way. You acknowledged my humor but went on to attempt making the issue into something else. I'm not "scarey" or even scared to be nude, Kim. I built a sauna here after living in Finland.
Sauna is traditionally enjoyed in the nude. I don't invite the neighbors for a gawk nor do we have mixed gender sauna with visitors.
Sauna isn't tacky or tasteless. Your call is tacky and tasteless.

> >
> > My wife isn't near my age. Her view > > isn't as good as mine. She receives extra credit. There are women my > > age who look attractive. There are women my age who do not look > > attractive. I make those judgements.
> >
>
> And you are, as I've said before and you've denied, a very judgemental > person. It's no wonder you're so dry and lifeless.

Pshaw! Every human on the planet makes judgements each and every day.
There are people I like and people I don't like. There are things I believe in and things I don't believe in. I believe your call, for example, is tacky.

> >
> > I do not see any of those > > women, attractive or unattractive nude.
> >
>
> That would be their blessing.

...and mine.

> [SNIP]
>
> > >
> > > And, the callsign certainly isn't "suggestive" at all, Dave. You like
> to > > > think it is. I don't think it is.
> >
> > Sure it is, Kim. You told us so in your explanation of the "fun" you > > could have with it. If it didn't suggest something, you couldn't > > achieve nudge wink reaction to it.
> >
>
> Dave, the nudge wink part is where disbelief that such a call can be had > becomes self-evident. I hate drawing pictures. I'll remind you, again, > that it is your mind that took the nudge wink idea to be "dirty" or,
> how do you put it: tacky?

Not dirty, Kim--tacky, tasteless, showing a lack of good judgement.

> [SNIP]
>
> >
> > It isn't even that complicated. I read your posts here.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
> >
>
> No, you don't Dave. You judge them here. You don't read and comprehend at
> all.

If your posts are somehow being misinterpreted, perhaps you want to take a crack at making clear what you mean to convey. I can only make judgements based on what is presented.

Dave K8MN

6007. Two for Bozo*Flush

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:34:48 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <sJKW7.312555$W8.11550065@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29054

Effective about two minutes ago, Cecil and Dave have been fed to Bozo*Flush. It is faster than playing pick and choose and marking the thread as read.

Enough already!

Dick N&#65533;BK

6008. Re: Mistuh Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:39:19 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112271932420.6903-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 29055

On 27 Dec 2001, Steve Robeson K4YZ wrote:
>>Subject: Mistuh Mitnick...
>>From: "Phil Kane" Phil.Kane@no.spam
>>Date: 12/25/2001 10:28 PM Central Standard Time
>>Message-id: <cuvyxnansvbet.goxfzu2.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
>
>>Not at all. Kevin is a convicted felon who served time for computer >> and communications law crimes, and the Commish' is just following >> the procedure to yank his license
>
> At the time it happened, it was due process....Years after the fact and in >matters NOT related to the offenses he was convicted of, it is harrassment.
>
> More assinine bureaucrats looking for ways to justify their parasitic >employment.

Actually, you will find that the "civil closing" of a case often occurs after the sentence has been served from the criminal conviction.

I don't go to court vs. the FCC, but I do and have gone to court vs. the IRS. Although I have not had the pleasure of having to defend a taxpayer in any criminal matter, here's what's allowable there (and often happens) for the more serious violations:

- The taxpayer gets convicted of Tax Fraud (filing a false return) or Tax Evasion. He gets sentenced, etc.....

Nothing there bars the IRS from ALSO asserting the CIVIL tax fraud penalty of 75% of the tax due to fraud, and there has been case law exactly on this point (the petitioners/convicts calling it "double jeopardy" or punishment without due process - LOSING every time).

This situation is highly similar (replace "civil penalty" with "loss of license"). THat's what our current legal system allows, plain and simple.

If you don't think this is right, then petition your Congresscritter to get the law changed so that all civil actions as a result of a criminal action must also be raised in the indictment.

6009. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:39:39 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B78FD.C5ED440C@earthlink.net>
Source record: 29056

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2B5DCE.C331581D@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > Do your homework before engaging the keyboard, James. I've never > stated
> > > > that Kim's call is "dirty". It is tacky. It is tasteless. It > > > > demonstrates a lack of good judgement.
> > > >
> > > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> > > Yep. And Dave has none of the above.
> >
> > You may win this round, Kim. I have no tacky. I have no tasteless and I > > have no demonstrates.
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> I had actually included judgement in my thoughts originally. But, now that > I see you would judge a woman's beauty by how young and shapely she is, I > did miss the target. You do have judgement. Lots of it.

A women's outer appearance is what we all see. Young and shapely gets my vote over old and lumpy every time. I have met young and shapely women who are cold and calculating so I certainly wouldn't want to spend time with them. I've met women who could never have been described as great beauties but who are pleasant, kind and cheerful. I've also met hags who have the demeanor of Attila The Hun. I make judgements about all of them. What does it all mean, Kim? Further, what has any of it to do with your tacky call?

Dave K8MN

6010. Re: Two for Bozo*Flush

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:45:22 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <mTKW7.312570$W8.11550658@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29057

Incidentally, the message count dropped by over 800 from the 2145. This also includes idiot crossposts so I would guess this issue has been about half of the traffic. Is this hooferaw really necessary over a tee-hee giggle action by a flaming airhead?? The village idiot has this figured out in about three milliseconds.

Bionic Klutz

6011. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:47:46 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C2B7AE3.80F645AF@earthlink.net>
Source record: 29058

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> news:3C2B5E0C.35DE5F59@earthlink.net...
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > >
> > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > news:3C2AC933.265EB9B3@earthlink.net...
> > > > > > > >You must have missed it. I've indicated no desire to change my
> call.
> > > > > > Perhaps you should. By now, people are bound to be starting
> to > > > > > recognize your current one--and it would be a shame to have a large > > > > > investment in radio equipment if no one will communicate with you.
> > > > >
> > > > I'll let this third time be the final. I h a v e e x p r e s s e
> d
> > > > n o i n t e r e s t i n c h a n g i n g m y c a l l. As > > > > far as the rest of your drivel, I don't recall ever hearing you or > > > > working you on the air. To be certain, I checked my logs. My K8MN > log > > > > contains about 35,000 QSOs. My J52US log runs to about 75,000. There > > > > are more than 60,000 QSOs in my 9L1US log. My A22MN log contains > > > > roughly 55,000 QSOs. My OH0 and OH2 logs run to about 15,000 QSOs.
> > > > You aren't in any of 'em on any band using any mode. By the way, when > > > > do suppose all this shunning of me is going to take place?
> > > >
> > >
> > > And you know what that means to a DXer. ;)
> >
> > No, I don't. What is your big secret to DX enlightenment?
> >
> > Dave K8MN
>
> Those of us who know, don't need explanation, Dave.

Maybe you can give me some hints on drive-time repeater DXing, Kim? You know, let us in on handling the pileups and the like.

Rick made a goofy statement about people recognizing my call. I should hope so. It's been all over the map beginning in 1977 when I obtained it. Rick seemed to indicate that I'll have nobody to talk to on air.
Do my figures refute his silliness? I haven't contacted Rick in his current incarnation as KE8HH. There are 975 QSOs in my log for this month alone. They represent QSOs on bands 160m-6m, SSB and CW. What does it all mean, Kim?

Dave K8MN

6012. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 19:57:27 UTC
From: Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
Message-ID: <pan.2001.12.27.14.57.27.636690.8661@arrl.org>
Source record: 29059

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 16:42:02 -0500, N2EY wrote:
> Look through my posts, and you will see that I have not referred to > Kim's callsign as dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy. Nor have I > described Kim or anyone else in those terms. The term I use for the > callsign is "inappropriate".

Wait a minute, Jim... are you saying you DON'T find Kim's call sign dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy? Then what is the salient characteristic of her call sign that makes it "inappropriate" in your view? Please, be specific.

> What's wrong with choosing a callsign that is appropriate to the > community standards of the amateur radio service

What makes you think, Jim, that your standards are the community's? The only complaints I've heard about Kim's call sign (or similar ones) are from a few bluenoses here on rrap. Hardy an outpouring of community outrage!

> and reflects positively
> upon that service?

How does the call sign N2EY "reflect positively" on the service? How does any call sign? To those outside ham radio, it's just a jumble of letters and numbers, no more. Same with W5TIT.

Do you remember an SNL skit where Lisa and Todd (Gilda Radner and Bill Murray), the gawky adolescents, meet Princess Leia and leeringly say "Princess LAY-a [snort, snort]." I can't help but think of that when I see you guys getting all het up by Kim's call sign suffix.

Jon

6013. Re: Two for Bozo*Flush

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 20:07:14 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <SbLW7.312586$W8.11552943@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29060

Yep, and again I must thank you for helping me weed out some of the garbage. I did make the mistake one time of responding to a post without noticing it was cross-posted to about six other groups. Now I check for that and delete all but one if I respond. It's bad enough that some tired threads keep reappearing (coax length, boy scouts, Kim's choice of callsign) - a lot of which is no one's business except the individual or individuals directly involved. Some of the other posts, however, are extremely inflammatory and use words best reserved for outhouse walls. It may be part of the newgroup game, but the Bozo-flush or 'block sender' capability of Internet Explorer can make life easier and blood pressure lower.

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:mTKW7.312570$W8.11550658@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> Incidentally, the message count dropped by over 800 from the 2145. This > also includes idiot crossposts so I would guess this issue has been about > half of the traffic. Is this hooferaw really necessary over a tee-hee > giggle action by a flaming airhead?? The village idiot has this figured > out in about three milliseconds.
>
> Bionic Klutz
>
>

6014. Re: I made it home alive

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 20:12:11 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <vgLW7.312590$W8.11551719@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29061

Be thankful your test sight wasn't Buffalo. The Thruway is closed from Batavia west. As of a couple hours ago they had received 42 inches already in this storm and it won't be over until sometime tomorrow! Here in Rochester, we had a green Christmas, a green day before, green before - green today; heck, we've only received 4 inches total this whole fall and winter and that melted the next day! Oh, Buffalo has stated 'no unnecessary travel', the airport has been shut down, folks diverted to Rochester can't get back to Buffalo since the roads are closed ... you get the idea.

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim

"WebDoc REACT Unit #602" <arcweb@bnnorth.net> wrote in message news:DXyW7.12814$_K.1636006@cletus.bright.net...
> Well all I am back home, I left Brooklyn at 1:30 PM and arrived in my > driveway at 11:30 PM, and wouldn't you know..... I can't sleep. So I am > practicing copying code, I missed the test date in NYC by about 20 > minutes..... I got lost at the 59th st / Columbus Circle transfer from
the
> A train to the 1 train..... Oh well, there is an exam coming up in > Toledo OH.
>
> Hope everyone had a good holiday.
>
> 73's
> Keith Hosman
>
>

6015. New PHOTOS at www.ab7sl.com

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 20:34:20 UTC
From: Charles Johnston <ctj92@cableone.net> Message-ID: <3c2b85db$1@news.bnb-lp.com>
Source record: 29062
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.homebrew,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

See my new Ham Radio "toys" as well as new photos of self and kitties too! Happy New Year to All!!!

At web site listed below.....

--

73 / DX

Charles T Johnston
Prescott, Arizona - U.S.A.
charles@ab7sl.com

AB7SL - Ham Radio Pages Official W9INN Antennas Page www.ab7sl.com

6016. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 21:19:10 UTC
From: N2EY@AOL.COM
Message-ID: <c2356669.0112271319.7c0f37eb@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29063

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2B65E9.E54C277F@IEEE.org>...
> N2EY wrote:
> > Or perhaps W5YI will carry > > the day, and we'll have a "Foundation" class here in the USA. Or would > > you rather just have a single class of license for all?
>
> IMO, a "Foundation" class and a "General" class license is all we need.

Didja know that the UK Foundation class allows only slightly more than QRP power levels and no homebrewing or modifying of equipment?

> It was almost like that when I first got into ham radio in the early 50's > when there were only three levels of privileges.

Back then there was the Novice, which was a one-shot good-for-a-year upgrade-or-out license. The Tech was VHF/UHF and the General/Conditional was all privileges.

There were also the Advanced and Extra licenses, but FCC stopped giving out Advanceds at the end of '52 and the only reason to get an Extra was for a fancy callsign two decades later.

There were also a lot of ticked off Advanceds back then, too.

> 50's techs now qualify for general privileges.

Yeah - the few thousand who are still around. Maybe 1% of today's US hams.

The system I propose is pretty similar to that 3 level system. Just updated to today.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6017. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 21:24:38 UTC
From: N2EY@AOL.COM
Message-ID: <c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29064

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > digital modes as well?
>
> Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will
> learn Morse code?

Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code test, and so they already know the code.

Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes, which are far more popular?

73 de Jim, N2EY

6018. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 21:25:18 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <B27D4889D5384524.D933E2C126812686.FCFA97868A2D8E2D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29065

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 07:10:19 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>No logical mind could read the statement I made and come to the >conclusion to which you've arrived. Only a fool or a dishonest person >would make such an accusation. Which are you?

Dave, I can't help it if you don't know how to construct a sentence in a manner that is logically consistent. If you didn't want to indicate that you viewed ANYONE except for professional baseball players who sell autographs to kids as being your hero, it was your responsibility to make that clear in your post, not mine.

You originally stated that my logic was faulty. Now that I've demonstrated that it was not you claim that "no logical mind could read ..." your statement and reach my conclusions.

I'm sorry you don't know how to write a logically consistent statement that conveys the information you want to convey accurately, but that's really no one's fault but your own.

>Nope. I'm over there. And I couldn't be here by the time you read this >unless the laws of physics are repealed.

And YOU just accused ME of making a statement that only a fool would make?

You have now informed the members of this newsgroup that you are not where you are but are somewhere else altogether and can never be where you are.

Right.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6019. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 21:31:29 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <F7BE425325C196EB.77CFF5D85C551CDB.DCB43B90E2284D2F@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29066

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 19:47:46 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Maybe you can give me some hints on drive-time repeater DXing, Kim? You >know, let us in on handling the pileups and the like.

Allow me to help.

Use the Boston or Dallas 10m repeater for your DXing, Dave. On the Dallas/Ft. Worth machine you can easily work Mexico and, if conciliations are right, parts of Central and South America. On the Boston machine you can usually work Eastern Canada, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and, if conditions are ideal, Greenland and parts of Northwestern Europe.

I've racked up about 18 countries that way using a Radio Shack 10m mobile in my car (with a Radio Shack 10/11m mag mount) and there are about 10 more that I've heard but never worked.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6020. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 21:47:15 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B96E3.FA437146@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29068

Dave Heil wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
> > Are you denying that you find Kim's callsign "undesirable or unpleasant, > > very unfortunate or regrettable"? If so, why are you continuing to act > > as if you find Kim's callsign "undesirable or unpleasant, very > > unfortunate and regrettable"?
>
> We both know very well that you are attempting to attribute to me > something that I've not said. If you'd like to make such a statement, > then by all means, you make it. What you can't do is pretend that I've > said it. Your dictionary definition can't be made to say something it > doesn't say.

If I have read you wrong, Dave, I apologize. You can alleviate my potential confusion by answering a couple of yes/no type questions.
Do you think Kim's callsign is "undesirable or unpleasant"? _____
Do you think Kim's callsign is "unfortunate or regrettable"? _____

If you answer no to both questions, I have read you wrong. If you answer yes to either question then you have met the dictionary definition of "dirty". If you refuse to answer, I'll know your answer was yes.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

6021. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 21:47:34 UTC
From: N2EY@AOL.COM
Message-ID: <c2356669.0112271347.6fda6e@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29067

Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org> wrote in message
news:<pan.2001.12.27.14.57.27.636690.8661@arrl.org>...
> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 16:42:02 -0500, N2EY wrote:
> > Look through my posts, and you will see that I have not referred to > > Kim's callsign as dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy. Nor have I > > described Kim or anyone else in those terms. The term I use for the > > callsign is "inappropriate".
>
> Wait a minute, Jim... are you saying you DON'T find Kim's call sign dirty, > vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy?

All I'm saying is that it's not appropriate for the amateur radio service.

>Then what is the salient > characteristic of her call sign that makes it "inappropriate" in your > view? Please, be specific.

The suffix. As if you didn't know ;-)

> > What's wrong with choosing a callsign that is appropriate to the > > community standards of the amateur radio service
>
> What makes you think, Jim, that your standards are the community's?

What makes you think, Jon, that they are not?

> The
> only complaints I've heard about Kim's call sign (or similar ones) are
> from a few bluenoses here on rrap.

What's a "bluenose", Jon? Please, be specific.

>Hardy an outpouring of community outrage!

Most hams outside of rrap don't know calls like that even exist.
>
> > and reflects positively > > upon that service?
>
> How does the call sign N2EY "reflect positively" on the service?

It is appropriate in any situation.

> How does > any call sign?

Same way.

>To those outside ham radio, it's just a jumble of > letters and numbers, no more.

You are mistaken. If that were so, broadcast stations would not care what their callsigns were.

> Same with

[Kim's call]

Lemme ask ya this, Jon:

Suppose a major network was going to do a special, and then a series, on ham radio. Tons of priceless publicity for the ARS. They want a family show, not a late-night series to replace the Howard Stern TV show.

Suppose they wanted to have a real live amateur radio callsign in the title - like the classic "WKRP in Cincinnati" show had a BC callsign.

Suppose they asked YOU to recommend an unassigned amateur callsign (nobody has WKRP, either). Would YOU recommend a callsign like Kim's, or something else? Why or why not? Please, be specific.

73 de Jim, N2EY

...still a fan of Jan Smithers.....

6022. Re: Two for Bozo*Flush

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 21:49:43 UTC
From: N2EY@AOL.COM
Message-ID: <c2356669.0112271349.1014fbee@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29069

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:<sJKW7.312555$W8.11550065@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> Effective about two minutes ago, Cecil and Dave have been fed to > Bozo*Flush.

Not a bad idea.

Maybe we're all Bozos on this bus.....

73 de Jim "still waiting for the electrician" N2EY

6023. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 21:52:05 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B9805.E1FCC44E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29070

Dave Heil wrote:
> It isn't dirty or filty, Kim.

Then, by definition, it is not "undesirable or unpleasant", also not "very unfortunate or regrettable". Thanks for admitting that, Dave. I had previously misunderstood you.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

6024. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 21:58:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B999F.7BBBFE9C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29071

Dave Heil wrote:
> Pshaw! Every human on the planet makes judgements each and every day.
> There are people I like and people I don't like. There are things I > believe in and things I don't believe in. I believe your call, for > example, is tacky.

That and a buck fifty will get you a good cup of coffee. Why are your tastes so overly important, Dave. Why should Kim care about your tastes?
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

6025. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 22:05:03 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b9c33_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29073

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2B752A.B38B6426@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > news:3C2B483D.D00B4537@IEEE.org...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > I didn't expect a negative reaction from the majority, and I haven't > > gotten
> > > > a negative reaction from the majority.
> > >
> > > Maybe "tit" means something different to Yankees, Kim. When referring > > > to the human breast, most folks around Madison County, TX say "titty" > > > which is considered to be "baby talk" and is certainly not obscene.
> > > --
> > > cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
> >
> > It may be that the word means something different to them, or the only
> thing > > they think of when they hear or see the word, is something dirty or > filthy.
> > I got the call for fun...but really never expected that someone would
> think > > it was an XXX-rated call...for goodness sake. I guess one person's XXX
> is > > another's G.
>
> It isn't dirty or filty, Kim. It is tasteless. It isn't necessary for > it to be dirty or filthy to be tacky.
>
> Dave K8MN

Tacky just feels very insignificant to me, Dave. What is tacky?

Kim W5TIT

6026. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 22:06:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2B9B52.A14FA8AD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29072

N2EY wrote:
>
> Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org> wrote:
> > Wait a minute, Jim... are you saying you DON'T find Kim's call sign dirty, > > vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy?
>
> All I'm saying is that it's not appropriate for the amateur radio > service.

But exactly why is it not appropriate? What is wrong with it?
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

6027. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 22:18:31 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2b9f57_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29074

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2B779E.B615C61D@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2B5CF8.FD602FC@earthlink.net...
> > > >
> > > > You mean you feel it is common sense to truly judge someone by the way
> > they > > > > look? And, you mean your wife or a woman near your age is no longer > > > > attractive to you? Goodness...my darlin' reminds me all the time of how > > > > beautiful I look to him--even as we grow older together.
> > >
> > > I mean that it is common sense to choose not to view something which
is > > > past its prime and which would generall detract from what would > > > otherwise be a lovely setting.
> > >
> >
> > OHMYGAWD...you just will never know beauty, Dave. Some people, granted,
are > > scarey at the thought of being in the nude. But we are discussing the > > normal, every day process of getting older...and there is nothing ugly about > > that. Well, at least not to me. I can't believe you'd comfortably say
to > > your wife, "Dear, please be sure you are clothed when in front of me; I > > prefer to remember you when you were lovely.
>
> Naw, we weren't discussing anything of the kind. I brought up nude > older folks in a humorous way. You acknowledged my humor but went on to > attempt making the issue into something else.
>

OK, another dodge by you. WHAT am I trying to make it, Dave? You said: "it is common sense to choose not to view something which is past its prime and which would generally detract from what would otherwise be a lovely setting." Right? You were talking about the human body, right? My response was shock to that, especially since "we are discussing the normal, every day process of getting older...and there is nothing ugly about that."
Now you say we weren't discussing anything of the kind (but we were), and then you say I am trying to make the issue into something else. You mean you were kidding about the "past its prime" comment? I'll offer an apology if you were, and I'd personally feel a lot better for whomever has to live around you if you were.

> I'm not "scarey" or even > scared to be nude, Kim. I built a sauna here after living in Finland.
> Sauna is traditionally enjoyed in the nude. I don't invite the > neighbors for a gawk nor do we have mixed gender sauna with visitors.
> Sauna isn't tacky or tasteless. Your call is tacky and tasteless.

There are times for winking and nodding and "being naughty" about being nude. If a group of responsible adults is going to have a sauna together, that is not the time--and wouldn't be tacky or tasteless to do so. My callsign is not tacky or tasteless. Sounds redundant, if "tasteless" is your choice of definition for tacky. I'd also add that I didn't realize our ham radio callsigns are supposed to have "taste."

> > > My wife isn't near my age. Her view > > > isn't as good as mine. She receives extra credit. There are women my > > > age who look attractive. There are women my age who do not look > > > attractive. I make those judgements.
> > > And you are, as I've said before and you've denied, a very judgemental > > person. It's no wonder you're so dry and lifeless.
> Pshaw! Every human on the planet makes judgements each and every day.
> There are people I like and people I don't like. There are things I > believe in and things I don't believe in. I believe your call, for > example, is tacky.

You're right. We make judgements every day. BUT, it sounds overly judgemental (to me) for you to be so critical of the human body, or that one would need only be young and shapely to be of satisfaction to you. I'll need to write a book for you, "Having Fun With Flab." (That's a joke. I've neither the time nor inclination to write such a book--but it sure would be fun.)

[SNIP]

> > Dave, the nudge wink part is where disbelief that such a call can be had > > becomes self-evident. I hate drawing pictures. I'll remind you, again, > > that it is your mind that took the nudge wink idea to be "dirty" or,
> > how do you put it: tacky?

> Not dirty, Kim--tacky, tasteless, showing a lack of good judgement.
>

And, I don't think it does. It doesn't place anyone in physical danger, it doesn't present itself blatantly, but only through prior knowledge of a subject, it isn't allowed (by me) to be discussed in a derogatory way on the air, and lots more. Where's the bad judgement?

> > [SNIP]
> >
> > >
> > > It isn't even that complicated. I read your posts here.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> > >
> >
> > No, you don't Dave. You judge them here. You don't read and comprehend at
> > all.
>
> If your posts are somehow being misinterpreted, perhaps you want to take > a crack at making clear what you mean to convey. I can only make > judgements based on what is presented.
>
> Dave K8MN

And, like I said, you don't read my posts here, you judge them here. I don't think you try at all to understand them. You can't get past what you believe. You confirm what I said in the last sentence you wrote. What is it I need to make clear?

Kim W5TIT

6028. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 22:24:17 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2ba0b0_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29075

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2B78FD.C5ED440C@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2B5DCE.C331581D@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > > >
> > > > > Do your homework before engaging the keyboard, James. I've never > > stated
> > > > > that Kim's call is "dirty". It is tacky. It is tasteless. It > > > > > demonstrates a lack of good judgement.
> > > > >
> > > > > Dave K8MN
> > > >
> > > > Yep. And Dave has none of the above.
> > >
> > > You may win this round, Kim. I have no tacky. I have no tasteless and
I
> > > have no demonstrates.
> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > I had actually included judgement in my thoughts originally. But, now
that
> > I see you would judge a woman's beauty by how young and shapely she is,
I > > did miss the target. You do have judgement. Lots of it.
>
> A women's outer appearance is what we all see. Young and shapely gets > my vote over old and lumpy every time.
>

I remember when I used to think that about older people. Down here, in the south, I would see some of the most at first offensive skin I could imagine.
But, then I started thinking about the life that person led, saw all the smile lines, the thought lines, the leathery appearance because of hard work in the sun, and so on. To me, older skin now looks quite beautiful. So does a baby's skin, just waiting to be roadmapped, and the skin of teen-agers and young adults, before the realities of life have actually begun to "set in." It's all quite beautiful.

>
> I have met young and shapely > women who are cold and calculating so I certainly wouldn't want to spend > time with them. I've met women who could never have been described as > great beauties but who are pleasant, kind and cheerful. I've also met > hags who have the demeanor of Attila The Hun. I make judgements about > all of them.

>

I wonder, though, if your judgements are made quickly, based on what a person looks like. I am not without that, myself. But, I don't think I do it very often.

>
> What does it all mean, Kim? Further, what has any of it to > do with your tacky call?
>
> Dave K8MN

I think we're just off on another tangent of discussion, Dave. I don't that growing old and looking beautiful or ugly has anything to do with my beautiful callsign.

Kim W5TIT

6029. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 22:31:52 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2ba278_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29076

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
news:3C2B7AE3.80F645AF@earthlink.net...
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> >
> > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > news:3C2B5E0C.35DE5F59@earthlink.net...
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > > >
> > > > "Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message
> > > > news:3C2AC933.265EB9B3@earthlink.net...
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > >You must have missed it. I've indicated no desire to change my
> > call.
> > > > > > >
> > > > > > > Perhaps you should. By now, people are bound to be starting
> > to > > > > > > > recognize your current one--and it would be a shame to have a large > > > > > > > investment in radio equipment if no one will communicate with
you.
> > > > > >
> > > > > > I'll let this third time be the final. I h a v e e x p r e s s e > > d
> > > > > > n o i n t e r e s t i n c h a n g i n g m y c a l l.
As
> > > > > far as the rest of your drivel, I don't recall ever hearing you or > > > > > working you on the air. To be certain, I checked my logs. My K8MN
> > log > > > > > contains about 35,000 QSOs. My J52US log runs to about 75,000.
There
> > > > > are more than 60,000 QSOs in my 9L1US log. My A22MN log contains > > > > > roughly 55,000 QSOs. My OH0 and OH2 logs run to about 15,000 QSOs.
> > > > > You aren't in any of 'em on any band using any mode. By the way, when > > > > > do suppose all this shunning of me is going to take place?
> > > > >
> > > >
> > > > And you know what that means to a DXer. ;)
> > >
> > > No, I don't. What is your big secret to DX enlightenment?

> > >
> > > Dave K8MN
> >
> > Those of us who know, don't need explanation, Dave.
>
> Maybe you can give me some hints on drive-time repeater DXing, Kim? You > know, let us in on handling the pileups and the like.
>

You sound very defensive there, Dave. Have some prior experiences with folks and their opinions of DXers? I don't hold those opinions, by the way. I believe that ham radio is everything it needs to be for each person. Apparently you don't, with your disparaging comments about having discussions on a repeater.

>
> Rick made a goofy statement about people recognizing my call. I should > hope so. It's been all over the map beginning in 1977 when I obtained
> it.
>

I've never heard of you. Never heard your call. I might add that about a year before I ever got my license, and about six months after, I was listening on HF nearly every waking moment. I don't know if your pronouncement of your call being "all over the map" was for the benefit of making yourself way up high; but let me tell you that it means nothing to people who don't know you or haven't heard you or of you.

>
> Rick seemed to indicate that I'll have nobody to talk to on air.
>

Well, now I'll make fun. Those aren't discussions, Dave. They are contacts. DXing is your thing and that is OK. The reason it isn't mine, and the reason HF turns me off for the most part, is there are very little discussions.

>
> Do my figures refute his silliness?
>

I don't know that he was being silly, Dave. He doesn't know you. Were you being silly when you said, "Maybe you can give me some hints on drive-time repeater DXing, Kim?" If you were, then maybe that's what you mean by being silly.

>
> I haven't contacted Rick in his > current incarnation as KE8HH. There are 975 QSOs in my log for this > month alone. They represent QSOs on bands 160m-6m, SSB and CW. What > does it all mean, Kim?
>
> Dave K8MN

I guess it means that you are pretty stuck on radio and the internet.
Right? What answer do you want, Dave?

Kim W5TIT

6030. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 22:49:15 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <FD67F9C605914285.519282938313629F.DC6607C24333ACF5@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29077

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 07:31:50 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>It'd seem that you have a rough time getting a hat on that noggin of >yours. Your ego knows no bounds. If you have trouble understanding my >stuff, I'll be happy to write in such a manner that even y o u c a n >u n d e r s t a n d i t.

You mean you'll use sophisticated terms and properly constructed sentences that are logically consistent?

I'll believe it when I see it.

>Probably because I don't want to see amateur radio sink any deeper into >bedlam and chaos than it already has. Kim's call is only one issue >which interests me.

Dave, if you sincerely believe that rrap is going to have the slightest influence on behavior on the amateur radio bands you really need to get a grip on reality.

This newsgroup has no influence on ham radio at all--or at least no positive one. I have no doubt at all that many potential hams read the messages here and decide that ham radio is NOT for them--it's filled with crotchety old men, fascists, people with no morals, and flaming liberals (the usual accusations--and behavioral demonstrations) and their conversations invariably end up in flame wars, accusations, and insults. No one in his or her right mind would want to spend money on a ham rig to listen to people communicate as we do here--and this is the only example they have OF our communications.

You attack Kim for her call sign--but you are just as quick to model inappropriate behavior to new and potential hams here as you are to condemn others for the models THEY display. And unlike others in this thread who don't believe this news group could have any effect at all on the ARS, you clearly feel that it can. Thus it is YOU and your constant put downs of Kim and her call sign that are likely to move the ARS "...one step closer to extinction," not her sign itself.

>Really, you thought I was kidding?

My mistake.

> Are you serious about the >homosexuality?

In what aspect?

I'm heterosexual personally, so if you're asking if I am serious about homosexual relationships, the answer is obviously no.
If, on the other hand, you are asking if I believe homosexuals have the same rights, morality, and legitimacy as heterosexuals in our society, then yes I am serious about homosexuality. You'll have to clarify your question more completely.

> Maybe you and I could do some winter camping and discuss >the issue.

Thanks, but cold weather is NOT my thing (can't breathe well in cold air with only one functioning lung)--I much prefer camping in the summer when it's comfortable outside. You'll have to settle for drinks or a cup of coffee in a heated restaurant.

> Maybe you could spin some of your Vietnam tales for me

You've never seen me discuss specifics of what happened while I was serving in Southeast Asia, and you never will.

> and
>go over your spiffy theories about sexual repression.

Off hand, I don't have any theories about sexual repression whatever. However quite a number of well founded ones already exist and I happen to accept a number of them as quite valid (I draw the line at the New Age theories that pop up in transpersonal and humanistic psychology and the absurdities present in traditional Freudian psychoanalysis).

>Do you use Viagra?

Not regularly--but I _have_ used it before when I was undergoing chemo, and once or twice since then when particularly tired or just in the mood to do so. Why, did you want a personal evaluation of the drug before taking it?

>Were you under the impression that most men over 50 need it?

Nope. Although, believe it or not, most SWINGERS over 45 do (although seldom with their spouses)!

For the most part, those with high blood pressure (and under medication for it), those with blocked arteries, heart problems, or prostate problems often need it, as do diabetics and others with disorders that affect the hormonal system. I know a number of people who DO use the substance and it's made a tremendous difference in their lives.

>I have to admit, your supply of absurd statements is seemingly endless.

Thank you--I work hard to build up a good supply!

>Kim's call is in poor taste. I'm "fixated" on that. On second thought, >the camping trip is off! You'll have to find another guy to play "Let's >analyze the ink blots".

No offense, Dave, but as I mentioned above, I'm straight.
While I have a lot of gay friends and colleagues, it just isn't my lifestyle. I'm afraid you'll just have to find another date for camping anyway. Don't let it worry you, though, I'm sure you and Larry would be perfectly suited to each other.

BTW, Kim's call is in poor taste only to those who insist that we return to the Victorian era. To someone comfortable with living in the 21st Century, it's not even slightly inappropriate.

>Too bad, I still see Oprah.

Perhaps with the necessary surgery, you could BE Oprah!

>Rick, I know even less about Rorshach tests than you do about ACP-127 >format, Niact cables, playing the guitar, maintaining a classified local >area network or about any number of ham radio operating activities. I >do know a great line of self-important manure when I read it. You da >man!

Let's look at the list:

ACP-127: Since that's a military message format, there's really no reason why I would have any need to know it's details. I could probably write acceptable headers, and anyone could recognize the security warning levels, but that's about it. We'll give you this
one.

Niact cables: Again, since this is an information agency message format, why would I have any need to know anything about it?
I'll take a few points for knowing what it is and how it's used, but we'll have to give you this one, too.

Playing the guitar: I don't play professionally, but I _do_ play fairly decent folk and blues guitar (I have a particularly nice Dobro I use for blues and a decent--although not expensive--Yamaha I use for folk and oldies). My wife, on the other hand, is an accomplished Flamenco guitarist and has a very nice Martin D-45. I _do_ play Sitar quite well, however, and I'm very good at creating digital music with a computer & midi keyboard if that counts. We'll give you partial credit on this one, assuming you play at the professional level.

Maintaining a classified LAN: Sorry, Dave, but you DON'T get points here. My Master's is in Computer Information Systems and before I went into the social sciences I did computer security work for major institutions including the BofA, Wells Fargo, and Crocker Bank in San Francisco. I'm a well trained IMS/CICS analyst and programmer, have a good background in low level programming, and I've done work for law enforcement agencies which requires the same levels of security as do most military networks (those handling Top Secret and above communications excepted--but those use dedicated, and protected, cables for communication anyway so the problems are less severe). I won't claim to know MORE about it than you, but I WILL claim to know at least as much. I'm running a small LAN at home right now using DES level security to protect against intrusions. Feel free to try and hack into it if you like, I doubt you'll have much success cracking the security barriers.

Ham radio activities: Dave, I've been a ham since the early seventies (original call: N7AVF) and I've participated in a rather wide range of activities including both digital and analog modes. You may have more experience in some areas than I have, but I undoubtedly have more experience than you in others. No score here either.

Speaking of "self-important manure," Dave, I notice that with the exception of ham radio and guitar playing everything you list to "prove" you have a wider range of knowledge than I have (you don't!) has to do with military applications. Apparently, from your perspective, to play on a level field with you a person has to have sound military knowledge. Ok, fair enough. My turn. How do you do a field amputation of a leg safely? What is the effect of inhaling exhaust fumes from a solid fuel rocket? How do you execute a medevac operation under battle conditions with SAM batteries known to be in the area? What altitudes are involved in a HALO? In a HILO? What does Hell Week consist of at Recon School?

Your turn to play.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6031. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:00:50 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <561009B25B417346.4BC18A06F59D7591.679223C653AA096B@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29078

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 08:50:29 GMT, "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote:

>Dick, the very concept of actions having consequences has never dawned on >Kim, is considered debatable by Rick, will be firmly driven into the >ground by Dave, and semantically parsed by Cecil. A juvenile act will be >defended by juveniles in a juvenile manner; you have no choice but to live >with it -- or become a juvenile.

No one is claiming that actions don't have consequences. What I DO claim is that the only negative consequence of Kim's call sign is the treatment she is receiving here in this newsgroup. Her call sign has no consequences for the ARS at all (unless this thread discourages others from becoming hams, of course, and then it isn't her call sign
but the response to it that is at fault), which should be the ONLY concern of the people who are attacking her choice.

It isn't juvenile to feel that her simple decision to select a call sign she regards (correctly, in my--and other people's--opinion) as humorous, "fun," and innocuous. That's a simple question of personal opinion. What IS juvenile is to continue to attack that choice, to harass or insult her about it, and to feel that something as unimportant as a call sign choice can possibly have an effect on the ARS--or that the act of attacking her sign will result in her changing it. THAT, Richard, is juvenile thinking.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6032. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:04:54 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <4DD809835AE5BFEA.8125FF41251B13A2.A30B683E1CABC655@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29079

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 19:23:21 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>It isn't dirty or filty, Kim. It is tasteless. It isn't necessary for >it to be dirty or filthy to be tacky.

Even if her call WERE tasteless, Dave (which many of us don't believe is the case) would that justify the harassment and attacks on her choice that are being made in this news group by you, Larry, Dick, and a couple others? Are you actually so filled with self-importance that you truly believe you, or anyone else, have the right to harass someone because their taste is different than your own?

You really ARE a smug, self-righteous, ass, aren't you?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6033. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:21:47 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <83281005275E2715.570E9D25AA02BE8E.53917334EB794DC0@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29080

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 19:13:27 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>CAM wrote:
>>
>> Dave Heil wrote:
>> >
>> > CAM wrote:
>> > > Dave, I used the word so I get to pick the definition. When are you >> > > going to realize that you are NOT omnipotent and don't have control >> > > over the words I choose to use even though you are deluded enough to >> > > think you do.
>> >
>> > Actually, Cecil, I don't believe you were the first to use that word.
>>
>> I didn't say I was the first to use the word. But I have posted the >> definition of "vulgar" that I am using multiple times on this newsgroup.
>> Here it is again: "vulgar - of or relating to the common people". That's >> what educated people mean when they use the word "vulgar". Your definition >> of "vulgar" is, well, vulgar, by definition.
>
>Naw Cecil, your latest just shows that it doesn't matter how good the >dictionary is if you've not learned how to use it. Wish I could take >your stuff seriously.

From the Merriam-Webster Dictionary:

vuli¿½gar \"vel-ger\ adj [ME, fr. L vulgaris of the mob, vulgar, fr.
vulgus mob, common people] 1 : vernacular <the ~ tongue> 2 : of or relating to the common people : general, common 3 : lacking cultivation or refinement : boorish; also : offensive to good taste or refined feelings syn gross, obscene, ribald, dirty, indecent, profane ï¿½ vuli¿½gari¿½ly adv

(c)2000 Zane Publishing, Inc. and Merriam-Webster, Incorporated. All rights reserved

You'll notice that the MOST COMMON definition (listed first) is the one Cecil uses and only a later (less common) definition includes the form you claim is accurate. As you SHOULD know, the first definition is the normal one to assume if you are using a dictionary.
The same primary definition is present in the Oxford English Dictionary, btw, so it isn't just Websters. In fact the ONLY source I've found that didn't list it in that order is Encarta Online--hardly the ultimate source of knowledge of the English language.

Sorry, Dave, but it appears that YOU, not Cecil, are the one who needs to learn how to use a dictionary.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6034. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:23:40 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <286DB362F898AC67.3ED6E1892738909D.4D567B70B15648BB@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29081

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 07:38:24 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>>
>> "Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
>> news:A17D53CE133D6D39.5F6E437A9BAFA70A.F74698D962F766B7@lp.airnews.net...
>> >
>> > It isn't a question of Kim's call sign bothering you--it's >> > just that you don't think she knows her place!
>> >
>
>>
>> Now the crosshairs are on the target. That's what I think about their >> protests to my callsign. It is more that they "just don't like me" and >> couldn't, originally, come up with something that honest. ;)
>
>Kim, in my book you are a real man.

Maybe, but considering that YOU'RE the one who asked me to go camping with him, you might not be the best person to determine that.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6035. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:25:28 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <68C851D98AD69666.A8631DAED041C160.E6B21606E2E51513@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29082

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 06:42:00 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Do your homework before engaging the keyboard, James. I've never stated >that Kim's call is "dirty". It is tacky. It is tasteless. It >demonstrates a lack of good judgement.

She has the call sign W5HEIL?

How did she get a 1x4?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6036. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:25:50 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <26OW7.243179$3d2.11893887@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29083

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:561009B25B417346.4BC18A06F59D7591.679223C653AA096B@lp.airnews.net...
> On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 08:50:29 GMT, "Richard McCollum" > <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote:
>
> >Dick, the very concept of actions having consequences has never dawned
on
> >Kim, is considered debatable by Rick, will be firmly driven into the > >ground by Dave, and semantically parsed by Cecil. A juvenile act will
be > >defended by juveniles in a juvenile manner; you have no choice but to live
> >with it -- or become a juvenile.
>
> No one is claiming that actions don't have consequences. What > I DO claim is that the only negative consequence of Kim's call sign is > the treatment she is receiving here in this newsgroup. Her call sign > has no consequences for the ARS at all (unless this thread discourages > others from becoming hams, of course, and then it isn't her call sign
> but the response to it that is at fault), which should be the ONLY > concern of the people who are attacking her choice.
>
> It isn't juvenile to feel that her simple decision to select a > call sign she regards (correctly, in my--and other people's--opinion) > as humorous, "fun," and innocuous. That's a simple question of > personal opinion. What IS juvenile is to continue to attack that > choice, to harass or insult her about it, and to feel that something > as unimportant as a call sign choice can possibly have an effect on > the ARS--or that the act of attacking her sign will result in her > changing it. THAT, Richard, is juvenile thinking.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH

There can be no doubt that it was selected with the consequences in mind;
a princess used to being the center of all things sucks in a bunch of old farts to argue over her. Sorry, don't play the game and didn't when I was 14.

Said old farts have predicted the end of the world, dragged in feminism (that's you isn't it?), invoked the First Amendment which applies only to governments to begin with, and worn the covers off of a perfectly good

Funk and Wagnells. Over what is fundamentally no different from a cutesy-poo personal plate. The all-time cutesy-poo callsign is the U.N.s 4U prefix so Kim don't even come close.

So you do what you do when caught behind some moronic personal plate: note, and write off the holder as a moron or child or both. As noted before, that is why killfiles were invented. If I met her on a repeater, I would either fail to note the call for the duration of the QSO or carefully give it Whiskey Five Tango India Tango. I would refrain from Terminally Idiotic Twit.

But I have better things to do: the Seattle Bowl is on.

Dick NBK

6037. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:29:49 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0gapq028lh@enews4.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29089

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c2b9c33_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> Tacky just feels very insignificant to me, Dave. What is tacky?

Salt water taffy? Peanut Brittle?

6038. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:35:03 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <DB310A5B12C650D2.3E0D310773671D75.F2664F9AB11CD192@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29084

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 17:40:04 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>I mean that it is common sense to choose not to view something which is >past its prime and which would generall detract from what would >otherwise be a lovely setting. My wife isn't near my age. Her view >isn't as good as mine. She receives extra credit. There are women my >age who look attractive. There are women my age who do not look >attractive. I make those judgements. I do not see any of those >women, attractive or unattractive nude.

For someone who claims to be offended by tasteless, Dave, you excel at it personally!

Don't ever visit a nude beach, Dave, you'll be very disappointed. People there have too much class to judge each other on the basis of physical appearance. Go to your textile beaches instead--that way you can ogle the women (or the men in your case) just like the other immature sex-crazed losers who hang out there do.

I truly feel sorry for your wife, Dave. Not only must she feel concern that if she loses her looks you will dump her like yesterday's garbage (which, of course, might be the best thing that ever happened to her), but you try to arrange dates with men here in the news group as well--and I doubt seriously she knows about your "camping trips" at all.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6039. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:40:45 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <2B9F83FE951F5B2B.9D91137245AAAB38.AB7AAEF1C86FBAA8@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29085

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 19:33:49 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>I'm not "scarey" or even >scared to be nude, Kim. I built a sauna here after living in Finland.
>Sauna is traditionally enjoyed in the nude. I don't invite the >neighbors for a gawk nor do we have mixed gender sauna with visitors.

Translation: You aren't scared to be nude if you are alone or with your spouse. Otherwise you are.

It doesn't sound like you learned very much about saunas in Finland--didn't they view your fetish with modesty to be a bit extreme?

>Sauna isn't tacky or tasteless. Your call is tacky and tasteless.

No, Dave, your MIND is tacky and tasteless. Kim's call is light hearted and non-harmful.

>> And you are, as I've said before and you've denied, a very judgemental >> person. It's no wonder you're so dry and lifeless.
>
>Pshaw! Every human on the planet makes judgements each and every day.
>There are people I like and people I don't like. There are things I >believe in and things I don't believe in. I believe your call, for >example, is tacky.

Just as many of us believe you are a stogey old buffoon who pretends to be far more sophisticated than he actually demonstrates himself to be.

>If your posts are somehow being misinterpreted, perhaps you want to take >a crack at making clear what you mean to convey. I can only make >judgements based on what is presented.

This from someone who can't even identify his location accurately?

Her posts ARE clear, Dave. It's your mind that is foggy.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6040. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:46:22 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <BDCC347460DE68DD.DFC3B77A8CFA12DD.222EF37AD4629B02@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29086

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 07:46:14 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>Then I'd rather go to a beach where I'm unable to avoid seeing all of >that flesh. It would dramatically increase my enjoyment of the beach.

That's ok. It would dramatically increase the enjoyment of the beach by the people there, too.

>> Sorry that you judge people on their physical appearance--most >> adults have matured past that point--or at least the ones who go to >> nude recreational sites have done so.
>
>Don't be sorry, Rick. All normal folks make some judgements about >others based upon appearance. Most adults who claim otherwise could >benefit from seeing a good therapist.

I AM a "good therapist," Dave.

You're wrong.

That isn't personal opinion--it's the statement of the precise type of professional you state SHOULD be consulted.

>> BTW, the amateur "Nude Net" meets on HF on Saturdays as I >> recall. You might want to tune it in sometime and note the age of some >> of the participants.
>
>Yeah, I'm certain I'd have a rollicking good time.

What? Imagining them to all be young, sexy, hard-bodies?

What an image: Dave Heil using an amateur net as masturbatory material!

Yuck!

>> >Sure, Kim. That's why you chose your call over W5FAT, K5LID or N5DOH.
>> >It wasn't for the shock value, it was purely for the "fun".
>>
>> Kim (correctly, btw) doesn't see herself as "Fat," a "LID," or >> representative of the kind of person for whom "DOH" is appropriate.
>> She sees herself as a woman and chose a different defining >> characteristic to use in her sign. Too bad that you find a "TIT" any >> more inappropriate than a "LEG" or an "ARM." That isn't her >> fault--it's yours!
>
>C'mon, Rick. It's all for FUN according to Kim. Let's have some FUN!

Sorry, Dave. I've told you before and I'll tell you again, I'm straight and I'm NOT going camping with you.

Try asking Larry or Dick.

>> How many have YOU surveyed to determine that they find Kim's >> call offensive or inappropriate? From what I've seen here, there are >> more hams supporting her decision than opposing it.
>
>I don't believe you.

Then conduct a survey and prove me wrong.

>> She feels positive about butterflies and sunrises. She also >> feels positive about her tits. W5BUTTERFLY and W5SUNRISE aren't valid >> call signs. W5TIT is.
>
>W5TIT is a tacky callsign.

No, it's an amateur radio call sign, Dave. Don't you know how to recognize one?

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6041. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:50:26 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <DA8C54FB3040F08D.974877FB31925A1E.3CC13BBDB8F90389@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29087

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 19:19:57 GMT, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
wrote:

>CAM wrote:
>>
>> Dave Heil wrote:
>> > You still haven't been able to deny my statement, have you Cecil?
>>
>> And you haven't been able to deny my statement that smallpox is bad.
>> So what?
>
>I've neither tried to deny your statement or to acknowledge that it has >anything to do with the discussion of Kim's tacky call. To my >knowledge, you don't have Smallpox, Kim doesn't have smallpox nor does >any other individual posting here have Smallpox.
>
>Me: "Kim's choice of call shows a lack of good judgement."
>
>You: "Smallpox is bad".

A slight difference, Dave.

Whether a call sign shows "a lack of good judgement" is a matter of opinion only. Whether smallpox is "bad" is scientifically demonstrable.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6042. Re: really dumb SW radio pirate

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-27 23:50:56 UTC
From: Den6N <djmr26@bestweb.net>
Message-ID: <u2ncvihsefom62@corp.supernews.com>
Source record: 29088
Cross-posted to:
alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.scanner,rec.radio.shortwave

I saw a bumper sticker just the other day that read " Don't drink and transmit."
I wondered what it meant...

==========
Den6N
Putnam Co NY
==========

"Kaa B." <erielacaw400@aol.com> wrote in message news:6WvW7.17814$PO5.2724976@newsread1.prod.itd.earthlink.net...
> Found in alt.radio.pirate:
>
> A radio pirate in the Barnes Road area of St. John's, Newfoundland, > Canada has had his equipment confiscated by Industry Canada. The > pirate, who, they describe as 'not too bright' and dressed in woman's > clothing was awakened from his sleep by a squad of agents, who > searched the house and seized thousands of dollars of radio > transmitting equipment. The pirate was caught when while under the > influence of alcohol, mistakenly broadcast his address on the air, > while soliciting free beer from listeners. Charges are pending.
>
> Wonder if he also operated on 14.313 and fancied an "erotic exotic > relationship" with a certain ham in Vermont? ;)
>
>
>
>

6043. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 00:44:54 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goz3o0e.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29090
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 04:41:08 GMT, Dick Carroll wrote:

> Things change, and sometimes pretty fast, but if we're headed down that >slippery slope, I haven't seen a lot of evidence of it. Of course I have >seen some. One of he most gregarious cases was in New York Cit. In 1962 I >watched a NYPD street cop give a guy an awful cussing in public while he >stood with his hand on the butt of his revolver as if he dared the guy to >respond in any way. The fellow' soffense was cuttting across one extra >traffic lane to get to a (rare) parking spot. There was no safety reason >for him not to do that, except the LEO noted his out of state license >plate, and after all, some jerk behind who wanted the spot himself
>honked.....

That was standard NYPD practice in those days. I too saw it done and was appalled, even though I grew up in NYC, because I had been exposed to four years of the California Highway Patrol's extra courteous manners in the interim.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6044. Re: Mistuh Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 00:45:01 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.goz42df.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29091

On 26 Dec 2001 08:39:11 -0800, Bob Weiss wrote:

>General Electric has been convicted of defrauding the US government on >several defense contracts. They are also the largest producer of EPA >superfund sites, IIRC. So when is the FCC going to cancel all of the >broadcast licenses held by GE (owner of NBC)?
>
>Or are computer hackers subject to a different set of laws than >corporate criminals?

Do ypu remember what happened to RKO General, a division of General Tire, about 30 years ago? WOR, KHJ, and a few other radio and TV stations went "bye bye".

And yes, computer hackers are subject to a different set of laws. Violate communications law and communications privileges go away. It's that simple.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6045. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 01:11:54 UTC
From: Frank Ney <n4zhg@icqmail.com>
Message-ID: <6ghn2uo728httplqnrjbn4am8j9dlrujpd@4ax.com>
Source record: 29092
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

On Mon, 24 Dec 2001 14:02:22 -0500, an orbiting mind control laser caused
"Scout" <scout@monumental.com> to write in talk.politics.guns :

>> If you look, the 13th exempts the government.
>
>Where please?
>
>Section 1 is posted above, section 2 states
>
>"Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate >legislation."
>
>There are no other sections. No exemptions for the government.
>
>
>
>> What legal scholars support your wild ass
>> views?
>
>Oh, it's something called the Constitution of the United States of America
>as Amended.
>
>I don't need to appeal to authority. The facts themselves support me.
>
>> What court ruling support your off
>> the wall hype libertarianism?
>
>I see, so unless an authority supports you, then you can' t be right. No >wonder Galileo was locked up, all the authorities said he was wrong.....but >damn the facts supported him. Now who is see to have been right, the one >supported by the fact, or the "authority"?
>
>Appeal to authority is a useless undertaking, either the facts support you >at which point it doesn't matter what authority states, or you are wrong and >agreement with authority isn't going to make you right.

Who needs facts when you control large numbers of armed legbreakers? A group tried this back during WW1, and Oliver Wendell Holmes sent them to jail to rot with his "shout 'fire' in a crowded theater" screed, may his soul be roasting in hell.

Frank Ney N4ZHG WV/EMT-B LPWV NRA(L) ProvNRA GOA CCRKBA JPFO
--
"I believe a self-righteous liberal Democrat with a cause is more dangerous than a Hell's Angel with an attitude."

-- Ted Nugent
Just Say No to Gestapo Tactics http://reduce.to/justsayno/
Abuses by the BATF http://www.hamnet.net/~n4zhg/batfabus.html

6046. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 02:12:45 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2bd594_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29103

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org...
> "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > digital modes as well?
>
> Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > learn Morse code?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

I'm sure that's EXACTLY the goal of such proposals, Cecil.
That's why I asked the question ... to make that point.

73,

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- ------------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- ------------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCvVE5e+N6+q84HiEQIXdACgjChbp9sid1PzvY+y6uCh+QW+dFMAoPbH n177KLH3v48CXnlQ3HbrIzS6
=kCA9
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6047. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 03:03:25 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011227220325.01870.00000569@mb-fz.aol.com>
Source record: 29093

In article <XZpW7.242101$3d2.11769921@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> writes:

>> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
>
>> Not to be argumentative, but - why "must" it be solved?
>
>Because, simply said, the ARS is in need of cleaning up. There is no good >reason why there needs to be 6 license classes.

I'm not gonna argue that one, 'specially since 3 of the 6 are no longer issued to new applicants. I remember now that we had this discussion before, and agreed that the Novice/Tech/Tech plus confusion badly needed straightening out.

>My thought is that when the S25.5 foes away the only distinguishing marks on >a particular license is... "Which written elements have been passed and >when?"

Yup.
>
>I know that's cruel to say but that's the fact.

Not cruel at all, just a simple fact.

>Very few people including >the FCC want 6 license classes and 4 or 5 license classes have very little >support either. So, Jim, my proposal is not very much concerned with what >the FCC has done in the past. or what the ARRL has done in the past. They >both have indicated lately that feelings have shifted dramatically.

We have to keep the past in mind as an indicator. From what I see, FCC is in no hurry to clean up the mess of 6 license classes.

But the important point of this discussion is to look at long-term future plans, not patching up the 1951 system one more time, as has been done all along.
>
>> If the license
>> structure is radically changed, a solution should be incorporated.
>> If/when Element 1 disappears, there will be no reason to distinguish >> Techs from Tech Pluses, and all of them should get Tech Plus privs, >> such as they are.
>
>True...
>
>> From Jan 1952 to Nov 1967 (approximately) the FCC issued zero new >> Advanced licenses, but allowed the ~40K hams who held Advanceds to >> renew and modify them. When the changes of Nov 1968 came, those folks >> were mighty happy they'd not been mixed in with the Generals.

>
>You and anyone else who has a heartbeat knows that no matter what happens, >no one will lose privileges.

I dunno about that. But it's probably a good bet.

> If the FCC doesn't see a significant number of >people request/condone something then the FCC will not do it.

So we gotta build a consensus, more or less.
>
>> > So, when the morse requirements are gone we have six licenses most with
>a >> > different count for written elements completed.
>
>> Yup. We even have some folks with the same license (Tech Plus) but >> with different written credits (pre Mar 21, 1987 vs. post that date).
>> Watta mess!

'zactly. More important, the mess doesn't really benefit anybody much.
>
>> > Technician and Technician Plus have passed the same written elements.
>
>> Most of them have, but pre Mar 21 Techs have General class written >> credit.
>
>Oh... have they passed 3(B)?

Yep. Actually, before Mar 21 1987, the Tech and General used exactly the same written - old Element 3. In 1987 that element was split into 3A for Techs and 3B for Generals (who also needed 3A, of course). The idea was that 3A contained the stuff needed by both classes, but 3B contained "HF only" questions that Techs had no need to be examined for. What this did was to make the old Tech easier to get than before, but also meant upgrading to General required both a written and a code test.

>If so then they are General class.

Except that FCC requires them to jump through the VE hoop to get the upgrade. This is because the VE system is the input machine for all upgrades. FCC doesn't want the additional admin work of handling "paper upgrades" (no test) directly. Same thing happens if a ham collects CSCEs and then wants a license or upgrade - he/she has to go to a VE session.

Let's face it - it's easier and cheaper for the FCC to let unpaid volunteer VEs do much of the work.
>
>> > If the >> > Novice is promoted to this class by simply waiving element 2 then the >> > situation becomes much clearer.
>

>> Yup - but is it right to give away upgrades like that?
>
>Well, yes, it is because they have been law abiding hams for years, possibly >decades and granting them Element 2 is not going to ire anyone.

It might upset those who recently took a test to upgrade. Didja know that both the NCVEC and NCI OPPOSED the ARRL BoD idea to give a "free" upgrade of Novices and Tech Pluses to General?
>
>> ARRL proposed simply upgrading Novices and Tech Pluses to General, and
>> the FCC said no way.
>
>This was back when things were clouded by the morse requirements. In 2003
>morse requirements and morse accomplishments are null and void.

Not true! ARRL proposed 5 wpm for General, so all Novices and Tech Pluses already had the code test for General. 5 wpm General was widely supported, btw - at least 75% of comments wanted 5 wpm General. Only the writtens were different.
>
>> >Call this Technician class.
>
>> Alrighty.
>
>> > The General Class remains as is.
>
>> I presume holders of "old" Tech Pluses could get instant upgrades to >> General, same as today. Just present the documentation, a 605 and the >> fee.
>
>No... I think it should be automatic... they should have that now. They ARE >Generals.
>
I agree!! But the FCC doesn't.

>At any rate, the FCC should be reclassifying everyone automatically if the >FCC is killing the license classes.

They don't want the admin work. That's a given.
>
>> > The difference between Advanced and Amateur Extra is element 4(B) so >waive
>> > it.
>
>> I understand it's Christmas, but that's a lot of giveaway.
>
>What are you giving away?

The whole Extra written test! Today, a current Advanced has to take a 50 question written to get the Extra - same as a General. Auto-upgrade would not go over big with some folks.

>Yes, you are waiving 4(B) but the code thingy is >gone.

Been gone almost two years, too.

> Do Advanced have the same level of VE status as Amateur Extra?

Nope.
>
>> >Call this Amateur Extra Class.
>
>> > Now, we have only three license classes all available for growth.
>
>> Yup. But will the FCC and the amateur radio community accept it? FCC >> has already rejected all forms of upgrade giveaways. Why should they >> accept them now?
>
>Not quite... the FCC has waived things in the past.

Yup - only when it suited them. Betcha that if/when S25.5 goes, FCC will up and "waive" Element 1 ASAP. Won;t even have ta ask them.

> OK, Jim, think about it, >do you believe that newbies can pass a bunch of writtens to attain the same >class as you but that there is no way an Advanced class ham could 'clep' a >written? That's what I'm talking about.

I dunno. Heck, I been a law-abiding ham for 34+years, 30 of them as an Extra.
Can I get in on the giveaway? ;-)
>
>> > This simplifies the existing band plans. I've listed the changes >resulting >> > from the above action.
>> >
>> > 1) The entire bands above 30 MHz are open to all licensees.
>>
>> Full power and all modes, I presume.
>
>I really think that, yes, there is no reason to hold the power down for the >ex-Novices when the new person off the street gets full power.

The whole RF exposure thingie puts a new light on high power, particularly at VHF/UHF. And one of the problems with the current structure is that for a lot of nontechnical folks the Tech test is rather daunting (see W1RFI's oft-repeated "200 page book" story).
>
>If you want to somehow limit power up there then what should be done is that >a limit should be the norm and an additional endorsement should be given to >ONLY those people who actually need/want to use excessive power. This >endorsement is separate from license classes and that way you aren't handing >out excessive power endorsements by rote. But this is another discussion.
>;-)
>

Might not be a bad idea at all. Set up a new license structure with power limits, and hand out power endorsements to existing hams so nobody loses existing privileges.

>> > 2) Novice subbands on 1.25 meters and 23 centimeters disappear.
>> > 3) Technicians get 200W 28.100 to 28.300 on 10 meters.
>> > 4) Technicians get 200W CW and SSB only 28.300 to 28.500 on 10 meters.
>> > 5) Technicians get 200W CW only subbands on 15, 40, and 80 meters.
>> > 6) Advanced Class subbands on 80, 40, 20, and 15 meters disappear.
>
>> All logical consequences from the combinations suggested.
>
>> > All this is accomplished by waiving Element 2 for Novices and waiving >> > Element 4(B) for Advanced. I think this is a very tiny price to pay in >order
>> > to have a structure which can have some basic adjustments applied for >better
>> > transitioning of everyone throughout the ARS experience.
>
>> I see your point, but others may be outraged and the FCC may nix the >> whole free upgrade idea.
>
>Frankly, my dear... I don't give a damn... ;-)

HAW - that's a good one!
>
>No, really, if people are outraged fine. They can 'lobby' for they're own >'vision' of what the ARS of the future should be. The FCC will do whatever >they perceive the shift to be.

Consensus, man, consensus.
>
>> Without those giveaways, we're back to all those subbands.
>
>The FCC should also take a look at any other nation to find out that SIX
>CLASSES ARE ABSOLUTELY NOT WANTED OR NEEDED if the FCC had to write a >proposal on organizing an ARS from scratch they (or anyone else) could not >justify starting out with six classes.

Admin work, my friend, that's the key. No way they want the admin work of more than 4 classes - and 4 is pushing it.
>
>> > I now add my thoughts on the 'adjustments'... ;-)
>> >
>> > One, give the Technicians 10 meters because in light of the infringement
>of >> > freebanders it's better to have plenty of licenced operators squatting
>there >> > trying to maintain control of the band. There is no sense in being >> > exclusionary to your fellow hams. I say get the freeband candidates >licensed >> > and accountable. This would eliminate the subband on 10 meters which I >view

>> > a good thing. As far as I'm concerned limit everyone on the band to 200 >> > watts and go after the jerks.
>>
>> I agree in part. Give everyone all of 10 meters - just limit Techs to >> 200W. (To do otherwise takes away privileges from higher class >> licenses).
>
>That's seems fair but I think that what you have to do is think about the >HIGH POWER endorsement. and limit EVERYONE to 200 watts on 10 meters. I am >treating 10 meters as a completely different animal here because of the >state of affairs there and I'm worried about where it will be in 10 years.

The 10 meter situation argues for more hams running high power, not less. The bad guys sure aren't limiting themselves to 200 watts!!
>
>> > Two, give the Technicians 200 W CW only operation on the General
>subands.
>
>> I agree 100%. But this was proposed formally to the FCC and they shot >> it down.
>
>In a post code testing era they won't shoot it down, they will look for >consensus on how to allow it.
>
Maybe. Worth a look, anyway.

>> An ARRL committee is proposing virtually the same thing,
>> (good) plus widening the 'phone slots on those bands (bad).
>
>I agree with you here, also.
>
>> But why >> should the FCC reverse itself from its previous refusal of AH0A's very >> reasonable idea? FCC's answer was essentially "let them take Element 3 >> and get Generals".
>
>Don't do it... personally, I couldn't care less. ;-)
>(this is NOT my fight) just a suggestion.

Understood.
>
>> > you want them to learn CW then put the horse before cart and the carrot
>in >> > front of the horse. This would eliminate the CW only subbands on 15, 40,
>and >> > 80 meters.
>
>> I think you mean "Novice/TechPlus subbands".
>

>They are CW only subbands on my chart. I was avoiding using the words Novice >and Technician Plus in my post S25.5 world. Besides, you know what I meant.

Just making sure. It's clear now.
>
>> The main problems I see are:
>
>> 1) the FCC has already shot down many of your ideas
>
>Tough, they'll have to have good reasons to shoot them down, again. As a >package the whole thing is pure and simple. If they can't handle that and >they insist on helter skelter then they can save their cab fare... they're >already there.

We gotta look for a system that has a chance of passing AND will get widespread support.
>
>> 2) free upgrades may not get much support from other hams
>
>I think other hams see what's happening... the new ones come in and get to >general and extra very quickly and the elders are being 'corraled' out in >their pastures.

Hmm - interesting. Could even result in a situation where the newbies say to the oldsters "I did it, so you have to, as well!"
>
>> 3) the big opportunities of the post-2003 era are not being addressed >> adequately.
>
>I didn't meant to imply my adjustments where all that is needed. ;-)
>
OK
>> How about this:
>
>> Right now:
>
>> 1) Give all Novices and Tech Pluses 200 W CW only on all nonphone
>> General HF/MF bands, 160-10. (FCC will probably balk at this)
>
>FCC will go with the consensus... build a consensus... what does the ARRL >say what does NCI and the Quarter Century folks and the VE orgs say???? This >would happen if the pressure comes from everywhere.

Consensus will help, but FCC went against majority opinion on the code test thingie. But if everyone was on board for giving more spectrum to Novices and Tech Pluses, we'd have a leg up.
>
>> 2) Allow all "old" Tech Pluses to get Generals by a simple mail or >> online procedure, instead of forcing them to attend VE sessions. (FCC >> will hate this one, too).
>

>This should be automatic. The FCC should realize they ARE GENERALS!!!! The >FCC should issue the licenses. Much cleaner and simpler if they run the >computers to cough up the licenses and issue them. Oh and don't bring up >their budget. It'd be much cheaper also.

I dunno about that. Their system may not know who is an "old" Tech Plus and who isn't.
>
>> 3) Resolve the 40 meter mess at WRC 2003 to get a worldwide exclusive
>> amateur allocation, even if it gives away spectrum. 7000-7200
>> worldwide exclusive amateur is better for everyone than 7000-7300 in >> Region 2 and 7000-7100 everywhere else.
>
>No question about this one!!!!
>
Megadittoes.

>> 4) Develop bandplans for all HF/MF that separate CW, digital and >> analog voice/image modes.
>
>Jim, I'm confused, the sentence doesn't make sense. Do you mean separate >digital from analog... voice from image...

I mean three slots by mode type: CW, digital, analog voice or image. For example, 40 meters might be 7000-7075 CW, 7075-7150 digital, 7150-7300 analog voice or image.
>
>> After S25.5 is gone:
>
>> 1) Three classes of license: Basic, Intermediate, Full (change the >> names if you don't like them)
>
>I would think about a high power endorsement in ALL three classes. Maybe the >endorsement is awarded to all existing licensees and all future would have >to earn them. I believe, going foward, the handing out willy nilly high >power should be avoided.

Agreed. See above.
>
>> 2) HF/MF bands split into subbands by mode and split again by license >> class. (Some bands, like 10 and the WARC bands, may be split by mode >> only).
>
>> 3) Basic license test is simple 20-25 question exam on regs, >> procedures, and safety. Very little technical and RF exposure stuff, >> main purpose is to keep Basics out of trouble. Basics get 100-150 >> watts on HF/MF and 25 watts or so on VHF/UHF (determined by RF >> exposure limits). Modes are CW, SSB, FM, PSK31 and maybe some of the >> other common data modes like packet. Basics cannot be VEs, control ops >> for repeaters, or be club trustees. Basics get all VHF/UHF and about >> half of HF/MF spectrum. Basic is meant as the entry level.

>
>Perhaps, the bands could be 10, 12, 17, and 30 meters. What do you think?

I think one of the BIG problems of the Novice and Tech Plus licenses has been that they offer too few bands. In a few years the sunspots will be down and the bands above 15 MHz will be dead during darkness. At the bottom of the cycle even 40 gets raggedy at night. Then there's the issues of rigs and antennas.
Best deal is to give everyone at least a slice of every band, and let 'em use what they like best.
>
>The power limit should be high enough that using the normal HF rigs that do >approximately 100 watts or so are totally legal for the newbies not have to >worry. Same in the UHF normal rigs as built now should be allowed.

That's what I'm trying to suggest with the 100-150 watts on HF and 25 watts on VHF/UHF. Has to be low enough to avoid the need for lots of RFI questions on the exam, though.
>
>What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???

Offer an upgrade incentive.
>
>By SSB do you mean the same as I have on 10 meter now...
>J3E single-sideband supressed carrier
>R3E single sideband reduced carrier
>but excluding the other 25 phone modes, including AM (which CB'ers have), >single sideband full carrier, and MCW "for providing telegraphy practice >interspersed with speech" as excluded in Part 97 now for no good reason???
>
>Oh... I see you arbitrarily included FM.
>
Not arbitrary - it's probably the most common amateur mode of all.

>I don't think you could subdivide 'data' the modes aren't even invented;
>yet, you want to exclude them... now THAT'S arbitrary... ;-)

Point is that everything allowed has to be tested for. The Basic test needs to be kept simple. The choice of modes is to offer a sample, not the whole menu.
>
>> 4) Intermediate license test is more complex 50-60 question exam on >> regs, procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical and RF >> exposure stuff, with some regs to cover expanded privs. Intermediates >> get 300-400 watts on all bands, all modes. Intermediates can be VEs
>> after qualification (see below), control ops for repeaters, and club >> trustees. Intermediates get all VHF/UHF and about three quarters (or >> more) of HF/MF spectrum. Intermediate requires at least one year >> experience as a Basic.
>
>Incrementing the power is a good way to not just grant the high power willy >nilly.

Also gives an incentive to upgrade. The power levels are set about one S unit apart, btw.
>
>> 5) Full license test is quite complex 100-120 question exam on regs, >> procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical, with some >> regs to cover expanded privs. Fulls get all privileges, modes, bands, >> etc. except that Fulls can be VEs only after qualification (see >> below). Full license requires ar least one year (preferably two years)
>> as an Intermediate.
>
>Sounds reasonable to me.
>
>> 6) All licenses are 10 year and fully renewable/modifiable.
>> 7) Basics have six-character calls, Intermediates have five- or >> six-character calls, and Fulls have four-, five-, or six-character >> calls.
>> 8) There is a separate 30-35 question test for VE qualification, open >> to Intermediates and Fulls, which allows them to be VEs.
>> 9) Existing Novices become Basics, existing Techs, Tech Pluses, >> Generals and Advanceds become Intermediates, and existing Extras >> become Fulls. Experience requirement is not waived for existing hams >> to upgrade.
>
>> End result is a system that is easy to get into (Basic is envisioned >> as a 21st century version of the Novice) and has reasonable but >> meaningful steps to reach full privileges.
>
>> Of course this probably has even less chance than your ideas, Rich.
>
>There is a problem with telling Advanced and Generals that you're reducing >their power limits arbitrarily across the board. but that's your sell, not >mine... ;-)

If they get high power endorsements as suggested, that goes away.
>
>I'll take one more stab at it later. I'll take my ideas and your class names >and quite a few of your ideas. Now, be more specific on which MF/HF bands >Basic gets and which modes should be kept away from the basics, and why...
>;-)

Basics would get slices of ALL HF/MF bands. Mode limitation is to simplify the test - if you allow lots of analog voice modes, for example, the test has to cover them.
>
>Another go-round and we should have something solid. Then a look around to >see if it aligns with some other groups/advocates to see if it couldn't be >presented to the powers that be with some backing. Hey, who knows....

Agreed!! The point is to come up with something that isn't just another patch slapped on the old system.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6048. Re: What not to say to a cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 03:52:45 UTC
From: LloydVFP <LloydVFP@KV4FZmyHero.net> Message-ID: <a0gq8q$f9r$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29094
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.flame

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:a0fchi$q4t$2@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
> news:I9yW7.125$8M.574732@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
> >
> > Swift Rider <c_howard_in@disguise.com> wrote in Alt.Law-Enforcement...
> >
> > : The WORST Things to Say to a Police Officer:
> > :
> > :
> > : 1. I can't reach my license unless you hold my beer.
> > :
> > : 2. Sorry, Officer, I didn't realize my radar detector wasn't plugged
in.
> > :
> > : 3. Aren't you the guy from the Village People?
> > :
> > : 4. Hey, you must've been doin' about 125 mph to keep up with me! Good > job!
> > :
> > : 5. Excuse me. Is "stick up" hyphenated?
> > :
> > : 6. I though you had to be in relatively good physical condition to be
a
> > : police officer.
> > :
> > : 7. I was going to be a cop, but I decided to finish high school instead.
> > :
> > : 8. Bad cop! No donut!
> > :
> > : 9. You're not gonna check the trunk, are you?
> > :
> > : 10. Gee, that gut sure doesn't inspire confidence.
> > :
> > : 11. Didn't I see you get your butt kicked on "Cops"?
> > :
> > : 12. Wow, you look just like the guy in the picture on my girlfriend's
> > : nightstand!
> > :
> > : 13. Is it true that people become cops because they are too dumb to work
> > at

> > : McDonald's?
> > :
> > : 14. I pay your salary!
> > :
> > : 15. So, uh, you on the take, or what?
> > :
> > : 16. Gee, Officer! That's terrific. The last officer only gave me a > > warning,
> > : too!
> > :
> > : 17. Do you know why you pulled me over? OK, just so one of us does.
> > :
> > : 18. I was trying to keep up with traffic. Yes, I know there is no other
> > car
> > : around me&emdash;that's how far ahead of me they are.
> > :
> > : 19. What do you mean. "Have I been drinking?" You're the trained > > specialist.
> > :
> > : 20. Well, when I reached down to pick up my bag of crack, my gun fell > off
> > my
> > : lap and got lodged between the brake pedal and the gas pedal, forcing me
> > to
> > : speed out of control.
> > :
> > : 21. Hey, is that a 9 mm? That's nothing compared to this .44 magnum.
> > :
> > 22. It's not my car, BUT..... (care of Nightcrawler)
> >
> > 23. I know my rights!!!!

24. KC8JBO, Wogie Wiseman, would say to the cop: Will you
be my boyfriend? LOL LOL LOL LOL LOL

6049. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 04:18:16 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <coSW7.200472$WW.11659969@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29095

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011227220325.01870.00000569@mb-fz.aol.com...
> Agreed!! The point is to come up with something that isn't just another patch
> slapped on the old system.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

Jim, what some view as a patch others might view differently. Especially the FCC. It is not difficult to maintain records on Novice and Advanced tickets until they make it to shady rest nursing home and beyond, particularly when someone else is doing the grunt work. On the other hand, adding new ones would be a major pain in the drain. So you can fairly bet that what you are going to see is Extra, General, Technician. Not a software change in the bundle.

Not being entirely certain just what wonderous opportunities dropping the code test offers and being generally one to let mode wars settle the issue, I am also not entirely sure what is to be gained.

Go ahead and plan out the "Ultimate System"; it is certainly worth the effort but I would suggest that after doing so, one has Plan B and Plan C in the pocket. Certainly the power endorsement is an idea I would not have come up with for sure. Given the CB thing, we might be better to outlaw Antique Modulation entirely and go with a 3kHz max bandwidth below 29 but that doesn't flow from this discussion.

Plans B & C should try to stuff what seems to be a unanimous 3 class approach into both the FCCs problems and attitudes and clearly identify where these attitudes cause problems to the FCC down the road. And it is apparent that Rich is not familiar with the band plans used outside the US. The U.S. phone bands are designed to give the world a place to hide from us. Whether this is good, bad, obsolete or whatever it is reality. Splitting narrow modes without fitting the rest of the planet is not bright. Too much is made over CW; Novices and no one else are limited to CW in their bands.

A related question to what to do with remaining Novice and Advanced is to ask if they are likely to be used enough to be worth changing them. Yes I realize that about 100 Novice tickets are being renewed every month; the question is why? In the absence of a code test, extending power-limited SSB privleges in the 28.3-5 segment or even down to 28.1 to Techs would in effect make the Tech Plus irrelevant anyway. To someone who passed the Advanced in recent memory the new Element 4 is no big deal -- all the advanced I know are ancient Class As. If the ticket is not going to be used, who cares? Leave them to rot on the vine. I like cleanliness too but why make an issue of it if you have bigger fish to fry?

Making the VE separate from the Extra, and I still think it needs 1-2 years time in grade, is a fine idea.

Dick N&#65533;BK

6050. Re: The actual Tacoma Law

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 04:39:34 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp1575m.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29097

On 26 Dec 2001 11:40:22 GMT, W1RFI wrote:

>Although that is technically quite correct, there is still plenty the FCC could >have done if the source of the RF energy were not following its power rules.
>However, the real crux of the matter is that 95% of the time where a "CB" >station is involved with an interference problem. there is some other rules >violation involved (power, frequency) that could be enforced to eliminate the >problem.

Are you forgetting the extensive field study that the FCC made in the mid-80s which proved that those problems still existed even when the transmitter power was lowered to 4 watts?

That was the impetus for Washington to decide to take the "consumer service" approach with telephone diagnosis and sending out the (in)famous TVI Handbook on first complaints. We field folks also realized that even after the enforcement action, the bozo could - theoretically - get a ham license and then the technical problem would come back just as badly with no "enforcement" solution.

In truth the field forces did not like being so hobbled, but in reality I didn't have anyone to send out on all the CB complaints we were receiving and The Congress wasn't giving me any more bodies to do the job.

Some folks here call that "throwing up the hands" but I call it doing what we can with what we (don't) have.

Ya' can't make chicken stew from chicken feathers."

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6051. Re: RADIO LAW - TACOMA BANS NON FCC....

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 04:39:36 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp15gbn.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29096

On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 20:21:26 GMT, JAMES HAMPTON wrote:

>Yep, and I have 98 degrees myself. Sometimes, however, if I am sick, I have >103 degrees; then I see a doctorate.
>
>73 from Rochester, NY
>Jim AA2QA
>
>ps - Phil, do I detect a bit of jelousy in the post I am responding to?

Anyone who is jealous of my ex better learn to waltz with a buzz-saw.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6052. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 05:02:47 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228000247.24724.00000561@mb-mr.aol.com>
Source record: 29098

In article <3C2B4CB4.6ED714@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>> The vanity callsign program is an option offered by the FCC, not a >> right.
>
>As long as they are offered by the FCC, Kim has the same RIGHT
>to her callsign as you do to yours

Which is to say - none at all. A callsign is a privilege, not a right. The choice of any particular one is a privilege, not a right. FCC can end the vanity callsign any time they want.

>, i.e. Kim is not a second-class citizen compared to you,

Did I ever say anyone was a second class citizen compared to me? Nope.

> i.e. you are not Ham Radio Royalty.

Thanks! I never claimed to be. Considering your definition of the trm, not being that kind of royalty is a compliment.

Her call is still inappropriate, though.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6053. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 05:06:58 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2BF104.4EB91CEB@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29099

Krell wrote:

> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
> news:phBW7.242731$3d2.11838369@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > Dick, the very concept of actions having consequences has never dawned on > > Kim, is considered debatable by Rick, will be firmly driven into the > > ground by Dave, and semantically parsed by Cecil. A juvenile act will be > > defended by juveniles in a juvenile manner; you have no choice but to live > > with it -- or become a juvenile.
> >
> > Dick, Bug Killer
>
> So who decides what is juvenile?

Surprise! SOCIETY!!

6054. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 05:42:54 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp17rwo.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29100

On 27 Dec 2001 02:08:26 GMT, Steve Robeson K4YZ wrote:

>Answer me THIS, Phil...WHERE was the FCC when the convictions occured?

Waiting while he was serving his time to see if he was contrite for what he did. He was not, and that enters BIG into "character qualification".

>Are you telling me the FCC had no interest in this at all? Did they >not have the opportunity to address this years ago?

Waiting, waiting....the wheels grind slowly but grind they do. Remember that Kevin was in the graybar. The Commission has time to wait it out.

>>Does it bother you that the FCC is taking away his licemse? The >> reason that the court did not do that is that only the FCC has that >> jurisdiction.
>
>It bothers me that it's happening years after the fact, and that NO >violation of RELEVENT regulations has occured vis-a-vis Part 97.

There is no time limit on such a proceeding as long as the Commission does not renew the license before starting such proceedings. Therefore, the crucial time ("point of no return") to make a decision to revoke/suspend is at renewal
time.

Remember that this is administrative law, not criminal law. The playing field has different stripes.

There is ample precednt for taking action against any and all licenses held by the respondent in situations like this.

On the case of John Draper, "Captain Crunch", who was convicted of telephone fraud ("blue boxing") and served time in the Federal lockup for same, he lost his commercial and amateur licenses on character qualification grounds in the 1970s.

Springs to mind the case in the late 1970s of Arthur W.W. Brothers, who lost his Amateur, Aircraft, Ship, Land Mobile. Mobile Telephone, and assorted Common Carrier Radio station licenses, as well as his commercial operator and amateur operator licenses because he set up two (legal) brothels in Nevada as "ship" stations and gave them telephone service through his Lake Powell Marine Operator station, thereby lying to the Commission, causing others to lie to the Commission, and using his Public Coast (Marine Operator) in a knowing manner in violation of the Commission's rules.

The only connection with Part 97 in Art Brothers' case - and a back door connection at that - was that he had set up his Marine Operator (vhf) repeater on Navajo Mountain on what the Navajo Nation claims as holy ground without permission, and the Tribal Police Chief, who was a ham, confiscated - actually doing what the FCC cannot - the radio and recrystalled it as a 2-meter repeater under his own call. They set their own rules on tribal lands, you know..

The issue isn't whether he violated Part 97 or not -- the issue is whether in doing whatever violation he was found responsible for - and in Kevin's case they were particularly heinous in computer and communicatons law terms - it exhibited sufficient lack of character to become or remain a Commission licensee in ANY service.

The Enforcement Bureau (probably Riley) will have to prove to the ALJ that Kevin Mitnick lacks that character qualification. If they cannot so prove, Kevin gets to renew his license. It's that simple.

>They could have done this when he was found guilty of the other charges.
>Now, it's harrassment.

Not quite. It's justice. Ask his victims. He led them on a merry chase for years, even assuming the identity of one of them on line for a while.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6055. Re: RADIO LAW: vs police practices

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 05:49:38 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <SJTW7.1949$dW6.914209@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 29101
Cross-posted to: alt.law-enforcement,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb,talk.politics.guns

```
: >> If you look, the 13th exempts the government.
: >
: >Where please?
: >
: >Section 1 is posted above, section 2 states
: >
: >"Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate : >legislation."
: >
: >There are no other sections. No exemptions for the government.
: >
: >
: >
: >> What legal scholars support your wild ass
: >> views?
: >
: >Oh, it's something called the Constitution of the United States of America
: >as Amended.
: >
: >I don't need to appeal to authority. The facts themselves support me.
: >
: >> What court ruling support your off
: >> the wall hype libertarianism?
: >
: >I see, so unless an authority supports you, then you can' t be right. No
: >wonder Galileo was locked up, all the authorities said he was wrong.....but
: >damn the facts supported him. Now who is see to have been right, the one
: >supported by the fact, or the "authority"?
: >
: >Appeal to authority is a useless undertaking, either the facts support
you
: >at which point it doesn't matter what authority states, or you are wrong
and
: >agreement with authority isn't going to make you right.
:
: Who needs facts when you control large numbers of armed legbreakers? A
: group tried this back during WW1, and Oliver Wendell Holmes sent them to
: jail to rot with his "shout 'fire' in a crowded theater" screed, may his
: soul be roasting in hell.
```

Please refresh our memories with who was the large army of "legbreakers", what WW1 group and what issue was Holmes debating?

6056. Re: really dumb SW radio pirate

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 07:05:05 UTC
From: mike II <ohmwork@spots.ab.ca>
Message-ID: <3C2C19A1.844F98C3@spots.ab.ca>
Source record: 29102
Cross-posted to:
alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.scanner,rec.radio.shortwave

Den6N wrote:
>
> I saw a bumper sticker just the other day that read " Don't drink and > transmit."
> I wondered what it meant...

And here I thought it related to the various STDs <g> mike (the chaste) II

--

__ __ __ __ __ __ __ __
/ /\ / /\ / /\ / /\ / /\ / /\ / /\ / /
/ /\ \/ /\ \/ohmwork@spots.ab.ca/\ \/ /\ \/ /
/_/ \/_/ \/_/ \/_/ \/_/ \/_/ \/_/ \/_/

6057. Re: Two for Bozo*Flush

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 08:29:18 UTC
From: Unclaimed Mysteries <k4doh@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0hafllfp1@slb1.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29104

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message news:c2356669.0112271349.1014fbee@posting.google.com...
> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:<sJKW7.312555$W8.11550065@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> > Effective about two minutes ago, Cecil and Dave have been fed to > > Bozo*Flush.
>
> Not a bad idea.
>
> Maybe we're all Bozos on this bus.....
>
> 73 de Jim "still waiting for the electrician" N2EY

It is mandatory that you see this:

http://www.firesigntheatre.com/fstads/fstads_jp.html (scroll about half way down) Jack Poet Volkswagen TV commercials from 1969. Now you can see Ralph Spoilsport back when he was Coco Lewis, Christian Cyborg, and others too numerous to mention.

--
It Came From C. L. Smith's Unclaimed Mysteries.
http://www.unclaimedmysteries.net/

Sean Ormond wrote in atl.general: "Do this for me Corry...Next time you conveniently get from point A to point B using a gas-powered vehicle (I'm guessing this will happen in less than 24 hrs), go ahead and drop to your knees and give a little prayer to Gaia, the Fairy Queen, or whatever it is you nut-jobs worship. You can thank her for schools like Georgia Tech, where students learn how to do something other than hug trees and hate America for a living."

6058. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 10:14:33 UTC
From: Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
Message-ID: <pan.2001.12.28.05.14.32.940745.17079@arrl.org>
Source record: 29105

On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 16:47:34 -0500, N2EY wrote:

> Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org> wrote in message
>> Wait a minute, Jim... are you saying you DON'T find Kim's call sign >> dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy?
>
> All I'm saying is that it's not appropriate for the amateur radio > service.

But you are unwilling or unable to say why. Not exactly a compelling argument!

>>Then what is the salient >> characteristic of her call sign that makes it "inappropriate" in your >> view? Please, be specific.
>
> The suffix. As if you didn't know ;-)

The suffix is not the kind of characteristic I'm referring to. As if you didn't know.

>> > What's wrong with choosing a callsign that is appropriate to the >> > community standards of the amateur radio service
>>
>> What makes you think, Jim, that your standards are the community's?
>
s> What makes you think, Jon, that they are not?

The lack of substantial negative commentary, outside of a handful on rrap.
(And there clearly are plenty of hams even on rrap who do not find it inappropriate.) So I'll repeat the question you ducked: What makes you think that your standards are the community's?

>> The
>> only complaints I've heard about Kim's call sign (or similar ones) are >> from a few bluenoses here on rrap.
>
> What's a "bluenose", Jon? Please, be specific.

http://www.m-w.com/cgi-bin/dictionary?va=bluenose

>>Hardy an outpouring of community outrage!
>
> Most hams outside of rrap don't know calls like that even exist.

There are a number of calls with the suffix TIT. And there are other suffixes in use that I suspect you would also find "inappropriate." (I can only "suspect" since you are unwilling to make any specific complaint against Kim's suffix.) Lots of hams come in contact with those call signs yet make no noise about it. Whether most hams know they exist is irrelevant; most hams who DO know haven't raised objections.

>> How does the call sign N2EY "reflect positively" on the service?
>
> It is appropriate in any situation.

It is irrelevant in any situation other than station identification since it has no meaning. Just like any other call sign.

>>To those outside ham radio, it's just a jumble of >> letters and numbers, no more.
>
> You are mistaken. If that were so, broadcast stations would not care > what their callsigns were.

We're talking about HAM RADIO call signs, Jim, not broadcast call signs. (BTW, in case you haven't listened to broadcast radio lately, most stations de-emphasize the call sign as a marketing identification. They prefer to use catchy phrases with the frequency in them, like "Big D 103.")

> Suppose a major network was going to do a special, and then a series, on > ham radio. Tons of priceless publicity for the ARS. They want a family > show, not a late-night series to replace the Howard Stern TV show.
>
> Suppose they wanted to have a real live amateur radio callsign in the > title - like the classic "WKRP in Cincinnati" show had a BC callsign.
>
> Suppose they asked YOU to recommend an unassigned amateur callsign > (nobody has WKRP, either). Would YOU recommend a callsign like Kim's, or > something else? Why or why not? Please, be specific.

I wouldn't recommend putting a call sign in the title in the first place; it would be poor marketing. But if they were adamant, sure, they could use a call sign like Kim's. (Heck, they could use Kim's call sign. As long as it's okay with her.) I don't think it would result generally in the smirking, nudging and winking present from a few here on rrap.

I find it interesting that you are unwilling or unable to say specifically what's inappropriate about Kim's call sign and unwilling or unable to explain why you think the community also considers it inappropriate. Pretty weak, Jim.

Jon

6059. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 12:45:06 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c6a8e_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29110

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2BF104.4EB91CEB@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Krell wrote:
>
> > "Richard McCollum" <rmcollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
> > news:phBW7.242731$3d2.11838369@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > > Dick, the very concept of actions having consequences has never dawned
on
> > > Kim, is considered debatable by Rick, will be firmly driven into the > > > ground by Dave, and semantically parsed by Cecil. A juvenile act will
be > > > defended by juveniles in a juvenile manner; you have no choice but to live
> > > with it -- or become a juvenile.
> > >
> > > Dick, Bug Killer
> >
> > So who decides what is juvenile?
>
> Surprise! SOCIETY!!
>

No surprise at all. And, it should come as no surprise to you, Dick, if you've been a part of society, that there's all kinds in society. In fact, if you'd like to give society the weight for decisions, take a look at current music, television shows, books, concerts, comedic acts, radio shows, radio talk-shows (heck even the sacred Dr. Laura), advertising. I suppose all those market driven (thus, society driven) acts are being ignored by the "better" society, right?

Kim W5TIT

6060. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:02:45 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228080245.09102.00000780@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29108

In article <pan.2001.12.28.05.14.32.940745.17079@arrl.org>, Jon Bloom
<jbloom@arrl.org> writes:

>On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 16:47:34 -0500, N2EY wrote:
>
>> Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org> wrote in message
>>> Wait a minute, Jim... are you saying you DON'T find Kim's call sign >>> dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy?
>>
>> All I'm saying is that it's not appropriate for the amateur radio >> service.
>
>But you are unwilling or unable to say why.

You called me a "bluenose" but haven't said what a bluenose is.

>
>The lack of substantial negative commentary, outside of a handful on rrap.
>(And there clearly are plenty of hams even on rrap who do not find it >inappropriate.)

"Nobody complained" is not a compelling argument. Weak, very weak.

>So I'll repeat the question you ducked: What makes you >think that your standards are the community's?

The reactions of those who DO comment. Like Riley. Is HE a "bluenose"?
>
>>> The
>>> only complaints I've heard about Kim's call sign (or similar ones) are >>> from a few bluenoses here on rrap.
>>
>> What's a "bluenose", Jon? Please, be specific.
>
>http://www.m-w.com/cgi-bin/dictionary?va=bluenose

Ya can't even bother to cut-and-paste.
>
>>>Hardy an outpouring of community outrage!
>>
>> Most hams outside of rrap don't know calls like that even exist.
>
>There are a number of calls with

[that suffix]

>And there are other >suffixes in use that I suspect you would also find "inappropriate." (I can >only "suspect" since you are unwilling to make any specific complaint >against Kim's suffix.)

"Inappropriate" is quite specific.

You work in an office/lab environment up there in CT, Jon. Would it be appropriate to come to work on a regular workday in midsummer wearing a swimsuit and sandals? How about wearing old faded jeans and a T-shirt to a formal dinner party or wedding? Those clothes are perfectly appropriate for other situations. You're the same person. Why not wear the same clothes?

> Lots of hams come in contact with those call signs
>yet make no noise about it.

How do you know? I've never heard any of them on the air. And please note that the FCC does NOT issue them sequentially.

> Whether most hams know they exist is >irrelevant; most hams who DO know haven't raised objections.

How do you know that? The objectors here on rrap are a sizable group, but you dismiss us and our opinions as irrelevant.
>
>>> How does the call sign N2EY "reflect positively" on the service?
>>
>> It is appropriate in any situation.
>
>It is irrelevant in any situation other than station identification since >it has no meaning.

It has a lot of meaning to those hams who know me.

>Just like any other call sign.

Then there's no reason Kim can't change hers to "W5KIM" or "W5MKW".
>
>>>To those outside ham radio, it's just a jumble of >>> letters and numbers, no more.
>>
>> You are mistaken. If that were so, broadcast stations would not care >> what their callsigns were.
>
>We're talking about HAM RADIO call signs, Jim, not broadcast call signs.

Same principle. To get a reaction and promote an image. The callsign KISS was fought over in court.

>(BTW, in case you haven't listened to broadcast radio lately, most >stations de-emphasize the call sign as a marketing identification. They >prefer to use catchy phrases with the frequency in them, like "Big D >103.")

Only those stations that can't get a catchy one. The point is still the same:
It's NOT just a random, meaningless collection.
>
>> Suppose a major network was going to do a special, and then a series, on >> ham radio. Tons of priceless publicity for the ARS. They want a family >> show, not a late-night series to replace the Howard Stern TV show.
>>
>> Suppose they wanted to have a real live amateur radio callsign in the >> title - like the classic "WKRP in Cincinnati" show had a BC callsign.
>>
>> Suppose they asked YOU to recommend an unassigned amateur callsign >> (nobody has WKRP, either). Would YOU recommend a callsign like Kim's, or >> something else? Why or why not? Please, be specific.
>
>I wouldn't recommend putting a call sign in the title in the first place;
>it would be poor marketing.

WHY? "WKRP in Cincinnati" was a very highly rated show. The callsign made it easy to remember. In fact most people abbreviate the title to just "WKRP".

>But if they were adamant, sure, they could use >a call sign like Kim's. (Heck, they could use Kim's call sign. As long as >it's okay with her.) I don't think it would result generally in the >smirking, nudging and winking present from a few here on rrap.

If that's Hq's idea of good marketing, it's no wonder so few people know about ham radio.
>
>I find it interesting that you are unwilling or unable to say specifically >what's inappropriate about Kim's call sign and unwilling or unable to >explain why you think the community also considers it inappropriate.

See above.

>Pretty weak, Jim.

I find it interesting that you would think it suitable as a marketing tool for Amateur Radio, Jon.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6061. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:02:46 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228080246.09102.00000781@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29106

In article <3C2A4AFD.CDA3172E@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>>
>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote: >> >is a valid callsign.
>>
>> Only because the FCC has made a mistake in issuing it. Do you believe >> the FCC is infallible, Cecil?
>
>Well, maybe you should be ragging on the FCC instead of Kim.

Who is "ragging on" Kim? Not me.

>
>> The FCC does NOT issue that particular suffix (and others) in sequence >> or at random. It must be specifically requested through the vanity >> call program.
>
>But in the process of issuing any amateur radio callsign, the FCC
>endorses that callsign as suitable and appropriate for identification
>on the ham bands.

Nope. They simply say it's legal, thus avoiding a lot of headaches.

By the logic of "Govt. issued it, therefore it's OK" you're saying that if the govt. says something is legal, then nobody should say anything against it.

>> What's wrong with choosing a callsign that is appropriate to the >> community standards of the amateur radio service and reflects >> positively upon that service?
>
>Kim's callsign is definitely appropriate to the community standards
>here in Texas.

I doubt it. But if that's true, then keep it contained there.

>
>> > Nobody's forcing you to think those dirty thoughts.
>>
>> What "dirty thoughts"?
>
>The thought that Kim's callsign is dirty.

Who said that? Not me. I said inappropriate.

> The reason that you think >it is inappropriate is that you think it is dirty.

Who said that? Not me. I said inappropriate.

> You don't think >my callsign is dirty - therefore you are not complaining about mine.

I said inappropriate.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6062. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:02:47 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228080247.09102.00000782@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29107

In article <3c2a295a_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:9f4bfe89.0112260911.3c2a6908@posting.google.com...
>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
>news:<3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org>...
>> > N2EY wrote:
>> > > Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.
>> >
>> > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
>> > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
>>
>> There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
>> They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
>
>Giggle value. Not shock.

So the selection is NOT just a random collection of letters. It was specifically chosen to elicit a reaction.

>> > Do you refuse to use words, parts of which spell a vulgar >> > word? e.g. assume, harass? If you use words, parts of which >> > spell a vulgar word, why bar callsigns, parts of which spell >> > vulgar words? It's exactly the same concept.
>>
>> Not at all. A callsign is not a word. Some callsigns are chosen to >> resemble words, (K1MMY, W1NDY, K0OL) but the callsign in question is >> not one of them.
>
>That is correct. When I say

[Kim's call]

>on the air, it either takes some >thinking or writing it down before it is even recognized as having a twist >to it. There are many folks I've talked to on the air who never even say a >word or indicate in any way that they take for anything but a callsign.

So? Doesn't mean they think it's appropriate. They simply don't comment because all that does is draw more attention to it. Attention is obviously what you want.

The "nobody complains" argument doesn't hold any water.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6063. Re: I made it home alive

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:12:44 UTC
From: WebDoc REACT Unit #602 <arcweb@bnnorth.net>
Message-ID: <fTZW7.13456$_K.1663727@cletus.bright.net>
Source record: 29109

Rick Adams wrote in message
<7C4CAFBD8958B318.3FFFD9E662580877.0065D9629641CB69@lp.airnews.net>...
>On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 01:34:11 -0500, "WebDoc REACT Unit #602" ><arcweb@bnnorth.net> wrote:
>
>>Well all I am back home, I left Brooklyn at 1:30 PM and arrived in my >>driveway at 11:30 PM, and wouldn't you know..... I can't sleep. So I am >>practicing copying code, I missed the test date in NYC by about 20 >>minutes..... I got lost at the 59th st / Columbus Circle transfer from
the
>>A train to the 1 train..... Oh well, there is an exam coming up in >>Toledo OH.
>
> Keith, where on earth do you live that your choice of testing >sites is NYC and Toledo--or that you have to travel 10 hours each way >for testing?
>
> Nearly ever middle sized city in the US has regular testing.
>If you are between NYC and Toledo, what about Cleveland, Pittsburgh, >Philly, Syracuse, or Albany? Or any of the dozens of smaller cities in >Pennsylvania, New York, or Ohio for that matter?
>
> Unless you have a reason to prefer testing in a major city it >would seem a LOT more relaxing (and far less stressful--which can lead >to better test results, of course) to take your test locally instead >of traveling as far as you have. At one time you had to go to a major >center for testing--my first license and my upgrade to Advanced were >taken at FCC regional offices [Las Vegas and San Francisco, >respectively] but my Extra came from a testing site only 50 miles from >my home in the rural midwest--you should be able to do the same in >your own area.
>
> Rick
>
>--
>
>Rick Adams--KE8HH
>adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
>"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
>will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
>Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

Well Rick, I was working in NYC as a volunteer with the Red Cross, I has been there since October 3rd. I had planned to take my test there so I could enjoy the hobby on my time off. I live in the N.W. Ohio area, like 40 minutes from Toledo, so now that I am home I can take the test there. Understand better now? heheheh.

Keith Hosman

6064. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:33:09 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c749a_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29118

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message
news:c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> > "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > > digital modes as well?
> >
> > Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > > learn Morse code?
>
> Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as
> "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code > test, and so they already know the code.
>
> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
> which are far more popular?

Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them
voice privileges as well ... but I had to ask the question to ferret out your response ... which seems aimed at
"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency privileges to that mode ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- --
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- --
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCx0kJe+N6+q84HiEQIcqACeN6/r2SJezgL35SQKRO5aNffcHJoAn0QA
SC0bFWN27PfaMM2mQHCctD/Z
=YOmu
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6065. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:33:09 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c782c_1@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29119

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message
news:c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> > "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > > digital modes as well?
> >
> > Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > > learn Morse code?
>
> Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as
> "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code > test, and so they already know the code.
>
> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
> which are far more popular?

Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them
voice privileges as well ... but I had to ask the question
to ferret out your response ... which seems aimed at
"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency privileges to that mode ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- ------------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- ------------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>
```

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCx0kJe+N6+q84HiEQIcqACeN6/r2SJezgL35SQKRO5aNffcHJoAn0QA
SC0bFWN27PfaMM2mQHCctD/Z
=YOmu
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6066. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:33:09 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c7bbd_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29120

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message
news:c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> > "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > > digital modes as well?
> >
> > Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > > learn Morse code?
>
> Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as
> "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code > test, and so they already know the code.
>
> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
> which are far more popular?

Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them
voice privileges as well ... but I had to ask the question
to ferret out your response ... which seems aimed at
"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency privileges to that mode ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- ------------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- ------------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>
```

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCx0kJe+N6+q84HiEQIcqACeN6/r2SJezgL35SQKRO5aNffcHJoAn0QA
SC0bFWN27PfaMM2mQHCctD/Z
=YOmu
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6067. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:33:09 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c7f4e_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29121

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message
news:c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> > "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > > digital modes as well?
> >
> > Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > > learn Morse code?
>
> Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as
> "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code > test, and so they already know the code.
>
> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
> which are far more popular?

Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them
voice privileges as well ... but I had to ask the question
to ferret out your response ... which seems aimed at
"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency privileges to that mode ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- ------------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- ------------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>
```

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCx0kJe+N6+q84HiEQIcqACeN6/r2SJezgL35SQKRO5aNffcHJoAn0QA
SC0bFWN27PfaMM2mQHCctD/Z
=YOmu
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6068. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:33:09 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c82e6_1@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29122

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message
news:c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> > "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > > digital modes as well?
> >
> > Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > > learn Morse code?
>
> Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as
> "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code > test, and so they already know the code.
>
> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
> which are far more popular?

Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them
voice privileges as well ... but I had to ask the question
to ferret out your response ... which seems aimed at
"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency privileges to that mode ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- ------------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- ------------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>
```

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCx0kJe+N6+q84HiEQIcqACeN6/r2SJezgL35SQKRO5aNffcHJoAn0QA
SC0bFWN27PfaMM2mQHCctD/Z
=YOmu
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6069. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:33:09 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c8642_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29124

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message
news:c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> > "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > > digital modes as well?
> >
> > Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > > learn Morse code?
>
> Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as
> "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code > test, and so they already know the code.
>
> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
> which are far more popular?

Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them
voice privileges as well ... but I had to ask the question
to ferret out your response ... which seems aimed at
"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency privileges to that mode ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- --
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- --
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCx0kJe+N6+q84HiEQIcqACeN6/r2SJezgL35SQKRO5aNffcHJoAn0QA
SC0bFWN27PfaMM2mQHCctD/Z
=YOmu
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6070. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:33:09 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c89da_1@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29125

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message
news:c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> > "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > > digital modes as well?
> >
> > Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > > learn Morse code?
>
> Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as
> "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code > test, and so they already know the code.
>
> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
> which are far more popular?

Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them
voice privileges as well ... but I had to ask the question
to ferret out your response ... which seems aimed at
"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency privileges to that mode ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- ------------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- ------------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>
```

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCx0kJe+N6+q84HiEQIcqACeN6/r2SJezgL35SQKRO5aNffcHJoAn0QA
SC0bFWN27PfaMM2mQHCctD/Z
=YOmu
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6071. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:33:09 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c8c28_2@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29127

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message
news:c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> > "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > > digital modes as well?
> >
> > Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > > learn Morse code?
>
> Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as
> "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code > test, and so they already know the code.
>
> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
> which are far more popular?

Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them
voice privileges as well ... but I had to ask the question
to ferret out your response ... which seems aimed at
"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency privileges to that mode ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- --
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- --
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCx0kJe+N6+q84HiEQIcqACeN6/r2SJezgL35SQKRO5aNffcHJoAn0QA
SC0bFWN27PfaMM2mQHCctD/Z
=YOmu
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6072. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:33:09 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c8ca0_1@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29128

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <N2EY@AOL.COM> wrote in message
news:c2356669.0112271324.2af15ae9@posting.google.com...
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:<3C2B448D.518F68B1@IEEE.org>...
> > "Carl R. Stevenson" wrote:
> > > Why limit them to CW? Why not allow them to use modern > > > digital modes as well?
> >
> > Because if they allow digital modes, those guys never will > > learn Morse code?
>
> Illogical. All Novices and Tech Pluses (the folks referred to as
> "those guys" in the above) have already passed at least a 5 wpm code > test, and so they already know the code.
>
> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
> which are far more popular?

Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them
voice privileges as well ... but I had to ask the question
to ferret out your response ... which seems aimed at
"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency privileges to that mode ...

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- ------------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- ------------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>
```

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCx0kJe+N6+q84HiEQIcqACeN6/r2SJezgL35SQKRO5aNffcHJoAn0QA
SC0bFWN27PfaMM2mQHCctD/Z
=YOmu
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6073. Re: What not to say to a cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 13:49:07 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0i5np$mn1$5@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29134
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"LloydVFP" <LloydVFP@KV4FZmyHero.net> wrote in message
news:a0gq8q$f9r$0@pita.alt.net...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:a0fchi$q4t$2@dosa.alt.net...
> >
> > "N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
> > news:I9yW7.125$8M.574732@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
> > >
> > > Swift Rider <c_howard_in@disguise.com> wrote in Alt.Law-Enforcement...
> > >
> > > : The WORST Things to Say to a Police Officer:
> > > :
> > > :
> > > : 1. I can't reach my license unless you hold my beer.
> > > :
> > > : 2. Sorry, Officer, I didn't realize my radar detector wasn't plugged
> in.
> > > :
> > > : 3. Aren't you the guy from the Village People?
> > > :
> > > : 4. Hey, you must've been doin' about 125 mph to keep up with me!
Good
> > job!
> > > :
> > > : 5. Excuse me. Is "stick up" hyphenated?
> > > :
> > > : 6. I though you had to be in relatively good physical condition to
be
> a
> > > : police officer.
> > > :
> > > : 7. I was going to be a cop, but I decided to finish high school > instead.
> > > :
> > > : 8. Bad cop! No donut!
> > > :
> > > : 9. You're not gonna check the trunk, are you?
> > > :
> > > : 10. Gee, that gut sure doesn't inspire confidence.
> > > :
> > > : 11. Didn't I see you get your butt kicked on "Cops"?
> > > :
> > > : 12. Wow, you look just like the guy in the picture on my

girlfriend's
> > > : nightstand!
> > > :
> > > : 13. Is it true that people become cops because they are too dumb to > work
> > > at
> > > : McDonald's?
> > > :
> > > : 14. I pay your salary!
> > > :
> > > : 15. So, uh, you on the take, or what?
> > > :
> > > : 16. Gee, Officer! That's terrific. The last officer only gave me a > > > warning,
> > > : too!
> > > :
> > > : 17. Do you know why you pulled me over? OK, just so one of us does.
> > > :
> > > : 18. I was trying to keep up with traffic. Yes, I know there is no > other
> > > car
> > > : around me&emdash;that's how far ahead of me they are.
> > > :
> > > : 19. What do you mean. "Have I been drinking?" You're the trained > > > specialist.
> > > :
> > > : 20. Well, when I reached down to pick up my bag of crack, my gun fell > > off
> > > my
> > > : lap and got lodged between the brake pedal and the gas pedal, forcing
> me
> > > to
> > > : speed out of control.
> > > :
> > > : 21. Hey, is that a 9 mm? That's nothing compared to this .44 magnum.
> > > :
> > > 22. It's not my car, BUT..... (care of Nightcrawler)
> > >
> > > 23. I know my rights!!!!
>
> 24. KC8JBO, Wogie Wiseman, would say to the cop: Will you
> be my boyfriend? LOL LOL LOL LOL LOL

N0VFP, Llllardasssss lllllloyd has said to a cop, "Can I slurp your nutsacks to let me off these felonies?" See, Lllardasssss lllloyd has quite a criminal record, for buggering boys , cows, and pumpkins in and around Athens, AL.

This was just faxed from the Birminham Field office:

The Great Pumpkin
Birmingham Post-Herald
October 14, 2000

Police arrested Lloyd A. Davies, a 27 year old white male, resident of Athens, Alabama in the Anderson Pumpkin patch at 11:38pm Friday. Davies will be charged with lewd and lascivious behavior, public indecency, and public intoxication at the Athens Municipal Courthouse Monday. The suspect allegedly stated that as he was passing a pumpkin patch, he decided to stop. "You know, a pumpkin is soft and squishy inside, and there was no one around here for miles. At least I thought there wasn't." he stated in a phone interview from the Athens Municipal Courthouse Jail.
Davies went on to state that he pulled over to the side of the road, picked out a pumpkin that he felt was appropriate to his purposes, cut a hole in it, and proceeded to satisfy his alleged "need". "I guess I was just really into it, you know?" he commented with evident embarrassment. In the process, Torrance apparently failed to notice the Athens Municipal police car approaching and was unaware of his audience until officer Brenda Taylor approached him. "It was an unusual situation, sure." said officer Taylor. "I walked up to (Davies) and he's... just working away at this pumpkin."
Taylor went on to describe what happened when she approached Davies. "I just went up and said, 'Excuse me sir, but do you realize that you are screwing a pumpkin?' He got real surprised as you'd expect, and then looked me straight in the face and said,
'A pumpkin? Damn... is it midnight already?"

6074. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 14:21:36 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2C7FF0.8921979@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29111

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> Krell wrote:
> > So who decides what is juvenile?
>
> Surprise! SOCIETY!!

Exactly where does this body of society meet to sit down and write out what is juvenile? Saying "society" is just another argumentum ad populum. Society is an ill-defined nebulous blob with no enforcement power outside of government.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6075. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 14:23:27 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2C805F.3C3DDC79@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29112

N2EY wrote:
> I said inappropriate.

What definition of "inappropriate" are you using?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6076. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 14:30:28 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2C8204.29BEFC1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29115

N2EY wrote:
> A callsign is a privilege, not a right. The > choice of any particular one is a privilege, not a right. FCC can end the > vanity callsign any time they want.

So talk the FCC into ending the vanity callsign. Until then, Kim has just as much right to her callsign as I have to mine.

> > i.e. you are not Ham Radio Royalty.
>
> Thanks! I never claimed to be.

You are trying to use the weight of your Royal Do-Gooder standing to get Kim, a commoner, to change her callsign. You are essentially saying that you somehow possess something (Royalty) that allows you to be a better judge of callsigns than she is.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6077. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 14:31:50 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <qn%W7.1525$Dl1.756893@monger.newsread.com>
Source record: 29113
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

And of course we seem to find them everywhere we go. Good to see you in this group too there Roger! Hope your Christmas went well.

Ryan KC8PMX

"Roger Halstead" <rdhalste@tm.net> wrote in message news:CoyW7.1399$Dl1.693885@monger.newsread.com...
> One more troll!
>
> Roger (K8RI)
>
> "Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message > news:e9de0154.0112201650.5423f9f0@posting.google.com...
>
>

6078. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 14:31:51 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <rn%W7.1526$DI1.757130@monger.newsread.com>
Source record: 29114

> > BTW, the amateur "Nude Net" meets on HF on Saturdays as I > > recall. You might want to tune it in sometime and note the age of some > > of the participants.
>

JEEEEEESHHHHHHHHHHHH!!!! This scares me more than Kim's callsign does to some select few in this group. Considering the majority of hams are at or over the age of "middle age", to even know they may be naked while operating I believe will make me need counseling!!! LOL

Is this net "for the good of the ARS??"

Ryan

6079. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 14:48:25 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c8a9d_1@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29126

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011227220325.01870.00000569@mb-fz.aol.com...
> In article
<XZpW7.242101$3d2.11769921@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> writes:
>
> >> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
> > >
> >> > If the > >> > Novice is promoted to this class by simply waiving element 2
then the > >> > situation becomes much clearer.
> > >
> >> Yup - but is it right to give away upgrades like that?

Nope ...

> >
> >Well, yes, it is because they have been law abiding hams for years,
possibly
> >decades and granting them Element 2 is not going to ire anyone.

No ... they haven't demonstrated the qualifications tested by the other test element. REMEMBER, the purpose of the test is to measure qualifications ... nothing else ... NOT to measure (or reward) behavior(s).

> It might upset those who recently took a test to upgrade. Didja know that both > the NCVEC and NCI OPPOSED the ARRL BoD idea to give a "free" upgrade of Novices
> and Tech Pluses to General?

That's true ... as NCI has stated all along, we are "No Code International,"
not "No Qualifications International."

> The whole Extra written test! Today, a current Advanced has to take
a 50 > question written to get the Extra - same as a General. Auto-upgrade would not > go over big with some folks.
```

And the more technical content (not that it's THAT hard, but it's reasonable for granting a license to operate and experiment)
is virtually all in the Extra test now ... the written elements for General are quite elementary ...

Now who's proposing to "dumb down" amateur radio???

[snip]

> >> > All this is accomplished by waiving Element 2 for Novices and waiving > >> > Element 4(B) for Advanced. I think this is a very tiny price to pay in > >order
> >> > to have a structure which can have some basic adjustments applied for > >better
> >> > transitioning of everyone throughout the ARS experience.
> >
> >> I see your point, but others may be outraged and the FCC may nix
the
> >> whole free upgrade idea.

NO "freebie" no-test upgrades for novices or advanced ... the material in those elements is necesssary to assure reasonable qualifications.

If someone has been an advanced for a while, the liklihood is that they weren't interested in code and have been unwilling to put forth the effort to get to 20 wpm. With the 20 wpm gone, I have little sympathy for someone who isn't willing to take a relatively easy 50 question written test to upgrade from adanced to extra.

[snip]

> >> An ARRL committee is proposing virtually the same thing, > >> (good) plus widening the 'phone slots on those bands (bad).
> >
> >I agree with you here, also.

So do I (surprised) ... I personally oppose widening the phone bands (at least at this time) because I don't think we should allow the lower parts of the bands to be over-run with SSB,
which could discourage the development of more modern digital modes.

[snip]

> >> > you want them to learn CW then put the horse before cart and the carrot
> >in > >> > front of the horse. This would eliminate the CW only subbands
on 15, 40,
> >and 80 meters.
> >

> >> I think you mean "Novice/TechPlus subbands".
> >
> >They are CW only subbands on my chart. I was avoiding using the words Novice > >and Technician Plus in my post S25.5 world. Besides, you know what I meant.

He's corrrect ... they are NOT "CW only" sub-bands (except if you hold a novice/tech+ license) ... others are technically free to use PSK31, Clover, PacTor, or other digital modes there, as long as they meet the (stupid) occupied bandwidth restrictions ...

The ONLY "CW only" slots in all of the ham bands are 50.0-50.1 MHz and 144.0-144.1 MHz ...

> Just making sure. It's clear now.
> >
> >> The main problems I see are:
> >
> >> 1) the FCC has already shot down many of your ideas
> >
> >Tough, they'll have to have good reasons to shoot them down, again.

Why piss off the FCC by going back incesantly asking them to do things that they have already determined they're not going to do because they don't serve the public interest?

So there are approx. 40k novice licenses still valid and approx.
87k advanced licenses still valid (source "Year End Census of Amateur Radio Operators," The W5YI Report. What's the big deal? And there are some tech+ who will end up getting renewed as techs (but still keep their limited HF privs) if they don't upgrade.
What does that hurt?

It took me from the time the rules changed until recently to find time to get around to going to a VE session to take the extra written and upgrade ... I didn't bitch ... I didn't ask to have the test waived ... why should anyone get a total freebie??? If they don't want to, or don't have the time to, upgrade, they should remain satisfied with what they have. There is no reason to change the system ... nobody should get privileges they aren't qualified for, nor should anyone lose privileges they've already earned.
[snip]

> >I think other hams see what's happening... the new ones come in and get to > >general and extra very quickly and the elders are being 'corraled'
out in > >their pastures.

How are "the elders being 'corraled' out in their pastures" ???
(serious question ... I don't get what you're infering here ...)

> Hmm - interesting. Could even result in a situation where the newbies say to
> the oldsters "I did it, so you have to, as well!"

Turnabout is fair play, they say :-) As one who has followed the rules and taken and passed the extra written, I could take that view with respect to "waiving" the extra written and giving advanceds a free upgrade ... but that is NOT my motivation for opposing such a freebie ... the motivation is PURELY that there is legitimate material in the extra written test that should be tested and advanceds should have to demonstrate that they know that material before being granted the additional privileges of the extra class (and I am NOT refering to the few small "extra only" sub-band slots ... I'm refering to the other things that are reserved for extras ...)

> >> 3) the big opportunities of the post-2003 era are not being addressed
> >> adequately.

I agree with that ... there is still not a good vision in the majority of the amateur community about what we need to do and where we need to go, in terms of technology and using our spectrum more fully and efficiently.

More space for 50 year old SSB technology is NOT the answer, IMNSHO ... again I refer the interested to public comments by Dale Hatfield and other FCC officials on the future of amateur radio (available for reading on "Articles" page of NCI 's website, URL listed in my sig file below).

[snip]

> I dunno about that. Their system may not know who is an "old" Tech Plus and who > isn't.

The FCC's system "knows" who is an "old" Tech Plus and who is not,
but as was pointed out, the system is programmed such that the VECs are the "engine" for input to the system and it would cost the FCC a LOT
in manpower and reprogramming to do such upgrades directly themselves.

I don't see taking one's paperwork to a VE session to get the upgrade as being such an onerous thing ... call it a "demonstration of committment"
if you like :-) (just joking ... my views on "demonstrations of committment"
as regulatory goals have NOT changed)

[snip]

> I mean three slots by mode type: CW, digital, analog voice or image.
For > example, 40 meters might be 7000-7075 CW, 7075-7150 digital, 7150-7300 analog
> voice or image.

More "balkanization" as I pointed out before ... a BAD idea as RULES.
I have no problem with flexible, voluntary bandplans and "gentleman's agrements" ... they can be changed far more easily than FCC rules as needs change ... casting sub-band usage by mode into the relative concrete of Part 97 will ultimately hurt our ability to adapt to modernizing changes in technology and usage patterns ... a bad thing.

[snip]

> >What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???
>
> Offer an upgrade incentive.

"Incentive Licensing" was a dismal failure ... philosophically,
I agree with prior comments that power limitations make more sense than mode limitations, since they are more solidly based on some reasonable relation to one's technical knowledge,
as demonstrated by passing the more difficult tests.
(however, I also realize the unfortunate political reality that taking amps away from those who currently are allowed to use them will raise hell that will make the code/no-code debate look pale by comparison ... therefore, I would, be reluctant to propose such a thing, even though I think it's a good idea ... too many folks just don't realize that there is far more "bang for the buck" to be had with better antennas and better modulation and coding schemes than with brute force power)

[snip]

>The point is to come up with something that isn't just another > patch slapped on the old system.

As I see it, given that Morse testing will go away completely after WRC-03, the system isn't so bad ... current novices are declining by at least 5k/year, either through upgrades, going SK, or simply not renewing ... adanceds have declined about 20k since "restructuring," through the same mechanisms
... tech+'s have declined about 45k, presumably mostly through upgrades to general, and those who don't upgrade will be renewed as techs, but retain their (limited) HF privs ...

What's the problem with this? Over time, through upgrades and attrition, we will have only 3 license classes ... some might argue that 2 is sufficient (that's the norm in much of the world and it doesn't seem to cause any problem), but I'm OK with 3 ... particularly if the "power vs. technical knowledge" thing were enacted, though I'm certainly not planning to propose it ...

73,

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- --
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- --
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCyF5pe+N6+q84HiEQL0QwCgguJUDjijuojtV/wIpN8aHL4fUacAoOlJ dGfgFlGk29fw9cqikFKQy3nu
=IkcF
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----

6080. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 15:08:12 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0i1pe0med@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29116

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2BF104.4EB91CEB@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Krell wrote:
>
> > "Richard McCollum" <rmcollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
> > news:phBW7.242731$3d2.11838369@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > > Dick, the very concept of actions having consequences has never dawned
on
> > > Kim, is considered debatable by Rick, will be firmly driven into the > > > ground by Dave, and semantically parsed by Cecil. A juvenile act will
be > > > defended by juveniles in a juvenile manner; you have no choice but to live
> > > with it -- or become a juvenile.
> > >
> > > Dick, Bug Killer
> >
> > So who decides what is juvenile?
>
> Surprise! SOCIETY!!

Really? Larry King blasted Howard Stern for juvenile behavior on his radio and TV show, yet King is called juvenile by Stern for getting a new wife every couple of years that's always younger than the one before. How does society, in this case, decide what's juvenile?

6081. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 15:36:37 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <9k0X7.200751$WW.11698052@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29117

> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote

> > Agreed!! The point is to come up with something that isn't just another > patch slapped on the old system.

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote

> Jim, what some view as a patch others might view differently. Especially > the FCC. It is not difficult to maintain records on Novice and Advanced > tickets until they make it to shady rest nursing home and beyond, > particularly when someone else is doing the grunt work. On the other > hand, adding new ones would be a major pain in the drain. So you can > fairly bet that what you are going to see is Extra, General, Technician.
> Not a software change in the bundle.

So... what does that mean? Don't do the right thing because some people might not like it??? Fine, then you can all wallow in the mire.

> Not being entirely certain just what wonderous opportunities dropping the > code test offers and being generally one to let mode wars settle the > issue, I am also not entirely sure what is to be gained.

> Go ahead and plan out the "Ultimate System"; it is certainly worth the > effort but I would suggest that after doing so, one has Plan B and Plan C > in the pocket.

Nope. Plans B and C are the reasons it got like this to start with. Being all things to all people.

> Certainly the power endorsement is an idea I would not > have come up with for sure. Given the CB thing, we might be better to > outlaw Antique Modulation entirely and go with a 3kHz max bandwidth below > 29 but that doesn't flow from this discussion.

Right, CB'ers are out of control so take away AM from the General, Advanced and Extra classes. NOT!!!

3kHz max... only on 10 meters??? on all HF/MF??? What do you mean, exactly?

> Plans B & C should try to stuff what seems to be a unanimous 3 class > approach into both the FCCs problems and attitudes and clearly identify > where these attitudes cause problems to the FCC down the road. And it is > apparent that Rich is not familiar with the band plans used outside the > US. The U.S. phone bands are designed to give the world a place to hide > from us. Whether this is good, bad, obsolete or whatever it is reality.
> Splitting narrow modes without fitting the rest of the planet is not > bright.

WRONG McCollum... How did any of my proposals imply any of that???

> Too much is made over CW; Novices and no one else are limited to > CW in their bands.

WRONG McCollum... Technician Plus is limited to CW in the same bands. This may eventually include all the Technician class also.

> A related question to what to do with remaining Novice and Advanced is to > ask if they are likely to be used enough to be worth changing them.

Of course it's worth changing them. What happens if you change them is... the whole ARS becomes much cleaner and focused so that future proposals don't have to have all these 'ifs' 'ands' AND 'buts'.

> Yes I > realize that about 100 Novice tickets are being renewed every month; the > question is why? In the absence of a code test, extending power-limited > SSB privleges in the 28.3-5 segment or even down to 28.1 to Techs would in > effect make the Tech Plus irrelevant anyway.

Irrelevant??? A Technician Plus is a Novice AND a Technician. Maybe the other two classes are irrelevent. :^

We already have 'power-limited SSB privileges in the 28.3-5 segment' and
NO...
don't take it down to 28.1!!! That's our ONLY... cw, RTTY and data area in all of MF/HF. It's obvious you don't know, what and where our privileges are, do you?

> To someone who passed the > Advanced in recent memory the new Element 4 is no big deal -- all the > advanced I know are ancient Class As. If the ticket is not going to be > used, who cares? Leave them to rot on the vine. I like cleanliness too > but why make an issue of it if you have bigger fish to fry?

I the ticket is not gonna be used then dump the subband.

> Making the VE separate from the Extra, and I still think it needs 1-2 > years time in grade, is a fine idea.

6082. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 15:41:45 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c93eb_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29123

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011228080245.09102.00000780@mb-ct.aol.com...
> In article <pan.2001.12.28.05.14.32.940745.17079@arrl.org>, Jon Bloom > <jbloom@arrl.org> writes:
>
> >So I'll repeat the question you ducked: What makes you > >think that your standards are the community's?
>
> The reactions of those who DO comment. Like Riley. Is HE a "bluenose"?
> >

C'mon. Riley is just another ham. His opinion on whether the FCC should be in the business of judging callsigns or not, was sought because I knew that, as a person from the FCC, his opinion would be listened to. If I'd said to Larry R., or anyone else, "Hey, ask Cecil if the FCC should take my callsign away," that would have garnered nothing but the usual cat meows from a bunch of grown men.

> >>> The
> >>> only complaints I've heard about Kim's call sign (or similar ones) are
> >>> from a few bluenoses here on rrap.
> >>
> >> What's a "bluenose", Jon? Please, be specific.
> >
> >http://www.m-w.com/cgi-bin/dictionary?va=bluenose
>
> Ya can't even bother to cut-and-paste.

Main Entry: bluenose
Pronunciation: 'bl-"nOz
Function: noun
Date: 1903
: a person who advocates a rigorous moral code

How's that? Sounds appropriate.

> >
> >>>Hardy an outpouring of community outrage!
> >>
> >> Most hams outside of rrap don't know calls like that even exist.
> >
> >There are a number of calls with
>
> [that suffix]

Which one? TIT?

>
> >And there are other > >suffixes in use that I suspect you would also find "inappropriate." (I can > >only "suspect" since you are unwilling to make any specific complaint > >against Kim's suffix.)
>
> "Inappropriate" is quite specific.
>
> You work in an office/lab environment up there in CT, Jon. Would it be > appropriate to come to work on a regular workday in midsummer wearing a > swimsuit and sandals? How about wearing old faded jeans and a T-shirt to a > formal dinner party or wedding? Those clothes are perfectly appropriate
for > other situations. You're the same person. Why not wear the same clothes?
>

I think that's an excellent analogy. Since the ARS is neither professional in nature, nor is it formal, then a fun callsign is quite appropriate for the venue. We come into contact with emergency responders, indeed even provide free service for those organizations. I've recently resigned my position as Hunt County EC, but my callsign has never been brought into question by anyone I wish to serve. In fact, my callsign has been commented on, negatively, only once by a local ham, the Section Manager now.
He was not the Section Manager then. In usual and customary manner, I would say that making no comment can be translated to: yes, it's tacky/vulgar/etc.
but not worth getting that upset about; or, "shrug shoulders no big deal."

> > Lots of hams come in contact with those call signs
> >yet make no noise about it.
>
> How do you know? I've never heard any of them on the air. And please note
that
> the FCC does NOT issue them sequentially.
>

Who cares if the FCC issues them sequentially or not? Doesn't matter. What if I'd gotten W5TIT as a callsign issued sequentially and, for reasons of tradition or attachment, had decided that I just couldn't do without my original callsign? I am pretty sure there are some people who've gotten calls that may be risque to them, but choose to keep them for that reason.
Are they "inappropriate" for the ARS?

> >
> > Whether most hams know they exist is > >irrelevant; most hams who DO know haven't raised objections.
>
> How do you know that? The objectors here on rrap are a sizable group, but
you > dismiss us and our opinions as irrelevant.
> >

I don't know that Jon dismisses them as irrelevant. I know that I do not.
I dismiss them because I don't agree with your opinion of the callsign.

> >>> How does the call sign N2EY "reflect positively" on the service?
> >>
> >> It is appropriate in any situation.
> >

So is W5TIT. It has been used during EmComm, Traffic Nets, conversation, contesting, packet, APRS, emails, as my nametag for hamfests, etc. In fact,
I think it was Jon Bloom that I met at Arlington Hamfest a couple of years ago with my W5TIT T-shirt on.

> >
> >It is irrelevant in any situation other than station identification since > >it has no meaning.
>
> It has a lot of meaning to those hams who know me.
>

As I said in a post before, so does my callsign. Even for those hams who don't like me either as a person or just because of the callsign (weird, huh), they immediately recognize who is behind my callsign and that I am quite serious about what I am doing. I will not engage in inappropriate conversations on the air...well, most of the time; I take public service and emergency communication very seriously; I am a fairly good storm spotter (out of practice here in Texas with no significant weather in my area the past few years); and my callsign is nearly immediately recognizable during the worst of conditions. Lots of meaning, to many hams.

> >
> >Just like any other call sign.
>
> Then there's no reason Kim can't change hers to "W5KIM" or "W5MKW".
> >

Of course there's no reason. Except that I chided all the guys for getting their initials. Heck, where's the creativity in that? A vanity callsign should be a vanity callsign. Initials, smitials, be creative and have fun.
The other part of the whole thing is that, yes, the FCC will issue such calls. (I wasn't sure they would when I applied...LOL).

> >>>To those outside ham radio, it's just a jumble of > >>> letters and numbers, no more.
> >>
> >> You are mistaken. If that were so, broadcast stations would not care > >> what their callsigns were.
> >
> >We're talking about HAM RADIO call signs, Jim, not broadcast call signs.
>

Exactly.

> Same principle. To get a reaction and promote an image. The callsign KISS
was > fought over in court.
>
> >(BTW, in case you haven't listened to broadcast radio lately, most > >stations de-emphasize the call sign as a marketing identification. They > >prefer to use catchy phrases with the frequency in them, like "Big D > >103.")
>

Hey, Jon, it's even being done on ham radio. Our 145.190 machine here in Dallas says, "Welcome to the Big Machine in Big D..." It's really neat.
(It is the best machine and the most coverage--ooops, except for maybe one other repeater--in Dallas). And, the "owner" is so controversial that even though it's the best machine, it isn't the emergency communications machine...now, ain't politics a hoot?

> Only those stations that can't get a catchy one. The point is still the same:
> It's NOT just a random, meaningless collection.
> >
> >> Suppose a major network was going to do a special, and then a series,
on > >> ham radio. Tons of priceless publicity for the ARS. They want a family > >> show, not a late-night series to replace the Howard Stern TV show.
> >>
> >> Suppose they wanted to have a real live amateur radio callsign in the > >> title - like the classic "WKRP in Cincinnati" show had a BC callsign.
> >>
> >> Suppose they asked YOU to recommend an unassigned amateur callsign > >> (nobody has WKRP, either). Would YOU recommend a callsign like Kim's, or > >> something else? Why or why not? Please, be specific.
> >

Why not? Tell ya one thing, if you want attention to the hobby, "an interview with a female ham, W5TIT" would get people watching and listening.
They may come with evil, misguided intentions, but I'd be so perfectly representative of the ARS on TV that any of those people would soon change their minds or recede into nothingness. The callsign is fun, the person is fun, the callsign is not vulgar, the person is not vulgar. One of the things I think would be great to point out in an interview would be the very nature of the politics of my callsign. For anyone thinking that ham radio is a stuck-up's hobby, they'd have to change their mind.

> >
> >I wouldn't recommend putting a call sign in the title in the first place;
> >it would be poor marketing.
>

I think so, too. A good title for a ham radio show would be something like,
"Getting to Know Your Neighbor...A Few Countries Away." Something like that. If we were ever lucky enough (yeah, let's really dream here), and we warranted a weekly show, I'd be more embarrassed to associate myself with RRAP than I would with any one ham or any one ham's callsign. Truthfully.

> WHY? "WKRP in Cincinnati" was a very highly rated show. The callsign made it > easy to remember. In fact most people abbreviate the title to just "WKRP".
> >But if they were adamant, sure, they could use
> >a call sign like Kim's. (Heck, they could use Kim's call sign. As long as > >it's okay with her.) I don't think it would result generally in the > >smirking, nudging and winking present from a few here on rrap.

Nope, I don't think it would, either. In fact, I think to the common person (a non-ham) it would have to be pointed out that my callsign is unusual.

> If that's Hq's idea of good marketing, it's no wonder so few people know about > ham radio.
> >

Oh no, Jim. I am really, really disappointed in you having that mentality. Good grief.

> >I find it interesting that you are unwilling or unable to say specifically > >what's inappropriate about Kim's call sign and unwilling or unable to > >explain why you think the community also considers it inappropriate.
> See above.
> >Pretty weak, Jim.
> I find it interesting that you would think it suitable as a marketing tool for > Amateur Radio, Jon.
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

I find it interesting that you are of the opinion that Jon brought up the idea of marketing ham radio through my callsign. Wasn't it YOU who presented the scenario, requesting a specific response from Jon? I think nearly any respect I had for you is precarious at this point, Jim. I never would have believed for you to use that kind of debating style.

My callsign, no one's callsign, should be used as a marketing tool for ham radio. I don't think Jon is advocating the idea. He was responding to the silly notion you presented.

Kim W5TIT

6083. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 15:47:07 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c952b_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29129

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011228080246.09102.00000781@mb-ct.aol.com...
> In article <3C2A4AFD.CDA3172E@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >N2EY wrote:
> >>
> >> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote: > >> >is a valid callsign.
> >>
> >> Only because the FCC has made a mistake in issuing it. Do you believe > >> the FCC is infallible, Cecil?
> >>
> >Well, maybe you should be ragging on the FCC instead of Kim.
>
> Who is "ragging on" Kim? Not me.
> >
> >> The FCC does NOT issue that particular suffix (and others) in sequence > >> or at random. It must be specifically requested through the vanity > >> call program.
> >>
> >But in the process of issuing any amateur radio callsign, the FCC
> >endorses that callsign as suitable and appropriate for identification > >on the ham bands.
>
> Nope. They simply say it's legal, thus avoiding a lot of headaches.
>
> By the logic of "Govt. issued it, therefore it's OK" you're saying that if
the > govt. says something is legal, then nobody should say anything against it.
>

Stand by. Are you aware of the mood across this country toward anyone who dares to publicly say anything criticising the government right now? I'll daresay that I would never in a million years agree (as has been said by some real idiots) that our government had anything to do with the tragic events of 9-11. But, it sure has provided them with a convenient venue to rapidly implement some pretty harsh measures; feed the frenzy of patriotism; cause those who don't fly a flag to come under suspicion from fellow citizens; and so on. Watch what happens in response to this post.

Kim W5TIT

6084. sorry for any dupes ... (was Re: Radio Policy)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 15:55:40 UTC
From: "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c9601_1@news7.fast.net>
Source record: 29130

```
-----BEGIN PGP SIGNED MESSAGE-----
Hash: SHA1

Sorry to anyone who got multiple copies of a post or two under "Re: Radio Policy" ... my news server was sending them out, but telling me it wasn't ... I believe I've resolved the problem and apologize for any inconvenince caused by dupes which got out before I fixed the problem and cancelled dupes.

73,

- --
Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse
<mailto:wa6vse@fast/net>
<http://www.users.fast.net/~wa6vse>
- ------------------------------------------------------
NCI-1052
Executive Director, No Code International
Fellow, The Radio Club of America
Senior Member, IEEE
Member, TAPR
Member, ARRL
- ------------------------------------------------------
Join No Code International! Hams for the 21st Century.
Help assure the survival and prosperity of ham radio.
<http://www.nocode.org>

-----BEGIN PGP SIGNATURE-----
Version: PGP for Personal Privacy 5.5.3

iQA/AwUBPCyV+Je+N6+q84HiEQIRfgCgzj7fG4f/BVHlKN6VH72RqrvO6ugAoN7S
Qszhtp7mThbyQvhqFpMh41C1
=JMu9
-----END PGP SIGNATURE-----
```

6085. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 15:57:41 UTC
From: Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
Message-ID: <vD0X7.35$jk5.3836@news.ntplx.net>
Source record: 29131

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 08:02:45 -0500, N2EY wrote:

> In article <pan.2001.12.28.05.14.32.940745.17079@arrl.org>, Jon Bloom > <jbloom@arrl.org> writes:
>
>>On Thu, 27 Dec 2001 16:47:34 -0500, N2EY wrote:
>>
>>> Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org> wrote in message
>>>> Wait a minute, Jim... are you saying you DON'T find Kim's call sign >>>> dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy?
>>>
>>> All I'm saying is that it's not appropriate for the amateur radio >>> service.
>>
>>But you are unwilling or unable to say why.
>
> You called me a "bluenose" but haven't said what a bluenose is.

I pointed you toward the online dictionary. Teach a man to fish....

So, you are apparently still unwilling to say that Kim's call sign is dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy, or lacking that, describe what it is about her call sign that makes it inappropriate. (Or did you think I wouldn't notice that you ducked the question AGAIN?)

> "Nobody complained" is not a compelling argument. Weak, very weak.

It's not weak when the issue is one of community standards. When something is both legal and noncontroversial -- based on there being few complaints
-- the burden of showing that it should not be allowed is, IMO, on those who would disallow it. I don't think you come close to meeting that burden by simply repeating the opinion that Kim's call sign is inappropriate without further justifying that opinion.

>>So I'll repeat the question you ducked: What makes you think that your >>standards are the community's?
>
> The reactions of those who DO comment. Like Riley. Is HE a "bluenose"?

Let's see, if a few people complain we should conclude that most people don't like it, ignoring the many more people who don't complain? I'm glad you're not in the demographics business!

>>> What's a "bluenose", Jon? Please, be specific.
>>
>>http://www.m-w.com/cgi-bin/dictionary?va=bluenose
>

> Ya can't even bother to cut-and-paste.

Ya can't even bother to follow the link?

> "Inappropriate" is quite specific.

No, it's not. If you can't explain WHY it's inappropriate, it has little meaning.

> You work in an office/lab environment up there in CT, Jon. Would it be > appropriate to come to work on a regular workday in midsummer wearing a > swimsuit and sandals? How about wearing old faded jeans and a T-shirt to > a formal dinner party or wedding? Those clothes are perfectly > appropriate for other situations. You're the same person. Why not wear > the same clothes?

That's a strawman, Jim. Clothes have a long history of societal implications. Call signs do not, especially to nonhams.

>> Lots of hams come in contact with those call signs
>>yet make no noise about it.
>
> How do you know?

Around here one tends to hear about things that make hams unhappy.

> I've never heard any of them on the air.

Do you have a point?

> And please > note that the FCC does NOT issue them sequentially.

So what?

>> Whether most hams know they exist is >>irrelevant; most hams who DO know haven't raised objections.
>
> How do you know that? The objectors here on rrap are a sizable group, > but you dismiss us and our opinions as irrelevant.

Not irrelevant, just wrong. :-) I've seen only a few rrap-ers complain, with plenty of others taking issue with the complaints and yet others saying nothing on the subject at all. In short, even on rrap there is scant evidence of widespread unhappiness with Kim's choice of call sign.

> Then there's no reason Kim can't change hers to "W5KIM" or "W5MKW".

But she doesn't choose to, and you have yet to elucidate why she should other than that you consider her call sign "inappropriate." That's just your opinion, and in the absence of any more compelling argument, why should she conform to your opinion rather than her own?

> If that's Hq's idea of good marketing,

Ah, the old "you must be speaking for ARRL" ploy. You know better, Jim.

> it's no wonder so few people know > about ham radio.

You're mistaken. Again.

>>I find it interesting that you are unwilling or unable to say >>specifically what's inappropriate about Kim's call sign and unwilling or >>unable to explain why you think the community also considers it >>inappropriate.
>
> See above.

You still haven't explained what, specifically, is objectionable about Kim's call sign. Is it or is it not "dirty, vulgar, obscene, profane, or trashy"? If it is, just say so. If it's not, what IS it that makes it objectionable?

>>Pretty weak, Jim.
>
> I find it interesting that you would think it suitable as a marketing > tool for Amateur Radio, Jon.

But I don't, Jim. As I clearly said, I don't think amateur call signs make a useful marketing tool at all.

Jon

6086. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 15:58:34 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c97da_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29132

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011228080247.09102.00000782@mb-ct.aol.com...
> In article <3c2a295a_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:
>
> >"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> >news:9f4bfe89.0112260911.3c2a6908@posting.google.com...
> >> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> >news:<3C29EDB2.D4C013F0@IEEE.org>...
> >> > N2EY wrote:
> >> > > Just because it's legal doesn't make it right.
> >> >
> >> > Just because part of a callsign might accidentally spell
> >> > something in some language, doesn't make it wrong.
> >>
> >> There was no accident in Kim's choice of letters for that callsign.
> >> They were specifically chosen for their shock and giggle value.
> >
> >Giggle value. Not shock.
>
> So the selection is NOT just a random collection of letters. It was > specifically chosen to elicit a reaction.
>

It was specifically chosen on a dare, Jim. You have seen the story many times. To me, a positive result of its having been issued is the giggles.
My callsign has brought smiles and laughter to old, cantankerous(sp), churchgoing men and women, and has lightened up the load of many who are usually very stern. It is either because they know me already--and I am a very giving person; or, as we debate it for the first time, our conversation ends with smiles and hugs.

> >> > Do you refuse to use words, parts of which spell a vulgar > >> > word? e.g. assume, harass? If you use words, parts of which > >> > spell a vulgar word, why bar callsigns, parts of which spell > >> > vulgar words? It's exactly the same concept.
> >>
> >> Not at all. A callsign is not a word. Some callsigns are chosen to > >> resemble words, (K1MMY, W1NDY, K0OL) but the callsign in question is > >> not one of them.
> >
> >That is correct. When I say
>
> [Kim's call]
>
> >on the air, it either takes some > >thinking or writing it down before it is even recognized as having a twist

> >to it. There are many folks I've talked to on the air who never even say
a > >word or indicate in any way that they take for anything but a callsign.
>
> So? Doesn't mean they think it's appropriate. They simply don't comment
because > all that does is draw more attention to it. Attention is obviously what you
> want.
>

No, Jim. Is Robin Williams a comdeian because he wants attention? Does an artist paint only because they wish attention? I don't care about attention. I have two arms that will hug me just as tightly and with a whole lot more meaning than most people. I like, in fact love, myself. I don't need anyone's attention. I feel that to smile, to say something funny, to nudge someone with my elbow, to tickle a child or an adult, to share things beautiful, is to give another person something positive. One smile, one giggle, one tinge of "something nicely naughty" given to an older person who hasn't had feelings like that in years is worth more punishment than could be heaped upon me by anyone else. That's all it's about. You are sad, but you'll get over it. How long do you think it's been since some of my friends (my older friends) have felt like they couldn't smile or have "those" kinds of thoughts about their wife, or themselves?

Off topic a little, but for Christmas I gave a man a laser pointer. The darned thing cost me $5. This guy is just a little older than me, but he's a preacher and he thinks life is all about being stern, being adult, speaking only of adult topics, with giggles that are illicited only from childhood memories. I didn't get to see him open his present. But he called me. He was in sheer laughter. Know what he said to me? He said, "You know what, Kim? I think God thinks it's OK if we adult men are little boys again, once in a while." Wonder what his sermon will be this Sunday.

> The "nobody complains" argument doesn't hold any water.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

I can't carry aquariums around, Jim. They're cumbersome and sloshy.

Kim W5TIT

6087. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 16:00:58 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2c986a_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29133

"KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote in message
news:rn%W7.1526$Dl1.757130@monger.newsread.com...
> > > BTW, the amateur "Nude Net" meets on HF on Saturdays as I > > > recall. You might want to tune it in sometime and note the age of some > > > of the participants.
> >
>
> JEEEEEESHHHHHHHHHHH!!!! This scares me more than Kim's callsign does to > some select few in this group. Considering the majority of hams are at or > over the age of "middle age", to even know they may be naked while > operating I believe will make me need counseling!!! LOL
>
>
> Is this net "for the good of the ARS??"
>
> Ryan
>

ROFLMAO...grab your mic and run, Ryan!

Kim W5TIT

6088. Re: Mistah Mitnick...

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 16:18:30 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228111830.28576.00001083@mb-mj.aol.com>
Source record: 29135

>Subject: Re: Mistah Mitnick...
>From: "Phil Kane" Phil.Kane@no.spam
>Date: 12/27/2001 11:42 PM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp17rwo.pminews@or.news.verio.net>

>Waiting while he was serving his time to see if he was contrite > for what he did. He was not, and that enters BIG into "character > qualification"

And again...what you are telling me is that since he did not drop to his knees, wallowing and begging for forgiveness, he is "of poor moral character".

You need and your comrades in Washington need a serious dose of humility, Phil. YOU have a problem.

> Waiting, waiting....the wheels grind slowly but grind they > do. Remember that Kevin was in the graybar. The Commission has
> time to wait it out.

No, what the Commission did was WASTE time and back-burnered this issue until it could bring it out and shake it off to make it look like it was REALLY doing "something" important.

Now that the FCC is coming under great scrutiny in the media for it's years of failed stewardship over enforcement matters, it's taking a decades old problem, CREATING a new probelm, and saying "Loookie what we did! Loookie what we did!"

Mitnick deserved the time served for what he did. But coming back YEARS after the fact and trying to cancel is Amateur Radio license for violation that did not even involve radios is cowardly.

>There is no time limit on such a proceeding as long as the > Commission does not renew the license before starting such > proceedings. Therefore, the crucial time ("point of no > return") to make a decision to revoke/suspend is at renewal
> time.

And in that time, has Mitnick had so much as a warning letter for failing to identify? Has his on-air conduct warranted the scruitiny of Riley?

No.

Ergo, other than it has now been MADE an issue by the former prosecutor who has had his feelings hurt because he never got the emotional response wh thought he deserved, the FCC now tries to further punish Mitnick.

The RIGHT thing to do is renew his license, and then say "See...If you behave, even after breaking a law, we will let you have a license to operate."

> Remember that this is administrative law, not criminal law. The > playing field has different stripes.

The only stripes I see here are yellow one's running down the back of FCC lawyers and Commissioners.

>There is ample precednt for taking action against any and all > licenses held by the respondent in situations like this.

There was ample precedent (and evidence) to put Bill Clinton AND his wife in jail for a long time.

You see what happened there. And what Bill Clinton did to America far outstripped any damage that Mitnick ever did to it.

Your other examples (including the illegal "brothel" radio station noted....In that example radio WAS used illegally and the punishment was correct.

>Not quite. It's justice. Ask his victims. He led them on a merry > chase for years, even assuming the identity of one of them on > line for a while.

Oh yeah...THAT'S big news....How come the FCC isn't active in RRAP chasing down the dozens of spammes and forgers in here, Phil?

It still comes down to what we, as Americans SAY...And then what we DO...We are SUPPOSED to presume someone innnocent until proven guilty. Mitnick is having to defend his Amateur license against charges totally unrelated to his conduct as a licensee in PArt 97.

Furthermore, our justice system is supposed to be able to return a person to society so that they may function as a PART of that society.

YOU and your Commission comrades seem to think that that system is unjust, and that you have some moral imperative to punish, then continuing punishing at every opportunity.

That's sick.

Steve, K4YZ

6089. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 16:45:17 UTC
From: Richard Plourde <rplourde@att.net>
Message-ID: <xk1X7.313294$W8.11638202@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29136

> N2EY wrote:
> > I said inappropriate.

"CAM" wrote

> What definition of "inappropriate" are you using?

Hey... my dictionary says inappropriate means not appropriate...

not helpful so..

appropriate - especially suitable or compatible

so... inappropiate is not especially suitable or compatible.

This doesn't sound like much of an indictment of her callsign. It sounds like it's only one step removed from my word for her callsign... fine. ;-)

Rich

6090. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 16:57:33 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <ujLzYA8jBHA.1704@cpimsnntpa03>
Source record: 29137

Jon Bloom says:

> I don't think it would result generally in the > smirking, nudging and winking present > from a few here on rrap.

Jon, I'm not winking, nudging, or smirking. I've simply stated that I feel (as in "it is my opinion") that the vanity call choice Kim made is trashy.

If I saw an automobile with the vanity plates "TITS" I would also be of the opinion that the owner (whether female or male) made a trashy choice. So would most folks.

If a brassiere store opened in the mall with the name "Tit-Slings", I would consider their choice trashy. So would most folks.

If a urologist opened a medical office with the name "Pecker-Checker" I would consider that choice trashy. So would most folks.

Kim's vanity call was not sequentially assigned by a computer, but was deliberately selected as her personal preference by which to be identified on the air. I consider her choice trashy. So would most folks.

This isn't an attack on Kim -- she's probably a very nice middle aged lady, keeps her lawn mowed, doesn't fart in public places, looks out for children crossing the street, respects old people, gives generously to deserving charities, is great fun at a party, and a nice neighbor to chat with on a quiet summer evening. Kind of like your and my next door neighbors, who we'd also chide if they made such a silly choice of vanity call.

--
(���) 73, de Hans, K0HB

6091. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 17:02:54 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228120254.24724.00000562@mb-mr.aol.com>
Source record: 29138

In article <3c2c952b_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011228080246.09102.00000781@mb-ct.aol.com...
>> In article <3C2A4AFD.CDA3172E@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
>writes:
>>
>> >N2EY wrote:
>> >>
>> >> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote: >> >> >is a valid callsign.
>> >>
>> >> Only because the FCC has made a mistake in issuing it. Do you believe >> >> the FCC is infallible, Cecil?
>> >
>> >Well, maybe you should be ragging on the FCC instead of Kim.
>>
>> Who is "ragging on" Kim? Not me.
>> >
>> >> The FCC does NOT issue that particular suffix (and others) in sequence >> >> or at random. It must be specifically requested through the vanity >> >> call program.
>> >
>> >But in the process of issuing any amateur radio callsign, the FCC
>> >endorses that callsign as suitable and appropriate for identification >> >on the ham bands.
>>
>> Nope. They simply say it's legal, thus avoiding a lot of headaches.
>>
>> By the logic of "Govt. issued it, therefore it's OK" you're saying that if
>the >> govt. says something is legal, then nobody should say anything against it.
>>
>
>Stand by.

For what?

>Are you aware of the mood across this country toward anyone who >dares to publicly say anything criticising the government right now?

Yup. Do you see the parallel to this situation?

>I'll >daresay that I would never in a million years agree (as has been said by >some real idiots) that our government had anything to do with the tragic >events of 9-11. But, it sure has provided them with a convenient venue to >rapidly implement some pretty harsh measures; feed the frenzy of patriotism;

>cause those who don't fly a flag to come under suspicion from fellow >citizens; and so on.

Just like the frenzy of electropolitical correctness when someone dares to suggest that certain callsigns may be inappropriate for the amateur service.

>Watch what happens in response to this post.

Similar to what happens to those who don't jump on the "anything goes with callsigns" bandwagon. Folks are called "bluenoses" and accused of "harrassment" for the terrible crime of disagreeing with a callsign choice.

Do you see the parallel? Do you begin to understand why I bothered to post in these threads?

73 de Jim, N2EY

6092. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 17:10:47 UTC
From: Joanie <alt.flame@flameawayroger.com>
Message-ID: <a0i90u$4kn$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29139
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.shortwave,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,alt.flamenet,rec.radio.amateur.policy

> >
> >> Why were you kicked out of the Air Force Roger?
> >>
> >> See photo of KC8JBO and his pointed circus boy
> >>head here: www.angelfire.com/al/sj61 courtesy of the > >>BARF chief of communications.
> >>
> >
> > Man, that's one ugly fucking redneck. I almost feel sorry for 8L0J08.
> > Almost. I bet that mustache is the pubic hair from his mothers twat.
>
>
>
>
> Damn, I was beaten to the punch. I wanted to be the first to come up > with a photo of Woger. Oh well. I'll have one of his mommie's house in a > few days. By all reports it's a beat up shack.
>
The photo is about 20 years old. Roger tried to pass himself off as looking younger. Truth is Roger is fat now, very fat, with gray hair and looks beyond his years from smoking dope.
Marshall county property tax records are on line and show the house Roger lives in is owned by his mother and only his mother, despite Roger's lies otherwise. Property evaluation is $35,000, so it must be a typical WV hovel.

Roger Wiseman, the troll-on-demand. Boss Hog at the auto parts store is calling you Wogie. Get off the computer and Usenet, and go take care of some customers. Boss Hog is getting close to booting your ass and you know you don't want to got back to working at Walmart as a fry cook now, do you Wogie? LOL

Love to see Stagger Lee fire up Wogie the troll, LOL LOL LOL

6093. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 17:35:18 UTC
From: "Jim Bromley, K7JEB" <j.e.bromley@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <q32X7.313336$W8.11642973@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29140

I posted:
>> "Upon Mason's asking the question, a nervous titter ran through >> the courtroom".

Kim-W5TIT reacted:

> ROFLMAO...NO way!!! Is that really a true story?! Great!
>
> Kim W5TIT

Well, it was told to me quite a while back in Texas by a Texan when we were out on the plains turning cows around so they wouldn't get shorter on one side by always leaning into the wind. So you'll have to judge for yourself.

Jim, K7JEB (ex-W5GYJ, El Paso, Texas)

6094. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 17:37:55 UTC
From: Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
Message-ID: <t52X7.37$jk5.3907@news.ntplx.net>
Source record: 29141

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 11:57:33 -0500, K0HB wrote:

> Jon Bloom says:
>
>> I don't think it would result generally in the smirking, nudging and >> winking present from a few here on rrap.
>
> Jon, I'm not winking, nudging, or smirking. I've simply stated that I > feel (as in "it is my opinion") that the vanity call choice Kim made is > trashy.

I know, and I consider publicly chastizing someone for their choice of call sign to be trashy. Each to his own opinion, right? (Jim, on the other hand, wants to treat her choice as trashy while fastidiously avoiding calling it that. At least you're up-front about it.)

> If I saw an automobile with the vanity plates "TITS" I would also be of > the opinion that the owner (whether female or male) made a trashy > choice. So would most folks.

Including me. But I wouldn't feel compelled to tell the driver my opinion.

> If a brassiere store opened in the mall with the name "Tit-Slings", I > would consider their choice trashy. So would most folks.

Including me. But I wouldn't feel compelled to tell the merchant my opinion.

> If a urologist opened a medical office with the name "Pecker-Checker" I > would consider that choice trashy. So would most folks.

Including me. But I wouldn't feel compelled to tell the doctor my opinion.

> Kim's vanity call was not sequentially assigned by a computer, but was > deliberately selected as her personal preference by which to be > identified on the air. I consider her choice trashy. So would most > folks.

I don't think so. W5TIT is not the same thing as TIT. Most people recognize that.

If her name were Teresa Isabel Thompson, would her choice of W5TIT as a call sign still be trashy in your opinion?

> Kind of like your and my next door > neighbors, who we'd also chide if they made such a silly choice of > vanity call.

My neighbors make all kinds of silly choices, but I don't chide them for a silly choice if it doesn't affect me personally. I don't expect them to chide me when I make a silly choice that doesn't affect them personally, either. Where I was brought up, that's called being a good neighbor.

Jon

6095. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 17:53:53 UTC
From: Allah Muhammad Slut Fucker <pparis7@NOFUCKINGSPAMhome.com> Message-ID: <3C2CB052.5050706@NOFUCKINGSPAMhome.com>
Source record: 29142
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.shortwave,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,alt.flamenet,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Joanie wrote:

>>>> Why were you kicked out of the Air Force Roger?
>>>>
>>>> See photo of KC8JBO and his pointed circus boy
>>>>head here: www.angelfire.com/al/sj61 courtesy of the >>>>BARF chief of communications.
>>>>
>>>>
>>>Man, that's one ugly fucking redneck. I almost feel sorry for 8L0J08.
>>>Almost. I bet that mustache is the pubic hair from his mothers twat.
>>>
>>
>>
>>
>>Damn, I was beaten to the punch. I wanted to be the first to come up >>with a photo of Woger. Oh well. I'll have one of his mommie's house in a >>few days. By all reports it's a beat up shack.
>>
>>
> The photo is about 20 years old. Roger tried to pass himself > off as looking younger. Truth is Roger is fat now, very fat, with > gray hair and looks beyond his years from smoking dope.
> Marshall county property tax records are on line and show the > house Roger lives in is owned by his mother and only his mother, > despite Roger's lies otherwise. Property evaluation is $35,000, so > it must be a typical WV hovel.
>
> Roger Wiseman, the troll-on-demand. Boss Hog at the auto > parts store is calling you Wogie. Get off the computer and Usenet, > and go take care of some customers. Boss Hog is getting close to > booting your ass and you know you don't want to got back to > working at Walmart as a fry cook now, do you Wogie? LOL
>
> Love to see Stagger Lee fire up Wogie the troll, LOL LOL LOL

<snicker> Check this one out. One wonder who that is in the picture that Woger is sucking off.

Woger Wiseman's Profile:

http://profiles.gay.com/scripts/viewprofile?for=8L0J08

Any idea what the name of Woger's work place might be? His fans on Gay.com would surely want his work phone. ROFL!

-Allah

6096. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 18:43:23 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C2CBD7D.90C71ECC@gte.net>
Source record: 29143
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

> > Things change, and sometimes pretty fast, but if we're headed down that > >slippery slope, I haven't seen a lot of evidence of it. Of course I have > >seen some. One of he most gregarious cases was in New York Cit. In 1962 I > >watched a NYPD street cop give a guy an awful cussing in public while he > >stood with his hand on the butt of his revolver as if he dared the guy to > >respond in any way. The fellow' soffense was cuttting across one extra > >traffic lane to get to a (rare) parking spot. There was no safety reason > >for him not to do that, except the LEO noted his out of state license > >plate, and after all, some jerk behind who wanted the spot himself > >honked.....
>
> That was standard NYPD practice in those days. I too saw it done > and was appalled, even though I grew up in NYC, because I had been > exposed to four years of the California Highway Patrol's extra > courteous manners in the interim.

Had a former platoon sergeant who had been a Los Vegas motorcycle cop in the late 1970s. (He got out of the Army, became a cop then went back in). In those days, the jails were mostly for the tourists and the locals received "street justice".

He had arrested a street prostitute for not have her
"Green Card", the monthly card from the health department (which you can only get if you were working in a house, which she was not). Her pimp got pissed, and decided to get even. So one day my sergeant was getting back on his cycle after lunch and just putting on his helmet. The pimp shoots him with a sawed off shotgun. Thanks to the leather coat and helmet (and the fact that the pimp was standing so far away that the shot from sawed off gun just lost its force) he was unhurt. He turned, drew his
.44 Mag (big thing back in the days of revolvers, especially out west) and knee caps the jerk. Then called for an ambulance. End of Story.

Such was it back in simpler times.

6097. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 18:44:12 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2cbcfe_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29144

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011228120254.24724.00000562@mb-mr.aol.com...
> In article <3c2c952b_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:
>
> >"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> >news:20011228080246.09102.00000781@mb-ct.aol.com...
> >> In article <3C2A4AFD.CDA3172E@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
> >writes:
> >>
> >> >N2EY wrote:
> >> >>
> >> >> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> >> >> >is a valid callsign.
> >> >>
> >> >> Only because the FCC has made a mistake in issuing it. Do you believe
> >> >> the FCC is infallible, Cecil?
> >> >
> >> >Well, maybe you should be ragging on the FCC instead of Kim.
> >>
> >> Who is "ragging on" Kim? Not me.
> >> >
> >> >> The FCC does NOT issue that particular suffix (and others) in sequence
> >> >> or at random. It must be specifically requested through the vanity > >> >> call program.
> >> >
> >> >But in the process of issuing any amateur radio callsign, the FCC
> >> >endorses that callsign as suitable and appropriate for identification > >> >on the ham bands.
> >>
> >> Nope. They simply say it's legal, thus avoiding a lot of headaches.
> >>
> >> By the logic of "Govt. issued it, therefore it's OK" you're saying that if
> >the > >> govt. says something is legal, then nobody should say anything against it.
> >>
> >
> >Stand by.
>
> For what?
>

> >Are you aware of the mood across this country toward anyone who > >dares to publicly say anything criticising the government right now?
>
> Yup. Do you see the parallel to this situation?
>

Yes. Certainly do. Because I don't agree with people who think my callsign is tacky or vulgar/whatever, it is their expectation that I am still to live "up" (as they put it) to their standards. If I don't wave their flag, I am public enemy number one.

> >
> >I'll
> >daresay that I would never in a million years agree (as has been said by > >some real idiots) that our government had anything to do with the tragic > >events of 9-11. But, it sure has provided them with a convenient venue
to > >rapidly implement some pretty harsh measures; feed the frenzy of patriotism;
> >cause those who don't fly a flag to come under suspicion from fellow > >citizens; and so on.
>
> Just like the frenzy of electropolitical correctness when someone dares to > suggest that certain callsigns may be inappropriate for the amateur service.
>

Yep, same thing. The same frenzy of electropolitical correctness when someone dares to suggest that certain callsigns are quite OK for the ARS.

> >
> >Watch what happens in response to this post.
>
> Similar to what happens to those who don't jump on the "anything goes with > callsigns" bandwagon. Folks are called "bluenoses" and accused of "harrassment"
> for the terrible crime of disagreeing with a callsign choice.
>

I think that we are all the same people, just with different points of view. I think bluenose, though, seems appropriately lain. Did you see the definition? While you have not done it, I have been labeled tacky. I have been labeled even worse. And, I have retorted back. We are all the same people, just with different points of view.

>
> Do you see the parallel? Do you begin to understand why I bothered to post
in > these threads?
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

Well, actually no. I don't see why at all. Hell, I wonder half the time what in the world brings me to download these stupid-ass things. I think it's pretty damned stupid to be debating a callsign. Don't you?

Kim W5TIT

6098. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 18:46:30 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2cbd82_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29145

"Jim Bromley, K7JEB" <j.e.bromley@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:q32X7.313336$W8.11642973@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
> I posted:
> >> "Upon Mason's asking the question, a nervous titter ran through > >> the courtroom".
>
> Kim-W5TIT reacted:
>
> > ROFLMAO...NO way!!! Is that really a true story?! Great!
> >
> > Kim W5TIT
>
> Well, it was told to me quite a while back in Texas by > a Texan when we were out on the plains turning cows > around so they wouldn't get shorter on one side by > always leaning into the wind. So you'll have to judge > for yourself.
>
> Jim, K7JEB (ex-W5GYJ, El Paso, Texas)
>

HEH. I think I'll have to take your word for it! Hey, my husband--oh, OM as I suppose I should call him for hamdom (even though I think YL and OM are pretty tacky)--has a Worked All El Paso certificate! Were you in on that?
It took him about, hmmmmm, maybe a year to do it?

Kim W5TIT (husband is W5CAW)

6099. ARNewsline 1272 - Dec 28 2001

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 18:54:50 UTC
From: radionews@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228135450.07199.00003315@mb-dh.aol.com>
Source record: 29146

AMATEUR RADIO NEWSLINE(tm) REPORT #1272 - DECEMBER 28 2001

==========

A NOTE TO THOSE WHO ONLY “READ” AMATEUR RADIO NEWSLINE(tm)

For those of you who only know of the Amateur Radio Newsline (tm) as a text newsletter we would like to invite you to listen to the audio version. This Amateur Radio Newsline (tm) script is actually written for the “spoken word.” It is recorded each by professional broadcasters and is available for private listening or rebroadcast over your repeater. Three methods of delivery are available: Streaming audio using RealAudio, FTP RealAudio or dial-in telephone. Please visit our website at http://www.arnewsline.org for a list of telephone numbers (you have to pay your own long distance charges) and links to audio servers providing our voice newscast (for free).

de
The Newsline Production Team

==========

Amateur Radio Newsline report number 1272 with a release date of Friday, December 28th, 2001 to follow in 5-4-3-2-1.

The following is a Q-S-T.

A not so welcome FCC Christmas present for several hams and an ARRL survey says that most hams no longer want the novice bands. These stories are first on this New Years week edition of the Amateur Radio Newsline coming your way right now.

(Billboard Cart Here)

**

ENFORCEMENT: FCC DESIGNATES KEVIN MITNICK, N6NHG, LICENSE RENEWAL APPLICATION TO PUBLIC HEARING

A convicted computer hacker now has to face an FCC if he wants to keep his ham radio license. This, as the regulatory agency designates the Amateur Radio license renewal application of Kevin David Mitnick, N6NHG, for hearing. We have this report:

--

According to the FCC, Kevin David Mitnick is best known to the world as a hacker who admitted that he broke into a number of computer systems and stole proprietary software belonging to Motorola, Novell, Fujitsu, Sun Microsystems and other companies. He has also admitted using a number of means to commit his crimes including social engineering, cloned cellular phones ad sniffer programs placed on a victims computer system. Mitnick even acknowledged altering the programming of computer systems belonging to the University of Southern California and using these computers to store programs that he had misappropriated.

Mitnick was sentenced to forty six months in federal prison for his August 9th 1999 conviction. He had previously been sentenced to twenty-two months in prison for possessing cloned cellular phones after his arrest in North Carolina in 1995 and for violating his supervised release that had been imposed after his conviction for unrelated computer fraud in 1989. He is currently on probation following his release from prison in January of 2001. And in December of 1999, Kevin David Mitnick, N6NHG, applied for renewal of his Amateur Radio Station and his General Class Operators License.

His license expired on December 12th 1999. The FCC put the renewal application on hold pending further inquiry. Now the agency has made public that it intends to challenge Mitnick's right to hold a ham radio license and has issued a Hearing Designation Order. In plain English, that means Kevin David Mitnick has to prove to the government why it should renew his ham ticket or have his license cancelled.

The FCC is challenging Mitnick's license renewal request on the ground that his past criminal behavior raises a substantial and material question as to whether Mitnick possesses what the it terms as the requisite character qualifications to remain a Commission licensee. The FCC says that in the context of broadcasting licenses, it has long held that evidence of any conviction for misconduct constituting a felony will be considered as relevant to its evaluation of an applicant's character. It also says that the broadcast character qualifications standards have been used as guidelines in the evaluation of non broadcast licenses including those in the Amateur Service and that the courts have upheld the Commission's right to do this.

The agency cites two recent cases. That of Herbert L. Schoenbohm, the ex-KV4FZ and Leslie Brewer who used to be KC4HAZ. Brewer, also known as the Tampa Party Pirate lost his ticket because of his unlicensed broadcasting in the commercial F-M band . Schoenbohm lost his based on a fraud conviction of using an unauthorized telephone access device. And the FCC says that any conviction for fraudulent conduct calls in question a licensee's ability to act in a manner consistent with FCC regulations.

And so the FCC has ordered that a hearing be held before an Administrative Law Judge to determine the effect of the criminal convictions of Kevin David Mitnick on his qualifications to be a Commission licensee. It also says that pursuant to provisions of the Communications Act, the burden will be on Kevin David Mitnick, N6NHG, to provide proof that his license renewal application should be granted. Mitnick was given 20 days of the mailing of the Hearing Designation Order to file a response.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline. I'm Andy Jarema, N6TCQ.

--

The hearing designation order on Mitnick’s license was adopted by the Commission on December 11th but not released until Friday, December 21st. Ironically, less than twenty-four hours earlier, Mitnick had made a guest appearance on Art Bell’s Coast to Coast A-M where he discussed his future plans. At that time he was apparently unaware that the FCC had some plans of its own in regard to whether or not N6NHG will remain a radio amateur and Commission licensee.

The complete text of the Mitnick FCC Hearing Designation Order is on the web at: http://www.fcc.gov/Daily_Releases/Daily_Business/2001/db1221/fcc01359.txt (FCC)

**

ENFORCEMENT: GERRITSON LICENSE PLACED ON HOLD PENDING POSSIBLE HEARING

Kevin Mitnick, N6NHG, is not the only person hearing from the FCC in recent days. So have a number of others including another Southern California resident who could face the same kind of a hearing. Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH, is the FCC’s Special Counsel for Amateur Radio Enforcement:

--
Hollingsworth: “We notified a Bell California licensee; Jack Gerritson, ex-KG6IRO, that the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, had set aside his Technician grant so that a recent conviction for radio interference could be evaluated. Now, he has no authority to operate Amateur Radio equipment until the matter is resolved.”
--

The action to place Gerritson's license up for hearing was taken November 14, 2001 and is based in part upon complaints about the operation of his station and questions regarding Gerritson's qualifications to be a Commission licensee. The FCC says that both issues were raised as the result of Gerritson's 1999 arrest and year 2000 conviction for interference to police radio communications. (FCC)

**

ENFORCEMENT: FCC REOPENS KY-W.VA REPEATER CASE

The FCC is also continuing its crackdown in the area of repeater interference issues. In fact it is taking a second look at a coordinated versus uncoordinated issue in the Tennessee and West Virginia border area. Again, Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH:

--
Hollingsworth: “We notified parties in a repeater dispute in West Virginia that we would be reopening that case after information that one of the repeaters is coordinated after all. We had declined to intervene earlier this year in that case.”
--

The letter stating that the FCC is reopening that case went to Michael Horn, KB8GDF, of Lenore West Virginia, Kenneth Brown KF8HL of Davin West Virginia and Carl Tussey, KB4UCE of South Williamson Kentucky. Back on January 24, 2001, had notified the three that it had received a complaint that they were operating an uncoordinated repeater on 145.390 MHz in Mingo County, West Virginia, and that this repeater was causing interference to the coordinated KC8FKP repeater operated by the Portsmouth Radio Club that uses the same frequency. The matter was closed when the FCC interpreted a notation in the South-Eastern Repeater Associations Repeater Journal that the status of the KC8FKP repeater was not known and interpreted this as meaning that the repeater was also was not coordinated.

But now the FCC says that it has recently come to it's attention that although in the SERA Repeater Journal says that the KC8FKP repeater may be listed as unknown, it is still a coordinated system. Therefore, the FCC is re-opening its review of the issues in this matter. (FCC)

**

ENFORCEMENT: IS A GOVERNMENT AGENCY RUNNING A HAM REPEATER?

Is a government agency operating ham radio repeaters in violation of Part 97 rules? Specifically, the FCC wants to know who is really running the KD6LSO and W6SON repeaters in Sonoma County California.

The FCC says that it has received allegations that the county is in charge not the hams whose call signs appear on the machines. Since a county governmental entity cannot be an Amateur licensee, the FCC is collecting information in order to determine if there are breach of its rules. (FCC)

**

BREAK 1

This is ham radio news coming to you from the United States of America. We are the Amateur Radio Newsline, heard on bulletin stations around the world, including Rocky Mountain Radio League repeaters serving Denver and Bloomfield Colorado.

(5 Sec Pause Here)

**

RESTRUCTURING: ARRL STUDY SAYS NOVICE BANDS MAY NOT BE NEEDED

An ARRL study group has recommended doing away with the current novice bands and divvying them up among the remaining licenses classes. Amateur Radio Newsline's Norm Seeley, KI7UP, has the details:

--

An ARRL Novice Spectrum Study Committee has recommended that the League petition the FCC to eliminate the CW novice subbands. It also wants a rules change that will allow Novice and Technician licensees with element 1 credit to be permitted to operate Morse code on the General 80, 40, 15 and 10 meter C-W allocations at up to 200 watts power out.

These are just two of the suggestions contained in a report that will be presented to the Leagues Board of Directors when that group convenes in mid January. The study committee will also suggest recognizing portions of the 80, 40, 15 and 10 meter Morse bands for what it calls ''slow CW operation.'' The committee says that this would aid new operators in enhancing their Morse code skills.

Finally, the panel also recommends re-farming -- that’s another way of saying reapportioning -- reapportioning the current Novice and Tech Plus subbands in part. This, to allow expansion of the phone allocations on 80, 40 and 15 meters.

What will the ARRL Board of Directors do? We should know in less then a month.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I’m Norm Seeley, KI7UP

--

The committee's determinations were based on opinions expressed by 4744 hams who respond to an ARRL Novice Spectrum Study survey launched last June. Those expressing their opinions included ARRL members and also non-members. What’s really interesting is that nearly 61% of those responding were Extra class licensees. (ARRL bulletin)

**

FCC INSPECTOR GENERAL'S REPORT: THE NAMES THE SAME

The latest report of the FCC's Office of the Inspector General contained very few items of intrigue. But according to the C-G-C Communicator, one of the more colorful incidents involved a person who allegedly used the name of an FCC employee to obtain the government-rate for a hotel room in conjunction with a government-sponsored event.

Well, it turns out that the subject was legitimately attending the event, was entitled to the government room rate and just happened to have the same name as the FCC employee. The bottom line: Case dismissed.

The complete report is on the FCC website at http://www.fcc.gov/oig/Semiannual093001-1101.pdf (CGC Communicator)

**

AMERICA AT WAR: NYC PHONE SERVICE STILL SPOTTY

It's been almost four months since the attack on the World Trade Center, and telephone service near ground zero in lower Manhattan is anything but normal.

According to news reports, repair people have restored service to most customers, but thousands of lines still aren't working. As a result, customers complain that some business lines can call out, but customers can't call in.

The collapse of Seven World Trade Center crushed thousands of underground cables at Verizon's nearby switching station. About 200-thousand telephone lines and three-point-five million data circuits were affected. The company says it'll spend as much as one-point-nine billion dollars to repair the damage. (Telecommunications Online)

**

INTERNET SECURITY: PROBLEMS WITH XP

If you just bought a new computer equipped with the Microsoft X-P operating system, or have upgraded your old one, listen up. The Federal Bureau of Investigation says that you should take certain steps to protect yourself against hackers who might try to take advantage of major flaws that have been found in X-P.

The bureau's National Infrastructure Protection Center says that in addition to installing a free software fix offered by Microsoft on the company's Web site, consumers and corporations using Windows XP should disable the product's universal plug and play features as well. The FBI also warned computer system administrators to actively monitor for specific types of Internet traffic that might indicate an attack was under way.

The FBI did not provide detailed instructions how to disable plug and play. Outside experts also caution that disabling the affected Windows XP features threatens to render unusable an entire category of high-tech devices about to go on the market. This includes a new class of computer printers that are easier to set up. But the same experts also acknowledge that disabling plug and play in X-P could afford some protection against similar flaws discovered in the future.

Microsoft considers disabling plug and play options as being unnecessary but the company does acknowledge that Windows X-P suffers from serious problems that can let hackers steal or destroy data files across the Internet or implant their own unwanted software. The FBI says that the glitches were unusually serious because they allow hackers to seize control of all Windows X-P operating system software without requiring a computer user to do anything except connect to the Internet. (Published news reports)

**

THE LAW: A FIGHT AGAINST GRAY MARKET ELECTRONICS

A group of American high-tech companies is opening the year 2002 with a campaign to protect consumers from unwittingly buying consumer electronic products intended for foreign markets. Electronics that the manufacturers claim may not work in the United States.

Compaq Computer is one of the companies involved in the campaign. It says that the group will warn consumers about the dangers of buying such products, and how to avoid getting duped. The other companies in the group are Hewlett-Packard, 3 Com, Nortel Networks, and Xerox. The effort may prompt more lawsuits against distributors who resell so called gray market items in the United States. (Computer Products Daily)

**

SPECIAL EVENTS: USS ARIZONA K7A A SUCCESS

Steve Gurley, KJ7WK the coordinator of the USS Arizona Special Events Station K7A tells the Amateur Radio Newsline that the event was an overwhelming success. Gurley says that the memorial station contacted amateurs in all 50 states, and 8 other countries while handling over 2600 QSO's. In fact says KJ7WK, the sponsoring group has already received certificate requests from 609 stations as we go to air. There were ten operators in three counties in the Phoenix Arizona metroplex operational during most of the three days K7A was on the air. (KJ7WK)

**

SCHOLARSHIPS: DARA SCHOLARSHIPS FOR 2002

The Dayton Amateur Radio Association says that the nominating period for its annual scholarship program is now open. The deadline to receive applications is June 1, 2002 and the announcement of winners will occur around June 15, 2002. Applications are available from the DARA Scholarship Committee, 9873 Lower Valley Pike, Medway, Ohio 45341. Please note that this is a new address from years past. Again it is the DARA Scholarship Committee, 9873 Lower Valley Pike, Medway, Ohio 45341. Also, for more information on the Dayton Amateur Radio Association and its programs, please visit www.dara-w8bi.com on the world wide web. (DARA)

**

AWARDS: DARA OPENS NOMINATIONS FOR HAM OF THE YEAR

The Dayton Amateur Radio Association also asks that we remind you that the nominating period for the 2002 Dayton Hamvention Awards is now open. There are three awards presented each year. They are the Radio Amateur of the Year, Special Achievement, and Technical Excellence.

All amateurs Novice through Extra are eligible. Awards are decided by the Awards Committee, based partially upon the information received. Magazine articles, newsletters, newspaper clippings, videos and the like are appreciated but cannot be returned. The deadline for nominations is January 31, 2002. Nominations should be sent to Post Office Box 964, Dayton Ohio 45401. They can also be submitted by completing the e-form on the web at www.hamvention.org. (DARA)

**

BREAK 2

News never takes a holiday and neither do we. Ringing in the New Year from the United States of America, we are the Amateur Radio Newsline, with links to the world from our only official website - www.arnewsline.org.

(5 sec pause here)

**

CHANGING OF THE GUARD: BADGER STATE SMOKE SIGNALS EDITOR JIM ROMALFANGER, K9ZZ - SK

I’m Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF.

The ham who put the state of Wisconsin on the ham radio map has passed away. This, with word that Jim Romelfanger, K9ZZ died Saturday evening December 22nd of an apparent heart attack..

According to Romalfanger's close friend Ken Ebneter, K9EN, Jim has been in declining health for some time. Romalfanger had a stroke a few weeks ago, affecting his right arm which was already weakened by polio. But Ebneter says that K9ZZ seemed to be improving until just recently. Ebneter says that Romalfanger had been in the hospital early last week but was home when he passed away of an apparent heart attack. In fact, K9ZZ had stopped by to visit a ham radio friend that afternoon. Another friend found him dead that evening when he stopped by to visit.

His full name was Arthur James Louis Romelfanger but to the world of ham radio he was Jim, K9ZZ. And Jim Romalfanger made Wisconsin a ham radio household word by editing as three decade state-wide ham radio monthly newspaper called Badger State Smoke Signals -- and doing so as a volunteer.

Notice we said newspaper and not newsletter. This is because Smoke Signals is just that. A newspaper that at its peak ran up to 40 pages filled with articles about ham radio in the Badger State. In addition to being the 32 year editor of Smoke Signals, Romalfanger was nationally published over the years in CQ, QST, 73, Ham Radio, Popular Electronics, and other magazines.

Jim Romalfanger was first licensed January 1958 in Pacific Beach, California, as KN6LWB. Upgraded to General in May of 1958. He returned to Wisconsin that summer and became K9PKQ. In 1977, changed call to K9ZZ and held that call sign the rest of his life. Funeral services were scheduled for Friday, December 27th at St. Joseph Catholic Church in Baraboo Wisconsin.

Jim, from all of your friends at the Amateur Radio Newsline: We are going to miss you. (The Baraboo News Republic, K9EN, WB9QZB, and other friends of K9ZZ contributed to this report.)

**

AMAZING DISCOVERIES: CIRCLES WITHIN A CIRCLE

One of the most curious pure mathematical discoveries for 2001 was announced in the easy-to-read article at an incredibly long website. In brief the article says that research has led to some remarkable geometric findings involving interrelationships between tangent circles and spheres. In other words, mysterious circles within a circle.

As one researcher put it, "Where do these numbers come from? What's going on here?" Find out by going to www.sciencenews.org/20010421/bob18.asp (CGC Communicator)

**

INTERENATIONAL - CANADA: NEW ALBERTA SM

On the international front, word that Thomas Martens, VE6TRM, has been appointed the new Radio Amateurs of Canada Section Manager for the province of Alberta and the North West Territories. Martens replaces Alan Faint VE6QQ will be stepping down from the position due to personal reasons. Martens will serve the remainder of Faint’s term which runs through June 30th, 2003. (RAC)

**

INTERNATIONAL-AUSTRALIA: CSIRO MICROTURBINES

Australian hospitals, restaurants and schools could soon source clean, reliable energy from mini power generators that operate independent of the main grid. This as CSIRO has installed Australia's first commercial microturbine, at their North Ryde Laboratory, Sydney.

The size of a small refrigerator, the turbine produces 30 kilowatts of power, independent of the electricity grid. And it does this with reduced greenhouse and other gas emissions. Thirty kilowatts is enough to power a medium commercial building such as a restaurant.

Along with fuel cells, gas engines, storage technologies and some renewable technologies, microturbines can be used to generate power close to the end-user and provide major gains in reliability and power quality. Once the design can trickle down to the home user level and price range, it could offer hams a way of always having emergency power always at hand. (Q-News)

**

SHORTWAVE MONITORING : RADIO NORWAY CLOSES

The Board of Directors of the Norwegian Broadcasting Corporation has decided to stop its own programs by Radio Norway International. This is effective as of December 31st of 2001.

According to DF5SX and G3VGW, Radio Norway’s final show was hosted by veteran broadcaster Einar Lie on New Years Eve. Also, the 1200 kilowatt Medium Wave transmitter on 1314 kHz on Kvitsoy was supposed to cease operation by December the 31st as well.

The Norwegian Broadcasting Corporation will have to negotiate with transmitter providers Norkring and Radio Denmark to close down as well. The Norwegian Broadcasting Corporation and Norkring have a contract for running the transmissions that goes through December 31st, 2003. The agency also has a leasing agreement with Radio Denmark for the same period. (Media Network)

**

DX

In D-X, keep an ear open for King George Island in the South Shetland group. HFZ0POL is reported on all H-F bands, including the newer ones, using CW, SSB, RTTY and PSK31. QSL HF0POL via SQ5TA.

And the United Arab Emerates has been heard lately A61AJ. He has been QRV on 40 meters CW around 1400 UTC. Q-S-L A61AJ via N4QB. (Various DX sources)

**

THAT FINAL ITEM: RILEY SAYS THANKS

And finally as the year 2001 comes to an end, the FCC’s Chief Rules enforcer, Riley Hollingsworth has some words of praise for the ham radio community. He passed them along through his bi-weekly Enforcement Log at www.rainreport.com, and thanks to them, we have is words for you:

--
Hollingsworth: “I would like to point out Hap, that this is the end of the third year of Amateur Radio enforcement and I will honestly say that the overall level of compliance in the Amateur Radio Service is outstanding. The Amateur licensees do a great job and they do a great job of showing that the Amateur Radio Service is -- indeed -- the only fail-safe communications system in the world and we are very proud of them.”
--

And if I can take off my reporters hat for a moment and editorialize a bit, I guess I speak for many who truly appreciate what you have done to return the Amateur Radio bands to the law abiding members of the nations ham radio community. (ARNewsline(tm), RAIN)

**

NEWSCAST CLOSE

With thanks to Alan Labs, Amateur News Weekly, AMSAT, the ARRL, the CGC Communicator, CQ Magazine, the FCC, the Ohio Penn DX Bulletin, Radio Netherlands, Rain, the RSGB and Australia's Q-News, that's all from the Amateur Radio Newsline(tm). Our e-mail address is newsline @arnewsline.org. More information is available at Amateur Radio Newsline's(tm) only official website located at www.arnewsline.org. You can also write to us or support us at Amateur Radio Newsline(tm), P.O. Box 660937, Arcadia, California 91066.

For now, with Bill Pasternak, WA6ITF, at the editors desk, I'm Don Wilbanks, KC5MFA, saying Happy 2002, God Bless America, and we thank you for listening."
Amateur Radio Newsline(tm) is Copyright 2001. All rights reserved.

6100. RESTRUCTURING: ARRL STUDY SAYS NOVICE BANDS MAY NOT BE NEEDED

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 19:07:16 UTC
From: N9NWO <2121d@gte.net>
Message-ID: <3C2CC31A.AF190B57@gte.net>
Source record: 29147
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy

RESTRUCTURING: ARRL STUDY SAYS NOVICE BANDS MAY NOT BE NEEDED

An ARRL study group has recommended doing away with the current novice bands and divvying them up among the remaining licenses classes.

Amateur Radio Newsline's Norm Seeley, KI7UP, has the details:
--

An ARRL Novice Spectrum Study Committee has recommended that the League petition the FCC to eliminate the CW novice subbands. It also wants a rules change that will allow Novice and Technician licensees with element 1 credit to be permitted to operate Morse code on the General 80, 40, 15 and 10 meter C-W allocations at up to 200 watts power out.

These are just two of the suggestions contained in a report that will be presented to the Leagues Board of Directors when that group convenes in mid January. The study committee will also suggest recognizing portions of the 80, 40, 15 and 10 meter Morse bands for what it calls ''slow CW operation.'' The committee says that this would aid new operators in enhancing their Morse code skills.

Finally, the panel also recommends re-farming -- that's another way of saying reapportioning -- reapportioning the current Novice and Tech Plus subbands in part. This, to allow expansion of the phone allocations on 80, 40 and 15 meters.

What will the ARRL Board of Directors do? We should know in less then a month.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline, I'm Norm Seeley, KI7UP

--

The committee's determinations were based on opinions expressed by 4744 hams who respond to an ARRL Novice Spectrum Study survey launched last June. Those expressing their opinions included ARRL members and also non-members. What's really interesting is that nearly 61% of those responding were Extra class licensees. (ARRL bulletin)

**

What we need is for the CW/digital portion of the bands to be open to everyone (if qualified). No

sub bands.

6101. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 19:39:34 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228143934.10110.00001463@mb-mb.aol.com>
Source record: 29148

In article <3c2c89da_1@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
writes:

(at least 10 times...)

N2EY wrote:

>> Why allow them "modern digital modes" but not analog voice modes,
>> which are far more popular?
>
>Actually, there isn't a logical, valid reason not to give them >voice privileges as well ...

But you proposed giving them ONLY "modern digital modes" (without specifying which modes fit that description". No mention of analog voice modes at all.

>but I had to ask the question >to ferret out your response ...

All you had to do was ask a straight question. No "ferret" needed.

>which seems aimed at
>"encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people
>to learn Morse by limiting the majority of their frequency >privileges to that mode ...
>
Nope.

The idea of expanding Novice/Tech Plus CW privs on HF was Mr. Plourde's, not mine. I responded to it and increased the spectrum. I also suggested that in a new system, the mode choices of the entry class license would be much wider.

Your statements about "modern digital modes" seems aimed at "encouraging" (or, more accurately, arm-twisting) people to use those modes by limiting the majority of their HF frequency privileges to those modes.

Look at the big picture and the new ideas being presented, Carl. Think future, not past.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6102. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 19:39:39 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228143939.10110.00001464@mb-mb.aol.com>
Source record: 29149

In article <3c2c93eb_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011228080245.09102.00000780@mb-ct.aol.com...
>> In article <pan.2001.12.28.05.14.32.940745.17079@arrl.org>, Jon Bloom >> <jbloom@arrl.org> writes:
>>
>> >So I'll repeat the question you ducked: What makes you >> >think that your standards are the community's?
>>
>> The reactions of those who DO comment. Like Riley. Is HE a "bluenose"?
>
>C'mon.

Where are we going?

> Riley is just another ham.

No, he's not. If he were, you would not have sought out his opinion.

>His opinion on whether the FCC should be >in the business of judging callsigns or not, was sought because I knew that, >as a person from the FCC, his opinion would be listened to.

Then he's NOT "just another ham". You can't have it both ways.

> If I'd said to >Larry R., or anyone else, "Hey, ask Cecil if the FCC should take my callsign >away," that would have garnered nothing but the usual cat meows from a bunch >of grown men.

I have no idea what "cat meows from a group of grown men" is supposed to mean.

And Cecil never posts anyhting seriously here. He's told us that many times.
Plus it's clear to anyone who has read rrap that Cecil would side with you, so there's no reason to even bother asking him.

Asking Riley was a smart move because he ISN'T "just another ham" and he would be listened to. Trouble is, he didn't agree with you.
>
>> >>> The
>> >>> only complaints I've heard about Kim's call sign (or similar ones) are
>> >>> from a few bluenoses here on rrap.
>> >>
>> >> What's a "bluenose", Jon? Please, be specific.
>> >
>> >http://www.m-w.com/cgi-bin/dictionary?va=bluenose

>>
>> Ya can't even bother to cut-and-paste.
>
>Main Entry: blueï¿½nose
>Pronunciation: 'blï¿½-"nOz
>Function: noun
>Date: 1903
>: a person who advocates a rigorous moral code
>
>How's that? Sounds appropriate.

Sounds like a compliment.
>
>> >>>Hardy an outpouring of community outrage!
>> >>
>> >> Most hams outside of rrap don't know calls like that even exist.
>> >
>> >There are a number of calls with
>>
>> [that suffix]
>
>Which one?

The one in your callsign.

>> >And there are other >> >suffixes in use that I suspect you would also find "inappropriate." (I
>can >> >only "suspect" since you are unwilling to make any specific complaint >> >against Kim's suffix.)
>>
>> "Inappropriate" is quite specific.
>>
>> You work in an office/lab environment up there in CT, Jon. Would it be >> appropriate to come to work on a regular workday in midsummer wearing a >> swimsuit and sandals? How about wearing old faded jeans and a T-shirt to a >> formal dinner party or wedding? Those clothes are perfectly appropriate
>for >> other situations. You're the same person. Why not wear the same clothes?
>
>I think that's an excellent analogy.

Thank you.

>Since the ARS is neither professional >in nature, nor is it formal, then a fun callsign is quite appropriate for >the venue.

I disagree. The ARS IS "formal in nature" because we use a limited public resource that others want to use. I have nothing against "fun" callsigns, but I don't find inappropriate callsigns to be "fun".

>We come into contact with emergency responders, indeed even >provide free service for those organizations. I've recently resigned my >position as Hunt County EC, but my callsign has never been brought into >question by anyone I wish to serve.

All that means is that they chose not to comment on it. As public officials, they could be in quite an uncomfortable situation if they commented in any way.

>In fact, my callsign has been >commented on, negatively, only once by a local ham, the Section Manager now.
>He was not the Section Manager then.

Do you think his opionion has changed?

>In usual and customary manner, I would >say that making no comment can be translated to: yes, it's tacky/vulgar/etc.
>but not worth getting that upset about; or, "shrug shoulders no big deal."

What "usual and customary manner"?

Making no comment can also be interpreted as politeness, avoiding a confrontation, trying not to call attention to something, or a form of shunning.

>> > Lots of hams come in contact with those call signs
>> >yet make no noise about it.
>>
>> How do you know? I've never heard any of them on the air. And please note
>that
>> the FCC does NOT issue them sequentially.
>
>Who cares if the FCC issues them sequentially or not? Doesn't matter.

Yes, it does. By not issuing certain calls in sequence, the FCC recognizes that those calls are NOT simply random colections of letters and a number.

>What if I'd gotten

[that callsign]

>as a callsign issued sequentially

You couldn't. FCC wouldn't issue it. You had to specifically request it.

However, if the FCC changed its rules and issued it sequentially, you could say
"It's not my choice; FCC just gave it to me".

With choice comes responsibility.

> and, for reasons of >tradition or attachment, had decided that I just couldn't do without my >original callsign?

Just "get over it". Shrug shoulders, go on living, no big deal.

>I am pretty sure there are some people who've gotten >calls that may be risque to them, but choose to keep them for that reason.

>Are they "inappropriate" for the ARS?

Depends on the callsign. Your suffix is not issued sequentially, so anybody with a call like yours asked for it specifically.

>> > Whether most hams know they exist is >> >irrelevant; most hams who DO know haven't raised objections.
>>
>> How do you know that? The objectors here on rrap are a sizable group, but
>you
>> dismiss us and our opinions as irrelevant.
>
>I don't know that Jon dismisses them as irrelevant.

Sure seems to me like he does.

>I know that I do not.
>I dismiss them because I don't agree with your opinion of the callsign.

Same thing. You dismiss opinions that you don't agree with. You've already said, if I recall right, that nothing anybody can say would change your opinion. That's preemptive dismissal of all opposing opinions.
>
>> >>> How does the call sign N2EY "reflect positively" on the service?
>> >>
>> >> It is appropriate in any situation.

>So is

[Kim's call]

> It has been used during EmComm, Traffic Nets, conversation,
>contesting, packet, APRS, emails, as my nametag for hamfests, etc.

That simply means it was used, not that it was appropriate. If I wore the same T-shirt, bathing trunks and sandals to a whole bunch of events, would that make those clothes appropriate?

>In fact,
>I think it was Jon Bloom that I met at Arlington Hamfest a couple of years >ago with my

[callsign]

> T-shirt on.

Jon has a T-shirt with your callsign on it? ;-)

>> >It is irrelevant in any situation other than station identification since >> >it has no meaning.
>>
>> It has a lot of meaning to those hams who know me.

>As I said in a post before, so does my callsign.

Which disproves the statement "It is irrelevant in any situation other than station identification since it has no meaning."

>Even for those hams who >don't like me either as a person or just because of the callsign (weird, >huh), they immediately recognize who is behind my callsign and that I am >quite serious about what I am doing.

Maybe - I don't know them, and I don't know what you are like on the air.

>I will not engage in inappropriate
>conversations on the air...well, most of the time;

Ah - but what's "inappropriate"? Your "inappropriate" may be someone else's
"fun".

> I take public service and >emergency communication very seriously; I am a fairly good storm spotter >(out of practice here in Texas with no significant weather in my area the >past few years); and my callsign is nearly immediately recognizable during >the worst of conditions. Lots of meaning, to many hams.
>
Which disproves the statement "It is irrelevant in any situation other than station identification since it has no meaning."

>> >Just like any other call sign.
>>
>> Then there's no reason Kim can't change hers to "W5KIM" or "W5MKW".

>Of course there's no reason.

Then why not do it? "W5KIM" is instantly recognizable and makes it easy to associate name and call.

>Except that I chided all the guys for getting >their initials.

So?

> Heck, where's the creativity in that? A vanity callsign >should be a vanity callsign. Initials, smitials, be creative and have fun.

Sure. "W5KIM" is creative and fun.

>The other part of the whole thing is that, yes, the FCC will issue such >calls. (I wasn't sure they would when I applied...LOL).

They issue them ON REQUEST because they'd set themselves up for a lot of headaches and maybe even a lawsuit if they didn't.
>
>> >>>To those outside ham radio, it's just a jumble of >> >>> letters and numbers, no more.
>> >>
>> >> You are mistaken. If that were so, broadcast stations would not care >> >> what their callsigns were.
>> >

>> >We're talking about HAM RADIO call signs, Jim, not broadcast call signs.
>
>Exactly.

It's the same principle.
>
>> Same principle. To get a reaction and promote an image. The callsign KISS
>was >> fought over in court.
>>
>> >(BTW, in case you haven't listened to broadcast radio lately, most >> >stations de-emphasize the call sign as a marketing identification. They >> >prefer to use catchy phrases with the frequency in them, like "Big D >> >103.")

>Hey, Jon, it's even being done on ham radio. Our 145.190 machine here in >Dallas says, "Welcome to the Big Machine in Big D..." It's really neat.
>(It is the best machine and the most coverage--ooops, except for maybe one >other repeater--in Dallas).

Does it ever give the actual callsign? And what makes it the "best" machine?

>And, the "owner" is so controversial that even >though it's the best machine, it isn't the emergency communications >machine...now, ain't politics a hoot?

Why is the "owner" controversial?
>
>> Only those stations that can't get a catchy one. The point is still the >same:
>> It's NOT just a random, meaningless collection.

That's the point.
>> >
>> >> Suppose a major network was going to do a special, and then a series,
>on >> >> ham radio. Tons of priceless publicity for the ARS. They want a family >> >> show, not a late-night series to replace the Howard Stern TV show.
>> >>
>> >> Suppose they wanted to have a real live amateur radio callsign in the >> >> title - like the classic "WKRP in Cincinnati" show had a BC callsign.
>> >>
>> >> Suppose they asked YOU to recommend an unassigned amateur callsign >> >> (nobody has WKRP, either). Would YOU recommend a callsign like Kim's, >or >> >> something else? Why or why not? Please, be specific.
>
>Why not? Tell ya one thing, if you want attention to the hobby, "an >interview with a female ham,

[with Kim's call]

> would get people watching and listening.

All publicity is not good publicity.

>They may come with evil, misguided intentions,

Like what?

>but I'd be so perfectly >representative of the ARS on TV that any of those people would soon change >their minds or recede into nothingness.

I don't think you are "perfectly representative of the ARS", Kim. Nobody is.
Sorry, but that's my perception from what I've read here over the years.

>The callsign is fun, the person is >fun, the callsign is not vulgar, the person is not vulgar.

Your opinion only. Is it forbidden to disagree? Seems like it, judging by the reactions to my disagreement.

>One of the >things I think would be great to point out in an interview would be the very >nature of the politics of my callsign.

What politics? It's a matter of appropriateness, that's all.

> For anyone thinking that ham radio
>is a stuck-up's hobby, they'd have to change their mind.

The problem is, what their mind would change to.

>> >I wouldn't recommend putting a call sign in the title in the first place;
>> >it would be poor marketing.
>
>I think so, too.

Why? It worked for "WKRP".

> A good title for a ham radio show would be something like,
>"Getting to Know Your Neighbor...A Few Countries Away." Something like
>that.

You gotta be kidding. Way too long and not nearly catchy enough.

>If we were ever lucky enough (yeah, let's really dream here), and we >warranted a weekly show, I'd be more embarrassed to associate myself with >RRAP than I would with any one ham or any one ham's callsign. Truthfully.

Then why are you here?

>> WHY? "WKRP in Cincinnati" was a very highly rated show. The callsign made
>it >> easy to remember. In fact most people abbreviate the title to just "WKRP".
>>
>> >But if they were adamant, sure, they could use
>> >a call sign like Kim's. (Heck, they could use Kim's call sign. As long as >> >it's okay with her.) I don't think it would result generally in the >> >smirking, nudging and winking present from a few here on rrap.

>
>Nope, I don't think it would, either. In fact, I think to the common person >(a non-ham) it would have to be pointed out that my callsign is unusual.

That's scary.
>
>> If that's Hq's idea of good marketing, it's no wonder so few people know >about
>> ham radio.

>Oh no, Jim. I am really, really disappointed in you having that >mentality. Good grief.

What mentality?

It's an "if-then" statement.

Is it not true that few people outside ham radio know about it? Isn't one of the goals of the ARRL to market and publicize amateur radio in a positive light?

If the "if-then" statement is not true, the statement is not valid, anyway.

>> >I find it interesting that you are unwilling or unable to say >specifically >> >what's inappropriate about Kim's call sign and unwilling or unable to >> >explain why you think the community also considers it inappropriate.
>>
>> See above.
>>
>> >Pretty weak, Jim.
>>
>> I find it interesting that you would think it suitable as a marketing tool
>for >> Amateur Radio, Jon.

>I find it interesting that you are of the opinion that Jon brought up the >idea of marketing ham radio through my callsign. Wasn't it YOU who >presented the scenario, requesting a specific response from Jon?

Yep. So what?

>I think
>nearly any respect I had for you is precarious at this point, Jim.

Why? For being honest? How much respect would you have if I toed the electropolitically-correct line while thinking differently? Should I bow and scrape before Jon because he's on the Hq staff? I don;t think he wants that.

I note that other rrappers climb all over the ARRL and Hq staffers and you never bat an eye about it.

>I never >would have believed for you to use that kind of debating style.

>
What kind? Be specific.

>My callsign, no one's callsign, should be used as a marketing tool for ham
>radio.

Why not? It worked really well for WKRP. I think it's a good idea, but the callsign used must be appropriate and unassigned. Like W9MWC.

>I don't think Jon is advocating the idea.

I think he was.

> He was responding to the >silly notion you presented.
>
A TV special and series on ham radio is a silly notion? I think not!

"Ensemble" comedies are the trend nowadays. The first significant one was
"Barney Miller", a true classic. "WKRP" followed close thereafter. "Cheers" and
"Seinfeld" derive from those shows. Today we have shows like "Ally McBeal" which are the direct descendants. A ham-radio-based show could be great - IF it were done right. A disaster, if done wrong.

Did you see the movie "Contact"? Do you think your call would have been appropriate for use in that film?

73 de Jim, N2EY

6103. RE.. RESTRUCTURING: ARRL STUDY SAYS NOVICE BANDS MAY NOT BE NEEDED

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 19:44:55 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <ehVv5d9jBHA.1232@cpimsnntpa03>
Source record: 29150

N9NWO stated:

> What we need is for the CW/digital portion of the > bands to be open to everyone (if qualified). No
> sub bands.

Your statement is ambiguous to me. ("No sub bands")

Do you mean:

1) That voice and image modes should be allowed in the current CW/data portions of the bands?

2) That any class of license ought to be able to operate
CW/data in all the current CW/portions of the bands?

3) Both 1 and 2 above?

4) Something else? (Explain)

73, de Hans, K0HB

6104. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 20:12:16 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp2bvfr.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29001
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 18:43:23 GMT, N9NWO wrote:

>Such was it back in simpler times.

I was on the streets pre-Miranda and I remember seeing a crazy late teen who needed six Deputies to restrain him after he got taken to the station. LT "Iron Pants" Bailey calmly put a revolver in the kid's mouth and said "sing, n*r". We recovered the goods from eight recent burglaries.

Was "justice" served? Do you want to go back to those days? I surely don't.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6105. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 20:21:48 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2CD45C.A7FA2CE2@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29002

Jon Bloom wrote:
> If her name were Teresa Isabel Thompson, would her choice of W5TIT as a
> call sign still be trashy in your opinion?

Just shows that the people who don't like W5TIT are not being objective.
It is Kim's motives that are being criticized, not the callsign per se.
--
cheers, CAM, W5DXP

-----= Posted via Newsfeeds.Com, Uncensored Usenet News =-----
http://www.newsfeeds.com - The #1 Newsgroup Service in the World!
Check out our new Unlimited Server. No Download or Time Limits!
-----== Over 80,000 Newsgroups - 19 Different Servers! ==-----

6106. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 20:23:39 UTC
From: kc2hmn@cs.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228152339.05344.00001456@mb-mg.news.cs.com>
Source record: 29003

>>Such was it back in simpler times.
>
> I was on the streets pre-Miranda and I remember seeing a crazy late > teen who needed six Deputies to restrain him after he got taken to > the station. LT "Iron Pants" Bailey calmly put a revolver in the > kid's mouth and said "sing, n*r". We recovered the goods from > eight recent burglaries.
>
> Was "justice" served? Do you want to go back to those days? I > surely don't.
>
>--
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

Me neither, Phil. The end might've been the desired result, but the means just makes me want to puke! :-(

73 de Bert
KC2HMN

6107. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 22:03:57 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2CDF63.F43D90E1@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29004

CAM wrote:

> Dick Carroll wrote:
> >
> > Krell wrote:
> > > So who decides what is juvenile?
> >
> > Surprise! SOCIETY!!
>
> Exactly where does this body of society meet to sit down and > write out what is juvenile? Saying "society" is just another > argumentum ad populum. Society is an ill-defined nebulous
> blob with no enforcement power outside of government.

Cecil, you're a ill-defined, neblous blob with no enforcement power either insideor outside of government.

6108. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 22:11:32 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <ebT81v#jBHA.1340@cpimsnntpa03>
Source record: 29005

Jon Bloom wrote:

> If her name were Teresa Isabel Thompson, would her choice of W5TIT as a
> call sign still be trashy in your opinion?

It would be just as trashy, but I'd probably have given her
"the benefit of the doubt" and not responded to her "what do you think of my vanity call sign" query. At least she'd have had a better "story" to tell about why she made that choice.

(���) 73, de Hans, K0HB

6109. Trance-Formation of America: Epilogue

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 22:23:36 UTC
From: bill@trance-formation.org
Message-ID: <4uh3yh$4qu$4@195.238.3.180>
Source record: 29016
Cross-posted to: rec.collecting.cards.non-sports,rec.music.artists.debbie-gibson,rec.food.chocolate,rec.radio.amateur.policy

The safety and serenity of Alaska provided an atmosphere conducive to deprogramming, despite the pandemonium that ensued. Mark Phillips was the first man who not only did not abuse us, but cared for our welfare and well being. His patient, gentle manner was therapeutic, while his propensity for handling weapons and apparent intellect kept us safe against all odds. Through his noble actions, Mark taught Kelly and me that the world of human interaction in which we had existed for so long was contrary to most human behavior. We learned that goodness does exist on this Earth, and that there were those in Washington, D.C. who refused to tolerate the mind-control atrocities they witnessed us and others enduring.

As my eyes opened and I woke up to reality, I became enraged. Enraged for the traumas inflicted on my daughter. Enraged for a lifetime of abuse at the hands of our country's so called "leaders". Enraged that the American public had no idea as to who and what was/is running their country. Mark helped me refocus my rage in a productive direction when he told me, "The best revenge is total recovery."

I began recovering at the rate of 18 hours a day through intensive therapy destined to restore my memory and, ultimately, my mind. I learned the ins and outs of my own mind and recovered my memories in a journal. The stack of journals grew as over a decade of White House/ Pentagon-level abuse flooded my mind and intruded on my thoughts. Pictures from my past flashed across my mind as neuron pathways opened in my brain. I was regaining access to my own mind and control over my future by recovering my memory of my past.

Best of all, I was falling deeply in love with Mark Phillips. Why wouldn't I fall in love? He rescued my daughter and me from certain demise, restored my free will, and was helping me recover in total safety, and was the polar opposite of my abusers. He treated me with love, respect, and thoughtful consideration . Equally as important, Mark proved to be an ideal father figure to Kelly. He provided here with unconditional love and deep understanding. Through him, Kelly caught a glimpse of how kind men could be--and how good life could be. I had long since ceased to know that such a man even existed.

The love factor in my recovery is considerable. Not only did Mark Phillips save my life, but now I had a reason to live it! The love we share kept me going at times--like when Kelly was institutionalized in 1989 for homicidal/suicidal behavior. The loving relationship that Mark shared with Kelly during our short year together as a family was sufficient to arm here with the strength to survive her ensuing ordeal as a victim of the so-called mental health and criminal justice system.

Kelly, now 15, remains a political prisoner in the custody of the State of Tennessee where she is denied qualified therapy for the MK-Ultra Project Monarch Mind-Control abuses she endured. The state of Tennessee, under the politically powerful influence of Kelly's abusers, is in violation of numerous laws and basic civil rights in their determined efforts to keep Kelly from qualified therapy and the family she loves.

While many of those in positions to make a difference in Kelly's case operate on a "Need to Know" basis rather than deliberately conspire with the bad guys, a closer look into Kelly's case history should raise serious questions in their minds. Questions like; "What could a child have to do with the so called "National Security" of our country?" The Juvenile court judge presiding over Kelly's case closed the doors to the media and onlookers for "reasons of National Security" while gross and blatant violations of laws and rights ensued.

For over three long years, Kelly and I have been denied our right to an unbiased attorney while court-appointed advocates and so-called "guardians" join forces with attorneys paid off by me pedophile father. My own court-appointed attorney, who doubles for the Juvenile Court judge when he takes a day off, has yet to represent my interest. My interest is in Kelly's well being and future-- and if she will have a future at all.

While Kelly is still amnesic with regard to most of her past, she is deliberately denied therapeutical access to her past, due to who and what she will recall. I am denied access to Kelly for fear she would be triggered into remembering by my mere presence. As for my deliberately "triggering" Kelly to remember what she was supposed to forget, as her abusers fear, it has been my experience that recovery must come from the inside out. Not from outside input. I want no less for Kelly that the piece/peace of mind I have gained through qualified rehabilitation. Which raises the questions: Why has the Juvenile court prohibited us from saying the name "George Bush?" Why is the "Wizard of Oz" a taboo subject for Kelly while the State of Tennessee provides her with Stephen King horror novels? Why are Kelly and I forbidden by the court to say the words "President," "politics," New World Order", and "mind-control"?.

In an attempt by state employees to "normalize" our relationship, Kelly and I are forbidden to discuss the past, my immediate efforts to affect her dire and desperate situation, or future plans as a family.

Most appalling and unjust in Kelly's view is the State of Tennessee's refusal to allow her any contact whatsoever with Mark Phillips. While I am hindered from having private conversations with my daughter due to court ordered supervisions and censorship, Kelly is denied the right to even wave to Mark across the parking lot. Considering that, like me,

Mark has never been named as an abuser, declared unfit, or violated any court orders, the questions must be asked: "Why does the State of Tennessee go to such lengths to ban all communication between Kelly and the man who rescued her and taught her the meaning of unconditional love?"

Kelly has asked these questions for years to no avail. The State of Tennessee refuses to even acknowledge her request for"an unbiased attorney who will represent her interests instead of those of the state". Kelly's pleas for an attorney to represent her go no farther than the deaf ears of the assigned state social worker "managing" her case. This social worker is operating on a "Need to Know" basis that has no basis, and she "Needs to Know" that she, along with the State of Tennessee, will be held accountable in the event that Kelly hurts someone or herself.

Kelly's frustrations have mounted beyond her ability to cope. I applaud Kelly for her determined but weakened efforts to stay in control of her own mind despite being denied qualified rehabilitation for the devastating results of Project Monarch Mind-Control abuses. Kelly's daily attempts to accomplish the impossible by psychoLOGICALLY managing her psychiatric disorder is proportionate to her high intellect and willful determination. But it is not enough to fend off the Psychological Warfare that has been waged against her through CIA Damage Containment practices designed to keep her contained in amnesic silence. She needs help. She needs a collective voice.

Kelly can be helped through public outcry and through abolishment of the 1947 National Security Act (and 1984 Reagan Amendment to same) that has destroyed the true security of our once great nation. You can write the State of Tennessee demanding to know why Kelly is being denied her right to qualified rehabilitation.

Thank you. - Cathy O'Brien

Every submitted comment of encouragement will be greatly appreciated!

--
http://www.trance-formation.org/http://www.trance-formation.com/

Trance-Formation of America:

Project Monarch (excerpt #1)
http://www.trance-formation.com/book_excerpts/monarch.htm
http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?ID=100925768100
http://groups.google.com/groups?selm=EC8F5BAE.8523C14B%40trance-formation.com&output=gplain
http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?STYPE=msgid&MSGI=%3CEC8F5BAE.8523C14B@trance-formation.com%3E

From Dorothy to Tinker-Belle (excerpt #2)
http://www.trance-formation.com/book_excerpts/dorothy.htm

http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?ID=100925953900
http://groups.google.com/groups?selm=11757353565781042415208 78%40news.clara.net&output=gplain http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?STYPE=msgid&MSGI=%3C62371BB7.8BC522F0@news.clara.net%3E

The Most Dangerous Game (excerpt #3) http://www.trance-formation.com/book_excerpts/game.htm
http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?ID=100930112200
http://groups.google.com/groups?selm=MPG.3f72db4fab9e%40166.82.1.9&output=gplain http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?STYPE=msgid&MSGI=%3CMPG.3f72db4fab9e@166.82.1.9%3E

You Are What You Read (excerpt #4) http://www.trance-formation.com/book_excerpts/read.htm
http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?ID=100933907900
http://groups.google.com/groups?selm=1ef3ad%245oz%241%40168.95.195.16&output=gplain http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?STYPE=msgid&MSGI=%3C1ef3ad%245oz%241@168.95.195.16%3E

The Most Dangerous Game: Revisited (excerpt #5)
http://www.trance-formation.com/book_excerpts/regame.htm
http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?ID=100949997400
http://groups.google.com/groups?selm=e138c973.25b3142c%40trance-formation.org&output=gplain http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?STYPE=msgid&MSGI=%3Ce138c973.25b3142c@trance-formation.org%3E

Clinton Coke Lines (excerpt #6)
http://www.trance-formation.com/book_excerpts/cokelines.htm
http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?ID=100950207100
http://groups.google.com/groups?selm=311e7c95.f10eeeaa%40trance-formation.org&output=gplain http://howardk.moonfall.com/msgid.cgi?STYPE=msgid&MSGI=%3C311e7c95.f10eeeaa@trance-formation.org%3E
--

6110. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 22:35:08 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <E2163CA5AE4B3689.B733AC71010B9C05.9A10F0561F4BE00A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29006

On 28 Dec 2001 17:02:54 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>Do you see the parallel? Do you begin to understand why I bothered to post in >these threads?

Sure--because you think you know better than Kim what is "good for the ARS."

Guess what?

A lot of us think you're wrong.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6111. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 22:56:09 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0j3i0aic2@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29021
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.shortwave,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,alt.flamenet,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Homoxsexual pedophile pervert
"Joanie" <alt.flame@flameawayroger.com> wrote in message
news:a0i90u$4kn$0@pita.alt.net...
> > >
> > >> Why were you kicked out of the Air Force Roger?
> > >>
> > >> See photo of KC8JBO and his pointed circus boy
> > >>head here: www.angelfire.com/al/sj61 courtesy of the > > >>BARF chief of communications.
> > >>
> > >
> > > Man, that's one ugly fucking redneck. I almost feel sorry for 8L0J08.
> > > Almost. I bet that mustache is the pubic hair from his mothers twat.

No, it's from YOUR mommy's twat.

> > Damn, I was beaten to the punch. I wanted to be the first to come up > > with a photo of Woger. Oh well. I'll have one of his mommie's house in a > > few days. By all reports it's a beat up shack.
> >
> The photo is about 20 years old.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA Prove it.

>Roger tried to pass himself off as looking younger.

While "Joanie" tries to pass himself off on the liberty net as straight.
BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA...over 50 years old and never been married....bwhahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha.then ol' Steve Turdeater goes up to Richland, OH and fucks his momma up the ass.

>Truth is Roger is fat now, very fat, with

<guffaw> Suuuuure I am, FATASS.

> gray hair and looks beyond his years from smoking dope.

Bwhahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha.. that why I got carded a few weeks ago
when I bought some beer?

> Marshall county property tax records are on line and show the > house Roger lives in is owned by his mother and only his mother,

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA Marshall county tax records are not on line, you fucking imbecile.

> despite Roger's lies otherwise.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA.....
So YOU say.

> Property evaluation is $35,000, so it must be a typical WV hovel.

And the Gurnsey county records assess that hole in the ground in Feeport under 20,000....and now the insurance fraud is so high in Ohio, the homeowner's insurance is increasing.

And let's not even mention Dicksucking Dave Heil's hovel in Cameron what that .8 of an acre is assesed at...under $25,000
......bwhahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha

> Roger Wiseman, the troll-on-demand.

Anonymous COWARD, buttfucked BITCH on demand.

Hey Lardasssssssssssss, when are you going to quit QRMing on HF...You've already been DFed by the FCC.

6112. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 23:02:04 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <8E6ADA8FD8153304.6E769D4FA5DBBED2.2E067B86E5283A6A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29007

On 28 Dec 2001 13:02:45 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>You called me a "bluenose" but haven't said what a bluenose is.

A person who brown noses bluebloods?

>"Nobody complained" is not a compelling argument. Weak, very weak.

Not as weak as your vague complaints about the call or the idiotic statements being made that "most hams" are offended by it when it is clear that only a small group of moralists feel that way.

>The reactions of those who DO comment. Like Riley. Is HE a "bluenose"?

How about my comments? Cecil's? Jon's? Krell's? So far as I can see, there are more people posting to this thread that they DO support her choice of call signs than there are posting that they don't!

That sort of kills your argument, doesn't it?

>>> What's a "bluenose", Jon? Please, be specific.
>>
>>http://www.m-w.com/cgi-bin/dictionary?va=bluenose
>
>Ya can't even bother to cut-and-paste.

And you can't even bother to click a link!

Here, for the terminally lazy, is the content of the link he provided:

=====
Main Entry: blueï¿½nose
Pronunciation: 'blï¿½-"nOz
Function: noun
Date: 1903
a person who advocates a rigorous moral code
=====

>"Inappropriate" is quite specific.

True.

Provided, of course, that there is general agreement that something IS inappropriate for a given purpose. That doesn't happen to be the case with Kim's call sign.

>You work in an office/lab environment up there in CT, Jon. Would it be >appropriate to come to work on a regular workday in midsummer wearing a >swimsuit and sandals? How about wearing old faded jeans and a T-shirt to a >formal dinner party or wedding? Those clothes are perfectly appropriate for >other situations. You're the same person. Why not wear the same clothes?

Because there is GENERAL AGREEMENT as to what is and is not appropriate in those settings. Change your scenario a bit, however.
What if he works in an office/lab environment in CT, and chooses to come to WORK in those "old faded jeans and a T-shirt?" Would THAT be inappropriate? It would if his firm has a set policy that includes a dress code. It would NOT if his firm had no policy against employees dressing in that manner. In other words, it would be up to the company, not society, to define what is or is not appropriate for its workers.

In Kim's case a very close parallel exists. Instead of a company being the arbitrator of "appropriateness," that decision is left to the FCC (don't believe it--try applying for the call sign W2SOS and see how quickly your application is turned down). And since they issued Kim's call, it is apparent that by their set of standards, her call IS appropriate for issuance to a radio amateur.

THAT, Jim, is the ONLY criteria for "appropriateness" that is relevant to Kim's call sign.

>> Lots of hams come in contact with those call signs
>>yet make no noise about it.
>
>How do you know? I've never heard any of them on the air. And please note that >the FCC does NOT issue them sequentially.

Nor, as I've pointed out before (and been ignored since it weakens your case to admit it) do they issue ?#GOD sequentially.
Unless you are willing to state here publicly that "GOD" is not appropriate for amateur radio, your argument fails completely.

>> Whether most hams know they exist is >>irrelevant; most hams who DO know haven't raised objections.
>
>How do you know that? The objectors here on rrap are a sizable group, but you >dismiss us and our opinions as irrelevant.

No, Jim, the objectors here on rrap are NOT a sizable group.
There are you, Larry Roll, Dick Carroll, Dave Heil, and Dwight Stewart who is away right now. Essentially, that's the ball game. A couple others have made comments about it, but they aren't active in the thread. On the opposite side are myself, Cecil, Jon, Krell, Rich, and (of course) Kim herself. As in the case of your group, there are several other people who have made brief comments of support then not continued in the thread. From what I can see, the supporters are a larger group than the opponents of her sign.

More important, however, is the fact that NEITHER group has any business pushing their views down Kim's throat. If she wants to change her call sign, she is completely free to do so whenever she wishes. If she does not wish to do so, that is just as valid a choice.
But in both cases it IS her choice, not that of people who feel compelled to tell her how to live her life, as is true of you and others.

>Then there's no reason Kim can't change hers to "W5KIM" or "W5MKW".

None at all (assuming those calls are available)--but neither is there any reason she SHOULD do so. That was a choice available to her when she originally applied for a vanity call, and it was her choice at the time not to apply for it.

You expect others to respect your right to choose--try showing the same respect for them as well.

>>I find it interesting that you are unwilling or unable to say specifically >>what's inappropriate about Kim's call sign and unwilling or unable to >>explain why you think the community also considers it inappropriate.
>
>See above.

We have--and it still avoids his question completely, as you well know.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6113. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 23:02:20 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2CED13.F3FC2715@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29008

Jon Bloom wrote:

> >I consider her choice trashy. So would most > > folks.

>
> I don't think so. W5TIT is not the same thing as TIT. Most people > recognize that.
>

Balderdash! She chose that callsign for one reason and one reason only, by her own statements here. In fact she very recently stated she wasn't at all sure the FCC would issue it. Wanta try for a better position?

>
> If her name were Teresa Isabel Thompson, would her choice of W5TIT as a
> call sign still be trashy in your opinion?
>

If an elephant had wings he could fly, or try. Teresa Isabel Thompson would avoid her initials on her vanity callsign if she cared at all about the image she projected for ham radio. Kim obviously doesn't and that comes as no surprise.

>
> > Kind of like your and my next door > > neighbors, who we'd also chide if they made such a silly choice of > > vanity call.
>
> My neighbors make all kinds of silly choices, but I don't chide them for a > silly choice if it doesn't affect me personally. I don't expect them to > chide me when I make a silly choice that doesn't affect them personally, > either. Where I was brought up, that's called being a good neighbor.

Oh, I would imagine if your neighbors started hanging out lewd signs around the neighborhood, or all over town, as could be the expected result of on-air amateur radio callsign usage, you might decide differently.

6114. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 23:06:45 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2CEE1C.3B45AF1C@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29009
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

N9NWO wrote

> So one day my sergeant > was getting back on his cycle after lunch and just > putting on his helmet. The pimp shoots him with > a sawed off shotgun. Thanks to the leather coat

> and helmet (and the fact that the pimp was standing
> so far away that the shot from sawed off gun just > lost its force) he was unhurt. He turned, drew his
> .44 Mag (big thing back in the days of revolvers, > especially out west) and knee caps the jerk. Then > called for an ambulance. End of Story.
>
> Such was it back in simpler times.

Nothing radical about that. Anyone who cracks a cap at a cop is paid for, then or now. Pimp was VERY lucky he didn't get the slug in the gut.

6115. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 23:08:46 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <6BBDB28D09B17F70.F62170F68BFF9448.8ACAB8899B197C01@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29010

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 09:41:45 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>So is W5TIT. It has been used during EmComm, Traffic Nets, conversation, >contesting, packet, APRS, emails, as my nametag for hamfests, etc. In fact,
>I think it was Jon Bloom that I met at Arlington Hamfest a couple of years >ago with my W5TIT T-shirt on.

Now THAT would have been an interesting addition to a wet
t-shirt contest! ;-)

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6116. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 23:16:55 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <DBD8DA82FE84A6E4.97AE7ECBE90C07F9.80DB367B6488B232@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29011

On 28 Dec 2001 13:02:47 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>The "nobody complains" argument doesn't hold any water.

Don't be ridiculous, Jim.

You (and others) claim that the call is inappropriate and that the "community standards" define that inappropriateness. Yet the ONLY way that "community standards" are defined is by the voices of that community. You now state that it doesn't matter if nobody complains.
All that indicates is that either: (1) You are so self-righteous you actually believe that you have the right to establish community standards yourself (don't feel bad, so do Donald Wildmon [AFA] and Fred Phelps [GodHatesFags.org]) or; (2) your "community standards" are a straw dog, and the actual community standards condone rather than condemn Kim's call.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6117. Re: I made it home alive

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 23:24:48 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <FC6B1F0428AA551B.D5A60E54D5FC835D.1D174141AF973579@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29012

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 08:12:44 -0500, "WebDoc REACT Unit #602" <arcweb@bnnorth.net> wrote:

>Well Rick, I was working in NYC as a volunteer with the Red Cross, I has >been there since October 3rd. I had planned to take my test there so I could >enjoy the hobby on my time off. I live in the N.W. Ohio area, like 40 >minutes from Toledo, so now that I am home I can take the test there.
>Understand better now? heheheh.

Makes sense.

BTW, we must live fairly near each other--I'm in Southcentral
Michigan a little North of the Ohio line and, also, about 40-50 minutes from Toledo.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6118. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 23:37:32 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2CF554.EBB1C7B6@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29013

CAM wrote:

> Jon Bloom wrote:
> > If her name were Teresa Isabel Thompson, would her choice of W5TIT as a > > call sign still be trashy in your opinion?
>
> Just shows that the people who don't like W5TIT are not being objective.
> It is Kim's motives that are being criticized, not the callsign per se.

Ah, just for the confused, if not for Kim's motives she would not have that callsign.

6119. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 23:45:34 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2CF736.8E2CFB40@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29014

Kim-W5TIT wrote

>Because I don't agree with people who think my callsign > is tacky or vulgar/whatever, it is their expectation that I am still to live > "up" (as they put it) to their standards. If I don't wave their flag, I am > public enemy number one.

More of your defective thought process at work. No one "expects" anything at all of you. If you were not who and what you are, you wouldn't have chosen that callsign. Do not confuse the criticism with anyone's expectations. What you are is a demonstration of one thing that ham radio should not be - lewd. By your own amission, you chose your callsign for lewd reasons. Sin ce gthe most public part of a ham radio operator is his callsign, you clearly chose to place lewdness at the fore of your ham radio experience. Tho you didn't describe it that way, you didn't need to, the implication was more than clear in your statements.
Lewdness has no place in ham radio, otherwise Riley wouldn't consider you to be like the others in ham radio who are putting the service "one step closer to extinction". End of story.

6120. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-28 23:50:54 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <yz7X7.244493$3d2.12003595@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29015

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:DBD8DA82FE84A6E4.97AE7ECBE90C07F9.80DB367B6488B232@lp.airnews.net...
> On 28 Dec 2001 13:02:47 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
> >The "nobody complains" argument doesn't hold any water.
>
> Don't be ridiculous, Jim.
>
> You (and others) claim that the call is inappropriate and that > the "community standards" define that inappropriateness. Yet the ONLY > way that "community standards" are defined is by the voices of that > community. You now state that it doesn't matter if nobody complains.
> All that indicates is that either: (1) You are so self-righteous you > actually believe that you have the right to establish community > standards yourself (don't feel bad, so do Donald Wildmon [AFA] and > Fred Phelps [GodHatesFags.org]) or; (2) your "community standards" are > a straw dog, and the actual community standards condone rather than > condemn Kim's call.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH

I think it far more likely the community pleads de minimus. While this call is a crime it is a common crime and one of a category often encountered. Generic Look at me, I'm Sandra Dee.

Sane people generally realize that they are not about to educate idiot drivers with any sort of retaliation and are not about to instill taste in the terminally tasteless so we take Carl Jung's advice and cultivate our little garden and save a corner of the world.

The amazing thing about this thread is that so many supposedly mature men are being led around by the testicles at the instigation of a flaming airhead. The light in the eyes is the sun shining thru the back of her head but she learned to manipulate men and in fact has a history of it both on this group and in whatever parts of her life she has chosen to expose.

It appears Larry has the most to answer for but the lemming brigade needs a bit of navel contemplation as well. What a bunch of maroons, with Rick bucking for captaincy.

Dick NBK

6121. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 00:11:06 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2D0A1A.7232F011@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29017

Dick Carroll wrote:
> Cecil, you're a ill-defined, neblous blob with no enforcement power > either inside or outside of government.

Which is exactly as it should be. You guys are trying to be the Thought Police and it ain't gonna work.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6122. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 00:15:22 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2D0B1A.4BD31D2D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29018

Dick Carroll wrote:
> What you are
> is a demonstration of one thing that ham radio should not be - lewd.

So Dick thinks that female anatomy is lewd. Dick, you really are a member of the Taliban, aren't you? Kim, you better cover yourself from head to toe or Dick will beat you with a stick.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6123. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 00:21:26 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2D0C86.94C36C73@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29019

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Jon Bloom wrote:
> > > If her name were Teresa Isabel Thompson, would her choice of W5TIT as a > > > call sign still be trashy in your opinion?
> >
> > Just shows that the people who don't like W5TIT are not being objective.
> > It is Kim's motives that are being criticized, not the callsign per se.
>
> Ah, just for the confused, if not for Kim's motives she would not have that
> callsign.

I rest my case. Kim's motives have absolutely nothing to do with whether Kim's callsign is trashy. Kim's callsign is either objectively trashy or it is not. Seems to me, the majority believes it is NOT trashy.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6124. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 00:27:43 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2D0DFF.5DBA46E9@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29020

Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> Jon Bloom wrote:
> > I don't think so. W5TIT is not the same thing as TIT. Most people > > recognize that.
>
> Balderdash! She chose that callsign for one reason and one reason only, by > her own statements here.

Kim's reasons for choosing that callsign are irrelevant. What is relevant is whether the callsign is objectively trashy or not. Seems the posters who think it is trashy are a negligible number of social dinosaurs.

> Oh, I would imagine if your neighbors started hanging out lewd signs around > the neighborhood, or all over town, as could be the expected result of on-air > amateur radio callsign usage, you might decide differently.

There you have it, folks. Dick thinks the female anatomy is lewd. Cover up all the women or else risk getting beaten with sticks by the Big Dick.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6125. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 01:56:39 UTC
From: lousherry@lanset.com Message-ID: <3C2D22D7.B785A728@lanset.com>
Source record: 29023
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

I'll still take a New Yorker over a California any day. At least you know where they are coming from!

Phil Cane wrote:

> On Wed, 26 Dec 2001 04:41:08 GMT, Dick Carroll wrote:
>
> > Things change, and sometimes pretty fast, but if we're headed down that > >slippery slope, I haven't seen a lot of evidence of it. Of course I have > >seen some. One of he most gregarious cases was in New York Cit. In 1962 I > >watched a NYPD street cop give a guy an awful cussing in public while he > >stood with his hand on the butt of his revolver as if he dared the guy to > >respond in any way. The fellow' soffense was cuttting across one extra > >traffic lane to get to a (rare) parking spot. There was no safety reason > >for him not to do that, except the LEO noted his out of state license > >plate, and after all, some jerk behind who wanted the spot himself > >honked.....
>
> That was standard NYPD practice in those days. I too saw it done > and was appalled, even though I grew up in NYC, because I had been > exposed to four years of the California Highway Patrol's extra > courteous manners in the interim.
>
> --
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6126. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 01:59:21 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228205921.13985.00002119@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29022

In article <3c271712_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
writes:

>
>In the spirit of the holiday season (whatever your >religious persuasion), I'd like to take this opportunity >to sincerely convey wishes for a happy holiday
>season and a prosperous new year to you, on behalf >of both myself and the entire Board of Directors and >membership of No Code International.
>

Carl:

Thank you. I just returned from an excellent Christmas with my family up in Buffalo; had to drive thru a blizaard this morning to get out of town! I hope you and all at NCI had a wonderful holiday season, and have a very safe and happy new year!

73 de Larry, K3LT

6127. Did Tacoma do anything after they passed the law?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 02:26:28 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0j9sgtbg1@slb0.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29024

This has been asked, but never answered.

Tacoma (Wash) passed the following city ordinance:

"It is unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, to
(a) use citizens band radio equipment not authorized by the Federal Communications Commission; (b) to allow the unauthorized operation of citizens band
radio equipment on a frequency between 24 MHz
and 35 MHz. "

Have the city fathers actually done anything with that law...i.e. telling their police force to enforce the law against someone?

It has been suggested, and I strongly agree, that the driving force behind this ordinance must have been one or more local complaints regarding one or more CB violators...BUT no one seems to know anything.

On further examination of the law itself, part A seems to be an oxymoron...to wit, how can a radio truly be a Citizens Band radio but not be authorized by the FCC. Without the FCC "approval" the radio, whatever it may be, isn't a CB radio at all. It may be capable of being operated in the CB band or elsewhere between 24-35MHz, but that sure doesn't make the radio itself
a CB radio.

Just some additional thoughts on the (obvious to me anyway)
unenforceable and rather dumb law.

Cheers & Happy New Year to all,
Bill K2UNK

6128. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 02:36:55 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2d2db2_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29026

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011228143939.10110.00001464@mb-mb.aol.com...
> In article <3c2c93eb_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
writes:
>
> >"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> >news:20011228080245.09102.00000780@mb-ct.aol.com...
> >> In article <pan.2001.12.28.05.14.32.940745.17079@arrl.org>, Jon Bloom > >> <jbloom@arrl.org> writes:
> >>
> >> >So I'll repeat the question you ducked: What makes you > >> >think that your standards are the community's?
> >>
> >> The reactions of those who DO comment. Like Riley. Is HE a "bluenose"?
> >
> >C'mon.
>
> Where are we going?
>
> > Riley is just another ham.
>
> No, he's not. If he were, you would not have sought out his opinion.
>

Well, believe whatever you wish. Riley is just another ham. His opinion holds more weight because he is a ham who works for the FCC.

> >
> >His opinion on whether the FCC should be > >in the business of judging callsigns or not, was sought because I knew
that,
> >as a person from the FCC, his opinion would be listened to.
>
> Then he's NOT "just another ham". You can't have it both ways.
>

As I said, believe what you wish.

> >
> > If I'd said to > >Larry R., or anyone else, "Hey, ask Cecil if the FCC should take my
callsign
> >away," that would have garnered nothing but the usual cat meows from a bunch > >of grown men.

>
> I have no idea what "cat meows from a group of grown men" is supposed to mean.
>
> And Cecil never posts anyhting seriously here. He's told us that many times.
> Plus it's clear to anyone who has read rrap that Cecil would side with you, so > there's no reason to even bother asking him.
>

Oh, for goodness sake, take your pick then, Jim.

>
> Asking Riley was a smart move because he ISN'T "just another ham" and he would > be listened to. Trouble is, he didn't agree with you.
>

Actually, yes he did, Jim. You and all the others seem to miss the point that he confirmed my belief that the FCC was not in the business of judging callsigns. I didn't ask him what he thought of my callsign (that should have been obvious to anyone). That he added his personal opinion was a footnote to his comments. I'll say the same thing to you: if you think I am stupid enough to have thought for one minute that Riley was a "supporter" of a callsign like mine, then you're nuts.

> >
> >> >>> The > >> >>> only complaints I've heard about Kim's call sign (or similar ones)
are
> >> >>> from a few bluenoses here on rrap.
> >> >>
> >> >> What's a "bluenose", Jon? Please, be specific.
> >> >
> >> >http://www.m-w.com/cgi-bin/dictionary?va=bluenose
> >>
> >> Ya can't even bother to cut-and-paste.
> >
> >Main Entry: blue�nose
> >Pronunciation: 'bl�-"nOz
> >Function: noun
> >Date: 1903
> >: a person who advocates a rigorous moral code
> >
> >How's that? Sounds appropriate.
>
> Sounds like a compliment.
> >

I'm glad you like it. Like I said, sounds appropriate to me.

> >
> >> >>>Hardy an outpouring of community outrage!
> >> >>
> >> >> Most hams outside of rrap don't know calls like that even exist.
> >> >
> >> >There are a number of calls with
> >>
> >> [that suffix]
> >
> >Which one?
>
> The one in your callsign.
>

You may pick apart a callsign. I never have and never do. I don't go around calling my husband CAW. And, I wouldn't go around calling you EY.
If it's "traditional" that suffixes are the part of a callsign that hams focus on, then sobeit...but I don't partake of tradition. My callsign, yes, has a suffix...but it's the whole callsign that goes together.

> >> >
> >> >And there are other > >> >suffixes in use that I suspect you would also find "inappropriate." (I
> >can > >> >only "suspect" since you are unwilling to make any specific complaint > >> >against Kim's suffix.)
> >>
> >> "Inappropriate" is quite specific.
> >>
> >> You work in an office/lab environment up there in CT, Jon. Would it be > >> appropriate to come to work on a regular workday in midsummer wearing a > >> swimsuit and sandals? How about wearing old faded jeans and a T-shirt to a > >> formal dinner party or wedding? Those clothes are perfectly appropriate

> >for > >> other situations. You're the same person. Why not wear the same clothes?
> >
> >I think that's an excellent analogy.
>
> Thank you.
>
> >Since the ARS is neither professional > >in nature, nor is it formal, then a fun callsign is quite appropriate for > >the venue.
>
> I disagree. The ARS IS "formal in nature" because we use a limited public > resource that others want to use. I have nothing against "fun" callsigns, but I > don't find inappropriate callsigns to be "fun".
>

And, I don't think that the ARS is formal in nature. I don't think my use of a government anything is formal in nature. You may not find my callsign to be appropriate for you and, thus, it isn't fun for you. But I do.

> >
> >We come into contact with emergency responders, indeed even > >provide free service for those organizations. I've recently resigned my > >position as Hunt County EC, but my callsign has never been brought into > >question by anyone I wish to serve.
>
> All that means is that they chose not to comment on it. As public officials, > they could be in quite an uncomfortable situation if they commented in any way.
>

And all it means here is that people choose to comment. I don't think the public officials "thought" of my callsign in any other way than a callsign. You see...it is my opinion that for my callsign to be inappropriate, there is an inappropriate thought that goes with it. I don't have inappropriate thoughts about tits, and I don't think most officials of public service would, either. I'd worry if they did.

> >
> >In fact, my callsign has been > >commented on, negatively, only once by a local ham, the Section Manager now.
> >He was not the Section Manager then.
>
> Do you think his opionion has changed?
>

No, my point is that he is the only one to have made a negative comment.

> >
> >In usual and customary manner, I would > >say that making no comment can be translated to: yes, it's tacky/vulgar/etc.
> >but not worth getting that upset about; or, "shrug shoulders no big deal."
>
> What "usual and customary manner"?
>
> Making no comment can also be interpreted as politeness, avoiding a > confrontation, trying not to call attention to something, or a form of > shunning.
>

Which is quite hamlike. And far more respectable than a lot of behavior displayed here. I rather like to believe that my callsign is generally accepted...not that it matters, because it's still great fun to many of us. But, I like to believe that silence is golden. You like to believe there is some dark, shadowy, implication to it.

> >> >
> >> > Lots of hams come in contact with those call signs
> >> >yet make no noise about it.
> >>
> >> How do you know? I've never heard any of them on the air. And please note
> >that
> >> the FCC does NOT issue them sequentially.
> >
> >Who cares if the FCC issues them sequentially or not? Doesn't matter.
>
> Yes, it does. By not issuing certain calls in sequence, the FCC recognizes
that > those calls are NOT simply random colections of letters and a number.
>
> >What if I'd gotten
>
> [that callsign]
>
> >as a callsign issued sequentially
>
> You couldn't. FCC wouldn't issue it. You had to specifically request it.
>
> However, if the FCC changed its rules and issued it sequentially, you could say
> "It's not my choice; FCC just gave it to me".
>
> With choice comes responsibility.
>
> > and, for reasons of > >tradition or attachment, had decided that I just couldn't do without my > >original callsign?
>
> Just "get over it". Shrug shoulders, go on living, no big deal.
>
> >I am pretty sure there are some people who've gotten > >calls that may be risque to them, but choose to keep them for that reason.
> >Are they "inappropriate" for the ARS?
>
> Depends on the callsign. Your suffix is not issued sequentially, so anybody
> with a call like yours asked for it specifically.
>

Oh good grief. That must mean a whole lot more to you than it does to me,
Jim.

> >> >
> >> > Whether most hams know they exist is > >> >irrelevant; most hams who DO know haven't raised objections.
> >>

> >> How do you know that? The objectors here on rrap are a sizable group, but
> >you
> >> dismiss us and our opinions as irrelevant.
> >
> >I don't know that Jon dismisses them as irrelevant.
>
> Sure seems to me like he does.
>
> >I know that I do not.
> >I dismiss them because I don't agree with your opinion of the callsign.
>
> Same thing. You dismiss opinions that you don't agree with. You've already > said, if I recall right, that nothing anybody can say would change your > opinion. That's preemptive dismissal of all opposing opinions.
> >

I think most of us dismiss opinions we don't agree with. You dismiss mine, don't you? In fact, that's preemptive dismissal of all opposing opinions to yours, right? Nothing anyone could say will change your opinion about my callsign.

> >> >>>
> >> >>> How does the call sign N2EY "reflect positively" on the service?
> >> >>
> >> >> It is appropriate in any situation.
>
> >So is
>
> [Kim's call]
>
> > It has been used during EmComm, Traffic Nets, conversation, > >contesting, packet, APRS, emails, as my nametag for hamfests, etc.
>
> That simply means it was used, not that it was appropriate. If I wore the same
> T-shirt, bathing trunks and sandals to a whole bunch of events, would that make > those clothes appropriate?
>

Actually, it wouldn't matter to me what you wear, Jim, really wouldn't.
I've learned that people dressed as you describe above can be as serious, respectable, and goal oriented as the next. I'd look more for how you behaved. The dirty trick is when you show up in a suit and tie and act like a complete oaf. That happens all the time, too.

> >
> >In fact,
> >I think it was Jon Bloom that I met at Arlington Hamfest a couple of years > >ago with my

>
> [callsign]
>
> > T-shirt on.
>
> Jon has a T-shirt with your callsign on it? ;-)
>
> >> >It is irrelevant in any situation other than station identification since > >> >it has no meaning.
> >>
> >> It has a lot of meaning to those hams who know me.
>
> >As I said in a post before, so does my callsign.
>
> Which disproves the statement "It is irrelevant in any situation other than > station identification since it has no meaning."
>
> >Even for those hams who
> >don't like me either as a person or just because of the callsign (weird, > >huh), they immediately recognize who is behind my callsign and that I am > >quite serious about what I am doing.
>
> Maybe - I don't know them, and I don't know what you are like on the air.
>
> >I will not engage in inappropriate
> >conversations on the air...well, most of the time;
>
> Ah - but what's "inappropriate"? Your "inappropriate" may be someone else's
> "fun".
>

Exactly, Jim...and I get to choose, for me, what my limitations are. I have never, ever, ever commented on anyone's on-air tactics or practices, EXCEPT for when training in emergency communication, and then only to confirm procedures. I choose not to pontificate to anyone about how they operate. They may operate in any manner they choose. Whether I participate in how they operate is another matter.

> >
> > I take public service and
> >emergency communication very seriously; I am a fairly good storm spotter > >(out of practice here in Texas with no significant weather in my area the > >past few years); and my callsign is nearly immediately recognizable during > >the worst of conditions. Lots of meaning, to many hams.
> >
> Which disproves the statement "It is irrelevant in any situation other

than > station identification since it has no meaning."
>

I don't think I made that statement.

> >> >
> >> >Just like any other call sign.
> >>
> >> Then there's no reason Kim can't change hers to "W5KIM" or "W5MKW".
>
> >Of course there's no reason.
>
> Then why not do it? "W5KIM" is instantly recognizable and makes it easy to > associate name and call.
>

Because, Jim. I don't like W5KIM. I like W5TIT. Why don't you get W5KIM?

> >
> >Except that I chided all the guys for getting > >their initials.
>
> So?
>

In other words, I think getting initials is pretty boring.

> >
> > Heck, where's the creativity in that? A vanity callsign > >should be a vanity callsign. Initials, smitials, be creative and have fun.
>
> Sure. "W5KIM" is creative and fun.
>

Uh, to you. It's not to me.

> >
> >The other part of the whole thing is that, yes, the FCC will issue such > >calls. (I wasn't sure they would when I applied...LOL).
>
> They issue them ON REQUEST because they'd set themselves up for a lot of > headaches and maybe even a lawsuit if they didn't.
> >

I didn't say I was looking for an excuse of why they do it.

> >>
> >> >>>To those outside ham radio, it's just a jumble of > >> >>> letters and numbers, no more.
> >> >>

> >> >> You are mistaken. If that were so, broadcast stations would not care > >> >> what their callsigns were.
> >> >
> >> >We're talking about HAM RADIO call signs, Jim, not broadcast call signs.
> >
> >Exactly.
>
> It's the same principle.
> >
> >> Same principle. To get a reaction and promote an image. The callsign KISS
> >was > >> fought over in court.
> >>
> >> >(BTW, in case you haven't listened to broadcast radio lately, most > >> >stations de-emphasize the call sign as a marketing identification.
They
> >> >prefer to use catchy phrases with the frequency in them, like "Big D > >> >103.")
>
> >Hey, Jon, it's even being done on ham radio. Our 145.190 machine here in > >Dallas says, "Welcome to the Big Machine in Big D..." It's really neat.
> >(It is the best machine and the most coverage--ooops, except for maybe
one
> >other repeater--in Dallas).
>
> Does it ever give the actual callsign? And what makes it the "best" machine?
>

It has to, Jim. That's what the three dots are at the end of the quotation. That genearlly implies that there is more but it is being left out. It's the best coverage. Or, like I said, nearly the best. One other, the 145.35 may be better.

> >
> >And, the "owner" is so controversial that even > >though it's the best machine, it isn't the emergency communications > >machine...now, ain't politics a hoot?
>
> Why is the "owner" controversial?
> >

That is not for me to discuss. He is not here, and chooses not to be.

> >>
> >> Only those stations that can't get a catchy one. The point is still the > >same:
> >> It's NOT just a random, meaningless collection.
>

> That's the point.
> >> >
> >> >> Suppose a major network was going to do a special, and then a series,
> >on > >> >> ham radio. Tons of priceless publicity for the ARS. They want a family > >> >> show, not a late-night series to replace the Howard Stern TV show.
> >> >>
> >> >> Suppose they wanted to have a real live amateur radio callsign in
the > >> >> title - like the classic "WKRP in Cincinnati" show had a BC
callsign.
> >> >>
> >> >> Suppose they asked YOU to recommend an unassigned amateur callsign > >> >> (nobody has WKRP, either). Would YOU recommend a callsign like Kim's,
> >or > >> >> something else? Why or why not? Please, be specific.
> >
> >Why not? Tell ya one thing, if you want attention to the hobby, "an > >interview with a female ham,
>
> [with Kim's call]
>
> > would get people watching and listening.
>
> All publicity is not good publicity.
>

Ah. Well you believe differently than I. I think any publicity can be turned into good publicity.

> >
> >They may come with evil, misguided intentions,
>
> Like what?
>
> >but I'd be so perfectly > >representative of the ARS on TV that any of those people would soon change
> >their minds or recede into nothingness.
>
> I don't think you are "perfectly representative of the ARS", Kim. Nobody
is.
> Sorry, but that's my perception from what I've read here over the years.
>

Well, excuse me for being so literal. OH, that's you being so literal.

> >
> >The callsign is fun, the person is > >fun, the callsign is not vulgar, the person is not vulgar.
>
> Your opinion only. Is it forbidden to disagree? Seems like it, judging by
the > reactions to my disagreement.
>

It is not my opinion only--that's me getting literal back to you. It is absolutely not forbidden to disagree. My reaction to your disagreement is simply to respond to tell you that I don't agree with you. So, after this I'll stop responding to you, lest you think I am forbidding you to disagree (like I'd want to do that).

> >
> >One of the > >things I think would be great to point out in an interview would be the very > >nature of the politics of my callsign.
>
> What politics? It's a matter of appropriateness, that's all.
>

No, there's a great deal of politics involved.

> >
> > For anyone thinking that ham radio
> >is a stuck-up's hobby, they'd have to change their mind.
>
> The problem is, what their mind would change to.
>

I don't forsee it as a problem.

> >>
> >> >I wouldn't recommend putting a call sign in the title in the first place;
> >> >it would be poor marketing.
> >
> >I think so, too.
>
> Why? It worked for "WKRP".
>
> > A good title for a ham radio show would be something like,
> >"Getting to Know Your Neighbor...A Few Countries Away." Something like
> >that.
>
> You gotta be kidding. Way too long and not nearly catchy enough.
>

It would catch my eye. OH, but we wouldn't want people like me to get caught, would we?

> >
> >If we were ever lucky enough (yeah, let's really dream here), and we > >warranted a weekly show, I'd be more embarrassed to associate myself with > >RRAP than I would with any one ham or any one ham's callsign.
Truthfully.
>
> Then why are you here?
>

I think I say later that I don't even know.

> >>
> >> WHY? "WKRP in Cincinnati" was a very highly rated show. The callsign made
> >it > >> easy to remember. In fact most people abbreviate the title to just "WKRP".
> >>
> >> >But if they were adamant, sure, they could use > >> >a call sign like Kim's. (Heck, they could use Kim's call sign. As long
as
> >> >it's okay with her.) I don't think it would result generally in the > >> >smirking, nudging and winking present from a few here on rrap.
> >
> >Nope, I don't think it would, either. In fact, I think to the common
person
> >(a non-ham) it would have to be pointed out that my callsign is unusual.
>
> That's scary.
> >
> >> If that's Hq's idea of good marketing, it's no wonder so few people know
> >about
> >> ham radio.
>
> >Oh no, Jim. I am really, really disappointed in you having that > >mentality. Good grief.
>
> What mentality?
>
> It's an "if-then" statement.
>
> Is it not true that few people outside ham radio know about it? Isn't one
of > the goals of the ARRL to market and publicize amateur radio in a positive > light?
>
> If the "if-then" statement is not true, the statement is not valid, anyway.
>
> >> >I find it interesting that you are unwilling or unable to say > >specifically

> >> >what's inappropriate about Kim's call sign and unwilling or unable to > >> >explain why you think the community also considers it inappropriate.
> >>
> >> See above.
> >>
> >> >Pretty weak, Jim.
> >>
> >> I find it interesting that you would think it suitable as a marketing tool
> >for > >> Amateur Radio, Jon.
>
> >I find it interesting that you are of the opinion that Jon brought up the > >idea of marketing ham radio through my callsign. Wasn't it YOU who > >presented the scenario, requesting a specific response from Jon?
>
> Yep. So what?
>
> >I think
> >nearly any respect I had for you is precarious at this point, Jim.
>
> Why? For being honest? How much respect would you have if I toed the > electropolitically-correct line while thinking differently? Should I bow
and > scrape before Jon because he's on the Hq staff? I don;t think he wants that.
>

No, I don't think he wants that either. You are the one who brought up the callsign marketing scenario, asked his specific opinion about it. Then, when he answers you, you chide him for "think[ing] it [my callsign] suitable as a marketing tool for Amateur Radio, Jon." THAT is what I disrespect, Jim, not your disagreement.

>
> I note that other rrappers climb all over the ARRL and Hq staffers and you > never bat an eye about it.
>

Must I get into everyone's stuff, Jim? Are you now dictating what I may choose and not choose to comment on? I may not even read posts to which you refer. It depends on the mood I am in that day. Sometimes I read all in a whole thread, sometimes I read only Cecil's, or Rick's, or yours, or whomever. Is there a rule I am breaking?

> >
> >I never > >would have believed for you to use that kind of debating style.
> >
> What kind? Be specific.
>

I just told you. Asking for a specific reaction to a scenario you develop, then pouncing on the idea presented as though the person is the one who came up with the scenario.

> >
> >My callsign, no one's callsign, should be used as a marketing tool for ham > >radio.
>
> Why not? It worked really well for WKRP. I think it's a good idea, but the > callsign used must be appropriate and unassigned. Like W9MWC.
>
> >I don't think Jon is advocating the idea.
>
> I think he was.
>
> > He was responding to the > >silly notion you presented.
> >
> A TV special and series on ham radio is a silly notion? I think not!
>

I think it is. I think I am as right as your "I think he was" a few lines up.

>
> "Ensemble" comedies are the trend nowadays. The first significant one was
> "Barney Miller", a true classic. "WKRP" followed close thereafter. "Cheers" and
> "Seinfeld" derive from those shows. Today we have shows like "Ally McBeal" > which are the direct descendants. A ham-radio-based show could be great - IF it > were done right. A disaster, if done wrong.
>
> Did you see the movie "Contact"? Do you think your call would have been > appropriate for use in that film?
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

Why not?

Kim W5TIT

6129. Re: What not to say to a cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 02:44:16 UTC
From: S3Buell_SBCGlobailnet@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <773a0faf.0112281844.2faf845a@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29025
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

I once was stopped with a transgender
"girlfriend" on the Bay Bridge by a CHP cop and I was able to talk my way out of it by telling the cop we were on our way
to a costume party.

Absolutely true,

Landshark

--
My Best Wishes For A Very Happy New Year To Everyone

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:<a0i5np$mn1$5@dosa.alt.net>...
> "LloydVFP" <LloydVFP@KV4FZmyHero.net> wrote in message
> news:a0gq8q$f9r$0@pita.alt.net...
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:a0fchi$q4t$2@dosa.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
> > > news:I9yW7.125$8M.574732@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
> > > >
> > > > Swift Rider <c_howard_in@disguise.com> wrote in Alt.Law-Enforcement...
> > > >
> > > > : The WORST Things to Say to a Police Officer:
> > > > :
> > > > :
> > > > : 1. I can't reach my license unless you hold my beer.
> > > > :
> > > > : 2. Sorry, Officer, I didn't realize my radar detector wasn't plugge

> in.
> > > > :
> > > > : 3. Aren't you the guy from the Village People?
> > > > :
> > > > : 4. Hey, you must've been doin' about 125 mph to keep up with me!
> Good
> job!
> > > > :
> > > > : 5. Excuse me. Is "stick up" hyphenated?
> > > > :
> > > > : 6. I though you had to be in relatively good physical condition to
> be
> a
> > > > : police officer.

> > > > :
> > > > : 7. I was going to be a cop, but I decided to finish high school > instead.
> > > > :
> > > > : 8. Bad cop! No donut!
> > > > :
> > > > : 9. You're not gonna check the trunk, are you?
> > > > :
> > > > : 10. Gee, that gut sure doesn't inspire confidence.
> > > > :
> > > > : 11. Didn't I see you get your butt kicked on "Cops"?
> > > > :
> > > > : 12. Wow, you look just like the guy in the picture on my > girlfriend's
> > > > : nightstand!
> > > > :
> > > > : 13. Is it true that people become cops because they are too dumb to > work
> at
> > > > : McDonald's?
> > > > :
> > > > : 14. I pay your salary!
> > > > :
> > > > : 15. So, uh, you on the take, or what?
> > > > :
> > > > : 16. Gee, Officer! That's terrific. The last officer only gave me a > warning,
> > > > : too!
> > > > :
> > > > : 17. Do you know why you pulled me over? OK, just so one of us does.
> > > > :
> > > > : 18. I was trying to keep up with traffic. Yes, I know there is no > other
> car
> > > > : around me&emdash;that's how far ahead of me they are.
> > > > :
> > > > : 19. What do you mean. "Have I been drinking?" You're the trained > specialist.
> > > > :
> > > > : 20. Well, when I reached down to pick up my bag of crack, my gun > fell > off
> my
> > > > : lap and got lodged between the brake pedal and the gas pedal, > forcing
> me
> to
> > > > : speed out of control.
> > > > :
> > > > : 21. Hey, is that a 9 mm? That's nothing compared to this .44 magnum.

> > > > :
> > > > 22. It's not my car, BUT..... (care of Nightcrawler)
> > > >
> > > > 23. I know my rights!!!!
> >
> > 24. KC8JBO, Wogie Wiseman, would say to the cop: Will you
> > be my boyfriend? LOL LOL LOL LOL LOL
>
> N0VFP, Llllardasssss lllllloyd has said to a cop, "Can I slurp your > nutsacks to let me off these felonies?" See, Lllardasssss lllloyd has > quite a criminal record, for buggering boys , cows, and pumpkins in and > around Athens, AL.
>
> This was just faxed from the Birminham Field office:
>
> The Great Pumpkin
> Birmingham Post-Herald
> October 14, 2000
>
> Police arrested Lloyd A. Davies, a 27 year old white male, resident of > Athens, Alabama in the Anderson Pumpkin patch at 11:38pm Friday. Davies > will be charged with lewd and lascivious behavior, public indecency, > and public intoxication at the Athens Municipal Courthouse Monday. The > suspect allegedly stated that as he was passing a pumpkin patch, he > decided to stop. "You know, a pumpkin is soft and squishy inside, and > there was no one around here for miles. At least I thought there > wasn't." he stated in a phone interview from the Athens Municipal > Courthouse Jail.
> Davies went on to state that he pulled over to the side of the road, > picked out a pumpkin that he felt was appropriate to his purposes, cut > a hole in it, and proceeded to satisfy his alleged "need". "I guess I > was just really into it, you know?" he commented with evident > embarrassment. In the process, Torrance apparently failed to notice the > Athens Municipal police car approaching and was unaware of his audience > until officer Brenda Taylor approached him. "It was an unusual > situation, sure." said officer Taylor. "I walked up to (Davies) and > he's... just working away at this pumpkin."
> Taylor went on to describe what happened when she approached Davies. "I > just went up and said, 'Excuse me sir, but do you realize that you are > screwing a pumpkin?' He got real surprised as you'd expect, and then > looked me straight in the face and said,
> 'A pumpkin? Damn... is it midnight already?"

6130. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 02:54:20 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2d318d_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29028

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2CF736.8E2CFB40@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote
>
> >Because I don't agree with people who think my callsign
>
> > is tacky or vulgar/whatever, it is their expectation that I am still to live
> > "up" (as they put it) to their standards. If I don't wave their flag, I am > > public enemy number one.
>
> More of your defective thought process at work. No one "expects"
anything at > all of you. If you were not who and what you are, you wouldn't have chosen
that > callsign. Do not confuse the criticism with anyone's expectations. What you are > is a demonstration of one thing that ham radio should not be - lewd. By your > own amission, you chose your callsign for lewd reasons. Sin ce gthe most public
> part of a ham radio operator is his callsign, you clearly chose to place > lewdness at the fore of your ham radio experience. Tho you didn't describe
it > that way, you didn't need to, the implication was more than clear in your > statements.
> Lewdness has no place in ham radio, otherwise Riley wouldn't consider you
to be > like the others in ham radio who are putting the service "one step closer
to > extinction". End of story.
>

You're hilarious, Dick. How paranoid are you of the world around you?

Kim W5TIT

6131. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 02:57:09 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2d3238_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29031

"Richard McCollum" <rmcollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:yz7X7.244493$3d2.12003595@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
> The amazing thing about this thread is that so many supposedly mature men > are being led around by the testicles at the instigation of a flaming > airhead.
>

Kind of reminds you of how easily distracted men are, eh?

>
> The light in the eyes is the sun shining thru the back of her > head but she learned to manipulate men and in fact has a history of it > both on this group and in whatever parts of her life she has chosen to > expose.
>

Ewwww, you really, really have some axes to grind, Dick. That meets the definition of many stories I've heard of women, but not of me.

>
> It appears Larry has the most to answer for but the lemming brigade needs > a bit of navel contemplation as well. What a bunch of maroons, with Rick > bucking for captaincy.
>
> Dick N�BK
>
>

Kim W5TIT

6132. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 02:58:07 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2d3273_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29032

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2D0B1A.4BD31D2D@IEEE.org...
> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > What you are
> > is a demonstration of one thing that ham radio should not be - lewd.
>
> So Dick thinks that female anatomy is lewd. Dick, you really are a > member of the Taliban, aren't you? Kim, you better cover yourself > from head to toe or Dick will beat you with a stick.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

I think Dick is a figment of my imagination... ;)

Kim W5TIT

6133. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:00:21 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2D24DD.BF36ED05@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29027

Richard McCollum wrote:

> "Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
> news:DBD8DA82FE84A6E4.97AE7ECBE90C07F9.80DB367B6488B232@lp.airnews.net...
> > On 28 Dec 2001 13:02:47 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
> >
> > >The "nobody complains" argument doesn't hold any water.
> >
> > Don't be ridiculous, Jim.
> >
> > You (and others) claim that the call is inappropriate and that > > the "community standards" define that inappropriateness. Yet the ONLY > > way that "community standards" are defined is by the voices of that > > community. You now state that it doesn't matter if nobody complains.
> > All that indicates is that either: (1) You are so self-righteous you > > actually believe that you have the right to establish community > > standards yourself (don't feel bad, so do Donald Wildmon [AFA] and > > Fred Phelps [GodHatesFags.org]) or; (2) your "community standards" are > > a straw dog, and the actual community standards condone rather than > > condemn Kim's call.
> >
> > Rick
> >
> > --
> >
> > Rick Adams--KE8HH
>
> I think it far more likely the community pleads de minimus. While this > call is a crime it is a common crime and one of a category often > encountered. Generic Look at me, I'm Sandra Dee.
>
> Sane people generally realize that they are not about to educate idiot > drivers with any sort of retaliation and are not about to instill taste in > the terminally tasteless so we take Carl Jung's advice and cultivate our > little garden and save a corner of the world.

True, but allowing them a free pass only exacerbates their cluelessness, even allows them to think it's even right since "no one is complaining, so what's your problem?"
All the while genteel people everywhere are on the edge of barfing. (NO, I don't see myself as genteel. I'm too much a realist).

>
>
> The amazing thing about this thread is that so many supposedly mature men

> are being led around by the testicles at the instigation of a flaming > airhead. The light in the eyes is the sun shining thru the back of her > head but she learned to manipulate men and in fact has a history of it > both on this group and in whatever parts of her life she has chosen to > expose.

Well at least she THINKS she does. What she pay for what she gets is anybody's guess. Here she hasn't got much..

>
>
> It appears Larry has the most to answer for but the lemming brigade needs > a bit of navel contemplation as well. What a bunch of maroons, with Rick > bucking for captaincy.

No argumento.

6134. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:03:12 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228220312.05154.00000682@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 29030

In article <t52X7.37$jk5.3907@news.ntplx.net>, Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
writes:

> Each to his own opinion, right? (Jim, on the other >hand, wants to treat her choice as trashy while fastidiously avoiding >calling it that. At least you're up-front about it.)

You're mistaken, Jon. I use the word "inappropriate" because that's what it is.
If I thought it was trashy I'd say trashy.
>
>> If I saw an automobile with the vanity plates

[deleted]

>> I would also be of >> the opinion that the owner (whether female or male) made a trashy >> choice. So would most folks.
>
>Including me.

Ahhh - so there are choices of identifier that are trashy in Jon Bloom's opinion?

>But I wouldn't feel compelled to tell the driver my opinion.

Does another driver's choice of vanity plates have any effect on the amateur radio service and its image? Not usually. Does the choice of callsign? Quite possibly.

>My neighbors make all kinds of silly choices, but I don't chide them for a >silly choice if it doesn't affect me personally. I don't expect them to >chide me when I make a silly choice that doesn't affect them personally, >either.

But what some hams do DOES affect other hams personally.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6135. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:03:13 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011228220313.05154.00000683@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 29029

In article <E2163CA5AE4B3689.B733AC71010B9C05.9A10F0561F4BE00A@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On 28 Dec 2001 17:02:54 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
>
>>Do you see the parallel? Do you begin to understand why I bothered to post
>in >>these threads?
>
> Sure--because you think you know better than Kim what is "good >for the ARS."

And Kim thinks she knows better than me what is good for the ARS. So do you.
>
> Guess what?
>
> A lot of us think you're wrong.

And a lot of folks think I'm right. Doesn't matter - it's not up to a vote.

I think what really bugs you, Rick, is that there are some of us here on rrap who you cannot intimidate and who state our opinions as we see them regardless of how electropolitically incorrect they may be to some.

73 de Jim, N2EY
>

6136. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:05:55 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2d344a_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29035

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011228220313.05154.00000683@mb-fm.aol.com...
> In article
<E2163CA5AE4B3689.B733AC71010B9C05.9A10F0561F4BE00A@lp.airnews.net>,
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> >On 28 Dec 2001 17:02:54 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
> >
> >>Do you see the parallel? Do you begin to understand why I bothered to post
> >in > >>these threads?
> >
> > Sure--because you think you know better than Kim what is "good > >for the ARS."
>
> And Kim thinks she knows better than me what is good for the ARS. So do you.
> >
> > Guess what?
> >
> > A lot of us think you're wrong.
>
> And a lot of folks think I'm right. Doesn't matter - it's not up to a vote.
>
> I think what really bugs you, Rick, is that there are some of us here on rrap > who you cannot intimidate and who state our opinions as we see them regardless
> of how electropolitically incorrect they may be to some.
^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^
Is this a new buzz word, or what?

>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
> >
>

Kim W5TIT

6137. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:06:38 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2D2657.F9DA7EE4@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29033

CAM wrote:

> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > What you are
> > is a demonstration of one thing that ham radio should not be - lewd.
>
> So Dick thinks that female anatomy is lewd.

Offensive forcing of the sexual parts of the anatomy on others or the public at large is lewd, by either sex, and is so codified under law almost everywhere. Minor violations such as this are generally viewed as tasteless, trashy, clueless, the result of the lack of decent upbringing, or the lack of any serious hint of a clue. Ugly, offensive behavior, in short.
If your mileage varies, it might mean you need a new odometer.

> Dick, you really are a > member of the Taliban, aren't you? Kim, you better cover yourself > from head to toe or Dick will beat you with a stick.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6138. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:07:37 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2d34b3_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29036

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2D2657.F9DA7EE4@townsqr.com...
>
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dick Carroll wrote:
> > > What you are
> > > is a demonstration of one thing that ham radio should not be - lewd.
> >
> > So Dick thinks that female anatomy is lewd.
>
> Offensive forcing of the sexual parts of the anatomy on others or the > public at large is lewd, by either sex, and is so codified under law almost > everywhere.
>

ROFLMAO...er, your witness, Counselor.

>
> Minor violations such as this are generally viewed as > tasteless, trashy, clueless, the result of the lack of decent upbringing, > or the lack of any serious hint of a clue. Ugly, offensive behavior, in > short.
> If your mileage varies, it might mean you need a new odometer.
>
>
>
> > Dick, you really are a > > member of the Taliban, aren't you? Kim, you better cover yourself > > from head to toe or Dick will beat you with a stick.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
>

Hey, Dick: The Taliban made me do it.

Kim W5TIT

6139. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:10:58 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2D275C.DA030237@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29034

CAM wrote:

> Dick Carroll wrote:
> >
> > CAM wrote:
> >
> > > Jon Bloom wrote:
> > > > If her name were Teresa Isabel Thompson, would her choice of W5TIT as a > > > > call sign still be trashy in your opinion?
> > >
> > > Just shows that the people who don't like W5TIT are not being objective.
> > > It is Kim's motives that are being criticized, not the callsign per se.
> > >
> > Ah, just for the confused, if not for Kim's motives she would not have that
> > callsign.
> >
> I rest my case.

You don't HAVE a case to rest.

> Kim's motives have absolutely nothing to do with whether
> Kim's callsign is trashy.

Only that her trashy motives led her to request a trashty callsign.

> Kim's callsign is either objectively trashy or
> it is not. Seems to me, the majority believes it is NOT trashy.

Either you are objectively an idiot or you are not. Seems to me you are.

6140. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:18:30 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2D2920.9C5F5C61@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29037

Kim-W5TIT wrote:

> "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> news:3C2CF736.8E2CFB40@townsqr.com...
> >
> >
> > Kim-W5TIT wrote
> >
> > >Because I don't agree with people who think my callsign
> >
> > > is tacky or vulgar/whatever, it is their expectation that I am still to > live
> > > "up" (as they put it) to their standards. If I don't wave their flag, I > am > > > public enemy number one.
> >
> > More of your defective thought process at work. No one "expects"
> anything at > > all of you. If you were not who and what you are, you wouldn't have chosen
> that > > callsign. Do not confuse the criticism with anyone's expectations. What > you are
> > is a demonstration of one thing that ham radio should not be - lewd. By > your > > own amission, you chose your callsign for lewd reasons. Sin ce gthe most > public
> > part of a ham radio operator is his callsign, you clearly chose to place > > lewdness at the fore of your ham radio experience. Tho you didn't describe
> it
> > that way, you didn't need to, the implication was more than clear in your > > statements.
> > Lewdness has no place in ham radio, otherwise Riley wouldn't consider you
> to be > > like the others in ham radio who are putting the service "one step closer
> to > > extinction". End of story.
> >
>
> You're hilarious, Dick. How paranoid are you of the world around you?

A one-liner from you simply means you have no valid response.

Paranoid? Not very, but enough that I sure don't intend to stand there and let some clown take me out "on my own terms":...

6141. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:24:53 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <9IaX7.201522$WW.11754880@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29038

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2D24DD.BF36ED05@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Richard McCollum wrote:
>
> > "Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
> >
news:DBD8DA82FE84A6E4.97AE7ECBE90C07F9.80DB367B6488B232@lp.airnews.net...
> > > On 28 Dec 2001 13:02:47 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
> > >
> > I think it far more likely the community pleads de minimus. While
this
> > call is a crime it is a common crime and one of a category often > > encountered. Generic Look at me, I'm Sandra Dee.
> >
> > Sane people generally realize that they are not about to educate idiot > > drivers with any sort of retaliation and are not about to instill taste in > > the terminally tasteless so we take Carl Jung's advice and cultivate our > > little garden and save a corner of the world.
>
> True, but allowing them a free pass only exacerbates their cluelessness, even > allows them to think it's even right since "no one is complaining, so what's > your problem?"

It might be more effective if we simply ignored it. Or better yet, ask why she selected W as opposed to K or N thereby shifting the discussion to an unexpected part of the call sign.

You say 'clueless' while I think it is a post-pubescent call for attention. Neither one of us is going to ever know for sure but the search for identity thru call signs, toys, etc. seems to be spreading thru a lot of the world. Seen what is done to head and tail lites, not to mention the ubiquitous 'virginity lamps' below the bumper. Had a guy with red front turn signals pull into traffic last week. That will definitely wake you up on a winter's day.

Want to see a bozo pissed off? One of the state Patrolmen, presumably after the obligatory drug search, ticketed one of these big 4x4 monster trucks for failure to have a run-under bar in back and irregular height head lamps. I have had the feeling that Omaha could knock 5 a year off the fatality rate by simply going on bozo patrol and just having a hell of a good time. It was, BTW, the run-under bar the owner most objected to; apparently the truck would be less kewl.

Whatever. I am freaking tired of the whole verstunken issue.

Dick

6142. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:35:25 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2D2D16.91478AF2@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29039

Richard McCollum wrote:

. It was, BTW, the run-under bar the owner most objected to;

> apparently the truck would be less kewl.

.
If ur not kewl today, you're NOT.

>
> Whatever. I am freaking tired of the whole verstunken issue.

Agree wholly here. Bozo patrol on rrap is not too productive.

6143. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:38:04 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2D3A9C.D2CB9E74@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29040

Dick Carroll wrote:
> Offensive forcing of the sexual parts of the anatomy on others or the > public at large is lewd, by either sex, and is so codified under law almost > everywhere.

And Kim has not done that. All Kim has done is request a cute callsign.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6144. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:43:17 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2D3BD5.C6E0B9B3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29041

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> Thank you. I just returned from an excellent Christmas with my > family up in Buffalo; had to drive thru a blizaard this morning to > get out of town!

You were lucky to get out of Buffalo. Last I heard they had seven feet of snow, a new record.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6145. OUCH!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 03:51:49 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <p5bX7.244760$3d2.12028649@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29042

Larry, I am in Rochester, NY. I do appreciate what you said about a blizzard. Last I heard, Buffalo had received between 4 and 5 feet of snow since Xmas eve and more is still comming down! Yesterday, they were predicting up to 75 inches of snow through this one big storm (lake effect). In any case, have a safe and happy new year! I hope you don't have weather that bad at home.

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim AA2QA

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message news:20011228205921.13985.00002119@mb-md.aol.com...
> In article <3c271712_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
> writes:
>
> >
> >In the spirit of the holiday season (whatever your > >religious persuasion), I'd like to take this opportunity
> >to sincerely convey wishes for a happy holiday
> >season and a prosperous new year to you, on behalf > >of both myself and the entire Board of Directors and > >membership of No Code International.
> >
>
> Carl:
>
> Thank you. I just returned from an excellent Christmas with my > family up in Buffalo; had to drive thru a blizaard this morning to > get out of town! I hope you and all at NCI had a wonderful > holiday season, and have a very safe and happy new year!
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

6146. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:15:23 UTC
From: Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
Message-ID: <pan.2001.12.28.23.15.23.125581.30082@arrl.org>
Source record: 29043

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 22:03:12 -0500, N2EY wrote:
> In article <t52X7.37$jk5.3907@news.ntplx.net>, Jon Bloom > <jbloom@arrl.org> writes:
>
>> Each to his own opinion, right? (Jim, on the other >>hand, wants to treat her choice as trashy while fastidiously avoiding >>calling it that. At least you're up-front about it.)
>
> You're mistaken, Jon. I use the word "inappropriate" because that's what > it is. If I thought it was trashy I'd say trashy.

Since you refuse to state your reason for finding it inappropriate, you leave us no choice but to infer the reason. Until I see something that leads me to conclude otherwise, I'll continue to infer that you think it's trashy, despite your protestations to the contrary. Why? Because I can't think of any other reason you could have, although there may be other words that could be used to describe it.

> Ahhh - so there are choices of identifier that are trashy in Jon Bloom's > opinion?

Sure. But in each of Hans' hypothetical cases the identifier was a well-known vulgarism. W5TIT is not a vulgarism. It's not even a word.

>>But I wouldn't feel compelled to tell the driver my opinion.
>
> Does another driver's choice of vanity plates have any effect on the > amateur radio service and its image? Not usually. Does the choice of > callsign? Quite possibly.

You've adduced not a shred of evidence that it does so. This topic has been debated in this NG for almost two years now, and I've yet to see a single concrete example of any effect on the ARS from Kim's choice of call sign. Your repeated assertions that it may be damaging are based on nothing of substance.

>>My neighbors make all kinds of silly choices, but I don't chide them for >>a silly choice if it doesn't affect me personally. I don't expect them >>to chide me when I make a silly choice that doesn't affect them >>personally, either.
>
> But what some hams do DOES affect other hams personally.

How? Specifically, and concretely, describe one real (not hypothetical) example of how Kim's call sign has negatively affected you or anyone else personally. Do you know of people who have not entered ham radio because of Kim's call sign? Is Kim's call sign causing RFI at your QTH? Are you finding less rare DX because of Kim's call sign? Is Kim's call sign causing ionospheric disturbances? What?

Jon

6147. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:22:59 UTC
From: Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
Message-ID: <pan.2001.12.28.23.22.59.305685.30082@arrl.org>
Source record: 29044

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 18:02:20 -0500, Dick Carroll wrote: > Jon Bloom wrote:
>
>> I don't think so. W5TIT is not the same thing as TIT. Most people >> recognize that.
>>
>>
> Balderdash! She chose that callsign for one reason and one reason > only, by > her own statements here.

Her motive for choosing it is not the issue, Dick. The issue is whether the call sign itself is damaging to the amateur service. Show me a concrete example of the damage, that's all I ask.

Jon

6148. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:27:37 UTC
From: Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
Message-ID: <pan.2001.12.28.23.27.37.779643.30082@arrl.org>
Source record: 29045

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 22:05:55 -0500, Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>> of how electropolitically incorrect they may be to some.
> ^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^
> Is this a new buzz word, or what?

It's a classic red herring. Rather than debate the actual issue, you say that others are trying to suppress the debate itself. Frequently resorted to when one is unable to frame a meaningful argument in support of an untenable position.

Jon

6149. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:43 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235143.13985.00002129@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29153

In article <20011226064243.28248.00000649@mb-cq.aol.com>, w1rfi@aol.com (W1RFI) writes:

>
>>Larry, I just don't get you. You badmouth some people who have passed >>the 5wpm exam and congratulate others. How do you decide who gets what >>response?
>
>It appears quite simple. Those that sing Larry's praises on rrap are told
>they >deserve congratulations for passing the 5 wpm test. Those that do not praise >Larry receive the badmouth treatment.
>
>It appears to me that in Larry's view, it really IS all about Larry.

Ed:

This is not about me. Bert E-mailed me and made this posting in which he thanked me for encouraging him to learn and use CW. He is now going for his 20-WPM Code Proficiency certificate, which I think is great! I took no credit; he did all the work. All I did was tell him something I already knew about him, even he didn't at the time -- that he could learn and use CW if he made the decision to do so. Now, and in the future, he has the right to offer the same encouragement to others, and I hope they accept it the way he did!

73 de Larry, K3LT

Happy New Year!

6150. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:43 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235143.13985.00002130@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29154

In article <3C29F36A.2B0A7A03@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Richard McCollum wrote:
>> There is
>> no basic conflict in welcoming those who pass the rules currently in >> effect while not having a lot of use for the rules currently in effect;
>
>Unfortunately, Larry is not that way. He has bitched loud and long >about post-restructuring extras not deserving their privileges.

Cecil:

I've never stated that post-Restructuring Extras do not "deserve" their privileges -- only that they haven't had to make as much of an effort to learn the useful knowledge and skills that were required under the superior pre-Restructuring licensing system. The post-Restructuring Extras may therefore not value their privileges as much as the Pre's, and may be more prone to misbehave
on-the-air.

Please provide the quote where I've said post-Restructuring Extras do not deserve their privileges, or you will have again admitted that you are a liar.

73 de Larry, K3LT

6151. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:44 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235144.13985.00002131@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29048

In article <3C295404.DB50EBF7@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Dave Heil wrote:
>> You don't really want me to start dredging up some of the things you've >> said to Dick Carroll and Larry have them come back to prove you a liar, >> do you?
>
>They started it, Dave. I merely defended myself.

Cecil:

How have you "defended" yourself? We've seen you dig a deep hole for yourself and jump head first right into it, but you've not "defended" any of your bizarre statements in a manner which would justify them in any way.

73 de Larry, K3LT

6152. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:45 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235145.13985.00002133@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29151

In article <3C25F749.FA191C94@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> Please provide a quote where I said all no-code Techs are
>> "technical dumb-shits," or words to that effect.
>
>Larry, when you say nocode techs are dumb-shits, the English >language implication is "all". If you meant "some", you should >have said "some". Would you like to correct your statement?

Cecil:

No, I think I'd rather have you provide a copy/paste of that posting as proof that I actually said it. If you can't, then you're lying -- but that wouldn't be anything new, would it?

73 de Larry, K3LT

6153. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:45 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235145.13985.00002132@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29158

In article <A17D53CE133D6D39.5F6E437A9BAFA70A.F74698D962F766B7@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
> Maybe that's the entire problem, Dave.
>
> You, Dick, and Larry all feel that a woman should behave >differently than a man in public (and probably in private as well) and >that she has an obligation to appear demure, innocent, and moral. When >a woman demonstrates that she is as much a whole person as a man is
>and isn't willing to defer to your "superior" male values, you go ape >and can't allow her decisions to go unchallenged.

Rick:

If there were any other YL hams in this newsgroup, it is entirely likely that at least one of them would take offense to Kim's call sign, and state so in this thread. This has nothing to do with Kim being a woman demonstrating that she is a "whole person" -- as if any of us thought women wern't "whole" people in the first place.
However, don't worry -- I'm sure your liberal, feminist views were noted by Kim, and I'm sure you have earned her friendship -- although
I can't understand why anyone would want it!

> It isn't a question of Kim's call sign bothering you--it's >just that you don't think she knows her place!

I can't speak for Dick or Dave, but I, for one, could care less about Kim's so-called "place" and whether or not she knows it. All I know is that she selected a call sign which is potentially harmful to the positive image of the ARS -- and since she's a participant of this newsgroup, she has been called to task because of it. After a couple of thousand postings here and on the real "...one step closer to extinction" thread (it has only 3 dots in the ellipsis -- not four), she as still failed to adequately defend her decision to choose that call sign in anything like a convincing manner, thus proving that she only did it to call attention to herself by means of calling attention to her secondary sexual characteristics. This demonstrates extremely bad taste and poor judgment on her part, and does not create a positive image for YL hams, or women in general. I am still unable to understand why she would do this, if not to proactively demonstrate her contempt for her fellow radio amateurs.
Whatever "place" Kim may have in the world, it certainly isn't among radio amateurs who consider themselves to be intelligent, decent, respectable radio amateurs who are concerned with putting forth a positive public image.

73 de Larry, K3LT

6154. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:46 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235146.13985.00002135@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29049

In article <3C25FAB4.E4B5E4F4@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> You can't use the Ph. D-to-B.S. comparison, because either one >> is way off the scale compared to acquiring an Extra-class license >> these days -- or at any time, for that matter.
>
>Are you also so ignorant that you don't understand ratios, Larry?
>Do you comprehend 1/2 = 1000000/2000000?

Cecil:

Really? I'm not sure I understand. Why don't you give me half a billion dollars, and then, maybe, I'll have a clearer idea of what you're talking about!

73 de Larry, K3LT

6155. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:46 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235146.13985.00002134@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29050

In article <3C25F749.FA191C94@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> Please provide a quote where I said all no-code Techs are
>> "technical dumb-shits," or words to that effect.
>
>Larry, when you say nocode techs are dumb-shits, the English >language implication is "all". If you meant "some", you should >have said "some". Would you like to correct your statement?

Cecil:

You have exactly one posting to produce the quote where I said
"no-code Techs are [technical] dumb shits," or you have once again proven that you are a liar!

73 de Larry, K3LT

6156. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:47 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235147.13985.00002137@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29046

In article <3C25F946.49F399ED@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> Nobody is committing "assault and battery" on anyone else in this >> newsgroup, electronically or otherwise.
>
>Larry, your sadistic postings are there for all to see. How you can >deny your verbal assaults is beyond comprehension.

Cecil:

Stop electronically stalking me.

73 de Larry, K3LT

6157. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:47 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235147.13985.00002136@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29047

In article <3C25F902.BF4BE4F6@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry, you electronically stalked Ed until he gave up on this newsgroup.
>Now you are electronically stalking Kim. Why do you get so much pleasure >from sadistically verbally assaulting your fellow hams?

Cecil:

You are now electronically stalking me and sadistically accusing me of doing things I have not done. I assume you are doing this for your own pleasure. Stop trying to justify your own misdeeds by throwing them back on others.

73 de Larry, K3LT

6158. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:47 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235147.13985.00002138@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29155

In article <3C25FA22.7019572B@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> Your homework for tonight is to find and post a direct quote from >> me where I said I was "condemning" Ed for offering his personal >> opinion while in an ARRL position.
>
>"Condemning" is my word for what you did to Ed, Larry. Everyone >who was reading this newsgroup at the time witnessed your >sadistic attack upon Ed. I'm not going to waste my time digging >it up again because it would add nothing new to the situation.
>You have already proven yourself to be a sadistic jerk time >and again.

Cecil:

Since when has Ed Hare appointed you as his defender? The fact that you can't come up with any quotes from me to support what you've said only prove that you're a liar. So, quit electronically stalking me with your lies and sadistic accusations, and mind your own business.

73 de Larry, K3LT

6159. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:48 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235148.13985.00002139@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29156

In article <3E832F4B49721019.61A9FC192BC734FB.5A2A07BAE7B05EF8@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
> Get off your "holier-than-thou" stance, Dickie, the offensive
>and classless people in this newsgroup aren't Kim and her >supporters--they are you, Larry Roll, and Dave Heil who insist that >YOUR values are more important than those of others and that YOU are >the final arbitrars of morality.
>
> Rick

Rick:

This thread isn't about me, Dick, Dave, or anyone else being an arbiter of morality. It's about the poor judgement of one ham in choosing a call sign which portrays female radio amateurs in an undeservedly negative manner, reflects a poor image of all radio amateurs, and has potential for harm to the image of the ARS which has been recognized by a high-profile radio amateur who also happens to be an FCC official. There is nothing going on here other than hams giving their opinions on a policy-related matter, which is well within the bounds of the topics germane to this newsgroup.

73 de Larry, K3LT

6160. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:49 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235149.13985.00002140@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29152

In article <3C26538E.3EB73DDE@earthlink.net>, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
writes:

>> >> >So Dave, are you going to bring that lawsuit against Kim or just try >> >> >to kill her with the jawbone of an ass?
>> >>
>> >> Has he been dismembering Larry Roll again?
>> >>
>> >> Rick
>> >
>> >If Cecil is still using his, perhaps you'd loan yours.
>>
>> Sorry Dave, I can't help you.
>>
>> I don't _have_ a Larry Roll to lend you.
>
>Just pass the jawbone, Samson.
>
>Dave K8MN

Hmmm...so Rick Adams has called me an "ass" on this newsgroup, while at the same time threatening to have my internet access terminated for expressing my opinion about Kim's poor choice of a
call sign?

Mind your own jawbone, Rick!

73 de Larry, K3LT

6161. FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 04:51:50 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011228235150.13985.00002141@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29157

Greetings All:

To those who have been insisting that the FCC has the best interests of the ARS at heart, I offer the following. I seems like "Restructuring" isn't the only way they had in mind to put an end to our tomfoolery on all this valuable RF real estate. Now they're saying licensed radio amateurs don't have any need to establish a station in our own homes. Get ready to lose some more spectrum -- and soon! Read it and weep...

73 de Larry, K3LT

****

SB QST @ ARL $ARLB056
ARLB056 FCC Denial Leaves League Eyeing Congressional Action on CC&Rs

ZCZC AG56
QST de W1AW
ARRL Bulletin 56 ARLB056
From ARRL Headquarters
Newington CT December 28, 2001
To all radio amateurs

SB QST ARL ARLB056
ARLB056 FCC Denial Leaves League Eyeing Congressional Action on CC&Rs

The FCC has affirmed a November 2000 staff-level decision that declined to include privately imposed deed covenants, conditions and restrictions--CC&Rs--under the limited federal preemption known as PRB-1. That policy requires municipalities to ''reasonably accommodate'' amateur communication in antenna-related zoning and regulation.

The ARRL last year appealed to have the full FCC review the earlier denial. The Commission turned down the League's Application for Review December 18 in a Memorandum Opinion and Order released December 26.

''There has not been a sufficient showing that CC&Rs prevent Amateur Radio operators from pursuing the basis and purpose of the Amateur Service,'' the FCC said. The Commission said hams still can get on the air without installing residential antenna systems by operating away from home, while mobile or at club stations.

The FCC said it recognizes the importance of preserving the integrity of contractual relations that CC&Rs represent. But it asserted that the ARRL had ''submitted no specific evidence that would persuade us to abandon our long-standing policy of excluding CC&Rs in private covenants from our ruling in PRB-1.''

ARRL President Jim Haynie, W5JBP, expressed disappointment in the Commission's ruling. ''The biggest problem Amateur Radio operators face today is being able to put up an antenna,'' Haynie said. ''Our only approach now is to get a bill into Congress.''

The FCC itself even hinted that Congressional action ought to be a next logical step. ''However, should Congress see fit to enact a statutory directive mandating the expansion of our reasonable accommodation policy,'' the FCC declared in its MO&O, ''the Commission would expeditiously act to fulfill its obligation thereunder.''

In its Application for Review last year, the ARRL maintained that the FCC should have the same interest in the effective performance of an Amateur Radio station and in the promotion of amateur communications regardless of whether the licensee's property is publicly regulated or privately governed by homeowners' associations and their architectural control committees.

A copy of the FCC's Memorandum Opinion and Order in RM-8763 is available on the FCC Web site, http://hraunfoss.fcc.gov/edocs_public/attachmatch/FCC-01-372A1.doc .
NNNN /EX

6162. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 05:02:54 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011229000254.27168.00000726@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 29159

In article <3c2c8a9d_1@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011227220325.01870.00000569@mb-fz.aol.com...
>> In article
><XZpW7.242101$3d2.11769921@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
>> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> writes:
>>
>> >> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
>> >
>> >> > If the >> >> > Novice is promoted to this class by simply waiving element 2
>then the
>> >> > situation becomes much clearer.
>> >
>> >> Yup - but is it right to give away upgrades like that?
>
>Nope ...

>> >Well, yes, it is because they have been law abiding hams for years,
>possibly >> >decades and granting them Element 2 is not going to ire anyone.
>
>No ... they haven't demonstrated the qualifications tested by the >other >test element.

OK, I'm gonna put on my devil's advocate hat here....

What "qualifications" are needed to be an Extra that are not possessed by an Advanced? Forget about the VE rules and regs, because pre-VE-era Extras are not retested in order to be VEs.

The only difference between the operating privileges of an Extra and an Advanced are a few subbands on 80, 40, 20 and 15. Extras get no additional modes or power - the ONLY difference is those little subbands. What "qualifications" are needed to operate on, say, 3524 that are not needed to operate on 3526?

Devil's advocate hat off.
>
>> It might upset those who recently took a test to upgrade. Didja know >that both >> the NCVEC and NCI OPPOSED the ARRL BoD idea to give a "free" upgrade
>of Novices

>> and Tech Pluses to General?
>
>That's true ... as NCI has stated all along, we are "No Code >International,"
>not "No Qualifications International."

Shall we review how the written tests were cut in number and size again?
>
>> The whole Extra written test! Today, a current Advanced has to take
>a 50
>> question written to get the Extra - same as a General. Auto-upgrade >would not >> go over big with some folks.
>
>And the more technical content (not that it's THAT hard, but it's >reasonable for granting a license to operate and experiment)
>is virtually all in the Extra test now ... the written elements for >General are quite elementary ...

Devil's advocate hat back on...

WHY is that "technical content" essential for OPERATING privileges, or to experiment? All US hams except Novices can use ALL authorized modes and frequencies above 30 Mhz right now - the FCC thinks the written testing is adequate. Current Generals, who have been tested even less than Advanceds, can experiment on every band and mode authorized to US hams - they just can't use some subbands on 80/40/20/15.

Devil's advocate hat off.
>
>Now who's proposing to "dumb down" amateur radio???
>
Not me.
>
>> >> > All this is accomplished by waiving Element 2 for Novices and >waiving >> >> > Element 4(B) for Advanced. I think this is a very tiny price to >pay in
>> >order
>> >> > to have a structure which can have some basic adjustments >applied for
>> >better
>> >> > transitioning of everyone throughout the ARS experience.
>> >
>> >> I see your point, but others may be outraged and the FCC may nix
>the >> >> whole free upgrade idea.
>
>NO "freebie" no-test upgrades for novices or advanced ... the material >in those elements is necesssary to assure reasonable qualifications.

I better put that hat back on..

On the one hand you don't want to give free upgrades to Novices. On the other, you want to give allow Novices and Tech Pluses to use "modern digital modes" and analog voice modes. Huh?
>
>If someone has been an advanced for a while, the liklihood is that >they weren't interested in code and have been unwilling to put forth >the effort to get to 20 wpm.

For some, yes. But the 20 wpm test has been avoidable by medical waiver for more than a decade.

For at least some Advanceds, the written exam is the problem. Do not assume that because the written test wasn't hard for you that it's a pushover for everyone.

>With the 20 wpm gone, I have little
>sympathy for someone who isn't willing to take a relatively easy
>50 question written test to upgrade from adanced to extra.

20 wpm was relatively easy for many hams, and relatively tough for others. Same for the written tests.

Sounds to me like you want to make everyone jump through the same written test hoops you did.

>> >> An ARRL committee is proposing virtually the same thing,
>> >> (good) plus widening the 'phone slots on those bands (bad).
>> >
>> >I agree with you here, also.
>
>So do I (surprised) ... I personally oppose widening the phone >bands (at least at this time) because I don't think we should >allow the lower parts of the bands to be over-run with SSB,
>which could discourage the development of more modern >digital modes.

So it's OK with you if the SSB folks are hemmed in by limited subbands.

>He's corrrect ... they are NOT "CW only" sub-bands (except if you >hold a novice/tech+ license) ... others are technically free to use >PSK31, Clover, PacTor, or other digital modes there, as long as >they meet the (stupid) occupied bandwidth restrictions ...

The bandwidth restrictions are not stupid at all.

>Why

[annoy]

> the FCC by going back incesantly asking them to >do things that they have already determined they're not going >to do because they don't serve the public interest?

I agree that it's not a good idea to keep asking the FCC to do things they've already said they won't do. The "serve the public interest" is a matter of opinion. Much of what the FCC does is done to reduce FCC admin work. That's not necessarily a bad thing.

>
>So there are approx. 40k novice licenses still valid and approx.
>87k advanced licenses still valid (source "Year End Census of >Amateur Radio Operators," The W5YI Report.

You can get exact numbers from my posts in the thread "ARS License Numbers"

As of May 14, 2000:

Novice - 49,329
Tech - 205,394
Tech Plus - 128,860
General - 112,677
Advanced - 99,782
Extra - 78,750
Total - 674,792

As of December 14, 2001:

Novice - 40,337 (decrease of 8,992)
Tech - 233,654 (increase of 28,260)
Tech Plus - 85,869 (decrease of 42,991)
General - 138,560 (increase of 25,883)
Advanced - 86,617 (decrease of 13,165)
Extra - 97,829 (increase of 19,079)
Total - 682,866 (increase of 8,074)

>What's the big >deal? And there are some tech+ who will end up getting renewed >as techs (but still keep their limited HF privs) if they don't >upgrade.
>What does that hurt?

Ask Mr. Plourde.
>
>It took me from the time the rules changed until recently to find >time to get around to going to a VE session to take the extra >written and upgrade ...

That's you. Others have different situations.

>I didn't

[complain]

>I didn't ask to have the >test waived ...

But you did wait until the 13 and 20 wpm code tests were gone.

> why should anyone get a total freebie??? If they >don't want to, or don't have the time to, upgrade, they should >remain satisfied with what they have. There is no reason to >change the system ... nobody should get privileges they aren't >qualified for, nor should anyone lose privileges they've already >earned.

Sounds like what some folks were saying before the restructuring. Folks you vehemently disagree with.

>> >I think other hams see what's happening... the new ones come in and
>get to >> >general and extra very quickly and the elders are being 'corraled'
>out in >> >their pastures.
>
>How are "the elders being 'corraled' out in their pastures" ???
>(serious question ... I don't get what you're infering here ...)

I think he means that newcomers with quick memories, good health and lots of time go from zip to Extra in a short time, bypassing hams with much more time in the ARS. Heck, that's what I did 30+ years ago.
>
>> Hmm - interesting. Could even result in a situation where the
>newbies say to
>> the oldsters "I did it, so you have to, as well!"
>
>Turnabout is fair play, they say :-) As one who has followed the >rules and taken and passed the extra written, I could take that >view with respect to "waiving" the extra written and giving >advanceds a free upgrade ... but that is NOT my motivation for >opposing such a freebie ...

Maybe.

>the motivation is PURELY that there >is legitimate material in the extra written test that should be tested
>and advanceds should have to demonstrate that they know that >material before being granted the additional privileges of the >extra class (and I am NOT refering to the few small "extra only"
>sub-band slots ... I'm refering to the other things that are reserved
>for extras ...)

Like what? What are the other Extra-only privileges that require more testing of Advanceds? What is in the Extra test that is so necessary for Advanceds to know?
>
>> >> 3) the big opportunities of the post-2003 era are not being >addressed
>> >> adequately.
>
>I agree with that ... there is still not a good vision in the majority >of the amateur community about what we need to do and where >we need to go, in terms of technology and using our spectrum

>more fully and efficiently.

So how you gonna educate 'em? Shove "modern digital modes" down their throats?
>
>More space for 50 year old SSB technology is NOT the answer, >IMNSHO ...

even if it's what most hams want?

fun fact: SSB was first used by hams in the early 1930s, almost 70 years ago.

> again I refer the interested to public comments by >Dale Hatfield and other FCC officials on the future of amateur
>radio

I read 'em. Main point he makes is "don't ask for lots of little subbands for every activity". And "we gotta get some hams up to speed on the current regs".

>> I dunno about that. Their system may not know who is an "old" Tech >Plus and who >> isn't.
>
>The FCC's system "knows" who is an "old" Tech Plus and who is not,

They do? Then why not just hand out Generals to them?

>but as was pointed out, the system is programmed such that the VECs >are the "engine" for input to the system and it would cost the FCC a >LOT
>in manpower and reprogramming to do such upgrades directly themselves.

So the FCC avoids the work.
>
>I don't see taking one's paperwork to a VE session to get the upgrade >as being such an onerous thing ...

If one is healthy and able to get there.
>
>> I mean three slots by mode type: CW, digital, analog voice or image.
>For >> example, 40 meters might be 7000-7075 CW, 7075-7150 digital, >7150-7300 analog
>> voice or image.
>
>More "balkanization" as I pointed out before ... a BAD idea as RULES.

I think they're a good idea.

>I have no problem with flexible, voluntary bandplans and "gentleman's >agrements" ... they can be changed far more easily than FCC rules
>as needs change ... casting sub-band usage by mode into the relative >concrete of Part 97 will ultimately hurt our ability to adapt to >modernizing
>changes in technology and usage patterns

But you want to hold the line on the analog 'phone subbands. You don't want to widen them, even though the usage might indicate that more 'phone spectrum is justified. Looks like a double standard.

I say having "subbands by mode type" gives the best compromise.
>
>> >What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???
>>
>> Offer an upgrade incentive.
>
>"Incentive Licensing" was a dismal failure ...

How do you figure? It was all about increasing technical knowledge. I think it was propelled by Sputnik fever.

> philosophically,
>I agree with prior comments that power limitations make more >sense than mode limitations, since they are more solidly based >on some reasonable relation to one's technical knowledge,
>as demonstrated by passing the more difficult tests.

Huh? The FCC sez Techs are qualified to use 1.5 kW transmitters on VHF/UHF - are they wrong?

>(however, I also realize the unfortunate political reality that >taking amps away from those who currently are allowed >to use them will raise hell that will make the code/no-code >debate look pale by comparison ... therefore, I would, be >reluctant to propose such a thing, even though I think it's a >good idea ... too many folks just don't realize that there is >far more "bang for the buck" to be had with better antennas
>and better modulation and coding schemes than with brute
>force power)

Better antennas are not possible for many hams. Better modulation and coding schemes are often do not offer what many hams want (hence the popularity of SSB).

>>The point is to come up with something that isn't just another >> patch slapped on the old system.
>
>As I see it, given that Morse testing will go away completely
>after WRC-03, the system isn't so bad

I don't take it as a given, but that's beside the point. Main thing is to look beyond the code test thingie.

> ... current novices
>are declining by at least 5k/year, either through upgrades,
>going SK, or simply not renewing ...

We don't know if that's a linear function, though.

>adanceds have declined
>about 20k since "restructuring," through the same mechanisms

>... tech+'s have declined about 45k, presumably mostly through >upgrades to general, and those who don't upgrade will be >renewed as techs, but retain their (limited) HF privs ...

Same for those classes.
>
>What's the problem with this? Over time, through upgrades
>and attrition, we will have only 3 license classes ... some >might argue that 2 is sufficient (that's the norm in much of >the world and it doesn't seem to cause any problem), but >I'm OK with 3 ... particularly if the "power vs. technical >knowledge" thing were enacted, though I'm certainly not
>planning to propose it ...

Then we have a patchwork system for many years to come. New Techs continue to get full power licenses for just a 35 question test, while HF/MF remains primarily in the hands of Generals and above. Newcomers still face the "200 page book just to use an HT" problem W1RFI describes. And getting full privileges requires jumping through written test hoops just to get more spectrum.

The future deserves better.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6163. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 05:18:35 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2C99A1.890B548F@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29160
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Ed Cregger wrote:
>
> They can have it. Ten meters was trashed years ago.
>
> Ed Cregger
> nm2k@adoublerl.net
>
> "ROCK" <rock1@antisocial.com> wrote in message
> news:xxyW7.12069$uM.141230@rwcrnsc54...
> > Okay lets all just take it 1 Jan 2002 19:00hrs (est)
> everybody just meet on > > 28.500 and we will all have one big key down LoL, just > take it over and > > everybody will be happy.
> >

keyclownslappa@hotmail.com (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:

>DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....

>http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/

Just shows how clue less most cbers are.

6164. Re: What not to say to a cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 05:24:03 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGlobal.Net>
Message-ID: <TrcX7.16508$hB2.3917379607@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 29161
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

To all Concerned,
Rec.Radio.Cb has been plagued by a troll for over a year now. He has been forging people addys, making forged posts, doing harassing, accusing, vile, vulgar posts
using some 60+ screen nics at AOL,Verizon, @Home for the ISP.

Any post made with my screen name will be from SBCGlobal.net, anywhere else is a forge.

Landshark

--
Please note that any post that is not from SBCGlobal.net is a FORGE. This person has been a troll on Rec.Radio.CB for a long time now. Be aware of George WA3MO^

"Landshark" <S3Buell_SBCGlobailnet@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:773a0faf.0112281844.2faf845a@posting.google.com...
> I once was stopped with a transgender
> "girlfriend" on the Bay Bridge by a CHP
> cop and I was able to talk my way out of > it by telling the cop we were on our way
> to a costume party.
>
> Absolutely true,
>
> Landshark
>
> --
> My Best Wishes For A Very Happy New Year To Everyone
>
>
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:<a0i5np$mn1$5@dosa.alt.net>...
> > "LloydVFP" <LloydVFP@KV4FZmyHero.net> wrote in message
> > news:a0gq8q$f9r$0@pita.alt.net...
> > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > news:a0fchi$q4t$2@dosa.alt.net...
> > > >
> > > > "N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
> > > > news:I9yW7.125$8M.574732@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...

> > > > >
> > > > > Swift Rider <c_howard_in@disguise.com> wrote in Alt.Law-Enforcement...
> > > > >
> > > > > : The WORST Things to Say to a Police Officer:
> > > > > :
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 1. I can't reach my license unless you hold my beer.
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 2. Sorry, Officer, I didn't realize my radar detector wasn't plugge
>
> > in.
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 3. Aren't you the guy from the Village People?
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 4. Hey, you must've been doin' about 125 mph to keep up with me!
> > Good
> > job!
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 5. Excuse me. Is "stick up" hyphenated?
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 6. I though you had to be in relatively good physical condition
to > > be
> > a
> > > > > : police officer.
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 7. I was going to be a cop, but I decided to finish high school > > instead.
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 8. Bad cop! No donut!
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 9. You're not gonna check the trunk, are you?
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 10. Gee, that gut sure doesn't inspire confidence.
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 11. Didn't I see you get your butt kicked on "Cops"?
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 12. Wow, you look just like the guy in the picture on my > > girlfriend's
> > > > > : nightstand!
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 13. Is it true that people become cops because they are too dumb
to > > work
> > at
> > > > > : McDonald's?
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 14. I pay your salary!

> > > > > :
> > > > > : 15. So, uh, you on the take, or what?
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 16. Gee, Officer! That's terrific. The last officer only gave me
a > > warning,
> > > > > : too!
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 17. Do you know why you pulled me over? OK, just so one of us does.
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 18. I was trying to keep up with traffic. Yes, I know there is no
> > other
> > car
> > > > > : around me&emdash;that's how far ahead of me they are.
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 19. What do you mean. "Have I been drinking?" You're the trained > > specialist.
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 20. Well, when I reached down to pick up my bag of crack, my gun > > fell > > off
> > my
> > > > > : lap and got lodged between the brake pedal and the gas pedal, > > forcing
> > me
> > to
> > > > > : speed out of control.
> > > > > :
> > > > > : 21. Hey, is that a 9 mm? That's nothing compared to this .44 magnum.
> > > > > :
> > > > > > 22. It's not my car, BUT..... (care of Nightcrawler)
> > > > > >
> > > > > > 23. I know my rights!!!!
> > > >
> > > 24. KC8JBO, Wogie Wiseman, would say to the cop: Will you
> > > be my boyfriend? LOL LOL LOL LOL LOL
> > >
> > N0VFP, Llllardasssss lllllloyd has said to a cop, "Can I slurp your > > nutsacks to let me off these felonies?" See, Lllardasssss lllloyd has > > quite a criminal record, for buggering boys , cows, and pumpkins in and > > around Athens, AL.
> > >
> > This was just faxed from the Birminham Field office:
> > >
> > The Great Pumpkin
> > Birmingham Post-Herald
> > October 14, 2000

> >
> > Police arrested Lloyd A. Davies, a 27 year old white male, resident of > > Athens, Alabama in the Anderson Pumpkin patch at 11:38pm Friday. Davies > > will be charged with lewd and lascivious behavior, public indecency, > > and public intoxication at the Athens Municipal Courthouse Monday. The > > suspect allegedly stated that as he was passing a pumpkin patch, he > > decided to stop. "You know, a pumpkin is soft and squishy inside, and > > there was no one around here for miles. At least I thought there > > wasn't." he stated in a phone interview from the Athens Municipal > > Courthouse Jail.
> > Davies went on to state that he pulled over to the side of the road, > > picked out a pumpkin that he felt was appropriate to his purposes, cut
> > a hole in it, and proceeded to satisfy his alleged "need". "I guess I > > was just really into it, you know?" he commented with evident > > embarrassment. In the process, Torrance apparently failed to notice the > > Athens Municipal police car approaching and was unaware of his audience
> > until officer Brenda Taylor approached him. "It was an unusual > > situation, sure." said officer Taylor. "I walked up to (Davies) and > > he's... just working away at this pumpkin."
> > Taylor went on to describe what happened when she approached Davies. "I > > just went up and said, 'Excuse me sir, but do you realize that you are > > screwing a pumpkin?' He got real surprised as you'd expect, and then > > looked me straight in the face and said,
> > 'A pumpkin? Damn... is it midnight already?"

6165. Re: Did Tacoma do anything after they passed the law?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 05:31:32 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <UycX7.336599$5A3.129657557@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 29162

When I called The City of Tacoma the clerk told me it was because of 1 rouge CBer who was bleeding over peoples telephones, radios, TV, etc. he was asked to stop he did not so they took action by passing this bill. I imagine he was in the city that was the impression I got from her.

"Bill Sohl" <billsohl@mindspring.com> wrote in message news:a0j9sgtbg1@slb0.atl.mindspring.net...
> This has been asked, but never answered.
>
> Tacoma (Wash) passed the following city ordinance:
>
> "It is unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, to > (a) use citizens band radio equipment not authorized > by the Federal Communications Commission; (b) to > allow the unauthorized operation of citizens band
> radio equipment on a frequency between 24 MHz
> and 35 MHz. "
>
> Have the city fathers actually done anything with that > law...i.e. telling their police force to enforce the law > against someone?
>
> It has been suggested, and I strongly agree, that the > driving force behind this ordinance must have been one > or more local complaints regarding one or more > CB violators...BUT no one seems to know anything.
>
> On further examination of the law itself, part A seems > to be an oxymoron...to wit, how can a radio truly
> be a Citizens Band radio but not be authorized by > the FCC. Without the FCC "approval" the radio, whatever it > may be, isn't a CB radio at all. It may be capable of > being operated in the CB band or elsewhere between > 24-35MHz, but that sure doesn't make the radio itself
> a CB radio.
>
> Just some additional thoughts on the (obvious to me anyway)
> unenforceable and rather dumb law.
>
> Cheers & Happy New Year to all,
> Bill K2UNK
>
>
>

6166. Re: The actual Tacoma Law

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 05:39:16 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <8GcX7.336613$5A3.129663404@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 29163

Phil, I spoke to a clerk from Tacoma she told me the bill was passed as a result of one Cb operator bleeding TV's, Telephones etc,etc... He thumbed his nose at them supposedly I guess since the FCC did nothing about it they passed the ordinance.

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message news:cuvyxnansvbet.goxflk0.pminews@or.news.verio.net...
> On 22 Dec 2001 05:03:15 GMT, N2EY wrote:
>
> >One has to wonder what sparked the passage of such a law. Were > >residents experiencing TVI or other problems? Somebody had to have a > >reaosn to push this through.
>
> That was the reason that Sen. Feingold pushed the bill through
> The Congress giving away the FCC's jurisdiction to local entities.
>
> The local worthies of Beloit whined that the FCC wouldn't do > anything - most probably because it was audio rectification and/or > fundamental overload which the FCC told them - rightfully - was > curable only at the affected equipment.
>
> Supposedly that's what happened in Tacoma. We'd be interested in > hearing how this was applied to the "culprit" in question and what > the results were.
>
> "You can't make chicken stew out of chicken feathers."
>
> --
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane
>
>
>
>

6167. Re: What not to say to a cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 05:47:11 UTC
From: "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com>
Message-ID: <zNcX7.336628$5A3.129669039@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 29164
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

I say turn him in If what you are saying is true he will lose his ISP.
Right? You have all the proof all the forged posts can be traced to his isp so Turn him in Maybe the results will not be what you think they are. I say Go for it. The truth will set you free. Fagwhale

"Landshark" <S3Buell@SBCGlobal.Net> wrote in message news:TrcX7.16508$hB2.3917379607@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com...
> To all Concerned,
> Rec.Radio.Cb has been plagued by > a troll for over a year now. He has been > forging people addys, making forged posts,
> doing harassing, accusing, vile, vulgar posts
> using some 60+ screen nics at AOL,Verizon, > @Home for the ISP.
>
> Any post made with my screen name will be > from SBCGlobal.net, anywhere else is a forge.
>
>
> Landshark
>
>
> --
> Please note that any post that is not from > SBCGlobal.net is a FORGE. This person has > been a troll on Rec.Radio.CB for a long > time now. Be aware of George WA3MO^
>
>
> "Landshark" <S3Buell_SBCGlobailnet@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:773a0faf.0112281844.2faf845a@posting.google.com...
> > I once was stopped with a transgender
> > "girlfriend" on the Bay Bridge by a CHP
> > cop and I was able to talk my way out of > > it by telling the cop we were on our way
> > to a costume party.
> >
> > Absolutely true,
> >
> > Landshark
> >
> > --
> > My Best Wishes For A Very Happy New Year To Everyone

> >
> >
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:<a0i5np$mn1$5@dosa.alt.net>...
> > > "LloydVFP" <LloydVFP@KV4FZmyHero.net> wrote in message
> > > news:a0gq8q$f9r$0@pita.alt.net...
> > > > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> > > news:a0fchi$q4t$2@dosa.alt.net...
> > > > >
> > > > > "N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
> > > > > news:I9yW7.125$8M.574732@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
> > > > > >
> > > > > > Swift Rider <c_howard_in@disguise.com> wrote in > Alt.Law-Enforcement...
> > > > > >
> > > > > > : The WORST Things to Say to a Police Officer:
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 1. I can't reach my license unless you hold my beer.
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 2. Sorry, Officer, I didn't realize my radar detector wasn't > plugge
> > >
> > > in.
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 3. Aren't you the guy from the Village People?
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 4. Hey, you must've been doin' about 125 mph to keep up with me!
> > > Good
> > > job!
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 5. Excuse me. Is "stick up" hyphenated?
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 6. I though you had to be in relatively good physical condition
> to > > > be
> > > a
> > > > > > : police officer.
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 7. I was going to be a cop, but I decided to finish high school
> > > instead.
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 8. Bad cop! No donut!
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 9. You're not gonna check the trunk, are you?
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 10. Gee, that gut sure doesn't inspire confidence.

> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 11. Didn't I see you get your butt kicked on "Cops"?
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 12. Wow, you look just like the guy in the picture on my > > > girlfriend's
> > > > > > : nightstand!
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 13. Is it true that people become cops because they are too dumb
> to > > > work
> > > at
> > > > > > : McDonald's?
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 14. I pay your salary!
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 15. So, uh, you on the take, or what?
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 16. Gee, Officer! That's terrific. The last officer only gave me
> a > > > warning,
> > > > > > : too!
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 17. Do you know why you pulled me over? OK, just so one of us > does.
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 18. I was trying to keep up with traffic. Yes, I know there is > no
> > > other
> > > car
> > > > > > : around me&emdash;that's how far ahead of me they are.
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 19. What do you mean. "Have I been drinking?" You're the trained
> > > specialist.
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 20. Well, when I reached down to pick up my bag of crack, my gun > > > fell > > > off
> > > my
> > > > > > : lap and got lodged between the brake pedal and the gas pedal, > > > forcing
> > > me
> > > to
> > > > > > : speed out of control.
> > > > > > :
> > > > > > : 21. Hey, is that a 9 mm? That's nothing compared to this .44 > magnum.

> > > > > > :
> > > > > > 22. It's not my car, BUT..... (care of Nightcrawler)
> > > > > >
> > > > > > 23. I know my rights!!!!
> > > >
> > > > 24. KC8JBO, Wogie Wiseman, would say to the cop: Will you
> > > > be my boyfriend? LOL LOL LOL LOL LOL
> > >
> > > N0VFP, Llllardasssss lllllloyd has said to a cop, "Can I slurp your > > > nutsacks to let me off these felonies?" See, Lllardasssss lllloyd has > > > quite a criminal record, for buggering boys , cows, and pumpkins in
and
> > > around Athens, AL.
> > >
> > > This was just faxed from the Birminham Field office:
> > >
> > > The Great Pumpkin
> > > Birmingham Post-Herald
> > > October 14, 2000
> > >
> > > Police arrested Lloyd A. Davies, a 27 year old white male, resident of > > > Athens, Alabama in the Anderson Pumpkin patch at 11:38pm Friday.
Davies
> > > will be charged with lewd and lascivious behavior, public indecency, > > > and public intoxication at the Athens Municipal Courthouse Monday. The > > > suspect allegedly stated that as he was passing a pumpkin patch, he > > > decided to stop. "You know, a pumpkin is soft and squishy inside, and > > > there was no one around here for miles. At least I thought there > > > wasn't." he stated in a phone interview from the Athens Municipal > > > Courthouse Jail.
> > > Davies went on to state that he pulled over to the side of the road, > > > picked out a pumpkin that he felt was appropriate to his purposes, cut
> > > a hole in it, and proceeded to satisfy his alleged "need". "I guess I > > > was just really into it, you know?" he commented with evident > > > embarrassment. In the process, Torrance apparently failed to notice
the > > > Athens Municipal police car approaching and was unaware of his audience
> > > until officer Brenda Taylor approached him. "It was an unusual > > > situation, sure." said officer Taylor. "I walked up to (Davies) and > > > he's... just working away at this pumpkin."
> > > Taylor went on to describe what happened when she approached Davies.
"I > > > just went up and said, 'Excuse me sir, but do you realize that you are > > > screwing a pumpkin?' He got real surprised as you'd expect, and then > > > looked me straight in the face and said,
> > > 'A pumpkin? Damn... is it midnight already?"
>
>

6168. Re: What not to say to a cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 06:05:07 UTC
From: S3Buell_SBCGlobailnet@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <773a0faf.0112282205.62b4dad6@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29165
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Typical forgery by the AKC trouble maker club king. First I write what I think is a truthful post about my gay past hoping that my little buddy will get the hint and move on from that topic. Now he's forging me from an account that the addy looks almost the same as mine. BE ON THE ALERT. I have switched to this hotmail account in order
to confuse the little troll.
Now all he can do is imitate me. We'll see who is the real Landshark.
Here's a test: do a lookup on "Landshark"
in the usenet archives. You will find all kinds of flames, innacuracies and crap posted by me,
the real Landshark.

Landshark

--
Please note that any post that is not from
S3uell_SBCGlobalnet@hotmail.com is a FORGE.
The "other" Landshark has been a troll on Rec.Radio.CB for a long time now. Be aware of Saucer Men and jock straps.

6169. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 06:15:40 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0jna8hch1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29166

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011229000254.27168.00000726@mb-cb.aol.com...
> In article <3c2c8a9d_1@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
> writes:
>
> >"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> >news:20011227220325.01870.00000569@mb-fz.aol.com...
> >> In article
> ><XZpW7.242101$3d2.11769921@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
> >> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> writes:
> >>
> >> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
> >> >
> >> > If the > >> > Novice is promoted to this class by simply waiving element 2
> >then the
> >> > situation becomes much clearer.
> >> >
> >> Yup - but is it right to give away upgrades like that?
> >
> >Nope ...
>
> >> >Well, yes, it is because they have been law abiding hams for years,
> >possibly > >> >decades and granting them Element 2 is not going to ire anyone.
> >
> >No ... they haven't demonstrated the qualifications tested by the > >other
> >test element.
>
> OK, I'm gonna put on my devil's advocate hat here....
>
> What "qualifications" are needed to be an Extra that are not possessed by
an > Advanced? Forget about the VE rules and regs, because pre-VE-era Extras are not > retested in order to be VEs.
>
> The only difference between the operating privileges of an Extra and an > Advanced are a few subbands on 80, 40, 20 and 15. Extras get no additional > modes or power - the ONLY difference is those little subbands. What > "qualifications" are needed to operate on, say, 3524 that are not needed
to > operate on 3526?

So then are you suggesting that the former Advanced test should be the requirement for Extra...rather than the current Extra syllabus?

> Devil's advocate hat off.
> >
> >> It might upset those who recently took a test to upgrade. Didja know > >that both > >> the NCVEC and NCI OPPOSED the ARRL BoD idea to give a "free" upgrade
> >of Novices
> >> and Tech Pluses to General?
> >
> >That's true ... as NCI has stated all along, we are "No Code > >International," not "No Qualifications International."
>
> Shall we review how the written tests were cut in number and size again?

Not because of any request of NCI.

> >> The whole Extra written test! Today, a current Advanced has to take > >> a 50 question written to get the Extra - same as a General.
> >> Auto-upgrade would not go over big with some folks.
> >
> >And the more technical content (not that it's THAT hard, but it's > >reasonable for granting a license to operate and experiment)
> >is virtually all in the Extra test now ... the written elements for > >General are quite elementary ...
>
> Devil's advocate hat back on...
>
> WHY is that "technical content" essential for OPERATING privileges, or to > experiment? All US hams except Novices can use ALL authorized modes and > frequencies above 30 Mhz right now - the FCC thinks the written testing is > adequate. Current Generals, who have been tested even less than Advanceds,
can > experiment on every band and mode authorized to US hams - they just can't use > some subbands on 80/40/20/15.
>
> Devil's advocate hat off.
> >
> >Now who's proposing to "dumb down" amateur radio???
> >
> Not me.

Could'a fooled me by your devil's advocate scenarios.

(SNIP)
> >With the 20 wpm gone, I have little
> >sympathy for someone who isn't willing to take a relatively easy > >50 question written test to upgrade from adanced to extra.

>
> 20 wpm was relatively easy for many hams, and relatively tough for others.
Same
> for the written tests.

I doubt the equivalence of that comparison. I'd suggest more people can get up to speed for the written than with the 20wpm.
One can "study" the written in many forums (ARRL license manuals, QRZ online, etc.). Not so for practicing to pass 20 wpm.

> Sounds to me like you want to make everyone jump through the same written test
> hoops you did.

Surely you jest :-)

(SNIP)

> > why should anyone get a total freebie??? If they > >don't want to, or don't have the time to, upgrade, they should > >remain satisfied with what they have. There is no reason to > >change the system ... nobody should get privileges they aren't > >qualified for, nor should anyone lose privileges they've already > >earned.
>
> Sounds like what some folks were saying before the restructuring.
> Folks you vehemently disagree with.

That argument/analogy only holds IF you believe the current testing requirements for the written are unreasonable and/or unjustified.

(SNIP)

> I think he means that newcomers with quick memories, good health and lots
of > time go from zip to Extra in a short time, bypassing hams with much more
time
> in the ARS. Heck, that's what I did 30+ years ago.

That will always be the case for some people. It happens in business too.

(SNIP)

> >The FCC's system "knows" who is an "old" Tech Plus and who is not,
>
> They do? Then why not just hand out Generals to them?

Because many have NOT passed the General written. Most of those that have passed General (i.e. pre 1987) have upgraded already if they are still active and know about restructuring.

> >I don't see taking one's paperwork to a VE session to get the upgrade > >as being such an onerous thing ...
>
> If one is healthy and able to get there.

If someone is unhealthy truly housebound, I'm sure accomodations could be made if a request was made known.

> >> I mean three slots by mode type: CW, digital, analog voice or image.
> >For > >> example, 40 meters might be 7000-7075 CW, 7075-7150 digital, > >7150-7300 analog
> >> voice or image.
> >
> >More "balkanization" as I pointed out before ... a BAD idea as RULES.
>
> I think they're a good idea.

We'll agree to disagree then.

> I say having "subbands by mode type" gives the best compromise.
> >
> >> >What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???
> >>
> >> Offer an upgrade incentive.
> >
> >"Incentive Licensing" was a dismal failure ...
>
> How do you figure? It was all about increasing technical knowledge. I think it > was propelled by Sputnik fever.

If so it was 10 years in the making...Sputnick was 1957 as I recall.

> > philosophically,
> >I agree with prior comments that power limitations make more > >sense than mode limitations, since they are more solidly based > >on some reasonable relation to one's technical knowledge,
> >as demonstrated by passing the more difficult tests.
>
> Huh? The FCC sez Techs are qualified to use 1.5 kW transmitters on VHF/UHF -
> are they wrong?

I believe they are on that point. Personally (K2UNK opinion only...NOT an NCI position) I'd just as much see an overall power limit of 500 watts for any ham license. Many countries have limits lower than that.

> >>The point is to come up with something that isn't just another > >> patch slapped on the old system.
> >

> >As I see it, given that Morse testing will go away completely > >after WRC-03, the system isn't so bad
>
> I don't take it as a given, but that's beside the point. Main thing is to look > beyond the code test thingie.
>
> > ... current novices
> >are declining by at least 5k/year, either through upgrades, > >going SK, or simply not renewing ...
>
> We don't know if that's a linear function, though.

It will probably run that way for several years.

> >adanceds have declined
> >about 20k since "restructuring," through the same mechanisms
> >... tech+'s have declined about 45k, presumably mostly through > >upgrades to general, and those who don't upgrade will be > >renewed as techs, but retain their (limited) HF privs ...
>
> Same for those classes.

I looked at the Spumoni data today...my guess is that those declines and changes will continue for several years.

> >What's the problem with this? Over time, through upgrades
> >and attrition, we will have only 3 license classes ... some > >might argue that 2 is sufficient (that's the norm in much of > >the world and it doesn't seem to cause any problem), but > >I'm OK with 3 ... particularly if the "power vs. technical > >knowledge" thing were enacted, though I'm certainly not > >planning to propose it ...
>
> Then we have a patchwork system for many years to come. New Techs continue
to > get full power licenses for just a 35 question test, while HF/MF remains > primarily in the hands of Generals and above. Newcomers still face the "200
> page book just to use an HT" problem W1RFI describes. And getting full > privileges requires jumping through written test hoops just to get more > spectrum.
>
> The future deserves better.

Your suggestion then is?

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

6170. Re: The actual Tacoma Law

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 06:22:13 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0jnmgkik1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29168

> > On 22 Dec 2001 05:03:15 GMT, N2EY wrote:
> > >One has to wonder what sparked the passage of such a law. Were > > >residents experiencing TVI or other problems? Somebody had to have a > > >reaosn to push this through.

Phil wrote:
> > We'd be interested in hearing how this was > > applied to the "culprit" in question and what the results were.

"middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com> wrote in message news:8GcX7.336613$5A3.129663404@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com...
> Phil, I spoke to a clerk from Tacoma she told me the bill was passed as a > result of one Cb operator bleeding TV's, Telephones etc,etc... He thumbed > his nose at them supposedly I guess since the FCC did nothing about it
they > passed the ordinance.

Did the clerk offer any information as to what happened AFTER the ordinance passed?

Did the local police file charges against the CBer?

Just what did the local police do?

Really curious,
Bill K2UNK

> >
> > That was the reason that Sen. Feingold pushed the bill through
> > The Congress giving away the FCC's jurisdiction to local entities.
> >
> > The local worthies of Beloit whined that the FCC wouldn't do > > anything - most probably because it was audio rectification and/or > > fundamental overload which the FCC told them - rightfully - was > > curable only at the affected equipment.
> >

> >
> > "You can't make chicken stew out of chicken feathers."
> >
> > --
> > 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane
> >
> >
> >
> >
>

>

6171. What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 06:24:21 UTC
From: The Better Amateur Radio Federation <lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm>
Message-ID: <df31ce2887f82b3e1477ab770fb88e3b@spamfreenews.com>
Source record: 29167
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

We are a Ham Radio/SWL club for Straight, White, Americans. We have a new focus! We have left our past roots and have found a new purpose! To share with our white brothers and sisters!

Membership details will be posted soon! We will exchange Shortwave logs and Ham Radio info!

--
Lloyd Davies, N0VFP ICQ # 107841547
Chief of Communications
The Better Amateur Radio Federation
Ham radio for Straight, White, Americans!
http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61

6172. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 06:52:43 UTC
From: 91bxuc2hvc8e001@sneakemail.com
Message-ID: <Xns918612FF042FJimnospamcom@24.253.156.38>
Source record: 29169
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"The Better Amateur Radio Federation"
<lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm> wrote in news:df31ce2887f82b3e1477ab770fb88e3b@spamfreenews.com:

> What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?
>
> We are a Ham Radio/SWL club for Straight, White, Americans. We have a > new focus! We have left our past roots and have found a new purpose!
> To share with our white brothers and sisters!
>
> Membership details will be posted soon! We will exchange Shortwave > logs and Ham Radio info!
>
>
>
>
>
>
> --
> Lloyd Davies, N0VFP ICQ # 107841547
> Chief of Communications
> The Better Amateur Radio Federation
> Ham radio for Straight, White, Americans!
> http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61
>
>
>
>

Not to mention stalking women on aol... hahaha

This document has not been altered, i obtained it, and simply reposted this pathetic internet romance? hahahah

Subj: Check out Looking for Alabama Gal
Date: 12/7/00 6:52:53 PM Central Standard Time
From: Sohole

Click here: Looking for Alabama Gal a added bonus for aol users click above after you read the lloyd files

here for your pleasure
THE LLOYD FILES
lloyd trys to talk him up sum !

more to come chapter one:

Height: 5' 6"
Body Style: Average

Race/Ethnicity: White (White American) Religion: Christian (Baptist)

Education: Some College Occupation: Customer Support Income: Prefer not to say

Marital Status: Single Has Children: No
Wants Children: Yes

Drinking: Drink Occasionally
Smoking: Don't Smoke

Dating Distance Range: 150 Miles

ubj: Re: ????
Date: 11/29/00 11:54:32 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

no i did not block you. Your name does not show up. I've been tired and not feeling well the last few days. Hello and I'm glad you had a good time. As far Christmas goes, I'm afraid I am not going to be able to come down. I have other plans.

Lloyd
Subj: Re: did you get my picture?
Date: 11/18/00 11:11:18 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

Thanks for your picture. you look very pretty and professional. I have had a long day of work today. I have to work tomorrow and then get packed up to head to iowa. I'll be there for about a week over Thanksgiving. Means I'll be here by myself for Christmas. I'm tired tonite. I've had alot on my mind. More than usaual.

Take care and have a good weekend,

Lloyd
ubj: did you get my picture?
Date: 11/16/00 1:30:29 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

Did it come through all right? I just wanted to know. Are you going to send me yours?

Lloyd Subj: Here they are
Date: 11/15/00 4:13:20 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

File: lloyd1.jpg (113037 bytes)
DL Time (24000 bps): < 1 minute

Here are some pictures of me like I promised. I dont know how well they came out, but thgey seem ok. I used my Kodak digital camera. It's a simple camera.

Lloyd

Please send me your picture please.

Subj: Re: ????
Date: 11/29/00 11:54:32 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

no i did not block you. Your name does not show up. I've been tired and
not feeling well the last few days.

Subj: Missed you tonite
Date: 11/14/00 12:12:53 AM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

I was thinking about you tonite. I see you got my mail today. you didnt write me back.

Lloyd

ubj: How are you?
Date: 11/13/00 12:14:19 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

Did you have a good weekend? Had to work all weekend. I'm getting ready
to visit my Mom next week in Iowa. I'll be gone all next week for Thanksgiving.

You got Thanksgiving plans? You'll probably goto warm Florida! Iowa gets very cold this time of year.

I'm gonna get my picture taken this week to send to you. I have a digital camera. I'll send it as soon as I get it taken.

Are you still in School? I did'nt know If you were or not.

Love,

Lloyd

Subj: Re: Hello
Date: 11/11/00 12:21:44 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

I dont have one done of me yet, But i will get one for you this next week.
Are you trying to keep me in suspense? Are you that pretty that my computer would break?

I'm not real shy, I just like to keep one thing at a time. My SN is my Ham Radio call sign.

I hope you are feeling better and that you were thinking of me this week. I did not vote, I did not get register in time. I would have voted for Bush.

Lloyd Davies

Subj: Hello
Date: 11/7/00 11:40:47 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

Have'nt heard from you. Been busy? I have been working alot. So, how are things going? Did you get a picture to send me yet? I was just wondering.

Lloyd

ubj: Missed you today
Date: 11/5/00 3:58:58 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

I've been on most of the Afternoon. Hope you are doing OK. Well, I have to work tonight at my job. But, I should be off at 10pm or after.

Lloyd

Subj: where are you tonite?
Date: 11/4/00 10:36:02 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

I've been on online all nite where have you been? I've been watching TV tonite. Hope you have a good weekend.

Ps, I think I may have missed you telling me what you look like.

Lloyd

Subj: Re: re : AOL love
Date: 11/4/00 6:02:14 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

File: truck1.ZIP (199585 bytes)
DL Time (24000 bps): < 2 minutes

Here are a couple of pictures of my truck. Sorry I don't have a picture of myself.
They may take a while to download. Will you be online tonight? I'm gonna be on off and on. Let's chat sweetheart.

Lloyd
Subj: Re: re : AOL love
Date: 11/4/00 4:59:03 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

Thanks for your response. What's going on in Jan? I have a picture of my pickup truck, 1997 S-10. Would you like to see it? I really like it a lot.

Take care,

Lloyd

Subj: Re: re : AOL love
Date: 11/4/00 2:47:44 PM Central Standard Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

How are you?

I'm sorry I have not had time to write you back. I've been working a lot right now. I am currently trying to get some more computer courses. For starters, I have brown hair, brown eyes. I have a few extra pounds, but been trying get to them off. I see you are college educated. I like that in a girl. I once dated a gal once, who all she wanted to do was sit at home and watch TV. Not my kind of gal! I have a computer education, and trying to get my A+ certification. I would make a good amount of money if I could get it passed.

I'll be taking an online course.

Well, I write you later

Lloyd

Subj: Re: re : AOL love
Date: 10/22/00 1:45:22 PM Central Daylight Time
From: N0VFP
To: Sohole

hello,

I'm sorry i dont even know who you are.

Do you have a picture for starters?

Lloyd
[end reposts]

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA...

6173. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 11:27:26 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112290327.1f3a5cdb@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29170

"Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> wrote in message
news:<1RmW7.198773$WW.11506255@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> "Brian Kelly" <kelly@dvol.com> wrote
>
> > If bragging rights is the name of the game then what the hell, thee me
> > and gazillions of others around here did the 20wpm thing at our > > neigborhood FCC offices which the lightweights around here will never > > do.
>
> Gazillions??? Stick to the facts. All of you people who did do the 20 wpm > thing at your neighborhood FCC offices had the proclivity and predilection > to accomplish morse code at a reasonably rapid rate and you should be > commended for that. Although, just as you or your buddy will only attain a > certain speed and will never approach the speed operators who break records > of > 60 wpm. There are plenty of people who because of their own proclivity > and predilection will never be able to approach 12 wpm.
>
Translation: "Stroke my "proclivities & predilictions", I doan wanna have to do the work involved to even do 13wpm to get on the bands, whine, whine." And the FCC sez "Oh you pore babies, sure, no problem, equal opportunity for everybody is the big IN thing, so now it's 5wpm"
>
A la the public education disaster in this country.
>

> The ARS is full of operators selected from society who could, in fact, > attain those speeds. This was a good thing in the past when CW operators > were needed throughout the services but these days it's just flat out not > needed. The skills sets needed has shifted. Deal with it.
>
Bullshit. I didn't get into ham radio to become a commercial cw operator and I don't know anybody who did. The usefulness of cw hasn't "shifted" a damned bit in the near half century I've been beeping below the phone bands. Ya can either copy the stuff at a workable speed and have the choice of running either phone or cw or ya stick yourself with just motormouthing and keyboarding. No skin off my teeth believe me, I don't need any more QRM.
>
>
>
> When you call people lightweights are you REALLY in the belief that you are > superior?
>
>

No, I'm just average. I don't approve of dropping the bar to feed the "proclivity and predilections" of the below-average. Hasn't worked in any other sector of society and it ain't gonna work in ham radio.
>
>
>You are when it comes to beeping fast... granted... but that's as > far as it goes.
>
>
Case in point: Some months ago a bunch of us RRAPers, a mix of both NCTAs and PCTAs decided to put our radios, fists and ears where our mouths were and got together on 7.037 for a cw roundtable. We took RRAP to the airwaves Gawd forbid. I was in it with a lousy little underdash TS-50 mobile xcvr and some wire thru some trees. Everybody worked everybody, Texas to Minnesota, Philly to California solid copy all the way. Get back to me when you pull any such thing off on 40m SSB.
>
>
Ayup. CW is no longer "useful". Uh-huh.
>
>
Deal with it.
>
w3rv

6174. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 12:46:07 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0kjoe$g0a$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29176
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

Lllllllardasssssss Lllllllllloyd
"The Better Amateur Radio Federation"
<lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm> wrote in message news:df31ce2887f82b3e1477ab770fb88e3b@spamfreenews.com...
> What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Usenet whipping boys.

> We are a Ham Radio/SWL club for Straight, White, Americans.

But you're not straight, Llllllardaasssss Lllllllloyd..you're a FAGGOT.

> We have a new focus!
> We have left our past roots and have found a new purpose! To share

Translation: Lllllllardasssssssss Lllllloyd "invented this NEW BARF" since the old BARF didn't have much to do with him.

> with our white brothers and sisters!

Translation: Llllloneely Llllllardasssssssss Lllllllloyd desperately want s to be a part of something, anything.

> Membership details will be posted soon! We will exchange Shortwave logs
and > Ham Radio info!

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHHAHAHAHAHAHAHA....go sell those parts at the flea market, Lllllllardasssssss lllllllllllloyd.

6175. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 13:07:20 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0kf2t017ee@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29171

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011228235150.13985.00002141@mb-md.aol.com...

> Greetings All:
>
> To those who have been insisting that the FCC has the best interests > of the ARS at heart, I offer the following. I seems like "Restructuring" > isn't the only way they had in mind to put an end to our tomfoolery on > all this valuable RF real estate. Now they're saying licensed radio > amateurs don't have any need to establish a station in our own homes.
> Get ready to lose some more spectrum -- and soon! Read it and weep...
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT

I think you may be reading more into this than what is actually there.
Besides, you may not be able to put up a 200 foot tower with a TH6DXX, but there are many ways to install a hidden antenna, or even put up a temporary antenna if you work only contests.
Of course there is another option - MOVE!

6176. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 13:14:24 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0kfg5018o1@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29172

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2D2657.F9DA7EE4@townsqr.com...
>
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > Dick Carroll wrote:
> > > What you are
> > > is a demonstration of one thing that ham radio should not be - lewd.
> >
> > So Dick thinks that female anatomy is lewd.
>
> Offensive forcing of the sexual parts of the anatomy on others or the > public at large is lewd, by either sex, and is so codified under law
almost > everywhere. Minor violations such as this are generally viewed as Kim's callsign violates the law? What bodily orifice did you pull that one out of?

> tasteless, trashy, clueless, the result of the lack of decent upbringing, > or the lack of any serious hint of a clue. Ugly, offensive behavior, in > short.

Some of us find your behavior ugly and offensive.

6177. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 13:19:08 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0kfp2019ab@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29173

"Jon Bloom" <jbloom@arrl.org> wrote in message
news:pan.2001.12.28.23.27.37.779643.30082@arrl.org...

> It's a classic red herring. Rather than debate the actual issue, you say > that others are trying to suppress the debate itself. Frequently resorted > to when one is unable to frame a meaningful argument in support of an > untenable position.
>
> Jon

Usenet is not a high school debate team. There are no rules, and no one is required to engage in meaningful arguments. It is much better to compare it to Hyde Park in London, where you can bring your soapbox and talk about anything you want, if you don't mind being heckled.

6178. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 13:42:57 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0kh5m01c8k@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29175

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2D275C.DA030237@townsqr.com...

You, Dick, are objectively a hypocrite. You write this response...

> Either you are objectively an idiot or you are not. Seems to me you are.

and in another, you wrote this...

>> It doesn't matter unless you are trying to mimic "1984"'s thought >> police
>
> OM you're running just ahead of the idiot police.

I could go on, but the real gem is this...

>> You're hilarious, Dick. How paranoid are you of the world around you?
>
> A one-liner from you simply means you have no valid response.

Interesting. Your insults and ad hominem attacks are "valid responses" to reasonable statements, and Kim's one liner is not. I can't wait to see what kind of pathetic excuse you have for this one.

6179. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 13:53:49 UTC
From: Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
Message-ID: <pan.2001.12.29.08.53.49.279212.9222@arrl.org>
Source record: 29174

On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 08:19:08 -0500, Krell wrote:
>
> Usenet is not a high school debate team. There are no rules, and no one > is required to engage in meaningful arguments.

Neither is anyone precluded from doing so -- nor from pointing out when someone else isn't doing so.

> It is much better to > compare it to Hyde Park in London, where you can bring your soapbox and > talk about anything you want, if you don't mind being heckled.

Not all newsgroups are like that, although this one certainly is!

Jon

6180. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 14:35:25 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2dd5dd_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29177

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2D275C.DA030237@townsqr.com...
>
> > Kim's motives have absolutely nothing to do with whether > > Kim's callsign is trashy.
>
> Only that her trashy motives led her to request a trashty callsign.
>

Hey, Dick? Could you give me a clue as to what "trashy motives" you'd be thinking of? What's your motivation for believing it?

Kim W5TIT

6181. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 14:37:31 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2dd65b_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29178

```
"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C2D2920.9C5F5C61@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> > "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> > news:3C2CF736.8E2CFB40@townsqr.com...
> > >
> > >
> > > Kim-W5TIT wrote
> > >
> > > >Because I don't agree with people who think my callsign
> > >
> > > > is tacky or vulgar/whatever, it is their expectation that I am still
to > > live
> > > > "up" (as they put it) to their standards. If I don't wave their flag, I > > am > > > > public enemy number one.
> > >
> > > More of your defective thought process at work. No one "expects"
> > anything at > > > all of you. If you were not who and what you are, you wouldn't have chosen
> > that > > > callsign. Do not confuse the criticism with anyone's expectations.
What
> > you are
> > > is a demonstration of one thing that ham radio should not be - lewd.
By
> > your > > > own amission, you chose your callsign for lewd reasons. Sin ce gthe most > > public
> > > part of a ham radio operator is his callsign, you clearly chose to place > > > lewdness at the fore of your ham radio experience. Tho you didn't describe
> > it > > > that way, you didn't need to, the implication was more than clear in your > > > statements.
```

> > > Lewdness has no place in ham radio, otherwise Riley wouldn't consider
you
> > to be > > > like the others in ham radio who are putting the service "one step closer
> > to > > > extinction". End of story.
> > >
> >
> > You're hilarious, Dick. How paranoid are you of the world around you?
>
> A one-liner from you simply means you have no valid response.
>
> Paranoid? Not very, but enough that I sure don't intend to stand there and let > some > clown take me out "on my own terms":...
>

No, a one-line response from me generally (not always) means something was funny, or that something was just not worth much more. I love the way you answer the question about being paranoid. It sounds along the same lines as, "I'm not nuts, it's the rest of the world."

Kim W5TIT
Was that response better for you?

6182. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 14:52:42 UTC
From: John Kimball <johnkimb@hotmail.com> Message-ID: <a0klbdjgq0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29179
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.shortwave,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,alt.flamenet,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 17:56:09 -0500, "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in Message id: <a0j3i0aic2@dosa.alt.net>:

>Homoxsexual pedophile pervert
>"Joanie" <alt.flame@flameawayroger.com> wrote in message
>news:a0i90u$4kn$0@pita.alt.net...
>> > >
>> > >> Why were you kicked out of the Air Force Roger?
>> > >>
>> > >> See photo of KC8JBO and his pointed circus boy
>> > >>head here: www.angelfire.com/al/sj61 courtesy of the >> > >>BARF chief of communications.
>> > >>
>> > >
>> > > Man, that's one ugly fucking redneck. I almost feel sorry for 8L0J08.
>> > > Almost. I bet that mustache is the pubic hair from his mothers twat.
>
>No, it's from YOUR mommy's twat.

Well, that proves that the picture is indeed 8L0J08.
BWAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!!!!

>> > Damn, I was beaten to the punch. I wanted to be the first to come up >> > with a photo of Woger. Oh well. I'll have one of his mommie's house in a >> > few days. By all reports it's a beat up shack.
>> >
>> The photo is about 20 years old.
>
>BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA Prove it.

You just did, you perennial fuckup. See above.

>>Roger tried to pass himself off as looking younger.
>
>While "Joanie" tries to pass himself off on the liberty net as straight.
>BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA...over 50 years old and never been >married....bwhahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha.then ol' Steve Turdeater goes up >to Richland, OH and fucks his momma up the ass.
>
>>Truth is Roger is fat now, very fat, with
>
><guffaw> Suuuuure I am, FATASS.
>
>

>> gray hair and looks beyond his years from smoking dope.
>
>Bwhahahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha.. that why I got carded a few weeks ago
>when I bought some beer?

Probably because you're only 4"11".

>> Marshall county property tax records are on line and show the >> house Roger lives in is owned by his mother and only his mother,
>
>BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA Marshall county tax records are not >on line, you fucking imbecile.

How does it feel to be so outed, 8L0J08?

--
"For sale - Taliban rifles. Only dropped once."
Alan Gore in adfp

6183. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:03:03 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011229100303.09102.00000817@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29180

In article <3C26577F.DBD75DA7@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>Dave Heil wrote:
>> You are the who pointed out that the guy gets lost. Maybe it'd be >> easier for him to ride in or follow the other vehicle....unless the >> other guys make him bring up the rear.
>
>The beauty of ham radio is that there needs be no meeting place or >meeting time or even a campsite picked out. Everyone gets on a >mountaintop repeater and decides where to camp out.

And anyone with a suitable receiver can just listen and hear what the group decides.

>Some of the >Phoenix area mountaintop repeaters cover 1000 square miles.
>
That's pretty poor coverage. 1000 square miles is a circle with radius of less than 18 miles.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6184. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:06:31 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2ddd1c_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29181

```
"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:9IaX7.201522$WW.11754880@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
> "Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
> news:3C2D24DD.BF36ED05@townsqr.com...
> >
> >
> > Richard McCollum wrote:
> >
> > > "Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
> > >
> news:DBD8DA82FE84A6E4.97AE7ECBE90C07F9.80DB367B6488B232@lp.airnews.net...
> > > > On 28 Dec 2001 13:02:47 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:
> > > >
> > > I think it far more likely the community pleads de minimus. While
> this
> > > call is a crime it is a common crime and one of a category often > > > encountered. Generic Look at me, I'm Sandra Dee.
> > >
> > > Sane people generally realize that they are not about to educate idiot > > > drivers with any sort of retaliation and are not about to instill > taste in > > > the terminally tasteless so we take Carl Jung's advice and cultivate
> our > > > little garden and save a corner of the world.
> >
> > True, but allowing them a free pass only exacerbates their > cluelessness, even > > allows them to think it's even right since "no one is complaining, so > what's > > your problem?"
>
> It might be more effective if we simply ignored it.
>

And, we'll all make mental notes of what a wonderful job you've been doing of ignoring this thread and posting to it the last several days.

>
> Or better yet, ask > why she selected W as opposed to K or N thereby shifting the discussion to > an unexpected part of the call sign.
>
```

OHGAWD, there are therapy sessions for what you have, Dick M. OK, since you haven't read the many posts on the story, here you go:

When I originally decided to apply for my call, I did want the K prefix. BUT, a gentleman in Florida had K5TIT. It seems to me that this was somewhere around two(?) years ago. Well, when I found out that a man had a requested suffix with 'TIT', I sent him an email and asked him, nicely and respectfully, why a man had that callsign. He wrote a very nice email back stating that he'd wanted K5TET, to commemorate the Tet Offensive in Viet Nam, but that when he'd tried for it, it was taken. So, he got K5TIT. And, to add to the story, just this year (I think) or maybe late last year, Michael sent me an email and said he was relinquishing K5TIT, so that makes it available in two years, or a little less now. That's the story.

Now, maybe you can explain to me why a 'W' is a "distraction" over the N or the K prefix. That one just goes way beyond my ability to understand. Oh, the reason I didn't get N5TIT, which was available when I applied, was there was somewhat of an 'N5' club on the repeater at the time and, for reasons I won't mention here, I did not want to have them thinking I was "following" them. We were having differences.

>
> You say 'clueless' while I think it is a post-pubescent call for > attention. Neither one of us is going to ever know for sure but the > search for identity thru call signs, toys, etc. seems to be spreading thru > a lot of the world.
>

Yeah, and you seem to have some baggage you are carrying around in that respect, Dick M.

>
> Seen what is done to head and tail lites, not to > mention the ubiquitous 'virginity lamps' below the bumper. Had a guy with > red front turn signals pull into traffic last week. That will definitely > wake you up on a winter's day.
>

Not that I support the idiots with all the car affects running around, but different does get your attention, doesn't it?

>
> Want to see a bozo pissed off? One of the state Patrolmen, presumably > after the obligatory drug search, ticketed one of these big 4x4 monster > trucks for failure to have a run-under bar in back and irregular height > head lamps. I have had the feeling that Omaha could knock 5 a year off > the fatality rate by simply going on bozo patrol and just having a hell of > a good time.
>

I agree with you. If the cops would go on what you call bozo-patrol (I like that) the revenue generated could probably fix every pot hole in the city and black top all dirt roads.

>
> It was, BTW, the run-under bar the owner most objected to;
> apparently the truck would be less kewl.
>

Oh, like you never wanted to be cool, huh?

>
> Whatever. I am freaking tired of the whole verstunken issue.
>
> Dick
>

Then you'll not be posting anymore to the thread you are so successfully ignoring?

Kim W5TIT

6185. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:07:24 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2ddd4e_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29182

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message news:3C2D2D16.91478AF2@townsqr.com...
>
>
> Richard McCollum wrote:
>
>
> . It was, BTW, the run-under bar the owner most objected to;
>
> > apparently the truck would be less kewl.
>
> .
> If ur not kewl today, you're NOT.
>
>
> >
> > Whatever. I am freaking tired of the whole verstunken issue.
>
> Agree wholly here. Bozo patrol on rrap is not too productive.
>

Take a look in the mirror, Dick C. There's a big bust waiting for you
there.

Kim W5TIT

6186. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:08:50 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2dddb1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29184

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2D3A9C.D2CB9E74@IEEE.org...
> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > Offensive forcing of the sexual parts of the anatomy on others or the > > public at large is lewd, by either sex, and is so codified under law almost > > everywhere.
>
> And Kim has not done that. All Kim has done is request a cute callsign.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Oh, CECIL!!! Now, you've gone and done it. Dick's having some kind of cyber-paranoid hallucination and enjoying it, then you go and burst his ever loving...er, bubble(?)

;) Kim W5TIT

6187. Re: CBERS CONSIDER 28 MHZ AS "CB"

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:15:07 UTC
From: Train <cbmods@optonlineNOSPAM.com>
Message-ID: <%5lX7.234941$bs2.43155072@news02.optonline.net>
Source record: 29183
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.swap

Get a clue........When it's cross posted like this thread is.....It's TROLL fodder!
Train
"JR" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C2C99A1.890B548F@mailcity.net...
>
>
> Ed Cregger wrote:
> >
> > They can have it. Ten meters was trashed years ago.
> >
> > Ed Cregger
> > nm2k@adoublerl.net
> >
> > "ROCK" <rock1@antisocial.com> wrote in message
> > news:xxyW7.12069$uM.141230@rwcrnsc54...
> > > Okay lets all just take it 1 Jan 2002 19:00hrs (est)
> > everybody just meet on > > > 28.500 and we will all have one big key down LoL, just > > take it over and > > > everybody will be happy.
> > >
>
> keyclownslappa@hotmail.com (IllegalCBersMustGO) wrote:
>
> >DON'T BELIEVE ME? CHECK OUT THE FREQUENCY CHART ON THIS CB PAGE.....
>
> >http://www.geocities.com/ssb27mhz/
>
> Just shows how clue less most cbers are.

6188. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:19:53 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2de03b_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29185

"Jon Bloom" <jbloom@arrl.org> wrote in message news:pan.2001.12.28.23.15.23.125581.30082@arrl.org...
>
> Are you > finding less rare DX because of Kim's call sign?
>
> Jon

heh heh. That reminds of this. When I first got my new Radio Shack 10M rig, I spent the one of the first weekends with it on the air mobile on 10M. There were 2 or 3 different DX pileups and I can't, for the life of me, ever remember what they were. In fact, one was so rare that my DX-loving friend freaked when I told him the callsign--and he was quite surprised the station had been on 10M.

At any rate, the thing I was proudest about that radio was that, with only 25 watt output, and mobile, in 2 instances I got instant callback from the DX-station, with a QST request to everyone to please stand by and let him hear the "Tango India Tango" station. He was giggling his butt off when he asked for confirmation. He also asked for a QSL card; and I ashamedly promised one, but have never done it yet. Anyway, on the third instance, first call and I got him. Now, more than that I got through because of my callsign--what that proved to me was that 25 watts mobile is probably quite sufficient for DXing or contesting, er, if you've got the right callsign...LOL

Personal note to self: New Year's Resolution is to absolutely get my QSL card designed so I can get on 10M and begin sending them out. I design QSL cards for folks, but have never even done my own.

Kim W5TIT

6189. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:22:21 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2de0cf$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29186

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011228235143.13985.00002130@mb-md.aol.com...
> In article <3C29F36A.2B0A7A03@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >
> >Richard McCollum wrote:
> >> There is > >> no basic conflict in welcoming those who pass the rules currently in > >> effect while not having a lot of use for the rules currently in effect;
> >
> >Unfortunately, Larry is not that way. He has bitched loud and long > >about post-restructuring extras not deserving their privileges.
>
> Cecil:
>
> I've never stated that post-Restructuring Extras do not "deserve" > their privileges -- only that they haven't had to make as much of an > effort to learn the useful knowledge and skills that were required > under the superior pre-Restructuring licensing system.
>

Shhh, Shhh, Cecil. It's the eggnog and rum.

ROFLMAO...Kim W5TIT
(See, Dick C.? That's a one liner because I think was Larry said is funny).

6190. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:33:53 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2de385_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29188

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011228235145.13985.00002132@mb-md.aol.com...
> In article
<A17D53CE133D6D39.5F6E437A9BAFA70A.F74698D962F766B7@lp.airnews.net>,
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> >
> > Maybe that's the entire problem, Dave.
> >
> > You, Dick, and Larry all feel that a woman should behave > >differently than a man in public (and probably in private as well) and > >that she has an obligation to appear demure, innocent, and moral. When > >a woman demonstrates that she is as much a whole person as a man is
> >and isn't willing to defer to your "superior" male values, you go ape > >and can't allow her decisions to go unchallenged.
>
> Rick:
>
> If there were any other YL hams in this newsgroup, it is entirely > likely that at least one of them would take offense to Kim's call > sign, and state so in this thread.
>

Larry: there've been three women I can think of that have posted to this newsgroup since I've been posting. Two of them thought my callsign was fine. I don't think the other ever said a word about it. Well, not on the newsgroup anyway. She sent me a private email. One of them was the gal who posts in here every once in a while and is blind, I think.

>
> This has nothing to do with Kim
> being a woman demonstrating that she is a "whole person" -- as if > any of us thought women wern't "whole" people in the first place.
>

I think it has more to do with it, for you, than you realize Larry. Surely you don't fixate yourself on my callsign just for the visual effects.

>
> However, don't worry -- I'm sure your liberal, feminist views were > noted by Kim, and I'm sure you have earned her friendship -- although
> I can't understand why anyone would want it!
>

Actually, I can't stand most feminists. I think they're a bunch of whiney rich brats that need validation other than good sex.

> >
> > It isn't a question of Kim's call sign bothering you--it's > >just that you don't think she knows her place!
>
> I can't speak for Dick or Dave, but I, for one, could care less about > Kim's so-called "place" and whether or not she knows it.
>

The phrase, Larry, just for your future reference, is that you couldn't care less. That implies you are caring about as little as you possibly can.
Or, do you care more than you wish you did.

>
> All I know
> is that she selected a call sign which is potentially harmful to the > positive image of the ARS -- and since she's a participant of this > newsgroup, she has been called to task because of it.
>

I love how the argument "potentially" has come into play. That's hilarious.
I could also "potentially" kill someone the next time I get in a vehicle, Larry. Shall I refrain from driving. In fact, with all the "potentials" in life, we may as well just hit the easy chair.

>
> After a couple > of thousand postings here and on the real "...one step closer to > extinction" thread (it has only 3 dots in the ellipsis -- not four),
>

OHMYGAWD...looky, now there's a REAL and FAKE thread. ROFLMAO.

>
> she
> as still failed to adequately defend her decision to choose that > call sign in anything like a convincing manner, thus proving that > she only did it to call attention to herself by means of calling > attention to her secondary sexual characteristics.
>

Ummm, they are my primary sexual characteristics, Larry, thank you very much. And, there is no need for defense of my callsign. Only the argument against that there are people who have attitudes like yours.

>
> This demonstrates > extremely bad taste and poor judgment on her part, and does not > create a positive image for YL hams, or women in general.
>

Awwwwww, is one of your whiney babes telling you all about how it's all my fault that she is the way she is? Oh yeah, that's right, you have no babes.

>
> I am
> still unable to understand why she would do this, if not to > proactively demonstrate her contempt for her fellow radio amateurs.
> Whatever "place" Kim may have in the world, it certainly isn't > among radio amateurs who consider themselves to be intelligent,
> decent, respectable radio amateurs who are concerned with > putting forth a positive public image.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

No, Larry, my place in the world is where ever there are real decent people.
You are on your part of the bands, and I am on mine, at any given point.
And, I will move if I ever hear your call, believe me. :o

Kim W5TIT

6191. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:41:48 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0koolsrf3@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29189
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"The Better Amateur Radio Federation" <Lloyd@msn.nospammmmm> wrote in message news:2887f82b3e1477ab770fb88e3@taranews.net...
>
> On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 06:52:43 GMT, Jim <91bxuc2hvc8e001@sneakemail.com>
wrote:
> : "The Better Amateur Radio Federation"
> : <lloyd_vfp.KV4FZliveson@msn.com.no.spammmmm> wrote in
> : news:df31ce2887f82b3e1477ab770fb88e3b@spamfreenews.com:
> : pathetic internet romance? hahahah
>
> You got that lie from Liar Wiseman, faggot boy.
>
> second complaint registered and some hackers told about your cable IP.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA

The reason Lllardasssss Llllloyd's "romance " wasn't successful is because he's GAY.

6192. Re: I made it home alive

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:54:20 UTC
From: WebDoc REACT Unit #602 <arcweb@bnnorth.net>
Message-ID: <IkIX7.13797$_K.1687092@cletus.bright.net>
Source record: 29187

Rick Adams wrote in message ...
> Makes sense.
>
> BTW, we must live fairly near each other--I'm in Southcentral
>Michigan a little North of the Ohio line and, also, about 40-50 >minutes from Toledo.
>
> Rick
>
>--
>
>Rick Adams--KE8HH
>adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net
>
>"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
>will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."
>
>Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

I live 18 miles from Bowling Green Oh. Almost straight south of Adrian Mi.

Keith Hosman

6193. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 15:59:53 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <ZLIX7.245310$3d2.12076142@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29190

Update on the Buffalo area: they received over SEVEN FEET of snow.
Rochester and some surrounding towns have sent snowplows to Buffalo to help.
Be glad you weren't stuck there! (they don't need radios, they need snow removal equipment!)

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim AA2QA

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011228205921.13985.00002119@mb-md.aol.com...
> In article <3c271712_2@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
> writes:
>
> >
> >In the spirit of the holiday season (whatever your > >religious persuasion), I'd like to take this opportunity
> >to sincerely convey wishes for a happy holiday
> >season and a prosperous new year to you, on behalf > >of both myself and the entire Board of Directors and > >membership of No Code International.
> >
>
> Carl:
>
> Thank you. I just returned from an excellent Christmas with my > family up in Buffalo; had to drive thru a blizaard this morning to > get out of town! I hope you and all at NCI had a wonderful > holiday season, and have a very safe and happy new year!
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

6194. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:03:28 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DE950.ECB04D27@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29191

```
Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >Larry, you electronically stalked Ed until he gave up on this newsgroup.
> >Now you are electronically stalking Kim. Why do you get so much pleasure > >from sadistically verbally assaulting your fellow hams?
>
> You are now electronically stalking me and sadistically accusing > me of doing things I have not done.

Nope, I'm not, Larry. I'm merely relating what I have observed on this newsgroup.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

6195. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:05:56 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DE9E4.C003F69A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29192

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> This thread isn't about me, Dick, Dave, or anyone else being an > arbiter of morality. It's about the poor judgement of one ham ...

If what you judge to be poor judgment is not being an arbiter of morality, pray tell, what is it? I think your judgment is poor.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6196. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:07:21 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DEA39.F99CCD3A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29193

```
Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >> Nobody is committing "assault and battery" on anyone else in this > >> newsgroup, electronically or otherwise.
> > >
> > >Larry, your sadistic postings are there for all to see. How you can > > >deny your verbal assaults is beyond comprehension.
> >
> > Stop electronically stalking me.

Mounting a defense against a stalker is not stalking, Larry.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

6197. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:08:38 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DEA86.19BEAC4C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29194

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> Since when has Ed Hare appointed you as his defender? The > fact that you can't come up with any quotes from me to support > what you've said only prove that you're a liar.

Nope, it only proves that I am too smart to fall for your attempts to waste my time.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6198. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:11:15 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DEB23.F9F1667B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29195

N2EY wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >The beauty of ham radio is that there needs be no meeting place or > >meeting time or even a campsite picked out. Everyone gets on a > >mountaintop repeater and decides where to camp out.
>
> And anyone with a suitable receiver can just listen and hear what the group > decides.

An hour after the decision has been made? Miss that conversation and he's out in the cold.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6199. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:14:30 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DEBE6.6C275D51@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29196

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >Larry, when you say nocode techs are dumb-shits, the English > >language implication is "all". If you meant "some", you should > >have said "some". Would you like to correct your statement?
>
> No, I think I'd rather have you provide a copy/paste of that > posting as proof that I actually said it. If you can't, then you're > lying -- but that wouldn't be anything new, would it?

After thousands of people have read your numerous postings telling us how dumbed-down techs are, there is no need for me to waste my time digging up your old postings. Heck, you have even said that post-restructuring generals and extras are dumbed-down.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6200. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:16:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DEC4C.94C6FA6D@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29198

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> You have exactly one posting to produce the quote where I said
> "no-code Techs are [technical] dumb shits," or you have once again > proven that you are a liar!

No need to waste my time that way, Larry. You have posted hundreds of times that nocode techs are dumbed-down. You have even posted that post-restructuring generals and extras are dumbed-down.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6201. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:17:35 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DEC9F.F6F5B2C3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29199

```
Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >Are you also so ignorant that you don't understand ratios, Larry?
> >Do you comprehend 1/2 = 1000000/2000000?
>
> Really? I'm not sure I understand.

Maybe you need to come to my GED math classes - they're free.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

6202. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:20:15 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DED3F.3BB032C5@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29197

```
Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >Dave Heil wrote:
> >> You don't really want me to start dredging up some of the things you've
> >> said to Dick Carroll and Larry have them come back to prove you a liar,
> >> do you?
> > >
> > >They started it, Dave. I merely defended myself.
> >
> > How have you "defended" yourself?

I'm a mild-mannered guy, Larry, an Aquarian seeker of truth and wisdom. But I do believe in self-defense. With bullies like you and Dick around, don't expect me to be passive.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

6203. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:27:20 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DEEE8.23CE6BBD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29200

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> I am
> still unable to understand why she would do this, if not to > proactively demonstrate her contempt for her fellow radio amateurs.

Larry, even if the original reason was different, IMO, it has been worth it to see Kim and her callsign get your goat.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6204. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:31:55 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DEFFB.95740808@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29201

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> I've never stated that post-Restructuring Extras do not "deserve" > their privileges -- only that they haven't had to make as much of an > effort to learn the useful knowledge and skills that were required > under the superior pre-Restructuring licensing system. The > post-Restructuring Extras may therefore not value their privileges
> as much as the Pre's, and may be more prone to misbehave
> on-the-air.

So you have just said that post-restructuring extras don't deserve their privileges, just in different words.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6205. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:33:54 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DF072.7A69ACB6@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29202

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> This is not about me. Bert E-mailed me and made this posting in > which he thanked me for encouraging him to learn and use CW. He > is now going for his 20-WPM Code Proficiency certificate, which > I think is great! I took no credit; he did all the work. All I did was > tell him something I already knew about him, even he didn't at > the time -- that he could learn and use CW if he made the decision > to do so. Now, and in the future, he has the right to offer the same > encouragement to others, and I hope they accept it the way he > did!

Compare that treatment to the treatment of the pre-restructuring extra who favored elimination of the Morse code test.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6206. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:40:22 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2DF1F6.4ABD4091@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29203

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> The FCC has affirmed a November 2000 staff-level decision that > declined to include privately imposed deed covenants, conditions and > restrictions--CC&Rs--under the limited federal preemption known as > PRB-1.

This is what I have been saying for years, Larry. CC&Rs are a private contract willingly entered into when a ham buys or rents a place to live. If you are opposed to that private contract, then don't sign that private contract. It is not the role of the federal government to overthrow private contracts.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6207. Re: What not to say to a cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 16:52:57 UTC
From: Landshark <S3Buell@SBCGlobal.Net>
Message-ID: <JxmX7.17175$qz4.4024064113@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 29205
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Forge,
Please disregard any post made from hotmail using my screen nic or addy. This person has been a troll on Rec.Radio.CB for over a year now.

Landshark

--
Please note that any post that is from S3Buell_SBCGlobailnet@hotmail.com is a FORGE. My Addy is always going to be from SBCGlobal.Net This person has been a troll on Rec.Radio.CB for a long time now. If you want to send a complaint, forward each message complete with headers
to TOSUSENET@AOL.COM. Hotmailprivacy@hotmail.com, groups-abuse@google.com
Be aware of George WA3MO^

"Landshark" <S3Buell_SBCGlobailnet@hotmail.com> wrote in message news:773a0faf.0112282205.62b4dad6@posting.google.com...
> Typical forgery by the AKC trouble > maker club king. First I write what I think is > a truthful post about my gay past hoping > that my little buddy will get the hint and > move on from that topic. Now he's forging > me from an account that the addy looks almost > the same as mine. BE ON THE ALERT. I have > switched to this hotmail account in order
> to confuse the little troll.
> Now all he can do is imitate me. We'll
> see who is the real Landshark.
> Here's a test: do a lookup on "Landshark"
> in the usenet archives. You will find all kinds > of flames, innacuracies and crap posted by me,
> the real Landshark.
>
>
> Landshark
>
>
> --
> Please note that any post that is not from

> S3uell_SBCGlobalnet@hotmail.com is a FORGE.
> The "other" Landshark has been a troll on > Rec.Radio.CB for a long time now. Be aware of > Saucer Men and jock straps.

6208. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 17:55:42 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2E039E.464819AB@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29207

Jon Holder wrote:
> Want to give ham radio a Merry Christmas? Disband and turn amateur radio > over to those who really worked for their licenses, those who learned > CW!

Where in the Part 97 'Basis and purpose, subsection 97.1' does it mention work? OTOH, your above posting violates the goodwill attribute.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6209. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 18:00:58 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2E04DA.EE828F2B@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29208

Jon Holder wrote:
>
> MOVE WHERE?
>
> Most homes built after 1980 or so have CC&R's that pretty much prohibit > antennas period.

It is not the responsibility of the federal government to provide a ham with an antenna unrestricted home. It is the responsibility of the individual to find an antenna unrestricted home. I have lived in Houston, Silicon Valley, and the Phoenix area and never had a problem with CC&Rs. I went so far as to buy two acres in the Phoenix area for the purpose of erecting ham antennas.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6210. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 18:28:44 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2D52E8.4BB99D69@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29209
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

KC8JBO wrote:
>
>
> Translation: Lllloneely Llllardasssssssss Llllllloyd desperately want s to > be a part of something, anything.

want s = wants, try to get it right, woger.

6211. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 18:53:10 UTC
From: Jon Holder <jaholder@grapevine.net>
Message-ID: <3C2E1116.E7714B1F@grapevine.net>
Source record: 29204

Whatever.

Want to give ham radio a Merry Christmas? Disband and turn amateur radio over to those who really worked for their licenses, those who learned CW!

6212. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 18:59:18 UTC
From: Jon Holder <jaholder@grapevine.net>
Message-ID: <3C2E1286.BAAFAA93@grapevine.net>
Source record: 29206

MOVE WHERE?

Most homes built after 1980 or so have CC&R's that pretty much prohibit antennas period.

Krell wrote:

> "Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message > news:20011228235150.13985.00002141@mb-md.aol.com...
>
> > Greetings All:
> >
> > To those who have been insisting that the FCC has the best interests > > of the ARS at heart, I offer the following. I seems like "Restructuring"
> > isn't the only way they had in mind to put an end to our tomfoolery on > > all this valuable RF real estate. Now they're saying licensed radio > > amateurs don't have any need to establish a station in our own homes.
> > Get ready to lose some more spectrum -- and soon! Read it and weep...
> >
> > 73 de Larry, K3LT
>
> I think you may be reading more into this than what is actually there.
> Besides, you may not be able to put up a 200 foot tower with a TH6DXX, but > there are many ways to install a hidden antenna, or even put up a temporary > antenna if you work only contests.
> Of course there is another option - MOVE!

6213. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 19:04:17 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0l40802m3k@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29210

"Jon Holder" <jaholder@grapevine.net> wrote in message
news:3C2E1286.BAAFAA93@grapevine.net...
> MOVE WHERE?
>
> Most homes built after 1980 or so have CC&R's that pretty much prohibit > antennas period.

So? What's wrong with finding an older house? Sounds like you want to have your cake and eat it, too.

6214. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 19:43:39 UTC
From: Glendale Autoparts <Glendale_Autoparts@BossHogStore.com> Message-ID: <a0l6bt$b1r$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29211
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:a0i5nm$mn1$4@dosa.alt.net...
> Lllardasssssssssss Llllllloyd aka
> "Joanie" <alt.flame@flameawayroger.com> wrote in message
> news:a0hph4ldp0@dosa.alt.net...
> > Why were you kicked out of the Air Force Roger?
>
> I wasn't DUMBASS. I have a Honorable Discharge (DD-256AF & on the DD-214).
> You 'll belive that fake preacher Turder and other imbeciles. You never even > served, Lardasssssss Llllllloyd, and are still a virgin. I 'd say you were a > homosexual, Llllardasssssss Llllllloyd.
>
>
> > See photo of KC8JBO and his pointed circus boy
> > head here: www.angelfire.com/al/sj61 courtesy of the > > BARF chief of communications.
>
> See Llllardasssssssss Llllllloyd and his melon-shaped head, porky-pig like > face, > pencil mustache because his dominant female chromosomes won't allow anything
> thicker, and that may be the reason the girls fall down with laughter when > they are shown his tiny, miniscule nub that he tries to pass off as a penis.
>
GOTCHA Woger, SPANK. The Air Force discharge is a DD-4762-Q and it is not on a DD-214, only the character of the discharge is on the DD-214, thus proving you never received a honorable discharge!

6215. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 19:44:59 UTC
From: twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com
Message-ID: <e9de0154.0112291144.74b93757@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29212
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!
"Roger Halstead" <rdhalste@tm.net>
news:CoyW7.1399$Dl1.693885@monger.newsread.com.

One more troll!

Roger (K8RI)

"Not a troll Roger, that web page exists, read it. Sporadic Waves has been a mag for freebanders like me for a long time now. We are also concerned about truckers on 10 meters as they are usurping our expansion space. We are eyeing 12 meters as a solution"

6216. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 20:52:18 UTC
From: Jesus Slut Fucker: Usenet Adminstrator <pparis7@NOFUCKINGSPAMhome.com>; Message-ID: <3C2E2B9E.6030800@NOFUCKINGSPAMhome.com>
Source record: 29213
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.shortwave,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,alt.flamenet,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

John Kimball wrote:

> On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 17:56:09 -0500, "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in > Message id: <a0j3i0aic2@dosa.alt.net>:
>
>
>>Homoxsexual pedophile pervert
>>"Joanie" <alt.flame@flameawayroger.com> wrote in message
>>news:a0i90u$4kn$0@pita.alt.net...
>>
>>>>>>> Why were you kicked out of the Air Force Roger?
>>>>>>
>>>>>> See photo of KC8JBO and his pointed circus boy
>>>>>>head here: www.angelfire.com/al/sj61 courtesy of the >>>>>>BARF chief of communications.
>>>>>>
>>>>>>
>>>>>Man, that's one ugly fucking redneck. I almost feel sorry for 8L0J08.
>>>>>Almost. I bet that mustache is the pubic hair from his mothers twat.
>>>>>
>>No, it's from YOUR mommy's twat.
>>
>
> Well, that proves that the picture is indeed 8L0J08.
> BWAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!!!!
>
>
>>>>Damn, I was beaten to the punch. I wanted to be the first to come up >>>>with a photo of Woger. Oh well. I'll have one of his mommie's house in a >>>>few days. By all reports it's a beat up shack.
>>>>
>>>>
>>> The photo is about 20 years old.
>>>
>>BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA Prove it.
>>
>
> You just did, you perennial fuckup. See above.
>
>
>>>Roger tried to pass himself off as looking younger.
>>>
>>While "Joanie" tries to pass himself off on the liberty net as straight.

>>BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA...over 50 years old and never been >>married....bwhahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha.then ol' Steve Turdeater goes up >>to Richland, OH and fucks his momma up the ass.
>>
>>
>>>Truth is Roger is fat now, very fat, with
>>>
>><guffaw> Suuuuure I am, FATASS.
>>
>>
>>
>>>gray hair and looks beyond his years from smoking dope.
>>>
>>Bwhahahahahahahahahahahahahahahaha.. that why I got carded a few weeks ago >>when I bought some beer?
>>
>
> Probably because you're only 4"11".

...and acts like a four year old....

>
>>>Marshall county property tax records are on line and show the >>>house Roger lives in is owned by his mother and only his mother,
>>>
>>BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA Marshall county tax records are not >>on line, you fucking imbecile.
>>
>
> How does it feel to be so outed, 8L0J08?

The very funny thing is that I can't find where Woger paid any federal income tax. Funny thing though, his mommie Marie claims a dependent. I suspect it is 50 something Woger. This is the loser that laughed the hardest about Henne having to move back in with his mommie.

-Jesus

--

Do as thousands of Gay men have already done and view Woger's home page, Woger's page contains contact numbers, you can sign his guest book, send him e-mail or just look at his loser ass:

http://home.gay.com/8L0J08/

Or:

Woger Wiseman's Profile:

http://profiles.gay.com/scripts/viewprofile?for=8L0J08

_____
Further sicking pics of Woger:

http://www.angelfire.com/al/sj61

CAPTAIN FAG UNMASKED:
http://members.home.net/pparis7/Jesus/flag.htm

Other Gay.com flamer profiles:

Aaron Henne:
http://profiles.gay.com/scripts/viewprofile?for=flaagg1

Brent Hamm aka The Terminator
http://profiles.gay.com/scripts/viewprofile?for=termy

Get Your Jesus Slut Fucker Newsgroups Here:

news://news.epita.fr/alt.fan.giant-fucking-dick-jesus-slut-fucker news://newscache0.freenet.de/alt.fan.giant-fucking-dick-jesus-slut-fucker
news://newscache3.freenet.de/alt.fan-giant-fucking-dick-jesus-slut-fucker
news://newscache1.freenet.de/alt.fan-giant-fucking-dick-jesus-slut-fucker news://ftp.tomica.ru/alt.fan-giant-fucking-dick-jesus-slut-fucker
news://newscache2.freenet.de/alt.fan.giant-fucking-dick-jesus-slut-fucker
news://209.11.114.102/alt.fan.giant-fucking-dick-jesus-slut-fucker
news://202.85.164.51/alt.fan.giant-fucking-dick-jesus-slut-fucker

Woger Wiseman Newsgroups:

news://news.epita.fr/alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman
news://newscache0.freenet.de/alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman
news://newscache3.freenet.de/alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman
news://newscache1.freenet.de/alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman news://ftp.tomica.ru/alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman
news://newscache2.freenet.de/alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

6217. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:03:07 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <3C1B3B88FA43535E.A1ECAAA4C530805D.A8961E2562F81507@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29214

On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:49 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Hmmm...so Rick Adams has called me an "ass" on this newsgroup,
>while at the same time threatening to have my internet access >terminated for expressing my opinion about Kim's poor choice of a
>call sign?

1. If you make yourself into an ass, it's only fitting to identify you as one.

2. I NEVER "threatened to have your internet access terminated." That is a typical Larry Roll lie. Quote back my "threat," Larry. Put up or Shut up.

3. You don't "express your opinion" of Kim's call sign, Larry, you harass her about it in every thread you find her in. Clearly, the only way you can convince yourself that you are still a "man" is to intimidate a woman, and it's obviously enraging you that she isn't being intimidated by your cheap and shoddy actions.

>Mind your own jawbone, Rick!

Larry, go take your Viagra, dig out your Hustler magazine, and pretend that you can find a woman that would put up with you.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6218. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:09:01 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <7E11FD656F8B94AC.077AE5ECB086D813.090F155996AAB65A@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29215

On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:48 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:
>This thread isn't about me, Dick, Dave, or anyone else being an >arbiter of morality.

Of course it is. It's YOUR thread and you're trying to be the arbiter of Kim's morality. Why ELSE would you continue to hound her about her call sign?

>It's about the poor judgement of one ham in >choosing a call sign which portrays female radio amateurs in an >undeservedly negative manner, reflects a poor image of all radio >amateurs, and has potential for harm to the image of the ARS >which has been recognized by a high-profile radio amateur who >also happens to be an FCC official.

No, Larry. That's pure bull and any intelligent person in this ng knows it.

What this thread is about is Larry Roll trying to prove his manhood by harassing a fellow ham into capitulating to your unreasonable demands and out-of-date values. You started the thread.
You insist that you will perpetuate it until Kim changes her call. You are the one who preaches about the ARS. Try acting like a responsible ham instead of a spoiled three year-old and stop trying to impose your values on others if you feel so strongly about representing the ARS responsibly.

>There is nothing going on >here other than hams giving their opinions on a policy-related >matter, which is well within the bounds of the topics germane to
>this newsgroup.

Kim's call sign has absolutely nothing to do with ham radio policy--even YOU can't be stupid enough to think people will believe that dishonest statement!

You don't want to talk about policy, Larry, you want to harass a woman because she won't give in to your demands.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6219. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:09:29 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <A10FD5715EDEE559.243BCAFF50116CA3.B1FC68CC611407D6@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29216

On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:47 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Stop electronically stalking me.

Grow up, you idiot!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6220. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:12:00 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <5EC2616372D482F4.E48391021E9BF3EA.BF221493688BD774@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29217

On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 20:58:07 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>I think Dick is a figment of my imagination... ;)

Then please stop sharing your nightmares with the rest of us--he's giving ham radio a bad name (and odor)!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6221. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:15:19 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <469872877C743924.3D38E761281E55BC.54CCFDA5C1CE2793@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29218

On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 03:18:30 GMT, Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
wrote:
> A one-liner from you simply means you have no valid response.

Or doesn't want to waste one on someone as unimportant as you.

> Paranoid? Not very, but enough that I sure don't intend to stand there and let >some clown take me out "on my own terms":...

Whose terms DO you let clowns take you out on?

Geez, Dick, Clowns? You're even kinkier than Dave with his mid-winter camping trips with guys!

Get your mind off Kim's TIT, Dickie, it's making you remember the joys of your fetishes.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6222. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:24:34 UTC
From: "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com>
Message-ID: <3C2E428E.BF9584B2@hotSPAMmail.com>
Source record: 29219
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

Twistedhed didn't write:
>
> Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!
> "Roger Halstead" <rdhalste@tm.net>
> news:CoyW7.1399$Dl1.693885@monger.newsread.com.
>
> One more troll!
>
> Roger (K8RI)
>
> "Not a troll Roger, that web page exists, read it. Sporadic Waves has > been a mag for freebanders like me for a long time now. We are also > concerned about truckers on 10 meters as they are usurping our > expansion space. We are eyeing 12 meters as a solution"

ATTENTION NEWSGROUP PEOPLE!!!

If you see any cross-posted messages with the groups.google.com organization, consider it highly suspect as a forge and DO NOT RESPOND! Thank you.

6223. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:26:36 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <8AB10CD9FBCDFA43.AF0493CC6D58AB55.A816DC4932F586D1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29220

On 29 Dec 2001 03:03:13 GMT, n2ey@aol.com (N2EY) wrote:

>> Sure--because you think you know better than Kim what is "good >>for the ARS."
>
>And Kim thinks she knows better than me what is good for the ARS. So do you.

Not at all, Jim.

Kim simply doesn't feel that her PERSONAL choice of a perfectly legal call sign is anyone's business but her own, and I happen to agree.

This "good for the ARS" crap is a smoke screen. No one in his or her right mind would seriously believe that Kim's call sign will make even the slightest difference to the ARS and you know that as well as I do. What is really going on is a witch hunt in which a group of crotchety, grouchy, old men are enraged because they can't intimidate a woman into obeying them. I'm sorry you feel the need to support that kind of disgusting behavior toward a fellow ham, but obviously you do.

>And a lot of folks think I'm right. Doesn't matter - it's not up to a vote.

That's right, Jim, it isn't.

KIM made her choice--she didn't ask the people here to help her decide if she SHOULD do so or not, and thus it isn't up to anyone here to try to harass her into changing her sign. I don't give a flying damn if every ham in the news group feels her call is inappropriate (which obviously is NOT the case)--it is HER call sign, not their's, and her decision alone that is relevant.

>I think what really bugs you, Rick, is that there are some of us here on rrap
>who you cannot intimidate and who state our opinions as we see them regardless >of how electropolitically incorrect they may be to some.

Who _I_ can't intimidate? You self-righteous prig, it is YOU and your cronies who are trying to intimidate someone--Kim--into doing something that she doesn't wish to do (change her call sign). Who in the hell gave you right wing fanatics the right to try to intimidate someone into capitulating to your prudish demands?

You're a bunch of losers, Jim. And it is hams like you, Larry,
Dick and Dave who are bringing the ARS "one step closer to extinction"
with your outrageous behavior, blatant harassment, and attempted intimidation of another ham.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6224. New topic: Quality or Quantity

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:37:59 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <bBrX7.745$9d.126208@newshog.newsread.com>
Source record: 29221

Here's a new topic for all!

Regardless of mode or band of transmission, is ham radio really about the quality of the QSO or the quantity of the QSO's?? And state why please.

Ryan KC8PMX

6225. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:39:50 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0liisgpb1@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29227
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Perverted Pedophile with the mangled face
"Goo-gobbling Joanie" <Glendale_Autoparts@BossHogStore.com> wrote in message news:a0l6bt$b1r$0@dosa.alt.net...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:a0i5nm$mn1$4@dosa.alt.net...
> > Lllardasssssssssss Lllllloyd aka
> > "Joanie" <alt.flame@flameawayroger.com> wrote in message
> > news:a0hph4ldp0@dosa.alt.net...
> > > Why were you kicked out of the Air Force Roger?
> >
> > I wasn't DUMBASS. I have a Honorable Discharge (DD-256AF & on the DD-214).
> > You 'll belive that fake preacher Turder and other imbeciles. You never > even > > served, Lardasssssss Lllllloyd, and are still a virgin. I 'd say you were
> a > > homosexual, Llllardasssss Lllllloyd.

[...]

> > See Llllardasssssss Lllllloyd and his melon-shaped head, porky-pig like > > face,
> > pencil mustache because his dominant female chromosomes won't allow > anything
> > thicker, and that may be the reason the girls fall down with laughter
when > > they are shown his tiny, miniscule nub that he tries to pass off as a > penis.
> >
> GOTCHA Woger, SPANK. The Air Force discharge is a > DD-4762-Q

It may be NOW, but not when I served, Clusterfuck.

>and it is not on a DD-214,

Learn to fucking read, I didn't say it WAS on a DD214, I said my discharge is printied on a DD-256 AF.

>only the character of the > discharge is on the DD-214, thus proving you never received a > honorable discharge!

Really, then how cAn I explain those papers that are right in front of me now?
BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!
The AIR FORCE DISCHARGE was issued on a DD-256-AF when I served, DUMBFUCK. The DD-214 is the Report of Seperation of Active Duty, the section e. has character of service in which "Honorable" is typed there.which proves you never fucking served at all.
Why does W4NTI discuss his DD-214 if it doesn't exist. You are one dumb fucking, taliban supporting, UNAMERICAN .

6226. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:41:05 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0liitgpb2@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29228
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

```
Known convicted felon
"JizzRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C2D52E8.4BB99D69@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
> >
> >
> > Translation: Lllllloneely Llllllardassssssssss Llllllloyd desperately want s to > > be a part of something, anything.
>
> want s = wants, try to get it right, woger.

Try beginning a sentence with a capital letter, dumbfuck.
```

6227. New topic: Goals for 2002

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:42:14 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <aFrX7.746$9d.125819@newshog.newsread.com>
Source record: 29222

What are your Amateur Radio goals for 2002? Try something new?? Elmer someone?? Promote the hobby better?? Build something?? Or ?? Please keep the topic somewhat close to Amateur Radio..

May you be blessed with a safe and wonderful 2002!

Ryan KC8PMX

6228. ARES/RACES ACTIVITIES

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:44:43 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <vHrX7.747$9d.126510@newshog.newsread.com>
Source record: 29223

What is your local ARES/RACES group doing on the local basis? Do they just get together to meet or are they active in training and other activities? What are those activities and training they are pursuing? We are using the January meeting of 2002 for our local group to do a "evaluation" to see where we are at, and of course, where we need to go forward with and always looking for new, great ideas.

Ryan KC8PMX

6229. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 22:49:00 UTC
From: archer@topnow.com
Message-ID: <31b19051.0112291448.4c9be3f8@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29224
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:<a0koolsrf3@dosa.alt.net>...

> The reason Lllardasssss Llllloyd's "romance " wasn't successful is because
> he's GAY.

Gads, I HOPE NOT! Lloyd would pass neither the minimum intelligence nor style requirements needed to be accepted in such company. The scummiest gay person
I know personally beats Lloyd as a human being, any old day.

-- Ross

6230. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 23:02:41 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011229180241.24724.00000581@mb-mr.aol.com>
Source record: 29225

In article <a0jna8hch1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>, "Bill Sohl"
<billsohl@mindspring.com> writes:

(N2EY wrote):.
>>
>> The only difference between the operating privileges of an Extra and an >> Advanced are a few subbands on 80, 40, 20 and 15. Extras get no additional >> modes or power - the ONLY difference is those little subbands. What >> "qualifications" are needed to operate on, say, 3524 that are not needed
>to >> operate on 3526?
>
>So then are you suggesting that the former Advanced test should be >the requirement for Extra...rather than the current Extra syllabus?

Nope.

Carl (WA6VSE) has said that existing Advanceds should not be given Extra class licenses without passing the Extra class test because those Advanceds have not demonstrated the necessary qualifications. I'm simply trying to figure out what qualifications he's talking about.

Carl describes incentive licensing as "a dismal failure" and says that license test requirements should ONLY be based on demonstrating the necessary qualifications.

>> Devil's advocate hat off.

>> Shall we review how the written tests were cut in number and size again?
>
>Not because of any request of NCI.

Carl also says that the writtens are not "dumbed down", even though their size and number was radically decreased on April 15, 2000.
>
>> >> The whole Extra written test! Today, a current Advanced has to take >> >> a 50 question written to get the Extra - same as a General.
>> >> Auto-upgrade would not go over big with some folks.
>> >
>> >And the more technical content (not that it's THAT hard, but it's >> >reasonable for granting a license to operate and experiment)
>> >is virtually all in the Extra test now ... the written elements for >> >General are quite elementary ...
>>
>> Devil's advocate hat back on...
>>

>> WHY is that "technical content" essential for OPERATING privileges, or to >> experiment? All US hams except Novices can use ALL authorized modes and >> frequencies above 30 Mhz right now - the FCC thinks the written testing is >> adequate. Current Generals, who have been tested even less than Advanceds,
>can >> experiment on every band and mode authorized to US hams - they just can't >use
>> some subbands on 80/40/20/15.
>>
>> Devil's advocate hat off.
>> >
>> >Now who's proposing to "dumb down" amateur radio???
>> >
>> Not me.
>
>Could'a fooled me by your devil's advocate scenarios.

You're missing my point then, Bill. All I've done is point out the facts and conclusions that follow logically IF one accepts Carl's philosophy of license testing.

>> >With the 20 wpm gone, I have little
>> >sympathy for someone who isn't willing to take a relatively easy >> >50 question written test to upgrade from adanced to extra.
>>
>> 20 wpm was relatively easy for many hams, and relatively tough for others.
>Same
>> for the written tests.
>
>I doubt the equivalence of that comparison. I'd suggest more >people can get up to speed for the written than with the 20wpm.
>One can "study" the written in many forums (ARRL license manuals, >QRZ online, etc.). Not so for practicing to pass 20 wpm.

Not at all! One can practice 20 wpm on the air, with a computer, or with tapes or other recordings. MFJ even makes a "personal code trainer".
>
>> Sounds to me like you want to make everyone jump through the same written >test
>> hoops you did.
>
>Surely you jest :-)

No, I'm quite serious.
>
>> > why should anyone get a total freebie??? If they >> >don't want to, or don't have the time to, upgrade, they should >> >remain satisfied with what they have. There is no reason to >> >change the system ... nobody should get privileges they aren't >> >qualified for, nor should anyone lose privileges they've already >> >earned.

>>
>> Sounds like what some folks were saying before the restructuring.
>> Folks you vehemently disagree with.
>
>That argument/analogy only holds IF you believe the current >testing requirements for the written are unreasonable and/or >unjustified.

If one accepts Carl's statements, they ARE unjustified beyond the General level.
>
>> >The FCC's system "knows" who is an "old" Tech Plus and who is not,
>>
>> They do? Then why not just hand out Generals to them?
>
>Because many have NOT passed the General written. Most of those >that have passed General (i.e. pre 1987) have upgraded already if they are >still active and know about restructuring.

Yet Carl suggests giving them HF privileges to operate "modern digital modes" and even voice privileges.

>> I say having "subbands by mode type" gives the best compromise.
>> >
>> >> >What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???
>> >>
>> >> Offer an upgrade incentive.
>> >
>> >"Incentive Licensing" was a dismal failure ...
>>
>> How do you figure? It was all about increasing technical knowledge. I >think it >> was propelled by Sputnik fever.
>
>If so it was 10 years in the making...Sputnick was 1957 as
>I recall.

Yes, it was.

Sputnik (note the spelling) was launched in 1957, an soon thereafter (1958) the FCC started asking about ways to entice more hams to take the Extra exam.
Nothing much formal happened until 1963, when the ARRL BoD responded with a proposal that became RM-299. This was followed by a number of proposals, suggestions and counterproposals, ending in the 1966(?) announcement of
"incentive licensing". First phase went into effect in late 1967.

Remember that during the 1957-1963 period the Soviets had one space triumph
after another while the US tried to catch up.

>> > philosophically,
>> >I agree with prior comments that power limitations make more >> >sense than mode limitations, since they are more solidly based >> >on some reasonable relation to one's technical knowledge,

>> >as demonstrated by passing the more difficult tests.
>>
>> Huh? The FCC sez Techs are qualified to use 1.5 kW transmitters on >VHF/UHF -
>> are they wrong?
>
>I believe they are on that point.

So the mere fact that FCC does something isn't proof that it's the right thing to do. What a concept!

>> >adanceds have declined
>> >about 20k since "restructuring," through the same mechanisms
>> >... tech+'s have declined about 45k, presumably mostly through >> >upgrades to general, and those who don't upgrade will be >> >renewed as techs, but retain their (limited) HF privs ...
>>
>> Same for those classes.
>
>I looked at the Spumoni data today...my guess is >that those declines and changes will continue for >several years.

The Speroni (note the spelling) data is a big help, but I use another source that keeps Techs and Tech Pluses separate.
>
>> >What's the problem with this? Over time, through upgrades
>> >and attrition, we will have only 3 license classes ... some >> >might argue that 2 is sufficient (that's the norm in much of >> >the world and it doesn't seem to cause any problem), but >> >I'm OK with 3 ... particularly if the "power vs. technical >> >knowledge" thing were enacted, though I'm certainly not >> >planning to propose it ...
>>
>> Then we have a patchwork system for many years to come. New Techs continue
>to >> get full power licenses for just a 35 question test, while HF/MF remains >> primarily in the hands of Generals and above. Newcomers still face the >"200
>> page book just to use an HT" problem W1RFI describes. And getting full >> privileges requires jumping through written test hoops just to get more >> spectrum.
>>
>> The future deserves better.
>
>Your suggestion then is?

Posted here a few days ago - the "Basic/Intermediate/Full" system. I can post it again if you want.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6231. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 23:09:38 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <9E33B83C3A945BD6.DF7A150EDDE14856.99CF88BB207AF109@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29226

On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:45 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>If there were any other YL hams in this newsgroup, it is entirely >likely that at least one of them would take offense to Kim's call >sign, and state so in this thread.

What on earth makes you think there AREN'T other women in this group, Larry? The fact that none of them has come out to agree with your nonsense about Kim's call? Perhaps they don't feel like being the next target of your holier-than-thou witch hunt.

>This has nothing to do with Kim
>being a woman demonstrating that she is a "whole person" -- as if >any of us thought women wern't "whole" people in the first place.

Obviously you see women as "whole people." You simply see them
as INFERIOR "whole people."

>However, don't worry -- I'm sure your liberal, feminist views were >noted by Kim, and I'm sure you have earned her friendship -- although
>I can't understand why anyone would want it!

Because, unlike you and the rest of the stooges, she has class, honesty, and intelligence.

Seems like a good reason to me.

>I can't speak for Dick or Dave,

Why not? You're all clones anyway.

>but I, for one, could care less about
>Kim's so-called "place" and whether or not she knows it.

Sure.

> All I know >is that she selected a call sign which is potentially harmful to the >positive image of the ARS -- and since she's a participant of this >newsgroup, she has been called to task because of it.

Who the hell elected YOU the ham-cops for the news group? If you don't like her call, mind your own damn business you hypocritical busy-body!

> After a couple >of thousand postings here and on the real "...one step closer to >extinction" thread (it has only 3 dots in the ellipsis -- not four), she

>as still failed to adequately defend her decision to choose that >call sign in anything like a convincing manner, thus proving that >she only did it to call attention to herself by means of calling >attention to her secondary sexual characteristics.

Perhaps you can explain why on earth you think she has any obligation TO "defend her decision." Get off your pedestal, Larry, she has no obligation to defend, explain, justify, or accept your judgement on this or any other decision she makes. It's HER call sign, you mental midget, not yours. And it's HER decision. Don't like it?
Tough. Live with it.

> This demonstrates >extremely bad taste and poor judgment on her part, and does not >create a positive image for YL hams, or women in general.

No you stupid cretin, it demonstrates independence and self-confidence, two qualities I'm quite sure you HATE to see in a woman.

>I am >still unable to understand why she would do this, if not to >proactively demonstrate her contempt for her fellow radio amateurs.

Larry, get a grip.

She didn't "DO" anything to you or to the ARS. She made a personal choice about a personal matter, and since she did so you have made it your life's work to harass and ridicule her in this news group. It is YOU who demonstrate contempt for your fellow hams, not Kim.

>Whatever "place" Kim may have in the world, it certainly isn't >among radio amateurs who consider themselves to be intelligent,
>decent, respectable radio amateurs who are concerned with >putting forth a positive public image.

How would you know--you certainly don't qualify for that group yourself.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6232. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 23:14:01 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0lj1g$i2f$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29229
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"Ross Archer" <archer@topnow.com> wrote in message news:31b19051.0112291448.4c9be3f8@posting.google.com...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:<a0koolsrf3@dosa.alt.net>...
>
> > The reason Lllardasssss Llllloyd's "romance " wasn't successful is because
> > he's GAY.
>
> Gads, I HOPE NOT! Lloyd would pass neither the minimum intelligence nor style > requirements needed to be accepted in such company. The scummiest gay person
> I know personally beats Lloyd as a human being, any old day.
>
> -- Ross

LOL!!!!! That's funny, Ross.
But you've got to admit, somebody who's almost thirty years old an still a virgin has to be well, you know. lol!

6233. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 23:21:35 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <E447BB6B107727DE.124A1E3F3A33C370.703D7850046C58A1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29230

On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:50 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>Greetings All:
>
>To those who have been insisting that the FCC has the best interests >of the ARS at heart, I offer the following. I seems like "Restructuring"
>isn't the only way they had in mind to put an end to our tomfoolery on >all this valuable RF real estate. Now they're saying licensed radio >amateurs don't have any need to establish a station in our own homes.
>Get ready to lose some more spectrum -- and soon! Read it and weep...
>
>73 de Larry, K3LT

More "gloom and doom" Larry?

Get a grip! Simply because the FCC doesn't view it as essential for a ham to have a permanent station location does NOT mean they are trying to strip any frequencies from us. With today's equipment, you DON'T need a permanent station location--modern rigs
are very capable of mobile or portable operations, something that the HF rigs a few decades ago weren't really suited for.

It's a ham's choice whether or not he or she will move into an area with antenna restrictions--no one is forced to do so, they can live elsewhere if they feel the restrictions are more important than the location. If enough hams take the attitude that they won't buy homes in restricted communities, and if that has an economic impact on the community, the restrictions will disappear. If not, it's a simple question of market economics (non-hams may be MORE willing to buy in an area where antennas are banned), not something that involves (or SHOULD involve) the government directly.

Don't like a restriction? Don't sign a purchase agreement for property until you know it doesn't have any in its deed of title.

Sounds simple enough to me.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6234. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 23:34:09 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112291534.19deabfe@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29231

>
> Brian,
> I passed the Extra so I have the "option" of operating anywhere > in the ham bands/modes authorized for a USA ham. I almost > never operate in Extra subbands....BUT I always have the > option if I want to. Additionally, Extra allows me to be a > VE for any level testing.
>
As a low-band dxer/contester I'd be severely limited if I couldn't operate in the setasides. Not counting 2m ops I probably spend 3/4 of my time in the cw & phone Extra setasides. Fact is that I'd still be a General if the FCC hadn't reshuffled the deck in '68, I took the Extra exam simply to get my most valuable spectrum space BACK. Good thing RRAP wasn't around then huh? The VE system wasn't even on the horizon back then. To each their own depending on what one does with a ham ticket when and why.
>
>
> > If bragging rights is the name of the game then what the hell, thee me
> > and gazillions of others around here did the 20wpm thing at our > > neigborhood FCC offices which the lightweights around here will never > > do.
>
> If it makes you feel good, feel free to brag all you want.
>
>
I said IF bragging rights is the name of the game . . .
>
>
Or as N2EY sez "If ya done it it ain't bragging."
>
>
> Cheers and Happy Holidays
> Bill K2UNK
>
dit-dit.
>
w3rv

6235. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 23:34:37 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <90E3D6D1570A9910.83930DFBE28A5089.C902006E0695907E@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29232

On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 09:07:24 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
wrote:

>Take a look in the mirror, Dick C. There's a big bust waiting for you
>there.

There is?

Maybe that's why Dick is so offended by your call sign.

He wanted it for himself!

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6236. Re: New topic: Goals for 2002

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 23:37:04 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2E53A0.F657108A@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29233

KC8PMX wrote:
> What are your Amateur Radio goals for 2002?

To try to stay alive until the next straight key night.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6237. Re: I made it home alive

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-29 23:44:26 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <8B0394A9B4095697.DB57949AE4A0C1F9.3F69CF8D1D28DAC1@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29234

On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 10:54:20 -0500, "WebDoc REACT Unit #602" <arcweb@bnnorth.net> wrote:

>I live 18 miles from Bowling Green Oh. Almost straight south of Adrian Mi.

Like I said--we live fairly near each other. One of the campuses I teach at is in Adrian (I'll be there throughout the Winter term on Tuesday nights in fact).

Have a great day,

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6238. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 00:00:25 UTC
From: f1dfr@my-deja.com
Message-ID: <a4a80311.0112291600.21adbcd7@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29235

Jon Holder <jaholder@grapevine.net> wrote in message
news:<3C2E1116.E7714B1F@grapevine.net>...
> Whatever.
>
> Want to give ham radio a Merry Christmas? Disband and turn amateur radio > over to those who really worked for their licenses, those who learned > CW!

WORK ? for a hobby ? This guy is totally mad !!

Yesterday, I was talking with the CPU of my IC-746 (it's a special version who talks ...) and asked "Must I know CW to use your HF bands
?" and he said "Of course no, just select the band you want to use and speak normally in the mike like on VHF bands". That ICOM TRX is really a good friend !

Happy new year 2002 to all people who want to suppress the S.25-5 in 2003 !!

Only a year and a half to wait for the end of the CW facism ... I suggest a site with a daily countdown to the next WRC opening. The event will be greater than the break of Berlin's wall.

6239. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 00:09:58 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0lm8k$q4j$1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29236

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011229180241.24724.00000581@mb-mr.aol.com...
> In article <a0jna8hch1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>, "Bill Sohl"
> <billsohl@mindspring.com> writes:
>
> (N2EY wrote):.
> >>
> >> The only difference between the operating privileges of an Extra and an > >> Advanced are a few subbands on 80, 40, 20 and 15. Extras get no additional > >> modes or power - the ONLY difference is those little subbands. What > >> "qualifications" are needed to operate on, say, 3524 that are not needed
> >to > >> operate on 3526?
> >
> >So then are you suggesting that the former Advanced test should be > >the requirement for Extra...rather than the current Extra syllabus?
>
> Nope.
>
> Carl (WA6VSE) has said that existing Advanceds should not be given Extra class > licenses without passing the Extra class test because those Advanceds have
not > demonstrated the necessary qualifications. I'm simply trying to figure out
what > qualifications he's talking about.

Very simple...the Extra class written exam. Before the NEW structure, all that involved was the 4B (I think that was it) which I and others passed and obtained CSCE credit for. Once 4/15/00 came and went, we had a paper upgrade. Those that were advanced and didn't follow that path now have a "combined" 4A/4B exam to contend with. That's the breaks.

> Carl describes incentive licensing as "a dismal failure" and says that
license
> test requirements should ONLY be based on demonstrating the necessary > qualifications.

And that's what it is per my comments above.

> >> Devil's advocate hat off.
>

> >> Shall we review how the written tests were cut in number and size again?
> >
> >Not because of any request of NCI.
>
> Carl also says that the writtens are not "dumbed down", even though their size
> and number was radically decreased on April 15, 2000.

The number of questions doesn't change the scope and or difficulty of learning the knowledge needed
to pass.

> >> >> The whole Extra written test! Today, a current Advanced has to take > >> >> a 50 question written to get the Extra - same as a General.
> >> >> Auto-upgrade would not go over big with some folks.
> >> >
> >> >And the more technical content (not that it's THAT hard, but it's > >> >reasonable for granting a license to operate and experiment)
> >> >is virtually all in the Extra test now ... the written elements for > >> >General are quite elementary ...
> >>
> >> Devil's advocate hat back on...
> >>
> >> WHY is that "technical content" essential for OPERATING privileges, or
to > >> experiment? All US hams except Novices can use ALL authorized modes and > >> frequencies above 30 Mhz right now - the FCC thinks the written testing
is > >> adequate. Current Generals, who have been tested even less than Advanceds, > >> can experiment on every band and mode authorized to US hams - they just > >> can't use some subbands on 80/40/20/15.
> >>
> >> Devil's advocate hat off.
> >> >
> >> >Now who's proposing to "dumb down" amateur radio???
> >> >
> >> Not me.
> >
> >Could'a fooled me by your devil's advocate scenarios.
>
> You're missing my point then, Bill. All I've done is point out the facts
and > conclusions that follow logically IF one accepts Carl's philosophy of license
> testing.

The question then is on what do you wish to see happen
with the testing...status quo, change to something else?

> >> >With the 20 wpm gone, I have little
> >> >sympathy for someone who isn't willing to take a relatively easy > >> >50 question written test to upgrade from adanced to extra.
> >>
> >> 20 wpm was relatively easy for many hams, and relatively tough for others.
> >> Same for the written tests.
> >
> >I doubt the equivalence of that comparison. I'd suggest more > >people can get up to speed for the written than with the 20wpm.
> >One can "study" the written in many forums (ARRL license manuals, > >QRZ online, etc.). Not so for practicing to pass 20 wpm.
>
> Not at all! One can practice 20 wpm on the air, with a computer, or with tapes
> or other recordings. MFJ even makes a "personal code trainer".

The point is that it involves onter devices to do the practice.
Reading a text manual on the written test is something people can do in alot more venues than practicing code.

> >> Sounds to me like you want to make everyone jump through the same written > >> test hoops you did.
> >
> >Surely you jest :-)
>
> No, I'm quite serious.

Then exactly WHAT do YOU want as requirements?

> >> > why should anyone get a total freebie??? If they > >> >don't want to, or don't have the time to, upgrade, they should > >> >remain satisfied with what they have. There is no reason to > >> >change the system ... nobody should get privileges they aren't > >> >qualified for, nor should anyone lose privileges they've already > >> >earned.
> >>
> >> Sounds like what some folks were saying before the restructuring.
> >> Folks you vehemently disagree with.
> >
> >That argument/analogy only holds IF you believe the current > >testing requirements for the written are unreasonable and/or > >unjustified.
>
> If one accepts Carl's statements, they ARE unjustified beyond the General > level.

I don't see the logic in your conclusion.

> >> >The FCC's system "knows" who is an "old" Tech Plus and who is not,
> >>
> >> They do? Then why not just hand out Generals to them?

> >
> >Because many have NOT passed the General written. Most of those > >that have passed General (i.e. pre 1987) have upgraded already if they
are > >still active and know about restructuring.
>
> Yet Carl suggests giving them HF privileges to operate "modern digital > modes" and even voice privileges.
>
> >> I say having "subbands by mode type" gives the best compromise.
> >> >
> >> >> >What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???
> >> >>
> >> >> Offer an upgrade incentive.
> >> >
> >> >"Incentive Licensing" was a dismal failure ...
> >>
> >> How do you figure? It was all about increasing technical knowledge. I > >> think it was propelled by Sputnik fever.
> >
> >If so it was 10 years in the making...Sputnick was 1957 as > >I recall.
>
> Yes, it was.
>
> Sputnik (note the spelling) was launched in 1957, an soon thereafter
(1958) the
> FCC started asking about ways to entice more hams to take the Extra exam.
> Nothing much formal happened until 1963, when the ARRL BoD responded with
a > proposal that became RM-299. This was followed by a number of proposals, > suggestions and counterproposals, ending in the 1966(?) announcement of > "incentive licensing". First phase went into effect in late 1967.
>
> Remember that during the 1957-1963 period the Soviets had one space triumph
> after another while the US tried to catch up.

Whch had more to do with physics and rocketry than anything electronic.

> >> > philosophically,
> >> >I agree with prior comments that power limitations make more
> >> >sense than mode limitations, since they are more solidly based > >> >on some reasonable relation to one's technical knowledge,
> >> >as demonstrated by passing the more difficult tests.
> >>
> >> Huh? The FCC sez Techs are qualified to use 1.5 kW transmitters on > >VHF/UHF -
> >> are they wrong?
> >

> >I believe they are on that point.
>
> So the mere fact that FCC does something isn't proof that it's the right
thing
> to do. What a concept!

We can always agree to disagree. The issue of disagreement, if severe, ends up being adjuticated by the courts. No one has taken the FCC to that path regarding any disagreement as to ham requirements to my knowledge.

> >> >advanceds have declined
> >> >about 20k since "restructuring," through the same mechanisms
> >> >... tech+'s have declined about 45k, presumably mostly through > >> >upgrades to general, and those who don't upgrade will be > >> >renewed as techs, but retain their (limited) HF privs ...
> >>
> >> Same for those classes.
> >
> >I looked at the Spumoni data today...my guess is > >that those declines and changes will continue for > >several years.
>
> The Speroni (note the spelling) data is a big help, but I use another source > that keeps Techs and Tech Pluses separate.
> >
> >> >What's the problem with this? Over time, through upgrades
> >> >and attrition, we will have only 3 license classes ... some > >> >might argue that 2 is sufficient (that's the norm in much of > >> >the world and it doesn't seem to cause any problem), but > >> >I'm OK with 3 ... particularly if the "power vs. technical > >> >knowledge" thing were enacted, though I'm certainly not > >> >planning to propose it ...
> >>
> >> Then we have a patchwork system for many years to come. New Techs > >> continue to get full power licenses for just a 35 question test, while > >> HF/MF remains primarily in the hands of Generals and above.
> >> Newcomers still face the "200 > >> page book just to use an HT" problem W1RFI describes. And getting full > >> privileges requires jumping through written test hoops just to get more > >> spectrum.
> >>
> >> The future deserves better.
> >
> >Your suggestion then is?
>
> Posted here a few days ago - the "Basic/Intermediate/Full" system. I can post
> it again if you want.

I'll find it.

Cheers and Happy New Year,
Bill K2UNK

6240. Re: New topic: Quality or Quantity

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 00:14:43 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0lmhf$mk5$1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29237

"KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote in message
news:bBrX7.745$9d.126208@newshog.newsread.com...
> Here's a new topic for all!
>
> Regardless of mode or band of transmission, is ham radio really about the > quality of the QSO or the quantity of the QSO's?? And state why please.

Ryan,

It is whatever the individual ham wants it to be. Some enjoy making many contacts to add to their "worked lists" while others enjoy the individual contact as one might enjoy having a conversation with another person who could be anywhere else in the globe. There is NO one answer.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

6241. Re: New topic: Quality or Quantity

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 00:30:23 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0ln5v0khn@enews2.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29238

"KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote in message
news:bBrX7.745$9d.126208@newshog.newsread.com...
> Here's a new topic for all!
>
> Regardless of mode or band of transmission, is ham radio really about the > quality of the QSO or the quantity of the QSO's?? And state why please.
>
> Ryan KC8PMX

Quality over quantity. Why? What good is it to work DX if all you're going to do is exchange callsigns and signal reports? Why not learn to speak another language instead of complaining about 20 meters being overrun in the evening by "southern" stations? Instead exchanging enough info to obtain a piece of wallpaper, why not find out about a foreign staition's culture, interests, family, etc.? This is what ham radio should be about. Thanks to the pursuit of contest rankings and the DXCC, this is no longer the case.

6242. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 00:50:03 UTC
From: Landshark <Landshark@TheLandshark.com>
Message-ID: <%wtX7.17277$T25.4124931309@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 29239
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

Correct, any post that comes from google or hotmail using my screen name is a forge.

Landshark

--
Please note that any post that is from S3Buell_SBCGlobailnet@hotmail.com
is a FORGE. My Addy is always going to be from SBCGlobal.Net This person has been a troll on Rec.Radio.CB for a long time now. If you want to send a complaint,
forward each message complete with headers
to TOSUSENET@AOL.COM. Hotmailprivacy@hotmail.com, groups-abuse@google.com csr@megapop.net
Be aware of George WA3MO^

"Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:3C2E428E.BF9584B2@hotSPAMmail.com...
> Twistedhed didn't write:
> >
> > Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!
> > "Roger Halstead" <rdhalste@tm.net>
> > news:CoyW7.1399$Dl1.693885@monger.newsread.com.
> >
> > One more troll!
> >
> > Roger (K8RI)
> >
> > "Not a troll Roger, that web page exists, read it. Sporadic Waves has > > been a mag for freebanders like me for a long time now. We are also > > concerned about truckers on 10 meters as they are usurping our > > expansion space. We are eyeing 12 meters as a solution"
>
> ATTENTION NEWSGROUP PEOPLE!!!
>
> If you see any cross-posted messages with the groups.google.com
organization,
> consider it highly suspect as a forge and DO NOT RESPOND! Thank you.

6243. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 01:03:22 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011229200322.04115.00000642@mb-fy.aol.com>
Source record: 29240

In article <3C2D3BD5.C6E0B9B3@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> Thank you. I just returned from an excellent Christmas with my >> family up in Buffalo; had to drive thru a blizaard this morning to >> get out of town!
>
>You were lucky to get out of Buffalo. Last I heard they had seven >feet of snow, a new record.

Yeah, but they can handle it. Snow removal equipment from Rochester and other NY places are being sent.

Oddly enough, later in the winter storms like this don't happen up there, because the lakes freeze over.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6244. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 01:03:22 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011229200322.04115.00000643@mb-fy.aol.com>
Source record: 29241

In article <3C2DEB23.F9F1667B@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>>
>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>> >The beauty of ham radio is that there needs be no meeting place or >> >meeting time or even a campsite picked out. Everyone gets on a >> >mountaintop repeater and decides where to camp out.
>>
>> And anyone with a suitable receiver can just listen and hear what the group >> decides.
>
>An hour after the decision has been made? Miss that conversation and >he's out in the cold.

All that means is that he needs to know when to listen, and on what frequency.

73 de Jim, N2EY
>--

6245. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 01:03:53 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112291703.1ad64562@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29242

> > >
> > > Which means the govt. does have an interest in protecting the > historic > > > and traditional nature of some things, even if they are public > > > property.
> >
> > That's not the point at all ...
>
> Yes, it is.
>
No it's not, cw is not a "museum piece". In the end cw will survive handily on it's own merits. It'll get bashed until down the road when it's "rediscovered" as the the way out of the swamp of noclues.
>
>
> >
> > And preserving traditions is NOT a legitimate purpose of > > regulation.
>
Hey Carl, try romping around the 220+ year old revetments in Valley Forge National Park with yer ATV and I absolutely guarantee you'll meet some federal "regulators" real quick like.
>
>
> The important point is that the NALs are practically all issued to > hams using 'phone modes.
>
>
Yer talking at a vacuum. The PR problem the cw contingent has is that the noclues can't decipher the beeps down the band therefore all comments they have on the subject are suppositions generated in their heads vs. from observations of the quality of the actual communications and the behavior of the users of the mode.
>
>
> Do the math, Carl. Is 190 questions in 5 tests more than 120 questions > in 3 tests? Has the testing for any of the license classes been > increased? Have the nature of the questions or the method of testing > changed? A big "NO" on all counts.
> >
He wasn't there when the FCC took privs AWAY from us if we didn't upgrade. Boy that woulda really boiled his oil. I'd like to been a fly on the wall when he huddled with his "buddies" at the FCC then. Heeee!
>

>
Carl the Allentown Tool . . .
>
>
>
> Riley is the direct result of constant requests for more enforcement > by the ARRL and "old fashioned" hams who saw the service going > downhill.
>
Humbug. Dig into Riley's dark past with the FCC. He got smart and lucky and found an out-of-the-way non-toxic jihad to land on which nobody in FCC management cares about one way or another the way I understnd it else he'd have found himself in a career jam. He doesn't bother them, they don't bother him, he generates NALs and bits and pieces of Treasury income and PR especially in Newington that's the real name of his game. Which is not to trivialize the ovedue spankings he's passing out but let's keep it in perspective.
>
>
>
> The commitment and responsibility of hams to an orderly service and > following the rules is THE major factor in keeping the ARS from being > just like cb. How that commitment and sense of responsibility comes > about is a major concern in preserving and improving the ARS.
> >
>
Amen. CB is a good example of the respect freebies for the masses garner.
>
>
Screw 'em all Jimbo: We beep, let 'em go down with the sinking ship they asked for, we'll still be at it, we're bulletproof, we have the SKILL we WORKED to develop.

>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
w3rv

6246. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 01:04:38 UTC
From: uppluss@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <a2cf6f35.0112291704.1611de77@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29243
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

onehighpoweredmutha@mail.com (One High Powered MUtha!) wrote in message news:<3c2dfc7f.866300@netnews.att.net>...
> On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 02:12:05 GMT, "Sam" <kg4heb@psknet.com> wrote:
>
> >Can the SB-220 transmit on 11 meters without any mod being done to it . I > >was told that transmitting on 11 with the 220 could hurt it ! True ?? If it > >is capable of transmitting on 11 with a 220 with out changing anything on it
> >, how do you do it - tune the 220 on 10m then tune the transceiver over to > >11 meters if so what would be the SWR ???? Thanks, Sam
> >
> >
>
> i'm going to try and answer this... if i'm wrong, please the experts > can correct me... that amp has a tuned input circut... the way you > would set it up for 11 meters would be to tune that input circut, the > one that says 10 meter until there is no swr on your radio... > basically the black cat jb2000 is the same amp, but less the > bandswitching... i am assuming the tank circut can handle the 11 meter > operation... i could be wrong... another thing... if you're running > am, don't crank 100 watts into it or the tubes will go flat or worse > you'll fry the amp, my suggestion is get a texas star 250 turn the > power down to about 50 watts am carrier let the amp swing to about > 80-100 watts..... ... easier on the tubes and the amp... also might > wanna tune it for max, then back off the load a bit, the save the > tubes.... should do okay for about 800 to 1000 watts on am might do > the same on ssb... again depending on the amount of drive, which > voltage you've got the amp set up for... I suggest 220vdc
>
> good luck man
>
> OHPM
>
>
> one high powered mutha
> powered by 2 - 4CX25,000's
> i don't play
> i drop da maul

Don't retune it. Why not just use it on 10M? That's where most CBers are using the lower channels where there is only morse code on.

6247. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 01:12:35 UTC
From: "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com>
Message-ID: <3C2E69F0.EDF5458E@hotSPAMmail.com>
Source record: 29244
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

Scott Unit-69 didn't write:
>
> Don't retune it. Why not just use it on 10M? That's where most CBers > are using the lower channels where there is only morse code on.

Notice this is cross-posted from groups.google.com.

This fits the rules for a forge, and a forge it is.

6248. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 01:27:38 UTC
From: LloydVFP <KV4FZliveson@KV4FZforever.org>
Message-ID: <a0lqh2$c1k$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29245
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,rec.radio.amateur.policy

> Really, then how cAn I explain those papers that are right in front of me
> now?
> BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!
> The AIR FORCE DISCHARGE was issued on a DD-256-AF when I served, DUMBFUCK.
> The DD-214 is the Report of Seperation of Active Duty, the section e. has
^^^^^^^^^^^^

> character of service in which "Honorable" is typed there.which proves you > never fucking served at all.

Wogey, The correct spelling is "separation" and not "seperation." Errrrr, what college did you claim to have earned a "degree" from. Me thinks you are a phoney, with a "degree" from some diploma mill (you send $50, they send you a "degree.")
HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR

6249. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 01:44:08 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <fduX7.100308$BX4.6297430@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 29246

Well, Bert,
You are quite welcome! I don't think I did all that much, but you are most welcome anyhoo!

Jerry

Bert Craig <kc2hmn@cs.comnospam> wrote in message news:20011224171540.14772.00001392@mb-bj.news.cs.com...
> Hi everybody,
>
> I just wanted to take a moment to thank a few of the folks on r.r.a.p. for all > the help they gave me with my license upgrade. Ed Hare for never even allowing > me to entertain the thought that I wouldn't lick the code test like a postage > stamp. Jerry Oxendine and Jim Hampton for encouraging me to "enjoy" the code > and giving me pointers in 'Conversational CW 101' so I wouldn't sound like a > horses you-know-what upon my first true AR CW QSO. Dick McCollum gets BIG TIME
> kudos for answering a multitude of questions with the patience of Job.
> Especially for telling me to "calm down," when, for reasons unknown to this > day, all my "Fast Farnsworth" practice flew out the window and I couldn't copy > 5-wpm to save my life...on the day before the test.
>
> I'm forced to put Dick Carroll and Larry Roll in a separate paragraph because > they helped me with something other than the code...an attitude adjustment.
> Their self-made reputations as r.r.a.p. "toughies" are forever shattered in > this ham's eyes as they demonstrated that they would've gladly given me their > "lucky" shirts off their backs if it'd help me pass. Needless to say both were > very happy to hear that I passed. BTW, if you study with the ARRL 'Fast > Farnsworth' CD's, the actual exam characters will feel like they're "floating
> in."
>
> I originally did not want to write this because I thought it might be construed

> as a "congratulate me" post. I did so because I want to let anybody who might > be "put off" by what they perceive as an attitude know that these folks WANT to > help you...so stick around.
>
> I'd be remiss if I didn't mention one other guy, a non-ham. My college > certification professor, Mr. Cronk. He fixed it so that we could NOT earn
our > sheepskins by just memorizing exam pool questions, hence the birth of the > infamous "Cronk screenings." The General was easy but the Extra required
the > dusting off of some pretty deeply buried electronics theory. Thanks Professor
> C.!
>
> If I failed to mention any of you who encouraged me along the way, forgive
me.
> I just wanted to acknowledge the folks I leaned on the most. Thanks again.
I
> promise to pass it on to others. :-)
>
> 73 de Bert
> KC2HMN

6250. Re: New topic: Goals for 2002

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 01:54:50 UTC
From: KB9TMP <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com>
Message-ID: <a0ls5a$5r3$1@dagobah.blueriver.net>
Source record: 29305

"KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote in message news:aFrX7.746$9d.125819@newshog.newsread.com...
> What are your Amateur Radio goals for 2002? Try something new?? Elmer > someone?? Promote the hobby better?? Build something?? Or ?? Please keep > the topic somewhat close to Amateur Radio..
>
> May you be blessed with a safe and wonderful 2002!
>
> Ryan KC8PMX
>
>
>

My goal for 2002 is to pass that lousy code test!!
That and try 6 meter and 2 meter ssb/cw out for size, the new Ten Tec '6n2' gets delivered Jan 2 :)

--

'73' From KB9TMP
NCI-2385

Beware of the man who works hard to learn something, learns it, and finds himself no wiser than before. He is full of murderous resentment of people who are ignorant without having come by their ignorance the hard way.
-Peer's Law

6251. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 02:07:15 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <0zuX7.100373$BX4.6309814@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 29247

WHOA!

I chose to remain Advanced for other reasons--espcially after the restructuring. One was that I wanted to keep the "distinction" of having done the 13 WPM instead of being "lumped"
in with the new Extras. Not to be conceited, but because I did, after all, complete more stringent CW requirements to achieve General and above. I don't really care what someone else did to achieve their ticket, but I would like to have/keep credit in some small way for what I did do. Just as when I first became a ham, there was no other way except thru the CW door. A couple years later, the Tech - came along and those folks came in by doing less that I did. Now, that's perfectly OK, but I would, at least, like it known that I did a little more rather than having it swept under the rug. So if I upgrade now by taking the other Element, what will I gain? A little more bandwidth that might be thrown wide open in a year or two?
Be able to say I passed the test, only to have that door swung wide open as well? Except for the fact that I happen to enjoy CW (and I need to get back at it--I'm rusty), I did all that for naught. All I 'd had to do was wait a couple years for the CW requirements to lessen, and waltz thru the door with all the other "Lites". I bear no one ill will for passing whatever tests are applicable. But, again, except for the little bit of bandwidth, what do I gain? What can I do with an Extra ticket that I'm not already doing?

Jerry
K4KWH

N2EY <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011229000254.27168.00000726@mb-cb.aol.com...
> In article <3c2c8a9d_1@news7.fast.net>, "Carl R. Stevenson" <wa6vse@fast.net>
> writes:
>
> >"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> >news:20011227220325.01870.00000569@mb-fz.aol.com...
> >> In article
> ><XZpW7.242101$3d2.11769921@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
> >> "Richard Plourde" <rplourde@att.net> writes:
> >>

> >> >> > "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote
> >> >
> >> >> > If the > >> >> > Novice is promoted to this class by simply waiving element 2
> >then the
> >> >> > situation becomes much clearer.
> >> >
> >> >> Yup - but is it right to give away upgrades like that?
> >
> >Nope ...
>
> >> >Well, yes, it is because they have been law abiding hams for years,
> >possibly > >> >decades and granting them Element 2 is not going to ire anyone.
> >
> >No ... they haven't demonstrated the qualifications tested by the > >other
> >test element.
>
> OK, I'm gonna put on my devil's advocate hat here....
>
> What "qualifications" are needed to be an Extra that are not possessed by
an > Advanced? Forget about the VE rules and regs, because pre-VE-era Extras are not > retested in order to be VEs.
>
> The only difference between the operating privileges of an Extra and an > Advanced are a few subbands on 80, 40, 20 and 15. Extras get no additional > modes or power - the ONLY difference is those little subbands. What > "qualifications" are needed to operate on, say, 3524 that are not needed
to > operate on 3526?
>
> Devil's advocate hat off.
> >
> >> It might upset those who recently took a test to upgrade. Didja know > >that both > >> the NCVEC and NCI OPPOSED the ARRL BoD idea to give a "free" upgrade
> >of Novices
> >> and Tech Pluses to General?
> >
> >That's true ... as NCI has stated all along, we are "No Code > >International,"
> >not "No Qualifications International."
>
> Shall we review how the written tests were cut in number and size again?
> >
> >> The whole Extra written test! Today, a current Advanced has to take
> >a 50

> >> question written to get the Extra - same as a General. Auto-upgrade > >would not > >> go over big with some folks.
> >
> >And the more technical content (not that it's THAT hard, but it's > >reasonable for granting a license to operate and experiment)
> >is virtually all in the Extra test now ... the written elements for > >General are quite elementary ...
>
> Devil's advocate hat back on...
>
> WHY is that "technical content" essential for OPERATING privileges, or to > experiment? All US hams except Novices can use ALL authorized modes and > frequencies above 30 Mhz right now - the FCC thinks the written testing is > adequate. Current Generals, who have been tested even less than Advanceds,
can > experiment on every band and mode authorized to US hams - they just can't use
> some subbands on 80/40/20/15.
>
> Devil's advocate hat off.
> >
> >Now who's proposing to "dumb down" amateur radio???
> >
> Not me.
> >
> >> >> > All this is accomplished by waiving Element 2 for Novices and > >waiving > >> >> > Element 4(B) for Advanced. I think this is a very tiny price to > >pay in
> >> >order
> >> >> > to have a structure which can have some basic adjustments > >applied for
> >> >better
> >> >> > transitioning of everyone throughout the ARS experience.
> >> >
> >> >> I see your point, but others may be outraged and the FCC may nix
> >the > >> >> whole free upgrade idea.
> >
> >NO "freebie" no-test upgrades for novices or advanced ... the material > >in those elements is necessary to assure reasonable qualifications.
>
> I better put that hat back on..
>
> On the one hand you don't want to give free upgrades to Novices. On the other,
> you want to give allow Novices and Tech Pluses to use "modern digital modes"
> and analog voice modes. Huh?

> >
> >If someone has been an advanced for a while, the liklihood is that > >they weren't interested in code and have been unwilling to put forth > >the effort to get to 20 wpm.
>
> For some, yes. But the 20 wpm test has been avoidable by medical waiver
for > more than a decade.
>
> For at least some Advanceds, the written exam is the problem. Do not assume > that because the written test wasn't hard for you that it's a pushover for > everyone.
>
> >With the 20 wpm gone, I have little
> >sympathy for someone who isn't willing to take a relatively easy > >50 question written test to upgrade from adanced to extra.
>
> 20 wpm was relatively easy for many hams, and relatively tough for others.
Same
> for the written tests.
>
> Sounds to me like you want to make everyone jump through the same written test
> hoops you did.
>
> >> >> An ARRL committee is proposing virtually the same thing, > >> >> (good) plus widening the 'phone slots on those bands (bad).
> >> >
> >> >I agree with you here, also.
> >
> >So do I (surprised) ... I personally oppose widening the phone > >bands (at least at this time) because I don't think we should > >allow the lower parts of the bands to be over-run with SSB,
> >which could discourage the development of more modern > >digital modes.
>
> So it's OK with you if the SSB folks are hemmed in by limited subbands.
>
>
> >He's corrrect ... they are NOT "CW only" sub-bands (except if you > >hold a novice/tech+ license) ... others are technically free to use > >PSK31, Clover, PacTor, or other digital modes there, as long as > >they meet the (stupid) occupied bandwidth restrictions ...
>
> The bandwidth restrictions are not stupid at all.
>
> >Why
>
> [annoy]

>
> > the FCC by going back incesantly asking them to > >do things that they have already determined they're not going > >to do because they don't serve the public interest?
>
> I agree that it's not a good idea to keep asking the FCC to do things they've > already said they won't do. The "serve the public interest" is a matter of > opinion. Much of what the FCC does is done to reduce FCC admin work.
That's not > necessarily a bad thing.
> >
> >So there are approx. 40k novice licenses still valid and approx.
> >87k advanced licenses still valid (source "Year End Census of > >Amateur Radio Operators," The W5YI Report.
>
> You can get exact numbers from my posts in the thread "ARS License Numbers"
>
> As of May 14, 2000:
>
> Novice - 49,329
> Tech - 205,394
> Tech Plus - 128,860
> General - 112,677
> Advanced - 99,782
> Extra - 78,750
> Total - 674,792
>
> As of December 14, 2001:
>
> Novice - 40,337 (decrease of 8,992)
> Tech - 233,654 (increase of 28,260)
> Tech Plus - 85,869 (decrease of 42,991)
> General - 138,560 (increase of 25,883)
> Advanced - 86,617 (decrease of 13,165)
> Extra - 97,829 (increase of 19,079)
> Total - 682,866 (increase of 8,074)
>
>
> >What's the big > >deal? And there are some tech+ who will end up getting renewed > >as techs (but still keep their limited HF privs) if they don't > >upgrade.
> >What does that hurt?
>
> Ask Mr. Plourde.
> >
> >It took me from the time the rules changed until recently to find > >time to get around to going to a VE session to take the extra > >written and upgrade ...

>
> That's you. Others have different situations.
>
> >I didn't
>
> [complain]
>
> >I didn't ask to have the > >test waived ...
>
> But you did wait until the 13 and 20 wpm code tests were gone.
>
> > why should anyone get a total freebie??? If they > >don't want to, or don't have the time to, upgrade, they should > >remain satisfied with what they have. There is no reason to > >change the system ... nobody should get privileges they aren't > >qualified for, nor should anyone lose privileges they've already > >earned.
>
> Sounds like what some folks were saying before the restructuring. Folks
you > vehemently disagree with.
>
> >> >I think other hams see what's happening... the new ones come in and
> >get to > >> >general and extra very quickly and the elders are being 'corraled'
> >out in > >> >their pastures.
> >
> >How are "the elders being 'corraled' out in their pastures" ???
> >(serious question ... I don't get what you're infering here ...)
>
> I think he means that newcomers with quick memories, good health and lots
of > time go from zip to Extra in a short time, bypassing hams with much more
time > in the ARS. Heck, that's what I did 30+ years ago.
> >
> >> Hmm - interesting. Could even result in a situation where the
> >newbies say to
> >> the oldsters "I did it, so you have to, as well!"
> >
> >Turnabout is fair play, they say :-) As one who has followed the > >rules and taken and passed the extra written, I could take that > >view with respect to "waiving" the extra written and giving > >advanceds a free upgrade ... but that is NOT my motivation for > >opposing such a freebie ...
>
> Maybe.

>
> >the motivation is PURELY that there > >is legitimate material in the extra written test that should be tested
> >and advanceds should have to demonstrate that they know that > >material before being granted the additional privileges of the > >extra class (and I am NOT refering to the few small "extra only" > >sub-band slots ... I'm refering to the other things that are reserved > >for extras ...)
>
> Like what? What are the other Extra-only privileges that require more testing > of Advanceds? What is in the Extra test that is so necessary for Advanceds
to > know?
> >
> >> >> 3) the big opportunities of the post-2003 era are not being > >addressed
> >> >> adequately.
> >
> >I agree with that ... there is still not a good vision in the majority > >of the amateur community about what we need to do and where > >we need to go, in terms of technology and using our spectrum > >more fully and efficiently.
>
> So how you gonna educate 'em? Shove "modern digital modes" down their throats?
> >
> >More space for 50 year old SSB technology is NOT the answer, > >IMNSHO ...
>
> even if it's what most hams want?
>
> fun fact: SSB was first used by hams in the early 1930s, almost 70 years ago.
>
> > again I refer the interested to public comments by > >Dale Hatfield and other FCC officials on the future of amateur > >radio
>
> I read 'em. Main point he makes is "don't ask for lots of little subbands
for > every activity". And "we gotta get some hams up to speed on the current regs".
>
> >> I dunno about that. Their system may not know who is an "old" Tech > >Plus and who > >> isn't.
> >
> >The FCC's system "knows" who is an "old" Tech Plus and who is not,
>

> They do? Then why not just hand out Generals to them?
>
> >but as was pointed out, the system is programmed such that the VECs > >are the "engine" for input to the system and it would cost the FCC a > >LOT
> >in manpower and reprogramming to do such upgrades directly themselves.
>
> So the FCC avoids the work.
> >
> >I don't see taking one's paperwork to a VE session to get the upgrade > >as being such an onerous thing ...
>
> If one is healthy and able to get there.
> >
> >> I mean three slots by mode type: CW, digital, analog voice or image.
> >For > >> example, 40 meters might be 7000-7075 CW, 7075-7150 digital, > >7150-7300 analog
> >> voice or image.
> >
> >More "balkanization" as I pointed out before ... a BAD idea as RULES.
>
> I think they're a good idea.
>
> >I have no problem with flexible, voluntary bandplans and "gentleman's > >agrements" ... they can be changed far more easily than FCC rules
> >as needs change ... casting sub-band usage by mode into the relative > >concrete of Part 97 will ultimately hurt our ability to adapt to > >modernizing
> >changes in technology and usage patterns
>
> But you want to hold the line on the analog 'phone subbands. You don't want to > widen them, even though the usage might indicate that more 'phone spectrum
is > justified. Looks like a double standard.
>
> I say having "subbands by mode type" gives the best compromise.
> >
> >> >What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???
> >>
> >> Offer an upgrade incentive.
> >
> >"Incentive Licensing" was a dismal failure ...
>
> How do you figure? It was all about increasing technical knowledge. I think it > was propelled by Sputnik fever.
>
> > philosophically,

> >I agree with prior comments that power limitations make more > >sense than mode limitations, since they are more solidly based > >on some reasonable relation to one's technical knowledge,
> >as demonstrated by passing the more difficult tests.
>
> Huh? The FCC sez Techs are qualified to use 1.5 kW transmitters on VHF/UHF -
> are they wrong?
>
> >(however, I also realize the unfortunate political reality that > >taking amps away from those who currently are allowed > >to use them will raise hell that will make the code/no-code > >debate look pale by comparison ... therefore, I would, be > >reluctant to propose such a thing, even though I think it's a > >good idea ... too many folks just don't realize that there is > >far more "bang for the buck" to be had with better antennas
> >and better modulation and coding schemes than with brute
> >force power)
>
> Better antennas are not possible for many hams. Better modulation and coding > schemes are often do not offer what many hams want (hence the popularity
of > SSB).
>
> >>The point is to come up with something that isn't just another > >> patch slapped on the old system.
> >
> >As I see it, given that Morse testing will go away completely > >after WRC-03, the system isn't so bad
>
> I don't take it as a given, but that's beside the point. Main thing is to look > beyond the code test thingie.
>
> > ... current novices
> >are declining by at least 5k/year, either through upgrades, > >going SK, or simply not renewing ...
>
> We don't know if that's a linear function, though.
>
> >adanceds have declined
> >about 20k since "restructuring," through the same mechanisms
> >... tech+'s have declined about 45k, presumably mostly through > >upgrades to general, and those who don't upgrade will be > >renewed as techs, but retain their (limited) HF privs ...
>
> Same for those classes.
> >
> >What's the problem with this? Over time, through upgrades

> >and attrition, we will have only 3 license classes ... some > >might argue that 2 is sufficient (that's the norm in much of > >the world and it doesn't seem to cause any problem), but > >I'm OK with 3 ... particularly if the "power vs. technical > >knowledge" thing were enacted, though I'm certainly not > >planning to propose it ...
>
> Then we have a patchwork system for many years to come. New Techs continue
to > get full power licenses for just a 35 question test, while HF/MF remains > primarily in the hands of Generals and above. Newcomers still face the "200
> page book just to use an HT" problem W1RFI describes. And getting full > privileges requires jumping through written test hoops just to get more > spectrum.
>
> The future deserves better.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

6252. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 02:32:24 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2e7ddf_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29250

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:5EC2616372D482F4.E48391021E9BF3EA.BF221493688BD774@lp.airnews.net...
> On Fri, 28 Dec 2001 20:58:07 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> wrote:
>
> >I think Dick is a figment of my imagination... ;)
>
> Then please stop sharing your nightmares with the rest of > us--he's giving ham radio a bad name (and odor)!
>
> Rick
>
> --
>

Aw, c'mon, Rick. I am a sharing kind of person. :p

Kim W5TIT

6253. Re: OUCH!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 02:34:35 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011229213435.13985.00002218@mb-md.aol.com>
Source record: 29248

In article <p5bX7.244760$3d2.12028649@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
"JAMES HAMPTON" <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net> writes:

>
>Larry, I am in Rochester, NY. I do appreciate what you said about a >blizzard. Last I heard, Buffalo had received between 4 and 5 feet of snow >since Xmas eve and more is still comming down! Yesterday, they were >predicting up to 75 inches of snow through this one big storm (lake effect).
>In any case, have a safe and happy new year! I hope you don't have weather >that bad at home.
>
>73 from Rochester, NY
>Jim AA2QA

Jim:

My "ancestral home" where my parents still live is in Alden, NY, about halfway between Batavia and Buffalo. I left there yesterday morning, after digging out my own car and my parent's matched set of 2000 Lincoln Town Cars out from under a foot of snow each.
I then had a fairly easy drive on freshly plowed roads to Batavia, where I got on the Thruway, headed East, and from then on, the only snow I saw was that which was falling off of the cars coming from Buffalo! I just had an IM session with my brother Tom, and he said he finally got my parent's long driveway cleared, access to the garage on the lower level re-established, and no more new snow since 2 PM today. At least in Buffalo, such a snowfall doesn't result in total incapacitation for more than a day or so. Here in Delaware, it would probably cause Governor Minner to declare a state of emergency, and then I'd have to deal with listening to all the 2-meter Ham Heroes securing their places of fame and glory!

6254. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 02:35:49 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2e7eac$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29301

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:90E3D6D1570A9910.83930DFBE28A5089.C902006E0695907E@lp.airnews.net...
> On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 09:07:24 -0600, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net>
> wrote:
>
> >Take a look in the mirror, Dick C. There's a big bust waiting for you
> >there.
>
> There is?
>
> Maybe that's why Dick is so offended by your call sign.
>
> He wanted it for himself!
>
> Rick
>
> --
>

Oh, jeeze, I stuck my foot in my mouth on that one...LOL. Hey, no pun intended!

Kim W5TIT

6255. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 02:37:09 UTC
From: "\"Landshark\"" <Landshark@TheLandshark.com>
Message-ID: <p5vX7.17415$UQ1.4144444564@newssvr14.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 29249
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

It figures,

Landshark

--
Please note that any post that is from S3Buell_SBCGlobailnet@hotmail.com
is a FORGE. My Addy is always going to be from SBCGlobal.Net This person has been a troll on Rec.Radio.CB for a long time now. If you want to send a complaint,
forward each message complete with headers
to TOSUSENET@AOL.COM. Hotmailprivacy@hotmail.com, groups-abuse@google.com
Beware of George WA3MO^

"Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:3C2E69F0.EDF5458E@hotSPAMmail.com...
> Scott Unit-69 didn't write:
> >
> > Don't retune it. Why not just use it on 10M? That's where most CBers > > are using the lower channels where there is only morse code on.
>
> Notice this is cross-posted from groups.google.com.
>
> This fits the rules for a forge, and a forge it is.

6256. Re: New topic: Quality or Quantity

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 02:47:54 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2e8189_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29303

"KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote in message
news:bBrX7.745$9d.126208@newshog.newsread.com...
> Here's a new topic for all!
>
> Regardless of mode or band of transmission, is ham radio really about the > quality of the QSO or the quantity of the QSO's?? And state why please.
>
> Ryan KC8PMX
>

Well, it's "about" whatever each ham wants it to be. A DX ham may have no use whatever for extended conversations on the air, and I even know some who do nothing but DX--save the mobile trip to and from work each day where, sometimes, they will be on 2M or 70cm.

Then, there is the contester, doing nothing but contests. Literally no conversation, there.

What about SSTV and things like that? Are you including those modes in your query? Not really a "QSO", so to speak, but a contact.

A conversationalist doesn't really like all the quick-and-get stuff. I know I'd much rather spend even all afternoon on HF with a round table! We've done that at night before. Used to be about 10-15 of us on 28.400 who'd get there every evening, Sat and Sun morning. Just a local rag chew, with occasional contacts hearing us and saying hello. It was really neat.

Kim W5TIT

6257. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 02:49:32 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2E80BC.30FB8337@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29302

N2EY wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >An hour after the decision has been made? Miss that conversation and > >he's out in the cold.
>
> All that means is that he needs to know when to listen, and on what frequency.

But nobody knows when - it's all spontaneous.
"Hey, anybody wanna go camping?"
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6258. Re: ARES/RACES ACTIVITIES

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 02:52:49 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2e82a9_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29304

"KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote in message
news:vHrX7.747$9d.126510@newshog.newsread.com...
> What is your local ARES/RACES group doing on the local basis? Do they just > get together to meet or are they active in training and other activities?
> What are those activities and training they are pursuing? We are using
the > January meeting of 2002 for our local group to do a "evaluation" to see > where we are at, and of course, where we need to go forward with and always > looking for new, great ideas.
>
> Ryan KC8PMX
>
>

Is there anyone in your group with a GPS and some map program (Street Atlas or whatever)? If so, how 'bout mapping the entire county? I started this in Hunt County this year, and have only the northwest one-half left. I took my ARES Asst. EC (who is now ARES EC) with me, and we mapped spotting locations, utility substations, water towers, hospitals, police and fire stations, schools, etc. It took several weekends, lots of gas, and lots of time--but if there's ever a really serious disaster in Hunt County, or if there is even a tornado on the ground, we'll be able to track its path and know the danger. The mapped locations that net control would use has the phone number for each location.

Just a thought...

Kim W5TIT

6259. Re: OUCH!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 02:58:07 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2e83e6$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29307

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011229213435.13985.00002218@mb-md.aol.com...
>
> Here in > Delaware, it would probably cause Governor Minner to declare a > state of emergency, and then I'd have to deal with listening to all > the 2-meter Ham Heroes securing their places of fame and glory!

What? Modern rigs have things called on/off buttons, Larry. If yours is broke, you could just pull the plug or take the batteries out. Don't have a modern rig?

Kim W5TIT

6260. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 03:00:30 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2E834E.2014983C@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29306

f1dfr wrote:
> The event will be greater than the break of Berlin's wall.

Such delusions of grandeur. Probably 99.97% of the population of the USA couldn't care less about amateur Morse code testing.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6261. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 03:21:04 UTC
From: oneangryman@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <8c61e9d6.0112291921.5f516c38@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29308
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com (Twistedhed) wrote in message news:<e9de0154.0112201650.5423f9f0@posting.google.com>...
> "Hammies and dog-pound refugees (dogie,nad,pipeboy) would do well to > read my scintillating prose and learned insights on the fine art of > freebanding. A pet peeve of mine is that hammies (certain ones) put > down radio hobbyists like myself just because they are CBers and just > because they use gear that's advanced. I have logged more DX on the > freeband than most 2 meter hams have in a lifetime. Why shouldn't I be > treated with respect? All I am asking is that the issue of legality be > put aside and my acheivements be recognized for what they are"
>
> http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> "If you take the time to read this you will see that we on freeband
> have problems with troublemakers too. They don't abide by our rules.
> They don't care what others think. They jam and make noises on 27.555.
> Read about it in my article. They are wrecking my freeband and they > should be stopped"
>
> http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> "I admit I get all upset when hammies tell me I am breaking rules. I > don't care about rules. I don't care what others think. If I want to > operate freeband it is my responsibility and I don't like to hear > anyone putting me down for it. Read about how we have created our own > little illegal alternative to ham radio on the freeband. You hammies > can be jealous"
>
> http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> "Hammies try to say that there are goverment users on 27.555 and > above. I have never heard any myself so that proves there are none.
> Because of course what I say is true and everyone else is a liar.
> Read my wonderful prose and see for yourself"
>
> http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> "Geniuses like me don't need to obey laws since we are above the > masses. Take that, you pussy-footed hams"

Your an outlaw genius? If my grandmother had wheels would that make her a wagon?
Here is a web site for you to check out Mr. Genius;

http://www.arrl.org/hamradio.html
Try to learn something about us 'hammies' Free band was fun, but I grew up and left the 'Childrens Band' and joined the REAL radio operators!

BTW all Google posts are fake just like this one is. E-:)

signed
One Angry No Code Ham
Member Number 1 of the No Code Liberation Army (NCLA)

6262. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 03:26:39 UTC
From: Arf! Arf! <DoggieDaze@Liberal.comz> Message-ID: <a0m1iqdel0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29309
Cross-posted to:
alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman

"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:a0lj1g$i2f$0@dosa.alt.net...
>
> "Ross Archer" <archer@topnow.com> wrote in message
> news:31b19051.0112291448.4c9be3f8@posting.google.com...
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:<a0koolsrf3@dosa.alt.net>...
> >
> > > The reason Lllardasssss Llllloyd's "romance " wasn't successful is > because
> > > he's GAY.
> >
> > Gads, I HOPE NOT! Lloyd would pass neither the minimum intelligence nor > style > > requirements needed to be accepted in such company. The scummiest gay > person
> > I know personally beats Lloyd as a human being, any old day.
> >
> > -- Ross
>
> LOL!!!!! That's funny, Ross.
> But you've got to admit, somebody who's almost thirty years old an still a > virgin has to be well, you know. lol!

That's not too far from an almost fifty year old who still lives at home with his mommy.
That kind of guy has to be, well, you know. Har Har Har Har

6263. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 03:34:41 UTC
From: oneangryman@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <8c61e9d6.0112291934.78db8d40@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29310
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

"Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:<3C2E428E.BF9584B2@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> Twistedhed didn't write:
> >
> > Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!
> > "Roger Halstead" <rdhalste@tm.net>
> > news:CoyW7.1399$Dl1.693885@monger.newsread.com.
> >
> > One more troll!
> >
> > Roger (K8RI)
> >
> > "Not a troll Roger, that web page exists, read it. Sporadic Waves has > > been a mag for freebanders like me for a long time now. We are also > > concerned about truckers on 10 meters as they are usurping our > > expansion space. We are eyeing 12 meters as a solution"
>
> ATTENTION NEWSGROUP PEOPLE!!!
>
> If you see any cross-posted messages with the groups.google.com organization, > consider it highly suspect as a forge and DO NOT RESPOND! Thank you.

You'll never know just how right you are!

signed
One Angry No Code Ham
Member Number 1 of the No Code Liberation Army (NCLA)

There are 3 older fake identities just in the sig file alone.
Just for you CB'rs and SLOW readers they are;
1 One Angry Man
2 No Code Amateur
3 The No Code Liberation Army

Any of them ring a bell? YeeHaw

6264. FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 04:15:57 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <OeOlDgOkBHA.1348@cpimsnntpa02>
Source record: 29311

> More "gloom and doom" Larry?

> Get a grip! Simply because the FCC doesn't view it as > essential for a ham to have a permanent station location does NOT mean > they are trying to strip any frequencies from us. With today's > equipment, you DON'T need a permanent station location--modern rigs
> are very capable of mobile or portable operations, something that the > HF rigs a few decades ago weren't really suited for.

> Sounds simple enough to me.

If it sounds "simple enough" to you, then perhaps you haven't thought through the implications of the FCC denial of the petition to extend PRB-1 antenna protection to Amateur Radio Service antennas.

Personally, I think that Larry completely understates the case, and in fact this is the most chilling decision from the FCC since "banish them to 200 meters and down". The denial signals to me the possible end of Federal support for the Amateur Radio Service.

Consider that while FCC denies protection from CC&Rs to amateurs, it recently GRANTED this protection to home entertainment antennas.

I'll say that again. The FCC recently GRANTED protection from CC&Rs for home entertainment system antennas, but DENIES the same protection to amateur antenna systems.

Instead, they basically tell us to "go eat cake", go for a ride in your car, or go down to the club station. Uhhhhhhhh, is there a club station near you which can be shared by all the amateurs in your community? And would you leave your latest project down there while you rethink some of the circuit designs? How about running the Sweepstakes contest all weekend from your minivan?

The message is very clear to me -- "You amateurs don't have enough financial or political clout for us to worry about.

Now, to address your notion of "Don't sign an agreement... blah, blah, blah...." What a cop out! Tell it to a 15 year-old teenager who just developed an interest in amateur radio.

"Hey, Dad, I've been reading on the web about amateur radio, and it seems like a really interesting hobby. If I study and pass the license tests, can you help me put up a small antenna in the back yard?"

"Sounds like a great idea, son. But I have to check with the HOA first -- seems I remember something about antennas in our deed."

Next day -- "Sorry son, but we are restricted from putting up an antenna on our property. I guess Ham radio is out of the question for you. Maybe I'll get you one of those new video game systems instead."

Kids who live in newer developments (can you say semi-affluent, well educated kids, with bright career futures) are effective barred from meaningful involvement in the full range of Amateur Radio activities -- this is one of the demographic targets we need desperately to reach to fulfill the charter of our service.

If may well be that a healthy amateur radio service, which appeals to bright young scientifically-inclined youngsters is no longer a federal objective, and that 97.1 is nothing more than eyewash.

Clearly this is a fit subject for discussion on rraPOLICY, and should not be lightly dismissed with phrases like "Get a grip!"

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

6265. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 04:28:05 UTC
From: K0HB <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <bd4b97c8c546d0f63e2c1f1747a74a0e.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 29312

"CAM" wrote:

> It is not the responsibility of the federal government to provide > a ham with an antenna unrestricted home. It is the responsibility > of the individual to find an antenna unrestricted home.

Tell that to owners of home entertainment systems for which the FCC has PRE-EMPTED all CC&R restrictions.

> I went so far as to buy two acres in the Phoenix area > for the purpose of erecting ham antennas.

Tell that to a young family man raising a family, or to a teenager who just got interested in our hobby, or to a retiree on pension who's just decided to pursue his dream of being a ham. Maybe you'll share with them?

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

--
Posted via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

6266. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 04:41:38 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2E9B02.440216E8@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29313

K0HB wrote:
> Tell that to a young family man raising a family, or to a > teenager who just got interested in our hobby, or to a > retiree on pension who's just decided to pursue his dream of > being a ham.

Life's rough all over, Hans. I drove a pickup with 200,000 miles on it so I could possess those two acres. People must proprietize their wants/needs. Which is more important - a ham antenna or a vehicle? Yet, the federal government doesn't guarantee us vehicles.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6267. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 04:47:57 UTC
From: "Joe S." <joe@schlatter.org>
Message-ID: <a0m69i0dn9@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29317
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

How about we just forward it to Riley and let him sort it out.

Done.

--
- - -

Regards,
Joe S.

"Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:3C2E69F0.EDF5458E@hotSPAMmail.com...
> Scott Unit-69 didn't write:
> >
> > Don't retune it. Why not just use it on 10M? That's where most CBers > > are using the lower channels where there is only morse code on.
>
> Notice this is cross-posted from groups.google.com.
>
> This fits the rules for a forge, and a forge it is.

6268. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 04:50:02 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2E9CFA.7B2E2AEE@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29314

K0HB wrote:
> The message is very clear to me -- "You amateurs don't have > enough financial or political clout for us to worry about.

Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you? Any other legal contracts you would like to dismiss?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6269. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 04:57:32 UTC
From: K0HB <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <ea5e406520f1494a1d5731e9819c0871.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 29315

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:

> Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a > state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you? Any other > legal contracts you would like to dismiss?

Nope.

73, Hans, K0HB

--
Posted via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

6270. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 05:01:42 UTC
From: K0HB <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <3109a004b83e2a1d1c437d5b0a7ca7bb.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 29316

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2E9B02.440216E8@IEEE.org...

> Which is more important - a ham antenna or a vehicle?

A lovely non-sequitur, Cecil.

I've heard you are an intellectually gifted man, but it appears that you have neglected to unwrap
all your presents.

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

--
Posted via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

6271. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 05:12:34 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2DE9CF.F6ACCA14@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29318
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

KC8JBO wrote:

>
> Really, then how cAn I explain those papers that are right in front of me
> now?

Why the capital letter in the middle of can, learn the proper use of capitalization, woger.

> character of service in which "Honorable" is typed there.which proves you > never fucking served at all.

Why the period between there and which, learn proper punctuation,
woger.

6272. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 05:14:58 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2DEA5F.A8BEE253@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29319
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

KC8JBO wrote:

> LOL!!!!! That's funny, Ross.
> But you've got to admit, somebody who's almost thirty years old an still a > virgin has to be well, you know. lol!

That's 'thirty years and still a virgin', learn the difference between 'an' and 'and', woger.

6273. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 05:26:06 UTC
From: "Stephen M.H. Lawrence" <smhlawrence.get_rid_of_thispart_to_reply@lycos.com> Message-ID: <3C2EA598.5DCD2BDA@lycos.com>
Source record: 29320
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

The Better Amateur Radio Federation wrote:

> What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Ummm....group masturbation accompanied by the strains of Wagner, writhing around in your feces?

(I think I'm pretty close to the mark, there)

73,

Steve Lawrence
Omaha

6274. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 05:32:21 UTC
From: Hans Brakob <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <4a0ba24e92da60f68c3300f4b517f794.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 29321

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:

> Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a > state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you?

The Commission has determined affirmatively that it does in fact have the jurisdiction to preempt private land use regulations, and Congress has expressly ordered the Commission to exercise such jurisdiction in the context of over-the-air entertainment device antennas in residential areas.

The Commission has acknowledged that private land use regulations are often used as a means of precluding the use of outdoor antennas, and for this reason has preempted such antenna regulations in the case of CC&Rs prohibiting video (TV) entertainment reception.

It is true a priori that private land use regulations which preclude or fail to reasonably accommodate Amateur communications, or which do not constitute the minimum practicable regulation to accomplish the private land use authority's legitimate goal, are just as inconsistent with the strong Federal interest in Amateur Radio communications as are zoning regulations of those same facilities which do not meet the same test. It would be illogical to assert that the Commission has any less interest in unreasonable covenant regulation of amateur antennas than it has with respect to unreasonable zoning regulation of those same antennas.

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

--
Posted via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

6275. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 06:11:24 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2EA32A.E6FCEF8@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29322

CAM wrote:

> K0HB wrote:
> > Tell that to a young family man raising a family, or to a > > teenager who just got interested in our hobby, or to a > > retiree on pension who's just decided to pursue his dream of > > being a ham.
>
> Life's rough all over, Hans. I drove a pickup with 200,000 > miles on it so I could possess those two acres. People must > proprietize their wants/needs. Which is more important - > a ham antenna or a vehicle? Yet, the federal government > doesn't guarantee us vehicles.

Yup. And if you were a kid getting interested in ham radio today you'd be faced with being prohibited from it instead of how it worked out for you in the 50's. So it's fine for you to have freedom from such unrealistic restrictions but not those who have no control nor involvement in them but who must abide by someone elses stupidity. I gotta say, it's typical of ya, pal.

6276. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 06:19:52 UTC
From: Dick Carroll <dixie@townsqr.com>
Message-ID: <3C2EA527.D544997F@townsqr.com>
Source record: 29323

Hans Brakob wrote:

> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
>
> > Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a > > state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you?
>
> The Commission has determined affirmatively that it > does in fact have the jurisdiction to preempt private land use > regulations, and Congress has expressly ordered the Commission to > exercise such jurisdiction in the context of over-the-air > entertainment device antennas in residential areas.
>
> The Commission has acknowledged that private land use regulations > are often used as a means of precluding the use of outdoor antennas, > and for this reason has preempted such antenna regulations in the > case of CC&Rs prohibiting video (TV) entertainment reception.
>
> It is true a priori that private land use regulations which preclude > or fail to reasonably accommodate Amateur communications, or which > do not constitute the minimum practicable regulation to accomplish
> the private land use authority's legitimate goal, are just as > inconsistent with the strong Federal interest in Amateur Radio > communications as are zoning regulations of those same facilities > which do not meet the same test. It would be illogical to assert > that the Commission has any less interest in unreasonable covenant > regulation of amateur antennas than it has with respect to unreasonable > zoning regulation of those same antennas.

Dawgone, Hans, I do believe you're cornfuses poor ol' Cec. Maybe scotch got what his one-hit $hit missed.

6277. Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 08:24:18 UTC
From: twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com
Message-ID: <e9de0154.0112300024.125df714@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29324
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in
this group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the frequencies from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might
think.
We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip conditions.
We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know technical issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us
is rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This should not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams
do.
For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
is a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying
is that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to talk with
him before you condemn him.

This article ought to clarify things, as I am the author:
http://sporadic1.tripod.com/page7.html

I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)

Unit 2711, Florida

6278. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 08:41:16 UTC
From: twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com
Message-ID: <e9de0154.0112300041.308b692c@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29325
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

BTW all Google posts are fake just like this one is. E-:)

"Fake? You think this is fake? I spent a whole year writing it and you'd better appreciate me and my superior intellect"

http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

6279. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 11:21:36 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <4NCX7.315575$W8.11841332@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29326
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Bozo*Flush says Google Forge.

"Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message
news:e9de0154.0112300024.125df714@posting.google.com...
> I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in
> this > group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the > frequencies
> from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might
> think.
> We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip
> conditions.
> We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know
> technical > issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us
> is > rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This > should > not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams
> do.
> For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
> is > a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying
> is > that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to > talk with > him before you condemn him.
>
> This article ought to clarify things, as I am the author:
> http://sporadic1.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)
>
> Unit 2711, Florida

6280. Re: I Am An Outlaw CB Genius!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 11:22:26 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <SNCX7.315577$W8.11840948@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29327
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

GoogleForge

"Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message news:e9de0154.0112300041.308b692c@posting.google.com...
> BTW all Google posts are fake just like this one is. E-:)
>
> "Fake? You think this is fake? I spent a whole year writing it and > you'd better appreciate me and my superior intellect"
>
> http://sporadicwaves.tripod.com/page7.html

6281. Re: I Am A NOCODE Lifer Tech!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 12:27:02 UTC
From: "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com>
Message-ID: <3C2F0803.3435EE7D@hotSPAMmail.com>
Source record: 29328
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

One Angry Man wrote:
> You'll never know just how right you are!
>
> signed
> One Angry No Code Ham
> Member Number 1 of the No Code Liberation Army (NCLA)

You can be as angry as you want to be. Those of us who have done nothing wrong, have nothing to worry about.

> There are 3 older fake identities just in the sig file alone.
> Just for you CB'rs and SLOW readers they are;
> 1 One Angry Man
> 2 No Code Amateur
> 3 The No Code Liberation Army
>
> Any of them ring a bell? YeeHaw

Who cares?

P.S. I hold no stinkin' ticket.

6282. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 13:03:14 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230080314.05154.00000693@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 29329

In article <0zuX7.100373$BX4.6309814@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>, "Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> writes:

>WHOA!

Oh, Wilbur!!
>
>I chose to remain Advanced for other reasons--espcially after the >restructuring. One was >that I wanted to keep the "distinction" of having done the 13 WPM instead of >being "lumped"
>in with the new Extras. Not to be conceited, but because I did, after all, >complete more stringent CW requirements to achieve General and above.

I understand where you're coming from, Jerry, but an Advanced license by itself doesn't mean you passed 13 wpm, just like an Extra today doesn't mean you passed 20 wpm. Medical waivers for 13 and 20 wpm code have been available since 1990, so unless you can show that your license was issued before then, there's no proof of 13 wpm. Just like there's no proof of 20 wpm for my Extra unless it's also known that I got it before 1990 (1970, to be exact).

>So if I upgrade now by taking >the other Element, what will I gain? A little more bandwidth that might be >thrown wide open in a year or two?

That, maybe a 1x2 or 2x1 call (which you probably have no interest in) and more VE privs (which may make no difference to you either).

> But, again, except for the little bit of bandwidth, what do I >gain? What can I do with an Extra ticket that I'm not already doing?

BINGO!

Operationally, the ONLY difference between an Advanced and an Extra is access to a few subbands. Those are where the DX is often found, 'specially the rare ones, but if you're not a DXer it makes no difference.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6283. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 13:11:28 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0n728$4i7$2@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29331
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

AIDS ravaged
"JizzRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> jizzburped in message news:3C2DEA5F.A8BEE253@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
>
> > LOL!!!!! That's funny, Ross.
> > But you've got to admit, somebody who's almost thirty years old an still
a > > virgin has to be well, you know. lol!
>
> That's 'thirty years and still a virgin',

Speaking from experience, Jizzwallowing JR?

> learn the difference > between 'an' and 'and', woger.

Poor Jizz recepticle, his lack of talent in ANYTHING leaves he/she/it to this. According to Llllardasssss llllloyd, he doesn't even give good blowjobs to Lllllloyd.

6284. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 13:12:40 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0n72a$4i7$3@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29332
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"Stephen M.H. Lawrence" <smhlawrence.get_rid_of_thispart_to_reply@lycos.com> wrote in message news:3C2EA598.5DCD2BDA@lycos.com...
>
>
> The Better Amateur Radio Federation wrote:
>
> > What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?
>
> Ummm....group masturbation accompanied by the strains of Wagner, writhing around
> in your feces?
>
> (I think I'm pretty close to the mark, there)
>
> 73,
>
> Steve Lawrence
> Omaha

Let's not leave out the "Horst Wessel" song in Lllardasssssss' masturbatory set.

6285. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 13:15:47 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0n8b7$6u8$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29333
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"LloydVFP" <KV4FZliveson@KV4FZforever.org> wrote in message news:a0lqh2$c1k$0@dosa.alt.net...
> > Really, then how can I explain those papers that are right in front of
me
> > now?
> > BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!

Methjadone just kick in, heroin addict?

> > The AIR FORCE DISCHARGE was issued on a DD-256-AF when I served, DUMBFUCK.
> > The DD-214 is the Report of Seperation of Active Duty, the section e.
has
> ^^^^^^^^^^^^
>
> > character of service in which "Honorable" is typed there.which proves
you
> > never fucking served at all.
>
> Wogey, The correct spelling is "separation" and not
> "seperation."

Anonymous coward, you still assfucking your two daughters?

> Errrrr, what college did you claim to have earned > a "degree" from.

One that knows to put question marks after questions, DUMBFUCK.
You obviously didn't go to college.

> Me thinks you are a phoney, with a "degree"
> from some diploma mill (you send $50, they send you a "degree.")
> HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR HAR

Methinks you are a perverted pedophile who has a felony criminal record.
BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!!!

6286. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 13:19:12 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0n8b8$6u8$1@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29334
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"JizzRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wiped the 12-year-old sperm from his double chins and slobbered in message news:3C2DE9CF.F6ACCA14@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
>
> >
> > Really, then how cAn I explain those papers that are right in front of me
> > now?
>
> Why the capital letter in the middle of can, learn the proper use > of capitalization, woger.

Why the typo-laming when the archives show what an illiterate fuck you are?

> > character of service in which "Honorable" is typed there.which proves
you
> > never fucking served at all.
>
> Why the period between there and which, learn proper punctuation,
> woger.

Follow your own advice, Jizzswallowing John Perry. Questions usually end punctuated with question marks, but those two mangled sentences above you wrote didn't.
Hypocrite.

6287. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 13:22:38 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0n8b9$6u8$2@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29335
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.2600,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Faggot Lee" <SLee@houston-hunks.com> wrote in message news:3863f3fe3ec89d6a53d@houston-hunks.com...
>
> On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 17:39:50 -0500, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote:
> :
> : Really, then how cAn I explain those papers that are right in front of
me
> -------------------^^^ (Extreme agitation causes shift bar strike)

Fix your margins, fuckwit.

> : now?
> : BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!
> : The AIR FORCE DISCHARGE was issued on a DD-256-AF when I served, DUMBFUCK.
> : The DD-214 is the Report of Seperation of Active Duty, the section e.
has
> ------------------------------^^^^^^^^^^ (Hands start to shake here.)
>
> : character of service in which "Honorable" is typed there.which proves
you
> -(Hands trembling now: misses space bar and shift key)----^^

Faggot Lee's hands tremble when he fucks those little kids up the ass and gives them a reach-around. The convicted felon Faggot Lee's palsied hands tremble when they get near underage boys' cock.

> : never fucking served at all.
> : Why does W4NTI discuss his DD-214 if it doesn't exist. You are one dumb
> : fucking, taliban supporting, UNAMERICAN .
> --(Lips quiver as extra space inserted)--^

Faggot Lee's lips quiver when he sucks off those underage boys.

> Yep, I'd say that the writer looks so very upset that his claims are > suspicious.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!
Prove it, fuckwit.

6288. REPOST: Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 13:22:38 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <7$--$$-$$-%%%-_$%$@news.noc.cabal.int>
Source record: 29508
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.2600,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Faggot Lee" <SLee@houston-hunks.com> wrote in message
news:3863f3fe3ec89d6a53d@houston-hunks.com...
>
> On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 17:39:50 -0500, KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote:
> :
> : Really, then how cAn I explain those papers that are right in front of
me
> -------------------^^^ (Extreme agitation causes shift bar strike)

Fix your margins, fuckwit.

> : now?
> : BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!
> : The AIR FORCE DISCHARGE was issued on a DD-256-AF when I served, DUMBFUCK.
> : The DD-214 is the Report of Seperation of Active Duty, the section e.
has
> ------------------------------^^^^^^^^^^ (Hands start to shake here.)
>
> : character of service in which "Honorable" is typed there.which proves
you
> -(Hands trembling now: misses space bar and shift key)----^^

Faggot Lee's hands tremble when he fucks those little kids up the ass and gives them a reach-around. The convicted felon Faggot Lee's palsied hands tremble when they get near underage boys' cock.

> : never fucking served at all.
> : Why does W4NTI discuss his DD-214 if it doesn't exist. You are one dumb
> : fucking, taliban supporting, UNAMERICAN .
> --(Lips quiver as extra space inserted)--^

Faggot Lee's lips quiver when he sucks off those underage boys.

> Yep, I'd say that the writer looks so very upset that his claims are > suspicious.

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!
Prove it, fuckwit.

========= WAS CANCELLED BY =======:
Path: news.sol.net!spool1-nwblwi.newsops.execpc.com!newsfeeds.sol.net!news-out.visi.com!he rmes.visi.com!newsfeed1.earthlink.net!newsfeed.earthlink.net!uunet!lax.uu.net!news.navix.n et!u-n-c-a-n-c-e-l-l-e-r
From: "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Newsgroups: alt.config,comp.lang.c,alt.2600

Subject: cmsg cancel <a0n8b9$6u8$2@pita.alt.net>
Control: cancel <a0n8b9$6u8$2@pita.alt.net>
Date: Mon, 31 Dec 2001 07:37:06 GMT
Organization: Navix Internet Subscribers
Lines: 2
Message-ID: <cancel.a0n8b9$6u8$2@pita.alt.net>
NNTP-Posting-Host: 166.102.15.34
X-Trace: iac5.navix.net 1009792962 972 166.102.15.34 (31 Dec 2001 10:02:42 GMT)
X-Complaints-To: abuse@navix.net
NNTP-Posting-Date: 31 Dec 2001 10:02:42 GMT
X-No-Archive: yes
Comment: Anarchy! Fuck You!
X-Commentary: I love NewsAgent 1.10, Sandblaster Build 74 (19 March 1999) and the Polaris Cancel Engine V. 6.1
X-Unacanc3l: yes

This message was cancelled from within Mozilla...not

6289. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 14:00:32 UTC
From: "Jim Bromley, K7JEB" <j.e.bromley@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <46FX7.205538$WW.11911456@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29330

> HEH. I think I'll have to take your word for it!
> Hey, my husband--oh, OM as I suppose I should call > him for hamdom (even though I think YL and OM are > pretty tacky)--has a Worked All El Paso certificate!
> Were you in on that? It took him about, hmmmmm, > maybe a year to do it?

> Kim W5TIT (husband is W5CAW)

Well, my last residence in El Paso was in 1971, so it wasn't me. Actually, the WAE award is issued by the El Paso ARC (W5ES), of which I was never a member.
So I don't know the details about issuing them. That certificate has been in existence for 50 years that I know of and qualifies, I suppose, as an historical artifact or something like that.

I keep suggesting to the people I talk to in Glendale, California that we should institute a "Worked All Glendale" award (the 'WAG' award), but, as you well know, suggestive three-letter acronyms/abbreviations tend to upset and confuse people.

--
Jim Bromley, K7JEB k7jeb@arrl.net
Glendale, Arizona

6290. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 14:01:55 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0n8bq$6u8$h@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29336
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy,alt.2600

Testicleless COWARD
"Arf! Arf!" <DoggieDicksucker@Liberal.comz> wrote in message news:a0md4r$7en$0@dosa.alt.net...
>
>
> Heck, a fifty dollar diploma? At least Roger's buddy, W4AMP went to school > for nine months. Of course AMP claims to be an Engineer, a title that takes > most students four years to accomplish, and that at an accredited college.
> (it is his lie....let him tell it the way he wants...) > Roger claims to have a college degree, yet cannot spell or author a cohesive

BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!
You mean "coherent sentence," DUMBASS. "Cohesive" is what is happeneing to youtr jack-rag under your bed, sticking together after all the sperm deposits. Hope your mommy doesn't find out you are using a pair of her panties as a jack rag.

> sentence. W4AMP claims to be an engineer with an income of $90,000 per > annum. Neither one of these guys is telling the truth.
> Roger lives with his mother

I do? BWHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA you need to get up-to-date.

>and AMP, despite his alleged "ninety thou" per > annum income continues to live in a run-down rental while dodging bill > collectors.

While Oraasssssss pimps his daughters and Arselicks was fired twice from his position with the FCC for jamming.

> The only perceivable difference between the two is that Roger apparently > meets and pays his bills. AMP is struggling to make ends meet what with a > run-down second-hand car and pay-as-you-go cell phones that were recently > shut off due to non-payment.
> Wogie seems to live within his means. AMP? Heck...he has no "means" and > will forever be what he is...a shameless liar.

Sounds like the little fatassed wire-puller and conduit bender is jealous of W4AMP.

6291. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:06:39 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F2D7F.B4935D69@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29337

Dick Carroll wrote:
> Yup. And if you were a kid getting interested in ham radio today you'd > be faced with being prohibited from it instead of how it worked out for > you in the 50's. So it's fine for you to have freedom from such > unrealistic restrictions but not those who have no control nor > involvement in them but who must abide by someone elses stupidity. I > gotta say, it's typical of ya, pal.

When the father of that kid defaults on his home loan, does the loan company allow the kid to continue living there? It's unfortunate, but a kid is affected by the contracts willingly entered into by the father.

You seem to have a double standard, Dick. You argue that Kim's legal callsign is detrimental to the ARS and a lot of people are turned off by it. Many neighbors consider HF antennas to be eyesores, are turned off by them, and want to be protected from them by the CC&Rs. Seems you talk with forked tongue.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6292. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:09:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F2E16.E166F1D7@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29338

Dick Carroll wrote:
> Dawgone, Hans, I do believe you're cornfuses poor ol' Cec. Maybe scotch > got what his one-hit $hit missed.

Dick, do you often go about trying to break the contracts that you have signed?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6293. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:20:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F30AC.6EF20444@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29339
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Twistedhed wrote:
> We are treated like 2nd class citizens.

Would you like for a homeless person to start living in the back seat of your vehicle?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6294. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:22:15 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230102215.03703.00000783@mb-da.aol.com>
Source record: 29342

In article <3C2E9B02.440216E8@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>K0HB wrote:
>> Tell that to a young family man raising a family, or to a >> teenager who just got interested in our hobby, or to a >> retiree on pension who's just decided to pursue his dream of >> being a ham.
>
>Life's rough all over, Hans. I drove a pickup with 200,000 >miles on it so I could possess those two acres.

So everyone must do as you did?

>People must
>proprietize their wants/needs.

"Proprietize"? Maybe you mean "prioritize".

Is ham radio to be limited only to those who can find two unrestricted acres?

> Which is more important -
>a ham antenna or a vehicle?

Why must there be a choice?

>Yet, the federal government
>doesn't guarantee us vehicles.

They DO guarantee that we have certain freedom of use of our vehicles, though.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6295. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:22:15 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230102215.03703.00000782@mb-da.aol.com>
Source record: 29343

In article <E447BB6B107727DE.124A1E3F3A33C370.703D7850046C58A1@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:50 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
>wrote:
>
>>Greetings All:
>>
>>To those who have been insisting that the FCC has the best interests >>of the ARS at heart, I offer the following. I seems like "Restructuring"
>>isn't the only way they had in mind to put an end to our tomfoolery on >>all this valuable RF real estate. Now they're saying licensed radio >>amateurs don't have any need to establish a station in our own homes.
>>Get ready to lose some more spectrum -- and soon! Read it and weep...
>>
>>73 de Larry, K3LT
>
> More "gloom and doom" Larry?

Nope - facts and reasonable conclusions.
>
> Get a grip!

Which means what?

>Simply because the FCC doesn't view it as >essential for a ham to have a permanent station location does NOT mean >they are trying to strip any frequencies from us.

It sure doesn't help the ARS grow and prosper, though. If the ARS doesn't grow and prosper, there will be no reason for our frequencies to be preserved for our use. And make no mistake, there are plenty of folks who would be really happy to see ham radio just disappear.

>With today's >equipment, you DON'T need a permanent station location-

Nobody NEEDS to be ham at all, either.

>-modern rigs
>are very capable of mobile or portable operations, something that the >HF rigs a few decades ago weren't really suited for.

The antennas haven't gotten any smaller, though. Mobile is no solution for those without suitable vehicles. Portable is fine if you're a camping type - useless if you're not.

> It's a ham's choice whether or not he or she will move into an >area with antenna restrictions--no one is forced to do so, they can >live elsewhere if they feel the restrictions are more important than >the location.

That's not true in the vast majority of cases. Young hams usually don't choose where they live. Amateurs with families usually do not have autocratic power to decide where to live based solely on antenna considerations.

In real life, home choice is often driven by a number of factors:

- cost
- availability (you can't buy what's not for sale)
- suitable location (jobs, family, stores)
- size and features
- school district
- special family member needs (handicapped access, health care access, special educational facilities, etc.)

There is also the fact that many people aren't in a position to move just so they can become hams.

>If enough hams take the attitude that they won't buy >homes in restricted communities, and if that has an economic impact on >the community, the restrictions will disappear.

Nope. For one thing, there just aren't enough hams looking to buy houses to make much of a difference. Surf over to

http://www.realtor.com

and get an idea of the size of the real estate market. How many hams do you think are looking for houses at any one time?

For another thing, the restrictions are carefully designed to be extremely difficult to remove. Even if both buyer and seller want to be rid of them, they are specifically set up so that they cannot be removed in future sales.

>If not, it's a simple >question of market economics (non-hams may be MORE willing to buy in >an area where antennas are banned), not something that involves (or >SHOULD involve) the government directly.

Just the opposite. It forces hams into "ghettos" that are constantly shrinking.

>
> Don't like a restriction? Don't sign a purchase agreement for >property until you know it doesn't have any in its deed of title.

In many situations there is no reasonable choice. And what if a person decides to become a ham after buying a house - should they be forced to move?
>
> Sounds simple enough to me.

It's not.

Would you have the same attitude towards CC&Rs which specified that only married couples could engage in certain activities on the property? Or that restricted anyone from perfectly legal at-home activities like alcohol use or eating meat? Particularly when the percentage of properties so restricted grew every year, making it harder and harder to find an unrestricted house?

--

"No-antenna" covenants started in the '70s in California (natch) as a sweetheart deal between developers and cable providers. The cable companies picked up the cost of wiring new developments for cable and the developers inserted the "no antennas" restrictions in the fine print. End result was a guaranteed captive market for the cable TV folks.

As I understand it, the reason TV dishes are exempted is that the "pizza dish" satellite companies pushed a test case all the way to the Supreme Court, claiming that the restrictive covenants created a monopoly for the cable folks and excluded the pizza dish folks from the pay-TV market. Supremes said it was restriction of trade, monopolistic practice, that sort of thing, and broke the covenants - except in historic areas.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6296. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:22:16 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230102216.03703.00000785@mb-da.aol.com>
Source record: 29340

In article <3C2A43C9.5B613C6@earthlink.net>, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
writes:

>McCollum sometimes has a way with a phrase, doesn't he?

Absolutely. You can see the Midwest Vonnegut/Twain/Heller influences, plus the original McC style and the careful application to ham radio. Really well done.

> I like it.

One of the reasons I read rrap. My list of reasons is a very short one.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6297. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:22:16 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230102216.03703.00000784@mb-da.aol.com>
Source record: 29341

In article <3C2E9CFA.7B2E2AEE@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>K0HB wrote:
>> The message is very clear to me -- "You amateurs don't have >> enough financial or political clout for us to worry about.
>
>Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a >state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you?

Yes, because the contract unreasonably denies a citizen his/her inalienable rights. The govt. does that sort of thing all the time.

> Any other
>legal contracts you would like to dismiss?

Not at the moment.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6298. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:22:18 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230102218.03703.00000786@mb-da.aol.com>
Source record: 29344

In article <a0lm8k$q4j$1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>, "Bill Sohl"
<billsohl@mindspring.com> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote:

>> Carl (WA6VSE) has said that existing Advanceds should not be given Extra
>class
>> licenses without passing the Extra class test because those Advanceds have
>not >> demonstrated the necessary qualifications. I'm simply trying to figure out
>what >> qualifications he's talking about.
>
>Very simple...the Extra class written exam.

The exam is not a qualification, it's a requirement that must be met. Same as the 20 wpm code test.

>Before the NEW structure,
>all that involved was the 4B (I think that was it) which
>I and others passed and obtained CSCE credit for.

Yeah, I know. I passed it in August, 1970, between sophomore and junior year of high school. Age 16. Woulda done it earlier but they had that 2 year experience thing back then.

>Once 4/15/00
>came and went, we had a paper upgrade. Those that were advanced >and didn't follow that path now have a "combined" 4A/4B exam to contend >with. That's the breaks.
>
Old 4A was 50 questions and old 4B was 40. New 4 is 50 questions.

But none of this answers the original question: What is so special about 3524
kHz that one needs to be tested more to use it than 3526?

>> Carl describes incentive licensing as "a dismal failure" and says that
>license
>> test requirements should ONLY be based on demonstrating the necessary >> qualifications.
>
>And that's what it is per my comments above.

Why is Element 4 "necessary"? Because the FCC says so?

>> Carl also says that the writtens are not "dumbed down", even though their >size

>> and number was radically decreased on April 15, 2000.
>
>The number of questions doesn't change the scope and
>or difficulty of learning the knowledge needed
>to pass.

Sure it does.

>> You're missing my point then, Bill. All I've done is point out the facts
>and >> conclusions that follow logically IF one accepts Carl's philosophy of
>license
>> testing.
>
>The question then is on what do you wish to see happen
>with the testing...status quo, change to something else?

See previous posts on "basic/intermediate/full".

>> >> Sounds to me like you want to make everyone jump through the same >written >> >> test hoops you did.
>> >
>> >Surely you jest :-)
>>
>> No, I'm quite serious.
>
>Then exactly WHAT do YOU want as requirements?

A simple basic test to get started, a more involved test for more privs, and a fairly comprehensive test for full privileges. And make the privileges match the testing level.

The big problem lots of ham have with the current system is that the privileges don't match the testing.

>> >> > why should anyone get a total freebie??? If they >> >> >don't want to, or don't have the time to, upgrade, they should >> >> >remain satisfied with what they have. There is no reason to >> >> >change the system ... nobody should get privileges they aren't >> >> >qualified for, nor should anyone lose privileges they've already >> >> >earned.
>> >>
>> >> Sounds like what some folks were saying before the restructuring.
>> >> Folks you vehemently disagree with.
>> >
>> >That argument/analogy only holds IF you believe the current >> >testing requirements for the written are unreasonable and/or >> >unjustified.
>>
>> If one accepts Carl's statements, they ARE unjustified beyond the General >> level.

>
>I don't see the logic in your conclusion.

I'm simply pointing out the inconsistency in Carl's statements. He calls the code tests "making hams jump through hoops" because they are not NECESSARY in order to operate an amateur transmitter on non-Morse modes. And he points to FCC statements and the R&O for 98-143 for proof.

OK, fine, apply that same logic to the writtens. FCC sez a General and its associated tests fully qualifies a ham to use full power on all authorized amateur modes and bands. By Carl's logic, all the NECESSARY stuff to operate any ham transmitter is contained in the testing for General. Thus, the Extra test is just as much "making hams jump through hoops" as the old code tests were - IF one accepts Carl's premises.
>
>> >> >The FCC's system "knows" who is an "old" Tech Plus and who is not,
>> >>
>> >> They do? Then why not just hand out Generals to them?
>> >
>> >Because many have NOT passed the General written. Most of those >> >that have passed General (i.e. pre 1987) have upgraded already if they
>are >> >still active and know about restructuring.
>>
>> Yet Carl suggests giving them HF privileges to operate "modern digital >> modes" and even voice privileges.
>>
>> >> I say having "subbands by mode type" gives the best compromise.
>> >> >
>> >> >> >What are you trying to do with these mode limitations???
>> >> >>
>> >> >> Offer an upgrade incentive.
>> >> >
>> >> >"Incentive Licensing" was a dismal failure ...
>> >>
>> >> How do you figure? It was all about increasing technical knowledge. I >> >> think it was propelled by Sputnik fever.
>> >
>> >If so it was 10 years in the making...Sputnick was 1957 as >> >I recall.
>>
>> Yes, it was.
>>
>> Sputnik (note the spelling) was launched in 1957, an soon thereafter
>(1958) the
>> FCC started asking about ways to entice more hams to take the Extra exam.
>> Nothing much formal happened until 1963, when the ARRL BoD responded with
>a >> proposal that became RM-299. This was followed by a number of proposals, >> suggestions and counterproposals, ending in the 1966(?) announcement of >> "incentive licensing". First phase went into effect in late 1967.

>>
>> Remember that during the 1957-1963 period the Soviets had one space
>triumph
>> after another while the US tried to catch up.
>
>Whch had more to do with physics and rocketry than >anything electronic.

Yup, absolutely. In fact, one of the reasons the Soviets built such big rockets was that their electronics were bigger and heavier.

But the effect of all those early Soviet space triumphs was to focus attention here on "science" (actually, engineering) in all fields, not just rocketry.

>> >> Huh? The FCC sez Techs are qualified to use 1.5 kW transmitters on >> >VHF/UHF -
>> >> are they wrong?
>> >
>> >I believe they are on that point.
>>
>> So the mere fact that FCC does something isn't proof that it's the right
>thing
>> to do. What a concept!
>
>We can always agree to disagree. The issue of disagreement, if severe, >ends up being adjuticated by the courts. No one has taken the FCC >to that path regarding any disagreement as to ham requirements to my >knowledge.

Most folks don't have anywhere near the resources to sue the FCC - easier to just pass the tests! The point is still made - the mere fact that the FCC does something doesn't mean it's the right thing to do.
>> Posted here a few days ago - the "Basic/Intermediate/Full" system. I can >post
>> it again if you want.
>
>I'll find it.

Remember, it's a raw outline of a plan for a post-end-of-S25.5 licensing system.

Cheers and Happy New Year,

You too, Bill.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6299. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:32:14 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F337E.95F5E883@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29345

N2EY wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >People must
> >proprietize their wants/needs.
>
> "Proprietize"? Maybe you mean "prioritize".

Egads - I sure did. Got my roots mixed up.

> Is ham radio to be limited only to those who can find two unrestricted acres?

Did I say that? I merely gave an example of what can be done. Everywhere
I have lived, the first thing I did was check the CC&Rs. Just like any other contract, if I didn't like the terms and conditions, I didn't sign.

> They DO guarantee that we have certain freedom of use of our vehicles, though.

There are many places where motor vehicles are prohibited, e.g. inside the shopping mall. Do you advocate driving motor vehicles everywhere?
Do you object to all legal contracts, Jim, or just CC&Rs?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6300. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:37:02 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F349E.AC8A601@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29346

N2EY wrote:
> As I understand it, the reason TV dishes are exempted is that the "pizza dish"
> satellite companies pushed a test case all the way to the Supreme Court, > claiming that the restrictive covenants created a monopoly for the cable folks > and excluded the pizza dish folks from the pay-TV market. Supremes said it was > restriction of trade, monopolistic practice, that sort of thing, and broke the > covenants - except in historic areas.

Too bad the same approach won't work for amateurs. Are there any guaranteed freedoms or laws on the side of the amateur radio operators? I suspect it would be unconstitutional for the federal government to interfere with willingly signed CC&R contracts.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6301. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:38:02 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F34DA.C8132ED5@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29347

N2EY wrote:
>
> In article <3C2E9CFA.7B2E2AEE@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >K0HB wrote:
> >> The message is very clear to me -- "You amateurs don't have > >> enough financial or political clout for us to worry about.
> > >
> > >Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a > > >state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you?
>
> Yes, because the contract unreasonably denies a citizen his/her inalienable > rights. The govt. does that sort of thing all the time.

Now, we're getting somewhere. What inalienable rights are being violated?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6302. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:52:35 UTC
From: AB2HR <ab2hr@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <95bu2u8msof02mvqjtp165ol6sn6krlh86@4ax.com>
Source record: 29348

On 30 Dec 2001 00:24:18 -0800, twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com (Twistedhed) wrote:

>I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in >this >group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the >frequencies >from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might >think.

Hmmm, are you licensed operators, operating under the authorization of the government of your country of residence with active participation in public service, public safety and emergency response? Do you have a call sign issued to you by your operating authority, thereby providing an easily verified method of identifying the originator of transmissions from your station? No, I think the only thing you have in common with hams is that you know how to key up a mike and speak into it.

>We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip >conditions. >We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know >technical >issues as well or better.

No, you are illegal operators with a knowledge of propagation and skip conditions. You are criminals with high-ticket tools with which you engage in your criminal activities.

>However, the attitude of some hams toward us >is >rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This >should >not be.

The attitude hams have toward you is the same as hams would have toward any other criminal. You are not treated as 2nd class citizens any more than the drunk driver, the shoplifter or chronic speeder in our neighborhood. You are treated with every bit of respect that you deserve, criminal.

>We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams >do.

And those rights are the right to study for a license and to operate according to the law - or face criminal action and the disdain of those who prefer to obey the law and operate within the law. You seem to think that you deserve a free ride, all the rights and privileges of ham operating, but none of the responsibilities.

>For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
>is >a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying
>is >that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to >talk with
>him before you condemn him.

Oh, I've talked to plenty of them... I've also talked to criminals of every other type as well. There seems to be a common thread running through each of them, the belief that the rules apply to others, not to them.

Raymond Sirois AB2HR
SysOp: The Lost Chord BBS
607-733-5745
telnet:\\thelostchord.dns2go.com:6000

6303. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:49 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105549.14755.00001761@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29253

In article <3C2D3BD5.C6E0B9B3@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> Thank you. I just returned from an excellent Christmas with my >> family up in Buffalo; had to drive thru a blizaard this morning to >> get out of town!
>
>You were lucky to get out of Buffalo. Last I heard they had seven >feet of snow, a new record.

Cecil:

Yes, indeed. And they're just lucky that the temps wern't a few degrees lower, with a nice strong wind. There could have been double that amount -- with homes, businesses, and highways totally buried. The Buffalo area is a major disaster waiting to happen, San Andreas fault-like in it's nature. We got all that snow because Lake Erie was unseasonably warm -- 41 degrees
F. -- it's usually frozen by now. The warm damp air off the lake, combined with cold air sweeping over it from Canada, makes a very efficient snow making machine. All of which is why I'm safely down here in Delaware!

73 de Larry, K3LT

6304. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:49 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105549.14755.00001762@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29349

In article <3C2DEEE8.23CE6BBD@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> I am
>> still unable to understand why she would do this, if not to >> proactively demonstrate her contempt for her fellow radio amateurs.
>
>Larry, even if the original reason was different, IMO, it has been >worth it to see Kim and her callsign get your goat.

Cecil:

Don't look now, but you haven't seen that! It is not my goat that has been got -- it's Kim's and, most definitely, Rick's!
They've been quite entertaining!

73 de Larry, K3LT

6305. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:50 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105550.14755.00001763@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29257

In article <8AB10CD9FBCDFA43.AF0493CC6D58AB55.A816DC4932F586D1@lp.airnews.net>, Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
>>> Sure--because you think you know better than Kim what is "good >>>for the ARS."
>>
>>And Kim thinks she knows better than me what is good for the ARS. So do you.
>
>
> Not at all, Jim.
>
> Kim simply doesn't feel that her PERSONAL choice of a >perfectly legal call sign is anyone's business but her own, and I >happen to agree.
>
> This "good for the ARS" crap is a smoke screen. No one in his >or her right mind would seriously believe that Kim's call sign will >make even the slightest difference to the ARS and you know that as >well as I do. What is really going on is a witch hunt in which a group >of crotchety, grouchy, old men are enraged because they can't >intimidate a woman into obeying them. I'm sorry you feel the need to >support that kind of disgusting behavior toward a fellow ham, but >obviously you do.
>
>>And a lot of folks think I'm right. Doesn't matter - it's not up to a vote.
>
> That's right, Jim, it isn't.
>
> KIM made her choice--she didn't ask the people here to help >her decide if she SHOULD do so or not, and thus it isn't up to anyone >here to try to harass her into changing her sign. I don't give a >flying damn if every ham in the news group feels her call is >inappropriate (which obviously is NOT the case)--it is HER call sign, >not their's, and her decision alone that is relevant.
>
>>I think what really bugs you, Rick, is that there are some of us here on
>rrap
>>who you cannot intimidate and who state our opinions as we see them
>regardless >>of how electropolitically incorrect they may be to some.
>
> Who _I_ can't intimidate? You self-righteous prig, it is YOU >and your cronies who are trying to intimidate someone--Kim--into doing >something that she doesn't wish to do (change her call sign). Who in >the hell gave you right wing fanatics the right to try to intimidate >someone into capitulating to your prudish demands?

>
> You're a bunch of losers, Jim. And it is hams like you, Larry,
>Dick and Dave who are bringing the ARS "one step closer to extinction"
>with your outrageous behavior, blatant harassment, and attempted >intimidation of another ham.
>
> Rick

Why is it that when I read this, I recall the image of Nikita Kruschev, pounding his shoes on his desk at the UN?

73 de Larry, K3LT

6306. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:53 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105553.14755.00001765@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29251

In article <3c28a7f2_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>> While I've long suspected that you are incapable of telling the >> difference between right and wrong, good taste and poor taste and poetry
>> compared to Rod McKuen, I've always had hope that you could be persuaded >> that you've done something rather stupid.
>>
>> I maintain that hope.
>>
>> Dave K8MN
>
>OK, Larry. OH, it's Dave who echoes Larry's thoughts now. Isn't that just >so cute? Now you wish to determine what someone's idea of poetry is. Do >you advocate judging how everyone shall live, what art they shall also >believe is beautiful, what political thoughts are correct?

Kim:

Those look like Dave's thoughts, not mine. My thoughts will always say, right at the end...

73 de Larry, K3LT

6307. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:53 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105553.14755.00001764@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29258

In article <9E33B83C3A945BD6.DF7A150EDDE14856.99CF88BB207AF109@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
>>If there were any other YL hams in this newsgroup, it is entirely >>likely that at least one of them would take offense to Kim's call >>sign, and state so in this thread.
>
> What on earth makes you think there AREN'T other women in this >group, Larry? The fact that none of them has come out to agree with >your nonsense about Kim's call? Perhaps they don't feel like being the >next target of your holier-than-thou witch hunt.

Rick:

I rather suspect that if there were other women in this newsgroup, which there obviously are not, that some of them would have risen to Kim's defense -- or joined in her opposition. I wouldn't go so far as to say that amateur radio-related newsgroups are a "guy thing," but the male dominance seen here doesn't surprise me.

>>This has nothing to do with Kim
>>being a woman demonstrating that she is a "whole person" -- as if >>any of us thought women wern't "whole" people in the first place.
>
> Obviously you see women as "whole people." You simply see them
>as INFERIOR "whole people."

Not really. I just see Kim as a misguided person, seeking attention in an inappropriate manner.

>>However, don't worry -- I'm sure your liberal, feminist views were >>noted by Kim, and I'm sure you have earned her friendship -- although
>>I can't understand why anyone would want it!
>
> Because, unlike you and the rest of the stooges, she has
>class, honesty, and intelligence.

Class? Her call sign would tend to serve as evidence to the contrary.
I'll reserve judgment on her honesty and intelligence, however.

> Seems like a good reason to me.
>
>>I can't speak for Dick or Dave,
>
> Why not? You're all clones anyway.

All evidence seems to indicate that they are just as capable of independent thought as you would consider yourself to be. Why do you feel it necessary to belittle us by using derogatory terms such as "clones?" Why can't you liberals keep from resorting to personal attacks when you're up against the wall?

>>but I, for one, could care less about
>>Kim's so-called "place" and whether or not she knows it.
>
> Sure.
>
>> All I know
>>is that she selected a call sign which is potentially harmful to the >>positive image of the ARS -- and since she's a participant of this >>newsgroup, she has been called to task because of it.
>
> Who the hell elected YOU the ham-cops for the news group? If >you don't like her call, mind your own damn business you hypocritical >busy-body!

It was Kim who sought the validation of an FCC official -- and was soundly put in her place as a result. She brought this upon herself by her "in your face" attitude, in an attempt to call attention to herself in an inappropriate manner. She is now being forced to defend her poor choice of call sign, and doing such a miserable job of it, that she has essentially abandoned that task, and left it up to you to do for her.

>> After a couple >>of thousand postings here and on the real "...one step closer to >>extinction" thread (it has only 3 dots in the ellipsis -- not four), she >>as still failed to adequately defend her decision to choose that >>call sign in anything like a convincing manner, thus proving that >>she only did it to call attention to herself by means of calling >>attention to her secondary sexual characteristics.
>
> Perhaps you can explain why on earth you think she has any >obligation TO "defend her decision." Get off your pedestal, Larry, she >has no obligation to defend, explain, justify, or accept your >judgement on this or any other decision she makes. It's HER call sign, >you mental midget, not yours. And it's HER decision. Don't like it?
>Tough. Live with it.

You really need to do something about your ADD, Rick. I have stated many times that I have no choice but to "live with" Kim's call sign. I am not making any demands on her to change it. I'm just attempting to influence her to do the right thing and change it voluntarily.

>> This demonstrates >>extremely bad taste and poor judgment on her part, and does not >>create a positive image for YL hams, or women in general.
>
> No you stupid cretin, it demonstrates independence and >self-confidence, two qualities I'm quite sure you HATE to see in a >woman.

Your immature personal attacks do nothing to lend credence to what you say. If I were you, I wouldn't bother replying to my postings, unless and until you can do so at a level of maturity which a person in your position should exhibit when engaged in an intellectual discussion.

>>I am
>>still unable to understand why she would do this, if not to >>proactively demonstrate her contempt for her fellow radio amateurs.
>
> Larry, get a grip.

I am gripping my tea mug, even as we type…well, actually, in between spurts of typing!

> She didn't "DO" anything to you or to the ARS. She made a >personal choice about a personal matter, and since she did so you have >made it your life's work to harass and ridicule her in this news >group. It is YOU who demonstrate contempt for your fellow hams, not >Kim.

Not really. All I've done here is point out the error of Kim's choice, and offered her the encouragement and support she needs to make the right choice. I've repeatedly stated that I would congratulate her if she choose to change her call sign to one which is more appropriate, reflects good taste and judgment, and doesn't serve to take the ARS "…one step closer to extinction."

>>Whatever "place" Kim may have in the world, it certainly isn't >>among radio amateurs who consider themselves to be intelligent,
>>decent, respectable radio amateurs who are concerned with >>putting forth a positive public image.
>
> How would you know--you certainly don't qualify for that group >yourself.

I don't see how you can say that, Rick. I am an Amateur Extra Class licensee in good standing, who doesn't sport a call sign which flagrantly calls attention to me in an immature, inappropriate, and demeaning manner. Unfortunately, Kim can't say the same of herself, the Extra-class bit notwithstanding.

73 de Larry, K3LT

6308. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:54 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105554.14755.00001766@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29254

In article <3C2DEC4C.94C6FA6D@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>
>Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>> You have exactly one posting to produce the quote where I said
>> "no-code Techs are [technical] dumb shits," or you have once again >> proven that you are a liar!
>
>No need to waste my time that way, Larry. You have posted hundreds >of times that nocode techs are dumbed-down. You have even posted >that post-restructuring generals and extras are dumbed-down.

Cecil:

Admittedly, I have -- but only in general terms. I've made no blanket statements that all No-code Techs or Post-Restructuring Gen/Extras are "technical dumb shits," or words to that effect. IOW, I admit that there are hams within those categories who possess a high level of technical skill -- but that is usually because they work in the electronics field in some capacity. I expect people who make their living as technicians and engineers to have professional skill levels. What's so unusual about that?

73 de Larry, K3LT

6309. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:54 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105554.14755.00001767@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29350

In article <3C2DEC9F.F6F5B2C3@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>> >Are you also so ignorant that you don't understand ratios, Larry?
>> >Do you comprehend 1/2 = 1000000/2000000?
>>
>> Really? I'm not sure I understand.
>
>Maybe you need to come to my GED math classes - they're free.

Cecil:

If I ever find myself in your neck of the woods, I'll gladly take you up on that! I need all the free math classes I can get my hands on!

73 de Larry, K3LT

6310. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:55 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105555.14755.00001768@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29255

In article <3C1B3B88FA43535E.A1ECAAA4C530805D.A8961E2562F81507@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:49 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
>wrote:
>
>>Hmmm...so Rick Adams has called me an "ass" on this newsgroup, >>while at the same time threatening to have my internet access >>terminated for expressing my opinion about Kim's poor choice of a
>>call sign?
>
> 1. If you make yourself into an ass, it's only fitting to >identify you as one.
>
> 2. I NEVER "threatened to have your internet access >terminated." That is a typical Larry Roll lie. Quote back my "threat," >Larry. Put up or Shut up.

Rick:

I reported on what I read, that's all. It was no lie. I'll start providing quotes as soon as Cecil and every one else of the NCTA persuasion catches up on at least a decade's worth.

> 3. You don't "express your opinion" of Kim's call sign, Larry, >you harass her about it in every thread you find her in. Clearly, the >only way you can convince yourself that you are still a "man" is to >intimidate a woman, and it's obviously enraging you that she isn't >being intimidated by your cheap and shoddy actions.
>
>>Mind your own jawbone, Rick!
>
> Larry, go take your Viagra, dig out your Hustler magazine, and >pretend that you can find a woman that would put up with you.
>
> Rick

More insults. How charming. However, not worthy of a reply.

73 de Larry, K3LT

6311. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:56 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105556.14755.00001769@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29256

In article <7E11FD656F8B94AC.077AE5ECB086D813.090F155996AAB65A@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>>This thread isn't about me, Dick, Dave, or anyone else being an >>arbiter of morality.
>
> Of course it is. It's YOUR thread and you're trying to be the >arbiter of Kim's morality. Why ELSE would you continue to hound her >about her call sign?

Rick:

I must note that for a university professor, you don't seem to exhibit much understanding of the meaning of the term "morality." Perhaps I shouldn't be surprised, however. In selecting her particular Vanity Call Sign, Kim demonstrated poor taste and bad judgment; however,
I have no basis for making any sort of commentary regarding her personal morality. She may be as moral as the Mother Superior of the local convent, or not -- for all I know. I will assume, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary, that Kim's personal behavior demonstrates high moral standards. However, that has nothing to do with her choice of call sign -- even moral, decent people are capable of making foolish choices.

>>It's about the poor judgement of one ham in >>choosing a call sign which portrays female radio amateurs in an >>undeservedly negative manner, reflects a poor image of all radio >>amateurs, and has potential for harm to the image of the ARS >>which has been recognized by a high-profile radio amateur who >>also happens to be an FCC official.
>
> No, Larry. That's pure bull and any intelligent person in this >ng knows it.

Well, from your POV, you're upset because I'm holding Kim's feet to the fire for selecting a Vanity call sign which reflects poorly on the positive image of radio amateurs -- YL's in particular. I'm sorry if this bothers you, but I cannot be held responsible for keeping your most exalted liberal elite lordship perfectly happy 24/7!

> What this thread is about is Larry Roll trying to prove his >manhood by harassing a fellow ham into capitulating to your >unreasonable demands and out-of-date values.

Really? What have I demanded from anyone? I've suggested to Kim that she would be highly praised for doing the right thing if she changed her call sign to one which wasn't so patently offensive. However, I haven't "harassed" her in any way.

>You started the thread.

So what? People start threads here all the time. Big steenking deal!

>You insist that you will perpetuate it until Kim changes her call.

I may, or I may not. I haven't decided yet. I must admit, I am getting a bit bored with this...but perhaps not bored enough...yet!

>You >are the one who preaches about the ARS. Try acting like a responsible >ham instead of a spoiled three year-old and stop trying to impose your >values on others if you feel so strongly about representing the ARS >responsibly.

Once again, Rick, this isn't about me. It is about Kim, who is representing the ARS irresponsibly.

>>There is nothing going on >>here other than hams giving their opinions on a policy-related >>matter, which is well within the bounds of the topics germane to >>this newsgroup.
>
> Kim's call sign has absolutely nothing to do with ham radio >policy--even YOU can't be stupid enough to think people will believe >that dishonest statement!

Well, I haven't seen any new postings today other than yours. We'll see.

> You don't want to talk about policy, Larry, you want to harass >a woman because she won't give in to your demands.
>
> Rick

Once again, Rick -- I haven't "demanded" anything of Kim, and wouldn't waste my time trying to.

73 de Larry, K3LT

Happy New Year!

6312. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 15:55:57 UTC
From: yodoc@aol.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011230105557.14755.00001770@mb-cg.aol.com>
Source record: 29252

In article <A10FD5715EDEE559.243BCAFF50116CA3.B1FC68CC611407D6@lp.airnews.net>,
Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:

>
>On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:47 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
>wrote:
>
>>Stop electronically stalking me.
>
> Grow up, you idiot!
>
> Rick

Rick:

How charming. Don't look now, but you've got the wrong bloke,
mate. It was Cecil who started this "electronic stalking" thing going on here. However, the direct insult of being called an "idiot" is noted; I wonder what voyager.net's Terms Of Service have to say about that?

73 de Larry, K3LT

6313. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:03:48 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f3a6b_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29259

"K0HB" <K0HB@arrl.net> wrote in message
news:OeOlDgOkBHA.1348@cpimsnntpa02...
>
> > More "gloom and doom" Larry?
>
> > Get a grip! Simply because the FCC doesn't view it as > > essential for a ham to have a permanent station location does NOT mean > > they are trying to strip any frequencies from us. With today's > > equipment, you DON'T need a permanent station location--modern rigs
> > are very capable of mobile or portable operations, something that the > > HF rigs a few decades ago weren't really suited for.
>
> > Sounds simple enough to me.
>
> If it sounds "simple enough" to you, then perhaps you haven't > thought through the implications of the FCC denial of the > petition to extend PRB-1 antenna protection to Amateur Radio > Service antennas.
>
> Personally, I think that Larry completely understates the case, > and in fact this is the most chilling decision from the FCC since > "banish them to 200 meters and down". The denial signals to > me the possible end of Federal support for the Amateur Radio > Service.
>
> Consider that while FCC denies protection from CC&Rs to > amateurs, it recently GRANTED this protection to home entertainment > antennas.
>
> I'll say that again. The FCC recently GRANTED protection from > CC&Rs for home entertainment system antennas, but DENIES > the same protection to amateur antenna systems.
>
> Instead, they basically tell us to "go eat cake", go for a ride in > your car, or go down to the club station. Uhhhhhhhh, is there > a club station near you which can be shared by all the amateurs > in your community? And would you leave your latest project > down there while you rethink some of the circuit designs?
> How about running the Sweepstakes contest all weekend > from your minivan?
>
> The message is very clear to me -- "You amateurs don't have > enough financial or political clout for us to worry about.

> Now, to address your notion of "Don't sign an agreement... > blah, blah, blah...." What a cop out! Tell it to a 15 year-old > teenager who just developed an interest in amateur radio.
>
> "Hey, Dad, I've been reading on the web about amateur > radio, and it seems like a really interesting hobby. If I > study and pass the license tests, can you help me put up > a small antenna in the back yard?"
>
> "Sounds like a great idea, son. But I have to check with > the HOA first -- seems I remember something about > antennas in our deed."
>
> Next day -- "Sorry son, but we are restricted from putting > up an antenna on our property. I guess Ham radio is out > of the question for you. Maybe I'll get you one of those > new video game systems instead."
>
> Kids who live in newer developments (can you say semi-> affluent, well educated kids, with bright career futures) > are effective barred from meaningful involvement in the > full range of Amateur Radio activities -- this is one of the > demographic targets we need desperately to reach to > fulfill the charter of our service.
>
> If may well be that a healthy amateur radio service, which > appeals to bright young scientifically-inclined youngsters is > no longer a federal objective, and that 97.1 is nothing more > than eyewash.
>
> Clearly this is a fit subject for discussion on rraPOLICY, and > should not be lightly dismissed with phrases like "Get a grip!"
>
> With all kind wishes,
>
> de Hans, K0HB
>

Hey, remember all the high and mighty code/no-code arguments and near knock-down-drag-outs there've been right here on this newsgroup? Well, according to the folks who just couldn't stand the post-restructuring set up, the ARS is degraded to stupidity anyway, right? So, why would they now all come to the defense of such a degraded service?

Kim W5TIT

6314. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:06:14 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f3af6$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29260

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2F2D7F.B4935D69@IEEE.org...> Dick Carroll wrote: > > Yup. And if you were a kid getting interested in ham radio today you'd > > be faced with being prohibited from it instead of how it worked out for > > you in the 50's. So it's fine for you to have freedom from such > > unrealistic restrictions but not those who have no control nor > > involvement in them but who must abide by someone elses stupidity. I > > gotta say, it's typical of ya, pal.
>
> When the father of that kid defaults on his home loan, does the loan > company allow the kid to continue living there? It's unfortunate, but > a kid is affected by the contracts willingly entered into by the > father.
>
> You seem to have a double standard, Dick. You argue that Kim's legal > callsign is detrimental to the ARS and a lot of people are turned off > by it. Many neighbors consider HF antennas to be eyesores, are turned > off by them, and want to be protected from them by the CC&Rs. Seems > you talk with forked tongue.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Thank you...I was just about to post something along those lines.

Kim W5TIT

6315. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:08:04 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f3b6f$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29261

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2F2E16.E166F1D7@IEEE.org...
> Dick Carroll wrote:
> > Dawgone, Hans, I do believe you're cornfuses poor ol' Cec. Maybe scotch > > got what his one-hit $hit missed.
>
> Dick, do you often go about trying to break the contracts > that you have signed?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Aw, Cec...it's all a part of the "less government" party that is in office. You know, the ones who now have their fingers in just about every cookie jar there is? Less government is always better, until they're needed for things like breaking contractual obligations, voluntarily signed between non-government entities.

Kim W5TIT

6316. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:12:29 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f3c78_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29262

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230102215.03703.00000783@mb-da.aol.com...
> In article <3C2E9B02.440216E8@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >K0HB wrote:
> >> Tell that to a young family man raising a family, or to a > >> teenager who just got interested in our hobby, or to a > >> retiree on pension who's just decided to pursue his dream of > >> being a ham.
> >>
> >Life's rough all over, Hans. I drove a pickup with 200,000 > >miles on it so I could possess those two acres.
>
> So everyone must do as you did?
>
> >People must > >proprietize their wants/needs.
>
> "Proprietize"? Maybe you mean "prioritize".
>
> Is ham radio to be limited only to those who can find two unrestricted acres?
>
> > Which is more important -
> >a ham antenna or a vehicle?
>
> Why must there be a choice?
>
> >Yet, the federal government
> >doesn't guarantee us vehicles.
>
> They DO guarantee that we have certain freedom of use of our vehicles, though.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
>

It seems to me that just a few short months ago, when several of us were up in arms about CCRs, that the debate's two angles were: either you support the "law" of the neighborhood, or you stay the Hell out of it and find somewhere else to live. I was one of the people who think it absolutely ludicrous that anyone would ever agree to move into such a neighborhood and I would do everything in my power not to. I think there were even a few typical responses to that about my "whining" again.

Now, this comes up and I see a whole bunch of those I debated, who are now on the side of letting a government come in and negate the contract that was signed. Will you people puhleeze make up my mind? You're nuts. Don't move into a neighborhood with CCRs or HOAs. It's as anti-American as you can get.

Kim W5TIT

6317. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:14:46 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f3cf8_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29263

Why should a majority of the population yield to the wants and desires of a very, very minute part of the population?

Kim W5TIT

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message news:20011230102215.03703.00000782@mb-da.aol.com...
> In article <E447BB6B107727DE.124A1E3F3A33C370.703D7850046C58A1@lp.airnews.net>,
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> >On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:50 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> >wrote:
> >
> >>Greetings All:
> >>
> >>To those who have been insisting that the FCC has the best interests > >>of the ARS at heart, I offer the following. I seems like "Restructuring"
> >>isn't the only way they had in mind to put an end to our tomfoolery on > >>all this valuable RF real estate. Now they're saying licensed radio > >>amateurs don't have any need to establish a station in our own homes.
> >>Get ready to lose some more spectrum -- and soon! Read it and weep...
> >>
> >>73 de Larry, K3LT
> >
> > More "gloom and doom" Larry?
>
> Nope - facts and reasonable conclusions.
> >
> > Get a grip!
>
> Which means what?
>
> >Simply because the FCC doesn't view it as > >essential for a ham to have a permanent station location does NOT mean > >they are trying to strip any frequencies from us.
>
> It sure doesn't help the ARS grow and prosper, though. If the ARS doesn't grow > and prosper, there will be no reason for our frequencies to be preserved for > our use. And make no mistake, there are plenty of folks who would be really > happy to see ham radio just disappear.

>
> >With today's > >equipment, you DON'T need a permanent station location-
>
> Nobody NEEDS to be ham at all, either.
>
> >-modern rigs
> >are very capable of mobile or portable operations, something that the > >HF rigs a few decades ago weren't really suited for.
>
> The antennas haven't gotten any smaller, though. Mobile is no solution for > those without suitable vehicles. Portable is fine if you're a camping type - > useless if you're not.
>
> > It's a ham's choice whether or not he or she will move into an > >area with antenna restrictions--no one is forced to do so, they can > >live elsewhere if they feel the restrictions are more important than > >the location.
>
> That's not true in the vast majority of cases. Young hams usually don't choose > where they live. Amateurs with families usually do not have autocratic power to > decide where to live based solely on antenna considerations.
>
> In real life, home choice is often driven by a number of factors:
>
> - cost
> - availability (you can't buy what's not for sale)
> - suitable location (jobs, family, stores)
> - size and features
> - school district
> - special family member needs (handicapped access, health care access, special > educational facilities, etc.)
>
> There is also the fact that many people aren't in a position to move just so > they can become hams.
>
> >If enough hams take the attitude that they won't buy > >homes in restricted communities, and if that has an economic impact on > >the community, the restrictions will disappear.
>
> Nope. For one thing, there just aren't enough hams looking to buy houses
to > make much of a difference. Surf over to
>
> http://www.realtor.com

>
> and get an idea of the size of the real estate market. How many hams do
you > think are looking for houses at any one time?
>
> For another thing, the restrictions are carefully designed to be extremely > difficult to remove. Even if both buyer and seller want to be rid of them,
they > are specifically set up so that they cannot be removed in future sales.
>
> >If not, it's a simple > >question of market economics (non-hams may be MORE willing to buy in > >an area where antennas are banned), not something that involves (or > >SHOULD involve) the government directly.
>
> Just the opposite. It forces hams into "ghettos" that are constantly shrinking.
>
> >
> > Don't like a restriction? Don't sign a purchase agreement for > >property until you know it doesn't have any in its deed of title.
>
> In many situations there is no reasonable choice. And what if a person decides > to become a ham after buying a house - should they be forced to move?
> >
> > Sounds simple enough to me.
>
> It's not.
>
> Would you have the same attitude towards CC&Rs which specified that only > married couples could engage in certain activities on the property? Or
that > restricted anyone from perfectly legal at-home activities like alcohol use
or > eating meat? Particularly when the percentage of properties so restricted grew > every year, making it harder and harder to find an unrestricted house?
>
> --
>
> "No-antenna" covenants started in the '70s in California (natch) as a > sweetheart deal between developers and cable providers. The cable companies > picked up the cost of wiring new developments for cable and the developers > inserted the "no antennas" restrictions in the fine print. End result was a > guaranteed captive market for the cable TV folks.
>
> As I understand it, the reason TV dishes are exempted is that the "pizza dish"

> satellite companies pushed a test case all the way to the Supreme Court, > claiming that the restrictive covenants created a monopoly for the cable
folks > and excluded the pizza dish folks from the pay-TV market. Supremes said it
was > restriction of trade, monopolistic practice, that sort of thing, and broke
the > covenants - except in historic areas.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

6318. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:17:15 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f3dab_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29264

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230102216.03703.00000784@mb-da.aol.com...
> In article <3C2E9CFA.7B2E2AEE@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >K0HB wrote:
> >> The message is very clear to me -- "You amateurs don't have > >> enough financial or political clout for us to worry about.
> > >
> > >Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a > > >state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you?
> >

>
> Yes, because the contract unreasonably denies a citizen his/her inalienable
> rights. The govt. does that sort of thing all the time.
>

Wait. Weren't you just saying that ham radio is not an inalienable right, Jim? I know someone, and many, do. So, it's not an inalienable right to be a ham, but it is an inalienable right to have antennas?

> >
> > > Any other
> > >legal contracts you would like to dismiss?
> >
> Not at the moment.
> >
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

It's easy to confuse this mind, especially when surrounded by so much wishy washy.

Kim W5TIT

6319. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:24:08 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f3f32_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29266

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011230105553.14755.00001764@mb-cg.aol.com...
>
> All evidence seems to indicate that they are just as capable of > independent thought as you would consider yourself to be. Why do > you feel it necessary to belittle us by using derogatory terms such > as "clones?" Why can't you liberals keep from resorting to > personal attacks when you're up against the wall?
>

You had too much vacation, Larry. Isn't the word "liberal" used by you (above) to imply a derogatory attribute to Rick? So, which is it? Rick can't use derogatory terms, but you can?

Kim W5TIT

6320. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:26:05 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f3fb4_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29267

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011230105553.14755.00001764@mb-cg.aol.com...
>
> You really need to do something about your ADD, Rick. I have > stated many times that I have no choice but to "live with" Kim's > call sign. I am not making any demands on her to change it. I'm > just attempting to influence her to do the right thing and change > it voluntarily.
>

And, Rick, Larry's not nuts, it's the rest of the world. (buhruther) LOL

Kim W5TIT

6321. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:29:13 UTC
From: "\"Landshark\"" <Landshark@TheLandshark.com>
Message-ID: <thHX7.18821$ge4.3725200451@newssvr21.news.prodigy.com>
Source record: 29265
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Good God! He is really grasping for attention by digging up this post.

Troll post by the resident forger
on Rec.Radio.CB

Landshark

--
Please note that any post that is from S3Buell_SBCGlobailnet@hotmail.com
is a FORGE. My Addy is always going to be from SBCGlobal.Net This person has been a troll on Rec.Radio.CB for a long time now. If you want to send a complaint,
forward each message complete with headers
to TOSUSENET@AOL.COM. Hotmailprivacy@hotmail.com, groups-abuse@google.com
Beware of George WA3MO^

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:4NCX7.315575$W8.11841332@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> Bozo*Flush says Google Forge.
>
> "Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message
> news:e9de0154.0112300024.125df714@posting.google.com...
> > I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in
> > this > > group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the > > frequencies
> > from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might
> > think.
> > We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip > > conditions.
> > We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know
> > technical > > issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us
> > is > > rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This > > should > > not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams
> > do.
> > For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
> > is > > a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying

> > is > > that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to > > talk with > > him before you condemn him.
> >
> > This article ought to clarify things, as I am the author:
> > http://sporadic1.tripod.com/page7.html
> >
> > I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)
> >
> > Unit 2711, Florida
>
>

6322. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:29:39 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f4076$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29269

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011230105553.14755.00001764@mb-cg.aol.com...
>
> I don't see how you can say that, Rick. I am an Amateur Extra > Class licensee in good standing, who doesn't sport a call sign which > flagrantly calls attention to me in an immature, inappropriate, and > demeaning manner. Unfortunately, Kim can't say the same of > herself, the Extra-class bit notwithstanding.
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

Sure I can say that--I am a Tech+ Class licensee in good standing, who doesn't sport a callsign which flagrantly calls attention to me in am immature, inappropriate, and demeaning manner. It's quite true. It is you, and people like you, who are calling attention to me in an immature, inappropriate, and in a demeaning manner, though. ;)

Kim W5TIT

6323. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:32:02 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f4105_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29270

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011230105554.14755.00001766@mb-cg.aol.com...
> In article <3C2DEC4C.94C6FA6D@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >
> >Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >> You have exactly one posting to produce the quote where I said
> >> "no-code Techs are [technical] dumb shits," or you have once again > >> proven that you are a liar!
> >
> >No need to waste my time that way, Larry. You have posted hundreds > >of times that nocode techs are dumbed-down. You have even posted > >that post-restructuring generals and extras are dumbed-down.
>
> Cecil:
>
> Admittedly, I have -- but only in general terms. I've made no blanket > statements that all No-code Techs or Post-Restructuring Gen/Extras > are "technical dumb shits," or words to that effect. IOW, I admit that > there are hams within those categories who possess a high level of > technical skill -- but that is usually because they work in the > electronics field in some capacity. I expect people who make their living > as technicians and engineers to have professional skill levels. What's > so unusual about that?
>
> 73 de Larry, K3LT
>

ROFLMEBU (that's rolling on the floor laughing my ever loving butt off).
Oh, Cecil. This is hysterical. If only I felt like I had the time and that Larry was worth the effort...LOL

Kim W5TIT

6324. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:34:48 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f41a9_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29271

"Larry Roll K3LT" <yodoc@aol.comnospam> wrote in message
news:20011230105556.14755.00001769@mb-cg.aol.com...
>
> Really? What have I demanded from anyone? I've suggested to Kim > that she would be highly praised for doing the right thing if she changed > her call sign to one which wasn't so patently offensive. However, I > haven't "harassed" her in any way.
>

Larry. Larry. Larry. The day I hear you utter praise in my direction, I will be smelling my armpits before I think it's related to anything else.

Kim W5TIT

6325. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:35:21 UTC
From: K0HB <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <22f95753a243693d99f882d77b3604c9.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 29268

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message news:3c2f3a6b_1@newsa.ev1.net...

>
> Hey, remember all the high and mighty code/no-code arguments and near > knock-down-drag-outs there've been right here on this newsgroup? Well, > according to the folks who just couldn't stand the post-restructuring set > up, the ARS is degraded to stupidity anyway, right? So, why would they now > all come to the defense of such a degraded service?
>

In other words, you'd rather not discuss this issue.

Excellent. Set up your newsreader to ignore it.

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

--
Posted via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

6326. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 16:46:11 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f4454_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29272

"K0HB" <k0hb@qwest.net> wrote in message
news:22f95753a243693d99f882d77b3604c9.15732@mygate.mailgate.org...
> "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c2f3a6b_1@newsa.ev1.net...
>
> >
> > Hey, remember all the high and mighty code/no-code arguments and near > > knock-down-drag-outs there've been right here on this newsgroup? Well, > > according to the folks who just couldn't stand the post-restructuring
set > > up, the ARS is degraded to stupidity anyway, right? So, why would they now
> > all come to the defense of such a degraded service?
> >
>
> In other words, you'd rather not discuss this issue.
>

Well, actually, I am wondering why whomever started this and whomever is all upset about it, wasn't discussing it prior to any decisions being made by the FCC. It's funny that it's always after the fact that these issues are raised on a newsgroup.

>
> Excellent. Set up your newsreader to ignore it.
>
> With all kind wishes,
>
> de Hans, K0HB
>

And, I would like to know why the folks who argue on the side of the ARS being so dumbed down, worthless, invaded, nothing but CBish, etc., etc., would now be so very concerned about it? Did they expect that their blase attitude would have a positive effect on the ARS?

Another think I'd like to know is why the folks who were just vociferously arguing for CCRs just a couple/few months ago--and who were throwing the usual insults at people who don't like them--are now crying out for a federal mandate to negate the very contracts they were bothering to wave in the faces of people? I think the words they used were something to the effect of: "if you don't like it, then don't move into a neighborhood like that." OK, I'm convinced. So, why is that such a crappy belief to have now? It seems to me that Cecil, and me I suppose, are now stating exactly what was stated to us--and yet, is that the attitude of resentment I see? Yep, it sure it.

Not that I think either way on the issue. I'd rather get to the meat of the matter in the apparent problem a lot of folks are having on focusing on exactly what they believe--or else, maybe it is that they feel however they think is best "at the time" with a propensity for quick change if it suits them. Yeah, I think that's it.

Kim W5TIT

6327. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 17:47:52 UTC
From: K0HB <K0HB@arrl.net>
Message-ID: <uFYVrlVkBHA.1704@cpimsnntpa03>
Source record: 29273

Cecil said:

> I suspect it would be unconstitutional for the federal government to > interfere with willingly signed CC&R contracts.

You suspect wrong. The federal government (FCC) issued a preemption voiding CC&Rs which prohibit visual entertainment (TV) antennas. That rule was designed to promote two FEDERAL OBJECTIVES: (a) to ensure that consumers have access to a broad range of video programming services ("the couch potatoes gotta have their TV"), and (b) to foster full and fair competition among different types of video programming services (to allow over-the-air broadcasts to compete with cable). That preemption was issued at the urging of Congress, and was upheld by the Supreme Court.

Since there is also a FEDERAL OBJECTIVE to promote a strong amateur radio service (see 97.1) it follows that a preemption in the case of amateur radio antennas would be a perfectly legitimate course of action, almost a no-brainer.

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

PS: For Kim -- Many of us have been involved in this effort for a long time. The sudden interest shown here on rraPolicy is in the fact that FCC denied our petition.

PPS: For all -- My interest in this matter is for the future of our Amateur Radio Service. I personally have no such restrictions in my property deeds.

6328. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 17:47:56 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f547b_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29274

"K0HB" <K0HB@arrl.net> wrote in message
news:uFYVrlVkBHA.1704@cpimsnntpa03...
>
> PS: For Kim -- Many of us have been involved in this effort for a long time.
> The sudden interest shown here on rraPolicy is in the fact that FCC denied > our petition.
>

This is the first I'd heard about it. If I'd known of it, I probably would have sent a comment to the FCC. How come you brought it up "after the fact?" I am not saying that flippantly, I'd really like to know.

>
> PPS: For all -- My interest in this matter is for the future of our Amateur
> Radio Service. I personally have no such restrictions in my property deeds.
>

Neither do I. And, I'd refuse a petition from a neighborhood to start such restricitions, and I would never be in a neighborhood with an HOA or such restrictive CCRs. At least, I hope it doesn't ever get to the point where that is all that's left. At the same time, I don't think I would knowingly sign such an agreement and then look for a way out of it at a later date.
But, I can't say for sure--because I've never been in that position (except for marriage, of course).

Kim W5TIT

6329. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 17:54:33 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c2f5604_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29276

Oh, one more comment:

"K0HB" <K0HB@arrl.net> wrote in message
news:uFYVrlVkBHA.1704@cpimsnntpa03...
>
> Since there is also a FEDERAL OBJECTIVE to promote a strong amateur radio > service (see 97.1) it follows that a preemption in the case of amateur
radio > antennas would be a perfectly legitimate course of action, almost a > no-brainer.
>

Except that there is no "financial" loss or competitive issues in the case of amateur radio. I don't know if they did, but if amateur radio antenna manufacturers got into the fray and could prove that they are somehow limited in business matters by such things as the CCRs and HOAs, then there may be a valid argument for the FCC/government to listen to. The preemption for manufacturers and providers of commercial television services is a money-matter.

There may be a FEDERAL OBJECTIVE to promote a strong amateur radio service, but there is no "meat" behind that objective. At least not enough for this kind of battle.

The bottom line is always that amateur radio is "just a hobby." I'm not saying that to be flippant, either. I feel certain that is the feeling among many decision makers, including Congress, who influence and can have an effect on the service. That we provide the services we do is so not in the limelight, that it's just not a concern. Unfortunately.

Kim W5TIT

6330. Re: New topic: Quality or Quantity

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 17:57:14 UTC
From: Hans Brakob <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <f1d3b905af1f9b91286200edeb5f6bd3.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 29275

"KC8PMX" wrote:

> Regardless of mode or band of transmission, is ham radio really about the > quality of the QSO or the quantity of the QSO's?? And state why please.

I think the answer is "it depends".

I just finished a 45 minute QSO with Peter, DH2DL, near Dresden. We spoke of many things (terrorism, ancestral roots, Yagi antenna design) and it probably would fit your definition of a "quality" QSO.

Yesterday I spent some time participating in the "Stu Perry" 160M radiosport event, and my objective was a large "quantity" of QSO's to validate my station/antenna engineering and to hone my skills at communicating under adverse conditions.

I think ham radio is "about" both of those (and other) things.

With all kind wishes,

de Hans, K0HB

--
Posted via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

6331. Re: What not to say to a cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 18:12:49 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112301012.3811c70d@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29277
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

```
"KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message news:<a0i5np$mn1$5@dosa.alt.net>...
> "LloydVFP" <LloydVFP@KV4FZmyHero.net> wrote in message
> news:a0gq8q$f9r$0@pita.alt.net...
> > "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
> news:a0fchi$q4t$2@dosa.alt.net...
> > >
> > > "N9NWO" <n9nwo@amsat.org> wrote in message
> > > news:I9yW7.125$8M.574732@paloalto-snr2.gtei.net...
> > > >
> > > > Swift Rider <c_howard_in@disguise.com> wrote in Alt.Law-Enforcement...
> > > >
> > > > : The WORST Things to Say to a Police Officer:
> > > > :
> > > > :
> > > > : 1. I can't reach my license unless you hold my beer.
> > > > :
> > > > : 2. Sorry, Officer, I didn't realize my radar detector wasn't plugged
> in.
> > > > :
> > > > : 3. Aren't you the guy from the Village People?
> > > > :
> > > > : 4. Hey, you must've been doin' about 125 mph to keep up with me!
> Good
> job!
> > > > :
> > > > : 5. Excuse me. Is "stick up" hyphenated?
> > > > :
> > > > : 6. I though you had to be in relatively good physical condition to
> be
> a
> > > > : police officer.
> > > > :
> > > > : 7. I was going to be a cop, but I decided to finish high school > instead.
> > > > :
> > > > : 8. Bad cop! No donut!
> > > > :
> > > > : 9. You're not gonna check the trunk, are you?
> > > > :
> > > > : 10. Gee, that gut sure doesn't inspire confidence.
> > > > :
> > > > : 11. Didn't I see you get your butt kicked on "Cops"?
> > > > :
```

> > > > : 12. Wow, you look just like the guy in the picture on my
> girlfriend's
> > > > > : nightstand!
> > > > :
> > > > > : 13. Is it true that people become cops because they are too dumb to > work
> at
> > > > > : McDonald's?
> > > > :
> > > > > : 14. I pay your salary!
> > > > :
> > > > > : 15. So, uh, you on the take, or what?
> > > > :
> > > > > : 16. Gee, Officer! That's terrific. The last officer only gave me a > warning,
> > > > > : too!
> > > > :
> > > > > : 17. Do you know why you pulled me over? OK, just so one of us does.
> > > > :
> > > > > : 18. I was trying to keep up with traffic. Yes, I know there is no > other
> car
> > > > > : around me&emdash;that's how far ahead of me they are.
> > > > :
> > > > > : 19. What do you mean. "Have I been drinking?" You're the trained > specialist.
> > > > :
> > > > > : 20. Well, when I reached down to pick up my bag of crack, my gun > fell > off
> my
> > > > > : lap and got lodged between the brake pedal and the gas pedal, > forcing
> me
> to
> > > > > : speed out of control.
> > > > :
> > > > > : 21. Hey, is that a 9 mm? That's nothing compared to this .44 magnum.
> > > > :
> > > > > 22. It's not my car, BUT..... (care of Nightcrawler)
> > > > >
> > > > > 23. I know my rights!!!!
> >
> > 24. KC8JBO, Wogie Wiseman, would say to the cop: Will you
> > be my boyfriend? LOL LOL LOL LOL LOL
>
> N0VFP, Llllardasssss lllllloyd has said to a cop, "Can I slurp your > nutsacks to let me off these felonies?" See, Lllardasssss lllloyd has > quite a criminal record, for buggering boys , cows, and pumpkins in and > around Athens, AL.

>
> This was just faxed from the Birminham Field office:
>
> The Great Pumpkin
> Birmingham Post-Herald
> October 14, 2000
>
> Police arrested Lloyd A. Davies, a 27 year old white male, resident of > Athens, Alabama in the Anderson Pumpkin patch at 11:38pm Friday. Davies > will be charged with lewd and lascivious behavior, public indecency, > and public intoxication at the Athens Municipal Courthouse Monday. The > suspect allegedly stated that as he was passing a pumpkin patch, he > decided to stop. "You know, a pumpkin is soft and squishy inside, and > there was no one around here for miles. At least I thought there > wasn't." he stated in a phone interview from the Athens Municipal > Courthouse Jail.
> Davies went on to state that he pulled over to the side of the road, > picked out a pumpkin that he felt was appropriate to his purposes, cut
> a hole in it, and proceeded to satisfy his alleged "need". "I guess I > was just really into it, you know?" he commented with evident > embarrassment. In the process, Torrance apparently failed to notice the > Athens Municipal police car approaching and was unaware of his audience
> until officer Brenda Taylor approached him. "It was an unusual > situation, sure." said officer Taylor. "I walked up to (Davies) and > he's... just working away at this pumpkin."
> Taylor went on to describe what happened when she approached Davies. "I > just went up and said, 'Excuse me sir, but do you realize that you are > screwing a pumpkin?' He got real surprised as you'd expect, and then > looked me straight in the face and said,
> 'A pumpkin? Damn... is it midnight already?"

probably a close friend of yours chuckie....the nut doesn't fall far from the tree does it good buddy????

6332. Re: Help:Steel Tubes

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 18:43:22 UTC
From: uppluss@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <a2cf6f35.0112301043.24364036@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29278
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

genocide2rf357@aol.com (Genocide2RF357) wrote in message news:<20011230100154.13599.00002293@mb-fq.aol.com>...
> Hello,
> What would be a good choice of tubes or a tube that will do 2.5KW.Also what > would be a good tube or tubes to do 5KW just wondering.Thanks for the info in > advance.
>
> 73's from Mike
>
> NOTE:I know that cb amps are illegal and running power is illegal also I dont > care and was just curious what tubes are capable of this i did not say they > were going to be used but what the hell you may never know!!!!

We know they are gonna be used heh heh....

6333. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 18:47:39 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2EA8D3.D54B8132@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29279
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

KC8JBO wrote:

> > That's 'thirty years and still a virgin',
>
> Speaking from experience, Jizzwallowing JR?

Sheesh, learn proper quoting and responding in the newsgroups woger, I did not post the above. Moron!!!

6334. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 18:50:31 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2EA981.431F464E@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29280
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

KC8JBO wrote:

> Methjadone just kick in, heroin addict?

What is 'methjadone'? Learn to spell, woger.

6335. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 18:53:31 UTC
From: uppluss@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <a2cf6f35.0112301053.5568bce1@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29281
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Sam" <kg4heb@psknet.com> wrote in message
news:<rmrX7.1642$Dl1.828244@monger.newsread.com>...
> I know he knows a lot , that's great . I wish I could learn something from > this guy . But, he is just too damn rude . I never said anything out of the > way until he started with his sarcasm . - and dick , congrats on being an > extra class, but lighten up . Just remember you wasn't born with that > knowledge . You yourself had to learn somewhere . 73's Sam
> "middlefiger4@home.comss" <middlefinger4@home.com> wrote in message > news:qcrX7.337933$5A3.130209700@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com...
> > Sam, you should understand You have a Extra Class Ham in Dick who is > willing > > to lead you down the road to Illegal CB ... If you want to he can take you > > where you want to go...
> >
> > "Sam" <kg4heb@psknet.com> wrote in message
> > news:zOqX7.1638$Dl1.827048@monger.newsread.com...
> > > I think that's the first post this guy has posted that doesn't have any > > > sarcasm . That I have seen . All said .
> > > "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message > > > news:1GqX7.245582$3d2.12104448@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > > >
> > > > "Tim" <timnebo@aol.comLOL> wrote in message > > > > news:20011229153217.10842.00002189@mb-fa.aol.com... > > > > > hi mike, mine sure enough has a qaud set of 3-500z tubes in it. now > did > i say > > > > > it was made that way by heatkit? no. using your logic then all of > the > alphas > > > > > and alike amps using big ceramic tubes would be illegal and they are > not. i > > > > > doubt youve seen a sb220 like mine unless youve been around some > high > powered > > > > > specialist. it takes some care to do right.
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > >
> > > > > You are quite right; as an Amateur, I could own the old megawatt from > > > > > Radio Moscow without FCC approval for no better reason than they do
> not > > > > > approve anything beyond Part 15 in the Amateur Service.
> > > > >

> > > > As far as putting four tubes in the box, nothing that a complete > redesign > > > > of the power supply and output tank would not do along with a general > > > > beefing but being for a single band not that big a problem. Just what > you > > > > would have in terms of heat dissipation is another issue. Run it AM
> with > > > > a big aluminum heat sink on top and serve scrambled eggs to your > friends.
> > > > Restricted by that case, the blower might have to say Cummins on it.
> > > >
> > > > You better believe it takes some care to do it right.
> > > >
> > > >
> > >
> > >
> >
> >

Yeah but Dick is better than a lot of the hams in the NG. At least he doesn't whine about "legalities" and will take the time to explain how amps work and how to tune them for CB.

6336. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 18:53:42 UTC
From: f1dfr@my-deja.com
Message-ID: <a4a80311.0112301053.51d6466c@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29282

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2E834E.2014983C@IEEE.org>...
> f1dfr wrote:
> > The event will be greater than the break of Berlin's wall.
>
> Such delusions of grandeur. Probably 99.97% of the population > of the USA couldn't care less about amateur Morse code testing.

The world is not only composed of the USA ...

6337. FCC Ethical Scenario

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:21:31 UTC
From: "W. Mark" <Yudlink@yudlinkmark.org> Message-ID: <a0npg1$7vs$0@pita.alt.net>
Source record: 29283

Hypothetical situation in a large city:

FCC official runs for and gets elected president of local radio club. His or her FCC supervisor does not see a potential ethical problem with this. Should the supervisor have advised the FCC employee not to allow one self to be placed in a potential conflict-of-interest ethical situation? Does the supervisor have authority to make such a determination? In the next few weeks, the local sheriff's dept. becomes the victim of a jammer on their public safety freqs. The FCC assists, as time permits, but tells the S.O. it lacks funds and personnel (familiar FCC bullshit). Local commercial interests have been experiencing harmful interference for weeks, causing loss of business revenue. FCC renders very little assistance, quoting the same B.S. about lack of funds and personnel, other priorities, etc. In several instances, it is the FCC official who was elected radio club president that informs the sheriff and commercial interests that little or no FCC assistance will be forthcoming. Weeks go by. A local ham repeater owner experiences interference from a pager co. He contacts the FCC official who is radio club president, requesting FCC assistance in locating the offending pager co. Within 24 hrs., there is a full FCC response, involving government vehicles, FCC employees on official time, including overtime. The FCC effort continues nonstop, with the radio club president, who is a FCC employee, leading the FCC effort to locate the offending pager. The pager is located, and the pager company is cited. The FCC radio club president is commended by local hams for the immediate and complete FCC response in locating the pager interference to the ham repeater. Meanwhile, the Sheriff's Office and commercial interests are still experiencing interference problems. In fact, it's been weeks since the FCC office has even contacted them to get an update. The Sheriff's Office and commercial interests are livid when they learn of the immediate, complete and nonstop response by the FCC to find the pager interference to a ham repeater. Congressman gets involved, local and state officials, as well as the media.

So, the question is, what, if anything, should or will happen here? Will heads roll? Will there be discipline? Apologies? Will the Sheriff ever get his interference problem solved? Will there be a FCC cover-up? Of course, this is only a hypothetical situation, or is it? Suppose the hypothetical FCC employee involved here has a long record of doing this sort of thing? That is, showing favoritism to his ham radio buddies. What do you think, hypothetically speaking, of course?

6338. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:29:15 UTC
From: uppluss@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <a2cf6f35.0112301129.73745e9e@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29284
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

"Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:<3C2F0803.3435EE7D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> One Angry Man wrote:
> > You'll never know just how right you are!
> >
> > signed
> > One Angry No Code Ham
> > Member Number 1 of the No Code Liberation Army (NCLA)
>
>
> You can be as angry as you want to be. Those of us who have done > nothing wrong, have nothing to worry about.

BTW I do not consider illegal CB or bootlegging "wrong". Those of us who choose to operate outside the law do it with a clear conscience. I know that upsets some people, but too damn bad.

6339. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:30:23 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F6B4F.85E082FE@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29285

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
> > 2. I NEVER "threatened to have your internet access > >terminated." That is a typical Larry Roll lie. Quote back my "threat," > >Larry. Put up or Shut up.
>
> I reported on what I read, that's all. It was no lie. I'll start providing > quotes as soon as Cecil and every one else of the NCTA persuasion > catches up on at least a decade's worth.

Confused over the difference between "could" and "shall"?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6340. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:34:11 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F6C33.9787314@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29286

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> In selecting her particular Vanity
> Call Sign, Kim demonstrated poor taste and bad judgment;

So you say, Larry. One time is understandable. Ten times is too many. 100 times is harassment. You have demonstrated extremely poor taste and bad judgment in harassing Kim with your personal opinion hundreds of times over and over.
You have turned your personal opinion into a Big Lie.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6341. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:35:47 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F6C93.FF09AAE1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29287

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> Larry. Larry. Larry. The day I hear you utter praise in my direction, I > will be smelling my armpits before I think it's related to anything else.

Oh no, Kim! Now you've done it. "Utter" will remind Larry of "udder" and that will set him off all over again.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6342. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:37:28 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F6CF8.760B4A82@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29288

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> How charming. Don't look now, but you've got the wrong bloke,
> mate. It was Cecil who started this "electronic stalking" thing > going on here. However, the direct insult of being called an
> "idiot" is noted; I wonder what voyager.net's Terms Of Service
> have to say about that?

Does it say, "Thou shalt not call Larry Roll an idiot."?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6343. Re: FCC Ethical Scenario

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:38:17 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <W2KX7.326582$er5.6884406@e3500-atl2.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 29289

This reminds me of the guy in a Western comedy who is pinned down by gunfire and cautiously raises his hat up on his gunbarrel to see if the zone is hot. Makes me wonder if this is one of those
"it-is-actually-real-but-I-am-going-to-stick-my-hat-up-to-see-what-happens" kind of a thing. Wouldn't surprise me if it WAS real.

Jerry
K4KWH
W. Mark <Yudlink@yudlinkmark.org> wrote in message news:a0npg1$7vs$0@pita.alt.net...
> Hypothetical situation in a large city:
>
> FCC official runs for and gets elected president of local radio club.
> His or her FCC supervisor does not see a potential ethical problem with > this. Should the supervisor have advised the FCC employee not to > allow one self to be placed in a potential conflict-of-interest ethical > situation? Does the supervisor have authority to make such a > determination? In the next few weeks, the local sheriff's dept.
> becomes the victim of a jammer on their public safety freqs. The > FCC assists, as time permits, but tells the S.O. it lacks funds and > personnel (familiar FCC bullshit). Local commercial interests have > been experiencing harmful interference for weeks, causing loss of > business revenue. FCC renders very little assistance, quoting the same > B.S. about lack of funds and personnel, other priorities, etc. In several > instances, it is the FCC official who was elected radio club president > that informs the sheriff and commercial interests that little or no FCC > assistance will be forthcoming. Weeks go by. A local ham repeater > owner experiences interference from a pager co. He contacts the FCC > official who is radio club president, requesting FCC assistance in > locating the offending pager co. Within 24 hrs., there is a full FCC > response, involving government vehicles, FCC employees on official > time, including overtime. The FCC effort continues nonstop, with the > radio club president, who is a FCC employee, leading the FCC effort > to locate the offending pager. The pager is located, and the pager > company is cited. The FCC radio club president is commended by > local hams for the immediate and complete FCC response in locating > the pager interference to the ham repeater. Meanwhile, the Sheriff's > Office and commercial interests are still experiencing interference > problems. In fact, it's been weeks since the FCC office has even > contacted them to get an update. The Sheriff's Office and commercial > interests are livid when they learn of the immediate, complete and nonstop

> response by the FCC to find the pager interference to a ham repeater.
> Congressman gets involved, local and state officials, as well as the media.
>
> So, the question is, what, if anything, should or will happen here?
> Will heads roll? Will there be discipline? Apologies? Will the Sheriff > ever get his interference problem solved? Will there be a FCC cover-up?
> Of course, this is only a hypothetical situation, or is it? Suppose the > hypothetical FCC employee involved here has a long record of doing this > sort of thing? That is, showing favoritism to his ham radio buddies.
What
> do you think, hypothetically speaking, of course?
>
>

6344. Re: UK "Foundation" Class Amateur License (Soon to Be: Cecil the Liar)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:38:36 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F6D3C.959C5EAC@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29290

```
Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> >> You have exactly one posting to produce the quote where I said
> >> "no-code Techs are [technical] dumb shits," or you have once again > >> proven that you are a liar!
> >>
> >No need to waste my time that way, Larry. You have posted hundreds > >of times that nocode techs are dumbed-down. You have even posted > >that post-restructuring generals and extras are dumbed-down.
>
> Admittedly, I have -- but only in general terms.

I rest my case.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
```

6345. Re: Correlation between code proficiency and technical proficiency

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:46:12 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F6F04.7FA67AA@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29291

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:

> CAM wrote:
> >Maybe you need to come to my GED math classes - they're free.
>
> If I ever find myself in your neck of the woods, I'll gladly take you > up on that! I need all the free math classes I can get my hands on!

Great gobs of goose grease - a human being has taken over control of Larry's keyboard - somebody call the cops. Happy New Year, Larry.
And Happy New Year everyone else.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6346. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:48:53 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F6FA5.C47B4707@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29292

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >Larry, even if the original reason was different, IMO, it has been > >worth it to see Kim and her callsign get your goat.
>
> Don't look now, but you haven't seen that!

What one sees is subjective, Larry. Seems to me your attacks are impotent.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6347. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:49:31 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <97KX7.108310$BX4.6929525@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 29293

Maybe it IS too simplistic, but I made certain about those CC&R things BEFORE I moved into my home 15 years ago. I made it clear to my real estate agent that I would NOT accept 2 things: 1) having some busybody, blue-haired old lady looking at me over her Ben Franklins and telling me what I can and can't do, and 2) a heat pump. If I was going to enjoy my hobby down in that newly acquired basement, I'd be damned if I was going to freeze to death while doing it! LOL! I fired her when she, after being told of the heating requirement, attempted to "force" me to accept a home with a heat pump. I still shiver when I think about it!

Jerry

Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c2f4454_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> "K0HB" <k0hb@qwest.net> wrote in message
> news:22f95753a243693d99f882d77b3604c9.15732@mygate.mailgate.org...
> > "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
> news:3c2f3a6b_1@newsa.ev1.net...
> >
> > >
> > > Hey, remember all the high and mighty code/no-code arguments and near > > > knock-down-drag-outs there've been right here on this newsgroup?
Well,
> > > according to the folks who just couldn't stand the post-restructuring
> set > > > up, the ARS is degraded to stupidity anyway, right? So, why would they
> now
> > > all come to the defense of such a degraded service?
> > >
> >
> > In other words, you'd rather not discuss this issue.
> >
>
> Well, actually, I am wondering why whomever started this and whomever is
all > upset about it, wasn't discussing it prior to any decisions being made by > the FCC. It's funny that it's always after the fact that these issues
are > raised on a newsgroup.

>
> >
> > Excellent. Set up your newsreader to ignore it.
> >
> > With all kind wishes,
> >
> > de Hans, K0HB
> >
>
> And, I would like to know why the folks who argue on the side of the ARS > being so dumbed down, worthless, invaded, nothing but CBish, etc., etc., > would now be so very concerned about it? Did they expect that their blase > attitude would have a positive effect on the ARS?
>
> Another think I'd like to know is why the folks who were just vociferously > arguing for CCRs just a couple/few months ago--and who were throwing the > usual insults at people who don't like them--are now crying out for a > federal mandate to negate the very contracts they were bothering to wave
in > the faces of people? I think the words they used were something to the > effect of: "if you don't like it, then don't move into a neighborhood like > that." OK, I'm convinced. So, why is that such a crappy belief to have > now? It seems to me that Cecil, and me I suppose, are now stating exactly > what was stated to us--and yet, is that the attitude of resentment I see?
> Yep, it sure it.
>
> Not that I think either way on the issue. I'd rather get to the meat of
the > matter in the apparent problem a lot of folks are having on focusing on > exactly what they believe--or else, maybe it is that they feel however
they > think is best "at the time" with a propensity for quick change if it suits > them. Yeah, I think that's it.
>
> Kim W5TIT
>
>

6348. Re: "....one step closer to extinction. "

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:52:10 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F706A.860FD61E@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29294

Larry Roll K3LT wrote:
> I am an Amateur Extra Class licensee in good standing, ...

Not with everyone, Larry. Some of us consider you to be a despicable ham who is guilty of harassment.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6349. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:55:13 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F7121.555E7F3@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29296

f1dfr wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2E834E.2014983C@IEEE.org>...
> > f1dfr wrote:
> > > The event will be greater than the break of Berlin's wall.
> >
> > Such delusions of grandeur. Probably 99.97% of the population > > of the USA couldn't care less about amateur Morse code testing.
>
> The world is not only composed of the USA ...

Have it your way. Guess what happens to the above percentage when China's population is included?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6350. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:57:35 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2EB939.60780F69@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29295

N2EY wrote:
>
> In article <E447BB6B107727DE.124A1E3F3A33C370.703D7850046C58A1@lp.airnews.net>,
> Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> writes:
>
> >On 29 Dec 2001 04:51:50 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> >wrote:
> > >
> > >>Greetings All:
> > >>
> > >>To those who have been insisting that the FCC has the best interests > > >>of the ARS at heart, I offer the following. I seems like "Restructuring"
> > >>isn't the only way they had in mind to put an end to our tomfoolery on > > >>all this valuable RF real estate. Now they're saying licensed radio > > >>amateurs don't have any need to establish a station in our own homes.
> > >>Get ready to lose some more spectrum -- and soon! Read it and weep...
> > >>
> > >>73 de Larry, K3LT
> > >
> > > More "gloom and doom" Larry?
> >
> > Nope - facts and reasonable conclusions.
> > >
> > > Get a grip!
> >
> > Which means what?
> >
> > >Simply because the FCC doesn't view it as > > >essential for a ham to have a permanent station location does NOT mean > > >they are trying to strip any frequencies from us.
> >
> > It sure doesn't help the ARS grow and prosper, though. If the ARS doesn't grow > > and prosper, there will be no reason for our frequencies to be preserved for > > our use. And make no mistake, there are plenty of folks who would be really > > happy to see ham radio just disappear.
> >
> > >With today's > > >equipment, you DON'T need a permanent station location-
> >
> > Nobody NEEDS to be ham at all, either.
> >
> > >-modern rigs
> > >are very capable of mobile or portable operations, something that the > > >HF rigs a few decades ago weren't really suited for.

>
> The antennas haven't gotten any smaller, though. Mobile is no solution for > those without suitable vehicles. Portable is fine if you're a camping type - > useless if you're not.
>
> > It's a ham's choice whether or not he or she will move into an > >area with antenna restrictions--no one is forced to do so, they can > >live elsewhere if they feel the restrictions are more important than > >the location.
>
> That's not true in the vast majority of cases. Young hams usually don't choose > where they live. Amateurs with families usually do not have autocratic power to > decide where to live based solely on antenna considerations.
>
> In real life, home choice is often driven by a number of factors:
>
> - cost
> - availability (you can't buy what's not for sale)
> - suitable location (jobs, family, stores)
> - size and features
> - school district
> - special family member needs (handicapped access, health care access, special > educational facilities, etc.)
>
> There is also the fact that many people aren't in a position to move just so > they can become hams.
>
> >If enough hams take the attitude that they won't buy > >homes in restricted communities, and if that has an economic impact on > >the community, the restrictions will disappear.
>
> Nope. For one thing, there just aren't enough hams looking to buy houses to > make much of a difference. Surf over to
>
> http://www.realtor.com
>
> and get an idea of the size of the real estate market. How many hams do you > think are looking for houses at any one time?
>
> For another thing, the restrictions are carefully designed to be extremely > difficult to remove. Even if both buyer and seller want to be rid of them, they > are specifically set up so that they cannot be removed in future sales.
>
> >If not, it's a simple > >question of market economics (non-hams may be MORE willing to buy in > >an area where antennas are banned), not something that involves (or > >SHOULD involve) the government directly.
>
> Just the opposite. It forces hams into "ghettos" that are constantly shrinking.
>

> >
> > Don't like a restriction? Don't sign a purchase agreement for > >property until you know it doesn't have any in its deed of title.
>
> In many situations there is no reasonable choice. And what if a person decides > to become a ham after buying a house - should they be forced to move?
> >
> > Sounds simple enough to me.
>
> It's not.
>
> Would you have the same attitude towards CC&Rs which specified that only > married couples could engage in certain activities on the property? Or that > restricted anyone from perfectly legal at-home activities like alcohol use or > eating meat? Particularly when the percentage of properties so restricted grew > every year, making it harder and harder to find an unrestricted house?
>
> --
>
> "No-antenna" covenants started in the '70s in California (natch) as a > sweetheart deal between developers and cable providers. The cable companies > picked up the cost of wiring new developments for cable and the developers > inserted the "no antennas" restrictions in the fine print. End result was a > guaranteed captive market for the cable TV folks.
>
> As I understand it, the reason TV dishes are exempted is that the "pizza dish"
> satellite companies pushed a test case all the way to the Supreme Court, > claiming that the restrictive covenants created a monopoly for the cable folks > and excluded the pizza dish folks from the pay-TV market. Supremes said it was > restriction of trade, monopolistic practice, that sort of thing, and broke the > covenants - except in historic areas.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

I'm amazed as I follow this debate that some talk of ham radio as if it were something of real importance. If you life would drastically change for the worse if ham radio went away, you need help.

6351. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 19:59:53 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2EB9C4.E4009689@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29297

CAM wrote:
>
> N2EY wrote:
> > As I understand it, the reason TV dishes are exempted is that the "pizza dish"
> > satellite companies pushed a test case all the way to the Supreme Court, > > claiming that the restrictive covenants created a monopoly for the cable folks > > and excluded the pizza dish folks from the pay-TV market. Supremes said it was > > restriction of trade, monopolistic practice, that sort of thing, and broke the > > covenants - except in historic areas.
>
> Too bad the same approach won't work for amateurs. Are there any guaranteed > freedoms or laws on the side of the amateur radio operators? I suspect it would > be unconstitutional for the federal government to interfere with willingly
> signed CC&R contracts.

The people who signs CC&R contracts and then bitch, are just like those who build a house off the end of a runway of a busy airport and then bitch about the noise and want to get the runway shut down.

6352. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 20:05:01 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F736D.EBD75602@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29298

K0HB wrote:
>
> Cecil said:
>
> > I suspect it would be unconstitutional for the federal government to > > interfere with willingly signed CC&R contracts.
>
> You suspect wrong. The federal government (FCC) issued a preemption voiding
> CC&Rs which prohibit visual entertainment (TV) antennas.

Where in the Constitution are the feds granted that power? Does that power apply to non-commercial items?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6353. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 20:15:58 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F75FE.6BD490BD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29299
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

Scott Unit-69 wrote:
> BTW I do not consider illegal CB or bootlegging "wrong". Those of us > who choose to operate outside the law do it with a clear conscience. I > know that upsets some people, but too damn bad.

Like all people who operate outside the law, one must be willing to suffer the consequences of one's actions. Spitting on the sidewalk will get one flogged in at least one nation.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6354. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 20:24:42 UTC
From: KB9TMP <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com>
Message-ID: <a0nt67$91d$1@dagobah.blueriver.net>
Source record: 29354
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

"Scott Unit-69" <uppluss@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:a2cf6f35.0112301129.73745e9e@posting.google.com...
> "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:<3C2F0803.3435EE7D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> > One Angry Man wrote:
> > > You'll never know just how right you are!
> > >
> > > signed
> > > One Angry No Code Ham
> > > Member Number 1 of the No Code Liberation Army (NCLA)
> >
> >
> > You can be as angry as you want to be. Those of us who have done > > nothing wrong, have nothing to worry about.
>
> BTW I do not consider illegal CB or bootlegging "wrong". Those of us > who choose to operate outside the law do it with a clear conscience. I > know that upsets some people, but too damn bad.

And when "Uncle Charlie" AKA Riley Hollingsworth drops by and asks you to turn over the contents of your shack, you can tell him how your not doing anything "wrong" and see how it plays with him.

Unit 798 in the cornfields of Indiana on the side and QRT FROM NOW ON.
(The heck with freebanding, the legal way is lots more fun!)
--

'73' From KB9TMP
NCI-2385

Progress does not consist of replacing a theory that is wrong with one that is right. It consists of replacing a theory that is wrong with one that is more subtly wrong. Never attribute to malice that which is adequately explained by stupidity.
-Hawkin's Theory

6355. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 20:32:42 UTC
From: onehighpoweredmutha@mail.com
Message-ID: <3c2f7974.1135127@netnews.att.net>
Source record: 29300
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 23:47:57 -0500, "Joe S." <joe@schlatter.org>
wrote:

>How about we just forward it to Riley and let him sort it out.
>
>Done.

fuck gayboy riley and his bullshit i'd like that asshole son of a bitch to come fuck with me he'd be pulling bullets out his ass i'd nail his ass with my 9MM

fuck that cock suckin' bastard

OHPM

one high powered mutha
powered by 2 - 4CX25,000's
i don't play
i drop da maul

6356. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 20:33:08 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <8SKX7.205982$WW.11947188@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29351
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

Scott did not write this Cecil. Be very leery of things sent via Google or other public urinals.

Dick N&#65533;BK

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2F75FE.6BD490BD@IEEE.org...
> Scott Unit-69 wrote:
> > BTW I do not consider illegal CB or bootlegging "wrong". Those of us > > who choose to operate outside the law do it with a clear conscience. I > > know that upsets some people, but too damn bad.
>
> Like all people who operate outside the law, one must be willing to > suffer the consequences of one's actions. Spitting on the sidewalk > will get one flogged in at least one nation.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6357. Re: FCC Ethical Scenario

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 20:34:08 UTC
From: KB9TMP <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com>
Message-ID: <a0ntnu$91j$1@dagobah.blueriver.net>
Source record: 29353

"W. Mark" <Yudlink@yudlinkmark.org> wrote in message news:a0npg1$7vs$0@pita.alt.net...
> Hypothetical situation in a large city:
>
> FCC official runs for and gets elected president of local radio club.
> His or her FCC supervisor does not see a potential ethical problem with > this. Should the supervisor have advised the FCC employee not to > allow one self to be placed in a potential conflict-of-interest ethical > situation? Does the supervisor have authority to make such a > determination? In the next few weeks, the local sheriff's dept.
> becomes the victim of a jammer on their public safety freqs. The > FCC assists, as time permits, but tells the S.O. it lacks funds and > personnel (familiar FCC bullshit). Local commercial interests have > been experiencing harmful interference for weeks, causing loss of > business revenue. FCC renders very little assistance, quoting the same > B.S. about lack of funds and personnel, other priorities, etc. In several > instances, it is the FCC official who was elected radio club president > that informs the sheriff and commercial interests that little or no FCC > assistance will be forthcoming. Weeks go by. A local ham repeater > owner experiences interference from a pager co. He contacts the FCC > official who is radio club president, requesting FCC assistance in > locating the offending pager co. Within 24 hrs., there is a full FCC > response, involving government vehicles, FCC employees on official > time, including overtime. The FCC effort continues nonstop, with the > radio club president, who is a FCC employee, leading the FCC effort > to locate the offending pager. The pager is located, and the pager > company is cited. The FCC radio club president is commended by > local hams for the immediate and complete FCC response in locating > the pager interference to the ham repeater. Meanwhile, the Sheriff's > Office and commercial interests are still experiencing interference > problems. In fact, it's been weeks since the FCC office has even > contacted them to get an update. The Sheriff's Office and commercial > interests are livid when they learn of the immediate, complete and nonstop > response by the FCC to find the pager interference to a ham repeater.
> Congressman gets involved, local and state officials, as well as the media.
>
> So, the question is, what, if anything, should or will happen here?
> Will heads roll? Will there be discipline? Apologies? Will the Sheriff > ever get his interference problem solved? Will there be a FCC cover-up?
> Of course, this is only a hypothetical situation, or is it? Suppose the > hypothetical FCC employee involved here has a long record of doing this > sort of thing? That is, showing favoritism to his ham radio buddies. What > do you think, hypothetically speaking, of course?
>
>

If he really wanted to be a hero here, he could have offered the help of the radio club to the Sheriff and business people to help out where the "official" FCC response was lacking.

As it is now heads should roll, hypothetically speaking, of course!
--

'73' From KB9TMP
NCI-2385

Beware of the man who works hard to learn something, learns it, and finds himself no wiser than before. He is full of murderous resentment of people who are ignorant
without having come by their ignorance the hard way.
-Peer's Law

6358. Open Letter to Mr. Hollingsworth

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 20:40:30 UTC
From: David Stinson <arc5@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C2F7BBE.5EAFC23A@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 29352

Open letter to Mr. Hollingsworth.

Re: Kevin Mitnick (N6NHG)

Dear Mr. Hollingsworth,

A wise person once said-
"If I stand idly by as injustice is done,
then my hands, too,
are stained with that injustice."

A lot of people in the ham community
see revoking Mr. Mitnick's license as an unjust over-reaction.
It's not like he was on 14.313 thumbing his nose at everyone.
I could name current licensees with criminal records that make
Mr. Mitnick look like a gilded saint. But then, they didn't make the national news. Uncle can get more headlines beating up a celebrity then by whacking a real criminal.
I wonder about the morality of "making an example"
of someone who has paid their debt.

Mr. Mitnick did his time and, as far as we know, has been straight since. More then a few believe that someone in Justice ordered someone else
to slap the boy, just for the sake of petty vengeance.

We're concerned.
If one person is treated unjustly,
what about when it's our turn?
But we're not the ones "on the ground" in this case;
we must rely on those empowered with the public trust
to show us the justice of such matters.
What do you say about it?
You are respected in the community.
Your words carry weight with us.
If there is justification for continuing to kick this man
after he's served his sentence,
surely it can stand the test of public disclosure.

We just want know our hands are clean.

Sincerely, David S.

6359. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 21:08:20 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <8nLX7.206017$WW.11946913@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29355
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

You know, Onesey, if you did not go into these fits of testosterone poisoning now and again you might be worth keeping out of the killfile

"One High Powered Mother Flipper!" <onehighpoweredmutha@mail.com> wrote in message news:3c2f7974.1135127@netnews.att.net...
> On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 23:47:57 -0500, "Joe S." <joe@schlatter.org>
> wrote:
>
> >How about we just forward it to Riley and let him sort it out.
> >
> >Done.
>
>
> fuck gayboy riley and his bullshit i'd like that asshole son of a > bitch to come fuck with me he'd be pulling bullets out his ass i'd > nail his ass with my 9MM
>
> fuck that cock suckin' bastard
>
> OHPM
>
>
> one high powered mutha
> powered by 2 - 4CX25,000's
> i don't play
> i drop da maul

6360. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 21:13:40 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <8sLX7.206026$WW.11951458@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29356
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

Aside from the fact that Scott did not write this idiocy, when are you taking the code test so you can enjoy it a hell of a lot more???

Dick N�BK

"KB9TMP" <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com> wrote in message news:a0nt67$91d$1@dagobah.blueriver.net...
> "Scott Unit-69" <uppluss@hotmail.com> wrote in message
> news:a2cf6f35.0112301129.73745e9e@posting.google.com...
> > "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
> news:<3C2F0803.3435EE7D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> > > One Angry Man wrote:
> > > > You'll never know just how right you are!
> > > >
> > > > signed
> > > > One Angry No Code Ham
> > > > Member Number 1 of the No Code Liberation Army (NCLA)
> > >
> > >
> > > You can be as angry as you want to be. Those of us who have done > > > nothing wrong, have nothing to worry about.
> >
> > BTW I do not consider illegal CB or bootlegging "wrong". Those of us > > who choose to operate outside the law do it with a clear conscience. I > > know that upsets some people, but too damn bad.
>
> And when "Uncle Charlie" AKA Riley Hollingsworth drops by and > asks you to turn over the contents of your shack, you can tell him how > your not doing anything "wrong" and see how it plays with him.
>
> Unit 798 in the cornfields of Indiana on the side and QRT FROM NOW ON.
> (The heck with freebanding, the legal way is lots more fun!)
> --
>
> '73' From KB9TMP
> NCI-2385
>
> Progress does not consist of replacing a theory that is wrong > with one that is right. It consists of replacing a theory that is > wrong with one that is more subtly wrong. Never attribute to > malice that which is adequately explained by stupidity.
> -Hawkin's Theory
>
>

6361. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 21:18:59 UTC
From: John <n1umj@ARRL.net>
Message-ID: <7xLX7.42739$Sj1.18328536@typhoon.ne.mediaone.net>
Source record: 29357
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Next time I meet a free bander I will have him reported like they should be.
it is not a free band you like the bands so much and the radios get off your wellfair receaving, lazy child molesting asses and work for the lisence for the first time in your life and show people equipment and this country a little respect. I have no respect for the "free banders" at all. Work for it like everyone else if you want the ham bands or stay the hell in the 1-40 channels range where you belong. You do not deserve any more respect then the person I shot for breaking in to my house a few years back or the one I
caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER WALK
AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!
"Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message
news:e9de0154.0112300024.125df714@posting.google.com...
> I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in
> this > group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the > frequencies
> from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might
> think.
> We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip
> conditions.
> We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know
> technical > issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us
> is > rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This > should > not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams
> do.
> For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
> is > a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying
> is > that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to > talk with > him before you condemn him.
>
> This article ought to clarify things, as I am the author:
> http://sporadic1.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)
>
> Unit 2711, Florida

6362. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 21:31:20 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <IILX7.206051$WW.11953034@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29358
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

The post was a forgery, John. Lot of that of late. Suggest before replying check the routing: if you see Google or Newsnet or any of the other well-known public urinals you can safely forget it. The ethics of responding to cross-posts I will leave to you but that is another indication that something is bogus.

Dick N&#65533;BK

"John" <n1umj@ARRL.net> wrote in message
news:7xLX7.42739$Sj1.18328536@typhoon.ne.mediaone.net...
> Next time I meet a free bander I will have him reported like they should be.
> it is not a free band you like the bands so much and the radios get off your > wellfair receaving, lazy child molesting asses and work for the lisence for > the first time in your life and show people equipment and this country a > little respect. I have no respect for the "free banders" at all. Work for it > like everyone else if you want the ham bands or stay the hell in the 1-40 > channels range where you belong. You do not deserve any more respect then > the person I shot for breaking in to my house a few years back or the one I
> caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER WALK
> AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!
> "Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message
> news:e9de0154.0112300024.125df714@posting.google.com...
> > I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in
> > this > > group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the > > frequencies
> > from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might
> > think.
> > We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip > > conditions.
> > We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know
> > technical > > issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us
> > is > > rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This > > should > > not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams

> > do.
> > For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
> > is > > a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying
> > is > > that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to > > talk with > > him before you condemn him.
> >
> > This article ought to clarify things, as I am the author:
> > http://sporadic1.tripod.com/page7.html
> >
> > I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)
> >
> > Unit 2711, Florida
>
>

6363. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 21:33:00 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F880C.56F97454@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29359
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

Richard McCollum wrote:
>
> Scott did not write this Cecil. Be very leery of things sent via Google > or other public urinals.

Hi Dick, I wasn't responding to any single individual but to the world at large. Thus the use of the pronoun "one".

> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote:
> > Scott Unit-69 wrote:
> > > BTW I do not consider illegal CB or bootlegging "wrong". Those of us > > > who choose to operate outside the law do it with a clear conscience. I > > > know that upsets some people, but too damn bad.
> >
> > Like all people who operate outside the law, one must be willing to > > suffer the consequences of one's actions. Spitting on the sidewalk > > will get one flogged in at least one nation.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6364. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 21:35:51 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2F88B7.FB31D411@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29360
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

John wrote:
> ... or the one I
> caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER WALK
> AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!

In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6365. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 21:40:59 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <LRLX7.206064$WW.11952679@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29361
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2F88B7.FB31D411@IEEE.org...
> John wrote:
> > ... or the one I > > caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER WALK
> > AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!
>
> In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Nebraska for one but it is not a great idea. Remnant of what was once known as the Shoot Your Neighbor Act.

6366. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 21:45:29 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <ZVLX7.206066$WW.11953961@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29362

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:LRLX7.206064$WW.11952679@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C2F88B7.FB31D411@IEEE.org...
> > John wrote:
> > > ... or the one I > > > caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER > WALK
> > > AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!
> > >
> > In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
> > --
> > cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
>
> Nebraska for one but it is not a great idea. Remnant of what was once > known as the Shoot Your Neighbor Act.
>
>

Probably should also point out that Taxation Without Representation is legal in NE as well.
The fact pattern that brought this case to court in the late 50s no longer exist but the precedent is still there.

Dick N&#65533;BK

6367. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 22:06:33 UTC
From: Compassionate Conservative <Compassionate@right.wing> Message-ID: <jl3v2ukc95n5n49j8r41709v371tc0fviv@4ax.com>
Source record: 29363

On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 22:50:02 -0600, The ignorant moron CAM
<Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> spewed hate by saying:

>K0HB wrote:
>> The message is very clear to me -- "You amateurs don't have >> enough financial or political clout for us to worry about.
>
>Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a >state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you? Any other >legal contracts you would like to dismiss?

Like most home owners I did not sign a agreement on deed restrictions.
It was a done deal. The buyer of a used house is not given a copy of any deed restrictions but must check the county records to find if there are any restrictions on the deed.

--

Destroy Wahhabism

6368. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 22:12:21 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0o3cf06to@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29367
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

"Scott Unit-69" <uppluss@hotmail.com> wrote in message
news:a2cf6f35.0112301129.73745e9e@posting.google.com...

> > You can be as angry as you want to be. Those of us who have done > > nothing wrong, have nothing to worry about.
>
> BTW I do not consider illegal CB or bootlegging "wrong". Those of us > who choose to operate outside the law do it with a clear conscience. I > know that upsets some people, but too damn bad.

I don't think you do it with a clear conscience. I think you do it because there is very little chance of your getting busted.

6369. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 22:19:13 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp4lklu.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29364

On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 14:04:17 -0500, Krell wrote:

>> Most homes built after 1980 or so have CC&R's that pretty much prohibit >> antennas period.
>
>So? What's wrong with finding an older house? Sounds like you want to have >your cake and eat it, too.

No, I want to have ham radio as my hobby, not reconstructing and doing continuous maintenance on an older home.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6370. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 22:19:21 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp4m0qv.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29365

On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 18:21:35 -0500, Rick Adams wrote:

> More "gloom and doom" Larry?
>
> Get a grip! Simply because the FCC doesn't view it as >essential for a ham to have a permanent station location does NOT mean >they are trying to strip any frequencies from us. With today's >equipment, you DON'T need a permanent station location--modern rigs
>are very capable of mobile or portable operations, something that the >HF rigs a few decades ago weren't really suited for.

The FCC is merely echoing the Ninth Circuit in _Howard v City of Burlingame_ ten years ago when it said that the FCC license does not guarantee erection of any antenna of one's choice.

We're missing the real nugget hidden in the Order. For many years both I and Chris Imlay, the ARRL General Counsel, have said out front that the FCC won't assert pre-emption over CC&Rs until The Congress tells it to, as it did for OTARDs. Buried deep in the verbiage of the subject Order, the FCC clearly stated that it wanted The Congress to tell it to assert pre-emption before it will do so. Chris, the author of the Petition, had to go through the motions to get that sort of "committment". Now we can go to The Congress and say "see, we need you to support ham radio".

"Hang in there, baybee...."

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6371. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 22:34:22 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <ODMX7.206130$WW.11957866@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29366
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Well, we had a case a few years back. There had been some robberies and a few people shot individuals crazy enough to break into their homes. No problem with that, of course; what was interesting is a couple years ago a guy heard something breaking in his garage. He grabbed a gun and shot a guy stealing a bicycle. The thief was in the driveway at the time with the bike. The grand jury let him go. A lot of people are getting fed up with what has been happening the last 10 or 20 years or so.

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2F88B7.FB31D411@IEEE.org...
> John wrote:
> > ... or the one I > > caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER WALK
> > AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!
>
> In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6372. Re: FCC Ethical Scenario

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 22:39:15 UTC
From: JAMES HAMPTON <j.r.hampton@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <nIMX7.206135$WW.11958323@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29368

I thought that line of thought was over when John F. Kennedy was elected president.

73 from Rochester, NY
Jim AA2QA

"W. Mark" <Yudlink@yudlinkmark.org> wrote in message news:a0npg1$7vs$0@pita.alt.net...
> Hypothetical situation in a large city:
>
> FCC official runs for and gets elected president of local radio club.
> His or her FCC supervisor does not see a potential ethical problem with > this. Should the supervisor have advised the FCC employee not to > allow one self to be placed in a potential conflict-of-interest ethical > situation? Does the supervisor have authority to make such a > determination? In the next few weeks, the local sheriff's dept.
> becomes the victim of a jammer on their public safety freqs. The > FCC assists, as time permits, but tells the S.O. it lacks funds and > personnel (familiar FCC bullshit). Local commercial interests have > been experiencing harmful interference for weeks, causing loss of > business revenue. FCC renders very little assistance, quoting the same > B.S. about lack of funds and personnel, other priorities, etc. In several > instances, it is the FCC official who was elected radio club president > that informs the sheriff and commercial interests that little or no FCC > assistance will be forthcoming. Weeks go by. A local ham repeater > owner experiences interference from a pager co. He contacts the FCC > official who is radio club president, requesting FCC assistance in > locating the offending pager co. Within 24 hrs., there is a full FCC > response, involving government vehicles, FCC employees on official > time, including overtime. The FCC effort continues nonstop, with the > radio club president, who is a FCC employee, leading the FCC effort > to locate the offending pager. The pager is located, and the pager > company is cited. The FCC radio club president is commended by > local hams for the immediate and complete FCC response in locating > the pager interference to the ham repeater. Meanwhile, the Sheriff's > Office and commercial interests are still experiencing interference > problems. In fact, it's been weeks since the FCC office has even > contacted them to get an update. The Sheriff's Office and commercial > interests are livid when they learn of the immediate, complete and nonstop > response by the FCC to find the pager interference to a ham repeater.
> Congressman gets involved, local and state officials, as well as the media.
>
> So, the question is, what, if anything, should or will happen here?
> Will heads roll? Will there be discipline? Apologies? Will the Sheriff > ever get his interference problem solved? Will there be a FCC cover-up?

> Of course, this is only a hypothetical situation, or is it? Suppose the > hypothetical FCC employee involved here has a long record of doing this > sort of thing? That is, showing favoritism to his ham radio buddies.
What
> do you think, hypothetically speaking, of course?
>
>

6373. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 22:42:37 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0o5gsajr1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29370

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230102218.03703.00000786@mb-da.aol.com...
> In article <a0lm8k$q4j$1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>, "Bill Sohl" > <billsohl@mindspring.com> writes:
>
> >"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote:
>
> >> Carl (WA6VSE) has said that existing Advanceds > >> should not be given Extraclass > >> licenses without passing the Extra class test because > >> those Advanceds have not > >> demonstrated the necessary qualifications.
> >> I'm simply trying to figure out what > >> qualifications he's talking about.
> >
> >Very simple...the Extra class written exam.
>
> The exam is not a qualification, it's a requirement that must be met.
> Same as the 20 wpm code test.

The eam is the means to determine the qualification.
For 20wpm,, the qualification was to have the ability to recieve at 20 wpm...as determined by passing a test which was the actual requirement.

Likewise, the Extra written is the test methodology
(Element 4) used to determine IF the applicant has sufficient knowledge of theory/rule/regs which are part of the syllabus of knowledge used to prepare the test element itself which is the requirement.

> >Before the NEW structure,
> >all that involved was the 4B (I think that was it) which > >I and others passed and obtained CSCE credit for.
>
> Yeah, I know. I passed it in August, 1970, between sophomore and junior year of > high school. Age 16. Woulda done it earlier but they had that 2 year experience
> thing back then.
>
> >Once 4/15/00
> >came and went, we had a paper upgrade. Those that were advanced > >and didn't follow that path now have a "combined" 4A/4B exam to contend > >with. That's the breaks.

> >
> Old 4A was 50 questions and old 4B was 40. New 4 is 50 questions.
>
> But none of this answers the original question: What is so special about 3524
> kHz that one needs to be tested more to use it than 3526?

It really is still an aspect of "incentive licensing".

> >> Carl describes incentive licensing as "a dismal failure" and says that
> >license
> >> test requirements should ONLY be based on demonstrating the necessary > >> qualifications.
> >
> >And that's what it is per my comments above.
>
> Why is Element 4 "necessary"? Because the FCC says so?

See my comment above...the test is the means to ascertain an individuals knowledge.

> >> Carl also says that the writtens are not "dumbed down", even though > >> their size and number was radically decreased on April 15, 2000.
> >
> >The number of questions doesn't change the scope and
> >or difficulty of learning the knowledge needed
> >to pass.
>
> Sure it does.

Let's make this simple.... I give you 200 words to learn the spelling of. You have NO knowledge of which words will be on a test. You still need to learn them all regardless of the test being 25 or 50 of the words picked at random.
Same applies to all types of testing.

> >> You're missing my point then, Bill. All I've done is point out the > >> facts and conclusions that follow logically IF one accepts > >> Carl's philosophy of license testing.
> >
> >The question then is on what do you wish to see happen
> >with the testing...status quo, change to something else?
>
> See previous posts on "basic/intermediate/full".
>
> >> >> Sounds to me like you want to make everyone jump through the same > >> >> written test hoops you did.
> >> >
> >> >Surely you jest :-)
> >>
> >> No, I'm quite serious.

> >
> >Then exactly WHAT do YOU want as requirements?
>
> A simple basic test to get started, a more involved test for more privs, and a > fairly comprehensive test for full privileges. And make the privileges match
> the testing level.

How does that differ from Tech/General/Extra today?

> The big problem lots of ham have with the current system is that the privileges
> don't match the testing.

Then what alignment would you like for privileges vs license (I can't find your prior post on those details...so maybe repubishing would help me understand your position.) I have some thoughts on those lines also...perhaps we are in closer agreement than we think.

> >> >> > why should anyone get a total freebie??? If they > >> >> >don't want to, or don't have the time to, upgrade, they should > >> >> >remain satisfied with what they have. There is no reason to > >> >> >change the system ... nobody should get privileges they aren't > >> >> >qualified for, nor should anyone lose privileges they've already > >> >> >earned.
> >> >>
> >> >> Sounds like what some folks were saying before the restructuring.
> >> >> Folks you vehemently disagree with.
> >> >
> >> >That argument/analogy only holds IF you believe the current > >> >testing requirements for the written are unreasonable and/or > >> >unjustified.
> >>
> >> If one accepts Carl's statements, they ARE unjustified beyond the > >> General level.
> >
> >I don't see the logic in your conclusion.
>
> I'm simply pointing out the inconsistency in Carl's statements. He calls
the > code tests "making hams jump through hoops" because they are not NECESSARY
in > order to operate an amateur transmitter on non-Morse modes. And he points
to > FCC statements and the R&O for 98-143 for proof.
>
> OK, fine, apply that same logic to the writtens. FCC sez a General and its > associated tests fully qualifies a ham to use full power on all authorized > amateur modes and bands. By Carl's logic, all the NECESSARY stuff to operate > any ham transmitter is contained in the testing for General. Thus, the Extra > test is just as much "making hams jump through hoops" as the old code tests

> were - IF one accepts Carl's premises.

OK, I don't necessarily disagree with your logic on that.
The issue still is (IMHO) retaining some aspect of incentive in the licensing steps.

<SNIP>
> >> Remember that during the 1957-1963 period the Soviets had one space > >> space triumph after another while the US tried to catch up.
> >
> >Whch had more to do with physics and rocketry than > >anything electronic.
>
> Yup, absolutely. In fact, one of the reasons the Soviets built such big rockets > was that their electronics were bigger and heavier.
>
> But the effect of all those early Soviet space triumphs was to focus attention > here on "science" (actually, engineering) in all fields, not just rocketry.

But that doesn't seem to suggest that the Sputnik was the prime motivator of incentive licensing. Anyway...that's one of those speculative discussions that we can all down a few adult beverages discussing sometime :-)

> >> >> Huh? The FCC sez Techs are qualified to use 1.5 kW transmitters on > >> >> VHF/UHF - are they wrong?
> >> >
> >> >I believe they are on that point.
> >>
> >> So the mere fact that FCC does something isn't proof that it's the right > >> right thing to do. What a concept!
> >
> >We can always agree to disagree. The issue of disagreement, if severe, > >ends up being adjuticated by the courts. No one has taken the FCC > >to that path regarding any disagreement as to ham requirements to my > >knowledge.
>
> Most folks don't have anywhere near the resources to sue the FCC - easier
to > just pass the tests! The point is still made - the mere fact that the FCC does > something doesn't mean it's the right thing to do.

I never said they did.

> >> Posted here a few days ago - the "Basic/Intermediate/Full" system.
> >> I can post it again if you want.
> >
> >I'll find it.
>
> Remember, it's a raw outline of a plan for a post-end-of-S25.5 licensing > licensing system.

Please repost or email me directly.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

6374. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 22:47:36 UTC
From: middlefinger4@home.com Message-ID: <cQMX7.339527$5A3.130999106@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>
Source record: 29369
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Richard what do you mean it was a forge? So anyone with the name of Dick or Richard who posts to a any NG is going to be a forge ? The content of what is posted is important not the name signed behind it but that the problem with guys like you you are so quick to defend Illegal CB operators you should actually hand in your license Dick, Honest Injun you are nothing more than a Big Old baby

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:IILX7.206051$WW.11953034@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> The post was a forgery, John. Lot of that of late. Suggest before > replying check the routing: if you see Google or Newsnet or any of the > other well-known public urinals you can safely forget it. The ethics of > responding to cross-posts I will leave to you but that is another > indication that something is bogus.
>
> Dick N&#65533;BK
>
> "John" <n1umj@ARRL.net> wrote in message
> news:7xLX7.42739$Sj1.18328536@typhoon.ne.mediaone.net...
> > Next time I meet a free bander I will have him reported like they should
> be.
> > it is not a free band you like the bands so much and the radios get off
> your > > wellfair receaving, lazy child molesting asses and work for the lisence
> for > > the first time in your life and show people equipment and this country a > > little respect. I have no respect for the "free banders" at all. Work > for it > > like everyone else if you want the ham bands or stay the hell in the > 1-40 > > channels range where you belong. You do not deserve any more respect
> then > > the person I shot for breaking in to my house a few years back or the > one I > > caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER > WALK
> > AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!
> > "Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message
> > news:e9de0154.0112300024.125df714@posting.google.com...
> > > I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in
> > > this > > > group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the > > > frequencies

> > > from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might
> > > think.
> > > We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip > > > conditions.
> > > We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know
> > > technical > > > issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us
> > > is > > > rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This > > > should > > > not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams
> > > do.
> > > For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
> > > is > > > a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying
> > > is > > > that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to > > > talk with > > > him before you condemn him.
> > >
> > > This article ought to clarify things, as I am the author:
> > > http://sporadic1.tripod.com/page7.html
> > >
> > > I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)
> > >
> > > Unit 2711, Florida
> >
> >
>
>

6375. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 22:54:47 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0o67l$32v$1@slb7.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29371

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2E9B02.440216E8@IEEE.org...
> K0HB wrote:
> > Tell that to a young family man raising a family, or to a > > teenager who just got interested in our hobby, or to a > > retiree on pension who's just decided to pursue his dream of > > being a ham.
>
> Life's rough all over, Hans. I drove a pickup with 200,000 > miles on it so I could possess those two acres. People must > proprietize their wants/needs. Which is more important - > a ham antenna or a vehicle? Yet, the federal government > doesn't guarantee us vehicles.
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

Additionally, these days there are many ways to enjoy being a ham without actually having an HF station in the home. Icom 706 in the acr gives you full HF ability.

Also, there are many "indoor" antennas that have worked well for many people. I have NO outside HF antenna yet have, on occasion, worked Europe, the Pacific rim, South America, etc...all with just a folded dipole strung in the attic. My rig is 100w Kenwood TS-690 (same as TS-450 with 6m).

Additionally too, as others have noted, there are many older homes that have NO such CC&R restrictions... and lastly, IF buying a new home is so paramont then buy a piece of property and devolpe it yourself.
(i.e. hire a builder to spot build the house you want on your property/lot.)

The issue of CC&Rs is one that ain't gonna die easy.
It really is an issue of contract law. The ONLY reason that federal preemption exists for TV reception is because the cable industry tried to use the CC&Rs to exclude all other competition. That ticked off the public interest consumer types who went to bat against the restrictions with strong support (i.e. $$$) from regular broadcast TV station owners as well as Direct Broadcast Satellite system providers. Like it or not, it is an economic issue that ham radio doesn't equate to.

Cheers and Happy New Year to all,
Bill K2UNK

6376. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:01:46 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0o6kp$264$1@nntp9.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29372

"Dick Carroll" <dixie@townsqr.com> wrote in message
news:3C2EA32A.E6FCEF8@townsqr.com...
>
>
> CAM wrote:
>
> > K0HB wrote:
> > > Tell that to a young family man raising a family, or to a > > > teenager who just got interested in our hobby, or to a > > > retiree on pension who's just decided to pursue his dream of > > > being a ham.
> >
> > Life's rough all over, Hans. I drove a pickup with 200,000 > > miles on it so I could possess those two acres. People must > > proprietize their wants/needs. Which is more important - > > a ham antenna or a vehicle? Yet, the federal government > > doesn't guarantee us vehicles.
>
> Yup. And if you were a kid getting interested in ham radio today you'd > be faced with being prohibited from it instead of how it worked out for > you in the 50's.

Actually, I see it easier today than in the 50s.
My first station cost about $150 to set up (that's 1957 dollars) for which I had to work over
150 hours to earn. Today there are 2m
HTs and mobiles that can be had for little more than $150 and that teen can be on the air.

> So it's fine for you to have freedom from such > unrealistic restrictions but not those who have no control nor > involvement in them but who must abide by someone elses stupidity. I > gotta say, it's typical of ya, pal.

The same CC&Rs that ban antennas also often ban many other exterior activities that a homeowner without CC&Rs
can enjoy:
- Should the feds exempt personal repair of autos in
the driveway of homes that have such CC&R restrictions?
- Should CC&Rs that prohibit the color, type and design
of the homes exterior be premted on first amendment basis?
- Should CC&Rs that prohibit pets be preempted?

Just some thoughts.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

6377. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:06:50 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0o74s$p56$1@slb4.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29373

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230102215.03703.00000783@mb-da.aol.com...
> In article <3C2E9B02.440216E8@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >K0HB wrote:
> >> Tell that to a young family man raising a family, or to a > >> teenager who just got interested in our hobby, or to a > >> retiree on pension who's just decided to pursue his dream of > >> being a ham.
> >>
> >Life's rough all over, Hans. I drove a pickup with 200,000 > >miles on it so I could possess those two acres.
>
> So everyone must do as you did?
>
> >People must > >proprietize their wants/needs.
>
> "Proprietize"? Maybe you mean "prioritize".
>
> Is ham radio to be limited only to those who can find two unrestricted acres?

Not at all as I have noted in several other posts.
Do CC&Rs "limit" the choice of operating? Sure they do...BUT they don't eliminate all options.

> > Which is more important -
> >a ham antenna or a vehicle?
>
> Why must there be a choice?

Life is full of those choices. We all make them every day based on our own needs, desires, economics and many other criterior. At one point in my teen years you can bet the vehicle became the prime consumer of my dollars to the detriment of my ham radio interests. That was a personal decision based on my need to have a vehicle for many reasons as opposed to staying home and enjoying ham radio.

> >Yet, the federal government
> >doesn't guarantee us vehicles.

>
> They DO guarantee that we have certain > freedom of use of our vehicles, though.

That is in no way anologous to Cecil's point.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

6378. Re: What not to say to a cop

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:09:31 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0obtv$ee8$2@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29381
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Homosexual
"STD SpecialDelivery Jones" <SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com> wrote in message news:d9f7b76c.0112301012.3811c70d@posting.google.com...
> "KC8JBO" <kc8jbo@alt.net> wrote in message
news:<a0i5np$mn1$5@dosa.alt.net>...
[,,,]

> >
> > N0VFP, Llllardasssss lllllloyd has said to a cop, "Can I slurp your > > nutsacks to let me off these felonies?" See, Lllardasssss lllloyd has > > quite a criminal record, for buggering boys , cows, and pumpkins in and > > around Athens, AL.
> >
> > This was just faxed from the Birminham Field office:
> >
> > The Great Pumpkin
> > Birmingham Post-Herald
> > October 14, 2000
> >
> > Police arrested Lloyd A. Davies, a 27 year old white male, resident of > > Athens, Alabama in the Anderson Pumpkin patch at 11:38pm Friday. Davies > > will be charged with lewd and lascivious behavior, public indecency, > > and public intoxication at the Athens Municipal Courthouse Monday. The > > suspect allegedly stated that as he was passing a pumpkin patch, he > > decided to stop. "You know, a pumpkin is soft and squishy inside, and > > there was no one around here for miles. At least I thought there > > wasn't." he stated in a phone interview from the Athens Municipal > > Courthouse Jail.
> > Davies went on to state that he pulled over to the side of the road, > > picked out a pumpkin that he felt was appropriate to his purposes, cut
> > a hole in it, and proceeded to satisfy his alleged "need". "I guess I > > was just really into it, you know?" he commented with evident > > embarrassment. In the process, Torrance apparently failed to notice the > > Athens Municipal police car approaching and was unaware of his audience
> > until officer Brenda Taylor approached him. "It was an unusual > > situation, sure." said officer Taylor. "I walked up to (Davies) and > > he's... just working away at this pumpkin."
> > Taylor went on to describe what happened when she approached Davies. "I > > just went up and said, 'Excuse me sir, but do you realize that you are > > screwing a pumpkin?' He got real surprised as you'd expect, and then > > looked me straight in the face and said,
> > 'A pumpkin? Damn... is it midnight already?"
>

>
> probably a close friend of yours chuckie....the nut doesn't fall far > from the tree does it good buddy????

That why you are so close to your convicted felon daddy?

6379. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:10:45 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0o75k$70q$1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29375

"Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> wrote in message
news:3c2f3c78_2@newsa.ev1.net...
<SNIP>
> It seems to me that just a few short months ago, when several of us were up
> in arms about CCRs, that the debate's two angles were: either you support
> the "law" of the neighborhood, or you stay the Hell out of it and find > somewhere else to live. I was one of the people who think it absolutely > ludicrous that anyone would ever agree to move into such a neighborhood > and I would do everything in my power not to. I think there were even a few > typical responses to that about my "whining" again.
>
> Now, this comes up and I see a whole bunch of those I debated, who are now > on the side of letting a government come in and negate the contract that
was > signed. Will you people puhleeze make up my mind? You're nuts. Don't move > into a neighborhood with CCRs or HOAs. It's as anti-American as you can > get.

It is actually totally American as no one is "forced" to move in and accept the CC&Rs. The ability to own a home and be a ham has many options that allow for choice...UNLESS the person absolutely wants to live in a certain subdivision.
The choice is yours.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

6380. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:11:49 UTC
From: Shrimp Biskit <pipedream@hotmail.comsp>
Message-ID: <20011230181212.783$f1@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 29374
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

Post forwarded to rhollingsworth@fcc.gov
CC: info@fbi.gov
Re: Subject Death Threats

"One High Powered Mother Flipper!" <onehighpoweredmutha@mail.com> wrote in message news:3c2f7974.1135127@netnews.att.net...
> On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 23:47:57 -0500, "Joe S." <joe@schlatter.org>
> wrote:
>
> >How about we just forward it to Riley and let him sort it out.
> >
> >Done.
>
>
> fuck gayboy riley and his bullshit i'd like that asshole son of a > bitch to come fuck with me he'd be pulling bullets out his ass i'd > nail his ass with my 9MM
>
> fuck that cock suckin' bastard
>
> OHPM
>
>
> one high powered mutha
> powered by 2 - 4CX25,000's
> i don't play
> i drop da maul

6381. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:11:59 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0obu6$ee8$4@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29382
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Soon to receive an NAL from Riley for jamming,
"JizzRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C2EA981.431F464E@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
>
> > Methjadone just kick in, heroin addict?
>
> What is 'methjadone'? Learn to spell, woger.

Quit jamming your local repeaters, Jizz Recepticle.

6382. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:13:51 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0obu7$ee8$5@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29383
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

"JizzswallowingRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C2EA8D3.D54B8132@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
>
> > > That's 'thirty years and still a virgin',
> >
> > Speaking from experience, Jizzwallowing JR?
>
> Sheesh,

Translation: "JR is so ugly his own mother is hesitant to fuck him, unless he puts on that black garbage bag first.

>learn proper quoting and responding in the newsgroups
> woger, I did not post the above. Moron!!!

Yes you did, Jizzzwallowing JR, in fact, you're doing some illegal things on
the air.

6383. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:14:42 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0o7d0haf1@slb7.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29376

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message
news:cuvyxnansvbet.gp4lklu.pminews@or.news.verio.net...
> On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 14:04:17 -0500, Krell wrote:
>
> >> Most homes built after 1980 or so have CC&R's that pretty much prohibit > >> antennas period.
> >
> >So? What's wrong with finding an older house? Sounds like you want to have > >your cake and eat it, too.
>
> No, I want to have ham radio as my hobby, not reconstructing and
> doing continuous maintenance on an older home.
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

Then buy a lot somewhere and build it yourself.
There is plenty of land in NJ with NO restrictions at all.
You could also buy a rundown old home, demolish it, and have a new home built in the same location. Inner city and urban development/redevelopment is doing exactly that in some areas.

Really, folks, every new home built does NOT come with CC&Rs. Many in large tract subdividions do, but all new construction is not limited to that scenario only.

Cheers,
Bill K2UNK

6384. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:25:51 UTC
From: Bill Sohl <billsohl@mindspring.com>
Message-ID: <a0o820his1@slb2.atl.mindspring.net>
Source record: 29377

"Compassionate Conservative" <Compassionate@right.wing> wrote in message news:jl3v2ukc95n5n49j8r41709v371tc0fviv@4ax.com...
> On Sat, 29 Dec 2001 22:50:02 -0600, The ignorant moron CAM
> <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> spewed hate by saying:
>
> >K0HB wrote:
> >> The message is very clear to me -- "You amateurs don't have > >> enough financial or political clout for us to worry about.
> > >
> >Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a > >state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you? Any > >other legal contracts you would like to dismiss?
>
> Like most home owners I did not sign a agreement on deed restrictions.
> It was a done deal. The buyer of a used house is not given a copy of > any deed restrictions but must check the county records to find if > there are any restrictions on the deed.

Then you had one sorry ass attorney handle your purchase. ANY attorney worth his/her salt would have uncovered such CC&Rs or any other deed restrictions BEFORE you closed.

I can tell you this...ANY future purcase I might make would include the right to decline the deal
IF upon researching the title/property there were ANY CC&Rs/restrictions uncovered. Indeed, if you are searching for a new home, you should make that requirement crystal clear to the real estate agent you are working with. "I didn't know"
after you closed the deal, doesn't help you.

6385. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-30 23:44:28 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <wFNX7.206213$WW.11964847@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29378

"Bill Sohl" <billsohl@mindspring.com> wrote in message
news:a0o6kp$264$1@nntp9.atl.mindspring.net...
>
>
> The same CC&Rs that ban antennas also often ban many > other exterior activities that a homeowner without CC&Rs
> can enjoy:
> - Should the feds exempt personal repair of autos in
> the driveway of homes that have such CC&R restrictions?
> - Should CC&Rs that prohibit the color, type and design
> of the homes exterior be premted on first amendment basis?
> - Should CC&Rs that prohibit pets be preempted?
>
> Just some thoughts.
>
> Cheers,
> Bill K2UNK

Good points all, Bill. As you know, the Neighborhood Nazis often go beyond the letter of the CC&Rs and dream up all sorts of requirements like trashcan removal on pick-up days with 27 minutes after pick up, etc. to drive everyone nutso.

Some years ago we had occasion to discuss the plight of a friend of one of our radio club types who lived in a really upscale place for no better reason than he had sold a home in CA for an idiotic amount of coin and needed to bury it in a shack in STL. He was on the road and neither he nor his wife was really ready to go into the landscaping and groundskeeping biz like the locals were making large noises about.

So one quiet day a few trucks arrived and the plantings were done. Geraniums in about a dozen used toilets from an area the city was trying to make look like East Berlin plus a really nice floral display in a six-stall urinal complete with overhead tank. Both of the residents were conveniently gone for a few days.

When they returned and the fit hit the shan with the dread words, 'this was not really what we had in mind', he quietly pointed out that it met the letter of the request they had no legal right to make and presented them with his list of demands which summed to 'get outa my face'. He then slapped them with the restraining order his legal buddy had obtained. Things were resolved and the vitreous china returned to the vitreous china boneyard where it was headed anyway.

I would travel thru this area when the interstate exit was upgefouled and one day happened to be at a stop sign with my four-character plates in a state where six was the norm and you had to be a poobah or know one to get one of the 9999 four-digit plates as personal plates had not yet been invented. Whether it was for driving a ratty Dodge Dart or having something he didn't I have no clue but I got a filthy look that would corrode gold.

People get wired about a lot of silly things.

Dick N&#65533;BK

6386. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 00:11:18 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0oadn01r5d@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29380
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"John" <n1umj@ARRL.net> wrote in message
news:7xLX7.42739$Sj1.18328536@typhoon.ne.mediaone.net...
> Next time I meet a free bander I will have him reported like they should
be.
> it is not a free band you like the bands so much and the radios get off
your > wellfair receaving, lazy child molesting asses and work for the lisence
for > the first time in your life and show people equipment and this country a > little respect. I have no respect for the "free banders" at all. Work for
it > like everyone else if you want the ham bands or stay the hell in the 1-40 > channels range where you belong. You do not deserve any more respect then > the person I shot for breaking in to my house a few years back or the one
I
> caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER WALK
> AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!

If this is the case, I wouldn't be a bit surprised if the burgler found a slick lawyer and a liberal judge and sued you for his medical bills, lost wages, mental stress, etc,. You'd probably been better off to kill the bastard.

6387. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 00:22:49 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0ob1201s67@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29385

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message
news:cuvyxnansvbet.gp4lklu.pminews@or.news.verio.net...
> >So? What's wrong with finding an older house? Sounds like you want to have > >your cake and eat it, too.
>
> No, I want to have ham radio as my hobby, not reconstructing and > doing continuous maintenance on an older home.
>
> --
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

Like I said...

6388. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 00:28:05 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp6caqz.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29379

On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 09:32:14 -0600, CAM wrote:

>Do you object to all legal contracts, Jim, or just CC&Rs?

I object to CC&Rs which do not allow site-reasonable antennas or contain any other restriction that is the product of abject ignorance.

A 50 foot tower on a quarter-acre lot is site-reasonable. A 150 foot tower is not.

My $5K went into rebuilding parts of this 30 year old house which were safety hazards rather than the 50 foor tower and beam(s) that we had planned on.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6389. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 00:48:15 UTC
From: fgillil@tincan.org
Message-ID: <e182e02.0112301648.4e42c24f@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29384
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

uppluss@hotmail.com (Scott Unit-69) wrote in message
news:<a2cf6f35.0112301129.73745e9e@posting.google.com>...
> "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:<3C2F0803.3435EE7D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> > One Angry Man wrote:
> > > You'll never know just how right you are!
> > >
> > > signed
> > > One Angry No Code Ham
> > > Member Number 1 of the No Code Liberation Army (NCLA)
> >
> >
> > You can be as angry as you want to be. Those of us who have done > > nothing wrong, have nothing to worry about.
>
> BTW I do not consider illegal CB or bootlegging "wrong". Those of us > who choose to operate outside the law do it with a clear conscience. I > know that upsets some people, but too damn bad.

Are there any other illegal activities you do not consider to be "wrong"? If someone commits a crime against you, will you ignore it because he didn't think he was "wrong"? I doubt it.

6390. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:00:32 UTC
From: Garvin@Truss.net
Message-ID: <1f5846q.o9rnl2q4yuf5N%Garvin@Truss.net>
Source record: 29386
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Twistedhed <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote:

> I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in
> this > group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the > frequencies
> from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might
> think.
> We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip
> conditions.
> We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know
> technical > issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us
> is > rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This > should > not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams
> do.
> For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
> is > a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying
> is > that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to > talk with > him before you condemn him.
>
> This article ought to clarify things, as I am the author:
> http://sporadic1.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)
>
> Unit 2711, Florida

You are a freeLOADER and break the Federal FCC rules regarding communications. Get legal and you'll get respect.

--
Why is the alphabet in that order? Is it because of that song?□ - George Carlin□□□□□□□□□□□□

6391. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:03:01 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230200301.10110.00001608@mb-mb.aol.com>
Source record: 29387

In article <3C2F34DA.C8132ED5@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>> Yes, because the contract unreasonably denies a citizen his/her inalienable >> rights. The govt. does that sort of thing all the time.
>
>Now, we're getting somewhere. What inalienable rights are being violated?

Liberty and pursuit of happiness.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6392. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:13:50 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp6fa90.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29388

On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 18:14:42 -0500, Bill Sohl wrote:

>Then buy a lot somewhere and build it yourself.

Give me your address - I'll have the builder send the bills to you.

>There is plenty of land in NJ with NO restrictions at all.

Who wants to live in New Jer'-sey?

>You could also buy a rundown old home, demolish it, and >have a new home built in the same location. Inner city >and urban development/redevelopment is doing exactly
>that in some areas.

And at least in this area the total price for "redevelopment" homes is astronomical, and in most areas "out here", the developer with the CC&Rs gets the property before private buyers even know that it's on the market, and it gets zoned for multiple residential use.

>Really, folks, every new home built does NOT come >with CC&Rs.

Depends on where you are. ARRL's survey showed otherwise.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

From a Clearing in the Silicon Forest
Beaverton (Washington County) Oregon

6393. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:13:52 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp6fsj1.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29390

On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 18:25:51 -0500, Bill Sohl wrote:

>> Like most home owners I did not sign a agreement on deed restrictions.
>> It was a done deal. The buyer of a used house is not given a copy of >> any deed restrictions but must check the county records to find if >> there are any restrictions on the deed.
>
>Then you had one sorry ass attorney handle your >purchase. ANY attorney worth his/her salt
>would have uncovered such CC&Rs or any >other deed restrictions BEFORE you closed.

Both California and Oregon REQUIRE the seller to provide the potential buyer with notice of any CC&Rs or easements which attach to the property. Most Realtors know how to get it. When we were house-looking here, our Realtor's office usually got it by fax before we were finished looking at the property of the seller did not proffer it.

>I can tell you this...ANY future purcase I might >make would include the right to decline the deal

Without penalty and with the return of any deposit/earnest money.

>IF upon researching the title/property there were >ANY CC&Rs/restrictions uncovered.

Smart move.

>Indeed, if >you are searching for a new home, you should >make that requirement crystal clear to the real >estate agent you are working with. "I didn't know"
>after you closed the deal, doesn't help you.

Yup.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6394. Re: FCC Ethical Scenario

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:13:55 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp6g4v2.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29389

On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 22:39:15 GMT, JAMES HAMPTON wrote:

>I thought that line of thought was over when John F. Kennedy was elected >president.

IF it was real (and that's a big IF) one call from the Sheriff to the Regional Director or the Bureau/Division Chief in Washington brings the 2 kilowatt spotlight to bear on the situation.

Solving interference to government or public safety communications ranks just below solving interference to military, aviation, and marine commmunications on the priority ladder.

Plenty of nights I've been out there in the cold doing that.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6395. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:29:44 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp6gsv3.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29391
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 19:11:18 -0500, Krell wrote:

>> caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER WALK >> AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!
>
>If this is the case, I wouldn't be a bit surprised if the burgler found a >slick lawyer and a liberal judge and sued you for his medical bills, lost >wages, mental stress, etc,.

As a minimum the hospital where he was sewed back together would sue to recover their medical bills, rest assured.

>You'd probably been better off to kill the bastard.

Then the family would sue for civil "wrongful death" damages.

There are LOTS of cases in almost every state that hold that deadly force is not justified in a property-only crime.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6396. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:36:00 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2F0887.5F109704@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29392
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

KC8JBO wrote:
>
> Soon to receive an NAL from Riley for jamming,
> "JizzRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message > news:3C2EA981.431F464E@mailcity.net...
> >
> >
> > KC8JBO wrote:
> >
> > > Methjadone just kick in, heroin addict?
> >
> > What is 'methjadone'? Learn to spell, woger.
>
> Quit jamming your local repeaters, Jizz Recepticle.

You're one to talk of jamming after Riley and the FCC boys spanked you for jamming on HF. Shall I post the letter sent to you from Riley, woger?

6397. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:38:33 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2F0920.8CB900C2@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29393
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Twistedhed wrote:
>
> I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in
> this > group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the > frequencies
> from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might
> think.
> We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip
> conditions.
> We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know
> technical > issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us
> is > rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This > should > not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams
> do.
> For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
> is > a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying
> is > that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to > talk with > him before you condemn him.
>
> This article ought to clarify things, as I am the author:
> http://sporadic1.tripod.com/page7.html
>
> I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)
>
> Unit 2711, Florida

If you want respect, do something that deserves respect. Breaking the law by freebanding deserves no respect. By the way, there is no 'freeband', those frequencies are allocated.

6398. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:40:58 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2F09B0.5FE37606@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29394
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

Phil Kane wrote:
>
> On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 19:11:18 -0500, Krell wrote:
>
> >> caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER WALK > >> AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!
> > >
> >If this is the case, I wouldn't be a bit surprised if the burgler found a > >slick lawyer and a liberal judge and sued you for his medical bills, lost > >wages, mental stress, etc,.
>
> As a minimum the hospital where he was sewed back together > would sue to recover their medical bills, rest assured.
>
> >You'd probably been better off to kill the bastard.
>
> Then the family would sue for civil "wrongful death" damages.
>
> There are LOTS of cases in almost every state that hold that > deadly force is not justified in a property-only crime.
>
> --
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

Shoot to kill then drag him inside and put a weapon in his hand.

6399. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:42:36 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2F0A14.8BA83AA5@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29395
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

Scott Unit-69 wrote:
>
> "Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:<3C2F0803.3435EE7D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> > One Angry Man wrote:
> > > You'll never know just how right you are!
> > >
> > > signed
> > > One Angry No Code Ham
> > > Member Number 1 of the No Code Liberation Army (NCLA)
> >
> >
> > You can be as angry as you want to be. Those of us who have done > > nothing wrong, have nothing to worry about.
>
> BTW I do not consider illegal CB or bootlegging "wrong". Those of us > who choose to operate outside the law do it with a clear conscience. I > know that upsets some people, but too damn bad.

There are others who choose to operate outside the law with a clear conscience. When one of these robs your house, you may get upset, but too damn bad.

6400. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:47:34 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2F0B3C.E5A6211E@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29396
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

Shrimp Biskit wrote:
>
> Post forwarded to rhollingsworth@fcc.gov
> CC: info@fbi.gov
> Re: Subject Death Threats

You cc to info@fbi.gov is a waste of time. It states plainly on the FBI web site, "At this time, FBI Headquarters does not accept E-mail. If you have any comments or questions about the FBI or this web site, please write to:
Federal Bureau of Investigation
J. Edgar Hoover Building
935 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20535-0001
(202) 324-3000

So who are you trying to impress?

6401. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:48:59 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C2F0B92.D7DE52E4@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29397
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

KC8JBO wrote:
>
> "JizzswallowingRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message > news:3C2EA8D3.D54B8132@mailcity.net...
> >
> >
> > KC8JBO wrote:
> >
> > > > That's 'thirty years and still a virgin',
> > >
> > > Speaking from experience, Jizzwallowing JR?
> >
> > Sheesh,
>
> Translation: "JR is so ugly his own mother is hesitant to fuck him, unless > he puts on that black garbage bag first.
>
> >learn proper quoting and responding in the newsgroups
> > woger, I did not post the above. Moron!!!
>
> Yes you did, Jizzzwallowing JR, in fact, you're doing some illegal things on
> the air.

It is sooooo, sooooo, easy to pull your little tiny chain, woger.

6402. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:50:15 UTC
From: onehighpoweredmutha@mail.com
Message-ID: <3c2fc40d.4073196@netnews.att.net>
Source record: 29398
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

On Mon, 31 Dec 2001 01:47:34 GMT, JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote:

>
>
>Shrimp Biskit wrote:
>>
>> Post forwarded to rhollingsworth@fcc.gov
>> CC: info@fbi.gov
>> Re: Subject Death Threats
>
>You cc to info@fbi.gov is a waste of time. It states plainly on >the FBI web site, "At this time, FBI Headquarters does not accept >E-mail. If you have any comments or questions about the FBI or >this web site, please write to:
> Federal Bureau of Investigation
> J. Edgar Hoover Building
> 935 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
> Washington, D.C. 20535-0001
> (202) 324-3000
>
>So who are you trying to impress?

and not only that like I'm really gonna put my REAL name and address
there... dumb ass.

one high powered mutha
powered by 2 - 4CX25,000's
i don't play
i drop da maul

6403. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:56:52 UTC
From: fgillil@tincan.org
Message-ID: <e182e02.0112301756.3739ef67@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29399
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:<IILX7.206051$WW.11953034@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> The post was a forgery, John. Lot of that of late. Suggest before > replying check the routing: if you see Google or Newsnet or any of the > other well-known public urinals you can safely forget it. The ethics of > responding to cross-posts I will leave to you but that is another > indication that something is bogus.
>
> Dick Nï¿½BK

It may have been a forge, but it bears a remarkable similarity to twistie's rants on the freebanding issue. I think it reflects his position very well.

6404. Re: RE.. RESTRUCTURING: ARRL STUDY SAYS NOVICE BANDS MAY NOT BE NEEDED

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 01:59:26 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <2EPX7.727$jg4.674657@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 29400

Herr Hans
#2

: > What we need is for the CW/digital portion of the
: > bands to be open to everyone (if qualified). No
: > sub bands.
:
: Your statement is ambiguous to me. ("No sub bands")
:
: Do you mean:
:
: 1) That voice and image modes should be allowed in
: the current CW/data portions of the bands?
:
: 2) That any class of license ought to be able to operate
: CW/data in all the current CW/portions of the bands?
:
: 3) Both 1 and 2 above?
:
: 4) Something else? (Explain)
:
: 73, de Hans, K0HB
:
:
:
:
:
:
:
:

6405. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:00:49 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230210049.05494.00004156@mb-mg.aol.com>
Source record: 29401

>>I chose to remain Advanced for other reasons--espcially after the >>restructuring. One was >>that I wanted to keep the "distinction" of having done the 13 WPM instead of >>being "lumped"
>>in with the new Extras. Not to be conceited, but because I did, after all, >>complete more stringent CW requirements to achieve General and above.
>
>I understand where you're coming from, Jerry, but an Advanced license by >itself >doesn't mean you passed 13 wpm, just like an Extra today doesn't mean you >passed 20 wpm. Medical waivers for 13 and 20 wpm code have been available >since >1990, so unless you can show that your license was issued before then, >there's >no proof of 13 wpm. Just like there's no proof of 20 wpm for my Extra unless >it's also known that I got it before 1990 (1970, to be exact).

I disagree, Jim. While what you say is technically correct, it is most certainly the exception to the rule. Would you agree that during pre-restructuring amateur radio licensing, at least one ham has "bought" his/her way past the code? Of course, we know this because of the reported VEC irregularities of late. Remember the Puerto Rico VEC fiasco of the early 80's? Heck, it could've even occurred when the FCC still did the testing. FCC personnel aren't infallible. (Isn't that right, Bert?)

My point is that these scenarios are the exceptions, not the rule. If we were to give the exceptions the same weight as the rule, then everyone's Tech plus or higher could be legitimately questioned. I remember seeing an advertisement for a one day or weekend course for hams who wished to cancel their extra tickets just so they could take all the required elements to grab their advanced ticket before 4/14/00. This was the equivalent of "downgrading" and was the subject of a thread here not too long ago. A bit extreme, but the motivation is understandable. It's the only proof of having passed a 13 w.p.m. code test.

>Operationally, the ONLY difference between an Advanced and an Extra is access >to a few subbands. Those are where the DX is often found, 'specially the rare >ones, but if you're not a DXer it makes no difference.

Some would consider this some very prime real estate. Take care and 73.

Mark

6406. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:01:01 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230210101.09102.00000857@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29407

In article <3c2f547b_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>And, I'd refuse a petition from a neighborhood to start such >restricitions, and I would never be in a neighborhood with an HOA or such >restrictive CCRs. At least, I hope it doesn't ever get to the point where >that is all that's left.

You might find yourself in that very situation someday. That's why it's important even if it doesn't affect your right now,

>At the same time, I don't think I would knowingly >sign such an agreement and then look for a way out of it at a later date.

Who can say what the future may bring? I live in a house built 52 years ago, and it has deed restrictions - for things like setbacks and not raising livestock. No antenna restrictions. The folks who built this place could not have imagined that a time would come when people didn't have "aerials".

>But, I can't say for sure--because I've never been in that position (except >for marriage, of course).

"Of course"? No, not at all.

Why in the world should CC&Rs be more sacred and harder to get out of than marriages?

Anyone who has gotten divorced is just like the person who bought a restricted property and now wants out of the restrictions.

Would you say to a person who wants out of a marriage, "You should not have signed the contract if you didn't like the conditions and restrictions"?

73 de Jim, N2EY

6407. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:01:02 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230210102.09102.00000858@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29403

In article <3C2EB939.60780F69@mailcity.net>, JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net> writes:

>I'm amazed as I follow this debate that some talk of ham radio as >if it were something of real importance.

Why? It's important to some people.

> If you life would >drastically change for the worse if ham radio went away, you need >help.

Who said anyhting about drastic change? Should people just accept the loss of something they like to do because of Gladys Kravitz's opinion?

73 de Jim, N2EY
>

6408. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:01:02 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230210102.09102.00000859@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29404

In article <3C2EB9C4.E4009689@mailcity.net>, JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net> writes:

>The people who signs CC&R contracts and then bitch, are just like >those who build a house off the end of a runway of a busy airport >and then bitch about the noise and want to get the runway shut >down.

Or like those who get married and then decide they don't want to be with that person for the rest of their life.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6409. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:01:03 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230210103.09102.00000860@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29408

In article <3C2F337E.95F5E883@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>>
>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>> >People must
>> >proprietize their wants/needs.
>>
>> "Proprietize"? Maybe you mean "prioritize".
>
>Egads - I sure did. Got my roots mixed up.

Yup.
>
>> Is ham radio to be limited only to those who can find two unrestricted >acres?
>
>Did I say that?

You implied it.

>I merely gave an example of what can be done.

In some cases. Not in all cases.

> Everywhere
>I have lived, the first thing I did was check the CC&Rs.

Because you were already a ham.

>Just like any >other contract, if I didn't like the terms and conditions, I didn't sign.

Uh huh.
>
>> They DO guarantee that we have certain freedom of use of our vehicles, >though.
>
>There are many places where motor vehicles are prohibited, e.g. inside
>the shopping mall.

False. I see little electric carts and motorized wheelchairs in our local malls all the time.

The point is that we are guaranteed certain freedoms in the use of our vehicles. Limitations are imposed only to protect the safety of others.

That's why we have building codes.

How does a simple HF wire dipole between two trees, connected to a QRP ham rig, negatively affect the safety of others.

> Do you advocate driving motor vehicles everywhere?

Everywhere it's reasonable and safe to drive them, yes.

>Do you object to all legal contracts, Jim, or just CC&Rs?

Contracts were made to be broken, Cecil. Here's an example:

One of the most serious contracts most people ever make is to get married. Listen to the words at most weddings:

"love, honor, and cherish"
"in good times and bad"
"in sickness and in health"
"for richer or poorer"
"til death us do part"

In most ceremonies the people entering into the contract face each other and say out loud that they have come to the contract freely and unreservedly, and accept ALL its terms. They make the contract in front of witnesses and get both community and legal acceptance. In most ceremonies there are NO escape clauses and NO limitations.

Yet about 50% of marriages in the USA end in divorce. All it takes is for one of the parties to say "I don't wanna do this anymore" and it's OVER. Doesn't matter if the other party agrees, doesn't matter how much damage it does to other people. No reason need be given other than "I want out". Nowadays there is almost no stigma attached to divorce - in fact, most divorces are "no fault".

Why should CC&Rs be more sacred than marriage?

73 de Jim, N2EY

6410. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:01:04 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230210104.09102.00000861@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29405

In article <3C2F349E.AC8A601@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>> As I understand it, the reason TV dishes are exempted is that the "pizza >dish"
>> satellite companies pushed a test case all the way to the Supreme Court, >> claiming that the restrictive covenants created a monopoly for the cable
>folks
>> and excluded the pizza dish folks from the pay-TV market. Supremes said it >was >> restriction of trade, monopolistic practice, that sort of thing, and broke
>the >> covenants - except in historic areas.
>
>Too bad the same approach won't work for amateurs.

It might work, but there's the risk that if the case were lost it would be worse.

> Are there any guaranteed >freedoms or laws on the side of the amateur radio operators?

Sure.

>I suspect it would >be unconstitutional for the federal government to interfere with willingly >signed CC&R contracts.

Nope. The pizza dish case proves that. The Supremes ruled for the satcom folks, and it's the Supremes who say what's constitutional.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6411. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:01:05 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230210105.09102.00000863@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29402

In article <3c2f3cf8_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim- <nospam@none.net> writes:

>Why should a majority of the population yield to the wants and desires of a >very, very minute part of the population?

Because all people have certain inalienable rights.

And please learn to edit old stuff from your posts, Kim.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6412. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:01:05 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230210105.09102.00000862@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29406

In article <3c2f3c78_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>It seems to me that just a few short months ago, when several of us were up
>in arms about CCRs, that the debate's two angles were: either you support >the "law" of the neighborhood, or you stay the [expletive deleted]

>out of it and find >somewhere else to live.

I don't recall it that way, Kim.

>I was one of the people who think it absolutely >ludicrous that anyone would ever agree to move into such a neighborhood >and I would do everything in my power not to.

That's nice. Hope it works out that way for ya.

>I think there were even a few >typical responses to that about my "whining" again.

>Now, this comes up and I see a whole bunch of those I debated, who are now >on the side of letting a government come in and negate the contract that was >signed.

People do change their minds. Sometimes.

>Will you people puhleeze make up my mind?

That's your job, Kim.

>You're nuts.

I don't think so.

> Don't move
>into a neighborhood with CCRs or HOAs.

Sometimes there is no realistic choice.

> It's as anti-American as you can >get.

That I agree with. But it's been SOP since the 1970s, and it's spreading. In some areas if you say "I only want to see unrestricted properties" to a realtor, the list of places to look at is very short.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6413. Re: RADIO LAW: TACOMA BANS NON FCC CERTIFIED CB GEAR

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:06:58 UTC
From: N9NWO <n9nwo@amsat.org>
Message-ID: <6LPX7.776$jg4.679473@paloalto-snr1.gtei.net>
Source record: 29409

: > However, what I have a problem with is that
: > so many in the US just can not accept that someone
: > might be better than they.
:
: Well sweetheart, you have a huge problem with me
: then.
:
: I do not accept that anyone is "better" than I, and I
: especially do not accept that a uniform, badge,
: or election results makes them better.
:
: Our founding fathers, whom you are so proud to
: cite, seemed to feel a lot like me when they
: said.... "We hold these truths to be self-evident...
: ...that all men are created equal...."

Our country is based on people being unequal.
Is everyone born with the same wealth? Can you be the best you can be? If you can then some will be superior to others.

Likewise so many Americans, especially in the suburbs, have become such wimps that those who have served in the military, police and fire fighting (to include those who did so in the past) are superior due to their ability to survive in a crisis situation. People have become so specialized that many no longer have across the board life skills thus making them dependent (inferior) to those who still have such skills.
We just are not a nation of farm boys anymore.

The police see how weak minded folks are, what a bunch of sheeple they are. And remember that the police academy preaches superiority. It is felt that if a cop does not think he is superior then he not only risks his life but the lives of his fellow officers. He has to have the attitude, the game face, to survive on the streets.

6414. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:12:23 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <C9A6C420A9462AC9.94974FA3AB67EA50.4645D57CB582981D@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29410

On 30 Dec 2001 15:55:55 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>> 2. I NEVER "threatened to have your internet access >>terminated." That is a typical Larry Roll lie. Quote back my "threat," >>Larry. Put up or Shut up.
>
>Rick:
>
>I reported on what I read, that's all. It was no lie. I'll start providing >quotes as soon as Cecil and every one else of the NCTA persuasion >catches up on at least a decade's worth.

Translation: I _can't_ provide the quotes because they don't exist in the first place, so I'll pretend it's all Cecil's fault
instead.

Weak, Larry.

I'm not Cecil. It doesn't matter if he provides quotes or not,
I DO provide them. Base your responses on my behavior not on Cecil's.

>> Larry, go take your Viagra, dig out your Hustler magazine, and >>pretend that you can find a woman that would put up with you.
>>
>> Rick
>
>More insults. How charming. However, not worthy of a reply.

Yet you replied.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6415. Re: Happy Holidays from NCI

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:16:16 UTC
From: radiohead11m@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230211616.05494.00004166@mb-mg.aol.com>
Source record: 29411

>Dear r.r.a.p.'ers,
>
>In the spirit of the holiday season (whatever your >religious persuasion), I'd like to take this opportunity >to sincerely convey wishes for a happy holiday
>season and a prosperous new year to you, on behalf >of both myself and the entire Board of Directors and >membership of No Code International.
>
>73,
>- --
>Carl R. Stevenson - wa6vse

... .- -- . - --- -.-- --- ..- --..-- -.-. .- .-. .-.. .-.-.- -...-

--... ...-- -.. . -- .- .-. -.- . ... --. ..- -.. -.. -..-

...-.-

6416. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:21:47 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230212147.14481.00001007@mb-cs.aol.com>
Source record: 29412

>Subject: Respect For Freebanders
>From: twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com (Twistedhed)
>Date: 12/30/2001 2:24 AM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <e9de0154.0112300024.125df714@posting.google.com>

>I am posting here because of some of the nasty things.....

Someone obviously can't think of any NEW stupid things to say about breaking the law, so they just re-circulate the OLD stupid things.

Conservation?

6417. Re: What is the purpose of the NEW B.A.R.F.?

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:28:25 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0poj4$e3k$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29439
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.shortwave

```
"Jizzswallowing Recepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C2F0B92.D7DE52E4@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
> >
> > "JizzswallowingRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message > > news:3C2EA8D3.D54B8132@mailcity.net...
> > >
> > >
> > > KC8JBO wrote:
> > >
> > > > That's 'thirty years and still a virgin',
> > > >
> > > > Speaking from experience, Jizzwallowing JR?
> > >
> > > Sheesh,
> > >
> > Translation: "JR is so ugly his own mother is hesitant to fuck him, unless > > he puts on that black garbage bag first.
> >
> > >learn proper quoting and responding in the newsgroups > > > woger, I did not post the above. Moron!!!
> >
> > Yes you did, Jizzzwallowing JR, in fact, you're doing some illegal things on > > the air.
>
> It is sooooo, sooooo, easy to pull your little tiny chain, woger.

Is it,? But not as easy as when you pull that tiny, tiny thing you try to pass off as a pecker, Jizzswallowing Recepticle.
```

6418. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:30:09 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0poj6$e3k$1@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29440
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Jizzswallowing Recepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C2F0887.5F109704@mailcity.net...
>
>
> KC8JBO wrote:
> >
> > Soon to receive an NAL from Riley for jamming,
> > "JizzRecepticle" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message > > news:3C2EA981.431F464E@mailcity.net...
> > >
> > >
> > > KC8JBO wrote:
> > >
> > > > Methjadone just kick in, heroin addict?
> > >
> > > What is 'methjadone'? Learn to spell, woger.
> >
> > Quit jamming your local repeaters, Jizz Recepticle.
>
> You're one to talk of jamming after Riley and the FCC boys spanked

Jizzwallowing recepticle's jamming of his local repeaters, noted. And his identity and callsign sent to rholling@fcc.gov.

> you for jamming on HF. Shall I post the letter sent to you from > Riley, woger?

Go ahead, it's so old news, it just shows how fucking desperate you are, puppet.

6419. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:34:16 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <10C06F27E74095B4.4F46FCC4017D8788.2E8FB25D1013BBD3@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29413

On 30 Dec 2001 15:55:56 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>I must note that for a university professor, you don't seem to exhibit >much understanding of the meaning of the term "morality."

Perhaps because I don't accept some of the definitions in use by those who oppose Kim's call sign as valid?

>Perhaps I shouldn't be surprised, however.

Of course not. I think for myself and use words correctly.

>In selecting her particular Vanity
>Call Sign, Kim demonstrated poor taste and bad judgment;

In your opinion.

The fact that you keep restating this point does NOT make it a fact, Larry, it's STILL only your opinion.

Many of us disagree with you.

>however,
>I have no basis for making any sort of commentary regarding her >personal morality.

True.

>She may be as moral as the Mother Superior >of the local convent, or not -- for all I know.

I hope not. Most Mother Superior's tend to be rigidly inflexible in their interpretation of "right and wrong" and to base their moral values on those demanded of them by their religion instead of on their own sense of morality and justice.

>I will assume, in the >absence of any evidence to the contrary, that Kim's personal >behavior demonstrates high moral standards.

How very generous of you.

>However, that has >nothing to do with her choice of call sign -- even moral, decent people >are capable of making foolish choices.

True.

Of course it's purely a matter of opinion whether or not Kim's call sign _represents_ a "foolish choice" or not. Personally I (and, again, many other people here) don't think it was. You do. So what?

>Well, from your POV, you're upset because I'm holding Kim's feet >to the fire for selecting a Vanity call sign which reflects poorly on the >positive image of radio amateurs -- YL's in particular.

No, Larry, you are harassing a fellow ham because in your personal opinion her call sign is inappropriate. Only your rigid and old-fashioned way of thinking leads to the conclusion that her call sign reflects poorly on the image of radio amateurs. Personally, I find inflexible, prejudiced, or overly controlling hams (which DEFINITELY includes you and Dick Carroll) as being the ones whose behavior "reflects poorly on the positive image of radio amateurs."

>I'm sorry if >this bothers you, but I cannot be held responsible for keeping your >most exalted liberal elite lordship perfectly happy 24/7!

Larry, are you just stupid or are you so set in your views that you can't even understand English?

I am NOT a liberal, you ignorant ass, I am libertarian. That makes me just as much a liberal as your use of HF makes you a freebander!

It DOES bother me, Larry, because I don't like seeing my hobby
trashed by an idiot like you whose only goal in life is to prove that he can make women capitulate to his demands.

>> What this thread is about is Larry Roll trying to prove his >>manhood by harassing a fellow ham into capitulating to your >>unreasonable demands and out-of-date values.
>
>Really? What have I demanded from anyone?

That Kim change her call sign. Are you really so brain dead that you didn't know what you have been harassing her about?

>I've suggested to Kim >that she would be highly praised for doing the right thing if she changed >her call sign to one which wasn't so patently offensive.

Fine.

IF she changes it voluntarily, praise her.

Otherwise shut up about her call sign.

>However, I >haven't "harassed" her in any way.

Bunk.

We BOTH know you're a liar about that, Larry. As does anyone else who still reads this thread.

Live in your fantasies, Larry, they're all you have.

>>You started the thread.
>
>So what? People start threads here all the time. Big steenking deal!
>
>>You insist that you will perpetuate it until Kim changes her call.
>
>I may, or I may not. I haven't decided yet. I must admit, I am getting >a bit bored with this...but perhaps not bored enough...yet!

Please do. We're ALL bored with you!

>Once again, Rick, this isn't about me. It is about Kim, who is >representing the ARS irresponsibly.

No, Larry, it's about you and your self-righteous stupidity.

>> Kim's call sign has absolutely nothing to do with ham radio >>policy--even YOU can't be stupid enough to think people will believe >>that dishonest statement!
>
>Well, I haven't seen any new postings today other than yours. We'll >see.
>
>> You don't want to talk about policy, Larry, you want to harass
>>a woman because she won't give in to your demands.

>Once again, Rick -- I haven't "demanded" anything of Kim, and >wouldn't waste my time trying to.

Larry--stuff it. We're sick and tired of constantly seeing you lie. Try the truth once in a while, Larry, it might make you look like less of a loser.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6420. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:47:02 UTC
From: KB9TMP <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com>
Message-ID: <a0ojj3$a0d$1@dagobah.blueriver.net>
Source record: 29415
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
news:8sLX7.206026$WW.11951458@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> Aside from the fact that Scott did not write this idiocy, when are you > taking the code test so you can enjoy it a hell of a lot more???
>
> Dick N�BK
>

As soon as I can get my copy up to the 5wpm requirement.
I'm listening to the ARRL code practice files off the Internet and I'll go for my test as soon as I can copy the 7.5 wpm files, that way I'll know for _SURE_ I can do the 5 wpm test.
--

'73' From KB9TMP
NCI-2385

Beware of the man who works hard to learn something, learns it, and finds himself no wiser than before. He is full of murderous resentment of people who are ignorant without having come by their ignorance the hard way.
-Peer's Law

6421. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:53:04 UTC
From: Rick Adams <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net>
Message-ID: <1CEE8BC495EC91B4.E34015EC399F3182.35952BCF8C5364AA@lp.airnews.net>
Source record: 29414

On 30 Dec 2001 15:55:57 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
wrote:

>How charming. Don't look now, but you've got the wrong bloke,
>mate. It was Cecil who started this "electronic stalking" thing >going on here. However, the direct insult of being called an
>"idiot" is noted; I wonder what voyager.net's Terms Of Service
>have to say about that?

Absolutely nothing, you moron. Not only do I have a commercial connection to the Inet, which means I'm a NOT a dial-up user and have different contractual obligations, but I don't use Voyager's news server (take a look at my headers--my messages originate either with my Airnews account or my Altopia one, depending on which server is running faster at the time) which means I'm only limited by the COU/TOS of those services, NEITHER of which has any policy concerning message content or frequency.

On the other hand, since you have an aol account (which, to a networker, is sort of like being a Novice class ham who can't even remember the morse code), you ARE limited by a COU/TOS agreement that specifically prohibits behavior which is harassing, offensive, or violates the charter of a news group.

Have a nice day, idiot.

Rick

--

Rick Adams--KE8HH
adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net

"... and the only measure of your worth and your deeds
will be the love you leave behind when you're gone."

Fred Small, J.D., "Everything Possible"

6422. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 02:53:19 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0ojrd010uk@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29422

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230200301.10110.00001608@mb-mb.aol.com...
> In article <3C2F34DA.C8132ED5@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >> Yes, because the contract unreasonably denies a citizen his/her
inalienable
> >> rights. The govt. does that sort of thing all the time.
> >
> >Now, we're getting somewhere. What inalienable rights are being violated?
>
> Liberty and pursuit of happiness.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

That's as may be, however, that particular phrase is mentioned in the Declaration of Independence, not the U.S. Constitution.

6423. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:03:07 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230220307.06877.00000825@mb-mj.aol.com>
Source record: 29416

In article <3c2f3dab_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011230102216.03703.00000784@mb-da.aol.com...
>> In article <3C2E9CFA.7B2E2AEE@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
>writes:
>>
>> >K0HB wrote:
>> >> The message is very clear to me -- "You amateurs don't have >> >> enough financial or political clout for us to worry about.
>> >
>> >Let me get this straight. You want the FCC to make null and void a >> >state enforced legal contract agreed to and signed by you?

>> Yes, because the contract unreasonably denies a citizen his/her
>inalienable
>> rights. The govt. does that sort of thing all the time.

>Wait.

For what?

>Weren't you just saying that ham radio is not an inalienable right,
>Jim?

I honestly don't remember.

I do think that reasonable enjoyment of one's property comes under "pursuit of happiness". Having a reasonable antenna installation is necessary for receiving, too. The whole anti-antenna CC&R thing is a direct result of an attempt to eliminate free reception of the electromagnetic spectrum by the very people who "own" the spectrum. Gawd, I wish Charlie Stewart were around today.

>I know someone, and many, do.

I have no idea what this is supposed to mean.

> So, it's not an inalienable right to be >a ham, but it is an inalienable right to have antennas?

It's an inalienable right to have REASONABLE antennas. Many CC&R's prohibit ALL antennas - even if they cannot be seen from the street or neighbor's properties, even if they blend in very well, etc. There are CC&R neighborhoods with aerial utilities: great big 40-50 foot poles out front with 13.2 kV three-phase on a 10 foot crossarm, big heavy triplex and a transformer on every third pole, cable TV and telephone cables the size of your arm, and drops for all of this running everywhere. But DON'T dare put up a G5RV or a VHF Yagi in those neighborhoods because of "aesthetic values". Huh?

(btw - I think power poles are beautiful).

>> > Any other
>> >legal contracts you would like to dismiss?
>>
>> Not at the moment.

>It's easy to confuse this mind, especially when surrounded by so much wishy >washy.

If you look at my posts you will see that I have always been against unreasonable anti-antenna CC&Rs.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6424. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:03:11 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011230220311.06877.00000826@mb-mj.aol.com>
Source record: 29417

In article <a0o5gsajr1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>, "Bill Sohl"
<billsohl@mindspring.com> writes:

>The eam is the means to determine the qualification.
>For 20wpm,, the qualification was to have the ability >to recieve at 20 wpm...as determined by passing a >test which was the actual requirement.

I had to send and receive at 20 wpm.
>
>Likewise, the Extra written is the test methodology
>(Element 4) used to determine IF the applicant has sufficient >knowledge of theory/rule/regs which are part of the >syllabus of knowledge used to prepare the test element >itself which is the requirement.

Of course - but the question is, WHY is that requirement needed? (See below)
>
>> >Before the NEW structure,
>> >all that involved was the 4B (I think that was it) which >> >I and others passed and obtained CSCE credit for.
>>
>> Yeah, I know. I passed it in August, 1970, between sophomore and junior >year of >> high school. Age 16. Woulda done it earlier but they had that 2 year >experience
>> thing back then.
>>
>> >Once 4/15/00
>> >came and went, we had a paper upgrade. Those that were advanced >> >and didn't follow that path now have a "combined" 4A/4B exam to contend >> >with. That's the breaks.
>> >
>> Old 4A was 50 questions and old 4B was 40. New 4 is 50 questions.
>>
>> But none of this answers the original question: What is so special about >3524
>> kHz that one needs to be tested more to use it than 3526?
>
>It really is still an aspect of "incentive licensing".

BINGO!!!!

The idea is that the system "rewards" the passing of additional tests by giving out additional privileges, even though the additional tests do NOT contain material that is "necessary" to use the new privileges. In other words, hams are rewarded for "jumping through the hoop" of Element 4.

>> >> Carl describes incentive licensing as "a dismal failure" and says that
>> >license
>> >> test requirements should ONLY be based on demonstrating the necessary >> >> qualifications.
>> >
>> >And that's what it is per my comments above.

But now you say "It really is still an aspect of "incentive licensing".". And you are absolutely correct, Bill. It's about incentives and rewards, not showing necessary qualifications.
>>
>> Why is Element 4 "necessary"? Because the FCC says so?
>
>See my comment above...the test is the means to ascertain
>an individuals knowledge.

Yup - even though the knowledge was shown to be adequate on a lower-level test.
>
>> >> Carl also says that the writtens are not "dumbed down", even though >> >> their size and number was radically decreased on April 15, 2000.
>> >
>> >The number of questions doesn't change the scope and
>> >or difficulty of learning the knowledge needed
>> >to pass.
>>
>> Sure it does.
>
>Let's make this simple.... I give you 200 words >to learn the spelling of. You have NO knowledge >of which words will be on a test. You still need >to learn them all regardless of the test being >25 or 50 of the words picked at random.
>Same applies to all types of testing.

Nope.

The amateur writtens are not a spelling test. The questions are not simply chosen at random, and are not unrelated.

>> A simple basic test to get started, a more involved test for more privs,
>and a >> fairly comprehensive test for full privileges. And make the privileges >match
>> the testing level.
>
>How does that differ from Tech/General/Extra today?

1) Tech today is a big step for newcomers who do not have technical backgrounds. They get way too much VHF/UHF, and if they pass 5 wpm code get way too little HF/MF

2) General today is "about right" except the written test is mostly regs and not technical enough

3) The privileges earned do not match the knowledge tested closely enough

4) There is no experience requirement

5) VE qualification should be a separate issue

6) Current system is a patchwork quilt of a system dating back more than 50 years.
>
>> The big problem lots of ham have with the current system is that the >privileges
>> don't match the testing.
>
>Then what alignment would you like for privileges >vs license (I can't find your prior post on those >details...so maybe repubishing would help me >understand your position.) I have some thoughts >on those lines also...perhaps we are in closer agreement
>than we think.

See end of this post.
>
>> >> >> > why should anyone get a total freebie??? If they >> >> >> >don't want to, or don't have the time to, upgrade, they should >> >> >> >remain satisfied with what they have. There is no reason to >> >> >> >change the system ... nobody should get privileges they aren't >> >> >> >qualified for, nor should anyone lose privileges they've already >> >> >> >earned.
>> >> >>
>> >> >> Sounds like what some folks were saying before the restructuring.
>> >> >> Folks you vehemently disagree with.
>> >> >
>> >> >That argument/analogy only holds IF you believe the current >> >> >testing requirements for the written are unreasonable and/or >> >> >unjustified.
>> >>
>> >> If one accepts Carl's statements, they ARE unjustified beyond the >> >> General level.
>> >
>> >I don't see the logic in your conclusion.
>>
>> I'm simply pointing out the inconsistency in Carl's statements. He calls
>the >> code tests "making hams jump through hoops" because they are not NECESSARY
>in >> order to operate an amateur transmitter on non-Morse modes. And he points
>to >> FCC statements and the R&O for 98-143 for proof.
>>
>> OK, fine, apply that same logic to the writtens. FCC sez a General and its >> associated tests fully qualifies a ham to use full power on all authorized >> amateur modes and bands. By Carl's logic, all the NECESSARY stuff to >operate >> any ham transmitter is contained in the testing for General. Thus, the >Extra

>> test is just as much "making hams jump through hoops" as the old code >tests
>> were - IF one accepts Carl's premises.
>
>OK, I don't necessarily disagree with your logic on that.
>The issue still is (IMHO) retaining some aspect of incentive
>in the licensing steps.

Which means incentive licnesing is NOT "a dismal failure".
>
><SNIP>
>> >> Remember that during the 1957-1963 period the Soviets had one space >> >> space triumph after another while the US tried to catch up.
>> >
>> >Whch had more to do with physics and rocketry than >> >anything electronic.
>>
>> Yup, absolutely. In fact, one of the reasons the Soviets built such big >rockets
>> was that their electronics were bigger and heavier.
>>
>> But the effect of all those early Soviet space triumphs was to focus >attention
>> here on "science" (actually, engineering) in all fields, not just >rocketry.
>
>But that doesn't seem to suggest that the Sputnik was the prime >motivator of incentive licensing.

It does to me. Lots of folks were shaken up by how much the Soviets were ahead of us in space. Tom Wolfe's "The Right Stuff" tells the story very well.

> Anyway...that's one of those >speculative discussions that we can all down a few adult >beverages discussing sometime :-)

Works for me! Make mine a Sam Adams.

Here's a revised and cleaned-up version of myu earlier post, with some suggestions by Rich Plourde incorporated. Remember that this is more of a "thought experiment" than a finished job. The names of the proposed license classes were chosen to avoid confusion with the existing classes.

How about this:

Right now:

1) Give all Novices and Tech Pluses 200 W CW only on all nonphone General HF/MF bands, 160-10. (They haven't been tested on other modes for HF)

2) Allow all "old" Tech Pluses to get Generals by a simple mail or online procedure, instead of forcing them to attend VE sessions.

3) Resolve the 40 meter mess at WRC 2003 to get a worldwide exclusive amateur allocation, even if it gives away spectrum. 7000-7200 worldwide exclusive amateur is better for everyone than 7000-7300 in Region 2 and 7000-7100 everywhere else. 7000-7300 worldwide exclusive amateur would be wonderful.

4) Develop bandplans for all HF/MF that separate CW, digital and analog voice/image modes.

After S25.5 is gone:

1) Three classes of license: Basic, Intermediate, Full (change the names if you don't like them)

2) HF/MF bands split into subbands by mode and split again by license class. (Some bands, like 10 and the WARC bands, may be split by mode only).

3) "Basic" license test is simple 20-25 question exam on regs, procedures, and safety. Very little technical and RF exposure stuff, main purpose is to keep Basics out of trouble. Basics get 100-150 watts on HF/MF and 25 watts or so on VHF/UHF (determined by RF exposure limits). Modes are CW, analog voice, PSK31 and many of the other common data modes like packet. Basics cannot be VEs, control ops for repeaters, or be club trustees. Basics get all VHF/UHF and about half of HF/MF spectrum. Basic is meant as the entry level. Test content matches privileges granted.

4) "Intermediate" license test is more complex 50-60 question exam on regs, procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical and RF exposure stuff, with some regs to cover expanded privs. Intermediates get 300-400 watts on all bands, all modes. Intermediates can be VEs after qualification (see below), control ops for repeaters, and club trustees. Intermediates get all VHF/UHF and about three quarters (or more) of HF/MF spectrum. Intermediate requires at least one year experience as a Basic.

5) Full license test is quite complex 100-120 question exam on regs, procedures, safety and technical stuff. Mostly technical, with some regs to cover expanded privs. Fulls get all privileges, modes, bands, etc. except that Fulls can be VEs only after qualification (see below). Full license requires ar least one year (preferably two years) as an Intermediate.

6) All licenses are 10 year and fully renewable/modifiable.

7) Basics have six-character calls, Intermediates have five- or six-character calls, and Fulls have four-, five-, or six-character calls.

8) There is a separate 30-35 question test for VE qualification, open to Intermediates and Fulls, which allows them to be VEs.

9) Existing Novices become Basics, existing Techs, Tech Pluses, Generals and Advanceds become Intermediates, and existing Extras become Fulls.

10) Experience requirement is not waived for existing hams to upgrade, but their time in existing classes counts.

End result is a system that is easy to get into (Basic is envisioned as a 21st century version of the Novice) and has reasonable but meaningful steps to reach full privileges. And the testing matches the priviliges granted.

The power levels are set about one S-unit apart. Perhaps current hams would be allowed to use the existing power levels so nobody loses privileges.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6425. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:08:50 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <6FQX7.316668$W8.11919805@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29418

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230102216.03703.00000785@mb-da.aol.com...
> In article <3C2A43C9.5B613C6@earthlink.net>, Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
> writes:
>
> >McCollum sometimes has a way with a phrase, doesn't he?
>
> Absolutely. You can see the Midwest Vonnegut/Twain/Heller influences, plus the > original McC style and the careful application to ham radio. Really well done.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
>

Take it for whatever ; Lennie once called it cynical-chic which I found amusing.

You have left out the biggest single influence on whatever literary style I might possess, Tom McCahill who invented auto testing about 1949 for Mechanix Illustrated. I regularly use one of his lines -- whipping Granny down to the pool hall. He had a thing about Pontiacs, particularly the 50s versions where Chief Pontiac on the hood actually lit up (note they have done goofy things like that to this day) so old guys could sight on it at 110 ft/sec on the Santa Monica Freeway. And the description of a 58 model as having a trunk that would hold 17 dead giraffes and a catcher's mitt.

And MAD magazine of the vintage that printed its lawyer's name on the masthead of the magazine to eliminate the middle man. I remember an awful lot of their song rewrites: When the Wisconsin U band actually played On! Wisconsin (the Budweiser Song is much more common) I found myself blaring out with Push Rice Krispies, push Rice Krispies, Snap. Crackle, and Pop and ending in And While You are Pushing, Don't Forget All-Bran. And who could forget My Fair Ad Man. Wouldst I could be so good. Had a 10 inch 33 of Tom Leherer.

And who called them the dead Eisenhower years?? Al Capp managed to get his spoof of Marlene Detrich past the censors, Apassionata von Klimax. Even the Playtex Living Girdle was mildly surrealistic. WW2 types could not handle surrealism; neither can Boomers. Got the Washington- New Orleans game on in Spanish -- that is surrealism, or something. Probably no worse than ESPN.

Actually, I expect to see the kids of today beat the living crap out of us if they can resist the temptation and the commercial pressure to overproduce everything and leave something for the whimsical spirit to seize upon and run with. They lack the advantage of radio but they have the advantage -- as we 'tweeners had -- of growing up between large generations who find power so attractive they will have to die first before giving it up. When you know blessed well you will never run things, it is far easier to be whimsical. Kind of the diff between Harry Potter and the Rings which have diametrically opposite effects on the God Squad. Go Harry! We all know it ends in Those Were the Days My Friend but WTH.

Plunk Your Magic Twanger, Froggie.

Dick, NBK ENTP

6426. Re: I Am A NOCODE Lifer Tech!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:11:04 UTC
From: oneangryman@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <8c61e9d6.0112301911.33d9511a@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29419
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

"Scott (Unit-69)" <upplus@hotSPAMmail.com> wrote in message
news:<3C2F0803.3435EE7D@hotSPAMmail.com>...
> One Angry Man wrote:
> > You'll never know just how right you are!
> >
> > signed
> > One Angry No Code Ham
> > Member Number 1 of the No Code Liberation Army (NCLA)
>
>
> You can be as angry as you want to be. Those of us who have done > nothing wrong, have nothing to worry about.
>

And the ones who have done nothing wrong are not the ones I'm angry at.
BTW the name comes from the movie Twelve Angry Men!

>
> > There are 3 older fake identities just in the sig file alone.
> > Just for you CB'rs and SLOW readers they are;
> > 1 One Angry Man
> > 2 No Code Amateur
> > 3 The No Code Liberation Army
> >
> > Any of them ring a bell? YeeHaw
>
>
> Who cares?

This was wrote to prove that any jerk can post from Google as anybody they want to be at the time. The fact that you don't care means nothing to me.

>
> P.S. I hold no stinkin' ticket.

Like I care? If you want it you can get it EASY just 35 simple questions. If you don't want it fine, enjoy your life, just stay out of the ham bands and let it rip, no one cares except Riley.

signed
One Angry Man

6427. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:15:01 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <VKQX7.316679$W8.11919242@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29420
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

"KB9TMP" <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com> wrote in message
news:a0ojj3$a0d$1@dagobah.blueriver.net...
> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
> news:8sLX7.206026$WW.11951458@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > > Aside from the fact that Scott did not write this idiocy, when are you > > > taking the code test so you can enjoy it a hell of a lot more???
> > >
> > > Dick N�BK
> > >
>
> As soon as I can get my copy up to the 5wpm requirement.
> I'm listening to the ARRL code practice files off the Internet > and I'll go for my test as soon as I can copy the 7.5 wpm > files, that way I'll know for _SURE_ I can do the 5 wpm test.
> --
>
> '73' From KB9TMP
> NCI-2385
>
> Beware of the man who works hard to learn something, > learns it, and finds himself no wiser than before. He is > full of murderous resentment of people who are ignorant > without having come by their ignorance the hard way.
> -Peer's Law
>
>

Like the tag line. And the best of luck to you so you can pontificate with the best. Take a look at Morse Academy at http://ah0a.org and see if it meets a need. Some of the groupies who have passed the Extra of late swear by the ARRL tapes. Damfino.

6428. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:20:00 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <APQX7.316688$W8.11918421@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29421

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
news:1CEE8BC495EC91B4.E34015EC399F3182.35952BCF8C5364AA@lp.airnews.net...
> On 30 Dec 2001 15:55:57 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> wrote:
>
> >How charming. Don't look now, but you've got the wrong bloke, > >mate. It was Cecil who started this "electronic stalking" thing > >going on here. However, the direct insult of being called an
> >"idiot" is noted; I wonder what voyager.net's Terms Of Service > >have to say about that?
>
> Absolutely nothing, you moron. Not only do I have a commercial > connection to the Inet, which means I'm a NOT a dial-up user and have > different contractual obligations, but I don't use Voyager's news > server (take a look at my headers--my messages originate either with > my Airnews account or my Altopia one, depending on which server is > running faster at the time) which means I'm only limited by the > COU/TOS of those services, NEITHER of which has any policy concerning > message content or frequency.
>
> On the other hand, since you have an aol account (which, to a > networker, is sort of like being a Novice class ham who can't even > remember the morse code), you ARE limited by a COU/TOS agreement that > specifically prohibits behavior which is harassing, offensive, or > violates the charter of a news group.
>
> Have a nice day, idiot.
>
> Rick
>
> --
>
> Rick Adams--KE8HH

OOOOOOOOOOOOH. Eemotion. Watch it Rick, they'll heave you out of the faculty lounge for that. Nah, just move to the other side of the room and give you the sick cow stare.

6429. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:26:41 UTC
From: Shrimp Biskit <pipedream@hotmail.comsp>
Message-ID: <20011230222707.122$4B@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 29423
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"JR" <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote in message news:3C2F0B3C.E5A6211E@mailcity.net...
>
> So who are you trying to impress?

WWTK?

6430. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:27:53 UTC
From: Shrimp Biskit <pipedream@hotmail.comsp>
Message-ID: <20011230222818.836$As@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 29424
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

Like they can't trace the ip back to you?

"One High Powered Mother Flipper!" <onehighpoweredmutha@mail.com> wrote in message news:3c2fc40d.4073196@netnews.att.net...
> On Mon, 31 Dec 2001 01:47:34 GMT, JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net> wrote:
>
> >
> >
> >Shrimp Biskit wrote:
> >>
> >> Post forwarded to rhollingsworth@fcc.gov
> >> CC: info@fbi.gov
> >> Re: Subject Death Threats
> >
> >You cc to info@fbi.gov is a waste of time. It states plainly on > >the FBI web site, "At this time, FBI Headquarters does not accept > >E-mail. If you have any comments or questions about the FBI or > >this web site, please write to:
> > Federal Bureau of Investigation
> > J. Edgar Hoover Building
> > 935 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
> > Washington, D.C. 20535-0001
> > (202) 324-3000
> >
> >So who are you trying to impress?
>
>
> and not only that like I'm really gonna put my REAL name and address
> there... dumb ass.
Like they can't trace the ip back to you?

6431. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:53:15 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2FE12B.C232E621@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29425

N2EY wrote:
> You implied it.

Nope, you may have inferred it but I didn't imply it. I gave a single example of what I did to solve my problem. It was not meant as a universal solution.

> Why should CC&Rs be more sacred than marriage?

I'm sure you can solve the CC&R problem the same way you can solve the marriage problem - move out.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6432. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:58:15 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2FE257.A0B96566@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29426

N2EY wrote:
> Would you say to a person who wants out of a marriage, "You should not have > signed the contract if you didn't like the conditions and restrictions"?

Moving out solves both problems.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6433. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 03:59:48 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2FE2B4.804B3643@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29427

N2EY wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >What inalienable rights are being violated?
>
> Liberty and pursuit of happiness.

You should have considered that before signing the CC&R contract. :-)
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6434. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 04:04:46 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2FE3DE.24B8B0FC@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29428
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Richard McCollum wrote:
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
>
> Nebraska for one but it is not a great idea. Remnant of what was once > known as the Shoot Your Neighbor Act.

In the few states I've lived in, one must be in danger of life and limb before deadly force can be used. Property doesn't count.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6435. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 04:07:29 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C2FE481.F345BCBD@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29429
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

JAMES HAMPTON wrote:
> Well, we had a case a few years back. There had been some robberies and a > few people shot individuals crazy enough to break into their homes. No > problem with that, of course; what was interesting is a couple years ago a > guy heard something breaking in his garage. He grabbed a gun and shot a guy > stealing a bicycle. The thief was in the driveway at the time with the > bike. The grand jury let him go. A lot of people are getting fed up with > what has been happening the last 10 or 20 years or so.

Shooting someone under those circumstances is taking a huge risk. The grand jury may or may not be understanding.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6436. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 04:41:43 UTC
From: uppluss@hotmail.com
Message-ID: <a2cf6f35.0112302041.30a7365b@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29430
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

<middlefinger4@home.com> wrote in message news:<cQMX7.339527$5A3.130999106@news1.rdc2.pa.home.com>...
> Richard what do you mean it was a forge? So anyone with the name of Dick or > Richard who posts to a any NG is going to be a forge ? The content of what > is posted is important not the name signed behind it but that the problem > with guys like you you are so quick to defend Illegal CB operators you > should actually hand in your license Dick, Honest Injun you are nothing > more than a Big Old baby

I say Dick is more like one of us than he is a ham. That's why we like him and accept him. I don't think he wouldn't miss his license in the least. Care to try again Georgie?

>
> "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
> news:IILX7.206051$WW.11953034@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > The post was a forgery, John. Lot of that of late. Suggest before > > replying check the routing: if you see Google or Newsnet or any of the > > other well-known public urinals you can safely forget it. The ethics of > > responding to cross-posts I will leave to you but that is another > > indication that something is bogus.
> >
> > Dick Nï¿½BK
> >
> > "John" <n1umj@ARRL.net> wrote in message
> > news:7xLX7.42739$Sj1.18328536@typhoon.ne.mediaone.net...
> > > Next time I meet a free bander I will have him reported like they should
> be.
> > > it is not a free band you like the bands so much and the radios get off
> your > > > wellfair receaving, lazy child molesting asses and work for the lisence
> for > > > the first time in your life and show people equipment and this country a > > > little respect. I have no respect for the "free banders" at all. Work > for it > > > like everyone else if you want the ham bands or stay the hell in the > 1-40 > > > channels range where you belong. You do not deserve any more respect
> then > > > the person I shot for breaking in to my house a few years back or the > one I > > > caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER > WALK
> > > AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!

> > > "Twistedhed" <twistedhed_webtvnet@subdimension.com> wrote in message
> > > news:e9de0154.0112300024.125df714@posting.google.com...
> > > > I am posting here because of some of the nasty things I have read in
> > > > this > > > > group and in QRZ discussions regarding freebanders. We who use the > > > > frequencies
> > > > from 27.405 to 28.000 have more in common with hams than you might
> > > > think.
> > > > We are good operators and have knowledge of propagation and skip > > > > conditions.
> > > > We use Yasus, Kenwoods and Icomm radios just like you do, so we know
> > > > technical > > > > issues as well or better. However, the attitude of some hams toward us
> > > > is > > > > rude and condescending. We are treated like 2nd class citizens. This > > > > should > > > > not be. We have the same rights under the constitution as legal hams
> > > > do.
> > > > For those that do not wish to be under Uncle Sam's thumb, freebanding
> > > > is > > > > a viable alternative to getting a ham radio license. What I am saying
> > > > is > > > > that maybe the next time you meet a freebander it might be wise to > > > > talk with > > > > him before you condemn him.
> > > >
> > > > This article ought to clarify things, as I am the author:
> > > > http://sporadic1.tripod.com/page7.html
> > > >
> > > > I am QRT and standing by. (No flames answered. Please reply via email)
> > > >
> > > > Unit 2711, Florida
> > >
> > >
> >
> >

6437. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 04:54:11 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <TbSX7.316850$W8.11929552@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29431
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2FE3DE.24B8B0FC@IEEE.org...
> Richard McCollum wrote:
> >
> > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > > In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
> >
> > Nebraska for one but it is not a great idea. Remnant of what was once > > known as the Shoot Your Neighbor Act.
>
> In the few states I've lived in, one must be in danger of life and > limb before deadly force can be used. Property doesn't count.
> --
> cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

The original Shoot Your Neighbor Act allowed plugging for your life, property or that of a neighbor. This, of course, did not make forgetting your key and crawling in your kitchen window the smartest move in history without your kelvar BVDs in place.

And where she shot the burglar on the lawn who strangely turned out to be her drunken husband carrying a 12-pack in rather than out it did make prosecuting the dear lady just a bit tougher when her belief rather than reality controlled. In Texas or Nebraska juries try the victim as well as the accused anyway and to hear tell, they leave that to Grand Juries in New York.

As you can imagine this was a bit of a nightmare to LEOs, prosecutors, and the coroners' golf tournament so the neighbor aspect is pretty well gone but no one is going to cry too loudly if someone offs a rustler or a speed freak stealing anhydrous ammonia from your tank. They caught a guy in Iowa with five cows in his car; that ranks with shooting a bear in your pajamas -- and not having the slightest idea how the bear got into your pajamas. But Iowegians are a bit strange anyway.

And we all know the statutes and practice often differ. The gendarmes have been known to throw armed robbers who bought the big one back into the store before beginning the investigation, particularly if he is one of the usual suspects. Prosecutors have been known to charge with an eye to the next election, and juries have been known to decide that the world did not lose a hell of a lot when it lost the late lamented deceased.

So it really helps to be right when offing someone.

Today's Omaha World-Herald repeated the results of a legislative study done on the death penalty which found a distinct urban/rural split that in the final analysis proves only that urban prosecutors do not ask for it in marginal cases but rural ones do while the juries bring the issue back to par. I personally oppose the death penalty not on theoretical grounds but the fact that it is damned expensive and contains no mechanism for adjusting the system when, not if, it hangs the wrong man as Wisconsin did in 1852 and never has since. A good false imprisonment case deserves at least the treatment the NTSB gives an airplane crash or for that matter the same treatment when the Nebraska Hiway Dept kills five kids in a school bus.

As a practical matter, I doubt the law as she is done differs more between NE and TX than it differs between rural and urban areas in either state.

Dick N&#65533;BK

6438. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 05:02:40 UTC
From: fgillil@tincan.org
Message-ID: <e182e02.0112302102.bbbfe5b@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29432
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:<3C2F88B7.FB31D411@IEEE.org>...
> John wrote:
> > ... or the one I
> > caught bREAKING IN TO CARS IN MY DRIVEWAY THIS SUMMER WHO WILL NEVER WALK > > AGAIN BECAUSE OF ME!
>
> In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?

Florida, if you believe twistie. He thinks is perfectly legal to shoot college kids picking mushrooms in a field. I'm not kidding, check the archives.

6439. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 09:31:46 UTC
From: kelly@dvol.com
Message-ID: <d22b54c3.0112310131.692cc35a@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29433

```
. . . .
> things, it is far easier to be whimsical. Kind of the diff between Harry > Potter and the Rings which have diametrically opposite effects on the God > Squad. Go Harry! We all know it ends in Those Were the Days My Friend > but WTH.
>
> Plunk Your Magic Twanger, Froggie.
>
> Dick, Nï¿½BK ENTP
>
Bwaaaaahaha! Booful but they'll never get it . . !
>
w3rv
```

6440. Re: No Code Hams Whining

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 12:54:12 UTC
From: kc2hmn@arrl.net
Message-ID: <beb0a48b.0112310454.6efec4ed@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29434
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.swap

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:<VKQX7.316679$W8.11919242@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>...
> "KB9TMP" <NoMoreSpam4Me@antisocial.com> wrote in message
> news:a0ojj3$a0d$1@dagobah.blueriver.net...
> > "Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message
> > news:8sLX7.206026$WW.11951458@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
> > > Aside from the fact that Scott did not write this idiocy, when are you > > > taking the code test so you can enjoy it a hell of a lot more???
> > >
> > > Dick Ni¿½BK
> > >
> >
> > As soon as I can get my copy up to the 5wpm requirement.
> > I'm listening to the ARRL code practice files off the Internet > > and I'll go for my test as soon as I can copy the 7.5 wpm > > files, that way I'll know for _SURE_ I can do the 5 wpm test.

Go for it! I can testify to the sense of accomplishment. It may sound cliche-like, but privileges earned are far more appreciated and less likely to be taken for granted. Good luck, I'll keep my fingers crossed for you. (A little luck never hurt anybody...unless it's bad luck, that is.)

> > --
> >
> > '73' From KB9TMP
> > NCI-2385
> >
> > Beware of the man who works hard to learn something, > > learns it, and finds himself no wiser than before. He is > > full of murderous resentment of people who are ignorant > > without having come by their ignorance the hard way.
> > -Peer's Law
> >
> >
>
> Like the tag line. And the best of luck to you so you can pontificate > with the best. Take a look at Morse Academy at http://ah0a.org and see if > it meets a need. Some of the groupies who have passed the Extra of late > swear by the ARRL tapes. Damfino.

I used the ARRL CD's and was quite pleased with the results. The code is taught/sent/practiced/learnt (Your choice.) @ 18-wpm with increased spacing between the words to slow the overall word rate to 5-wpm. This is known as ARRL/Fast Farnsworth. Traditional Farnsworth is 13 to 15-wpm with the appropriately "spaced out" to 5-wpm. IMHO, using the ARRL CD's offers two advantages. The first being that it's a little faster than the actual test. Not so much that it bothers you while practicing, but enough so that you notice it immediately when the actual test begins. I actually started grinning when they sent the opening two sets of three V's. (..._)

The second advantage is that it allows for a quicker/easier transition to higher speeds should you desire to use it after passing. This is still a work-in-progress for me, so I'll let you know. ;-) The code tests are given in Farnsworth now. I'm not exactly sure whar the motivation is behind this. Some on the NG have suggested that it may have been a backhanded attempt to retain a pseudo-13-wpm code test since the gaps between the words really aren't saying anything...literally. I dunno...and, quite frankly, don't care...I'll use it to my advantage. You take it easy and the very best of luck to you.

73 de Bert
KC2HMN

6441. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 12:57:26 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0pn8602o0d@enews1.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29441
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
news:3C2FE3DE.24B8B0FC@IEEE.org...
> Richard McCollum wrote:
> >
> > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > > In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
> >
> > Nebraska for one but it is not a great idea. Remnant of what was once > > known as the Shoot Your Neighbor Act.
>
> In the few states I've lived in, one must be in danger of life and > limb before deadly force can be used. Property doesn't count.

I remember an incident in East Liverpool, Ohio in 1981, in which a business owner was being robbed every weekend. He'd had enough and decided to stand watch. Early on a Sunday morning, he shot an intruder - a 17-year-old - and heard others outside take off when they heard the shots. It was ruled a justifiable homocide. I don't know if or how Ohio law has changed since then.

6442. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:02:50 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231080250.03703.00000804@mb-da.aol.com>
Source record: 29437

In article <a0o75k$70q$1@slb6.atl.mindspring.net>, "Bill Sohl"
<billsohl@mindspring.com> writes:

>It is actually totally American as no one is "forced" to move in >and accept the CC&Rs. The ability to own a home and >be a ham has many options that allow for choice...UNLESS
>the person absolutely wants to live in a certain subdivision.
>The choice is yours.
>
Sorry, but in many areas that's simply not the case. Often there is NO choice of unrestricted property, particularly where most of the homes have been built in the past 20-30 years.

My current house is over 50 years old and has over a page and a half of fine-print deed restrictions. Nothing directly about antennas, though.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6443. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:02:51 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231080251.03703.00000806@mb-da.aol.com>
Source record: 29435

In article <3C2FE2B4.804B3643@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>>
>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>> >What inalienable rights are being violated?
>>
>> Liberty and pursuit of happiness.
>
>You should have considered that before signing the CC&R contract. :-)

If a contract violates the law of the land, it is not a valid contract.

73 de Jim, N2EY
>--

6444. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:02:51 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231080251.03703.00000805@mb-da.aol.com>
Source record: 29436

In article <3C2FE12B.C232E621@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>> You implied it.
>
>Nope, you may have inferred it but I didn't imply it.

I would not have inferred it if you didn't imply it.

>I gave >a single example of what I did to solve my problem. It was >not meant as a universal solution.

The universal solution is for the FCC to do for hams what they did for satellite dishes.
>
>> Why should CC&Rs be more sacred than marriage?
>
>I'm sure you can solve the CC&R problem the same way you
>can solve the marriage problem - move out.

That doesn't answer the question.

73 de Jim, N2EY
>--

6445. Re: FCC writes off hams? (Was: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extincti

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:02:52 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231080252.03703.00000807@mb-da.aol.com>
Source record: 29438

In article <a0o820his1@slb2.atl.mindspring.net>, "Bill Sohl" <billsohl@mindspring.com> writes:

>"Compassionate Conservative" <Compassionate@right.wing> wrote
>>
>> Like most home owners I did not sign a agreement on deed restrictions.
>> It was a done deal. The buyer of a used house is not given a copy of >> any deed restrictions but must check the county records to find if >> there are any restrictions on the deed.
>
>Then you had one sorry ass attorney handle your >purchase. ANY attorney worth his/her salt
>would have uncovered such CC&Rs or any >other deed restrictions BEFORE you closed.

I ALWAYS require a copy of ALL restrictions before even making an offer. I use a buyer's agent, (a realtor who is working for me, not the seller) and my agent knows up-front about presenting all restrictions. And the services of a competent real estate attorney are just about essential.
>
>I can tell you this...ANY future purcase I might >make would include the right to decline the deal
>IF upon researching the title/property there were >ANY CC&Rs/restrictions uncovered.

Yup.

>Indeed, if >you are searching for a new home, you should >make that requirement crystal clear to the real >estate agent you are working with.

This applies to ANY real estate transaction, so you don't have surprises later
on.

It's also important to have correct interpretations of CC&Rs. For example, the deed restrictions on my 52 year old house say the only "structures" that can be built are "a single-family house costing at least $10,500 to build" (!) and a garage for one or two cars. What's a "structure"? Anything with a permanent foundation. Fences and utility poles don't count because they don't have permanent foundations. So I can't have a free-standing tower with a concrete foundation. But that's no big deal because there's no reasonable way to have a free-standing tower on the property anyway.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6446. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:26:29 UTC
From: Jon Bloom <jbloom@arrl.org>
Message-ID: <pan.2001.12.31.08.26.29.289093.20925@arrl.org>
Source record: 29442

On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 12:47:56 -0500, Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> This is the first I'd heard about it. If I'd known of it, I probably > would have sent a comment to the FCC. How come you brought it up "after > the fact?" I am not saying that flippantly, I'd really like to know.

The petition was sent to the FCC in December 1999 and was widely reported at the time, including here on rrap. And of course, that was a petition for reconsideration of the FCC's denial of an earlier petition, so the topic had been reported on earlier, too. If you weren't aware of it at the time, maybe you were't following the various amateur radio news sources. Or maybe it simply didn't register on your radar.

Jon

6447. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:31:29 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c3069e9_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29443

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230210101.09102.00000857@mb-ct.aol.com...
>
> >But, I can't say for sure--because I've never been in that position (except > >for marriage, of course).
>
> "Of course"? No, not at all.
>
> Why in the world should CC&Rs be more sacred and harder to get out of than > marriages?
>

I don't think they should be.

>
> Anyone who has gotten divorced is just like the person who bought a restricted > property and now wants out of the restrictions.
>
> Would you say to a person who wants out of a marriage, "You should not
have > signed the contract if you didn't like the conditions and restrictions"?
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

Apples and oranges, Jim. However, just as divorce is a solution to that in the world of marriage; moving out of the neighborhood is a better solution than wasting my tax dollars going to the government.

Kim W5TIT

6448. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:32:09 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c306a09_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29444

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230210102.09102.00000859@mb-ct.aol.com...
> In article <3C2EB9C4.E4009689@mailcity.net>, JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
writes:
>
> >The people who signs CC&R contracts and then bitch, are just like > >those who build a house off the end of a runway of a busy airport > >and then bitch about the noise and want to get the runway shut > >down.
>
> Or like those who get married and then decide they don't want to be with
that > person for the rest of their life.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

So, get a divorce. Or, move out of the restricted neighborhood.

Kim W5TIT

6449. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:36:15 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c306afe_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29445

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230210103.09102.00000860@mb-ct.aol.com...
> In article <3C2F337E.95F5E883@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
writes:
>
> >N2EY wrote:
> >>
> >> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
> >> >People must
> >> >proprietize their wants/needs.
> >>
> >> "Proprietize"? Maybe you mean "prioritize".
> >
> >Egads - I sure did. Got my roots mixed up.
>
> Yup.
> >
> >> Is ham radio to be limited only to those who can find two unrestricted > >acres?
> >
> >Did I say that?
>
> You implied it.
>
> >I merely gave an example of what can be done.
>
> In some cases. Not in all cases.
>
> > Everywhere
> >I have lived, the first thing I did was check the CC&Rs.
>
> Because you were already a ham.
>
> >Just like any > >other contract, if I didn't like the terms and conditions, I didn't sign.
>
> Uh huh.
> >
> >> They DO guarantee that we have certain freedom of use of our vehicles, > >though.
> >
> >There are many places where motor vehicles are prohibited, e.g. inside
> >the shopping mall.
>

> False. I see little electric carts and motorized wheelchairs in our local malls
> all the time.
>
> The point is that we are guaranteed certain freedoms in the use of our > vehicles. Limitations are imposed only to protect the safety of others.
>
> That's why we have building codes.
>
> How does a simple HF wire dipole between two trees, connected to a QRP ham rig, > negatively affect the safety of others.
>
> > Do you advocate driving motor vehicles everywhere?
>
> Everywhere it's reasonable and safe to drive them, yes.
>
> >Do you object to all legal contracts, Jim, or just CC&Rs?
>
> Contracts were made to be broken, Cecil. Here's an example:
>
> One of the most serious contracts most people ever make is to get married.
> Listen to the words at most weddings:
>
> "love, honor, and cherish"
> "in good times and bad"
> "in sickness and in health"
> "for richer or poorer"
> "til death us do part"
>
> In most ceremonies the people entering into the contract face each other
and > say out loud that they have come to the contract freely and unreservedly,
and > accept ALL its terms. They make the contract in front of witnesses and get both > community and legal acceptance. In most ceremonies there are NO escape clauses > and NO limitations.
>
> Yet about 50% of marriages in the USA end in divorce. All it takes is for
one > of the parties to say "I don't wanna do this anymore" and it's OVER.
Doesn't > matter if the other party agrees, doesn't matter how much damage it does
to > other people. No reason need be given other than "I want out". Nowadays
there > is almost no stigma attached to divorce - in fact, most divorces are "no > fault".

>
> Why should CC&Rs be more sacred than marriage?
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

They're not. And, if you don't like the marriage you're in, get a divorce. If you don't like neighborhoods with whatever CCRs you can't agree with, then don't move in. Same for HOAs. If a neighborhood elects to change the environment, then move out--just as a divorce is a solution to no longer wishing to be married. It's that simple.

Kim W5TIT
(You bit the marriage thing way too hard, Jim. Not a good example, at all).

6450. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:38:18 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c306b78$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29446

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230210105.09102.00000863@mb-ct.aol.com...
> In article <3c2f3cf8_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim- <nospam@none.net> writes:
>
> >Why should a majority of the population yield to the wants and desires of
a > >very, very minute part of the population?
>
> Because all people have certain inalienable rights.
>
> And please learn to edit old stuff from your posts, Kim.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

As a side note, Jim: I'll post however I choose to post, thank you very much.

I don't think having an antenna for ham radio outside in any manner we wish it is a certain inalienable right.

Kim W5TIT

6451. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:43:26 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c306cac$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29448

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011230210105.09102.00000862@mb-ct.aol.com...
>
> > Don't move
> >into a neighborhood with CCRs or HOAs.
>
> Sometimes there is no realistic choice.
>
> > It's as anti-American as you can > >get.
>
> That I agree with. But it's been SOP since the 1970s, and it's spreading.
In
> some areas if you say "I only want to see unrestricted properties" to a > realtor, the list of places to look at is very short.
>

There must be movement somewhere, Jim. Rather than spend time after the fact, get involved prior to the fact--change HOAs, get rid of 'em, whatever.
Or, research CCRs before you move in.

>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

Then, spend your energy changing and getting rid of HOAs and research a CCR before you move in to a home, or buy that piece of property. When I bought this one, the only restriction is that I cannot raise swine. I can live with that--forever--so I bought. Now, when I go to sell my property a pig farmer won't be able to buy it. If just a pig farmer comes along and he's all that wants to buy my property, do I go run off whining to the government to change my CCR? Hardly.

Kim W5TIT

6452. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:46:40 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C306C40.54E5A2F1@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29447

N2EY wrote:
>
> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>
> >N2EY wrote:
> >> You implied it.
> > >
> > >Nope, you may have inferred it but I didn't imply it.
> >
> > I would not have inferred it if you didn't imply it.

You infer lots of things that I don't imply. In fact, akin to a devil's advocate position, you often present a devil's inferrence.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6453. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:48:59 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c306dfa$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29450

"Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message news:10C06F27E74095B4.4F46FCC4017D8788.2E8FB25D1013BBD3@lp.airnews.net...
>
> It DOES bother me, Larry, because I don't like seeing my hobby
> trashed by an idiot like you whose only goal in life is to prove that > he can make women capitulate to his demands.
>

<giggle> If you've ever gone back through and read a lot of the posts from Larry, you'll understand that he seems to be one of those people who always sets unrealistic, unattainable goals for himself--those that are beyond his capability.

The one above is probably his most significant. Women giving in to Larry's demands? Rick! ;)

Kim W5TIT

6454. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:50:24 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C306D20.6F7EA2B9@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29449

N2EY wrote:
> My current house is over 50 years old and has over a page and a half of > fine-print deed restrictions. Nothing directly about antennas, though.

When I bought my house in CA, I deleted (lined out) the antenna restriction part before I signed the contract.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6455. Re: "...one step closer to extinction."

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:54:58 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c306f61$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29452

Still doing a magnificent job of ignoring, aren't you Dick M.?

Kim W5TIT

"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:APQX7.316688$W8.11918421@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
> "Rick Adams" <adamsr@NOSPAM.voyager.net> wrote in message
> news:1CEE8BC495EC91B4.E34015EC399F3182.35952BCF8C5364AA@lp.airnews.net...
> > On 30 Dec 2001 15:55:57 GMT, yodoc@aol.comnospam (Larry Roll K3LT)
> > wrote:
> >
> > >How charming. Don't look now, but you've got the wrong bloke, > > >mate. It was Cecil who started this "electronic stalking" thing > > >going on here. However, the direct insult of being called an
> > >"idiot" is noted; I wonder what voyager.net's Terms Of Service > > >have to say about that?
> >
> > Absolutely nothing, you moron. Not only do I have a commercial > > connection to the Inet, which means I'm a NOT a dial-up user and have > > different contractual obligations, but I don't use Voyager's news > > server (take a look at my headers--my messages originate either with > > my Airnews account or my Altopia one, depending on which server is > > running faster at the time) which means I'm only limited by the > > COU/TOS of those services, NEITHER of which has any policy concerning > > message content or frequency.
> >
> > On the other hand, since you have an aol account (which, to a > > networker, is sort of like being a Novice class ham who can't even > > remember the morse code), you ARE limited by a COU/TOS agreement that > > specifically prohibits behavior which is harassing, offensive, or > > violates the charter of a news group.
> >
> > Have a nice day, idiot.
> >
> > Rick
> >
> > --
> >
> > Rick Adams--KE8HH
>
> OOOOOOOOOOOH. Eemotion. Watch it Rick, they'll heave you out of the > faculty lounge for that. Nah, just move to the other side of the room and > give you the sick cow stare.
>

>

6456. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 13:56:36 UTC
From: CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org>
Message-ID: <3C306E94.B991323@IEEE.org>
Source record: 29451
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Krell wrote:
> I remember an incident in East Liverpool, Ohio in 1981, in which a business > owner was being robbed every weekend. He'd had enough and decided to stand > watch. Early on a Sunday morning, he shot an intruder - a 17-year-old - and > heard others outside take off when they heard the shots. It was ruled a > justifiable homocide. I don't know if or how Ohio law has changed since > then.

There was a case in South Texas that was ruled a suicide. A guy allegedly shot himself in the back seven times with a semiautomatic rifle.
--
cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp

6457. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 14:01:22 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c3070e1$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29453

"Jon Bloom" <jbloom@arrl.org> wrote in message
news:pan.2001.12.31.08.26.29.289093.20925@arrl.org...
> On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 12:47:56 -0500, Kim-W5TIT wrote:
> > This is the first I'd heard about it. If I'd known of it, I probably > > would have sent a comment to the FCC. How come you brought it up "after > > the fact?" I am not saying that flippantly, I'd really like to know.
>
> The petition was sent to the FCC in December 1999 and was widely reported > at the time, including here on rrap. And of course, that was a petition > for reconsideration of the FCC's denial of an earlier petition, so the > topic had been reported on earlier, too. If you weren't aware of it at the > time, maybe you were't following the various amateur radio news sources.
> Or maybe it simply didn't register on your radar.
>
> Jon

Yeah, I think Dec '99 is just about the time I found this newsgroup. And, I really never get the time to read QST if I was getting it at the time.

CCRs are a little different of an animal, and they can often be changed (I'm told) with little difficulty. HOAs, on the other hand, should be outlawed (in my opinion) and I just have no sympathy for someone who signs a contract and then wants to spend my tax dollars changing the contract. Move off the property. Make HOAs illegal.

Kim W5TIT

6458. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 14:11:31 UTC
From: onehighpoweredmutha@mail.com
Message-ID: <3c2f200e.1669259@netnews.att.net>
Source record: 29454
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 22:27:53 -0500, "Shrimp Biskit"
<pipedream@hotmail.comsp> wrote:

>Like they can't trace the ip back to you?

like they'd take the time to do that....

if someone shot riley, that'd be another story.... but they wouldn't just for someone saying they would get real

one high powered mutha
powered by 2 - 4CX25,000's
i don't play
i drop da maul

6459. Re: SB-220 ON 11 METERS !!!!!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 14:47:29 UTC
From: Shrimp Biskit <pipedream@hotmail.comsp>
Message-ID: <20011231094809.181$V9@news.newsreader.com>
Source record: 29455
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.amateur.misc

"One High Powered Mother Flipper!" <onehighpoweredmutha@mail.com> wrote in message news:3c2f200e.1669259@netnews.att.net...
> On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 22:27:53 -0500, "Shrimp Biskit" > <pipedream@hotmail.comsp> wrote:
>
> >Like they can't trace the ip back to you?
>
>
> like they'd take the time to do that....
>
> if someone shot riley, that'd be another story.... but they wouldn't > just for someone saying they would get real

For your sake you had better hope so, just because you wanted to sound like a tough guy to impress your rec.radio.cb friends.So if Riley does show up at your QTH your gonna kill him right thats what it sounds like to me If your gonna bust a cap in his ass what end result woul you be looking for. Ever heard of Chris Marquis?

6460. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 15:03:00 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231100300.10110.00001633@mb-mb.aol.com>
Source record: 29456

In article <uFYVrlVkBHA.1704@cpimsnntpa03>, "K0HB" <K0HB@arrl.net> writes:

>Cecil said:
>
>> I suspect it would be unconstitutional for the federal government to >> interfere with willingly signed CC&R contracts.
>
>You suspect wrong. The federal government (FCC) issued a preemption voiding >CC&Rs which prohibit visual entertainment (TV) antennas. That rule was >designed to promote two FEDERAL OBJECTIVES: (a) to ensure that consumers >have access to a broad range of video programming services ("the couch >potatoes gotta have their TV"), and (b) to foster full and fair competition >among different types of video programming services (to allow over-the-air >broadcasts to compete with cable). That preemption was issued at the urging >of Congress, and was upheld by the Supreme Court.

Hans,

A question: Does the preemption cover only pay-TV antennas like the pizza dish satellite receivers and terrestrial microwave services, or all TV antennas like the plain old VHF-UHF log-periodics?

>
>Since there is also a FEDERAL OBJECTIVE to promote a strong amateur radio >service (see 97.1) it follows that a preemption in the case of amateur radio >antennas would be a perfectly legitimate course of action, almost a >no-brainer.
>
EXACTLY!!!!

73 de Jim, N2EY

6461. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 15:03:00 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231100300.10110.00001632@mb-mb.aol.com>
Source record: 29457

In article <3c2f5604_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>Oh, one more comment:
>
>"K0HB" <K0HB@arrl.net> wrote in message
>news:uFYVrlVkBHA.1704@cpimsnntpa03...
>>
>> Since there is also a FEDERAL OBJECTIVE to promote a strong amateur radio >> service (see 97.1) it follows that a preemption in the case of amateur
>radio
>> antennas would be a perfectly legitimate course of action, almost a >> no-brainer.
>
>Except that there is no "financial" loss or competitive issues in the case >of amateur radio.

Doesn't matter.

>I don't know if they did, but if amateur radio antenna >manufacturers got into the fray and could prove that they are somehow >limited in business matters by such things as the CCRs and HOAs, then there >may be a valid argument for the FCC/government to listen to.

Same goes for the rig manufacturers. But that's not the main argument.

> The preemption
>for manufacturers and providers of commercial television services is a >money-matter.
>
Not exclusively. In fact, not primarily.

The EM spectrum belongs to everyone. Broadcast services that use the EM spectrum are allocated their spectrum space because it is in the public interest. This is true for both free and pay TV and radio systems. CC&Rs that unreasonably restrict a person's access to the EM spectrum violate that person's rights to access public property.

In other words, the "couch potatoes" DO have a right to their TV, because it's
THEIR spectrum, and TV exists for them.

>There may be a FEDERAL OBJECTIVE to promote a strong amateur radio service, >but there is no "meat" behind that objective. At least not enough for this >kind of battle.

Not yet. But that can change.
>

>The bottom line is always that amateur radio is "just a hobby."

Nope. If it were "just a hobby" it would have disappeared long ago.

>I'm not >saying that to be flippant, either. I feel certain that is the feeling >among many decision makers, including Congress, who influence and can have >an effect on the service. That we provide the services we do is so not in >the limelight, that it's just not a concern. Unfortunately.

Then that impression needs to be changed. And it can be.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6462. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 15:03:02 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231100302.10110.00001634@mb-mb.aol.com>
Source record: 29458

In article <a0o6kp$264$1@nntp9.atl.mindspring.net>, "Bill Sohl"
<billsohl@mindspring.com> writes:

>> Yup. And if you were a kid getting interested in ham radio today you'd >> be faced with being prohibited from it instead of how it worked out for >> you in the 50's.
>
>Actually, I see it easier today than in the 50s.
>My first station cost about $150 to set up (that's >1957 dollars) for which I had to work over
>150 hours to earn. Today there are 2m
>HTs and mobiles that can be had for little more >than $150 and that teen can be on the air.

Apples and oranges comparison, though. While a lot of fun and useful in its way, the ham with only a $150 HT has very limited options. Except during rare band openings, his/her available QSOs are limited to very local simplex contacts and the repeaters that can be reached (very limited).

Back in the late '60s I built a station based on surplus ARC-5 units. 80/40 CW only, 50 watts or so. Cost less than $50 including key and 'phones. With it I could reliably work practically any similarly-equipped ham within a thousand miles. Unreliably I could work anywhere in the world. Plus a lot more - because I had a decent antenna. Nothing fancy, just the classic inverted L random wire out to the crabapple tree.

>
>> So it's fine for you to have freedom from such >> unrealistic restrictions but not those who have no control nor >> involvement in them but who must abide by someone elses stupidity. I >> gotta say, it's typical of ya, pal.
>
>The same CC&Rs that ban antennas also often ban many >other exterior activities that a homeowner without CC&Rs
>can enjoy:
>- Should the feds exempt personal repair of autos in
>the driveway of homes that have such CC&R restrictions?

Yes, if the repairs are "reasonable". Changing a tail light bulb or windshield wipers is "reasonable", doing a months-long customizing job in a shared driveway is not. Note that if the CC&R says "no auto repairs", even 10 minute repairs are forbidden. ("ABNER!! Darren Stevens is changing his spark plugs!!!)

>- Should CC&Rs that prohibit the color, type and design
>of the homes exterior be premted on first amendment basis?

I think you mean "changing the ....". Again, if the changes are reasonable. Being forced to repaint one's house in the same color forever is unreasonable. Having a list of approved colors and color combinations for the homeowner to choose from is reasonable.

>- Should CC&Rs that prohibit pets be preempted?

Depends on the pets and other regulations concerning pets, like noise ordinances governing barking. No pets means no goldfish or hamsters, btw.

My township has a serious leash law - a dog found loose can cost its owner a BIG fine (up to $1000). Everybody who owns a dog has an invisible fence and good leashes.
>
>Just some thoughts.

The key to all this is "reasonable". Sweeping prohibitions of common at-home activities are not reasonable. Same with restrictions that make such activities impractical or extremely limited.

One of the real problems I have with CC&Rs is their stealthy nature. In many localities it requires serious research to discover if they even exist. While some states have disclosure laws, such disclosure is not universal.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6463. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 15:33:24 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c3084d1_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29459

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011231100302.10110.00001634@mb-mb.aol.com...
> >
> >The same CC&Rs that ban antennas also often ban many > >other exterior activities that a homeowner without CC&Rs
> >can enjoy:
> >- Should the feds exempt personal repair of autos in
> >the driveway of homes that have such CC&R restrictions?
>
> Yes, if the repairs are "reasonable". Changing a tail light bulb or windshield
> wipers is "reasonable", doing a months-long customizing job in a shared > driveway is not. Note that if the CC&R says "no auto repairs", even 10 minute > repairs are forbidden. ("ABNER!! Darren Stevens is changing his spark plugs!!!)
>

While I wouldn't like it (not one bit) to have car parts, grease, oil, and the smell wafting over and into my windows, a person who has paid for their little piece of real estate should be able to do whatever they wish--within the law--on it (in my opinion). I don't think a law prohibiting them from doing whatever car repair they must on their vehicle(s) is resonable. Note that I said their vehicle. That means that they don't get to help every Tom, Dick, and Harry that shows up with a car problem.

I have a neighbor just down the road. He has taken to turning his piece of property into a salvage yard, literally. It's "nicely" organized, and he keeps it as clean as one could, but it is still unsightly and unfair for me to have to deal with it. I have no problem with it, except that I don't think he should be allowed to do it in the event that anyone else gets the same idea. He runs a business off the property, so he is breaking far more than one or two CCRs. I haven't done it yet, but I fully intend to contact my county authorities about it. If he wants to keep a "few" things lying around in his yard, I have no problem. But, he has nearly one acre of stuff, and growing.

> >
> >- Should CC&Rs that prohibit the color, type and design > >of the homes exterior be premted on first amendment basis?
>
> I think you mean "changing the ....". Again, if the changes are reasonable.
> Being forced to repaint one's house in the same color forever is unreasonable.

> Having a list of approved colors and color combinations for the homeowner
to > choose from is reasonable.
>

I don't think my "neighbor" (if one could call someone like that a neighbor)
has any right to give me a choice of colors, limiting me to their idea of what I should be able to do with my home.

> >
> >- Should CC&Rs that prohibit pets be preempted?
>
> Depends on the pets and other regulations concerning pets, like noise > ordinances governing barking. No pets means no goldfish or hamsters, btw.
>

I think CCRs are generally a cheap way out to protect us from the creeps of the world. A CCR that prohibits "pets" keeps the creep next door from raising those nasty smelling chickens, or pigs, or whatever. HOAs are there for the same reason. To me, both represent the fact that we need "someone or something" else to do our talking for us these days. We've become "afraid" to deal with our neighbor and ask them that they be reasonable. On the other side, we've become intolerant of dealing with situations we don't seem to be able to control in any other way but through a court system.
Pitiful. I will go to the county about my neighbor. If they deem he is doing nothing wrong, or if they choose to do nothing about it, I must then live with the fact that he's there and he's going to have his junkyard.
That's all there is to it.

>
> My township has a serious leash law - a dog found loose can cost its owner
a > BIG fine (up to $1000). Everybody who owns a dog has an invisible fence
and > good leashes.
> >
> >Just some thoughts.
>
> The key to all this is "reasonable". Sweeping prohibitions of common
at-home > activities are not reasonable. Same with restrictions that make such activities
> impractical or extremely limited.
>

I think everyone needs to chill and quit trying to tell everyone else how to live and how they must use their property. The day someone wants to share the expenses of my property and home is the day they'll have a say in what I do with it--if I want them sharing.

>
> One of the real problems I have with CC&Rs is their stealthy nature. In many > localities it requires serious research to discover if they even exist.

While
> some states have disclosure laws, such disclosure is not universal.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

CCRs are a little different and, you're right, it takes some work to find them a lot of times. However, I am told that most were implemented long ago and can be changed fairly easy. An HOA, on the other hand, just gets my blood to boiling.

Kim W5TIT

6464. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 15:41:07 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c308698_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29460

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011231100300.10110.00001632@mb-mb.aol.com...
> In article <3c2f5604_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:
>
> >Oh, one more comment:
> >
> >"K0HB" <K0HB@arrl.net> wrote in message
> >news:uFYVrlVkBHA.1704@cpimsnntpa03...
> >>
> >> Since there is also a FEDERAL OBJECTIVE to promote a strong amateur
radio > >> service (see 97.1) it follows that a preemption in the case of amateur
> >radio
> >> antennas would be a perfectly legitimate course of action, almost a > >> no-brainer.
> >
> >Except that there is no "financial" loss or competitive issues in the case
> >of amateur radio.
>
> Doesn't matter.
>

You don't think it had anything to do with the preemption ruling?

> >
> >I don't know if they did, but if amateur radio antenna
> >manufacturers got into the fray and could prove that they are somehow > >limited in business matters by such things as the CCRs and HOAs, then
there > >may be a valid argument for the FCC/government to listen to.
>
> Same goes for the rig manufacturers. But that's not the main argument.
>

Well, to you and I it may not be. But, money talks.

> >
> > The preemption
> >for manufacturers and providers of commercial television services is a > >money-matter.
> >
> Not exclusively. In fact, not primarily.
>

I bet money would be more the determining factor than any "right" we've got to expect reasonable access.

> The EM spectrum belongs to everyone. Broadcast services that use the EM > spectrum are allocated their spectrum space
> because it is in the public interest. This is true for both free and pay TV and > radio systems. CC&Rs that unreasonably restrict > a person's access to the EM spectrum violate that person's rights to access > public property.

See above. I may not disagree with you, Jim. I just don't think our lawmakers are as motivated by what is right as by how much money is affected.

> In other words, the "couch potatoes" DO have a right to their TV, because it's
> THEIR spectrum, and TV exists for them.

That being said, I don't think it was really the primary motivation. I think the primary motivation was a money factor.

> >There may be a FEDERAL OBJECTIVE to promote a strong amateur radio service, > >but there is no "meat" behind that objective. At least not enough for this > >kind of battle.
> Not yet. But that can change.

And, that's a high mountain to climb.

> >The bottom line is always that amateur radio is "just a hobby."
> Nope. If it were "just a hobby" it would have disappeared long ago.

Well, it hangs on by a thread. I mean, ham radio is great and it's a wonderful hobby--but it's always just kind of "been there." There's never been enough of us ham radio operators to "save the spectrum" if the will be done that mows us over. Really. We are so few in numbers; and we've never done much about getting the public to realize who and what we are. One need not be a ham to support us--a concept never really farmed.

> >I'm not > >saying that to be flippant, either. I feel certain that is the feeling > >among many decision makers, including Congress, who influence and can

have > >an effect on the service. That we provide the services we do is so not
in > >the limelight, that it's just not a concern. Unfortunately.
>
> Then that impression needs to be changed. And it can be.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

A high mountain to climb. I'm willing to "market" ham radio at my office or by casual encounters and queries. Am I willing to do much more? Gosh, no. And I think most amateurs aren't even willing to do as much as I. Certainly not as much as you, Jim.

Kim W5TIT

6465. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 16:12:14 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <y70Y7.317622$W8.11978530@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29461

"Brian Kelly" <kelly@dvol.com> wrote in message news:d22b54c3.0112310131.692cc35a@posting.google.com...
> . . . .
> > things, it is far easier to be whimsical. Kind of the diff between Harry
> > Potter and the Rings which have diametrically opposite effects on the God
> > Squad. Go Harry! We all know it ends in Those Were the Days My Friend
> > but WTH.
> >
> > Plunk Your Magic Twanger, Froggie.
> >
> > Dick, N&#65533;BK ENTP
> >
> Bwaaaaahaha! Booful but they'll never get it . . !
> >
> w3rv

Of course not because it is not part of the shared experience. Jim's ARC5 in another post is a classic case; you have to have been there. And you and I will never know about female, black, gay and later groupies will never have heard of Froggie the Gremlin to their unending deprivation but that is the way it is.

My grandmother was a great fan of Baron Munchhausen a radio show I believe out of Milwaukee so we got a lot of 'vas you dere, Sharlie' but it took years before I had a clue what she was talking about. And Fran Stryker at WXYZ Detroit who was never west of Chicago in his life and had a predeliction for taking his themes from opera overtures did a western with a pretty dumb hero who used a .45 caliber shotgun and was constantly bailed out by his faithful Indian companion who it might be argued called him 'dumbshit' at every opportunity and another where the Mountie's dog was the star and sold great shitpots of KennelRation. Hey man, you gotta believe.

Content is a matter for judgement: listen to Elvis and it sounds like the Jordanaires phoned it in. But the current groupies lost something: in pop culture everything is overproduced and expensive and in radio things are overproduced and expensive and the chips they are made of go obsolete.

Unfortunately, you can no longer build ARC5 transmitters in the garage between Buddy Holly's recording sessions and doing a port, polish, and relieve on your flathead. Life moves on.

And our choice is pretty simple, do we stay a part of the program or spend our time at QCWA luncheons? Our part in the program is largely that of the old male elephants they move with the younger herds to maintain some sense of decorum and order, take names, kick butts, provide some support when the young bucks realize they just did something dumb, and generally play the classic Grandpa which like sergeanting is a lost art. Oh well.

Still wonder if Brittany's are real.

Dick N&#65533;BK

6466. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 16:38:08 UTC
From: k4yz@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231113808.09746.00002459@mb-fm.aol.com>
Source record: 29462

>Subject: Re: Respect For Freebanders
>From: CAM Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org
>Date: 12/31/2001 7:56 AM Central Standard Time
>Message-id: <3C306E94.B991323@IEEE.org>

>There was a case in South Texas that was ruled a suicide. A guy allegedly >shot himself in the back seven times with a semiautomatic rifle.

I remember the joke about the person of a certain ethnicity that was found bound, gaged, feet in concrete, shot and stabbed....

Also ruled a determined suicide by a racially biased coroner.

Steve

6467. Re: Open Letter to Mr. Hollingsworth

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 16:42:31 UTC
From: SDSpecialDeliveryJones@stalag13.com
Message-ID: <d9f7b76c.0112310842.5492552e@posting.google.com>
Source record: 29463

David Stinson <arc5@ix.netcom.com> wrote in message news:<3C2F7BBE.5EAFC23A@ix.netcom.com>...
> Open letter to Mr. Hollingsworth.
>
> Re: Kevin Mitnick (N6NHG)
>
> Dear Mr. Hollingsworth,
>
> A wise person once said-
> "If I stand idly by as injustice is done,
> then my hands, too,
> are stained with that injustice."
>
> A lot of people in the ham community
> see revoking Mr. Mitnick's license as an unjust over-reaction.
> It's not like he was on 14.313 thumbing his nose at everyone.
> I could name current licensees with criminal records that make > Mr. Mitnick look like a gilded saint. But then, they didn't > make the national news. Uncle can get more headlines beating up > a celebrity then by whacking a real criminal.
> I wonder about the morality of "making an example"
> of someone who has paid their debt.
>
> Mr. Mitnick did his time and, as far as we know, > has been straight since. More then a few believe > that someone in Justice ordered someone else
> to slap the boy, just for the sake of petty vengeance.
>
> We're concerned.
> If one person is treated unjustly,
> what about when it's our turn?
> But we're not the ones "on the ground" in this case;
> we must rely on those empowered with the public trust
> to show us the justice of such matters.
> What do you say about it?
> You are respected in the community.
> Your words carry weight with us.
> If there is justification for continuing to kick this man
> after he's served his sentence,
> surely it can stand the test of public disclosure.
>
> We just want know our hands are clean.
>
> Sincerely, David S.

mr mitnik is a interesting case.....a hacker who broke into various high profile sites on the internet. and he says he did it just to do it and he did no damage. i don't know. he did violate the terms of his probation and was caught after much search for him by sprint engineers, almost red handed. that being said, is this a excuse for the government to incarcarate the man in solitary confinement without charge or benefit of writ of habeas corpus for 5 freekin years. i think that mr mitnik pissed in the wrong cornflakes. and i think it also shows what this government of our is capable of. and all of this took place before the anti terrorism laws went into effect. as far as i am concerned, i am beginning to see the writing on the wall, and can see our freedoms slowing ebbing away...and to tell you the truth, i now, i hate to say, believe that the guys running around in the woods pretending to play war games, the militias, i believe they were called,...perhaps they had it right.....can anyone say...'black helicopter'...i knew you could........

6468. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 17:03:25 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231120325.09102.00000868@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29464

In article <3C306C40.54E5A2F1@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>>
>> CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:
>>
>> >N2EY wrote:
>> >> You implied it.
>> >
>> >Nope, you may have inferred it but I didn't imply it.
>>
>> I would not have inferred it if you didn't imply it.
>
>You infer lots of things that I don't imply.

No, I only infer what you imply. Often you deny what you imply.

>In fact, akin to a >devil's advocate position, you often present a devil's inferrence.

Maybe the devil makes you do it.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6469. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 17:03:25 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231120325.09102.00000869@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29465

In article <3C306D20.6F7EA2B9@IEEE.org>, CAM <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> writes:

>N2EY wrote:
>> My current house is over 50 years old and has over a page and a half of >> fine-print deed restrictions. Nothing directly about antennas, though.
>
>When I bought my house in CA, I deleted (lined out) the antenna >restriction part before I signed the contract.
>--
You cannot do that with deed restrictions. They are part of the deed.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6470. Re: Victims of W4AMP

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 17:08:49 UTC
From: JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C31366F.E3B23E83@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29466
Cross-posted to: alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.geno-paris,rec.radio.amateur.policy

KC8JBO wrote:

>
> Jizzwallowing recepticle's jamming of his local repeaters, noted. And his > identity and callsign sent to rholling@fcc.gov.

That is a pretty good trick woger since I haven't been on a local repeater in several years. Just what is the identify and callsign you reported to Riley, woger? Like you think Riley is going to listen to someone he has caught jamming?

6471. Re: FCC Ethical Scenario

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 17:14:07 UTC
From: Hans Brakob <k0hb@qwest.net>
Message-ID: <eb84cb0d636b978c1607ba9a118c8154.15732@mygate.mailgate.org>
Source record: 29467

Yudlink wrote:

> What do you think, hypothetically speaking, of course?

I think you're a troll with an agenda.

Hans

--
Posted via Mailgate.ORG Server - http://www.Mailgate.ORG

6472. broadcast on 6 meters

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 17:24:28 UTC
From: John O'Flaherty <wewelcomespam@blackhole.net> Message-ID: <3C309F4C.284AE08C@blackhole.net>
Source record: 29468

Last night (12-30-2001), I heard a radio station, WWCR, on 52.040,050 MHz. It was fairly clear, and at first I was delighted, as it's the first thing I've ever heard on 6 meters on my 756pro. (I live in a valley and have only a single 120 foot dipole as an antenna, tuned by an AH4 automatic tuner).
The signal seemed to really be on that frequency, because retuning the antenna tuner to other bands diminished the signal strength. The material being broadcast was information about short-wave listening- a rebroadcast of 'Popular Communications' and some Voice of America short-wave reports.
I consulted the web and found out that WWCR is a religious broadcaster located in Tennessee (I live in Imperial, MO, just south of St. Louis.) They had a list of times and frequencies, and I listened at all of them to see if I found the same material. Most of the frequencies had religious propaganda on them, but one, 3.210 MHz, had a duplicate of what I heard on 6 meters. I notice that 52.040050 isn't an exact multiple of 3.210. It is close to an exact multiple of one of their other frequencies- 7.435 MHz * 6.999334... = 52.04... but that frequency had the religious propaganda- not the same program as that appearing on 6 meters.
Has anyone an idea about how a signal at 3.210 could get translated up to 6 meters with no appearance of other modulation?

--
john

6473. Re: broadcast on 6 meters

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 17:42:02 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <Kr1Y7.317718$W8.11988245@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29469

"John O'Flaherty" <wewelcomespam@blackhole.net> wrote in message news:3C309F4C.284AE08C@blackhole.net...
>
> Last night (12-30-2001), I heard a radio station, WWCR, on 52.040,050 > MHz. It was fairly clear, and at first I was delighted, as it's the > first thing I've ever heard on 6 meters on my 756pro. (I live in a > valley and have only a single 120 foot dipole as an antenna, tuned by an > AH4 automatic tuner).
> The signal seemed to really be on that frequency, because retuning the > antenna tuner to other bands diminished the signal strength. The > material being broadcast was information about short-wave listening- a > rebroadcast of 'Popular Communications' and some Voice of America > short-wave reports.
> I consulted the web and found out that WWCR is a religious broadcaster > located in Tennessee (I live in Imperial, MO, just south of St. Louis.)
> They had a list of times and frequencies, and I listened at all of them > to see if I found the same material. Most of the frequencies had > religious propaganda on them, but one, 3.210 MHz, had a duplicate of > what I heard on 6 meters. I notice that 52.040050 isn't an exact > multiple of 3.210. It is close to an exact multiple of one of their > other frequencies- 7.435 MHz * 6.999334... = 52.04... but that frequency > had the religious propaganda- not the same program as that appearing on > 6 meters.
> Has anyone an idea about how a signal at 3.210 could get translated up > to 6 meters with no appearance of other modulation?
>
> --
> john

Sounds like a receiver spur to me. Or some kind of product from your six meter receiver being blasted by Channel 2 pix carrier at 55.25. Don't know where 2 is these days physically and Imperial covers a multitude of sins as well as geography but 55.25 less 52+ comes out to 3.21 or so.

Say hi to any remaining buzzards on 25/85 for me.

Dick NBK

6474. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 17:47:27 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <Gr1Y7.116527$BX4.7450679@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 29470
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

Richard,

I ask this somewhat tongue in cheek, but would you mind <<snicker>>telling me HOW that fellow got FIVE <<giggle>> cows in his car <LMFAO> (I can't hold it in any longer)? I know folks take cattle rustling seriously, but 5 cows in a car is a really "minimalist" approach (LOUD guffaws)!

Best 73

Jerry
Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> wrote in message news:TbSX7.316850$W8.11929552@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net...
>
> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> news:3C2FE3DE.24B8B0FC@IEEE.org...
> > Richard McCollum wrote:
> > >
> > > "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> > > > In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
> > >
> > > Nebraska for one but it is not a great idea. Remnant of what was once > > > known as the Shoot Your Neighbor Act.
> >
> > In the few states I've lived in, one must be in danger of life and > > limb before deadly force can be used. Property doesn't count.
> > --
> > cheers, CAM http://www.qsl.net/w5dxp
>
> The original Shoot Your Neighbor Act allowed plugging for your life, > property or that of a neighbor. This, of course, did not make forgetting > your key and crawling in your kitchen window the smartest move in history > without your kelvar BVDs in place.
>
> And where she shot the burglar on the lawn who strangely turned out to be > her drunken husband carrying a 12-pack in rather than out it did make > prosecuting the dear lady just a bit tougher when her belief rather than > reality controlled. In Texas or Nebraska juries try the victim as well as > the accused anyway and to hear tell, they leave that to Grand Juries in > New York.
>
> As you can imagine this was a bit of a nightmare to LEOs, prosecutors, and > the coroners' golf tournament so the neighbor aspect is pretty well gone > but no one is going to cry too loudly if someone offs a rustler or a speed > freak stealing anhydrous ammonia from your tank. They caught a guy in > Iowa with five cows in his car; that ranks with shooting a bear in your > pajamas -- and not having the slightest idea how the bear got into your > pajamas. But Iowegians are a bit strange anyway.

>
> And we all know the statutes and practice often differ. The gendarmes > have been known to throw armed robbers who bought the big one back into > the store before beginning the investigation, particularly if he is one of > the usual suspects. Prosecutors have been known to charge with an eye to > the next election, and juries have been known to decide that the world did > not lose a hell of a lot when it lost the late lamented deceased.
>
> So it really helps to be right when offing someone.
>
> Today's Omaha World-Herald repeated the results of a legislative study > done on the death penalty which found a distinct urban/rural split that in > the final analysis proves only that urban prosecutors do not ask for it in > marginal cases but rural ones do while the juries bring the issue back to > par. I personally oppose the death penalty not on theoretical grounds but > the fact that it is damned expensive and contains no mechanism for > adjusting the system when, not if, it hangs the wrong man as Wisconsin did > in 1852 and never has since. A good false imprisonment case deserves at > least the treatment the NTSB gives an airplane crash or for that matter > the same treatment when the Nebraska Hiway Dept kills five kids in a > school bus.
>
> As a practical matter, I doubt the law as she is done differs more between > NE and TX than it differs between rural and urban areas in either state.
>
> Dick NBK
>
>

6475. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 17:51:01 UTC
From: Jerry Oxendine <joxendi@bellsouth.net>
Message-ID: <3v1Y7.116537$BX4.7454161@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com>
Source record: 29471
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

And some states, infested and run with the pinko, liberal-minded legals, would prosecute the store owner for "entrapment". It's high time the bill is marked "paid" everytime a loser attempts to victimize the public.

Jerry

Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com> wrote in message news:a0pn8602o0d@enews1.newsguy.com...
>
>snip>>
> I remember an incident in East Liverpool, Ohio in 1981, in which a business
> owner was being robbed every weekend. He'd had enough and decided to stand > watch. Early on a Sunday morning, he shot an intruder - a 17-year-old -
and > heard others outside take off when they heard the shots. It was ruled a > justifiable homocide. I don't know if or how Ohio law has changed since > then.
>
>

6476. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 18:36:08 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <se2Y7.317771$W8.11990974@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29472
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Jerry Oxendine" <joxendi@bellsouth.net> wrote in message news:Gr1Y7.116527$BX4.7450679@e3500-atl1.usenetserver.com...
> Richard,
>
> I ask this somewhat tongue in cheek, but would you mind <<snicker>>telling > me HOW that > fellow got FIVE <<giggle>> cows in his car <LMFAO> (I can't hold it in any > longer)? I know folks take cattle rustling seriously, but 5 cows in a car
> is a really "minimalist" approach > (LOUD guffaws)!
>
> Best 73
>
> Jerry

Small cows and a big car I guess. He had removed the seats. It was actually only about a year or two ago because I read it in the Omaha paper while driving my bus on Sunday morning watching the coal trains go by on the UP mainline. The article had to do with the increase in amateur rustling and this guy was definitely an amateur.

I can see the deputy stopping a car well down on the axles with five irritated animals all roped up grinding down the county road at nite. Just what do you use for an opening line?

It was a neighbor that needed an addition to his herd and wasn't going too far. He wasn't much of a farmer and not much of a rustler either. Given his purpose these were more than likely young heifers and not Angus steers but getting them in the car without needing hernia surgery is a monumental achievement. I would expect he had some help.

It is not as totally ridiculous as it might seem. Driving cattle vehicles at nite is not among your wisest career choices, the western half of Nebraska is still open range. As a kid I remember the signs on the hiway marking the end of the brand-inspection area. As Judge Bean put it, there are a whole lot more cowboys that need hanging than there are cattle that need rustling.

And Iowegians can be weird.

Dick NBK

6477. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:04:51 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231140451.27168.00000798@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 29474

>> I'm surprised that he didn't reply that the new licensee should raise his >> code speed to 40 WPM so that he could be considered a real ham despite the >> new regs.

>He can't. He can't do that fast...LOL
>
I can.

73 de Jim, N2EY

"It ain't braggin' if ya really done it" - Babe Ruth

6478. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:04:51 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231140451.27168.00000799@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 29477

In article <3c306cac$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011230210105.09102.00000862@mb-ct.aol.com...
>>
>> > Don't move
>> >into a neighborhood with CCRs or HOAs.
>>
>> Sometimes there is no realistic choice.
>>
>> > It's as anti-American as you can >> >get.
>>
>> That I agree with. But it's been SOP since the 1970s, and it's spreading.
>In
>> some areas if you say "I only want to see unrestricted properties" to a >> realtor, the list of places to look at is very short.

>There must be movement somewhere, Jim.

I have no idea what that means, Kim.

>Rather than spend time after the >fact, get involved prior to the fact--change HOAs, get rid of 'em, whatever.
>Or, research CCRs before you move in.

Do you know what the acronyms "HOA" and "CC&R" stand for, Kim?

>Then, spend your energy changing and getting rid of HOAs and research a CCR >before you move in to a home, or buy that piece of property.

That's what I do, and have done all my life. That's what I encourage others, hams and nonhams, to do.
My point is that restricted property is becoming so common that "don't buy a restricted house" is simply not a realistic option in many cases today.

>When I >bought this one, the only restriction is that I cannot raise swine.

So no pigs can live on your land, ever?

> I can >live with that--forever--so I bought.

Same here. In fact, I have restrictions against all sorts of livestock.

Now suppose you got one of those little Vietnamese potbellied pigs as a pet. That's a violation.

> Now, when I go to sell my property a >pig farmer won't be able to buy it. If just a pig farmer comes along and >he's all that wants to buy my property, do I go run off whining to the >government to change my CCR? Hardly.

That's you. Others disagree. Such disagreements are what keep lawyers in business.

Think about WHY the restriction against pigs is there.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6479. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:04:52 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231140452.27168.00000800@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 29476

In article <3c306b78$1_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011230210105.09102.00000863@mb-ct.aol.com...
>> In article <3c2f3cf8_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim- <nospam@none.net> writes:
>>
>> >Why should a majority of the population yield to the wants and desires of
>a >> >very, very minute part of the population?
>>
>> Because all people have certain inalienable rights.
>>
>> And please learn to edit old stuff from your posts, Kim.
>>
>> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
>As a side note, Jim: I'll post however I choose to post, thank you very >much.

Just a suggestion to make your stuff more readable and avoid wasting USENET resources.
>
>I don't think having an antenna for ham radio outside in any manner we wish
>it is a certain inalienable right.

That's why the term "reasonable".

73 de Jim, N2EY

6480. Re: Radio Policy

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:04:53 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231140453.27168.00000802@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 29475

In article <y70Y7.317622$W8.11978530@bgtnsc04-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>,
"Richard McCollum" <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net> writes:

>Unfortunately, you can no longer build ARC5 transmitters in the garage >between Buddy Holly's recording sessions and doing a port, polish, and >relieve on your flathead. Life moves on.

Actually you can do the ARC-5 thing but it'll cost ya. Don't get Kelly & me started about small engine work.

>And our choice is pretty simple, do we stay a part of the program or spend >our time at QCWA luncheons? Our part in the program is largely that of >the old male elephants they move with the younger herds to maintain some >sense of decorum and order, take names, kick butts, provide some support >when the young bucks realize they just did something dumb, and generally >play the classic Grandpa which like sergeanting is a lost art. Oh well.

Been there, done that, still here. Yer preachin' to the choir.
>
>Still wonder if Brittany's are real.

awcumon, as fake as a $3 bill.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6481. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:04:53 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231140453.27168.00000801@mb-cb.aol.com>
Source record: 29478

In article <3c3069e9_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011230210101.09102.00000857@mb-ct.aol.com...
>>
>> >But, I can't say for sure--because I've never been in that position >(except >> >for marriage, of course).
>>
>> "Of course"? No, not at all.
>>
>> Why in the world should CC&Rs be more sacred and harder to get out of than >> marriages?
>
>I don't think they should be.

Neither do I. So it should be at least as easy to get out of a deed restriction as it is to get out of a marriage. Easier, in fact.

>
>> Anyone who has gotten divorced is just like the person who bought a >restricted
>> property and now wants out of the restrictions.
>>
>> Would you say to a person who wants out of a marriage, "You should not
>have >> signed the contract if you didn't like the conditions and restrictions"?

>Apples and oranges, Jim.

Nope. Not at all. It's a valid analogy. Both are legal contracts, signed freely by the parties involved.

Marriage is a contract whose term is agreed upon to last as long as both of the parties to the contract are alive. Divorce is a way of breaking the conditions of that contract without anybody dying.

The type of CC&Rs being talked about are mostly deed restrictions. A deed restriction is a legal contract that restricts the owner of the property from doing certain things as long as he/she owns it. The FCC's preemption for TV antennas was effectively a "divorce" from certain conditions of the CC&Rs.

>However, just as divorce is a solution to that in >the world of marriage; moving out of the neighborhood is a better solution >than wasting my tax dollars going to the government.

Nope. Wrong. Mistake.

Just as a divorce is a way out of a marriage contract without anybody dying, the FCC's preemption is a way out of antenna restrictions without anybody moving.

Telling someone "just don't buy that house if you don;t like the restrictions" is the same as saying "just don't get married if you aren't going to stay with it". Nobody HAS to get married - lots of couples simply live together, buy property together, have children together, and do practically all the things married couples do without having that "til death us do part" legal contract.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6482. Wiseman's Enemies & Friends

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:06:45 UTC
From: Polly FQF <StumpjumpernR1@stumpjumpersBARF.org> Message-ID: <a0qcu1$2ir$0@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29473
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.cocksucker.roger-wiseman,alt.flame,alt.2600,rec.radio.amateur.policy

If I recall, Roger Wiseman, KC8JBO, published a list of his enemies here not too long ago, a lengthy list indeed! So Wogey, how about publishing a list of your friends? Then again, you and I know, you have zero friends, save for the "companions" you have brief moments with down at O'Leary's Hourly Motel & Lavendar Lounge.

Polly FQF
Chief Mule Humper

6483. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:30:55 UTC
From: Krell <krell1215@yahoo.com>
Message-ID: <a0qe9n029dj@enews3.newsguy.com>
Source record: 29479
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.cb,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message news:3C306E94.B991323@IEEE.org...
> Krell wrote:
> > I remember an incident in East Liverpool, Ohio in 1981, in which a business > > owner was being robbed every weekend. He'd had enough and decided to stand > > watch. Early on a Sunday morning, he shot an intruder - a 17-year-old -
and > > heard others outside take off when they heard the shots. It was ruled a > > justifiable homocide. I don't know if or how Ohio law has changed since > > then.
>
> There was a case in South Texas that was ruled a suicide. A guy allegedly > shot himself in the back seven times with a semiautomatic rifle.

...or the case in Texas about two years ago in which a man killed his wife's lover. He was found guilty, but the sentence was time already served.

6484. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:53:05 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C30C224.BB48E409@earthlink.net>
Source record: 29480

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20011230210102.09102.00000859@mb-ct.aol.com...
> > In article <3C2EB9C4.E4009689@mailcity.net>, JR <radiobuf@mailcity.net>
> writes:
> >
> > >The people who signs CC&R contracts and then bitch, are just like > > >those who build a house off the end of a runway of a busy airport > > >and then bitch about the noise and want to get the runway shut > > >down.
> >
> > Or like those who get married and then decide they don't want to be with
> that > > person for the rest of their life.
> >
> > 73 de Jim, N2EY
> >
>
> So, get a divorce. Or, move out of the restricted neighborhood.

It is reasurring to know that you are well rounded, Kim. You're square-headed on any number of topics. Moving is often not an option. If I'd lived in such a neighborhood when I was first licensed at age 14, I'd have to have run away from home in order to move out of the neighborhood. I couldn't have talked my parents into moving since the church would never have understood why Dad moved out of the rectory.

If you can't reasonably do what you want with land which you have purchased, it really isn't your land.

Out here on the ridge, my neighbors not only haven't complained about the two towers and numerous wires, they've helped me to install them. I've even received permission to run radials for the 160m inverted "L" onto neighboring pasture land.

Dave K8MN

6485. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:55:52 UTC
From: Dave Heil <k8mn@earthlink.net>
Message-ID: <3C30C2CC.15408267@earthlink.net>
Source record: 29481

Kim-W5TIT wrote:
>
> "N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> news:20011230210105.09102.00000863@mb-ct.aol.com...
> > In article <3c2f3cf8_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim- <nospam@none.net> writes:
> >
> > >Why should a majority of the population yield to the wants and desires of
> a > > >very, very minute part of the population?
> >
> > Because all people have certain inalienable rights.
> >
> > And please learn to edit old stuff from your posts, Kim.
> >
> > 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
> As a side note, Jim: I'll post however I choose to post, thank you very > much.
>
> I don't think having an antenna for ham radio outside in any manner we wish
> it is a certain inalienable right.

I don't like the pukey green color of your house. I hate those pink plastic flamingos along your driveway and your maple leaves blow in my yard. Your cheap, plastic lawn furniture is an eyesore. Hey, are you going to keep that Winnebago there?

Dave K8MN

6486. Happy/Bad New Year!

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 19:59:33 UTC
From: David Stinson <arc5@ix.netcom.com>
Message-ID: <3C30C3A5.3BA2820C@ix.netcom.com>
Source record: 29482

Happy New Year to all the good people and Get Bent to all the bad people.

You decide which is which.

6487. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 20:15:08 UTC
From: KC8PMX <kc8pmx@tm.net>
Message-ID: <gH3Y7.17$5d.5475@newshog.newsread.com>
Source record: 29483

Actually we should have all the deaf people move near the airports..... and have the Jehovahs Witnesses deliver the mail in those areas!

>
> The people who signs CC&R contracts and then bitch, are just like > those who build a house off the end of a runway of a busy airport > and then bitch about the noise and want to get the runway shut > down.

6488. Re: A word of thanks...& a new Extra. :-)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 20:24:29 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c30cac0_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29484

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011231140451.27168.00000798@mb-cb.aol.com...
>
>
> >> I'm surprised that he didn't reply that the new licensee should raise his > >> code speed to 40 WPM so that he could be considered a real ham despite
the > >> new regs.
>
> >He can't. He can't do that fast...LOL
> >
> I can.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>
> "It ain't braggin' if ya really done it" - Babe Ruth

Yeah, but you're far from the inhuamness of a Larry Roll, Jim. Oh, and I happen to know of a gal here who has an ARRL certificate for 45 wpm. Ever worked KF9AS?

Kim W5TIT

6489. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 20:32:52 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c30ccb2_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29485

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011231140451.27168.00000799@mb-cb.aol.com...
>
> >Rather than spend time after the > >fact, get involved prior to the fact--change HOAs, get rid of 'em,
whatever.
> >Or, research CCRs before you move in.
>
> Do you know what the acronyms "HOA" and "CC&R" stand for, Kim?
>

Yes. Why do you ask? HOA is a Home Owners Association and CC&R, I believe, is something to the effect of Code of Covenants and Restrictions.

> >
> >Then, spend your energy changing and getting rid of HOAs and research a CCR
> >before you move in to a home, or buy that piece of property.
>
> That's what I do, and have done all my life. That's what I encourage others,
> hams and nonhams, to do.
> My point is that restricted property is becoming so common that "don't buy
a > restricted house" is simply > not a realistic option in many cases today.
>

Then, not being a butt here--just putting in a reality check, maybe the major portion of the population where you have done this all your life is not in agreement with your wants and desires.

> >
> >When I > >bought this one, the only restriction is that I cannot raise swine.
>
> So no pigs can live on your land, ever?
>

I suppose not. I know they won't live here as long as I own the land...LOL
I think there's also one against chickens on this land; however, chickens I raised--until I realized I am not such a pioneering woman. Well, actually I think I am--it's just a little more difficult to work from 6:00A-7:00P and be anything in kind to being happy to go visit the coop.

> >
> > I can > >live with that--forever--so I bought.
>
> Same here. In fact, I have restrictions against all sorts of livestock.
>

I'd have to drag mine back out, but I think it's just chickens and pigs.

>
> Now suppose you got one of those little Vietnamese potbellied pigs as a pet.
> That's a violation.
>

I won't be getting a Vietnamese potbellied pig as a pet. They're cute, until they get to about 2 months old.

> >
> > Now, when I go to sell my property a > >pig farmer won't be able to buy it. If just a pig farmer comes along
and
> >he's all that wants to buy my property, do I go run off whining to the > >government to change my CCR? Hardly.
>
> That's you. Others disagree. Such disagreements are what keep lawyers in > business.
>

Yeah, well. Don't ask me my opinion most (sorry Phil) lawyers. That is, most lawyers I've had experience with; I can't speak for the entire industry. Cops, lawywers, courts and me don't get along. And, it doesn't take a good lawyer, it just takes lots of money; not my idea of justice.

>
> Think about WHY the restriction against pigs is there.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

Mine is not to reason why...something like that. I don't know. I generally don't wonder about things I agree with :p

Kim W5TIT

6490. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 20:34:37 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c30cd1a$1_2@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29486

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011231140452.27168.00000800@mb-cb.aol.com...
> >
> >As a side note, Jim: I'll post however I choose to post, thank you very > >much.
>
> Just a suggestion to make your stuff more readable and avoid wasting USENET
> resources.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY
>

I know what the basis is. It's also a waste of USENET resources if there's a response to a post that just wouldn't make sense to the first time reader and they have to go back and start looking through them all.

Kim W5TIT

6491. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 20:43:27 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c30cf2e_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29487

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011231140453.27168.00000801@mb-cb.aol.com...
> >>
> >> Why in the world should CC&Rs be more sacred and harder to get out of
than > >> marriages?
> >
> >I don't think they should be.
>
> Neither do I. So it should be at least as easy to get out of a deed restriction
> as it is to get out of a marriage. Easier, in fact.
> >

Well, I don't know about that. It was downright dangerous for me to remain in my first marriage. Either I would have killed him or he would have killed me, I am near certain of that.

All kidding aside. It is as easy for you to get out of deed restrictions; either get them changed (or live with it), or move away.

> >>
> >> Anyone who has gotten divorced is just like the person who bought a > >restricted
> >> property and now wants out of the restrictions.
> >>
> >> Would you say to a person who wants out of a marriage, "You should not
> >have > >> signed the contract if you didn't like the conditions and restrictions"?
>
> >Apples and oranges, Jim.
>
> Nope. Not at all. It's a valid analogy. Both are legal contracts, signed freely
> by the parties involved.
>

I don't think it's all that valid an analogy, but I'll humor you.

>
> Marriage is a contract whose term is agreed upon to last as long as both of the > parties to the contract are alive. Divorce is a way of breaking the conditions
> of that contract without anybody dying.

>

And, all one need to do to get out of the contract is either file for a divorce, tell the loser he's/she's got to go, or move away yourself.
Hopefully, there will be no children involved.

>
> The type of CC&Rs being talked about are mostly deed restrictions. A deed > restriction is a legal contract that restricts the owner of the property
from > doing certain things as long as he/she owns it. The FCC's preemption for TV
> antennas was effectively a "divorce" from certain conditions of the CC&Rs.
>
> >However, just as divorce is a solution to that in > >the world of marriage; moving out of the neighborhood is a better solution
> >than wasting my tax dollars going to the government.
>
> Nope. Wrong. Mistake.
>
> Just as a divorce is a way out of a marriage contract without anybody dying,
> the FCC's preemption is a way out of antenna restrictions without anybody > moving.
>

Well, I think it makes a lot more sense for me to either shut up in a case where I don't have what I want, or move away from it. You may be willing to take it on as a louder issue than that, and my standing is that CCRs need to be researched and fought prior to a buy, and HOAs, well, you know my feelings about them.

>
> Telling someone "just don't buy that house if you don;t like the restrictions"
> is the same as saying "just don't get married if you aren't going to stay
with > it".
>

Not quite. When most people do both, they do believe they are going to stick with it.

>
> Nobody HAS to get married - lots of couples simply live together, buy > property together, have children together, and do practically all the things > married couples do without having that "til death us do part" legal contract.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

>

And, nobody HAS to have a house. I know apartment owners whose logs will rival even the best of antenna farms.

And, I did live with my second choice of a life-partner. We were together 14 years, still the longest relationship I was ever in. We are still wonderful friends. But, we fell out of love. Now, I am in love with my husband of 12 years. I think he and I will stick. I shouldn't have made any decisions to marry or live with someone until I met him. ;)

Kim W5TIT

6492. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 20:49:30 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c30d097_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29488

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C30C224.BB48E409@earthlink.net...
> > >
> > > Or like those who get married and then decide they don't want to be with
> > that > > > person for the rest of their life.
> > >
> > > 73 de Jim, N2EY
> > >
> >
> > So, get a divorce. Or, move out of the restricted neighborhood.
>
> It is reasurring to know that you are well rounded, Kim. You're > square-headed on any number of topics.
>

Too much rum, Dave? I love how you start right off with insults. You can't have a conversation without insults, can you?

>
> Moving is often not an option.
> If I'd lived in such a neighborhood when I was first licensed at age 14, > I'd have to have run away from home in order to move out of the > neighborhood. I couldn't have talked my parents into moving since the > church would never have understood why Dad moved out of the rectory.
>

There's lots of restrictions on kids and we are all usually bound by decisions our parents make. What's your point?

>
> If you can't reasonably do what you want with land which you have > purchased, it really isn't your land.
>

Well, it truly isn't your land anyway, because the government can use "eminent domain" if they choose to.

>
> Out here on the ridge, my neighbors not only haven't complained about > the two towers and numerous wires, they've helped me to install them.
> I've even received permission to run radials for the 160m inverted "L" > onto neighboring pasture land.
>
> Dave K8MN

>

Then, I don't know that you have a problem such as Jim/N2EY fights. Neither do I. We've got a 70' foot tower, a 40' pushup, a 20' pushup, and a 50' pushup pole. We've yet to put the 30' tower up, as I got the 50' pushup for $20 and am happy with it. I may use the 30' for ATV if I ever get into that with any seriousness.

Kim W5TIT

6493. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 20:50:32 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c30d0d5_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29489

"Dave Heil" <k8mn@earthlink.net> wrote in message news:3C30C2CC.15408267@earthlink.net...
> >
> > I don't think having an antenna for ham radio outside in any manner we wish > > it is a certain inalienable right.
>
> I don't like the pukey green color of your house. I hate those pink > plastic flamingos along your driveway and your maple leaves blow in my > yard. Your cheap, plastic lawn furniture is an eyesore. Hey, are you > going to keep that Winnebago there?
>
> Dave K8MN

Do you have a point, Dave?

Kim W5TIT

6494. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 20:54:14 UTC
From: Kim-W5TIT <nospam@none.net>
Message-ID: <3c30d1b4_1@newsa.ev1.net>
Source record: 29490

"KC8PMX" <kc8pmx@tm.net> wrote in message
news:gH3Y7.17$5d.5475@newshog.newsread.com...
> Actually we should have all the deaf people move near the airports.....
and > have the Jehovahs Witnesses deliver the mail in those areas!
>
>

I've got a cure for the Jehovah's Witnesses! Tell them dirty joke every time they show up at your door. Really. It'll take 'em once or twice, but they'll get lost.

Still haven't figured out what keeps the Baptists away. I did yell at one who showed up dressed like a clown offering to take my two children to Sunday School and they even got a free goldfish for going...buhruther...I asked her if God had approved the clown suit. She still came back a few times, but we were living in the commune--I mean apartment at the time. No property ownership means they can do whatever they want.

Kim W5TIT

6495. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 21:03:12 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231160312.09102.00000875@mb-ct.aol.com>
Source record: 29491

In article <3c3084d1_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011231100302.10110.00001634@mb-mb.aol.com...
>> >
>> >The same CC&Rs that ban antennas also often ban many >> >other exterior activities that a homeowner without CC&Rs
>> >can enjoy:
>> >- Should the feds exempt personal repair of autos in
>> >the driveway of homes that have such CC&R restrictions?
>>
>> Yes, if the repairs are "reasonable". Changing a tail light bulb or >windshield
>> wipers is "reasonable", doing a months-long customizing job in a shared >> driveway is not. Note that if the CC&R says "no auto repairs", even 10
>minute
>> repairs are forbidden. ("ABNER!! Darren Stevens is changing his spark >plugs!!!)
>
>While I wouldn't like it (not one bit) to have car parts, grease, oil, and >the smell wafting over and into my windows, a person who has paid for their >little piece of real estate should be able to do whatever they wish--within >the law--on it (in my opinion).

Then you are against covenants and restrictions, because they are not laws but contracts.

>I don't think a law prohibiting them from >doing whatever car repair they must on their vehicle(s) is resonable.
>Note that I said their vehicle. That means that they don't get to help >every Tom, Dick, and Harry that shows up with a car problem.

So it's OK for a neighbor to make noise, a stink and a mess working on their OWN car, but it's not OK for them to spend ten minutes helping out a friend or neighbor?

By that logic, if you showed up at a friend's house with a minor problem (busted hose or belt, dead battery) your friend can't help you out - even though he's in the middle of changing engines on his own car in the driveway.
>
>I have a neighbor just down the road. He has taken to turning his piece of >property into a salvage yard, literally. It's "nicely" organized, and he >keeps it as clean as one could, but it is still unsightly and unfair for me >to have to deal with it.

WHY is it "unfair for you to have to deal with it"? What do you have to "deal with"?

And if they are all HIS cars, what right have YOU to tell him what he can do with them?

You wrote, above:

" a person who has paid for their little piece of real estate should be able to do whatever they wish--within the law--on it (in my opinion). "

>I have no problem with it, except that I don't >think he should be allowed to do it in the event that anyone else gets the >same idea. He runs a business off the property, so he is breaking far more >than one or two CCRs.

How do you know he's in violation of anything? Have you researched the deed to his land? If yours is unrestricted except for pigs living there, his may be just as unrestricted.

> I haven't done it yet, but I fully intend to contact >my county authorities about it. If he wants to keep a "few" things lying >around in his yard, I have no problem. But, he has nearly one acre of >stuff, and growing.

" a person who has paid for their little piece of real estate should be able to do whatever they wish--within the law--on it. "

Is there a law against having a lot of old cars where you live?

>> >- Should CC&Rs that prohibit the color, type and design >> >of the homes exterior be premted on first amendment basis?
>>
>> I think you mean "changing the ....". Again, if the changes are >reasonable.
>> Being forced to repaint one's house in the same color forever is >unreasonable.
>> Having a list of approved colors and color combinations for the homeowner
>to >> choose from is reasonable.
>
>I don't think my "neighbor" (if one could call someone like that a neighbor)
>has any right to give me a choice of colors, limiting me to their idea of >what I should be able to do with my home.

>> >- Should CC&Rs that prohibit pets be preempted?
>>
>> Depends on the pets and other regulations concerning pets, like noise >> ordinances governing barking. No pets means no goldfish or hamsters, btw.

>I think CCRs are generally a cheap way out to protect us from the creeps of >the world.

In part. There are also safety and "good neighbor" issues, like noise and upkeep requirements. In some communities the proximity of properties makes aesthetic issues important.

> A CCR that prohibits "pets" keeps the creep next door from >raising those nasty smelling chickens, or pigs, or whatever. HOAs are there >for the same reason. To me, both represent the fact that we need "someone >or something" else to do our talking for us these days.

For the most part, it's builders and developers who are behind these things,
for a variety of reasons.

> We've become
>"afraid" to deal with our neighbor and ask them that they be reasonable. On >the other side, we've become intolerant of dealing with situations we don't >seem to be able to control in any other way but through a court system.
>Pitiful.

What's pitiful is that some people have not developed the idea that they are responsible to the community to take care of their properties in a reasonable way.

>I will go to the county about my neighbor. If they deem he is >doing nothing wrong, or if they choose to do nothing about it, I must then >live with the fact that he's there and he's going to have his junkyard.
>That's all there is to it.

And you'll have to "deal with it"

>> My township has a serious leash law - a dog found loose can cost its owner
>a >> BIG fine (up to $1000). Everybody who owns a dog has an invisible fence
>and
>> good leashes.
>> >
>> >Just some thoughts.
>>
>> The key to all this is "reasonable". Sweeping prohibitions of common
>at-home
>> activities are not reasonable. Same with restrictions that make such >activities
>> impractical or extremely limited.
>
>I think everyone needs to chill and quit trying to tell everyone else how to >live and how they must use their property. The day someone wants to share >the expenses of my property and home is the day they'll have a say in what I >do with it--if I want them sharing.

Then what right do you have to go to the county about what your neighbor is doing with the old cars? You're not "chilling" - you're telling him how to live and how he must use his property, and getting the govt. to do the job of confronting him.

Suppose the county says "We know - he's technically in violation of a few things. But someone must file a formal complaint before we can take any action". Will you file the complaint?

>> One of the real problems I have with CC&Rs is their stealthy nature. In >many >> localities it requires serious research to discover if they even exist.
>While
>> some states have disclosure laws, such disclosure is not universal.

>CCRs are a little different and, you're right, it takes some work to find >them a lot of times. However, I am told that most were implemented long ago >and can be changed fairly easy. An HOA, on the other hand, just gets my >blood to boiling.

Kim, by that statement, you obviously don't know what CC&R or HOA stand for.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6496. Re: Wiseman's Enemies & Friends

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 21:04:41 UTC
From: KC8JBO <kc8jbo@alt.net>
Message-ID: <a0qnhdip1@dosa.alt.net>
Source record: 29493
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.misc,alt.radio.scanner.flame_fest,rec.radio.amateur.policy

"Polly FQF" <Stumpjumpernr1@stumpjumpersBARF.org> wrote in message news:a0qcu1$2ir$0@dosa.alt.net...
> If I recall, [Lay off the heroin and you might be able to]

Hey Polly, how's it feel to get FIRED from SEARS for stealing store merchandise?
How's it feel to live with the fact you drove your own daughter to suicide?
HAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHAHA!!!!

6497. Test Question

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 21:18:54 UTC
From: Howard Johnson <hjohnson5700@home.net>
Message-ID: <nbl13usvkden8loqf7hni42f42c3310ctr@4ax.com>
Source record: 29492

I do not have any license right now, but I have been studying the code
for a while now and plan to take the test for General in February (next testing period that I can attend).

My question: On test day, do I have to take a Technician written first then a General written or just the General?

==========

Yours truly,

Howard Johnson

 Spam Filter in place... change 5700 to 57 for correct reply address! ***

==========

6498. Re: Test Question

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:18:53 UTC
From: kc2hmn@cs.comnospam
Message-ID: <20011231171853.05351.00002236@mb-de.news.cs.com>
Source record: 29494

>I do not have any license right now, but I have been studying the code
>for a while now and plan to take the test for General in February >(next testing period that I can attend).

Good luck, I', sure you'll do great. :-)

>My question: On test day, do I have to take a Technician written >first then a General written or just the General?

The short answer is yes, they must be taken in order. If you're feeling thrifty, you may take them all in the same session for the same fee of $10. (Same as you'd be charged for just one element.) Best of luck to you and Happy New Year.

73 de Bert
KC2HMN

6499. Re: Test Question

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:27:28 UTC
From: Joshua Houk <jlhouk@worldnet.att.net> Message-ID: <3C30E644.647AE6DE@worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29495

Howard Johnson wrote:

> I do not have any license right now, but I have been studying the code
> for a while now and plan to take the test for General in February > (next testing period that I can attend).
>
> My question: On test day, do I have to take a Technician written > first then a General written or just the General?

You will need to take the Technician exam if you want a General license. The good news is that it's a fairly easy test if you know General class theory - a lot of it you'll already know or can deduce just from common sense. I'd suggest going over the question pools or practice exams on the net to see how much you'll need to study.

If you don't want to take everything right away, you can take the General exam and the code exam at the next session and assuming you pass those you have credit for those elements for 365 days, and as long as you pass your Technician exam by then you'll get your General ticket. The bad news is, of course, that you won't get a license at the first session.

Hope this helps,

Joshua Houk, KF4PZI

6500. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:35:13 UTC
From: JR <radiobuff@mailcity.net>
Message-ID: <3C3182EF.31F8077D@mailcity.net>
Source record: 29496

N2EY wrote:
>
> In article <3c3084d1_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim" <nospam@none.net> writes:
>
> >"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
> >news:20011231100302.10110.00001634@mb-mb.aol.com...
> >> >
> >> >The same CC&Rs that ban antennas also often ban many > >> >other exterior activities that a homeowner without CC&Rs
> >> >can enjoy:
> >> >- Should the feds exempt personal repair of autos in > >> >the driveway of homes that have such CC&R restrictions?
> >>
> >> Yes, if the repairs are "reasonable". Changing a tail light bulb or > >windshield
> >> wipers is "reasonable", doing a months-long customizing job in a shared > >> driveway is not. Note that if the CC&R says "no auto repairs", even 10
> >minute
> >> repairs are forbidden. ("ABNER!! Darren Stevens is changing his spark > >plugs!!!)
> >>
> >While I wouldn't like it (not one bit) to have car parts, grease, oil, and
> >the smell wafting over and into my windows, a person who has paid for their > >little piece of real estate should be able to do whatever they wish--within > >the law--on it (in my opinion).
>
> Then you are against covenants and restrictions, because they are not laws but > contracts.
>
> >I don't think a law prohibiting them from > >doing whatever car repair they must on their vehicle(s) is resonable.
> >Note that I said their vehicle. That means that they don't get to help > >every Tom, Dick, and Harry that shows up with a car problem.
>
> So it's OK for a neighbor to make noise, a stink and a mess working on their > OWN car, but it's not OK for them to spend ten minutes helping out a friend or > neighbor?
>
> By that logic, if you showed up at a friend's house with a minor problem > (busted hose or belt, dead battery) your friend can't help you out - even > though he's in the middle of changing engines on his own car in the driveway.
> >
> >I have a neighbor just down the road. He has taken to turning his piece of > >property into a salvage yard, literally. It's "nicely" organized, and he > >keeps it as clean as one could, but it is still unsightly and unfair for me > >to have to deal with it.

>
> WHY is it "unfair for you to have to deal with it"? What do you have to "deal > with"?
>
> And if they are all HIS cars, what right have YOU to tell him what he can do > with them?
>
> You wrote, above:
>
> " a person who has paid for their little piece of real estate should be able to > do whatever they wish--within the law--on it (in my opinion). "
>
> >I have no problem with it, except that I don't > >think he should be allowed to do it in the event that anyone else gets the > >same idea. He runs a business off the property, so he is breaking far more > >than one or two CCRs.
>
> How do you know he's in violation of anything? Have you researched the deed to > his land? If yours is unrestricted except for pigs living there, his may be > just as unrestricted.
>
> > I haven't done it yet, but I fully intend to contact > >my county authorities about it. If he wants to keep a "few" things lying > >around in his yard, I have no problem. But, he has nearly one acre of > >stuff, and growing.
>
> " a person who has paid for their little piece of real estate should be able to > do whatever they wish--within the law--on it. "
>
> Is there a law against having a lot of old cars where you live?
>
> >> >- Should CC&Rs that prohibit the color, type and design > >> >of the homes exterior be premted on first amendment basis?
> >>
> >> I think you mean "changing the ....". Again, if the changes are > >reasonable.
> >> Being forced to repaint one's house in the same color forever is > >unreasonable.
> >> Having a list of approved colors and color combinations for the homeowner
> >to > >> choose from is reasonable.
> >
> >I don't think my "neighbor" (if one could call someone like that a neighbor)
> >has any right to give me a choice of colors, limiting me to their idea of > >what I should be able to do with my home.
>
> >> >- Should CC&Rs that prohibit pets be preempted?
> >>

> >> Depends on the pets and other regulations concerning pets, like noise > >> ordinances governing barking. No pets means no goldfish or hamsters, btw.
>
> >I think CCRs are generally a cheap way out to protect us from the creeps of > >the world.
>
> In part. There are also safety and "good neighbor" issues, like noise and > upkeep requirements. In some communities the proximity of properties makes > aesthetic issues important.
>
> > A CCR that prohibits "pets" keeps the creep next door from > >raising those nasty smelling chickens, or pigs, or whatever. HOAs are there > >for the same reason. To me, both represent the fact that we need "someone > >or something" else to do our talking for us these days.
>
> For the most part, it's builders and developers who are behind these things, > for a variety of reasons.
>
> > We've become
> >"afraid" to deal with our neighbor and ask them that they be reasonable. On > >the other side, we've become intolerant of dealing with situations we don't > >seem to be able to control in any other way but through a court system.
> >Pitiful.
>
> What's pitiful is that some people have not developed the idea that they are > responsible to the community to take care of their properties in a reasonable > way.
>
> >I will go to the county about my neighbor. If they deem he is > >doing nothing wrong, or if they choose to do nothing about it, I must then > >live with the fact that he's there and he's going to have his junkyard.
> >That's all there is to it.
>
> And you'll have to "deal with it"
>
> >> My township has a serious leash law - a dog found loose can cost its owner
> >a > >> BIG fine (up to $1000). Everybody who owns a dog has an invisible fence
> >and
> >> good leashes.
> >> >
> >> >Just some thoughts.
> >>
> >> The key to all this is "reasonable". Sweeping prohibitions of common
> >at-home
> >> activities are not reasonable. Same with restrictions that make such > >activities
> >> impractical or extremely limited.
> >>
> >I think everyone needs to chill and quit trying to tell everyone else how to > >live and how they must use their property. The day someone wants to share > >the expenses of my property and home is the day they'll have a say in what I > >do with it--if I want them sharing.

>
> Then what right do you have to go to the county about what your neighbor is > doing with the old cars? You're not "chilling" - you're telling him how to live > and how he must use his property, and getting the govt. to do the job of > confronting him.
>
> Suppose the county says "We know - he's technically in violation of a few > things. But someone must file a formal complaint before we can take any > action". Will you file the complaint?
>
> >> One of the real problems I have with CC&Rs is their stealthy nature. In > >many > >> localities it requires serious research to discover if they even exist.
> >While
> >> some states have disclosure laws, such disclosure is not universal.
>
> >CCRs are a little different and, you're right, it takes some work to find > >them a lot of times. However, I am told that most were implemented long ago > >and can be changed fairly easy. An HOA, on the other hand, just gets my > >blood to boiling.
>
> Kim, by that statement, you obviously don't know what CC&R or HOA stand for.
>
> 73 de Jim, N2EY

If you sign the deed restriction, and you are agreeing to abide by those restrictions when you sign, then you haven't a leg to stand on. Don't sign if you do not want to abide by them.

6501. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:39:06 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp7zt95.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29497
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 22:04:46 -0600, CAM wrote:

>Richard McCollum wrote:
>>
>> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
>> > In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
>>
>> Nebraska for one but it is not a great idea. Remnant of what was once >> known as the Shoot Your Neighbor Act.
>
>In the few states I've lived in, one must be in danger of life and >limb before deadly force can be used. Property doesn't count.

In fact it was in Nebraska that the famous case of setting a spring gun trap to "catch" burglars held that deadly force may not be used to stop property-only crimes.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6502. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:39:06 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp7zya6.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29498
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

On Mon, 31 Dec 2001 01:40:58 GMT, JR wrote:

>> There are LOTS of cases in almost every state that hold that >> deadly force is not justified in a property-only crime.
>
>Shoot to kill then drag him inside and put a weapon in his hand.

But the forensic guys and gals can see through that, too.

Don't you watch CSI on Thursday nights? <ggg>

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6503. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:39:12 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp80vq7.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29501

On 31 Dec 2001 02:01:03 GMT, N2EY wrote:

>In most ceremonies the people entering into the contract face each >other and say out loud that they have come to the contract freely and >unreservedly, and accept ALL its terms. They make the contract in >front of witnesses and get both community and legal acceptance. In >most ceremonies there are NO escape clauses and NO limitations.

In Jewish practice, the marriage contract is in writing, it is read aloud at the wedding ceremony, and contains specific clauses of obligations of either party to the other in the event that one party can no longer carry out the obligations of a spouse.

A "pre-nup" whose origins go back about 2200 years....

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6504. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:39:13 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp81bz8.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29502

On Mon, 31 Dec 2001 07:50:24 -0600, CAM wrote:

>When I bought my house in CA, I deleted (lined out) the antenna
>restriction part before I signed the contract.

You can do that with a sales contract. You cannot do that with an easement without the agreement of the dominant holder (the person to whom the easement is granted) and you cannot do that with a CC&R without the agreement of every other owner in the development affected by the restriction.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane
California Lawyer

6505. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:39:14 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp82cua.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29499

On 31 Dec 2001 15:03:00 GMT, N2EY wrote:

>In other words, the "couch potatoes" DO have a right to their TV, >because it's THEIR spectrum, and TV exists for them.

Every spectrum regulation professional knows deep down that it's the broadcast/video companies who own that portion of the spectrum, and TV programming exists to fill the gaps between advertising messages.

Hey, this is starting to sound like ba.broadcast......

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6506. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:39:15 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp82109.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29503

On 31 Dec 2001 15:03:00 GMT, N2EY wrote:

>A question: Does the preemption cover only pay-TV antennas like the >pizza dish satellite receivers and terrestrial microwave services, or >all TV antennas like the plain old VHF-UHF log-periodics?

All broadcast/video OTARDs, including plain old TV antennas.

HOWEVER, it does not cover TV-type antennas used for any other purpose, such as "stealth" amateur radio transmitting antennas. The FCC has already closed that loophole.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6507. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 22:39:17 UTC
From: Phil Kane <Phil.Kane@no.spam>
Message-ID: <cuvyxnansvbet.gp82k1b.pminews@or.news.verio.net>
Source record: 29500

On 31 Dec 2001 15:03:02 GMT, N2EY wrote:

>>- Should the feds exempt personal repair of autos in
>>the driveway of homes that have such CC&R restrictions?
>
>Yes, if the repairs are "reasonable".

Auto repair is not an activity regulated and protected by the Federal government. Ham radio is.

--
73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane

6508. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 23:03:16 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231180316.01870.00000683@mb-fz.aol.com>
Source record: 29506

In article <3c30d097_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-W5TIT" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>Then, I don't know that you have a problem such as Jim/N2EY fights.

Who says I have a problem or a fight? My interest in restrictions is their effect on the ARS and its future. At this stage of my life I don't want a tower - another thing to maintain.

>Neither >do I. We've got a 70' foot tower, a 40' pushup, a 20' pushup, and a 50' >pushup pole. We've yet to put the 30' tower up, as I got the 50' pushup for >$20 and am happy with it.

Do you have any antennas, or just towers and poles? ;-)

73 de Jim, N2EY

I may use the 30' for ATV if I ever get into that >with any seriousness.
>

6509. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 23:03:18 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231180318.01870.00000684@mb-fz.aol.com>
Source record: 29505

In article <3c30cf2e_1@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011231140453.27168.00000801@mb-cb.aol.com...
>> >>
>> >> Why in the world should CC&Rs be more sacred and harder to get out of
>than >> >> marriages?
>> >
>> >I don't think they should be.
>>
>> Neither do I. So it should be at least as easy to get out of a deed >restriction
>> as it is to get out of a marriage. Easier, in fact.
>
>Well, I don't know about that.

Why not? In both cases the issue is breaking a contract that was freely entered into, BEFORE its term is up, without sacrificing all claims/terms of the contract.

> It was downright dangerous for me to remain >in my first marriage. Either I would have killed him or he would have >killed me, I am near certain of that.

Doesn't matter. You both agreed to stick together "til death us do part" or some such verbiage.
>
>All kidding aside. It is as easy for you to get out of deed restrictions;
>either get them changed (or live with it), or move away.

If you think getting deed restrictions changed is easy, then you don't understand them at all.

Moving away is like the person who "got out of" a marriage by simply disappearing. Used to be pretty common before divorces were easy to get. The most unhappy party simply left and abandoned everything, or nearly so.
>
>> >> Anyone who has gotten divorced is just like the person who bought a >> >restricted
>> >> property and now wants out of the restrictions.
>> >>
>> >> Would you say to a person who wants out of a marriage, "You should not
>> >have >> >> signed the contract if you didn't like the conditions and >restrictions"?

>>
>> >Apples and oranges, Jim.
>>
>> Nope. Not at all. It's a valid analogy. Both are legal contracts, signed >freely
>> by the parties involved.
>
>I don't think it's all that valid an analogy, but I'll humor you.

How is it not valid? Aren't both of them private legal contracts? Isn't getting a divorce just a way of breaking some of the terms of the contract - specifically, the one about "til death"?
>
>> Marriage is a contract whose term is agreed upon to last as long as both
>of the >> parties to the contract are alive. Divorce is a way of breaking the >conditions
>> of that contract without anybody dying.
>
>And, all one need to do to get out of the contract is either file for a >divorce, tell the loser he's/she's got to go, or move away yourself.

The last two do not end the legal contract.

A marriage is actually a private contract that is recorded by the govt. The parties involved agree to conduct their behavior in certain ways for as long as both of them are alive. A "marriage license" simply means that the govt. will record the contract, and that it meets the applicable laws of the state (age, health, etc.).

"Filing for divorce" means that one or both of the parties involved in a PRIVATE contract petitions the GOVERNMENT to overturn (break) the contract before its term is over. Even if one of the parties objects, the state almost always sides with the person who wants to get out of the contract and allows the divorce. AND, the joint property is usually divided without regard to who wanted to break the contract.

A deed restriction is actually a private contract that is recorded by the govt. The owner(s) of the property agrees to conduct his/her/their behavior with property for as long as he/she/they own it. "Recording the deed" simply means that the govt. records the contract and that it meets the applicable laws of the state (you can't deed-restrict against race or religion, for example).

"Breaking a deed restriction" means that one or more of the parties involved in a PRIVATE contract petitions the GOVERNMENT to overturn (break) the contract before its term is over - BEFORE the property is sold. Yet deed restrictions are very hard to break, and the cry is often heard "You shouldn't have bought it if you didn't want the restrictions".

>Hopefully, there will be no children involved.

I don't know the stats, but a LOT of divorces involve kids. Doesn't stop the state from allowing them.

>> The type of CC&Rs being talked about are mostly deed restrictions. A deed >> restriction is a legal contract that restricts the owner of the property
>from >> doing certain things as long as he/she owns it. The FCC's preemption for >TV
>> antennas was effectively a "divorce" from certain conditions of the CC&Rs.
>>
>> >However, just as divorce is a solution to that in >> >the world of marriage; moving out of the neighborhood is a better >solution
>> >than wasting my tax dollars going to the government.
>>
>> Nope. Wrong. Mistake.
>>
>> Just as a divorce is a way out of a marriage contract without anybody >dying,
>> the FCC's preemption is a way out of antenna restrictions without anybody >> moving.
>
>Well, I think it makes a lot more sense for me to either shut up in a case >where I don't have what I want, or move away from it.

That would be like saying "if you aren't happy in a marriage, either shut up and live with it or move away with what you can carry and leave everything else behind"

>You may be willing to >take it on as a louder issue than that, and my standing is that CCRs need to >be researched and fought prior to a buy, and HOAs, well, you know my >feelings about them.

I don't know why you consider CC&Rs acceptable but hate HOAs so much.

>> Telling someone "just don't buy that house if you don;t like the >restrictions"
>> is the same as saying "just don't get married if you aren't going to stay
>with >> it".
>
>Not quite.

No, they are exactly the same.

>When most people do both, they do believe they are going to >stick with it.
>
Yet one can easily get out of a marriage. Not so deed restrictions.
>>
>> Nobody HAS to get married - lots of couples simply live together, buy >> property together, have children together, and do practically all the >things >> married couples do without having that "til death us do part" legal >contract.

>And, nobody HAS to have a house. I know apartment owners whose logs will >rival even the best of antenna farms.

Nobody in an apartment wins the DX test.
>
>And, I did live with my second choice of a life-partner. We were together >14 years, still the longest relationship I was ever in. We are still >wonderful friends. But, we fell out of love.

Since you weren't married, there was no problem getting out, then.

>Now, I am in love with my >husband of 12 years. I think he and I will stick. I shouldn't have made >any decisions to marry or live with someone until I met him. ;)

The point remains that you DID petition the state to break a contract - same as somebody who wants the FCC to preempt a CC&R.

I'm just saying the two cases (divorce and breaking a deed restriction) are examples of the SAME thing, and should be treated similarly.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6510. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 23:03:19 UTC
From: n2ey@aol.com
Message-ID: <20011231180319.01870.00000685@mb-fz.aol.com>
Source record: 29504

In article <3c30ccb2_2@newsa.ev1.net>, "Kim-" <nospam@none.net> writes:

>"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
>news:20011231140451.27168.00000799@mb-cb.aol.com...
>>
>> >Rather than spend time after the >> >fact, get involved prior to the fact--change HOAs, get rid of 'em,
>whatever.
>> >Or, research CCRs before you move in.
>>
>> Do you know what the acronyms "HOA" and "CC&R" stand for, Kim?
>
>Yes. Why do you ask?

Because the way you use them sometimes indicates that you don't.

> HOA is a Home Owners Association

That's right.

>and CC&R, I believe,
>is something to the effect of Code of Covenants and Restrictions.

Close but no cookie.

"Codes, Covenants and Restrictions"
>
>> >Then, spend your energy changing and getting rid of HOAs and research a >CCR
>> >before you move in to a home, or buy that piece of property.
>>
>> That's what I do, and have done all my life. That's what I encourage >others,
>> hams and nonhams, to do.
>> My point is that restricted property is becoming so common that "don't buy
>a >> restricted house" is simply >> not a realistic option in many cases today.
>
>Then, not being a butt here--just putting in a reality check, maybe the >major portion of the population where you have done this all your life is >not in agreement with your wants and desires.

Most of the population has no idea what CC&Rs are.
>
>> >When I >> >bought this one, the only restriction is that I cannot raise swine.

>>
>> So no pigs can live on your land, ever?
>
>I suppose not.

Ya never know what can happen.

> I know they won't live here as long as I own the land...LOL

Indeed.

>I think there's also one against chickens on this land; however, chickens I >raised--until I realized I am not such a pioneering woman. Well, actually I >think I am--it's just a little more difficult to work from 6:00A-7:00P and >be anything in kind to being happy to go visit the coop.

All depends on how one wants to spend their energy.
>
>> > I can >> >live with that--forever--so I bought.
>>
>> Same here. In fact, I have restrictions against all sorts of livestock.
>
>I'd have to drag mine back out, but I think it's just chickens and pigs.

>> Now suppose you got one of those little Vietnamese potbellied pigs as a >pet.
>> That's a violation.
>
>I won't be getting a Vietnamese potbellied pig as a pet. They're cute, >until they get to about 2 months old.

Like many porcine species - cute and cuddly when they're little, ugly and disagreeable when they get older.

The question was to prove a point: The restriction against "raising swine" is open to interpretation. Some folks would argue that the potbellied pig is a "pet", not "swine" (which is plural, anyway). All depends how you define the word "pig".
>
>> > Now, when I go to sell my property a >> >pig farmer won't be able to buy it. If just a pig farmer comes along
>and
>> >he's all that wants to buy my property, do I go run off whining to the >> >government to change my CCR? Hardly.
>>
>> That's you. Others disagree. Such disagreements are what keep lawyers in >> business.
>
>Yeah, well. Don't ask me my opinion most (sorry Phil) lawyers. That is, >most lawyers I've had experience with; I can't speak for the entire >industry. Cops, lawywers, courts and me don't get along.

One can only wonder why.

> And, it doesn't >take a good lawyer, it just takes lots of money; not my idea of justice.

Maybe where you are. Ever hear the term "Philadelphia lawyer"?
>>
>> Think about WHY the restriction against pigs is there.

>Mine is not to reason why...something like that. I don't know. I generally >don't wonder about things I agree with :p

Perhaps that's the problem.

The prohibition against "raising swine" probably comes from the issues of noise, smell and contaminated water runoff. In other words, the neighbors don't want to live next to a pig farm.

73 de Jim, N2EY

6511. Re: Respect For Freebanders

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 23:08:12 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <wd6Y7.208092$WW.12080574@bgtnsc05-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29507
Cross-posted to: rec.radio.amateur.policy,rec.radio.cb

"Phil Kane" <Phil.Kane@no.spam> wrote in message
news:cuvyxnansvbet.gp7zt95.pminews@or.news.verio.net...
> On Sun, 30 Dec 2001 22:04:46 -0600, CAM wrote:
>
> >Richard McCollum wrote:
> >>
> >> "CAM" <Cecil.A.Moore@IEEE.org> wrote in message
> >> > In what state is it legal to shoot someone in your driveway?
> >>
> >> Nebraska for one but it is not a great idea. Remnant of what was once
> >> known as the Shoot Your Neighbor Act.
> >>
> >In the few states I've lived in, one must be in danger of life and > >limb before deadly force can be used. Property doesn't count.
>
> In fact it was in Nebraska that the famous case of setting a spring > gun trap to "catch" burglars held that deadly force may not be used > to stop property-only crimes.
>
> --
> 73 de K2ASP - Phil Kane
>

Think the case you have in mind was over in Iowa where the local farmer got a bit tired of people busting into the old family home to scarf antiques and set up a shotgun which had a non-fatal effect on one such looter. The looter's lawyer was smart enough to get him pled guilty to a misdemenor and ended up suing the farmer. Twelve dear ladies moved their heads up and down in response to the judges instructions and wiped out yon farmer.

6512. Re: Test Question

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 23:49:08 UTC
From: "D. Stussy" <kd6lvw@bde-arc.ampr.org>
Message-ID: <Pine.LNX.4.10.10112312348540.3647-100000@exp.bde-arc.ampr.org>
Source record: 29509

On Mon, 31 Dec 2001, Howard Johnson wrote:
>I do not have any license right now, but I have been studying the code
>for a while now and plan to take the test for General in February >(next testing period that I can attend).
>
>My question: On test day, do I have to take a Technician written >first then a General written or just the General?

In order to get a license, you will have to take the Technician written as well (and to get the general class license, 5wpm code too).

6513. Re: FCC takes ARS Another Step Closer To Extinction

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 23:52:56 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <sT6Y7.261881$3d2.12361633@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29510

"N2EY" <n2ey@aol.com> wrote in message
news:20011231180319.01870.00000685@mb-fz.aol.com...
> Maybe where you are. Ever hear the term "Philadelphia lawyer"?
> >>

73 de Jim, N2EY

Yup, a holdover from railroads, particularly the Pennsy. One of the great problems the railroads had was financing rolling stock and keeping it from automatically falling into the collateral for the first-mortgage bonds so the grand and glorious Philadelphia Plan was developed that pioneered a lot of things including off balance-sheet financing. A lot of rail cars for a lot of years were decorated with brass plates announcing that the car was financed under the Philadelphia Plan by East Dinglehoofer Bank and Trust and not just on the Pennsy.

Railroad attorneys, including one Abraham Lincoln, were among the best lint-pickers, gnat-strainers, camel-swallowers, loophole pullers, and fly-speck finders available for a number of years but the Pennsy's ranked at the top of the heap. Lincoln convinced a court that a low railroad bridge across the Mississippi was not really a hazard to navigation because the owners could put hinges in the smokestacks. He was from Illinois but with that performance he deserved Philadelphia.

Dick N�BK

6514. 2002

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2001-12-31 23:59:57 UTC
From: Richard McCollum <rmccollOMA@worldnet.att.net>
Message-ID: <1_6Y7.261889$3d2.12361624@bgtnsc06-news.ops.worldnet.att.net>
Source record: 29511

As the clock approaches 200201010000Z on the shack wall, New Years for the radioactive, may your 2002 be rewarding, fun, and full of those things you will remember when the snow on your roof does not refer to your dwelling.

Dick McCollum N&#65533;BK